Two American Officers Killed By Iranian Terrorist Squad

TEHRAN (UPI) - A three-man guerrilla execution squad believed to be Communist terrorists shot and killed two U.S. Air Force officers today in an assassination carried out with machine-gun precision.

The Americans were identified as Col. Paul R. Shaffer, 45, of Dayton, Ohio, and Lt. Col. Jack H. Turner, 46, of Carbondale, Ill. Iran is the largest customer for U.S. military equipment and both were attached to the huge U.S. military mission in Tehran.

Food Price Increases End Two-Month Decline

WASHINGTON (UPI) - Retail food prices shot up in April after two months of decline, helping to hike overall consumer prices by 0.6 per cent, the government said today.

Best prices in April rose for the first time in seven months and the cost to consumers of a variety of other items - eggs, used cars, furniture, houses, gasoline, magazines, auto insurance and natural gas - all rose faster than usual.

U.S. Stake in West Berlin Reaffirmed by Kissinger

BERLIN (UPI) - Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger reaffirmed today that the security of West Berlin remains a vital interest of the United States.

reaffirming his efforts to negotiate political and military relations in Europe, Kissinger said. "In a new era of eased confrontation in Europe, the fate of Berlin will determine the future of the efforts to insure security through negotiation and cooperation. As Berlin was the greatest symbol of the heroism of the immediate postwar period, it is also the acid test of the period we now hope to enter."

SOCIAL SECURITY

Q. The factory where I worked closed and I've been collecting unemployment compensation. I will be 62 this year. If I apply for Social Security benefits will I still be eligible for unemployment compensation if I'm still not working by the time I'm 62?

Q. I have a small business of my own and I have no plan to retire yet. My net income has been averaging $3,500 a year. Now that I am 62, can I get my benefits from Social Security?

Q. I'm planning to retire in August of this year when I'm 62. I found a baptismal certificate dated 1911, which is the year I was born. Can I use this to prove my date of birth for Social Security benefits?

Talent Show Raises Funds For St. James Foundation

The eighth grade graduating class of St. James School recently made an initial contribution of $500 to the St. James School Foundation, Inc. Part of the money was from funds raised by a talent show presented Friday night at the school. The event was sponsored and produced by the school's Class of '75. Proceeds from this event and from other class money-raising events were combined to make the contribution. The class has been assisted by its advisors, Mrs. Ginette Parcell and Craig Hill. The foundation is dedicated to the solicitation and investment of funds for the sole purpose of maintaining a strong position in the parish and the community, according to William D. O'Neil, president of the St. James Board of Education. He also said the annual expenditures from the fund are limited to that growth of the fund is assured. Anyone wishing to contribute to the St. James School Foundation, Inc., may send their donation to Edmund Gorman, treasurer of St. James School Foundation, Inc., P.O. Box 254, Manchester, Conn. 06040.

Congress Urged to Resolve Social Security Fund Problem

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Charging "cavalier disregard" by Congress for administration Social Security proposals, HEW Secretary Caspar Weinberger told lawmakers Tuesday they should try to solve the system's mounting money problems. At the current rate of spending, the system's cash reserves will be depleted in the early 1980s because annual benefits are outstripping annual income. But Weinberger warned the House Ways and Means Committee that Congress should carefully consider a number of points before approving any hikes in Social Security taxes, especially in light of the nation's current financial condition. He said President Ford is against any such hikes which would affect calendar years 1975 or 1976. "While we do not have a specific tax increase proposal, we would be receptive to congressional initiatives which conform to certain essential principles," he said. The Health, Education and Welfare secretary said the administration was deterred from making a proposal because Congress rejected its earlier proposed 5 per cent ceiling on benefit increases for 35 million retired, disabled and needy recipients. "We are reluctant to put forward another specific proposal in light of the cavalier disregard our most recent suggestion received," he said. "Formerly, because of the current state of the economy, it is our position that no tax increases or other Social Security revenue producing measures should be adopted which affect calendar years 1975 or 1976," he said.

FDA Order Bans Sale of Live Turtles

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Food and Drug Administration said Tuesday it will ban the sale of pet turtles believed responsible for thousands of cases of illness in the United States every year. The agency said FDA Commissioner Alexander M. Schmidt signed the order after considering it since mid-March. The order bans the sale in interstate commerce of the small pet turtles of the type widely found in dime stores. The turtles are carriers of salmonella bacteria which can cause diarrhea, stomach cramps and similar symptoms and which can be particularly severe in children. At one time, the government estimated pet turtles caused about 200,000 cases of salmonella each year in the United States. Since 1973 the FDA has been running an inspection program whereby only turtles certified as being salmonella-free are supposedly being sold. But consumers Union, the Humane Society and other groups have contended the inspection program was largely a flop because, among other things, the turtles can soon become reinfected even if they are free of the bacteria when sold. At one time, about 13 million pet turtles were sold every year in the United States. Sales have fallen off but are still believed to be sizable. Although the details of Schmidt's actual order were not immediately available, the draft proposal called for the ban to become effective 30 days after publication in the Federal Register. Early this month the Humane Society of the United States wrote Schmidt a letter urging him to act before the hatching season occurs in June. The group said Schmidt should act before millions more new turtles are let loose on the consuming public. The pet turtle industry is centered principally in Louisiana, and the trade group representing the growers is expected to take the FDA to court.

