Ford to Impose Energy Curbs

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Ford goes on nationwide television tonight to announce that he has run out of patience with the Democratic-controlled Congress on energy legislation and will impose some actions of his own, including another hike in oil import fees.

White House sources said the President, in the absence of congressional action, has decided to add $1 to the duty on each barrel of imported crude oil starting June 1, a move that will force gasoline stations to raise their prices to the nation's motorists.

Officials said the tariff hike would boost gasoline prices by about 1.5 cents a gallon. The President's 8:30 p.m. EDT speech, which was officially described as an announcement of Ford's "energy program in the absence of any congressional action," comes as the United States attempts to rally support among other oil-consuming countries to join together to avert worldwide energy shortages.

Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger told the International Energy Agency Conference in Paris today that "our interdependence will make us thrive together or decline together."

Kissinger outlined a program that calls for the 18 nations attending the conference to spend up to $1 trillion by 1985 to develop their own energy sources.

Kissinger told the conference that

Ford's actions to be announced tonight, when added to measures already in place, will save the United States an estimated 1.2 million barrels of oil a day by the end of 1977.

"The President hopes that the Congress will join him in common action to bring about the remaining savings needed to meet our goal of 2 million barrels," Kissinger said.

Ford's plan to add another $1 tariff was sharply criticized today by Rep. Al Ullman, D-Ore., chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee. Ullman's panel has reported out an energy package of its own, but the legislation did not reach the House floor before Congress went on a 10-day Memorial Day recess.

Democratic leaders promised last week the house would move quickly on an energy bill as soon as the recess ends next Monday. But the legislators still seemed divided after weeks of debate.

Most attention has focused on a bill approved by the House Ways and Means Committee that would raise gasoline taxes 3 cents a gallon next Jan. 1 and to as much as 20 cents a gallon later, if consumption were not reduced.

It also would impose a tax on new cars that use a lot of fuel, and would act to limit oil imports now running at 6.5 million barrels or 273 million gallons a day.

Kissinger Outlines World Energy Plan

PARIS (UPI) — Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger today outlined a $1 trillion program to save oil-consuming nations from disaster caused by energy shortages. He also offered a compromise to oil-producing nations to provide world cooperation on fuel problems.

His statement to the International Energy Agency conference of 18 oil-consuming industrialized nations was a reversal of U.S. economic policy, and he told delegates, "Our interdependence will make us thrive together or decline together."

Kissinger called on IEA members to set up commissions to study the problems of regulating raw material production and marketing to benefit underdeveloped countries as demanded by the oil-producing nations. Previously, the United States had demanded this be kept apart from the energy crisis.

His plan for freeing the 18 countries from dictation by Arab and other oil-producing nations included: cutting oil imports by four million barrels a day by the end of 1977; spending perhaps $1 trillion by 1985 in developing their own energy sources; pushing nuclear power, and finding new sources of fuel.

Kissinger also offered a compromise to restart cooperation talks with the Arab-dominated oil-producing nations following the collapse last month of the first such meeting.

Kissinger said the oil-producing nations have warned that oil-consuming nations can expect a sixth hike in a year in the price they pay for imported oil. He called it unjustified. He said it shows how oil-importing countries will remain at the mercy of the oil-producers unless they act now.

The secretary said President Ford was acting now.

"Later today the President will announce additional measures to discourage the consumption of imported oil," Kissinger said. "Together with actions already taken, this will bring the total estimated U.S. savings to 1.2 million barrels a day by the end of 1977."

"The President hopes that the Congress will join him in common action to bring about the remaining savings needed to meet our goal of 2 million barrels."

"But should this not prove possible, he is prepared to use the powers available to him to assure that the United States does its part in the common conservation effort."

Ford will make an address to the nation in Washington tonight to announce the measures.

The statement on energy emphasized the conciliatory mood Kissinger brought to Europe—a change in tactics to prevent a confrontation between developed and developing nations and a compromise over Arab efforts to link oil prices with those of a list of basic commodities.

