Above are the many faces of the Manchester Parkade, central Connecticut's first shopping center. It first opened in October of 1956 and has been serving the growing East-of-the-River market for nearly two decades. The center houses such nationally famous stores as Sears, King's, Grant's and Treasure City and many regionally popular outlets as D&L, Forbes & Wallace, Worth's, Youth Centre, Bernie's TV and Appliance, Anderson-Little, Food Mart and Consumer Sales. Also it contains many small specialty shops, two banks, a movie theater, barber shop, bowling alley, restaurants and a real estate firm.

Long considered the home of "One-Stop Shopping," the Parkade has everything at your fingertips and free parking for over 4,000 cars. The next time you go out to shop, visit the Manchester Parkade where shopping in Manchester is truly a tradition.

Captured Bombers Used To Strike Saigon Base

SAGON (UPI)—Military sources said jet fighter-bombers captured by the Communists at the height of their offensive bombed Saigon's Tan Son Nhut airbase today in the first such raid of the Vietnam War.

Scores of American-built jet bombers and other planes were captured intact when South Vietnam pulled out of Da Nang and other northern airfields without a fight at start of the Communist offensive. Many pilots chose to flee with their families rather than stay with the planes. The bombing attacks which brought gunfire throughout Saigon also brought reports of a possible coup against Gen. Duong Van "Big" Minh moments after he had assumed the office of president with a pledge to begin immediate cease-fire talks with the Communists.

It also brought panic and fears of a final assault on Saigon by Communist forces that have reached the suburbs only three miles from the center of the city.

The sources said four A-1J Dragonfly jets carried out a bombing mission on the military section of Tan Son Nhut from the Communist-occupied airfield at Phan Hang, 18 miles northeast of Saigon on the coast of the South China Sea.

Pilots of chase planes—F-5 Freedom Fighter jets—said the A-1J's piloted by Communist airmen returned to the coastal city and were seen landing there after the raid. The attack on Tan Son Nhut touched off explosions which rocked Saigon and heavy bursts of anti-aircraft fire caused 60 minutes of panic in the South Vietnamese capital.

The Viet Cong meanwhile all but rejected Minh's call for an immediate cease-fire, although it had indicated earlier he would be acceptable.

A statement issued by the Viet Cong's Provisional Revolutionary Government in Paris said its two basic conditions must be met before the fighting is halted. These were dismantling of Saigon's war machine and U.S. agreement to respect the fundamental rights of the Vietnamese people.

There was gunfire tonight around the U.S. Embassy in scenes reminiscent of the start of the Communist Tet offensive in 1968.

Scattered thunderstorms hit the capital area during the late afternoon, filling the sky with thunder and flashes of lightning that did little to ease the nervousness prevailing in the city.

The bombing was carried out by five A-1J Dragonfly jets of the type used by the South Vietnamese Air Force (VNAF), UPI correspondents reported from Tan Son Nhut. Military sources said later they were flown by Communists.

The sources said the air strikes destroyed three F-5 Freedom Fighter jets, four C-119 Flying Boxcars, three C-47 aircraft and a DC-3. Casualties could not be determined immediately.

Tracer rounds filled the skies over the Tan Son Nhut area and in the downtown section, where government ships berthed along the Saigon River opened up on the A-1J's.

State Sales Tax Changes Would Affect Many Services

HARTFORD (UPI)—Connecticut's 7 per cent sales tax would be applied to every kind of service, from private eyes to rat exterminators, under a proposal which was due for a hearing today.

The measure would raise an estimated $30 million, of which $8 million would come from applying the levy to newspaper, magazine, radio and television advertising.

The measure, one of several alternatives by Gov. Ella T. Grasso's $458 million tax package being studied by the legislature's Finance Committee, would exempt classified and government advertising. Since the tax would be applied only at the point of sale, national print and broadcast advertising also would be exempt.

Mrs. Grasso's own tax package has run into stiff opposition from the business community and taxpayers organizations.

The sales tax would apply to: —Computer and data processing services, except for the lease or rental of computer or data processing equipment. Mrs. Grasso's expanded sales tax proposal would cover leases and rentals of equipment.

—Consulting services, including public relations, investment counseling and business management.

—Credit reporting or collection agencies, private employment agencies, commercial research or development laboratories, detective and protective service agencies and photofinishing firms.

—Photography, commercial art, graphics, interior decorating or design, telephone answering services, sign painting, direct mail advertising, blueprinting and photocopy services, stenographic or duplicating and personnel supply services.

—Maintaining, altering, cleaning, servicing or repairing properties, except for homeowners.

—Jerome H. Lowengard, who operates a major advertising and public relations agency in Hartford, said the tax would fall hardest on small businesses and retailers.

The proposal will harm small businesses trying to sell goods and services and will only add to the difficulty of dealing with the severe recession, he said.

"The small guy who really has a limited budget is really going to be affected," Lowengard said.

Israeli Consulate Comes Under Attack

JOHANNESBURG (UPI)—Unidentified attackers stormed into the Israeli Consulate building in downtown Johannesburg today and began shooting, security police said.

Police in the South African city received a telephone call saying: "There are six dangerous men shooting. Please help."

Police said communications with those inside the building were cut after the call. Police surrounded the building and cordoned off the entire area.

A police official said: "We are not going to storm the building yet. Our primary concern is for human life."