Jaycees Plan Bike Safety Rodeo Sunday

The Manchester Jaycees will conduct a bicycle safety rodeo Sunday from 10 a.m. to noon at the parking lot at Burger King on Center St., sponsor of the event. Gary Espelin, a Jaycee, is chairman of the event. Bicyclists from ages 6 to 15 are eligible to enter. Jack McVeigh, a bicycle shop owner, will inspect all bicycles before the event for safety precautions. There will be seven obstacles set up for the rodeo designed to test the skills of the riders. Entrants will be divided into three age groups and prizes will be awarded in each group. Everyone who enters and participates is eligible for the drawing for 10-speed bicycle. No advance registration is necessary.

Mrs. Andrews Gets Dudley Award

Mrs. Margaret R. Andrews, of Hartford, a major in elementary education at the University of Hartford, is the recent recipient of the Ernest A. Dudley Award for academic excellence.

It was presented recently during a Class of 1975 awards assembly held on the university campus.

The Dudley Award was instituted by the Class of '68 in honor of the late UofH educator, Ernest Dudley who was director of University College for many years.

The Dudley Award honors the senior with the highest GPA—in Mrs. Andrews' case, 3.96 out of a possible 4. Mrs. Andrews, a participant in Hartford's Career Opportunities Program, (COP) has been on the staff of the Hartland C.O.P. is operated cooperatively with the UofH College of Education. The program is now completing its five-year term under a federal grant to the City of Hartford, under the Education Professions Development Act. The program, according to Dr. Irving S. Starr, UofH dean of education, has made it possible for some 100 paraprofessional employees in the Hartford public schools to undertake, and in about 25 instances to complete, a bachelor's degree and teacher certification. A number of participants are now employed as teachers in Hartford.

Mrs. Andrews was born in Hartford and later lived in Manchester. She is a graduate of Manchester High School. Her father, Dr. John Rogers, is consultant in black history and culture at UofH.

After attending Central Connecticut State College for two years, Mrs. Andrews went to work at the Hartford Insurance Group.

In 1966, she returned to college at the UofH. A trustee of the Hemlock School in West Hartford, she has spent the last three summers as director and coordinator of the Christian Activities Council program for urban youth at the Robert Mack Center, Hartford.

Mrs. Andrews is married and has two daughters. Her husband, Douglas Andrews, is co-director of Urban Ethics, an organization with offices at the Hartford Seminary Foundation, Hartford.

Mrs. Margaret R. Andrews, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. John E. Rogers of Manchester, an education major at the University of Hartford, receives the Ernest A. Dudley Award during a recent UofH awards assembly. Taking part in the ceremony is Dr. Irving S. Starr, education dean. (Photo by Capitol Studios)

The PTA Council executive board will meet Thursday at 8 p.m. at the home of Mrs. Hugh Swanson, 221 Forten St. All unit presidents and delegates are reminded to attend.

SCENE FROM HERE By SOL R. COHEN It's Part of the Job Specs

He concedes it may be hard to swallow and even harder to digest and he chokes up every time he talks about it—but he insists it's true.

A Milwaukee fireman claims he was passed up for promotion to lieutenant because—were you ready for this? he can't cook.

A fireman for 11 years, he claims he was discriminated against and he's filed a complaint. He was dropped from the promotion list when he failed to obey a direct order to cook dinner for the firehouse gang.

"Actually," says the 35-year-old firefighter, "I did the men and the department favor. If they had eaten my cooking—I don't eat it myself—basteism could have doubled, and maybe tripled."

It seems he may be right. After a six-day suspension for disobeying a superior, he subsequently obeyed two orders to cook dinner.

Both tries proved disastrous. The second time around, he burned the hot dogs and scorched the beans. The men sent out for pizza.

Albert Smith Dies; Once MCC Professor

Albert Scott Smith, 71, of Jamaica, N.Y., died at his home in Jamaica, N.Y., on Monday, May 19, 1975. He was a professor emeritus of Manchester Community College, where he was chairman of the English department from 1949 to 1962. He was also a Fulbright consultant to the Egyptian government in the 1950s. He was born in 1904 in Middletown, Conn., and was a member of the faculty of MCC as an assistant professor of English at the same time. He served from 1962 to 1971 as a member of the Vernon Board of Education. He was appointed president of the Connecticut Council of Teachers of English. He held degrees from Wesleyan University and Princeton University, and taught at Harvard Public School for 30 years, retiring in 1962.

Meehan Leaving Force To Join State Police

Patrolman James Meehan is resigning from the Manchester Police Department effective June 1, to join the State Police. He was a member of the Manchester Police Department for 14 years. He was born in 1930 in Middletown, Conn., and was a member of the faculty of MCC as an assistant professor of English at the same time. He served from 1962 to 1971 as a member of the Vernon Board of Education. He was appointed president of the Connecticut Council of Teachers of English. He held degrees from Wesleyan University and Princeton University, and taught at Harvard Public School for 30 years, retiring in 1962.

Police Report

Terza was headed east on Olcott St. when he struck the curb, lost control, and landed on the lawn near the Town Highway Department garage. He was taken to Manchester Memorial Hospital where he was treated for a shoulder injury and released. No police action was taken.

Local Rooter for Jim Kaat

When veteran southpaw Jim Kaat of the Chicago White Sox was running up a two-year consecutive winning streak of a dozen decisions, he had no bigger rooster in these parts than Doris Carpenter. Better known for her talents on the golf course, Mrs. Carpenter met Kaat during spring training in Sarasota, Fla., last March. Coach Harold Parks has guided his Manchester High baseball team into back-to-back appearances in the C.I.A.C. Class AA Baseball Tournament the past two years. The locals can look back on defeats by the two tail-enders in the C.I.A.C. Baseball High of Willimantic and Penny High of East Hartford as reason for being second best in the standing to West Hartford's Conrad High at this writing. Moe Morhardt's Gilbert High baseball team won its first 12 starts this spring and is pacing the Northwest Conference. The former Manchester High and UConn player, who later made it to the major leagues with the Chicago Cubs, has been a big success in coaching the schoolboys since leaving the pro ranks. The New York Yankees are No. 1 in team batting in the American League with a .260 mark. No thanks can be given to starting stopper Jim Mason who is just above the .100 mark. Detroit stands No. 1 in home run production in the A.L. but ranks last in team batting.