Memorial Day Parade Viewed by Thousands

By MAL BARLOW

Thousands viewed over 1,000 Manchester people march in the Memorial Day Parade Monday morning.

The crowd stretched over the two and a half mile route from the Army & Navy Club on Main St. to Munro Park on E. Center St. and back to Center Park was quiet. They often clapped for a good musical production or for a color guard.

The weather was overcast and cool at 9:30 a.m. as the parade formed and began. The sun broke out briefly late in the morning after the program in Center Park ended.

Walter Von Hone, secretary of the town Permanent Memorial Day Committee, said the weather may have been just right for a large turnout.

It was not cold and damp as last year. But it was cool enough to deter people from trips to the beach or parks.

All groups scheduled to march did, he said.

There were well over 200 people in the musical groups. They included the Manchester High School band, the Bennet

Junior High School band, the Stewart Highlanders Pipe Band, and the St. Patrick's Pipe Band.

Over 60 firefighters and police marched. Veterans groups, color guards, and parade staff people accounted for at least 90 more.

Different youth groups including scouts totalled about 600, Von Hone said.

The Elks Club, the Jaycees, veterans auxiliary groups and other groups brought the total marchers to well over 1,000.

Police Chief Robert Lannan said the crowd was orderly. There were no incidents at any point.

Von Hone said the crowd's quiet attitude of respect reflects the changing times. The country is no longer at war.

"Our committee members had worried in years past about what young people might do at the parade. There was so much anger.

"People seemed to have settled back. They are reflecting a bit," Von Hone said.

Whatever the reason, Von Hone said this year's parade in Manchester was one of the best ever. Its purpose, to honor the memory of fallen soldiers, appeared to have been met and appreciated.

Now Von Hone's committee begins work on next year's Memorial Day Parade, he said.

"You have to really work on it all year for it to be a success," he said.

First the committee will send out "thank you" letters. Next, they will assess and pay all bills.

Before July 1, the committee must prepare a budget for next year's parade, he said.

Von Hone said the town's parade also owes its success to its 29-member committee. It is permanent. The average length of service on it is 15 years with some members serving 30 or more years.

Its made of three representatives from each of nine veteran groups in town.

Norwalk Teaching Staff Strike Continues into Sixth Day

NORWALK (UPI) — A teachers strike went into its sixth day today after teachers met Monday night but didn't vote on a fourth contract offer from the Board of Education.

The rank-and-file meeting at the Norwalk Jewish Community Center was termed "informational" by Donald Kehoe, president of the Norwalk Federation of Teachers. With no break in the deadlock, Kehoe said, the strike would continue.

"Picket lines will be up tomorrow," he said Monday night.

School officials, who earlier said in a get-tough stance that classes would resume today for 16,000 students, later decided to keep the schools closed.

Leaders of both sides discussed the possibility of resuming negotiations Monday night, but apparently failed.

The teachers said they wanted a 6.9 per cent pay increase and a two-year pact instead of the one-year contract proposed by the board. They have been working without a contract since the beginning of the current school year.

Robert Aldrich, head of the Board of Education, said there was no way the city could accept a two-year contract because of the economic situation. He said the board would take a tougher stand in future talks.

"As far as the board stands now, it is no more 'Mr. Nice Guy,'" Aldrich said during the weekend.

Meanwhile, striking teachers were supported Monday by the Norwalk Parent-Teachers Association Council at a rally in front of City Hall. Some 350 teachers and PTA supporters attended.

For the first time in the strike Monday, community opposition was visible. About 20 persons carrying signs saying "Jail the Lawbreakers" marched down Main St. at the fringes of the rally.

Norwalk Conservative Party Chairman Richard Moccia, who led them, said the teachers' violation of the injunction against them is the party's main concern. A show cause hearing was scheduled today in Stamford.

The latest proposal came at a meeting Monday afternoon between negotiators for the teachers and the board. During the session and before making an offer, the board held a caucus that included Norwalk Mayor Donald Irwin.

The proposal was for a one-year contract with a no-reprisal clause for the strike. The teachers would also have to lose pay for Friday, the second day of the walkout.

