Assembly To Debate Tax On $1.68 Billion Budget

By ROBERT LAMBERT

HARTFORD (UPI) — Connecticut lawmakers preparing to debate a $1.68 billion budget-tax package today were to consider 10 amendments, ranging from a tax on lawyer's services to a state income tax.

Lawmakers Thursday defied Democratic leadership by increasing anti-poverty funds by $1 million in a debate lasting more than 11 hours, the longest debate on a single bill in the memory of veteran Capitol reporters.

The House took nearly 12 hours to approve the budget 113-86 late Thursday and rejected 18 out of 18 amendments in one of the longest debates on a bill in memory of veteran Capitol reporters.

For a second vote in hopes of killing it and keeping the leadership budget intact, Morris said he believes many lawmakers were upset at having to turn down pleas for increases in state employment salaries and welfare benefits and saw an opportunity in the community affairs budget.

Dodd Going to Russia

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Rep. Christopher J. Dodd, D-Conn., will travel to Russia with other House judiciary subcommittee members on a 13-day "information gathering tour."

Dodd said today the group will consult with Soviet officials on a number of issues including fishing rights and emigration of Jews and other religious and ethnic groups.

The trip by members of the House judiciary subcommittee on immigration, citizenship and international law will begin May 22, coinciding with the congressional Memorial Day recess, Dodd said.

The freshman Democrat said his wife would make the trip at her own personal expense.

Dodd said the committee also plans to talk with Soviet judicial officials about 22 alleged Nazi war criminals now living in the United States. He said the committee was interested in locating witnesses to World War II atrocities.

Before leaving on the trip, Dodd said he planned to meet with New England fishing

Phnom Penh Terror Described

STOCKHOLM (UPI) — A Swedish journalist said today the Khmer Rouge capture of Phnom Penh three weeks ago turned the Cambodian capital into a city of terror.

Herman Lindqvist, a correspondent for the Stockholm newspaper Expressen, said joy over the end of the war turned to fear soon after the conquerors shut down Phnom Penh's communications with the rest of the world.

"Then came terror and the nightmares began," he said.

Lindqvist, who was recently evacuated from Cambodia after being trapped when the Khmer Rouge seized Phnom Penh April 17, made his remarks in the first of a series of articles from Bangkok.

He said the first jubilant Khmer Rouge troops to enter the capital were followed by grim soldiers who "did not laugh."

"They opened fire," he wrote. "They shot in the air and along the street."

Lindqvist said more than 2,000 persons sought asylum at the Hotel Le Phnom, residents by loudspeaker to leave the capital immediately and to explain where the people should go.

"If any of the confused people hesitated, one in a group was shot so that the others knew that the (orders) were real," he said.

Lindqvist was one of a handful of foreign newsmen who stayed in Cambodia after the Khmer Rouge takeover and took refuge in the French embassy. He had refused to write anything about his experiences until all other foreigners left.

The Swedish correspondent said he saw young Khmer Rouge soldiers stop fleeing refugees at gunpoint and take watches and radios from them.

"The guerrillas went into stores and took food, medicine, watches and alcohol," he said. "They wanted motorcycles, cars and bicycles."

U.S. Advised Industry on Foreign Bribes

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Defense Department counseled U.S. aerospace and electronic industries on bribery methods for making sales in the Middle East, a government document revealed today.

The term "influence" is used here rather loosely," the Defense paper said.

"To be more specific, it can range from normal friendships or family ties between local agent and procuring officer to the payment of substantial sums of money to individuals in high government positions with somewhat lesser amounts paid to lower echelon government officials."

The document was included in a July 5, 1974, letter sent to the Aerospace Industries Association, the Electronic Industries Association, the National Security Industry Association. It was signed by Joseph K. Hoeng, assistant sales negotiations director of the Defense Security Assistance Agency.

Hoeng could not be reached for comment. A Defense Department spokesman could give no details on the origin of the document, but said he believed it was originally made in a speech to an industry group.

Jean Coffaux, an EIA official who deals in export sales, said he did not recall receiving the Hoeng letter. Coffaux said it was customary for the association to relay such information to members that might be affected.

The Hoeng letter was contained in documents that Northrop Corp., a Los Angeles-based aerospace corporation, filed with the Securities and Exchange Commission.

Northrop has pleaded guilty to federal charges of using payments to foreign agents to disguise a $1.1 million slush fund from which corporate funds were diverted to make illegal campaign contributions to Democratic and Republican congressional and presidential candidates from 1961 to May 15, 1974.

Other companies charged with using corporate funds to create illegal slush funds have also said that the practice was customary. These companies include United Brands, Phillips Petroleum and Gulf Oil.

Special committees appointed by Phillips and Gulf management are now preparing reports on the slush funds. The Northrop account was the first completed.

Tea At New Hope Expresses Thanks

In appreciation for the recent donation from the Gilbert & Sullivan Workshop, the girls at New Hope Manor entertained Mrs. Rita Kenway and Mrs. Jeri Lyons, president and vice-president, respectively, of the Workshop, at a tea party Thursday afternoon.

New Hope Manor, a rehabilitation center for teenage girls, was designated as one of the recipients of part of the proceeds from the March production by the Workshop. They received a check recently for $600.

The money was forwarded to Mrs. Mary Patterson, president of New Hope Manor, with instructions that it be applied wherever most needed. The grocery account was chosen as the most crucial area at the time.

The Workshop had also provided tickets to all the girls and staff members at the Manor to attend a performance of G&S' "Pirates of Penzance," and the tea provided an opportunity for discussion of the performance with Mrs. Kenway and Mrs. Lyons.