Catholic Wins HCC Baseball Title In Wild and Free-Hitting Game

By Len Auster

Baseballs were flying all over the East Catholic diamond yesterday like missiles launched by Cape Kennedy with the aid of a gentle but steady breeze. When the dust settled, the Eagles had a 14-7 victory over Northwest Catholic and outright possession of the Hartford County Conference championship.

The title for East, 7-2 in loop play since 1911, is its first since 1969, the initial campaign for seven-year Coach Jim Penders.

"This one is much more satisfying than the first one," Penders said moments before he received the traditional but unscheduled shouter. "The league is much stronger now."

The Eagles had their hitting shoes on in the early innings, particularly sophomore second baseman Mike Furlong and senior Captain Dan Socha.

Furlong was perfect at the plate, stroking four hits, including a triple, and was hit by a pitch. He scored three runs, stole a base, drove in a run and sparked in the field defensively. Socha clouted a double, two triples and had four RBIs.

After Northwest took a 1-0 lead in the top of the first, knocking out Eagle starter Peter McGuire, the locals retaliated in the home half of the inning.

Furlong led off with a three-bagger. Tim Charlebois walked one of 10 garnered, and Socha patted both with a towering triple to deep right. The latter took home on Mark McMahon's infield pop.

Three hits produced two East markers in the second frame, all the activity occurring with two out.

High Golfers Score Pair of Loop Wins

Results: Manchester vs. East Hartford 2 and 1; Riggott (M) def. Al Pressamaria 7 and 5, Ken Johnson (EH) def. Leone 4 and 3, Kurt Hassett (M) def. Carl Johnson 2 and 1. Manchester won medal point 328-330.

Manchester vs. Penny - Wigren (M) def. Rick Brewster 5 and 4, Riggott (M) def. Steve Lacey 6 and 5, Leone (M) def. Tony Roberto 2-up, Hassett (M) def. Tom Boyer 5 and 3, Manchester won medal point 328-335.

Manchester's Mike Riggott took medal honors with a 79 followed by the East Catholic track team.

The Indians' next match is Thursday at Manchester Country Club against league foes Conard and Wethersfield High. Two Indian wins coupled by a Conard win over Wethersfield would give the locals outright possession of second in the league.

Tennis Victory By Illing High

Improving its record to 6-1, Illing's record in the shot put was over East Hampton High. Steve Dwyer, Dan Cox and Chris Boer each won their singles match while the doubles tandem of Dan White-Nor-Coutler and Sue Roth-Christ Young also won. Illing has four more matches this season.

Illing Trackmen Unbeaten

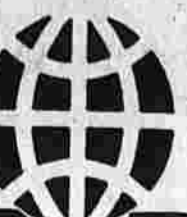

Running its unbeaten streak to five, the Illing Junior High track team downed Kosciuszko of Enfield, 58 1/4 to 45 1/4, yesterday at Pete Wigren Track.

Gary Barby, only an eighth grader, set a new school record in the long jump with a leap of 19-foot-10 inches. Carl Kjelstad tied the school mark in the high jump at 5-foot-7 inches.

Burby also won the javelin and discus and teamed Wes Fedorchak with the 880 and mile runs.

Illing's next meet is Friday at home against Webb Junior High of Wethersfield.

Police Test Requires Agility

Me and the Chimp

First Lady Betty Ford on her first solo venture outside Washington since recovering from breast cancer last year, meets Loretta at the San Diego Zoo. Mrs. Ford visited the famous zoo Tuesday before attending the opening of a new wing of the Fine Arts Gallery. (UPI photo)

SANDI LATIMER
COLUMBUS (UPI) — Being a track star isn't a qualification for a police officer, but some young women who recently went through the physical agility test thought so.

They were required to run the 440-yard dash in 90 seconds; scale a six-foot chain-link fence in 60 seconds; crawl under, jump over and climb up and down five steps three times in 30 seconds; drag a 175-pound sandbag 50 feet in 30 seconds; pull a trigger with an eight-pound pull 48 times with the strong hand and 12 times with the weak hand in 60 seconds; push a "stripped" car 20 feet in 25 seconds; and back a police cruiser through a "C" shaped course in 30 seconds without hitting any of 32 pylons.

An applicant had to pass all events in 30 seconds to the next step. Before reaching the agility test, the applicant had already been through the written civil service examination and had taken the physical examination.

A background check would be conducted after the physical agility test for those remaining, before the applicant could enter the police academy school.

Recently, 25 women between the ages of 21 and 23 went through the agility test. Only one of them passed all events.

Andrea Marrese, 21, a receptionist and PEK operator, was one of those who made it through all events but one, the 440-yard dash. She wasn't too upset at not having passed the running.

"Maybe there will be judgment," she said at the conclusion of the test. "If they have to hire so many women, maybe they'll reconsider since I was second in the running of those who finished the test."

She and several others who completed the test felt they should have had a second chance at the running.

"We had three tries at all the other events, why not give us a second chance to run if we wanted to, after it was all over?" she asked.