Dick Schiavo, PTA council president, said that if no settlement was reached Monday night and schools reopened today the council would "encourage parents to keep their children home." Schiavo cited safety problems of having students in schools without teachers.

The Board of Directors of the South Windsor Avery Heights Water Association has approved the town's plans to erect a spillway which is expected to control the water flow from Avery Pond into Avery Brook.

Next approval must be obtained from the South Windsor Planning and Zoning Commission and the Inlands-Wetlands Agency.

The spillway will allow a faster flow of water during heavy rains and prevent backup and flooding which has plagued residents in the area.

After approval is obtained from the PZC and Inlands-Wetlands Agency, construction can begin when easement rights to the land are signed.

The question, however, of who will be responsible for maintenance — the Avery

The South Windsor Planning and Zoning Commission (PZC) has approved a series of amendments to the Zoning Regulations pertaining to procedures to file an application for permit.

The amendments, which were approved by the PZC last week, state that application forms must be submitted in triplicate with a $25 application fee.

Proof of ownership, or valid option to buy the property, must be submitted by the applicants, including parcel number and map numbers as recorded in the Town Assessor's Office.

Maps must be submitted in triplicate, showing dimensions of the property to the nearest foot, acreage, current zone and zone change request, and names of current property owners within 500 feet in all directions.

When the area requested for zone change is within 500 feet of an abutting town line, this information will be clearly indicated on the map and the application.

The applicant, or his representative, will be required to appear at a public hearing on the zone change.

A $20 deposit will be required for the sign advertising the zone change. The applicant will be responsible for displaying the sign on the property, to be visible from a town street, at least ten continuous days before the public hearing. The $20 deposit will be refunded when the sign is returned.

If approval is granted the applicant must submit a plot plan. This map must be stamped and signed by the PZC and filed with the town clerk.

The zoning map in the town clerk's office must be changed to reflect the new zone. The effective date of the approved zone change will be the date of filing the map.

Heights Water Association or the town — has come up.

Association President Robert Hornish does not feel that question is a major issue. He said he plans to discuss it with Public Works Director Emil Lasek soon.

The spillway, along with a watershed project planned for sometime within the next few years, is seen as a solution to the many years of flooding problems experienced by the residents in the Avery Brook area.

The applicant, or his representative, will be required to appear at a public hearing on the zone change.

MANCHESTER AREA CONFERENCE OF CHURCHES

Nancy Carr, Executive Director of the Manchester Area Conference of Churches in cooperation with the Capitol Region Conference of Churches, the Hartford Jewish Federation, and the National Conference of Christian and Jews and the Archdiocese of Hartford recently sponsored a seminar on the Holocaust, the systematic murder of six million Jews just 30 years ago.

Community leaders of the Hartford area were invited to attend the seminar and share with one another their thinking on the agonizing and theologically perplexing questions that have continued to haunt the world since the horror of the concentration camps were exposed.

In the stunned silence that enveloped the room after the showing of "Night and Fog," a film on the Holocaust, Dr. Harvey McArthur of Hartford Seminary Foundation posed the following questions:

"What is the nature of reality that these things happen? What is humankind that these things happen? I look at my family, my friends, in my mirror, and these are questions I do not answer."

"The Holocaust is a cataclysmic reminder of man's inhumanity to man. Read any newspaper to see smaller Holocausts endlessly repeated and the questions re-asked."

"Is there a God? What is God that such things did, can, and do happen? The Holocaust raises these questions in an acute fashion."

"The Christian community bears a significant responsibility for the centuries of anti-Semitism. In some sense, the failure of the churches provided the soil in which these things happened and continue to happen."

"Is there any escape from repeating these horrors that occur on a smaller scale over and over and over again? How is it possible for us as individuals and groups to ensure that what has happened will not happen again? I am at least challenged to accept the responsibility that where my actions are concerned such things will not happen."