In early March, as part of the Workshop's interest in the welfare of the handicapped, a special invitation was extended to area organizations of mentally and physically handicapped people to attend the dress rehearsal of "Pirates."

About 100 persons attended, including 40 residents of Mansfield State Training School.

OPINION

Collective Anger No Solution

The other day the President said he tries not to lose his temper on the job and even tried to avoid doing so on the golf course.

Of course he is right. These are times when our leaders should keep their cool.

The avenues of reason and compromise are increasingly important if we are to make any progress in solving our many problems.

But just as anger can be an obstacle to reason and compromise we think there is a similar pitfall in attempts by groups, no matter how highly motivated, to make public displays of their so-called clout.

What we are referring to is the rally conducted in Hartford by public employees. While they have every right to assemble and petition for redress of their grievances, we were more than disturbed by some of the rally rhetoric that was voiced by one of the union leaders in particular.

This angry man bitterly denounced Gov. Ella Grasso and the Democrats in the legislature. And in what appears to be bridge burning at its best, attacked the "business crowd" for exacting the "last pound in profits regardless of what it does to the people."

The irony is that in their anger they tell the Democrats that "labor will no longer remain captive in the hip pocket of the Democratic party." However, they continue to widen the gap between labor and the conservatives with demands for heavier taxation on business and industry which is bearing the brunt of the $200 million tax increase before the legislature.

Another irony is the chastising of Gov. Grasso for failing to keep her pledge to raise salaries of state workers and in the next breath virtually demand she break her pledge to all the taxpayers that she would not seek nor sign an individual income tax bill. If there is one thing she can do, it is count votes.

What it boils down to is the all to human desire on the part of the state's work force to place self-interest ahead of the common interest.

Our thought is that if this highly choreographed display of political clout had resulted in the legislature or the governor backing down, the victory would have been a hollow one.

The real message of the budget, we think, is quite simple. The state work force had a choice of accepting a wage and promotion freeze or face layoffs.

The rally seemed to be an exercise by union leadership to convince the public and the workers they could have both.

This is the inevitable result of too much demanding and not enough listening. And the Democratic party holds the trump card. Organized labor leadership, by its own doing, made itself captive of the party and unless it accepts the probable temporary fiscal conservatism of the Democrats in Connecticut, it has no where else to go.

No, anger, including a highly orchestrated and publicized anger, doesn't solve problems but only creates obstacles to compromise and solutions.

The lesson to be learned by labor and all pressure groups is that just as labor should not be a captive of a political party, neither should a political party be a captive of any pressure group if either is to endure as an effective institution in a democratic society.

Try It, You Might Not Like It

We'd like to tip our hat to State Rep. Thom Serrani, a Democrat from Stamford, who got a group of legislative commuters to take the train to Hartford the other day and dramatize the delay and wait that commuters users of mass transit in Connecticut.

The trip to Hartford, including a 40-minute wait in New Haven, undoubtedly fined tuned the reactions commuters were able to give the press and anyone else who might be concerned with mass transit.

However, there really isn't too much need to point out the shortcomings of mass transit to the regular day-in and day-out commuter. The people who need to know the sad state of conditions are the legislators and bureaucrats who make the basic mass transit decisions but do not use mass transit.

We would like to suggest that perhaps the General Assembly and the Congress pass resolutions requiring every member, at least once during a session, to travel from their districts to Hartford or Washington via mass transit. We'd venture that after about two trips things might start popping.

TODAY'S THOUGHT

God speaks sometimes through our experiences and guides us, closing doors as well as opening them. He will let you know what you must do, and what you must be. He is waiting for you to touch Him. The hand of faith is enough.

Support Coventry Education Budget

It is time that someone spoke out in support of the educational system in the town of Coventry. At present, the Town Council has cut the current education budget by $102,888. The board's budget reflects a 5.3 per cent increase over 1974-1975.

It is felt by many, that the Sequential Learning Program is responsible for the bulk of the increase. This belief is wrong. The implementation of SLP at the third grade level accounts for less than 1/4 mill increase.

It also appears that people are blaming SLP for draining funds available to Captain Nathan Hale and the high school. On a per pupil basis, more money is spent on the students in the high school and middle school, with the two grammar schools holding third place.

The SLP has proved to be a successful venture. It presently serves all of the children in kindergarten through grade 2. Because of SLP, both teachers and aides are better able to accommodate all levels of achievers. By accommodate, we mean not only in regard to their degree of learning but also their attitude toward learning.

Recently some representatives from the State Department of Education visited the SLP in both our elementary schools. They found our program to be well organized and suited to meeting the individual needs of children. They stated that the aides were the best bargain we could get.

We feel that the budget as it will be presented Friday evening has been cut substantially and that any further cuts would only serve to reduce the quality of education that the Board of Education is trying to provide for our children.

Cold Eye For The Refugees

GAINESVILLE, Fla. — The questions are insistent. Why these refugees? Why here — here in Florida, California, Arkansas, here in America? The questions come out of an honest puzzlement: Is it good for America?

Yes, it is good for America — good because it is part of the tradition of the migrations by which America has been shaped, good because it flows from the most generous impulses of the American national character, good because it offers valuable human resources for the future.

Many of the people in the Nicville of America have not been prepared for the dark-skinned, exotic-looking families who are pouring in — in their own land will be the same in their adopted land.

From right and left alike there are Americans who cast a cold eye on the refugees. If the xenophobia is the view from the right, the second one is the view largely from the left. The picture it presents is one of the America opening its doors to the rich, the corrupt, the anti-Communist and anti-revolutionary.

WASHINGTON — Some years ago, a young reporter approached City Editor Bill O'Brien of the New York World-Telegram for permission to do a feature story of a Long Island man whose hobby was compost piles.

