Too Much Dwelling On The Past

Although politically and geographically poles apart, Senate Majority Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana and White House press secretary Ron Nessen made remarks recently which were strikingly similar in meaning.

Asked if there should be a congressional inquiry into the Mayaguez incident to see if the War Powers Act of 1973 had been violated by President Ford when he ordered the military operation to free the ship and crew hijacked by the Cambodians, Mansfield rejected the idea out of hand.

While encouraging presidential dialogue with congressional leaders on such matters, the Democratic leader was quite adamant that the ultimate decision was the President's and should remain so. He went on to add that we in America do too much "looking backward" and that the incident is over and he was pleased with the outcome. He said we have too many investigations and commissions dwelling on the past and this, he implied, detracts from the time Congress needs and should be using to face the problems of the present and future.

In a college graduation address, Nessen accused the media of doing a disservice to readers, viewers and listeners by trying to find a scandal in every news event in Washington.

While the press must be ever vigilant to corruption and scandal in government everywhere, Nessen has a point in that the media should not become so preoccupied with scandal that it distorts the overall perspective of the Democratic processes at work. The Mayaguez incident is such an event.

Fortress Urbana

A startling picture of crime and crime prevention in large buildings in metropolitan centers was recently portrayed in an advertisement by a company specializing in computer-controlled security systems.

Ignoring, in the main, police and regular law enforcement agencies, the company envisions each building as a small city constantly under attack or threat by a varied crew of potential criminals.

Rhetorically it asks who the security officer of such building is defending against. And then answers its own question with "muggers, junkies, rapists, firebugs, bombers, vandals, pilferers, petty thieves and the mastermind looking for a big score." Among the devices which it proposes to protect these "city-buildings" are:

A device that fills a room or passageway with a pool of silent energy. If a man enters this pool an alarm goes off.

A stress alarm that measures the

Since no military operation's outcome can be programmed precisely, it is ideal for second guessing by almost everyone military and non-military alike.

To overemphasize the military aspect of it by making, as some are, an issue out of the casualties, is to forget that despite disagreement over whether casualties could have been less if there had been delay, better intelligence, etc., the objective of the operation was to recapture the Mayaguez and free its crew. In this we succeeded.

Sen. Mansfield has quite rightly placed this as the highest priority and in view of the success has rightly discouraged any second guessing. Nessen too was timely in his remarks to remind us in the media that while our basic role is an adversary one, we are performing a disservice to our readers, viewers and listeners, if we do not just as diligently report the good things in government as well as scandal.

The point both of these men seem to be driving home is that while neither would rule out full disclosure of any scandalous conduct, we should not let our reshaping of the past detract from the problems at hand.

For in essence this is what we did with Watergate. The real tragedy of Watergate was not corruption in itself but that it allowed it to paralyze us for so long. Mansfield and Nessen seem to be saying it is time to get a new perspective that will enable us as a nation to cope with all of our problems rather than use hindsight or rumors of scandal to sidetrack us from the many problems we face.

The Mayaguez incident is such an event.

Our Responsibility

Dear Sir: In reply to Mr. Metivier's letter of May 14: Certainly we are "chumps." If you review the history of our country you will undoubtedly find that the American people have frequently been "chumps." We have recently been led down the path of self-restrained righteousness and glory throughout the whole Indochina war and for what? How can we possibly excuse the fact that we, the American people, sacrificed thousands of our men in an "unfounded and immoral war?" These thoughts, Mr. Metivier, will not bring back the young Americans who died. They shall never release the people of Indochina from their torments.

Yes, as far as we are concerned, the Indochina war ended two years ago. I believe, Mr. Metivier, this is where our mistake lies. While we, safe on the other side of the world celebrated the end of the war, bombs were still dropping on South Vietnam. The fallacious truces were broken, we again proved ourselves to be "chumps."

However, Mr. Metivier, I must argue a point with you. We, I believe, have a responsibility. The American people must help these immigrants of Indochinese origin. They have suffered for our mistakes; can we possibly refuse them a chance for life which we have made them face an almost certain death?

I know that the shame I feel now for my country would be twice as great were we to do that, Mr. Metivier. We lost the war, the Indochinese have lost much more. The American people suffered from hurt pride, their wounds go much deeper. We must face our responsibilities now, Mr. Metivier, before it is too late.