Meeting in a brief summation at the end of the work period, several ideas were put forward. They were community building between congregations, development through religious and secular education of an increased consciousness of the suffering of mankind, an attempt to provide consciousness raising for the larger community through small group discussion seminars, study of the role of institutions in initiating change, call to personal moral judgments, what kind of a program might address itself to such individual development, and creation of a community of 500 religious, political, education leaders of the Greater Hartford area taking courage from one another and dedicated to addressing themselves to these problems.

Through our conference you will be part of a study commission which will be meeting in the next weeks. Please share your thoughts either by calling Reservations are limited to 75. Please send your $3 check for registration (including lunch) to Capitol Region Conference of Churches and mail to Conference Office, PO Box 1290, Hartford, 06101.

The Amston Lake Classification Study Committee (ALCSC) unanimously elected Salvatore Mastrandrea as the chairman and Mrs. Anne Dallaire as secretary at a meeting last week.

Other members of the ALCSC are Mrs. Eala Berglund, Roy Wirth and Richard Keefe. The ALCSC was formed after Keefe, the Hebron building inspector, asked the members of the Planning and Zoning Commission for aid in the classification of summer and year-round residences at the Amston Lake area.

Mastrandrea informed residents who attended that this was the ALCSC first meeting and that the committee is to study and submit a written report to the Planning and Zoning Commission.

Mastrandrea also said the meetings are always open to the public and the ALCSC is appreciative of any comments, either written or oral, from the public.

Long also asked if there would be a public hearing on the ALCSC findings. Mastrandrea said there would be no public hearings unless there was a change in the regulations.

The ALCSC will send a letter to the Zoning Board of Appeals to request that a member sit on the ALCSC meetings since many cases pertaining to the ALCSC appear before the Zoning Board of Appeals for hearings.

The church groups who will be the subjects of the videotaping segments will get a chance to react to their performance, and the workshop participants will get an idea of how videotaping can be used for more effective religious communication.

The workshop will provide cost estimates for various kinds of formats, color or black and white, in-studio or on location, and also information on equipment costs and rentals for those who want to do their own production.

One of the action participants in the "Wired Church" will be the Sacred Dance Group of our own Center Congregational Church. Begun by Betty Simpson, this group has appeared in many area churches, on TV, and at Lancaster Seminary in Pennsylvania.

She Gave In Once Too Often

By Abigail Van Buren
© 1975 by Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I am a 29-year-old college junior. I made a bad mistake in my freshman year. I wanted to be popular so I gave in to several guys on the first date, hoping one would like me enough to stay with me. None did, and all I got was a lousy reputation.

About five months ago, a dude who was really neat started to notice me. I made up my mind that I would play hard to get with him because being easy got me nowhere. The first time he asked me out I fought it and fought it but he gave in because I wanted to see him again. He never called me after that. I wanted to see him so much, I called him, but he always made excuses so he wouldn't have to see me. He is the only guy I really felt anything for, Abby. How can I get him to realize that if I have him, I wouldn't look at another dude?

I think about him night and day. I can't sleep or study. I'm going crazy. Please tell me how to get another chance with him.

HEARTS TO GET

DEAR HEARTS TO GET: Sorry, but there is no way to get a guy to see you, date you or even give you a second glance if he's not interested. You blew it when you gave in to him. Hed hopping is not the way to get a man. Counseling is available on your campus, so please take advantage of it. You need more help than I can give you in a letter.

DEAR ABBY: My brother is dating a widow. Her daughter is going to be married soon, and my brother has been asked to give the bride away.

The bride-to-be has been living with her fiancé for two years, so there is nothing to "give away," and everyone knows it. Under the circumstances, my brother is concerned over the propriety of accepting this dubious honor. I'd appreciate an answer in your column. We read it, and this would inform us without complications. Thank you.

SIS

DEAR SIS: The custom of "giving away" the bride need not be taken literally. Your brother would be standing in for the bride's father. He should be complimented, not criticized. (P.S. Should he refuse, he would be giving HIMSELF away.)

DEAR ABBY: Isn't it true that animals (especially dogs and cats) have a sixth sense when it comes to telling you who likes them and who doesn't? I mean, it's possible for people to deceive other people about things like that, but you can never fool an animal, right?