There was no word from the consulate on the identity of the attackers, nor how many persons were holed up inside the building.

One of the attackers fired into the street, scattering bystanders. Four or five persons were injured.

The attacker fired a burst of machine gun fire from the fourth floor of the consulate.

Police snipers armed with submachine guns rushed to the rooftops of nearby buildings and returned the fire.

Several ambulances screamed to the scene of the firing and police began driving bystanders away from the consulate.

Hail, Rains, Wind Hit Plains and Country

By United Press International

Powerful thunderstorms, packing heavy rains, hail and high winds, rumbled over much of the Plains early today, causing scattered damage.

Heavy rains soaked much of the Midwest, flooding or saturating floodplains. Thunderstorms stretched from central Texas to the upper Mississippi Valley.

A tornado swooped down on Seneca, Neb., Sunday night, uprooting trees and toppling powerlines but causing no injuries. Another twister earlier Sunday caused minor damage at Lincoln, Neb., but no injuries were reported.

Wind damage was reported at Bartlesville, Okla., and Hayes, S.D., as powerful winds lashed the area.

Wind gusts of nearly 100 miles per hour also roared across Chadron, Neb., Sunday night and golf ball-sized hail pelted Russell, Kan., and Henryetta, Okla.

Two inches of rain drenched Mason City, Iowa, in a six-hour period Sunday night.

Localized flooding was reported along the west branch of the Iowa River and the Boone River in Iowa's Hancock County and a flash flood warning was in effect for southern Hancock and northern Wright counties.

Flash flooding, also plagued portions of southeastern Indiana, though no damage or injuries were reported. A flash flood warning was issued for parts of the state.

Gasoline Vapors Believed Cause of House Fire

James Richards may have caused a basement fire Sunday at 474 Main St., the building housing his shop, The Exposure, police and firemen said.

Richards told firemen he was preparing to paint the gas tank of a motorcycle in the cellar at noon Sunday. He said he was letting the fuel run from the tank into a tin can when the fire burst out.

Deputy Chief James McKay said the pilot light on a nearby gas hot water heater ignited the motorcycle fuel fumes.

"Richards was a fortunate fellow," McKay said.

The man was between the can of fuel and the cellar door. He escaped without injury, McKay said.

Flames filled the cellar in minutes. The large, wood frame building filled with smoke.

"The men made a heck of a stop," McKay said of the men in his charge Sunday.

Fire damage was limited to the basement. However, McKay this morning said the cost of repairing the structural damage and damage to wiring and other items in the basement may run as high as $10,000.

The building is owned by Atty. Wesley C. Gryk whose offices are next door at 470 Main St. in another building he owns. He lives at 50 Forest St.

The house is insured, a spokesman at Gryk's office said this morning.

Some smoke damage was done to the belongings of the building's tenants but McKay could not estimate the cost this morning. The owners of the Harvest Beans and Silver shop next to The Exposure were out-of-town, he said.

Richards also lived in an apartment in the building, McKay said he believes Richards is not insured for the smoke damage his belongings suffered.

The Newport bridge was open to military traffic late this afternoon. The nearby American commissary store, equivalent to a large U.S. supermarket, was looted by a mob of Vietnamese citizens.

The looters, estimated at about 500 in number and most of them civilians, used shopping carts to carry off everything from soap to beer.

Firemen Rush to Roof

After making a "quick stop" of a blaze in this building's basement, firefighters rush to the roof and to the two stores and two apartments to make sure the fire does not spread. They found only smoke damage above the basement level at 474 Main St. Sunday. (Herald photo by Dunn)

Cycle's Fumes Blamed

Firefighters struggle with the motorcycle which helped cause the basement blaze at 474 Main St. Sunday. Fumes from the machine's gas tank were ignited by the gas hot water heater pilot light, firemen said. (Herald photo by Dunn)

The Lighter Side Et Tu, Senatus

By DICK WEST
 WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Ford keeps saying he isn't blaming Congress for the fall of South Vietnam.

In fact, he says this so often I'm beginning to suspect he is using reverse psychology.

His position, as enunciated in his recent Tulane University speech, takes this form:

"As far as I'm concerned, the Vietnam War is finished — and so is the effort to pin the defeat on Congress.

He did what he could to save South Vietnam, but Congress wouldn't cooperate. Now we should put all that behind us and get on with the business at hand.

In laying the Vietnam issue to rest, while speaking in a bit of Congress, Ford sounded a little like Mark Antony.

"You'll recall that in his funeral oration for Julius Caesar, the sky Antony conspicuously avoided asking anything but about Caesar's assassins. But he did it in such a way that the people were aroused against them.

If Ford had had William Shakespeare as one of his speechwriters, his Tulane address might have gone like so:

"Friends, Americans, countrymen, lend me your ears; I come to bury South Vietnam; not to blame Congress. The evil that Congress does is enacted into law; the good is in it, as it is in the Congressional Record. So let it be with Southeast Asia.

Ford Suggests Repeal Of 'Fair Trade' Laws

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Ford today called for a repeal of fair trade laws, saying such a move would save consumers $1 billion a year.

But he also said he opposes legislation creating a new consumer agency, saying it would only add another layer of expensive federal bureaucracy.

In a speech prepared for the annual meeting of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, Ford said regulation costs consumers money because it prevents competition that can lower prices.