To the editor: Patriotism is alive. As dawn broke on the outset of the Bicentennial in Boston, Martha White led 61 Round Table Singers to board a plane landing on our country's farthest coast. There, the hand of friendship was extended as the sun set.

What a history lesson. A blending of cultures exists on this far flung shore and the universal language of music needs no interpreter. The youngsters learned and in return were a living example of a wonderful group of America's great young people. Not one problem arose. People everywhere commented on these fine Americans. Miss White teaches patriotism, courtesy, respect for others, responsibility, history, geography, sociology and music.

Let's stop criticizing our schools, our young people, our country. Let us be grateful for what we have.

Reassurance

WASHINGTON — Both the Soviet Union and Communist China seemed to be "ragging on the Khmer Rouge regime" following Cambodian seizure of the American merchant vessel Mayaguez in international waters, according to a high official in U.S. military intelligence. This source, who has daily access to reports on messages between foreign powers by the code-breaking national security agency, said several communications dispatched by radio to Phnom Penh from Moscow and Peking had been intercepted by U.S. spy satellites.

"I can only say that nothing in the messages carried any suggestion that the Cambodians should back down," he said. Coming from such a high and previously always dependable source, this revelation makes sense. It explains why the U.S. failed to persuade either the Red Chinese or the Russians to mediate the dispute.

To the Washington appeal, the Soviets replied that they could not interfere in the internal affairs of a sovereign nation. Moreover, Soviet authorities saw to it that a brief report by the official news agency Tass on U.S. attacks on Cambodian naval vessels quoted some "Western reports" as saying the Mayaguez may have been a spy ship.

In Peking the Chinese foreign ministry refused to intervene on the grounds that the matter "is not our concern." Cambodia's Prince Sihanouk who lives in Peking in the Peking Embassy of the Khmer Rouge regime both ignored U.S. requests for the ship's immediate release.

Quite aside from what the intercepted messages said, the Russian and Red Chinese position was consistent with their historic approach to international politics. He invoked his powers under the Constitution and within the limits imposed by the War Powers Act to use force for the protection of American lives and property.

On the heels of the Vietnam debacle, Ford interpreted the Mayaguez seizure as an early effort by a Communist nation to see how far the U.S. could be pushed. "He had the President not responded as he did," said a White House aide, "it would be like turning killers and muggers loose on our streets and telling them to ply their trade."

The result was an awesome display of how quickly and efficiently U.S. power can react to a crisis, and thus both a warning to potential enemies and a helping of reassurance to the Republic, friends and other allies.

Richard Nixon, who had criticized government in action after the Pueblo incident, did nothing when North Korean MIGs on April 14, 1969, shot down a Navy EC-119 electronic eavesdropping plane, although the 31 men aboard all died when the plane plunged into the Sea of Japan.

President Ford learned from these humiliations. He acted promptly to show the world he wouldn't tolerate what he saw as an arrogant act of international law-breaking. He invoked his powers under the Constitution and within the limits imposed by the War Powers Act to use force for the protection of American lives and property.

Farewell To Africa

By Lee Roderick
(Special To The Herald)

CAPTETOWN, SOUTH AFRICA — A stroll through the elaborate botanical gardens, started over 300 years ago in the heart of this city that is the southern tip of Africa; a glide by cable car to the top of magnificent Table Mountain which overlooks the city and the bay, and a tour through the rich vineyards and plantations nearby, with their striking Cape Dutch architecture — are all experiences enjoyed before leaving Africa.

Captetown is perhaps the loveliest city in the world. The city to which this traveler will long to return, and a fitting one to provide a pleasant end to a month's journey through Africa.

If all of the continent were an inviting and peaceful as Captetown is—at least outwardly—Africa's future would appear considerably brighter than it now does. The antagonisms that divide Africa along racial and ideological lines are growing, however, and in the absence of change it is difficult not to predict major violence in Southern Africa within the next few years.

Prime minister John Vorster of South Africa is working tirelessly to avert such a calamity. He and his ruling national party government, which has been in power since 1948, are embarked on a "detente" policy with Black Africa to try to foster racial and ideological lines are growing, however, and in the absence of change it is difficult not to predict major violence in Southern Africa within the next few years.

Funds Sought to Meet Teacher Salary Hikes

The Board of Selection Monday discussed a $10,000 request from the Board of Education for the 1975-1976 fiscal year which would enable it to implement teacher salary increases for which negotiations were recently completed.