ANIMAL LOVER

DEAR LOVER: Wrong! I know a man who strongly dislikes both dogs and cats, but they are drawn to him as moths are to a flame. I know that his show of affection for animals is only an act, but he fools all the pets all the time!

CONFIDENTIAL TO "LOOKING FOR A BETTER LIFE": Faith heart never won fair maiden or any kind of man. Invite that attractive dentist to something for which you just happen to have a pair of tickets (buy them, of course), then let him take it from there.

The fishermen of our acquaintance apparently aren't doing too well — and it's almost impossible to believe.

The excuse usually is that even with all the proper equipment "there just aren't any fish in that pond."

That usually works, but this time it didn't, especially when they finally confessed that while they stood, poles in hand, by the side of a clear pond, a state truck came up and emptied two 30-gallon barrels of legal-size trout into it — right before their eyes.

The Bolton Gourmet The Bolton gourmet did it again over the weekend, and served a delicious dinner. Instead of the usual hotdogs and hamburgers, he excelled with stuffed Cornish game hens. The barbecued sparris — some with a butter sauce and the others more a tangy, tomato sauce and Debra J. Steliga of South Windsor.

Even made his own blue cheese dressing for the tossed salad and whipped up some red kidney beans with large chunks of slab bacon mingled throughout.

He gave me all sorts of samples to take home which I am guarding jealously from the rest of the family until I can figure out the contents — sort of like stealing recipes.

I'm only kidding, I'm sure he'd give them to me if I asked. Well, it's worth a try.

Cable TV Did I tell you we got cable TV at our house? Well, the kids said it was for me for Mother's Day.

Cheryl Ann Hyde, a senior at Manchester High School, is one of two Connecticut high school seniors selected to attend National Youth Science Camp at Camp Pochoboth, W. Va. for three weeks this summer.

Miss Hyde to Attend Youth Science Camp

Saturday, Cheryl Ann Hyde of 27 Green Rd. received an official notification from Gov. Ella Grasso's office that she had been selected as one of two Connecticut high school seniors to attend National Youth Science Camp in West Virginia this summer. This is the first time in the 13 years of the program that a girl from Connecticut was chosen. Two student delegates are chosen from each one of the United States to attend the camp which is just a few miles from Barton, W. Va., and only 20 miles north of the National Radio Astronomy Observatory located in Green Bank, W. Va., and also in the heart of the two-million acre Monongahela National Forest.

Since the organization of the National Youth Science Camp as a part of the Centennial Year program in 1963, governors of West Virginia have taken active interest in the camp program. The official action taken each year is the invitation extended by West Virginia's governor to each of the other governors of these United States to participate by selecting their state's delegates.

The nominees are proposed by school principals, teachers and guidance counselors. In Connecticut, the winners are chosen by a committee of the Connecticut Science Teachers' Association in cooperation with Dr. Sigmond Aabels, director of science for the Connecticut State Board of Education.

Winners are chosen on the basis of achievement, interest in science and mathematics, general school ability, involvement in school activities, and the contents of an essay on what the candidate hopes to gain from the camp session.

Miss Hyde's main interest is in biology. She anticipates meeting students from all fields of science at Camp Pochoboth where most of the activities are centered. Besides research projects at the camp, there are sports and games, arts and crafts and musical moments. Staff members are multi-talented individuals making use of both vocations and avocations.

Miss Hyde will attend camp from June 27 to July 21. She plans to attend Mt. Holyoke College in South Hadley, Mass., with a major in either political science or sociology.

She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Philip Hyde.

Koepsel Standout In Tribe Victory

By Len Auster

Any lingering doubt about who the best pitcher in the CCIL this season was put to rest Saturday.

Manchester High's John Koepsel capped off a brilliant year hurling a two-hitter at Windham High in leading the Indians to an 11-2 victory at Kelley Field in the season finale.

The senior right-hander had a no-hitter going for seven full frames, setting down 13 straight, before the Whippers' Art Radcliffe lined a single up the middle leading off the eighth.