Politics Class Open to Public

The final class in the East Hartford Chamber of Commerce "Action Course in Practical Politics" is scheduled for Tuesday at 7 p.m. at the East Hartford Y.M.C.A., 770 Main St., East Hartford. It is open to the public.

Six East Hartford politicians will discuss how and why they became involved in politics. They are Republican Town Chairman James Mirabile, Democratic Town Chairman James Fitzgerald, State Rep. Mariel Yacovone and Charles Matties, and Councilmen George Dagon and Esther Clark.

Manchester Evening Herald OPINION Space, the Best Is Yet to Come

Now that the glamor period of space exploration is over, we don't hear so much about its "spinoff" benefits. Yet the contributions of space research to a better life on earth continue to accumulate, and its promises far transcend such things as improved ceramics for cooking ware or micro-electronic hearing aids.

per strata. Unmanned satellites equipped with remote sensors have already revealed more about the physical properties of our planet than science was ever aware of.

Satellite surveys can also add billions of dollars worth of food to the world's economy by eliminating guesswork in crop planning, harvest scheduling and water supply management.

Sensors that can "see" crop disease and spot insects before either is visible to the human eye allow governments to scrutinize their cultivated lands more accurately from space than the farmer on the ground. These same "eyes" in the sky have increased the efficiency of fishing fleets and measured the thickness of ice on the Great Lakes.

Global pollution is another problem that can be tackled more effectively from beyond the earth's boundaries. The first job in combatting air and water pollution is knowing where it exists and how it spreads and diminishes. With information recorded by satellites, scientists can now obtain accurate readings of the air and drift of polluted water and flow.

What else can we expect? Among Lindaman's predictions:

— Orbiting space factories in which metallurgists will be able to concoct wonder materials like superstrong, superlight form steel that cannot be made on earth.

— Orbiting hospitals where burn victims and those suffering from heart diseases can be treated in a weightless environment.

In sum space exploration offers the potential to carry mankind into a dynamic future, says Lindaman. We know only one-millionth of reality. By extending our senses through space technology, we are opening up new frontiers of knowledge that will enable us to better manage our world and our future.

In contrast, space satellites can provide an accurate reading of exactly where minerals and water resources are buried in the earth's up-

South Vietnam's American Connection

WASHINGTON (NEA) — One of the reasons South Vietnam is disintegrating this spring is that it counts fewer friends in the past few decades than it has in the past few decades. Some governments continue to support the republic, half heartedly, the U.S. being the best illustration. But countries all over everywhere hold the southern Viet in something less than warm embrace. It is not inaccurate to generalize that the image of our allies is mean.

The explanation contains high irony. Largely because of its connection with America, the South Vietnamese have in the past few decades had to conduct their affairs openly, and their sins have been exposed for all to see. Assumedly, the other side has as many sins, more perhaps, but one of the political benefits of totalitarian rule is that the world knows of it mostly what the totalists wish it to know. The South, then, is hated primarily because it is more free than the North.

It is undeniable that many in the South deserve the disgust they receive. And it does little emotional good to try to gloss over the news of corruption, or the photos of ARVN soldiers shooting their own people, with pious explanations of democratic spectrum. But fairness requires that some perspectives be maintained concerning the population as a whole. Even now, while cowardly leaders run to the light and lesser officials shame themselves with self interest, we should not continue to judge everybody there by the minority of oafs in their midst.

As an example of the worthiness of the whole, I recall some enlightening hours spent with a Vietnamese family near Hue at the turn of the decade. Name of Minh. Father, mother, grandmother, 1.5 children, and five cats. Wonderful group, the kind rarely trumpeted to the news-reel world. They lived on a farm inside a flat of white sand near the South China Sea.

I met the Minhs by fortunate accident, while hitch-hiking north from Hue towards Phu Bai. I was having no luck with my thumb. U.S. jeeps passed me by, Vietnamese military trucks blew me down without a smile. But just before dark, the Minh family came along. They were in an ancient French-built compound. I climbed in between a solemn teen-age boy and a toothless grandmother.

TODAY'S THOUGHT

An Age of Virtue

NEW YORK CITY — Do you believe in what our fathers used to call the "spirit of age"? I do, decidedly. Every period has its animating drive from which it gets its character. But the trouble is that our ages come so rapidly and are so short-lived they scarcely linger long enough to get a spirit and name attached to them. Do you recall the names we gave the 1960's? The Age of Permissiveness, the Age of Outrage, the Second Reformation, the Age of Apocalypse were among them. They are all gone with the winds of yesterday.

As for Watergate in the early '70s, two years were scarcely long enough to constitute an age. Now in these post-Watergate mid '70s, the earliest candidate is the Age of Virtue — public, of course, not private.

Witness the Watergate trials and confessions, the campaign expenditures law, the defeat of so many who didn't pass muster in the 1974 elections, the new imperative for politicians to make their wealth, income and tax returns public, the rituals of purification they must undergo. America hasn't experienced anything quite like it before. Just as a thorough scrubbing after a long, grimy journey is good for the body, so this virtue-scrubbing is probably good for the national soul.

Someone has suggested that it is "the terror" in the French Revolution, but this misses the point. I see no Robespierres or Marats around. The point is that we are passing not so much through a political revolution as through a religious experience, which is far more in accord with the American tradition. It is like bearing witness at a Friends' meeting, or standing up to be saved at a rousing evangelical one, or like the "mikvah" (the purification bath) of the Orthodox Jewish woman.