Mrs. Marrese, married in early May, returned to her job with skinned knees and a garden under her fingernails.

"I skinned my knees going over the fence," she said. "I think I plopped up a garden crawling under those hurdles."

Mrs. Marrese said she applied to become a police officer because "it is exciting, there's job security, more benefits, and places to go."

"I'd like to work either in juvenile with kids or in rape detail, talking to women after it's occurred," she said.

Mrs. Marrese is 5-4 and weighs 110 pounds. She had no prior knowledge of the test.

"I could kick myself now for not doing some running," she said. "I did some bicycling, but I guess that wasn't quite good enough to prepare me for the running."

She said the running wasn't really the hardest event on the test.

Auditors Claim CHFA Bookkeeping Needs Tightening

HARTFORD (UPI) — State auditors say the Connecticut Housing Finance Authority has been riddled with minor bookkeeping problems for the past two fiscal years.

Auditors Leo V. Donohue and Henry J. Becker Tuesday recommended the agency tighten up its bookkeeping procedures, especially the system of keeping tabs on delinquent mortgage payments, to facilitate future audits.

DIAGNOSTIC RECALL DRUG, Manchester, Pa. 15406

Of Consumer Concern Consumer Qs and As

By State Department of Consumer Protection

Questions that are commonly asked by consumers will be listed in today's column with brief answers.

Q: Where should canned goods be properly stored?

A: In a dry place at moderate cool temperatures. Avoid storage near steam pipes, radiators, furnaces and kitchen ranges.

Q: Just what is a "hypoallergenic" cosmetic?

A: FDA is establishing rules to define "hypoallergenic." A "hypoallergenic" claim for a cosmetic doesn't mean you can't get an allergic reaction for using it. Those who have allergies should buy only cosmetics which provide ingredient information, either listed on the label or available by writing to the manufacturer. Check carefully to see if the product contains an ingredient to which you are allergic.

Q: I have seen and heard recall announcements concerning botulism warnings about canned mushrooms. What about unopened mushrooms?

A: There is no reason for being wary of fresh, frozen or dehydrated mushrooms sold in markets. The organism Colistridium botulinum is "anaerobic" which means it grows only in the absence of oxygen. Such an environment is normally established in the sealed container — low-acid canned food, and the hazard in such an environment is destroyed only by proper cooking procedures.

Q: Sometimes I open a can of vegetables and notice the liner is discolored. Is this discoloration harmful?

A: A harmless discoloration sometimes mars the appearance of the inside of the can. The discoloration is due to the liberation of sulfur by certain foods during processing and generally appears as brown, blue or black mottling. The stains are not harmful to the contents.

Mott's Reports Gain

Mott's Super Markets Inc., a 19-store chain base in East Hartford, has reported that first quarter operations are continuing an improved trend. Net sales for the quarter were up 32 per cent to $33.6 million, and net profit also rose 32 per cent to $57,100 (28 cents a share).

Company Chairman Joseph Mott said he expects sales and earnings to register continued improvement and reach record levels in 1975.

Mott's store locations include 537 E. Middle Tpke., Manchester.

Did U.S. Policy By Corporations Cause Bribery?

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Multinational corporations have been forced to make secret payments to foreign government officials because of a vacuum in U.S. policy, according to Gulf Oil Chairman Bob R. Dorsey.

"It goes back to my lifetime experience of getting very little aid from the government," said Dorsey.

Dorsey said all U.S. corporations with dealings in other countries are faced with the problem of extortion on a regular basis. Sometimes the company is strong enough to resist the pressures. At other times the only recourse is to yield reluctantly to demands for payments of corporate funds.

When a corporation makes its initial investment in an underdeveloped country — often with U.S. encouragement — the ability to withstand pressures is relatively easy. But as the size of the investment grows over the years, he said, the company is placed in a position where it cannot bargain effectively without serious economic consequences.

Dorsey's comments, in a Senate Foreign Relations subcommittee investigation of Gulf, were the first made publicly on the reasoning behind such corporate payments. Later hearings will delve into the internal affairs of the Northrop aerospace company, the United Brands fruit company and possibly Ashland Oil and Phillips Petroleum, which have acknowledged making nearly $40 million in secret payments to foreign officials.

"Basically, these things only happen where there is major political instability," mumbled Dorsey while toying with a silver pen during the recent hearings.

He said a company often is threatened with the loss of its investments. For example, he pointed out, several countries have announced plans to take over Gulf assets as a result of payments extorted from the corporation by the local president. He mentioned the political party of South Korea and Phillips Petroleum.

Subcommittee Chairman Frank Church, D-Idaho, and Sen. Charles Percy, R-Ill., asked whether the local U.S. embassy or the State Department ever had aided corporations facing extortion demands.

Basically, they (multinational corporations) are on their own. And as far as the U.S. government is concerned, we're like a motherless child," Dorsey answered.

Dorsey said he never had spoken to State Department and embassy personnel because he had no reason to expect either sympathy or help.

Vernon Voters Turn Down Reduced Budget for Schools

BARBARA RICHMOND
In a not unexpected move, voters at the annual budget meeting in Vernon rejected a reduced education budget and approved the general government budget.

The vote on the motion to approve the $8,521,000 education budget, which reflected a $338,000 cut by the Town Council, was 291 to 136 yes. The motion to approve the $4,998,109 general government budget was approved almost unanimously by a standing vote.

The action on the education budget came moments before the lengthy meeting ended. And not before several other motions and amendments had been made, one of which was to divide the question and vote on each budget separately.