"No," O'Brien said quietly. "Nobody ever got excited about fertilizer." I expect O'Brien was right, at the time. But times change. Today the Justice Department antitrust division is investigating a fertilizer story that may excite, or at least annoy, millions of Americans — who wouldn't know a compost pile from a used car lot — because the cost of fertilizer is one reason food prices are so high.

Specifically, justice is seeking to determine if anti-trust laws were violated in the rapid fertilizer price rise that occurred after the government lifted price controls in October 1973. A federal grand jury has subpoenaed records from all over the world of more than 50 fertilizer producers and international brokers. And about time. Item: The price American farmers pay for anhydrous ammonia, the basic fertilizer for the U.S. corn crop, rose from $27.50 a ton in 1973 to a current $265 a ton.

American immigration. Fear of strangers — xenophobia — has run like a scarlet thread through that history. Yet we have learned. The fears have diminished. The popular attitudes have lost much of their narrowness and parochialism. Now comes one of the great testings of whether Americans believe their rhetoric about being hospitable to strangers. Most Americans feel that we messed up the Vietnam intervention and the war, and I think they also feel we must not mess up the refugee episode now.

There is a second type of hostile approach to the refugees — not that they are exotic strangers but that they are the all too familiar examples of a corrupt officialdom and business class from a society which was already ripe for ruin and which only the American intervention propped up. From this angle the refugees represent a class that was a parasite both on its native body politic and on the American occupation force. Those who were corrupt and parasitical — by this reasoning — in their own land will be the same in their adopted land.

The roughly 120,000 Vietnamese refugees today have many more things going for them. The closer parallel is with the anti-Castro Cubans, who have settled on the Atlantic Coast from Florida to New York and have become a healthy part of the American society. They argue well for the Vietnamese immigrants.

The argument largely falls on two grounds. First, America has found room for revolutionaries, conservatives, anti-Fascist refugees from the Nazi terror, anti-Communist refugees from the terror of the left.

Second, only a fraction of these people are the rich. Most of them are educated, able men and women from the professions, the media, small business, the universities, the military. The fact that a number of them worked for the Americans — in the embassy, in the support services, in the intelligence services — is scarcely a fact to count against them now.

There are two historical migrations that serves as somewhat close parallels. One came at the end of the Algerian war in 1962 when some 200,000 Algerian "harkis" who fought on the French side were evacuated to France. The French have not coped well with that problem.

Budget Meeting Set Tonight

COVENTRY
 Monica Shea
 Correspondent
 742-9495

Residents will have a chance tonight to approve or disapprove the town budget for the fiscal year 1975-76.

The total budget, $3,329,929 would represent 3.5 mills increase over last year's 6.5 mills, bringing the total tax rate to 67 mills.

The budget would have $2,542,900 going toward education and $1,003,387 going to the general government portion of the budget.

The taxpayers must also approve $260,662 for debt service which would be used to pay on the bonds for schools and bridges.

At least one councilman, Robert Keller, has issued a statement saying that he is opposed to the proposed budget calling the proposed tax increase an "unwarranted burden on the taxpayers of the Town of Coventry."

In his statement, Keller said, "If the federal government can cut taxes by 10 per cent and the city of Hartford can hold the line on taxes, then the Town of Coventry certainly can."

Keller plans to present a motion to hold the budgeting to last year's figure and then to pass to present a motion cutting last year's budget by 10 per cent and using only that money to operate the town next year.

Rose Fowler, chairman of the Town Council, called Keller's statement "a complete disregard for the responsibilities of the Board of Education" and stated that he would like to see the town budget based on fiscal responsibility.

At its meeting on Tuesday evening, the Board of Education passed a motion requesting that the Board of Education be held to a 4 per cent budget increase for the fiscal year 1975-76.

The general government budget was to be increased 10.64 per cent over last year's and the Board of Education budget will only be increased by 5.98 per cent.

Another councilman, William Schmidt, said, "I'm not happy with the raise in taxes, but I guess I'm going to have to go along with it."

Councilman Hank Grabowski said, "I support the budget but I'm opposed to raising revenue sharing funds to hold the line on the mill rate. I think it is a budget that the Town Council and department heads can live with. Where else can we cut? At this point I support the school budget as it stands. If we could get into the school budget and tell the board where to make cuts then I would recommend further cuts in that budget. I think the board has its own priorities and I don't believe from what I've heard that it is using the percentages these are the priorities of the townspeople. The Board of Education hears what it wants to hear."

Councilmen Richard Breathe and Al Carilli endorsed the budget and urged residents to go out and tell the Board of Education what they want. Joan Lewis, chairman of the Board of Education, took exception with the Republican Town Committee using percentages to hold the board's budget down.

At its meeting on Tuesday evening, the Board of Education passed a motion requesting that the Board of Education be held to a 4 per cent budget increase for the fiscal year 1975-76.

The general government budget was to be increased 10.64 per cent over last year's and the Board of Education budget will only be increased by 5.98 per cent.

Another councilman, William Schmidt, said, "I'm not happy with the raise in taxes, but I guess I'm going to have to go along with it."

Councilman Hank Grabowski said, "I support the budget but I'm opposed to raising revenue sharing funds to hold the line on the mill rate. I think it is a budget that the Town Council and department heads can live with. Where else can we cut? At this point I support the school budget as it stands. If we could get into the school budget and tell the board where to make cuts then I would recommend further cuts in that budget. I think the board has its own priorities and I don't

ZBA Grants Gunas Bid

The Zoning Board of Appeals has granted a special exception to Peter Gunas to convert the old St. Mary's Church into five apartments.

