Kennedy's Future

WASHINGTON — It is possible that what happened to Sen. Teddy Kennedy on a Sunday afternoon in the Boston suburb of future - in his home state of achusetts as well as nationally. By now, the facts are well known.

Kennedy was jostled by a crowd of antibusing demonstrators as he left a junior high school after delivering a speech. The crowd refused to let him reach his car; some of the demonstrators climbed on top of the vehicle. Finally, surrounded by a cordon of police, Kennedy had to walk veral blocks to a subway station and

But Kennedys do not get pushed around in their native precincts. Small wonder that a Kennedy aide should remark bleakly: 'He'll be re-elected next year, but this time he'll have to work at it."

The issue is school busing. But Quincy's olitical significance is that most of the he told reporters. "I haven't changed it. monstrators were from East Boston, We'll have to let the chips fall where they where there has been no busing of the kind that has sparked sporadic violence at Busing is an inconvenience for their children and sometimes a traumatic erience. As a result, they believe it ffects the quality of their children's education, or at least the capacity of the hildren to absorb an education.

Kennedy says busing is "an extraordinary complex and difficult issue." He's right. But the reason for this is that Ted Kennedy and other political men, most of them in Congress, have refused to budget crammed down the throats of American parents and their children. "If we view delinquents as persons who follow extralegal paths to socially valued vocate system-change remedies," says Nathan Caplan and Stephen D. Nelson of the University of Michigan.

There is, of course, a lot of truth in these arguments. Every parent is aware of how much more powerful the influence of outside factors, especially peer-group pressures, is on their children than values taught in the home — if values are taught in the home. And young people who run afoul of the law have in all too many cases known nothing but blame and failure in

But the trouble with this kind o reasoning is that if the individual is not, at some point, to be held responsible for his fault, the "system's" fault, then neither is the individual to be praised for his good If those who "follow extralegal paths to socially valued goals" are to be held blameless because the legal paths are barred to them, then those who do follow the legal paths can take no credit for their In other words, if it is the "system's" failure in the one case, then logically it

Umpires working high school baseball games this spring were caught by surprise when several coaches asked for interpretations of new free substitution rules which will govern all competition. The special rule was adopted by the CIAC baseball committee and umpiring boards throughout the state were not notified...Patty Torza, former state women's golf champion was married last weekend. She has been playing golf out of the Manchester Country Club in state competition...Pat Mistretta, director of athletics, reports he hopes to place an entry in the Greater Hartford Twilight League again this summer. "We're a lot stronger than a year ago and I know that we can make a creditable showing," he reported. Stan Olander, who now handles the MCC nine, is a former Rockville High and UConn pitcher who can still wing that ball...Little League rule change this season will find all boys in uniform getting in every game. It would be nice to see a ruling that every boy get to bat at least one time a game...New rule adopted by CCIL schools for baseball will find 20 minutes alloted each team for either infield or hitting practice. Last year CCIL nines were not allowed any in pre-game batting.

Bankers Playoff Champs

Playoff champion in the Rec Men's Volleyball League was the well-balanced Connecticut Bank & Trust entry. Runnersup in the National League regular season, the Bankers finished strong and compiled a brilliant 10-1 wonlost mark in the playoffs, copping the title with a 3-1 game edge against the Latvians...CBT players were Charles Bassos, Tom Sokolowsky, Jerry Wilson, Al Pratt, Don Erickson, Whitey Knowlton, Bill Morse, John Garside and Dave Kurland...Manchester Chapter of Amateur Softball Association Umpires elected Dave Dooman president at its recent meeting. Tom Conran will serve as vice president with John Garside secretary. NEW YORK (UPI) - Despite such factors as the recession and the increasing competition for the sports dollar, the American League reported Monday that its attendance figures for the first week of the season were the highest since the start of expansion in 1961.

Including Sunday's games, there was a paid attendance of 558,790 for 29 dates and 31 games. Last year, after the same number of dates at the same parks, the paid attenof 69,785 or 14.3 per cent.

Rights Traded

BALTIMORE (UPI) - The Pittsburgh Steelers Monday traded negotiating rights for former Canadian Footbal League offensive tackle Ed George to the Baltimore Colts for an undisclosed draft choice. George was a fourth-round pick of the Steelers in 1970 but played five seasons with the Montreal Alouettes. He was released from his Canadian contract after the 1974 season and had been bargaining with the Steelers for the past several weeks.

Walton Injured

PORTLAND, Ore. (UPI) - Bill Walton, controversial center for the Portland Trail Blazers, reinjured his left ankle Monday while working out in a pickup basketball game in a local gymn.

Walton apparently tore ligaments in his left ankle and his foot was placed in a cast. It is the same ankle on which Walton suffered the bone spur which kept him out of National Basketball Association action most of the last half of the season.