Seymour Lavitt was elected moderator and he in turn asked Town Attorney Abbot Schwebel to be his parliamentary adviser.

Councilman James McCarthy first asked for approval of the total $13,519,108 budget. In the discussion that followed, Arthur Michaels, a Vernon resident and in town asked another town, urged rejection of the budget.

"It seems we pay a helluva lot more for our sanitation than we do for our schools," Michaels commented. He said he resented the fact that the Board of Education was planning to accept a bond issue to expand and urged the board to consider "getting out of the political game and into the education game."

He suggested that the board follow the recommendation made in New Haven that the board run the school program in the manner it believes is indicated and when the money is gone, close the schools and let the courts decide.

Robert Bailey then moved to amend McCarthy's motion and bring the budget down to a total figure of $13,330,384 and keep the mill rate at the present 49.5 mills.

This amendment drew support from a handful of people, and Lester Baum then made the motion to divide the question into two parts and vote on each budget separately. This motion was passed almost unanimously.

The first to be discussed was the general government budget and Richard Resnick, a teacher in the system, suggested that the budget be cut by reducing the "fuzzy around the edges" contingency account to $25,000 and the Capital Reserve Fund to $30,000.

Mayor Frank McCoy explained that the reserve fund was established about two years ago to set aside money for certain capital improvements such as purchasing land for fire department expansion and cemetery expansion.

He said the council has allocated $40,000 a year for the past two years but this year reduced it to $30,000 in the proposed budget.

He said the contingency fund is "no slush fund," the money is transferred into other budgets, where needed. "Everyone knows where it's going, I wonder where the education money is transferred to, nobody knows that," he added.

Resnick said he was recommending a 5 per cent cut in the general budget. "I think that's about one-half of what the council asked the Board of Education to reduce its budget. I recommend a total reduction of $94,000," he said.

Charles Brown, speaking many times a contingency fund comes in handy, urged approval of the general budget as proposed.

Mayor McCoy said, "I realize this group here at the meeting is predominantly on the education side of the spectrum. We haven't made any talks about layoffs or cutting programs and such we have held our employees to a 4.5 increase in salaries. I don't think anyone checking the contingency account would find anything wrong."

Speaking of the $400,000 surplus in the general budget, the mayor said if it wasn't there then there would be a four or five mill increase to matter what. He urged that the amendment be turned down.

Stanley Roessler, director of administration, said the proposed cut would mean a decrease of less than one-half mill. The vote was taken and the motion failed. And immediately after the budget as proposed, was approved.

The action hampered the Town Council in its usual procedure to set the mill rate immediately following the annual meeting.

The council will meet June 2 and at that time the matter of the budget will be discussed and meeting dates will be set. The budget will have to again be advertised and voted on at another annual meeting.

Teachers' salaries will not be settled until the budget is finalized.

to $338,000. Some board members and administrators said they feel they could live with a $200,000 cut.

Resnick compared the mill rate increase in Vernon to the rate of inflation over the past five years. He said it was commendable that the mill rate had actually increased only 1.5 per cent in this period while inflation increased 25 per cent.

"Keeping this in mind, if there has been an increase in the budget you can see where it's been," he said.

Frank Cornell chastized the Board of Education for not making provisions in its budget for equipment for the new high school addition and said he felt an increase in the education budget should be denied. "I won't support a mentality of indifference with my tax dollar," he said.

McCarthy, who originally made the motion to reduce the education budget by the $450,000, recommended that the budget be adopted as presented. "I expect the teachers to get whatever raise they are bargaining for," he said.

Teacher salaries are still under discussion and members of the Vernon Education Association passed out flyers before the meeting started, urging rejection of the reduced education budget. "Kids can't live without their parents," the flyer stated.

It further stated, "There have been many rumors regarding the teachers' salary requests," and on the flyer was a list of salary schedules for 16 area towns, with Vernon ranking 16th on the list of towns with comparable enrollments.