Selectman Leon Rivers asked where the money was supposed to come from. First Selectman Richard Morra suggested the school board could encumber any surplus money it has left from the present year unless the Board of Finance has already added the estimated surplus to next year's revenues.

Morra said it wasn't the selectmen's responsibility at this point to approve the funds and wouldn't be unless a Town Meeting had to be called for approval of the funds.

Selectman Dave Dreselly suggested writing a letter to the finance board and school board informing them it wasn't the selectmen's responsibility yet and suggesting ways of obtaining the money. Dreselly agreed on the letter but decided not to suggest ways of getting the money.

Bolton Police Study Committee held its final meeting Monday to compile all information obtained by it during the last several months and to turn the information over to the Board of Selection.

Dave Dreselly, selectman, met briefly with the committee. He said Lt. John Watson from the Colchester barracks would be unable to attend the meeting because of prior commitments. Watson had been invited to the meeting to talk with the committee.

Dreselly will meet with Watson Wednesday. The committee asked him to convey the message Bolton wants information on crimes; it is not trying to be antagonistic toward the police and would be interested in receiving it, said.

The committee gave general questions to Dreselly to ask Watson.

Sandberg Removal Motion Fails

The motion of Councilman Al Carilli, asking for the resignation of Allen Sandberg, town manager received no second at Monday night's council meeting.

The motion was made after the council met in executive session with Sandberg to discuss his performance.

Carilli had issued a four-page memorandum to all the council members in which he listed the reasons he thought the council should seek Sandberg's resignation.

Carilli said that Sandberg: Had not issued an annual town report for 1973-74 after promising this report sometime in January after the auditor's report was received; That Sandberg did not order the roll bars for the town trucks and back-up bells for the town trucks which were necessary to meet the OSHA requirements, even though the money had been appropriated in June of 1974;

That Sandberg did not notify the council or the Board of Education when the OSHA inspection was to be made; That the Coventry Lake

Dam project which is under the supervision of Sandberg had not been completed according to schedule;

That Sandberg did not obtain a right of way from the Holy Name Society for a back street to the proposed cemetery;

That Sandberg did not order the papers at the landfill to be buried when so ordered;

That Sandberg told the council one thing about the town attorney's recommendations on the terms of alternates to Planning and Zoning Commission when in fact the direct opposite was the actual case;

That Sandberg has not completed a policy statement on streets signs which had been promised for March of 1975;

Carilli also stated that Sandberg has made obvious errors in the handling of the town budget and that these errors were not immediately corrected when brought to Sandberg's attention; That Sandberg has not prepared a financial report on messages paid to the town by individual contractors for extra police work that had been asked for in March of 1975.

Carilli also said in his memo that the council had not been kept up-to-date on requests that had been made to the Town Council by various residents and which have been referred to Sandberg.

Carilli also said that the council had received misinformation from Sandberg concerning some of the projects that Mike Peace, superintendent of the Finance Committee and the Steering Committee will meet with Sandberg before the meeting to try and straighten out some of the difficulties.

Houle Will Let Voters Decide on School Budget

VERNON

"My intent is to put our cards on the table and let the people decide what they want," William Houle, chairman of the Vernon Board of Education, told the board Monday night.

The statement was made during a last-minute discussion about the education budget which, along with the general government budget, will be voted upon at the annual meeting tonight at the Vernon Center Middle School.

The board announced the possible steps it will take if the budget, representing a $388,000 Town Council cut, is approved by the meeting.

Referring to a previous statement made by Houle, that he would hope for rejection of the budget at the annual meeting, board member Harold Cummings termed this an unwise move.

"It might open a can of worms and we might be worse off," he said.

Dr. Raymond Ramstedt, superintendent of schools, presented a revised recommendation for areas that could be cut should the reduced budget pass. He said it was not all inclusive but "just something you can get your teeth into."

The $388,000 cut in the education budget is the largest reduction of the council for a $450,000 reduction. He said his proposal doesn't eliminate any of the staff, and while it modifies some of the programs, it doesn't drastically curtail them to such an extent as the $450,000 cut would have.

He said it is the feeling of the administration that an overall reduction in the scope of services and reducing the proposed salary account by $140,000 will

The Planning and Zoning Commission Monday denied a bid for a two-lot subdivision on Anderson Rd. and Goose Lane.

The bid was made by the Anderson Rd. and Goose Lane. The PZC moved to release the bonds, paving the way for the Board of Selectmen to accept the bid.

