Manchester Scholarships Awarded to 39 Students

By JUNE TOMPKINS

Proud parents and friends watched as 39 students from Manchester's high schools and community college received scholarship awards Thursday night at East Catholic High School.

The event marked the 10th annual award ceremony of the Manchester Scholarship Foundation, Inc.

It is an occasion of suspense as none of the students knows what scholarships he or she will receive until announced from the stand.

The Round Table Singers of Manchester High School opened the main part of the program with appropriate selections from "My Fair Lady" which Miss Martha White, director, adapted to the seniors who are about to launch new educational careers.

Robert P. Fuller, president of the foundation, welcomed the audience. In the ten years the foundation has been awarding scholarships, the 63 awards being made tonight are the most ever awarded so far, said Fuller.

He told the students "all teachers in all the local schools have contributed greatly to what is ahead of you."

Fuller, who was master of ceremonies, introduced the members of the scholarship foundation present at the ceremony.

Following the format of the Emmy Award presentations, Fuller explained he would announce the scholarships and the presenters who, in turn, would announce the recipients.

Some students were observed stealing a quick look in the direction of their parents as they left the stage after receiving their scholarships.

This year's event marked the first time one organization presented three scholarships. They were awarded by Center Church.

One scholarship was presented by one of its donors who came from his home on Nantucket Island to make the presentation.

Mrs. Isabel Duffy, a retired English teacher from MHS, presented the James and Isabel Worth Duffy Memorial scholarship to Lynn T. Gordon of 45 Crosby Rd.

The recipient received an envelope containing a letter detailing the

Britain To Stay in Common Market

LONDON (UPI) — Early official returns from the referendum on continued British membership in the European Common Market showed today the nation had voted nearly 3:1 to stay in. Market opponents conceded defeat.

With counting of an estimated 26 million votes still continuing in this first such referendum in British history, indications were that the final vote would be close to the 3-1 margin predicted in public opinion polls.

On the basis of early results Independent Television News said a computer forecast of the final result was 68.6 per cent "Yes" and 31.4 per cent "No."

Norman Atkinson, anti-Market Labor party member of Parliament, said, "It looks as if it's all over. It's very sad news."

Jack Jones, leader of Britain's largest labor union, the 1.75 million strong Transport and General Workers' Union, who also campaigned for a "No" vote, said:

"Now we've got to face up to the real world. We're almost bust (broke) in consequence, or partly in consequence, of our membership of the European Community. But we should unite with the Labor government and try to get united backing for it."

William Hamilton, a pro-Market Labor party member of Parliament, said the seven Labor government ministers who campaigned for a "No" vote ought to quit now.

But Prices Secretary Shirley Williams, a pro-Market, said there is no reason why they should quit.

"They said they would accept the democratic verdict of the country and I think they will do so," Mrs. Williams said.

Chief Counting Officer Sir Philip Allen said about 66 per cent of the country's 40 million registered voters — about 26 million — cast ballots.

In the first district reporting, the tiny Isles of Scilly off the southwest coast of Britain, 802 persons, or 73.9 per cent, voted "Yes" to stay in the market and 278, or 25.3 per cent voted "No," with eight spoiled ballots.

The turnout in the islands where Prime Minister Harold Wilson has a summer home was 77.8 per cent of the registered voters. The second result from Gwynedd county in North Wales showed a 65 per cent vote; turnout with 76,421 or 71 per cent. "Yes" and 31,807 or 29 per cent "No."

Last minute opinion polls and almost all London's newspapers predicted a 2-1 margin for keeping Britain in the Common Market.

Rockefeller Report Lacks Study on Assassinations

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Rockefeller Commission hands its report on the Central Intelligence Agency to the House today minus the hottest issue of all — foreign assassinations.

Vice President Nelson A. Rockefeller announced Thursday the commission did not have sufficient time to study charges that the CIA plotted murder against foreign officials because the issue came up midway the investigation.

The report on a six-month probe of the CIA, FBI and other police and intelligence groups dealt only with their domestic activities, including alleged spying on American citizens. CIA operations more than to the South Vietnamese generals who gunned down Diem — then tried unsuccessfully to call off the pallas in the last moment.