But if you watch the political and legal scene for signs of change, however slight, there are several to be noted. That, I suspect, is the real importance of the "not guilty" verdict in John Connally's bribery trial in Washington. Add — as another similar sign — the same verdict in the extortion trial of the former Florida controller, Fred O. Dickinson Jr., in Jacksonville. They may prove to be only fragile straws in the varying wind, but I think they are more. If an excluding the trial of former Sen. Edward J. Gurney of Florida, which rests on a set of facts of its own and has not been settled as I write this.

The Connally trial was the historically important one. Connally had a number of things going for him — a brilliant, dramatic lawyer, a government case that had to stand or fall on the credibility of the prosecution's chief witness. But there was also the fact that Washington juries have in comparison to other Middle Eastern figures such as Palestinian leader Yasser Arafat. And if anticommunism is the mark of a friend of the United States, then Faisal was truly a friend. His hatred of communism was almost as great as his hatred of Israel.

But if the chances for peace in the Middle East have been set back by Faisal's passing, it is the kind of peace that the Israelis, at least, know would be scarcely preferable to outright defeat in another round of war with the Arabs.

It is a measure of something else that the failure of Secretary of State Kissinger's go-between negotiations in behalf of Israel and Egypt has resulted in a rising tide of criticism of Israel by many Americans. Perhaps it is our weariness with perpetual crisis in that part of the world, or of our frustration over the fact that Israel, victor in every encounter with the Arabs, refused to give up a few miles of desert. It had taken from Egypt in the 1973 war.

More ominously, it may be a measure of our readiness, as we demonstrated in the so-called peace achieved in Vietnam, to bring pressure to bear upon our friends when the enemies of our friends prove unyielding.

It is difficult to believe that the secretary of state could ever have entertained any realistic hopes that his family was distraught, that he was grateful to me for in effect helping them through the night. He waved his good arm as he drove away.

I recent this story now not for anything extraordinary in it. But because, as Vietnam apparently edges toward military and social defeat, it needs to be said the loss will be that of the decent as well as the damned. Yet as a fine people suffer from new and merciless aggression, one looks fruitlessly about for a sign of protest. The terrible end truth for the South Vietnamese is that nobody thinks they are worth saving.

It is an assurance that Egyptian President Sadat was unwilling to give, and could not have given had he wanted to, and which You show forth to us the very glory of the Only-begotten of the Father, full of Grace and Truth.

OPEN FORUM

Open Membership

Dear Sir: The Manchester Association for Retarded Citizens is placing special emphasis on membership during the month of May.

Membership in the association is open to any person in the community who is interested in sharing in the responsibility of promoting further opportunities for children and adults who are mentally retarded.

Perhaps there are those who assumed that in order to become a member of MARC, one had to be the parent of a retarded citizen. I would appreciate the use of your column to correct this impression. We have always welcomed into membership those in the community who have a sincere interest in the welfare of the retarded; educators, physicians, relatives, friends, neighbors. Any individual who would like to learn more about the work of the association and its needs is cordially invited to attend meetings and to enter into full membership in this very vital work.

The Manchester Association for Retarded Citizens has been serving the retarded citizens of the community for 23 years. It is a member unit of both the national and Connecticut Associations for Retarded Citizens.

Capital Fare

WASHINGTON — Citizens whose lives are warmed by gentle excursions into nostalgic perhaps will join me in a lament concerning the physiognomy of the several Presidential aspirants already on the scene. The face of none of these gentlemen is graced by a moustache that would seem to me a touch sensitive about this situation, since I have recently added a splendid example of yesterday's hirsute adornment to my upper lip. Live and let live and all that, of course, but it seems to me there is room for a bit more individualism within the ranks of our public men.

Indeed, incredible as it might seem in this land of the free thinkers we have not had a moustached President since William Howard Taft's magnificent walrus. We lost one of the few important political thickets by the death of Tom Dewey, who courageously maintained his growth despite the cartoonists. To be sure, Pennsylvania's Rep. Dan Flood has a majestic huff, complete with waxed ends, and Rhode Island's Sen. John Pastore has a dainty tuft. But neither is likely to wind up in the White House.

It could be that Presidential hopefuls have studied Dewey's two unsuccessful attempts at the White House and decided that a moustache is a liability. This is nonsense. No man ever looked more like a secretary of state than Dean Acheson, whose moustache had an Olympic grandeur. Not the barefaced Leslie Howard, but the moustached Clark Gable drew women wild with unrequited passion. Walter Cronkite's brush inspires nightly confidence.

And yet America is still a country of smooth-shaven upper lips. Unfortunately, however, the action of the plucking prefer to look like everybody else, no matter the toll exacted by mutational razor slips.

Trouble is, it does take courage to grow a moustache. Beset by the boredom of encountering the same frontispiece on shaving mirror, I manufactured one of the things as the alternative to a face-lifting job.

It is a majestic specimen — black, with just enough gray to add a touch of distinction, and full all the way across, with the ends upturned. It reminds me of Kaiser Wilhelm's. The kind of moustache in short, that cries for a crimson cloak and sword.

But I was not prepared for the reaction of the outside world. Facing the public moustachiod for the first time is a harrowing experience roughly comparable in my ken to flying blind in a blizzard over Alaska or crossing the Champs Elysee.