The PZC gave its approval for three lots of Tolland Ridge Section 2, owned by Armand Gagne, of Wahbridge Hill Rd. Approval was given after the Department of Environmental Protection had approved and submitted a letter of the septic system and leaching fields.

The Baptist Church was given approval for a one-lot subdivision off Cider Mill Rd., across from Crandall Park, for a combined residence and church building. Town Planner Ronald Blake recommended the PZC release two maintenance bonds, for $5,000 and $27,000, for Colonial Village Section 2. He said the road superintendent and he have checked that all engineering requirements have been met and the bonds are three years old. The PZC moved to release the bonds, paving the way for the Board of Selectmen to accept the bid.

Richard Lee was given approval for a one-lot subdivision off Anderson Rd. on the site of the gravel bank between Goose Lane and Banter St.

The Board of Education has voted to restate the half-time position of reading specialist for the middle school that had been out of the budget before going to the annual town meeting.

The original motion which was made by board member Dick Ashley was to have this position reinstated in place of a part-time music teacher that had been requested for the high and middle schools.

This was later amended to retain the music teacher and hire the reading teacher after Joan Lewis, chairman of the board, told those present that it was her belief that there was money in the budget for both positions.

Sue Braigard, principal of Coventry Grammar School said that "it was suspected that person or persons had moved the stakes at the school track site and that is why the track came out 12 feet longer than regulation."

Dr. Arnold Elman, superintendent of schools, told the board that when custodians were hired they were informed that they would not be released from their duties to answer alarms.

Sue Braigard informed the board that "it was suspected that person or persons had moved the stakes at the school track site and that is why the track came out 12 feet longer than regulation."

COVENTRY

Monica Shea

The Town Council voted unanimously Monday night to reject the contract with Local 1303 of Council 10 of the Associated Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees for the remainder of this year and the coming fiscal year.

The council based its decision on what several council members called the loose wording of the contract and the large increases being proposed for the nine Town Hall employees who comprise Local 1303.

The contract did not call for any increase in benefits that had not already been granted.

The union was organized two years ago and negotiations began in the fall of 1973.

Dear Abby

Life Begins At 80

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I'm sure you get a lot of poems about yourself, but you recently published one from a 91-year-old lady because you were impressed with the fact that she was 91.

We oldsters sure get away with a lot just because we're managed to keep breathing longer than most folks. I have just celebrated my 80th birthday, and I've got it made.

If you forget someone's name or an appointment or what you said yesterday, just explain that you are 80, and you will be forgiven. If you spill soup on your tie or forget to shave half your face or take another man's hat by mistake or promise to mail a letter and carry it around in your pocket for two weeks, say, "I'm 80, you know," and nobody will say a thing.

You have a perfect alibi for everything when you're 80. If you act silly, you're in your second childhood.

Being 80 is much better than being 70. At 70, people are mad at you for everything, but if you make it to 80, you can talk back, argue, disagree and insist on having your own way because everybody thinks you are getting a little soft in the head.

They say that life begins at 40. Not true. If you ask me, life begins at 80.

GOT IT MADE AT 80

DEAR GOT: You are beautiful. Thanks for a dandy day-brightener.

DEAR ABBY: My husband committed suicide and left me with a tiny baby.

When people learn that I am a widow, they ask, "What happened to your husband? Cancer? Heart? Or did he die in an accident?"

Abby, I just can't bring myself to tell them that he committed suicide, so I say, "He was sick and died." (He had been under the care of a psychiatrist, so that could be called an illness, couldn't it?)

What should I tell my child when he is old enough to understand?

Please help me, Abby. I have no one else to ask.

YOUNG WIDOW

DEAR WIDOW: The truth is always best. Simply say that your husband was ill (it's true, he was), and he took his own life.

DEAR ABBY: I have an 18-year-old daughter who has a beautiful baby girl.

My daughter and her husband are getting a divorce because he is so immature, there is just no hope for him. (She went back to him twice for the baby's sake, but even the marriage counselor told her to leave him for good.)

My daughter's mother-in-law wants to adopt the baby. She even offered my daughter $2,000 cash for it! My daughter wants to keep her baby, of course, and the baby's father doesn't want it. He wants his mother to have it.

What do you think about a grandmother who would try to BUY her grandchild for adoption?

MARSHALL, TEXAS

DEAR MARSHALL: Not much. In fact, there are laws against buying and selling babies. Your daughter is under no obligation to consider such a proposition.