The approval was granted with certain stipulations. It is limited to no more than five apartments, written approval of the sewer and water facilities must be approved by the town sanitarian, and the owners must agree to provide for an emergency water supply from the Coventry Water Co.

Dave Rappe, who represented Gunas before the board, said, "Gunas had purchased the church property several years ago and has already converted the parish house and carriage house into apartments. Sometime ago we petitioned the Planning and Zoning Commission for permission to change the zone at the church from residential to commercial to allow for commercial activity on the property. This petition was denied because no church group has wanted to buy the property, conversion to apartments appears to be the only reasonable use of the land."

The board also granted the request of Ronald DeCandia to allow him to park his truck and trailer on the grounds of Tom McLaughlin's garage on South Street.

However, the board added several stipulations to the approval. DeCandia must submit to the zoning agent a letter from McLaughlin stating his approval of the arrangement, and the two vehicles may not be parked at the site for more than 24 to 72 hours at a time, no junk is to be stored on the ground overnight; no more than two registered commercial vehicles are to be parked on the commercial vehicles while they are parked at the site, and the relief granted for one year and is subject to renewal by the zoning agent.

The vehicles must also be parked behind the front line of McLaughlin's garage building and they must be screened by a fence, such as a shrubbery or fence.

May Is Music Month For South Windsor

May has been designated Music Month in South Windsor and emphasis is on the importance of music education in the schools.

Mayor Robert Smith recently signed a proclamation designating May Music Month. In the proclamation the role of music in cultural enrichment for the community is cited.

Numerous concerts will be held at all schools throughout the month of May and June as a culmination of the year's activities.

On May 17 the South Windsor Community Chorus, sponsored by the Recreation Department under the direction of Roberta Reeves, will present its spring concert at the high school.

On May 23 the annual high school musical will be held. This year's theme is "1776," in celebration of the bicentennial. The Music Festival will be held June 3 and 4 at South Windsor High School and will involve the largest number of participants from all five elementary school choruses and bands that far.

In conjunction with the numerous musical activities scheduled throughout May, the Friends of Music will launch a month-long membership drive aimed at reaching over 700 families by mail.

Anyone interested in supporting the drive and who does not receive a letter is asked to contact Mrs. Jane Myers, membership chairman, 644-8636.

A committee of South Windsor teachers and administrators is working on developing procedures, guidelines and instruments that will be used for the evaluation of professional staff as required by state law.

The committee has met three times to discuss the guidelines and principles set forth by the state Department of Education. Members of the committee recently held a discussion group at each of the town's schools.

The committee gathered information from the staff and is now incorporating the ideas into the school system's "thinking."

A small subcommittee will spend May 21 and 22 and one-half day May 23 in writing sessions to develop the procedures and actual instrument for use in evaluating the teaching staff, for completion before next year.

The school department applied for and received a $1,086 state grant for this purpose and is investigating possible sites for the workshop.

On June 4 the entire committee will meet to review the subcommittee work for minor changes and corrections.

As a result of the evaluation procedures, time will be devoted during the summer for in-service for administrators as to how to administer the final instrument.

During the year that the procedures and instrument is in effect, it will be evaluated so that it may be perfected for the future.

The school board will receive the committee's evaluation, model and procedures in June.

$2,089,189 Budget Goes to Voters

BOLTON
 Donna Holland

 646-0375

Bolton voters will be asked to approve a budget totaling $2,089,189 for fiscal 1975-1976 and appropriations totaling $13,994 at the special towns and annual budget meeting Monday at 8 p.m. at the Town Hall.

The Board of Education's original request of $1,333,912 was reduced $4,000 by the Board of Finance. The budget for the school board now totals $1,317,912.

The general town budget which was not cut by the finance board totals $755,277. At the meeting, residents may vote to cut the budget, reject the budget, or approve the budget. They may not increase the budget.

If the budget is approved as recommended, the town's mill rate will increase from 55.5 mills to 59 mills.

Residents will be asked to appropriate $5,000 for the replacement of two oil burners at Bolton Center School; $2,258 for the acquisition of basketball wall-mounted standards at Bolton Elementary School; $2,216 to install a smoke monitoring system at Bolton High School.

The appropriations are being requested from the capital and non-recurring budget category. They were in the original school board budget request.

Residents will also be asked to authorize the Board of Selectmen and town treasurer to borrow such sums of money as may be necessary to meet the expenses and obligations of the town.

Upon completion of action on the requests, residents will hear a report from the Bolton Police Study Committee.

Vernon Youth Survivor in Canoe Mishap

AREA POLICE REPORT

A Vernon youth, Scott Bitter, 18, survived a canoe accident in New Hampton, N.H., Thursday but two other students are reported missing.

New Hampton Police said the three are students at the New Hampton School. The two youth still missing are Thomas Gilmore, 17, of Hinge, N.H. and Steven Ferrelly, 18, of St. Thomas, Virgin Islands.

Police said the canoe overturned on the Pemigewasset River about 8 p.m. Thursday and Bitter managed to swim safely to shore.

The preliminary estimate for the proposed addition and alterations, obtained by the Public Building Commission from the Lawrence Associates, was $55,000.

Broken down, $59,000 for general construction, $3,500 for heating and ventilating, $11,000 for electrical, $7,500 for professional fees and $4,000 for the contingency fund.

The architectural firm said the individual peculiarities and complexities of the project made normal budget estimating on the usual unit basis of cost per square foot impossible.

It said it is difficult to dramatically reduce costs by a nibbling process without significantly changing the construction program.

The PBC had requested possible areas of cost reduction.

One of the big cost factors for the addition was bringing the building to compliance with the current state fire code and code and state fire code. If an addition is put on an old building, it must conform to the latest code.