In short, my friends were not impressed. One neighbor, a retired Army major general, told me bluntly, "Shave it off." The milkman coughed politely and led to his wagon staggering under what appeared to be a form of paroxysm. Three dogs I had fed for years greeted me with thrifty growls. A teammate at the Watergate Health Club who had always seemed a sensible chap announced in stentorian tones to a seilout crowd in the sauna that "You have just set Hemingway back 20 years."

Even unseen, a new moustache seems to cause concern among one's kith and kin. Contacted by telephone in Massachusetts, a sister seemed startled. "A moustache!" she cried in the tone of a matriarch seeing her son off to the penitentiary. "Do you really think you're the type?"

But — it stays. It stays because I finally was rewarded with a reality that opinion delivered by a girl whose intelligence, judgment and sensitivity are indubitable. "Daddy," she said, "it makes you look dashing." The white charger today, please, James.

Leukemia Cure Reported
MOBILE, Ala. (UPI) — Dr. Herschel P. Bentley Jr., who heads a team of doctors at the University of South Alabama Medical Center, said they may have discovered the way to cure T-cell leukemia. T-cell leukemia is the most common type of blood cell cancer in children. The researchers said two drugs—BCG and thymosin — may trigger the action of the pituitary gland, which causes the multiplication of the T-cells.

Head Start Subject For School Board

School Superintendent Joseph Kennedy will describe to the Board of Education tonight the program of Head Start.

The board will meet at Buckley School beginning with a tour of the facilities at 7:30. The meeting will begin at 8. For the first half-hour of the meeting, parents and any other interested members of the public are invited to comment on issues of concern.

Dr. Kennedy will also discuss some of the funding problems related to Head Start and some of the decisions which will have to be made. The present federal grant for Head Start will remain the same for the next two years, he said, but budget adjustments may necessitate some changes in the Head Start teaching schedule.

A "Safety Town" program for Manchester will also be discussed by the board. A grant for the home of Mrs. William Zimmerman, Rt. 2, Tolland, and the board will be responsible for developing a curriculum for the program.

Laser Scalpel Speeds, Eases Healing After Surgery

PATRICIA MCCORMACK
NEW YORK (UPI) — Instead of using a scalpel this day, the surgeon aims what looks like a shiny flashlight at the anesthetized patient's diseased tonsils.
The instrument in his glove is hooked up to a machine that looks like an automatic washer with a huge upper down L-shaped "manipulator arm" stuck in its top.
In a split second the surgeon, working a foot pedal, turns the "flashlight" on and off. The diseased tonsils disappear. Vaporized. There is no bleeding.
The surgeon knows from experience using this relatively new surgical instrument that healing will be less painful than that after conventional surgery.
The instrument is a laser, delivering a high intensity infrared light to a precisely-focused spot, vaporizing tissue and/or bone. It can be aimed with such precision that there is very little chance of damage to adjacent tissue and bone.
The scene isn't from the year 2001 but it is relatively uncommon in surgical suites of the world. However, it isn't rare.
The instrument, the Sharpplan Carbon Dioxide Laser, was developed by Dr. Isaac Kaplan, a plastic surgeon, and Uri Sharon, an engineer, in Israel. Kaplan talked about it at a laser conference last week sponsored by the New York Academy of Sciences.
Kaplan has used the laser in 30 operations since 1972. It has been used in hundreds of additional surgical procedures in 12 hospitals in the United States, Canada, Europe and Israel.
In Munster, Germany, a surgeon uses the laser in heart surgery. In Texas, it is used in plastic, orthopedic, general and gynecological operations at two hospitals.
Kaplan said that should cuts be made across small blood vessels, bleeding is minimized. The cut ends are essentially welded shut. Cutting across larger vessels is facilitated by clamping the vessel and cutting with the laser close to the clamp.
An experienced surgeon can get the feel of the laser "scalpel" in five or 10 minutes, according to Kaplan. It costs $47,000.

Liberty Bell Award To Highlight Law Day

TOLLAND COUNTY
The Tolland County Bar Association is sponsoring a week of activities this week to commemorate Law Day which will be Thursday with services to be at the Tolland County Superior Court House in Rockville.

The highlight of Law Day will be the naming of a local person to receive the "Liberty Bell Award" which is presented annually to a person not involved in the legal system but who has contributed greatly to the community.

Starting at 10 a.m. Thursday, Judge William Perry Barber, presiding this session in the court, will open court with a statement concerning Law Day and this will be followed by the award presentation.

A Law Day poster contest is being conducted at the Junior High level and a Law Day essay contest in the high schools throughout the county.

At 1:30 p.m., Thursday, mayors and administrative heads in Tolland County towns will attend a proclamation ceremony.

During the week, activities will focus on two areas. One is Project Vote 18 which is an effort to increase the number of 18-year olds registering.

The other major activity will be an effort by county attorneys to acquaint junior high and high school students with the legal system and the activities carried on by the judicial system.

The public is invited to attend any and all of the events scheduled for this week in connection with Law Day.

Legislators To Speak At Insight Breakfast

The Greater Manchester Chamber of Commerce Legislative Affairs Council will conduct its third "Insight Breakfast" of the year Tuesday. It will be at 8:30 a.m. at The Colony, Talcottville.

At its first breakfast, in January, the council members were briefed on plans by the 1975 state legislature. At its second breakfast, on April 1, they were addressed by U.S. Rep. William Colter, D-First District, who briefed them on plans by the 1975 Congress.