Everyone has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 6970, L.A., Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

For Abby's booklet, "How to Have a Lovely Wedding," send $1 to Abigail Van Buren, 122 Lasky Dr., Beverly Hills, Calif. 90212. Please enclose a long, self-addressed, stamped (20¢) envelope.

BETTY'S NOTEBOOK

By BETTY RYDER

Par For Ma

Before you ask, I'll bring you up-to-date on my golf lessons.

Well, on the course I'm not exactly excelling. But, believe it or not, there's a new house being built on Kensington St., which already has a white-type golf ball in its cellar.

I confess, it wasn't an easy shot — right out of the old back yard with a little help from a cross breeze and plunk right through the hole in the wall that just a day or so ago was filled with a window.

Well, at least my timing was right. Had I been just a couple of days later instead of a plunk it might have been a tinkle of broken glass. Meanwhile, back on the course, I'm really working at it.

You can tell how serious I am — I even bought a set of clubs. I'm not sure how to use them but who could resist.

They came in a nice pink and white plaid golf bag and the clubs are white and baby blue. I wonder if I can play with either boys or girls?

Must be doing something right — the golf pro even gave me a ride back to the parking lot in his little cart. Let me see, was that before or after I said I'd buy the clubs? Well, it really doesn't matter, I would have bought them anyway.

Had sort of a shattering experience the other day. It seems, I got a blister on the one finger no golfer is supposed to get a blister on. And do you know what that means? You're holding the club wrong.

It seems you can have a callous or a blister on any finger except the index finger.

When being gently reprimanded for it, I came up with a few weak excuses like "Roy, I must have a great grip," and "These new clubs just aren't broken in yet," but it was all over when I said "I wonder if she'll ever learn looks."

But it passed — and at least the kids think I'm great.

One of the boys coming home for supper found me out in the yard trying out the five iron and in an encouraging voice he said, "Hi, Mrs. Palmer," to which I dumbly replied "Who?"

Well, he sat on the steps and watched for a few minutes till rather discouraged I blurted out "I don't think I'll ever be good at it."

Then, following the scent of food, he turned to me and said, "Yeah, ma, but you're great in the kitchen."

Wise Words

"Whenever a man's friends begin to compliment him about looking young, he may be sure that they think he is growing old."

Washington Irving (1783-1859)

Quality in Action
Is there such a thing as being too good?
According to reports from East Catholic track coach Dave Kelley, his team has been victimized by this factor.

When you have a quality team, people don't want to run against you. Kelley stated, "I don't want to sound pompous but it's true. People have refused to run this year. The Eagles ran 11 dual meets this campaign and were victorious nine times, the losses to perennial state powers Hartford Public and Xavier. A year ago the Eagles won the Class B outdoor championship with superstar Joe Martens leading the way with a triple, copping the 100, 220 and 440. This year's squad is better balanced and to the woe of opponents, many are underclassmen.

Seniors, however, have played their share. Mark Ertel has been outstanding in the high jump and triple jump. In the latter event, he has been consistently over the 40-foot mark and in the high jump established a new school record this season soaring 6-feet 4 1/4 inches. Saturday at the prestigious Hartford Invitational, Ertel tied for fourth with a leap of 5-feet 4 1/4 inches.

Ed Lojekski has made his presence known in the shot put, mark and in the high jump. Vin Turisi has done well in the discus and Terry Farrell and Jay Frank are top pole vaulters.

What made East a quality team, however, is its enormous group of talented juniors. Mike and Cephus Nolen are top 100 and 220-yard sprinters. Cephus has also begun long jumping, and in his first campaign set a new school record with a leap of 21-feet 2 inches. Mike returned to action after being out two weeks with a slight strain and turned in a commendable 10.2 in the 100 against crosscountry Manchester High. Cephus also was out with a slight strain of the hamstring but has since returned to practice.

Junior Brian Foley, Kelley feels, one day will emerge as the premier 600-yard runner indoors, 440 and 880 man outdoors. In the Hartford Invitational, where only the best are invited, Foley took fourth in the 440. Steve Whitman is East's top hurdler while in the short and long distance events, Joe Burleson, Mark Skehan, Chip Sander and Joe Stamp stand out. Emilie Fournier, only a sophomore, has been a pleasant surprise in the javelin going over the 156-foot mark.