"Evidently the commission has chosen to duck it (the assassination issue)," said Church. "There's really no way in this society that this kind of thing can be swept under the rug."

He said he hopes to have a full commission report on the alleged assassinations within a month.

Members of the special House panel investigating the CIA asked the Democratic leadership Thursday to consider removing Rep. Lucien Nedzi, D-Mich., as chairman because of conflict with his past congressional work on the agency.

At issue are allegations that Nedzi, as head of a House Armed Services subcommittee on intelligence, was bribed about reportedly illegal CIA operations more than a year ago and did not seek a legislative investigation.

President Ngo Dinh Diem of South Vietnam.

The newspaper said the Rockefeller Commission itself received evidence the CIA supply guns to Trujillo's killers and money to the South Vietnamese generals who gunned down Diem — then tried unsuccessfully to call off the pallas in the last moment.

Joblessness 9.2%, Prime Interest Drops

By United Press International

The nation's unemployment rate soared to 9.2 per cent in May, the highest in 34 years, the government said today. But in a separate development, the prime interest rate hit its lowest point in more than two years.

The Labor Department said more than 8.5 million persons were looking for work last month, pushing the national unemployment rate above 9 per cent for the first time since 1941.

The department said 362,000 persons were added to the jobless rolls from April, when the rate was 8.9 per cent.

The unemployment figures do not include the million or so persons who have dropped out of the labor force in frustration.

The lower prime rate was signaled Thursday when the Federal Reserve, under pressure to make more cash available, raised a rapidly accelerated increase in the nation's money supply in the last four weeks.

In a separate development, First National City Bank of New York lowered its interest rate for prime business loans to 6 3/4 per cent, the lowest since March, 1973. Citibank, a bellwether on interest rates, had seen at 7 per cent.

Most other major banks were expected to trim their rates but only to the 7 per cent level.

The lower prime rate was signaled Thursday when the Federal Reserve, under pressure to make more cash available, raised a rapidly accelerated increase in the nation's money supply in the last four weeks.

The one bright spot was the second consecutive monthly increase in the number of persons employed. The Labor Department said 84.4 million persons held jobs in May, up 316,000 from April.

Economists say the unemployment rate will rise even after a recovery from the recession is under way because employers, who have trimmed their payrolls in the slump, are reluctant to rehire workers until well after a business surge.

In addition, the labor force will soar this summer with college students and with persons who sense a recovery and rejoin the job market.

Vernon Again Rejects Budget, Vote Thursday on Compromise

BARBARA RICHMOND

A special town meeting last night rejected an $8,211,000 Vernon education budget for a second time and following it the school board and the Town Council reached a compromise that will send an $8,659,000 budget back to another town meeting next Thursday.

The compromise agreement added $138,000 of a $338,000 cut made by the council and carries with it an agreement by the school board that it will return some $100,000 surplus in the current budget, to the town's general fund at the end of this fiscal year.

It was the first time that anyone could remember that the voters were checked by the registrars as they came into the meeting. Each was given a pink slip indicating he was eligible to vote. The tally showed 579 eligible voters but there were more than 600 people attending the meeting. The procedure caused a late start of the meeting.

Sen. Robert Houley was elected moderator after his name and that of Town Attorney Abbot Schwebel were presented. Abbot Schwebel was appointed parliamentarian by Houley.

Richard Bowman, a speech therapist in the school system, made the motion to reject "readily the waters."

He added, "I'd like to bear how much you want to spend in 1975-76 to educate our kids." He said he would not support a motion that talks about spending this year's funds for next year's purchases.

Councilman Thomas Dooley expressed the fear that such a motion and vote would just "muddy the waters."

He added, "I'd like to bear how much you want to spend in 1975-76 to educate our kids." He said he would not support a motion that talks about spending this year's funds for next year's purchases.

In terms of a compromise, Mayor Frank McCoy reminded the voters that the council had already made a compromise with the $338,000 reduction as its original request was for a cut of $400,000. He said, however, "In view of the sentiment expressed at this meeting I would be willing to meet with Mr. Houley or someone else to work out a compromise."