The fire commissioners are having the state fire marshal check the present firehouse to see exactly what has to be done to bring it up to the state fire code.

COMMISSIONERS REJECT Addition at Firehouse

 Donna Holland

The Fire Commissioners unanimously voted to reject the proposed addition and alterations to the firehouse because of the excessive cost.

The commissioners plan to seek a new firehouse in a central location in the future.

For now, the present firehouse will be brought up to standard to meet both the fire and Occupational Safety and Health Act (OSHA) codes.

The commissioners feel it must be done by law, and because if the town does get a new firehouse the present one will be used as a town public building.

Pascale Sent to Hospital, Said Unfit to Face Trial

Donald J. Pascale, 23, of Somerville, N.J., was found mentally unfit to stand trial for murder Thursday by Superior Court Judge John J. Daly in Hartford. Pascale allegedly shot Leo Gauthier, 22, of 80 Summer St. shortly after 3 p.m. on April 9 in front of Shoor Jewelers at 917 Main St. where Gauthier's mother works.

No motive for the killing was given by police.

Judge Daly followed the advice of two psychiatrists in ruling Pascale is mentally incapable of understanding the charge against him. Nor can he help his lawyer in his own defense, the judge said.

"Psychiatrists Gauthier and Tulin and Robert C. Doherty agreed Pascale does not understand what is happening around him."

Need for Volunteers Stressed In Dialogue on Youth Problems

By Malcolm Barlow

"We need volunteers desperately," said Mrs. Jean Zurbrigen to an audience of 40 people Wednesday evening during the "Community Dialogue on Youth Problems" at the Community Baptist Church.

Mrs. Zurbrigen, director of the learning disabilities program in the town school system, echoed the comments of three other speakers there about volunteers.

Sgt. Patricia Graves of the Manchester Police Department said, "Be supportive of your police."

"If you see something going on in your neighborhood, call us. That's what we're there for."

Robert Digan, director of the Youth Services Center, listed "ways to help youth in Manchester. They included:

- Give kids a job. Call his office and connect with job bank in the program Job Opportunities for Youth (JOY). Over 100 kids under age 16 are signed up with JOY. They have had about four jobs in the last month. They will do anything including clean garages and mow lawns.
- Be a big sister. Mrs. Henry Talbot in Digan's office has matched several young girls with adult women including Manchester Community College students. The friendship has helped the girls a great deal, he said.

In fourth grade, the child is no longer learning to read, but reading to learn, she said. The child who cannot read, can no longer hope to learn with his peers.

"Delinquency begins at age 9 or 10," he said.

"Please call my office. I'd be glad to talk to you about helping."

The fourth speaker at the meeting, the Rev. Winthrop Nelson of Center Congregational Church, said, "Voluntarism is the keystone of our nation."

He suggested the job trouble facing youth this summer could make it the best summer in the nation's history.

Opinions Differ On Curing Cement

There is a difference of opinion in the method of curing the poured cement at the Illing Junior High School building project which has resulted in holding back some of the money to the contractor.

The chairman of the Town Building Committee, Paul Phillips, said after Construction Co. is not following the specifications according to the architect, Lawrence B. Associates in the process of curing cement.

The specifications call for covering the poured cement with paper which the contractor is not doing, said Phillips.

Instead, the contractor contends the cement will cure equally as well by not covering it, but by watering down after pouring, said Phillips.

It will be known in about a month what the quality is of the contractor's method of curing the cement.

Because the contractor did not follow the specifications, the town is holding back some of the money for the contractor until the job is cleared, said Phillips.

He said the job is continuing, however, and the contractor will carry on with construction plans on top of the cement.

Not until the contractor and the Town Building Committee meet and resolve the difference in opinion concerning the cement issue will the contractor receive the rest of his money, said Phillips. This should be in about a couple of months, he said.

Barry Votes Against Senate Tax Package

When the State Senate voted a tax package Thursday night that would increase 1975-76 taxes by $125 million, Manchester State Sen. David Barry, D-Fourth District, voted against it.

The tax package carried by a 22 to 13 vote, with Barry one of the six Democrats and seven Republicans voting "ay."

Barry supported two unsuccessful GOP amendments which sought to delete the tax on dividends and the tax on employment agencies and personnel services. The amendments were defeated by slim margins.

"The dividends tax," explained Barry, "is not only an income tax but a discriminatory income tax at that."

Barry added, "It's a bad time to start taxing employment agencies and personnel services, considering the high unemployment rate."

He said, "I voted against the entire package for that reason and because the Senate still has time to reconsider before the June 11 Constitutional deadline. There's still time to move things around and come up with a better package."

Dear Abby

He Just Won't Shake Hands

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I met a very nice young man at a church fellowship affair for singles. Clyde had good manners and a pleasant personality, and although he was a little quiet side, I managed to make enough conversation with him so that he asked to see me again.

The engagement of Miss Patricia Murphy of Glastonbury to William Gaffney of Manchester, has been announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Murphy of Glastonbury.

DEAR WONDERING: Clyde has a problem. It's probably an obsession with "germs"—imagined or real. In a society where handshaking is customary, refusing to shake hands could be considered unfriendly or even insulting.

DEAR ABBY: A while back, a lady wrote and told you that she didn't like the way her daughter-in-law kept house. You told the mother not to say anything since it was not her business.

The engagement of Miss Cathy Gloria Thompson of Fayetteville, N.C. to Edward Ensey Miles of Manchester, has been announced by her parents, Ret. SM Sgt. and Mrs. Bobby B. Williams, Sr. of Fayetteville, N.C.

DEAR WORRIED: You're right! The last person to mediate a family fight is a member of that family.