Shooting for Second
Today in Middletown, Xavier High will act as host school for the Hartford County Conference championship and the Falcons are heavily favored to repeat. A year ago, East was second in the HCC. Not only is Xavier the choice here but also in the Class B championship, dropping down from the A Division where they competed in 1974.

Earlier this season, Xavier whipped the Eagles, 102-43, in a dual meet. Even Kelley is the first to admit that for East to overcome the Falcons, a number of performers from the latter squad would have to suffer fractures to parts of their anatomy, an unlikely possibility.

What the Eagles are shooting for is second in the B Division and to be in the top 10 in the State Open Meet. The Eagles were ninth in the state in the fall in cross country and Kelley would like to see this double achieved.

Maybe the best is still to come. A number of sophomores and promising freshmen also were East's Blue and White colors. Hartford Public and HCC loss will always remain on the schedule. Crosscountry Manchester High, itself possessing a potent track team, won't stay away from the Eagles.

Others have, and that's where the problem lies. Somewhere, somebody has to take up the gauntlet.

Indians' Chances for CCIL Title Diminish in 7-0 Setback at Enfield

By Len Auster

Ever have one of those games where everything goes wrong?
Manchester High did yesterday, committing nine errors in falling, 7-0, to Enfield High in a CCIL baseball test in Enfield.

"I hope we got it all out of our system," shaken Tribe Coach Hal Parkers groaned. "The way we played today, I think we might've had trouble with a little league team."

The decision leaves the Silk Warriors with a 1-1 record in the CCIL. The Indians were six events, took four seconds, three thirds, one fourth and a fifth.

The 40-yard relay team of Steve Dawson, Jeff Joy, Paul Philbrick and Jeff Lumpkin established a new school record with 44.3 clocking, which also tied the league standard. The weightman's relay team also knelt the league mark with a 47.4 clocking.

Dawson, a sophomore, was the 440 by a whisker over Ed Flenke of East Hartford High with a 51.6 clocking. Lumpkin was second in the 100 and later came back to place second in the 220.

Scott Moffat beat a superb field in the 800 with a very good time of 2:07.7. Jeff Joy ran a personal best of 15.4 in the 120-yard high hurdles and placed second. Joy took third place in the 330-yard intermediate hurdles.

The sprint relay team of Dawson, Kevin Scholsky, Joy and Philbrick took first place with a 3:40.5 clocking and the distance medley team of Bob Lyon, Rick Telgener, Glenn Flossdorf and Jay Martin (the first three sophomores) took second place.

In the field events, Mike Lombardo took second place in the triple jump and fourth in the long jump. Jim Bayak took a third place in the shot put. Dave Lemieux took third place in the two-mile run behind Conard's Bill Turley, who was the only double winner taking the mile run yesterday at Manchester.

Manchester returns to the Wethersfield High in a make-up meet Wednesday at Pete Wiggins Track against Wethersfield High in a make-up meet. The Indians are 9-5 in dual meet competition.

Singles Swept Vital In High Net Triumph
Copping all four singles matches was just enough as the Manchester High tennis team downed Enfield High, 4-3, yesterday in Enfield. The Indian netsters won stand 3-4 over-all and 3-3 in the CCIL.

Dan Arenas, Doug Schulteis, Jon Peck and Phil Valentine won their singles matches in straight sets for Manchester. For Arenas, it improved his personal mark to 6-1. Schulteis, Valentine and Peck are all sophomores, and played well in their first varsity starts.

Manchester's next match is Thursday at Conard High. Results: Arenas (M) def. Brian Haller 6-2, 6-2; Schulteis def. Dan Flanagan 6-2, 6-1; Peck (M) def. Gary Cappelletto 6-0, 6-1; Valentine (M) def. Russ Fiore 6-4, 7-6; Hallett-Fiore (E) def. Dave Maloney-Dale Landy 8-4; Driphole-Flanagan (E) def. Tom Warren-Dan Wilson 8-6; Mark Polson-Bruce Wardwell (E) def. Andy Vincent-Mark Couette 8-4.

Third Straight Success For MHS Girls' Tennis
Winning their third straight yesterday was the Manchester High girls' tennis team, 5-2, over Enfield High at the locals' court. The triumph marks the Indian maidens' mark at 4-4.

hundreds of fielding support, were classified as hits, all turning over three double plays. Losing hurler John Koespel, who lost his first after seven wins, hurt his own cause mis-handling three consecutive chances in Enfield's four-run third inning. Daring strategy by Enfield forced several Manchester miscues.