Tuesday, they will hear five state legislators tell them what to expect from the General Assembly as it enters the home stretch of the 1975 session.

Appearing will be State Sen. David Barry and George Hanon and State Rep. Ted Cummings, Muriel Yacavone and Abraham Glasman.

Questions will center on the dividends tax, unemployment compensation tax and business equipment tax.

Valley Council Seeks Transportation Grant

The Hockanum Valley Community Services Council, Inc. of Vernon is one of 14 non-profit organizations selected to apply for an Urban Mass Transportation Administration (UMTA) grant to help supply special transportation services for the elderly and handicapped persons.

State Sen. Robert Houley and State Rep. Mark Rogers, both Vernon Democrats, said they have been told by Samuel Kanel, state transportation commissioner, that the Community Services Council's application would provide funds for the purchase of one or more vans.

They said the applications forwarded to UMTA were the result of the new Connecticut Department of Transportation (DOT) UMTA program which was instituted in January.

Under the program, capital assistance is to be provided to private non-profit corporations to aid them in providing the special transportation services for elderly and handicapped persons where such services are unavailable or insufficient.

As a result of the program the Connecticut DOT received 36 applications from various non-profit corporations requesting some $12 million worth of vehicles and radio communication equipment to establish new services or expand and improve existing ones.

BICENTENNIAL FACTS

One of the surprises of the Revolution was the Americans' ability to unite politically at the outset of war with England though lacking a central government. A protest mounted against the Intolerable Acts of 1774, the first of many called for an intercolonial congress in the Massachusetts House of Representatives proposed that a congress be held in Philadelphia in September. By Aug. 25, The World Almanac notes, all 13 colonies except Georgia had named delegates to what was to be the First Continental Congress.

UNICO's Spring Ball Said Most Successful

By SOL R. COHEN
Manchester UNICO's annual Spring Ball Saturday night at Pina's in Bolton was its most successful and enjoyable to date, was the consensus of the 250 who attended.

The food was excellent, the music by Al Jarvis' band tuneful and danceable, and the speeches short.

UNICO is a national Italian service organization, with its charitable goals all facets of community life, of whatever denomination or nationality. UNICO denotes Unity, Neighbourliness, Integrity, Charity and Opportunity.

Among the short speeches Saturday night was a brief, but to-the-point message from Nathan Agostinelli, former state comptroller, former Manchester mayor, and an organizer and guiding spirit of Manchester UNICO.

Agostinelli's message was "Involvement."

Using the Bicentennial theme (he is co-chairman of Manchester's committee), he said, "It's time for reflection. It's the time for asking ourselves, 'Where have we been, where are we, and where are we going?'"

He said, "It's a great feeling to do something for someone less fortunate than you are. We need you. We need you to do the work we all should be involved in doing. The community will applaud you for it. Those you help will applaud you for it. You look to the future, you'll find it depends on how much you are willing to be involved in."

He told of the proud heritage Italians have in America — beginning with Christopher Columbus — and told also of a

Shaw Charges Republicans Not Providing Leadership

BOLTON
Donna Holland Correspondent 646-0375

Larry Shaw, Democratic candidate for selectman, responding to the betterment of Bolton.

"However, because the GOP insists on again crediting itself with the work of volunteers, I will reiterate my previous statement in which I said the volunteers were Bolton residents first, working toward improvement for their town and party affiliated second, if at all."

"To cite recent examples of volunteers the police study committee, activities in conjunction with the Bicentennial celebration, civil preparedness, recreation and obtaining a memorial plaque for the Green were all programs led by Democrats working with Republicans and Independents."

"My personal friendship with all these people leads me to sincerely believe they did it out of service to the community, not out of service to their respective party."

"Thanks to that traditional Republican leadership in Bolton, we will not be able to use the Andover Disposal Area (ADA) after June 1978."

"To the GOP leadership I say, 'We are entering a new era, handshakes are no longer enough for town business. (Bolton has been using the ADA under a verbal agreement between the first selectmen in both towns.)'

"Because of the informal government procedure in handling the dump agreement, Andover residents recently voted Bolton out."

"I believe a town's government is a business and should be conducted with all the formality of a business, including written contracts."

"I agree with Dredley that the town's portion of the budget will remain fairly stable this year. However, the school portion will certainly be increased and the schools are part of the total budget."

"When more students than ever, from the elementary through the high school grades, are leaving our system for area private schools at additional expense to their families and at a loss of ADM grant money to the town's school budget, I want to ask where the leadership in town is."

"It has become obvious in recent months that leadership by the GOP, locally as well as nationally, has not been serving the best interest of the people."

"I wish to participate in the leadership of Bolton. I feel I can offer a fresh and vigorous approach in solving present problems in town and working towards a better future for the town."

Dr. Meyers is department chairman of physical education at Penney High School in East Hartford. He has been coaching the wrestling program for the Vernon Recreation Department for five years and the "V" wrestling program for four years.

Preregistration for the motor skill course is required since class size will be limited. There is a $10 registration fee for "Y" members and $15 for non-members.

Dr. Edward Meyers will teach a 10-session course in fundamental motor skills as part of the Indian Valley YMCA's spring program.

The course is designed for children ages four through six, and will be Mondays and Thursdays from 6:30 to 7:30 p.m. at the Vernon Center Middle School, Rt. 30.