With the victory, Koepsel improved his won-lost mark to an imposing 8-1, his only setback to Enfield when the Silk Towners' defense collapsed. In 67 1/3 innings, the Indian tri-captain, who will be attending Florida Southern in the fall, struck out 75 and gave up five earned runs, a 0.67 ERA.

"I said at the beginning of the season he was the best in the league and with (Bruce) Ballard, I think we had the best one-two pitching combination," Tribe Coach Hal Parks stated.

Koepsel's game-by-game statistics are most impressive. He took the mound nine times, eight in starting.

Catholic Nine Pressed In Notching 14th Win

By Len Auster

Not many teams have pressed the high-flying East Catholic baseball team during the 1975 scholastic season. In 16 games, 14 of them victories including Saturday morning's come-from-behind 5-4 verdict over HCC rival St. Bernard in HCC.

Also followers of the hit ball hard somewhere philosophy are senior third baseman Tom Maffett and sophomore second sacker Furlong. Each had one safety Quin Bernad to run their hitting streaks to 15 and 13 respectively.

As a team, East is hitting a jolly .316 (174 for 551) and has scored 123 runs, almost eight markers per outing. The locals have scored more than 10 runs in four games. Opponents have plated 81, just under four runs per game.

The Eagles visit Bulkeley High today at Hartford's Colt Park and wind up regular season play Wednesday in Britain against St. Thomas Aquinas in a make-up clash.

Then, East will await word of the rankings and pairings in the State Tournament. The Eagles will compete in the Class B Division, where they were quarterfinalists a year ago.

A three-run seventh inning explosion wiped out a 4-2 St. Bernard advantage, which was gained with two runs in the home fifth. The setback was fatal to the Saints, who wind up 4-6 in the HCC and 9-10 overall and out of the tourney.

Bill Moffett and Miles socked back-to-back singles leading off the uprising, but Moffett was pegged out at third by right-fielder Mike Gratoski. Furlong walked and Tim Charlebois doubled to right, scoring Miles and sending Furlong to third.

Saint starter and loser Terry Quin uncorked a wild pitch allowing Furlong to score and hitting streaks to 15 and 13 respectively.

Mark McMahon singled home Charlebois with the deciding tally.

Senior-catchup Dave Ramer pitched seven innings to register his first decision with relief hit from Keith Lamb, the latter picking up his third save of the campaign. "I was really pleased with Ramer's performance. He looked sharp," Fenders offered.

Wealthy 500 Winner Under Not to Rest on Indy Laurels

By Len Auster

INDIANAPOLIS (UPI)—Winning his second Indianapolis 500 may make dapper Bobby Unser one of the wealthiest race drivers on record but he isn't about to rest on his laurels.

"Not only does he plan to run the remainder of the United States Auto Club's championship circuit this year in an effort to defend his national title, but he's already planning for 1976."

And so is Dan Gurney, his boss who is both owner and builder of the famous Eagle race cars that have won the "500" here three times, twice with Unser at the wheel and once with Gordon Johncock.

"Dan has been a good boss," Unser praised the former race driver at Monday night's victory dinner at which he picked up a check for $214,000. He will split the money with Gurney's All American Racers crew from Santa Ana, Calif.

"We have won a lot of races since our association started 4 1/2 years ago, we won a lot of money and Dan spent it for me. He gives me the finest equipment and linking up with him was probably the best thing that ever happened to me in racing," Unser said. "I wouldn't be surprised if Dan comes up with a fine car for next year."

Gurney confirmed he has a Formula 5,000 car on the drawing board which he hoped will be ready to run later this season. He indicated the machine, if successful, would be adapted for next year's Speedway race.

The car Unser drove to victory in Sunday's rain shortened million dollar race was the same in which he finished second to Johnny Rutherford a year ago. Rutherford, in a new British-built McLaren, was runnerup this time.

For the sixth year in a row, the payoff for the 33 starters surpassed $1 million. The total purse was announced as $1,001,321 compared with last year's $1,015,886—the largest purse ever for an auto race.