The straw vote was then taken on Houley's motion and it carried by a large majority.

Before the two boards met jointly, each met separately with the council taking care of some of its other routine business.

At the joint meeting, school board member Robert Dubeau detailed for the

Suez Canal Reopens, Israeli Test Avoided

By MICHAEL S. BARRETT

SUEZ, Egypt (UPI) — The first toll-free traffic to pass through the Suez Canal in eight years steamed into the Gulf of Suez from Port Said today, marking the first complete toll-paying passage.

President Anwar Sadat formally opened the canal to northbound traffic shortly afterward, with two Iranian destroyers, leading the way.

Capt. Mohamed Zein El-Abidin, chief master of the Suez Harbor, said a waiting list of 31 ships which he asked to transit the Canal from South to North did not include the sugar-carrying Liberian freighter Trust Iron mentioned by the Israeli Radio.

Israeli ships Thursday said the Trust Iron would attempt to transit the canal with 12,000 tons of sugar for Israel as a test case on whether Egypt would permit Israeli cargo to pass through. Later, Israel began playing down these reports.

Sadat who Thursday presided over ceremonies reopening the canal to the five southern commercial ships, gave the Iranian destroyers Zaal and Saam the lead positions in the nine-vessel northbound convoy in gratitude for the oil-rich Iran provides Egypt.

Iran's Crown Prince Ali Reza attended Thursday's celebrations in which Sadat formally reopened the canal to commercial shipping for the first time since it was closed by the 1967 Six Day War.

The southbound convoy that left Port Said in the northbound convoy for Suez Thursday afternoon spent the night in the Great Bitter Lake and reached the Gulf of Suez at 8 a.m. (1 a.m. EDT) today.

In the northbound convoy, the Iranian destroyers were followed by the Egyptian destroyer October 6, which Sadat used on his ceremonial voyage Thursday, another Egyptian destroyer and a minesweeper, then four freighters flying the Sudanese, Pakistani, Japanese and Italian flags.

People danced in the streets and cheered Sadat as he drew across the city to the harbor area. Trucks loaded with peasants topped the city shouting praises to the president while women on balconies waved.

State Employee Head Mulls Union Merger

HARTFORD (UPI) — The possibility has been raised of a merger of two major state employee unions to take advantage of major concessions won during the waning hours of the 1975 session of the Connecticut Legislature.

"Now that the legislative crisis has apparently passed for this session, we in AFSCME are turning our total energies to preparation for representative elections in collective bargaining," said Michael Ferrucci, head of the state's American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees.

Ferrucci said Thursday he is considering a merger with the Connecticut State Employees Association to take advantage of the collective bargaining rights approved by the legislature late Wednesday.

In a flurry of activity as the mandatory midnight adjournment hour neared, the legislature at first rejected the plan as a "raid" on the retirement fund.

The bill giving collective bargaining rights to state employees means they will be able to elect unions to represent them in contract talks. Existing laws do not recognize unions as bargaining agents for state employees, and terms of employment, including salary scales and benefits, are set by the legislature through laws.

Binding arbitration would be imposed in labor disputes between municipalities and their employees, excepting teachers, when they fail to reach an agreement within 90 days after their existing contracts expire.

Has Second Thoughts

Grasso To Peruse Community Development Bill

HARTFORD (UPI) — Concerned about critics of a local community development bill, Gov. Ella T. Grasso may reverse an earlier position in favor of the measure.

She said Thursday she would review the measure carefully because of accusations it would allow politicians to plunder municipal treasuries. The measure was approved Saturday in the Senate.

The governor said she had felt that the scrutiny of the media and public pressure would serve to protect the public interest. "I shall read it with care," she said. "I think all factors should be taken into consideration."

The measure, on a list of so-called "secret Hartford bills," was pushed by Hartford Democratic Town Chairman Nicholas A. Carbone but would affect an active housing authority, its approval also is required.