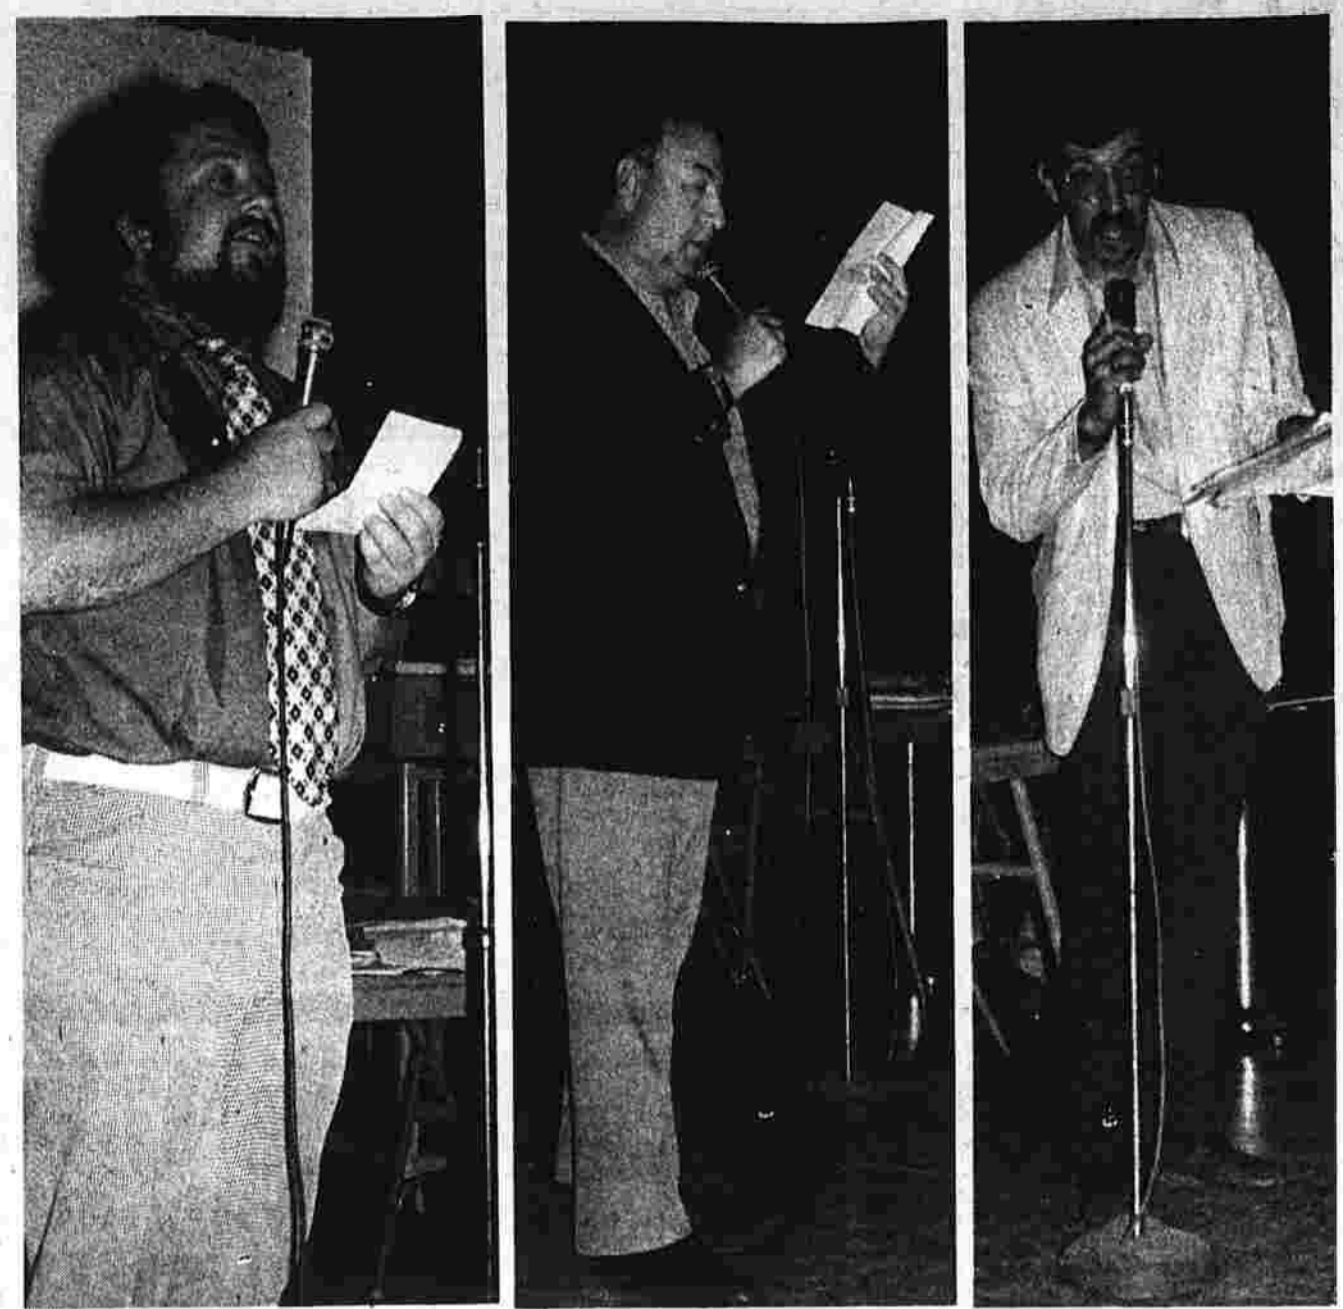

This was to "help clarify the need for increases in the salaries of all Vernon teachers."

The final motion, which in effect rejected the education budget, was to approve the budget as presented.

The action hampered the Town Council in its usual procedure to set the mill rate immediately following the annual meeting.

The council will meet June 2 and at that time the matter of the budget will be discussed and meeting dates will be set. The budget will have to again be advertised and voted on at another annual meeting.

Teachers' salaries will not be settled until the budget is finalized.

Man's Body Found In Refuse Truck

NORWALK (UPI) — A man whose body was found in a refuse truck equipped with a compact diesel engine, internal bleeding that resulted from a crushed chest, according to a medical examiner.

The victim was identified Tuesday as Timothy Francis Black, 25, who lived at the Martine House, a residence for the mentally retarded in East Norwalk where he was last seen alive at 10:30 p.m. Monday.

Dr. Robert Nespor, the medical examiner, said after an autopsy he was not certain that Black was crushed by the truck's compactor.

Police said Curtis Duckworth, the driver of the truck, noticed a hand protruding from the refuse while he was at the sixth stop of his route Tuesday. Vinco Marine Service Inc. Black was taken to Norwalk.

Author Plans School Visit ANDOVER Donna Holland noted children's author, will visit Andover Elementary School Thursday.

Clements will spend the morning visiting classes, reading and telling stories. In the afternoon he will meet with any Grade 5 or 6 students who have an interest in writing.

Clements has written "I Tell A Lie Every So Often," "Two Against The Tide," "From Ice Set Free" "The Face of Abraham Candle."