Unser's take likewise was not a record, mostly because he led for only 11 of the 174 laps before the race was halted in a downpour. Younger brother Al received more than $271,000 for winning the 1970 racing classic, leading 199 of the 200 laps.

Rutherford received $97,886 and third-place A.J. Foyt took home $74,676.

Final official figures showed that the lead changed 14 times but only the first three completed 174 laps.

Evans Guessed Wrong But Homers in RSox Win

ARLINGTON, Tex. (UPI) — Dwight Evans guessed wrong and won.

Evans hit a two-run homer off Texas reliever Dave Foucault Monday night to break a tie and power the Boston Red Sox to a 7-5 victory over the Rangers.

Evans had Foucault all figured out and knew the pitch he was looking for — a fastball.

"He was throwing a lot of sliders tonight," Evans said. "But actually I was looking for a fastball because of what he had done in Rio Rico."

Rice, the Red Sox's designated hitter, struck out on a Foucault right hander before Evans came to bat in the eighth.

"He threw him a fastball on the outside and it was really a nasty pitch," Evans said. "I didn't want the same thing to happen to me."

Foucault worked Evans to a 1-2 count before the Red Sox rightfielder slammed the next pitch — a slider — into the bleachers for the homer that won the game and sent the Rangers to their fourth straight defeat.

Bernie Carbo also homered for the Red Sox and his blast, a three-run production, gave the Red Sox their first lead of the night.

Rick Wise, who didn't walk a batter but gave up two home runs, picked up his fifth win of the season against four losses. Relief pitchers Bill Lee and Dick Drago contained the Rangers for Wise, who lost to Texas in his only appearance against the team last year.

"Yes, I lost 1-0 to these guys last year (his first in the American League) and it was a helluva debut," Wise said. "I gave up three hits that game (he gave up 10 Monday night), but we had three errors."

"I haven't won every many like this in my career," he said. "These guys made a helluva comeback for me."

"Early in the year, our pitching was pretty much holding things together for us, but then in the last home stand we started to get some hitting."

In Wise's last appearance — last Thursday — he lost, as he was pitching Monday after only three days rest. "Early in the year, we were going every five or six days," he said.

"Now we're going with this four-man rotation and we only have eight pitchers. We use what we have and I still don't know how strong my arm is."

Willie Davis had tied the score 5-5 in the top of the eighth with a two-run homer.

The Red Sox and the Rangers play again tonight, Boston sending Luis Tiant (5-5) against Bill Hands (5-2).

Indians Support Robby Following Suspension

NEW YORK (UPI) — On a day that most people rallied around the flag, the Cleveland Indians rallied around Manager Frank Robinson.

And, if there's strength in unity, the Indians may have just begun to flex their muscles.

Unhappy over a stiff three-day suspension and $250 fine levied against Robinson by American League President Lee MacPhail for a showing incident with Umpire Jerry Neudecker May 17, Cleveland players Monday threatened to boycott their three-game series with the California Angels.

All the Indians either signed or supported a petition in support of Robinson, who earlier drove in four runs with a single and homer, singled across the winning run with two out in the bottom of the 11th to give Oakland its win over Baltimore. Steve's winning hit followed singles by Joe Rudi and Angel Mangual and dealt the Orioles their fifth straight loss.

White Sox 4, Brewers 2

Bucky Dent and Brian Downing hit consecutive homers with two out in the ninth inning to lead Jim Kaat to his eighth victory and Chicago over Milwaukee. Kaat has now won 15 of his last 16 decisions. Both homers came off loser Jim Colborn.

itated by pitchers Dave LaRoche and Tom Buskey, calling the suspension "unjust and unfair" and offering to sit out Robinson's suspension "to show our disapproval."

However, Robinson met with his troops before Monday afternoon's game and told them he appreciated their action, but a better way to show their appreciation would be to "go out there and win the ball game."

"It was more or less a show of solidarity," said Frank Duffy, who had three hits in an inspired 9-clubbing of the Angels. "We signed the petition because we thought it was unfair to have Frank suspended. We didn't think what he did warranted that stiff suspension."

Robinson was astounded by the attempted boycott—and proud.