The program will stress fundamental movement patterns, hand-eye coordination, agility, balance, and perceptual development. Children will receive individual help in areas of need. The skills learned in the program will help the children in future games and sports as well as building their self-confidence.

School Board Meets Today

VERNON
The Vernon Board of Education will meet today at 7:30 p.m. in the Sykes School cafeteria. One of the main items to be discussed will be the Town Council's request for a $450,000 cut in the education budget.

The board will be asked to approve the school calendar for the coming year. The proposed calendar calls for 183 school days with schools to open on Thursday, Sept. 4 and to close on Friday, June 13.

Schools are required to be in session 180 days. The additional three days are allowed to accommodate days when schools may have to be closed due to the weather.

It allows for a total of 25 vacation days and some days have only four-hour sessions.

Ronald Kozach of the Vernon Adult School said a representative of the state will discuss the adult school programs, and Dr. Robert Linstone, assistant superintendent, will explain a reading grant.

Historical Society Will Meet on Tuesday

COVENTRY
The Coventry Historical Society will meet Tuesday at 8 p.m. at the society's house on South St. to see the film, "Resolved to Be Free."

"The film is an account of Connecticut's role in the American Revolution and is narrated by Katherine Hepburn, a Connecticut native. It was produced through the cooperative efforts of the Society for Savings and the American Revolution Bicentennial Commission of Connecticut."

Filming of the reenactment was done at historic homes and sites in Connecticut including the Revolutionary War Office on the green in Lebanon and the Trumbull House in that town.

The reenactments will be depicted through the use of buildings, paintings, and newspaper accounts of the time.

The film also has background music which is authentic 18th century researched and arranged by Arthur F. Schraeder, head of the music department of Sturbridge Village and performed mainly by the National Children's Music Corp. of Coventry. The corps will also appear at the end of the film.

Members of the Historical Society and the general public are invited to attend the meeting.

MACC NEWS Johnson Had Doubts About Oswald's Foreign Links

MANCHESTER AREA CONFERENCE OF CHURCHES

Nancy Carr
Executive Director
Why are youth committing violent and often senseless crimes? Why do they seem to have no sense of personal responsibility for their actions? Why isn't someone - parents, schools, police, the juvenile justice system doing something about the rising number of crimes: shoplifting, breaking and entering, vandalism - being committed in Manchester by our young people? Who can help us? Who can help the elderly woman afraid to answer her door at night? Who can help the small businessman suffering disastrous losses from shoplifting? Who can help our children - for these are our young people - lashing out?

These are but a few of the questions which many in Manchester have been asking. Several community wide meetings held in the past months have indicated a growing anger and fear on the part of some and a widespread concern on the part of all over the present tense and troubled situation caused in Manchester by a small percentage of our youth.

The Division of Christian Education of the conference is providing an opportunity for concerned members of the community to discuss in a constructive and productive atmosphere frustrations, anger, fears, insights, ideas and hopes. Community Dialogue on Youth Problems will be held at 7:30 on Wednesday, May 14, at Community Baptist Church, E. Center St., and on Thursday, May 22, at Church of the Assumption, Adams St. The first two meetings will have a similar format. Four panelists will each provide 10 minutes of factual material speaking on the following questions from their own perspective and town experience:

What has been happening in Manchester?
What is presently being done to correct the situation?
What can be done to help solve these problems?
What can I as one person do to help solve these problems?
Panelists for May 7, will be Bob Digan, director of the Department of Youth Services; Jean Zarhringon, director of learning disabilities program, Manchester school system; Pat Graves, youth officer, Manchester Police; the Rev. Winthrop Nelson, Center Congregational Church. Moderator will be Ted Brindamour Jr., faculty advisor to Manchester High School Student Assembly.

The evening will then focus on questions and dialogue from and with all who are attending. Plan to come. Bring your neighbor.

Mother's Day
For those of you who missed the form printed in The Herald, order forms for a Friends of Children Mother's Day card are available at the MACC office, 41 Park St. A contribution to Friends of Children in your mother's name (or memory) will provide food, medical help, a chance for life for the children left in the four Saigon orphanages. A card will be sent to your mother informing her of your loving and concerned gift.

Reminders
Friday, May 3rd, is the last day to leave your good clean used clothing boxed and well tied at Concordia Lutheran Church. Leave at the back of the church rear classroom door. These shirts, dresses, blankets, coats are desperately needed by men, women, and children the world over caught in floods, hurricanes, wars. Many will be kept warm physically and spiritually by your generosity now. Take another look at your closets. There is still time to get them to the people who need them. Please add 10 cents a pound if you can - this small sum still pays for all the processing, packaging, and getting the clothes to the people who most need them.

May Fellowship Day, Friday, May 3 at noon at Concordia Lutheran. All women are warmly invited to share a salad luncheon (bring any kind of a salad or a dollar) and a worship service on "Open to Live Fully." Babysitting provided.

The last MACC movie was a real success with over 250 children attending. Most successful of all - the children, who were beautifully behaved and as much fun to watch as the Disney film. Thank you to all the parents who came and stayed.

NEW YORK (UPI) - In an interview in 1969, former President Lyndon Johnson indicated he was never satisfied that Lee Harvey Oswald was acting without foreign influence in the assassination of President John Kennedy.

"I can't honestly say that I've ever been completely relieved of the fact that there might have been international connections," Johnson said in an interview with CBS-TV in September, 1969.