DEAR ABBY: We desperately need your help and advice on a very serious matter. Our daughter who is only 14 (I will call her "Mary") is pregnant. What we are going through right now is unbelievably trying.

Mr. Miles is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Wilson H. Miles of 49 Server St.

DEAR NO NAME: I agree with the doctor. I would also advise Mary with counseling. (Your Planned Parenthood offers excellent help in this area.) Good luck.

Everyone has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 69700, L.A., Calif. 90069.

DEAR NO NAME: I agree with the doctor. I would also advise Mary with counseling. (Your Planned Parenthood offers excellent help in this area.) Good luck.

Vacation & Travel Ideas

This large indoor pool with accompanying whirlpool is enclosed in a glass pavilion. In the background is the outdoor pool surrounded by a patio at the Hospitality Motor Inn in Enfield.

A beautiful sitting room in Ambassador's Row awaits guests. The room, complete with bar for guests on that floor, is attractively decorated in authentic Thailand designed by Sally Dryden.

New Motor Inn Theme Is 'Hospitality'

By BETTY RYDER Family Travel Editor Thailand has come to our area in the form of the beautiful new Hospitality Motor Inn located at Interstate 91 and U.S. Route 5 (northbound Longmeadow, Mass. exit).

The 200-room, resort-style facility, under the general management of William F. Driscoll, boasts such luxurious appointments as swimming pools, game room, saunas, whirlpool, shuffleboard courts, a Swim Club and live entertainment six nights a week.

A large indoor pool, enclosed in a glass pavilion, is air-conditioned for summer and heated in the winter. It has a whirlpool bath 10 feet in diameter. There's a large rectangular pool, outdoors, which has a diving board and is surrounded by a patio.

Another special treat for area residents is the Swim Club which is open to family membership year-round. Club hours are from 10 a.m. to 10 p.m.

Definitely geared for family enjoyment, the new Hospitality Inn has something for all ages. A children's play area containing swings, spring-ride riding ponies, a "jungle gym" and a large sandbox are also featured.

Tennis courts will be built at a later date. Dining features an intimate atmosphere and such Old World customs as fresh flower and silver finger bowl.

Decor and furnishings throughout the inn were designed by Sally Dryden of Heilmann-Dryden Associates, Inc. of New York. Mrs. Dryden has a world wide reputation for distinctive interior design, particularly in the hotel field.

The tours include return economy class air fare, six nights' accommodation (double occupancy), hidden rent-a-car for seven days (including 1,000 free miles or unlimited mileage, depending on the tour chosen), and provincial taxes from Jun. 29 to Aug. 24.

The entire package is operated by UTL Holiday Tour of Toronto. Additional information and reservations can be made through Air Canada or its appointed travel agents.

Call your Mother

(the smart way)

Mother's Day means cards and flowers, of course. It also means thousands of long distance phone calls. In fact, last year there were so many calls that if your mother lives outside Connecticut, you may have had some trouble getting your call through.

This year, take a tip from The Phone Store. Beat the Mother's Day rush by calling ahead of time. Surprise Mom on Saturday. Or call early on Sunday.

By BETTY RYDER "You'll Never Walk Alone," was the musical which the Round Table Singers expressed their appreciation for the Department of Resources and Economic Development says New Hampshire could become the administrative and supply center for oil drilling on the Georges Bank.

George Gilman, commissioner of Resources and Economic Development, presented the report to Gov. M. J. Rosen. The report represents a year's work that began with an on-site visit to England, Scotland and areas of the North Sea by Gov. Thomson, myself and department research assistant Charles Allen," Gilman said.

That visit was made when Thomson was boosting a 400,000-barrel-a-day refinery which the late Aristotle Onassis wanted to build at Durham, N.H.

Thomson and Gilman said the report "should allow New Hampshire to position itself to become the administrative and supply center for companies soon to be engaged in offshore oil exploration and development on Georges Bank.

He declined to answer a question of this to the fact that the governor has gone on record as favoring it.

Transit Survey Set

The Greater Hartford Transit District (GHTD) will begin mailing 43,000 questionnaires to Capitol Region households soon to survey public opinions on transportation needs.

The single-sheet questionnaire will request information about all family travel, concentrating on road shopping, and general transit travel. GHTD Planner Michael Arrow said.

"We're interested in getting a comprehensive picture of travel patterns, especially transit travel patterns, in the region," Arrow said.

City Workers Face Layoffs At Bridgeport

BRIDGEPORT (UPI) — City Controller Roger A. Gelbenstein says a $2 million budget deficit, together with a decrease in tax revenue, will force layoffs of 600 city employees by July 1.

He said the food service program at the Senior Citizens Center is now seven years old. "Some 25 trainees have been preparing and serving low-cost nutritious meals under the supervision of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Lattuca.

East Trackmen Gain Pair of Wins

Concluding its dual meet season yesterday with a pair of wins was the East Catholic track team. The Eagles edged past host St. Paul, 74-71, and whipped the Pitch Hogs, 89-85, to raise their final ledger to 9-2.

The meet against St. Paul wasn't decided until the next to last event, the high jump, where East's Mark Ertel took first place with a 6-foot leap.

Senior strongman Ed Lojeski had personal bests in the shot put with a loss of 33-feet 1/4-inches and in the triple jump with a leap of 42-feet 7-inches.

Joe Garafalo singled home the winning run in the sixth for Vinal, now 5-4 for the season. Paul Groves, Pat Fletcher and Paul Ponticelli drove in runs for Bolton.

South Windsor's record dipped to 4-4 with the loss to the Raiders. Locks is now 6-5 overall.