"I was surprised," said baseball's first black manager. "I made me feel good that they felt that strongly. But I felt I couldn't let them do it. It's not worth it to sit out three games."

He watched nervously from the broadcasters booth as Coach Dave Garcia managed the club to victory.

"It was frustrating up there," Robinson said. "It looks

Mets Hand Messersmith First Defeat of Season

NEW YORK (UPI) — The New York Mets played the game of "heads I win, tails you lose" with Andy Messersmith Memorial Day afternoon and handed the big Los Angeles Dodger right-hander his first loss of the season.

With the score tied 3-3 in the ninth inning, Los Angeles Manager Walter Alton gave his undefeated ace a free rein.

He let Messersmith decide whether he wanted to pitch to pinch-hitter Wayne Garrett, a .263 hitter who had never done well against him, or walk him to fill the bases and try his luck with Del Unser, a .336 hitter who already had homered off him in the third inning.

The choice seemed obvious, even considering the advantage of a force at any base. It didn't take a manager with more than a score of seasons under his belt to make the right decision.

But the obvious didn't happen as Garrett homered on his first swing and gave the Mets a 6-3 victory.

"I figured I could strike him out," said Messersmith, who had an 11-game winning streak over two seasons ended. "Garrett usually doesn't hit me very well."

And when you add to that the fact that Garrett, nursing a sore ankle, spent the pre-game drills on the trainer's table and didn't take batting practice, the decision to pitch to him instead of Unser looks even better.

Messersmith, the first Dodger out of the dressing room, must take satisfaction in knowing his strategy was flawless.

Garrett, on the other hand, had his own strategy.

"I thought he would show me the fastball but wouldn't give it to me. His first pitch was a fastball down and I took it. Then I was looking for an offspeed pitch and I got it."

Then the opposing strategies met.

"I just wanted to hit the ball hard and get it into the outfield," he said. "As soon as I hit it I said 'the game is over.' I felt it would be at least a sacrifice fly."

Arnie Cops From Tee to Green 80th Victory

Arnie Palmer, 65, of the Royal St. George's seaside course, described as one of the greatest in his long golf career.

With 30-mile-per-hour gales whipping off the Straits of Dover across the wind Monday and struggling to a 78, Palmer fired an one-over-par 71, while the rest of the field collapsed, and took top prize of $24,000 in the $120,000 Penford PGA championship.

The winning amount was nice but it didn't compare to the relish the 65-year-old veteran received from coming back from a five-stroke deficit.

"I would say this was comparable to the round I played at Birkdale in a gale on the way to winning the 1961 British Open," he said. "Yes, you could say I'm happy."

Palmer's 79-hole total of 285 gave him a two-stroke edge over Eamon Darcy, the Irish professional whose crisp putting had put him into the front-runner's spot after three rounds.

But Darcy, like virtually everyone else in the 96-man field, fell victim to the wind Monday and struggled to a 78, eight-over-par on the rolling 6,738-yard St. George's course. He wasn't alone in his agony.

Manuel Ballesteros, the handsome Spaniard whose two sub-par rounds put him in the lead after 36 holes, shot an 80, Hugh Baiocchi of South Africa needed 79 strokes to get around, but still managed to finish third overall with a 289 total.

Darcy won $16,000 and Baiocchi, $9,600. Ballesteros got $4,000 for his fifth-place tie.

American Ben Greenhaw was fourth with a final 74 for a 290 total, although countryman Larry Wadkins, an early contender, played himself out of the money by shooting a closing 84.

It was an eagle-3 at the 368-yard 14th that put Palmer into a hole he never lost. His three-run approach across the fairway hunkers ended up six feet from the pin and his put hit dead at the back of the hole.

The putter that sometimes let him down during earlier rounds proved a good friend Monday and never more than at the 18th when his second shot missed the green and a chipped approach died 10 feet from the hole.

Palmer cooly drilled the putt for a scrambling par and won noisy applause and cheers from the crowd.

The victory was the 80th in his career and the second for Palmer in Europe this spring. He won the Spanish Open last month.