Johnson said he had confidence in the ability and honesty of the Warren Commission that investigated the assassination, but added "... I don't think that they or me or anyone else is always absolutely sure of everything that might have motivated Oswald or others that could have been involved."

CBS newsman Walter Cronkite then asked Johnson if his suspicions included possible involvement by Cuba.

"Oh, I don't think we ought to discuss the suspicions because there's not any hard evidence that would lead me to the conclusion that Oswald was directed by a foreign government. Or that his sympathies for other governments could have spurred him on in this effort. But he was quite a mysterious fellow and he did have connections that bore examination on the extent of the influence of those connections on him, and I think history will deal with much more than we are able to now."

CBS said that portion of an extended interview with Johnson was deleted originally at the request of the former president on the grounds of national security.

The network said it decided to release the conversation following reports this week by newspaper columnist Marianne Means of the King Features Syndicate that Johnson had told her he believed Oswald was "either under the influence of the 'orders' of Premier Fidel Castro or Cuba.

Monkey Power - A Possibility?

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I read in the newspaper that a group of people in Milwaukee, Wisconsin organized a "Free the Apes" movement, also known as "The Ape Liberation Movement."

DEAR UN: Don't worry. Even though monkeys would be glad to work for peanuts, until they can read, write and vote, the labor unions will see to it that people get preference.

DEAR ABBY: I've never written to you before, but there was a letter in your column that really threw me. It was from "Bona Tired," the young mother who wasn't able to get all dolled up in the morning because she'd served her husband his breakfast with a sick baby.

DEAR LINDA: Probably not. Do you suppose if she had, they'd still be together?

DEAR ABBY: I am writing this letter in hopes that it will help some other drinking housewife who won't admit that she has a problem.

DEAR D.: Thanks for an inspirational letter. I think you're going to make it!

Everyone has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 69700, L.A., Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

MANCHESTER
Many accidents were reported over the weekend. They involved many minor injuries and much damage to the cars involved, police said.

Police accounts included: • Roger A. Goulet, 48, of 34 Elm Ter. was charged with making an unsafe turn in connection with a car-pedestrian accident Friday at 2:50 p.m. at Linden and Center Sts., police said.

His car bumped Mrs. Wilma Wilson, 85, of 212 Center St. there, police said. She was taken by ambulance to Manchester Memorial Hospital where she was treated and released. Court for Goulet is May 20.

• Luc J. Pelletier, 18, of 2 Lockwood St. drove a car into a utility pole on Edgerton St. Saturday at 1:25 a.m., police said. The car was towed away. No police action was taken.

• Christopher Pawlowski, 23, of Enfield was charged with failure to grant the right of way in connection with a two-car accident Saturday at 10:42 a.m. on W. Middle Tpk. in front of Fountain Village Apartments, police said.

The driver of the other car, Sara A. Brennan, 24, of 1220 W. Middle Tpk., and Pawlowski's passenger, Dale Field, 18, of Bridgeport, were both given first aid by East Hartford Police on the scene and taken to MMH. They were both treated for cuts and released, a hospital spokesman said.

Both cars were towed from the scene. Court is May 13.

• Diane M. Boucher, 17, of 563A Hilliard St. was charged with failure to obey flashing red light in connection with a four-car accident Sunday at 1:21 a.m. at Main and Hudson Sts., police said.

There were 15 people altogether in the four cars and six in one car were taken to MMH.

The accident occurred when the car driven by Miss Boucher west on Hudson St. struck the right front of the car driven by Karlis Steinblum, 67, of Torrington heading north on Main St., police said.

The Steinblum car then veered into the southbound lane striking the car driven by William A. Mosheno, 24, of East Hartford head on. The Mosheno car, in attempting to avoid the Steinblum car, struck the car driven by Henry L. Olbrys, 56, of 35 Henry St., police said.

Steinblum and his five passengers were all taken to MMH where they were treated for minor injuries and released. His passengers were: Ruth Ribickio, 14, of Torrington; Lidija Steinblum, 66, of Torrington; Oscar Grabazs, 61, and Emiliga Grabazs, 61, both of Hartford; and Inta Klavins, 14, of Wethersfield.

Only the Olbrys car left the scene on its own power. Court is May 13.

• Richard L. Plepler, 16, of 32 Sage Dr. was driving east on Kennedy Rd. about 11:51 a.m. Sunday when the car went off the side of the road and struck a guide wire on a utility pole, police said.

The accident disrupted power service to 276 Hartford Electric Light Co. customers in the Kennedy Rd. area for an hour, a HELCO spokesman said today. Although most of the customers get their power from underground lines, the accident occurred at a point where the lines were still above ground, he said.

The car had minor front end damage and Plepler was not hurt, police said. No police action was taken.

Three hit and run incidents were reported Friday, Saturday and Sunday involving four parked cars, police said.

On Friday at 11:44 p.m., a car struck the right front fender of the parked car of Andrew Johnson of Springfield, Mass. on Oakland St.

On Saturday at 11:57 p.m., a car struck the rear end of the car of the J&D Caterers of 623 Main St. on Main St. south of Pearl St.

On Sunday at 4:05 p.m., a car struck the left side of the car of Charles E. Gill of 18 Margaret Rd. and the left rear of the car of Kathleen Dexter of Colchester on Norman St.