NO RECOURSE BUENOS AIRES (UPI) — An Argentine court has ruled that a person who crosses a street outside a marked pedestrian crossing zone has no legal recourse if struck by a vehicle.

The court overturned a judge's ruling granting damages to Segismundo Haar, 73, who was struck by a pickup truck driven by Ignacio Zaraboso.

The pedestrian who crosses (the street) outside the marked zone is the only person legally responsible for the accident," the court said, setting aside the damage payment.

Police Departments Seek Grants

Mrs. Linda Duncan of Bolton will be installed as president of the Rockville Emblem Club at ceremonies June 8 at 3 p.m. at the Elks Carriage House, Park St., Rockville.

Manchester and Vernon Police Departments have applied to the Connecticut Planning Committee on Criminal Administration (COPCA) for a total of $84,252 for several programs.

Manchester asked for $45,000 for a program called "Police Resource Allocation." It will help Vernon learn if it has major deficiencies and help suggest better ways to deploy its officers, said Chief Herman Fritz.

Manchester's two other requests are for further aid for a community relations officer, $6,252, and further aid for a police dispatcher, $3,000.

Vernon asked for $39,000 for a program called "Police Resource Allocation." It will help Vernon learn if it has major deficiencies and help suggest better ways to deploy its officers, said Chief Herman Fritz.

Psychological studies show that a person who's happy has a spring in his step and his body leans forward as he walks. But if he's depressed, he walks flat-footed and his body slouches, the studies show.

His Memories of 50 Years

He'll Take Sentimental Journey At Shrine Hospital Rededication

By BETTY RYDER
Robert E. Connor of 24 Lucian St. will take a sentimental journey over streets in Springfield, Mass. Sunday when Shriners rededicate their hospital for crippled children.

He'll ride in that parade as a Sphinx Temple Shrine member and member of Omph Shrine Club.
Fifty years ago — on May 16, 1925 — he was one of three patients at the hospital who rode a float during the dedication parade.

When the hospital was dedicated 50 years ago, some 10,000 Shriners from temples throughout the East participated in the ceremonies.

There won't be that many next Sunday, but some 5,000 Shriners from the 13 temples that now make up the Northeast Shrine Association will be there.

Connor may be the only one of the three patients in that dedication who will attend Sunday.

But 12 of the original hospital patients are coming back for the rededication, two from as far away as California and Florida.

Connor will find a lot of familiar faces, too. The Omph Shrine Club color guard and marching unit will be behind the Sphinx Bag Pipe Band, and more than 50 per cent of that band is made up of Manchester Shriners.

Milk Substitute Being Tested

A Bolton mother has contacted the Connecticut Consumer Protection Department and the federal Food and Drug Administration asking for a test on a milk free soy isolate baby formula distributed under the brand name of Neo-mull-soy.

Mrs. Andrew Pinto of 23 School Road said her mother, Mrs. Anita Crough of Putnam, read a UPI story stating that the Rhode Island Board of Health had stopped the sale of the product with the code number D29E because it was found to contain small lead globules.

Mrs. Pinto says her 3½-year-old son has consumed nine cans of the product containing that code number. He was being taken to the Haynes Laboratory in Manchester this morning for a blood test as a precautionary measure.

A spokesman for the Connecticut Consumer Protection Department said this morning that it had picked up samples from Mrs. Pinto's product for testing and it had been sent to their laboratory. A report on the finding will be issued.

Neo-mull-soy, which Mrs. Pinto purchased at Bolton Pharmacy, was marked in 1967 by Syntex Corp. of Palo Alto, Calif.

Mrs. Pinto said she had been in contact with Frederick A. Silno, who is heading the Rhode Island investigation, and is hopeful of getting a report from him as well as from the state Consumer Protection Department soon.

The Syntex Corp. reports that some 12,000 cans of the formula bearing the same code number being tested has been distributed in the East. Upon hearing of the FDA testing, the company reportedly opened samples at its headquarters and found no lead particles.

The corporation has, at present, no plans for recalling the product.

Several past masters of lodges throughout the state will take part.

The stations of worshipful master and senior warden will be shared, with Harold August, past master of Doric Lodge in Thompsonville, presiding over the first section, Ken Segee, past master of Trinity/Mt. Olive Lodge, junior deacon;

Beginning at 1:30 p.m. there will be a parade of colorful uniformed Shrine bands and Shrine marching units in full regalia.

Shrine Temples will form on Carew St. about two miles east of the hospital, winding up just west of the hospital.

Rededication ceremonies, under the direction of Carl B. Martin, chairman of the hospital's board of directors, will take place upon conclusion of the parade, followed by an Open House at the hospital until 5 p.m.

A banquet at Springfield's Civic Center with music provided by the Sphinx Temple Dance Band will conclude this one-day event.

Last year the Shriners' 22 hospitals treated 7,653 burned and crippled children under age 15 from disfiguring burns. Race and religion are not obstacles to admission, and there is absolutely no charge for hospital care or transportation.

Much of the money raised by the annual Shrine football games and circuses goes into the Shrine hospital facilities with more than $75 million invested in hospitals and another $10 million already allocated for projected new hospital construction.

'Absolutely Candidate,' President Ford Declares

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Ford, riding the political crest of the Mayaguez incident, says he will formally announce his candidacy for the presidency within a month and he expects to win the election, Lawton Sides said.

Ford and Senate Republican Leader Hugh Scott of Pennsylvania are talking up Sen. Hubert Humphrey, D-Minn., to head the Democratic ticket. Scott said Humphrey is the "one good candidate" the Democrats have. He said the others are "with a few exceptions, a parade of pygmies."