The Raiders attempted three suicide squeezes in the third, with two succeeding and one backfiring as Manchester catcher Jack Maloney wisely called for a pitchout. None of the well-placed bunts, however, were classified as hits, all turning hurried and pegged wildly.

Enfield plated two runs in the sixth, abetted by three Indian errors, and tallied its final marker off reliever hurler John Tasillo in the eighth on three solid hits.

The Raiders return to action Wednesday afternoon at 7:35 visiting East Hartford High. Bruce Ballard, 3-2, is expected to draw the starting mound assignment.

Joe Dippel and Peter King paced the Raiders' 10-hit attack with two and two respectively. Tony Barrett collected two blows for Manchester.

Good-Will Tour
Chinese No Match For U.S. Trackmen
SHANGHAI (UPI) — Uncle Sam's all-conquering track and field members began the second phase of their good-will tour today still buzzing about the way Phase 1 wound up.

There weren't talking so much about how they decimated the Chinese in Canton, but how the Chinese wiped them out with a touching farewell from the heart that had to be seen to be believed.

It took place Monday outside East Stadium in Canton where the Americans had just swept all 17 events for a total of 22 out of 33 in the two-day meet. Members of the U.S. team had boarded buses to return to their hotel when they suddenly noticed the Chinese team they had beaten so soundly standing there on the sidewalk.

As the buses began pulling away, the Chinese athletes waved warmly to the Americans and applauded them. Townpeople lining the sidewalk also did the same thing.

"I think we were more embarrassed about the way we shouldn't be," said Irving Kintisch, an assistant coach with the U.S. team. "They learned a lot about technique and about attitude in competition. It was one of the most moving things I've ever seen," said Marn Seidler, the blonde San Jose, Calif., shotputter who was among the winners.

Rangers Follow Tradition

NEW YORK (UPI) — New York General Manager Emile Francis predictably followed his own tradition when he named a former Ranger, Ron Stewart, to take over the coaching reins next season.

Stewart thus becomes the 14th coach in Ranger history and the fourth former Ranger to be named coach after the franchise rights, which began in 1965 when Francis was named general manager.

Francis, Fred Sullivan, Bernie "Boom Boom" Geoffrion, Larry Popein and Francis in two stints have failed to bring the Stanley Cup to New York and end the longest drought of any pre-expansion National Hockey League team.

While most of his predecessors lasted more than four months on the job, Stewart feels he'll be around somewhat longer after signing a two-year contract.

"We're fortunate in having a man of Ron's knowledge and experience available for the job," said Francis. "We've made the playoffs for nine straight seasons and I'm sure everyone wants to score goals and I don't blame them," said Stewart. "That's where the money is. But you've got to have the defense too—that's just as important in winning games as scoring goals..."

Stewart played 12 years in the NHL and served two stints with the Rangers at the tail end of his career. A quality penalty killer and defensive forward in his days with Toronto, Stewart finished up with 276 career goals to stand 30th on the all-time list. He also is sixth in the NHL in total number of games played.

Forced into extra innings, Dillon Ford came up with four runs in its seventh for a 6-2 duke over Sears last night at Waddell Field. Bob Piccin homered and Edgar Egrin doubled for Dillon while Scott Smith clubbed a home run for Sears and John Paggoli doubled.

Scoring in every inning, independent insurance whippersnapper Dillon Road Enterprises, 14-7, last night at Verplanck. Dave Blair, Cal Gotberg and Don Barrett stroked triples for the winners and Larry Van Houtvre added two doubles. Doug Sypher and Paul Henthal hit well for the losers.

Coming from behind, Moriarty Brothers edged Nichols Tire, 5-4, last night at Buckley Field. Scott Holmes was two-for-three and Mark Buzcek homered for Nichols. Curt Fenton was two-for-three for Moriarty's and John Perry homered.

Warriors Won't Quit
SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — "This is a team that doesn't know how to die," says center Clifford Ray, but there may be more to the Golden State Warriors' remarkable comeback ability than just a good team attitude.

The Warriors overcame a 19-point deficit to beat Chicago in game No. 7 of their Western Division playoff finals and then showed it was no fluke Sunday by coming back from 16 points behind to edge Washington, 101-95, on the Bulls' court in the first game of their final NBA playoff.