Parents of Tiant To See Son Pitch BOSTON (UPI) — Boston Red Sox pitcher Luis Tiant's parents will be able to see their son pitch in his home state for the first time, according to Sen. George McGovern, D-S.D., who says Cuban Premier Fidel Castro has agreed to let them leave Cuba.

It will be the first time the Havana-born Tiant has seen his mother in seven years or his father in 14 years. His father, Luis Eleuterio Tiant, was one of Cuba's all-time great pitchers.

McGovern made the announcement after an eight-hour meeting with the baseball buff premier. The senator said he approached Castro on behalf of Sen. Edward W. Brooke, D-Mass., who wrote Castro last Friday.

The letter said, in part, "Luis' career as a major league pitcher is in its latter years. It is impossible to predict how much longer he will be able to pitch. Therefore, he is hopeful that his parents will be able to visit him in Boston during the current baseball season to see their son perform."

Vinal Tech 5-3 Winner

Seeing its record fall to 5-4, and its losing streak stretch to seven straight, yesterday was the Bolton High baseball team, losing 5-3 to Vinal Tech in Middletown.

Elsewhere in the area, South Windsor High dropped its second straight, 12-4, to CVG local.

Joe Garafalo singled home the winning run in the sixth for Vinal, now 5-4 for the season. Paul Groves, Pat Fletcher and Paul Ponticelli drove in runs for Bolton.

Walker Anxious To Extend Brower

Principals in the last professional boxing show in Manchester were Chico Vejar and Bobby Walling. That was 20 years ago.

Saturday night, Arnie Brower, a 34-year-old veteran, now residing in Manchester, will step through the ropes to face Bobby Walker of Somers, an inmate at the Somers Correctional Center.

Vejar is still active in the fight game as administrator in the Consumer Protection Department which oversees boxing in Connecticut.

Walker, 19, is expected to give Brower all he can handle. The Somers fighter has the advantage of top training facilities and sparring partners and is anxious to pursue a career in the ring.

On the other hand, Brower is a cagey veteran who has fought from Maine to Florida and may have to rely on his experience.

Brower's last start was 15 months ago when he got off the floor to take out Serge Rodriguez in Hartford in a thriller.

Malchamack Vice Tallarita feels he has an edge high under the lights. Six-rounders will pair lightweights Don Nelson of Hartford and Bill Wade of New York and Bob Guthrie of Hartford and Terry Rondout of Pittsfield.

Wethersfield's Dennis Jordan and Charlie Scott of New York, a pair of heavyweight, and John Harris of Hartford and Roger Phillips of Pittsfield. Action starts at 8:30 with two tickets available at the box office.

Sponsor is the Manchester Police Union. Proceeds are ticketed for worthwhile youth projects in town.

Bottle Bill To Be Called By Petition

HARTFORD (UPI) — The sponsor of a bill to ban non-returnable beer and soda pop containers in Connecticut has begun a drive to petition the bill out of the legislature's Finance Committee, where it was sent Wednesday.

Rep. Russell L. Post, R-Canton, said Thursday that Gov. Ellis T. Grasso's special support of the "bottle bill" has aided efforts to collect the needed 75 signatures to get the bill reported out of committee for a House vote.

"Now time is on our side because support for this vitally needed legislation is mounting," he said. "I attribute part of this to the fact that our governor has gone on record as favoring it."

The bill would require a three-cent deposit on reusable bottles and a five-cent deposit on non-reusable bottles and cans. It would ban multi-top cans and require retailers to accept returned containers.

Opponents of the bill say it would be too costly to administer. The bill provides state bonding authority of $5 million for businesses which would be adversely affected by a ban on nonreturnables.

The law would take effect in June 1977. Supporters say similar laws in Oregon and Vermont have reduced litter, cut waste of natural resources and added jobs.

Softened Water

NEW YORK (UPI) — Contrary to widespread belief, a household water softener doesn't remove all of the minerals from water.

According to William E. Dart, president of the Water Quality Association, "Just two make-hard water harsh to skin and hair and create cruds rather than lather when you try to use it for any kind of washing or cleaning. They are calcium and magnesium."

Softened water is the only water that can bring his launch to work.

The Problem Was Big Earl Couldn't

WINSTED (UPI) — The law says you can't bring a pig into a barroom in Connecticut and that includes 500-pound Big Earl, whose farmer-owner says he can belly up to the bar, quaff a couple of brews and then eat the cans.

But the boys at the Freight House Cafe won't be seeing Big Earl. The cops crabbied his act. Dennis J. DeLisle, part owner of the bar located in a former railroad freight house, said his partners thought it might be a good idea to give local talent a break and booked Big Earl for a Wednesday night debut.

WASHDAY TIP
COLLEGE STATION, Tex. (UPI) — Home economists with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service say persons should use caution in washing clothing containing fiberglass.

The specialists say fragments of the fiberglass could come loose in washing and become embedded in other clothing and irritate the wearer's skin. They recommend all cloth containing fiberglass be washed separately, and that rags be washed immediately afterward to absorb loose fragments.

Farmer Clifford Crossman was a little disappointed with the cancellation. He was all set to take Big Earl to a car wash before the show. The regulars were looking forward to the performance and the management even rigged a barricade on the dance floor to keep Big Earl's fans back but there was a squealer among them.

A phone call to the local police from a concerned woman began inquiries into the legality of the porker's performance.

Police Sgt. Francis O'Neill said the woman caller was "pretty upset. She told me something or someone was going to eat a live chicken" at the cafe and "her son was going to see it." DeLisle said Big Earl was just going to have a couple of pops.

O'Neill informed DeLisle it was against the law to bring a pig into a barroom and referred the case to the State Liquor Commission.

DeLisle said liquor inspector Charles F. Holland phoned him.