Several key Republicans said that Ford's handling of the rescue of the American merchant ship Mayaguez and its 40-member crew had boosted his stock as a strong leader and cut into the support of the conservative wing of his party.

The President gave a dinner at the White House Tuesday evening for Senate and House Republican leaders. On Wednesday morning, he assessed party chances in a session with 10 Republican senators who are seeking reelection.

Later in the afternoon, Ford assembled a group of State and Republican county chairmen and committee members. Right off he said he volunteered the information that he is "absolutely a candidate."

The word was relayed to reporters by William V. Lawson, chairman of the Memphis-Shelby County group, and others.

"He indicated that probably within a month he would make his formal announcement," said Lawson.

"He seemed quite confident that he would obtain the nomination and win" the election, Lawson added.

Some of the delegation indicated Ford had held off formal candidacy because of the technicalities of the campaign spending reform law. Nancy Aggar, chairman of the Oklahoma City-Oklahoma County organization, said the move was "politically smart."

She said she agreed with her party colleagues that the Mayaguez incident "certainly strengthened" Ford's position in Oklahoma City, but she said "in Oklahoma there is really quite a groundswell for Ronald Reagan."

Members of the ill-fated peace committee reported the Palestinians in the Tal Zaster refugee camp were firing rockets into Ashrafieh and were taking fire from the same area which adjoins Dikwaneh.

The situation is very messy," Skaf told newsmen after the 30-minute meeting. He said the fighting in Dikwaneh resumed when Palestinian guerrillas occupied a building on the suburb's perimeter after it had been evacuated by Christian political party which has its own armed forces.

The FLO declared Wednesday it would not be driven out of Lebanon as it was out of Jordan and that it would risk the destruction of Lebanon rather than leave the country.

The fighting followed a morning of relative calm. The cease-fire, which took effect at midnight Wednesday, broke down briefly overnight but appeared to take hold again before dawn.

The army has so far made no move to intervene in the fighting.

Lebanese Factions Violate Cease Fire

By United Press International
A cease-fire between warring Palestinian guerrillas and Lebanese nationalists collapsed today and renewed fighting spread in the outer suburbs of Beirut.

The situation has only a caretaker government and appeared near anarchy.

At least 17 persons have died and 100 others were wounded in three days of fighting that has brought protest general strikes that have almost paralyzed the nation.

A combined delegation of parliamentary deputies, political and religious leaders attempted to reach the main battle-ground of Dikwaneh, stronghold of the right-wing Phalangist Party, but was driven back by gunfire.

Members of the ill-fated peace committee reported the Palestinians in the Tal Zaster refugee camp were firing rockets into Ashrafieh and were taking fire from the same area which adjoins Dikwaneh.

Housing Authority Prefers First Plan

By DOUG BEVINS
The Manchester Housing Authority (MHA) decided Wednesday night it prefers the original elderly housing plans prepared by architect Dominic Cimino, even though the first version of those plans aren't acceptable to the state Department of Community Affairs.

The plans, approved by the MHA last month, were rejected by state agency even though Cimino and his associates had discussed the proposal with agency officials.

"We thought we understood what the state wanted," Cimino said. "What we tried to avoid is exactly what happened."

Cimino said the Department of Community Affairs, which is administrator of the $640,000 state grant for the MHA's 40 units of elderly housing, objected to the second-floor layout of housing units and the inclusion of a temporary community room in the same building as housing units.

Cimino said he could alter the original plans to meet state requirements, but the alterations would probably put the project beyond the MHA's budget. He wasn't sure of exact cost estimates, though, and the plans are expected next week.

Site for the project is the six-acre tract at the rear of 171 Spencer St., which the MHA is buying from Edward Rorin of Hartford for $150,000.

In other business Wednesday night, the MHA learned that the first six months of its current fiscal year have resulted in a slight deficit. The first half ended March 31 with the authority about $5,000 in the red.

MHA Executive Director Leon Enderlin also reported that there are 185 persons on the waiting list for elderly housing, as of April 30.

Davis said since Christmas, through summer fashions, more and more girls are wearing dresses and getting away from pants.

But for Abe Feldman his jeans and pants are usual.

And the pantsuit-wearing women continue offering their little girls the frilly dresses because "they'd like girls' feminine again."

And what about the mothers? "They've been liberated," he said.

Teacher at MHS Given Award For Outstanding Biology Work

Mrs. Florence Levine, a biology teacher at Manchester High School, has been selected by the National Association of Biology Teachers as this year's winner of their Outstanding Biology Teacher of Connecticut Award.

The award was presented to her Wednesday in the office of Connecticut State Education Commissioner Mark Shedd in the presence of Commissioner Shedd, John Gunther, acting award chairman for Connecticut, George Emmerring, principal of Manchester High School, and Laurence Perry, chairman of the science department of MHS.

Mrs. Levine has been teaching biology at MHS since 1961. She introduced and developed the University of Connecticut's cooperative program for high school students who are gifted in biology at MHS through her teaching of UConn credited course — Advanced Biology and Ecology and Man.

In these courses, she encouraged students to pursue independent research and interest them. This is one of the problems that has involved student-designed research in the laboratory as well as sources outside school.

Her students have investigated environmental problems relating to pollution, wild life conservation and land management, consulting with personnel of Connecticut's Department of Environmental Protection.

She has the recipient of two National Science Foundation Stipend Awards, one at Brooklyn College in molecular biology, and one at Yale University in ecology.

Mrs. Levine is married to Dr. M. Herschel Levine who is an English professor at Eastern Connecticut State University. They have three daughters and two grandsons. They live in West Hartford.