Game No. 2 is set for tonight at the Cow Palace, the mammoth structure in the San Francisco suburb of Daly City across the bay from the Oakland Coliseum arena, where the Warriors usually perform. The Ice Follies are taking over the arena this week.

The Bulls bring two popular local stars back to the garage area. Coach K.C. Jones performed for the legendary USF teams of the mid-1960s and Phil Chenier was a local high school All American and then played at Cal.

Game No. 3 will be played Friday night, again at the Cow Palace. The Bulls need a split, at least, so as not to go home for Sunday's game down 3-0.

Vukovich Golf Champ Among Indy Drivers
Many of the stalls in famed "Gasoline Alley" at the garage area at the sprawling race course — were locked, but others bustled as mechanics cleaned and inspected parts for the machines which will be expected to run 500 miles Sunday.

The huge fuel tanks were wheeled into place along the pits lining the inside of the main straightaway.

All cars will have more opportunity to test the track. That will come during two hours late Thursday morning. Crews will then be using another two hours for pit procedure practice, including attaching hoses from the fuel tanks to the car in simulated refueling. Specialty tire changes also will be practiced.

Jones Continues Survival Formula

NEW YORK (UPI) — Randy Jones continues to rewrite happy endings to a rather sad story. Jones, who suffered from a chronic case of non-support last season when he lost 22 games, isn't exactly being gifted with an abundance of runs this year either, but the San Diego Padres' left-hander has at least come up with a formula for survival—don't give the other bays any runs either.

The 25-year-old southpaw was at his stingiest Monday night when he held the St. Louis Cardinals to only one hit in 10 innings while pitching the Padres to a 1-0 victory for his third shutout of the year. The only hit the Cardinals got was a line single to center by Luis Martinez to open a second-inning, but until Johnny Grubbs homered for San Diego with one out in the 10th inning, it appeared that Jones' effort might be wasted.

Jones, in fact, surprised that Manager John McNamara

Royal Catcher Buck Martinez Put Ball on Yankee Pitcher

Yanks Game Start Of best Win Skein

NEW YORK (UPI) — The New York Yankees neared a season milestone Monday night with their 5-1 win over the Kansas City Royals. They are only one game short of reaching their longest winning streak so far this year and are starting to believe.

Of course, two consecutive wins may not seem like much, but for the Yankees, who moved out last place with the win, it's something to cherish. Before Sunday's win over the Oakland A's, Manager Bill Virdon told the Yankees some things he thought they should know.

"After six weeks of the season, this team shouldn't be in last place," he said. "So get them together and told them so. I told them that if the performance by some people didn't change, there might have to be some drastic changes won't be made."

But Chris Chambliss didn't take any chances Monday night as he slammed his first two home runs in the season. Buddy Kay and Dick Tidrow were careful, too—they combined for a four-hitter.

Red Sox Make Most Of Oakland Misplays

BOSTON (UPI) — The world champion Oakland A's were visited Monday night by the ghost of their past—the Kansas City Athletics.

Pacers Remain Alive in Playoff

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (UPI) — Because Little Bill Keller followed instructions to the letter, the Indiana Pacers were still alive during the American Basketball Association playoff finals, although trailing Kentucky, 3-1, in their best-of-seven game series.

"I told Billy 'The sky is the limit—shoot the ball,'" Pacers Coach Bob Leonard said following Indiana's 6-4 victory Monday night. "Little Bill hit some fast ones."

Keller, the 5-foot-10 guard from Furtue, swished in 20 points, including five in a row to climax a fourth-period Pacers rally in which they outscored Kentucky, 15-4, to built an 87-76 lead with 5:10 left to play.

Keller and Kevin Joyce extended the margin to 11 points at 92-81 to clinch it. Still, there was no joy among the Pacers, who realize they are certain if Kentucky wins at its home floor in Louisville Thursday night.

They were backed against the wall—we got our work out for us," Leonard said. Kentucky's complete Kentucky wasn't "as sharp" as last Saturday night when it made it three in a row on the strength of giant Dan Issel who was the night's top scorer with 26 points.

George McGinnis, favoring a sore ankle, led the Pacers with 22, although held scoreless in the first period. Rookie Billy Knight had 16 and Darrell Artis had 14 points and 28 rebounds. Gilmore was held to 18 points and as many rebounds Monday night while teammate Dan Issel was the night's top scorer with 26 points.

Vasquez complained he was fouled in the stretch run by McMurphy, who he said had to swerve to the left in the stretch to avoid hitting McMurphy.