"You got a permit for live entertainment," asked Holland. "I told him I had a permit for a band," said DeLisle. "Is the pig going to whistle," Holland asked. DeLisle didn't

Control Army

"In reality, the situation of our country is not serious," Souvanna said. "The government has not changed its role and policies but will firmly continue to apply the Vientiane peace agreement and its protocols."

Although nothing official has been said about replacements for the departed members of the coalition cabinet, political and diplomatic sources here expect they will be succeeded by figures who will offer little resistance to a Pathet Lao takeover.

Souvanna asked all elements of the population to keep up their day to day work. Part of his speech was addressed directly to the Chinese, Vietnamese and Indians who control the economy and whose mass flight caused the value of the Laotian currency to plummet as they turned it into dollars on the black market to take with them.

The prime minister assured foreigners of "security and justice" and asked them to keep their shops open and not raise prices of commodities and aggravate already rampant inflation.

Authorities at Vientiane airport today halted groups of Vietnamese and Chinese seeking to leave on flights to Bangkok although they had valid exit visas. A radio communique from the police warned foreigners not to try to leave the country illegally and said cars and trucks would not be taken aboard ferries across the Mekong River to neighboring Thailand.

The communique issued by Kham Ouane directed no troops be moved without his ministry's orders and that no war materiel, particularly T28 attack bombers and artillery pieces, be moved from their present locations.

It said any troops opposing the government and the Consultative Council "will be regarded as rebels and that loyalists and Pathet Lao troops will suppress them."

Supreme Court Upholds Rulings Against Boston on Segregation

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Supreme Court today let stand decisions by two federal courts that Boston authorities unconstitutionally promoted segregation in the city's schools.

Under the Court's brief order, the decisions are now final.

Turmoil and resistance to busing have been rife in the Boston school system, particularly in South Boston, during the current school year.

U.S. District Court judge W. Arthur Garrity Jr., who originally found racial discrimination in several areas of school administration, issued a new plan last week. No specific plan was before the Supreme Court.

Garrity found that the Boston School Committee had intentionally caused or maintained segregation through use of facilities, districting, feeder patterns, transfer policies, assignment of faculties and administration of vocational and examination schools.

In upholding Garrity's findings, the U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals said: "In the light of the ample factual record and the precedents of the Supreme Court, we do not see how the court could have arrived at any other conclusion."

Massachusetts is the only state with a racial imbalance law for schools. It was enacted in 1965 but amended in 1974 to remove some power from the State Board of Education. The Boston lawsuit was filed by blacks in 1972.

Mayor Kevin White authorized the city to appeal the 1st Circuit's decision to the Supreme Court in order to exhaust every legal avenue "to silence the rhetoric of rebellion."

The school committee filed a separate appeal. It has been arguing that racial imbalance springs from residential patterns and the neighborhood school policy. White asked the Supreme Court to look at the Boston situation in light of Denver and Detroit school decisions made in 1973 and 1974, respectively.

In the Denver case, the Court held that where intentional segregation has been proved as to an appreciable portion of a school system, the burden is on the authorities to show their actions as to other similar areas were not taken with the same motives.

In the Detroit case, the Court refused to sanction a multidistrict remedy when no violations had been shown in some of the districts.

On April 28, the Court rejected an appeal by the Springfield, Mass., School Committee, which also has resisted desegregation.

Judge Terms Boston Situation 'Explosive'

BOSTON (UPI) — The federal judge handling the Boston school desegregation case said today an "explosive situation" appears to exist at two racially troubled Boston high schools.

In an unusual type of remark, U.S. District Court Judge W. Arthur Garrity Jr. said events last week at South Boston and Hyde Park High Schools leads him to believe that racial violence could be triggered unless authorities act to prevent it.

"The court has received information there is building up at South Boston and to a less extent Hyde Park a series of events which could cause a repeat of the tragic event at South Boston High School early in the year which almost cost a life," Garrity said.

"The court feels that it has an obligation to do what it can to head off what looks like an explosive situation at two schools which could cause serious injury to children the balance of this week," he added.

Garrity said he has received from an assistant Boston corporation counsel copies of letters sent last week by Police Commissioner Robert diGrazia to the heads of the state and metropolitan police departments requesting additional police protection for the South Boston area.

In the letters, read in court by Garrity, diGrazia asked for the return of 85 state troopers and 100 metropolitan police to South Boston. The commissioner said the arrival of warm spring weather could cause large crowds to gather.

Today's hearing was called by Garrity to hear a motion that Rita Graul and Virginia Sheehy, leaders of "Restore Our Alienated Rights," be required to explain their role in organizing a demonstration last week in front of South Boston High. Action on that motion, made by the NAACP, was put off until Wednesday so that the women could have their attorney present.

Outside of the federal courthouse, about 40 persons marched in a circle and sang anti-busing songs.

The group chanted, "Here we go Southie, here we go." A few policemen looked on.

The order issued Saturday for implementation in September to bus 21,000 students culminated a long legal battle to desegregate Boston's schools.

South Boston and Hyde Park, two areas covered by the interim order and the focus of racial clashes, remained in the integration process.

An interim plan in effect since September has met vocal and sometimes violent resistance. Many city leaders said the new ruling would mean more turmoil.

Mayor Kevin H. White said he was "bitterly disappointed. By his order, Judge Garrity has virtually guaranteed a continuation of the present level of tension and hostility throughout the city."

John McDonough, chairman of the Boston School Committee, which has fought integration for more than a decade, said he would appeal the ruling. But state Rep. Raymond Flynn, D-South Boston, an anti-busing leader and mayoral candidate, conceded chances for reversal were minimal.