However, local approval of plans to restore the physical or financial soundness of an existing housing project owned or supported financially by the states is exempted.

The Senate narrowly approved another bill backed by Carbone in the final day of the 1975 session Wednesday which would have allowed larger municipalities to bond cable television systems at public expense.

But, the cable television proposal, which would have helped private investors recoup their losses at public expense, was never brought to the floor of the House after Democratic leaders raised questions about the proposal.

The local development bill would allow municipal officials to:

- Enter leasing agreements through a simple resolution without bids or public hearings.
- Lease or sell development projects and allow them to borrow money at extremely low rates for long periods of time.
- The measure would pave the way for private groups such as Greater Hartford Process, Inc., a privately financed redevelopment consortium, to proceed with plans to reconstruct sections of Hartford.

Civil rights groups have charged Greater Hartford Process seeks to relocate minorities in other sections of the city.

The Lottery

Connecticut weekly winning lottery number was 78-0946-006. The six-digit bonus number was 239255.

BICENTENNIAL FACTS
On Sept. 22, 1776 the British captured Nathan Hale and hanged him as a spy. As New York's fire burned over 300 buildings, Gen. Howe's anger rose. When confronted by Hale, a self-admitted spy, Howe ordered him hanged without trial. Hale asked for a clergyman and then a Bible but was turned down. When the noose was slipped around his neck, Hale reportedly uttered the now famous words: "I only regret I have but one life to lose for my country." The World Almanac notes.

Alternative Rail Plan To Be Offered
MONTPELIER, Vt. (UPI) - The New England Governor's Conference, said he would present the proposal as an alternative to preliminary plans drawn up by the federal Railroad Administration.
Revealing the plans, Gov. Thomas Salmon said a national fuel tax will be proposed to refurbish and operate the railroads.
Salmon, chairman of the New England Governor's Conference, said he would present the proposal as an alternative to preliminary plans drawn up by the federal Railroad Administration.
Salmon said, would then be refurbished and leased back to private operators.
The cost of necessary repairs and operating subsidies would be borne by "additional across-the-board tax on all fuel," Salmon said; a plan which would "remove tremendous fixed liabilities from the backs of the railroads."
Salmon said the federal government would be required to put up "front money" to buy the rights-of-way. He suggested revenue bonding as a possible method of raising those funds.
This plan would signal the salvation of the rail lines in place, in this 17-state area," Salmon said. "The system need not die if nurtured back to life."

Girls in Athletics Nothing New at RHS

VERNON
BARBARA RICHMOND
Girls' athletic activities are alive, well, and thriving at Rockville High School and have been for the past 23 years. Thursday night the Girls' Athletic Activities Club (GAAC) celebrated its third anniversary at an awards banquet in the high school cafeteria. Mrs. Claire Albom, supervisor of Girls' Athletics told those present that group participation this past two years has been greater despite the fact the school has been on double sessions. Dr. Raymond Ramadell, superintendent of schools, recalled that there were just about 50 girls involved in the club when it started 23 years ago and the number has grown to more than 500. He said not only has the number of girls grown but also the number of activities which span just about every area in the sports' field. Both he and Dr. Robert Linstone, assistant superintendent, reminded the girls that many of these activities can be carried on in later life. They especially cited such sports as golf, tennis, and bowling. Martin Fagan, high school principal, congratulated the girls on the records they have set and added he was amazed how outstanding they are, "in some instances exceeding the boys."

Other guests of honor speaking briefly and all congratulating the club on a job well done, were Maurice Miller, former chairman of the Board of Education; Mrs. Marie Herbst, former board member; and Mrs. Betsy Steele and Mrs. Devra Baum, present members of the board. Mrs. Gail Grant Carta, a member of the first club, was a guest at the banquet to see her daughter, Roxanne Carta, finish her term as co-president of the club along with Lisa Iamonnaco. Both girls will be graduating this year. In the freshman-sophomore group, letters went to Chris Daigle, Donna Koehler, Maureen Moriarty, Sue North, and Pat O'Brien and numerals to Kay Gifford and Robin Littlefield. Cindy Leach was presented with a charm for varsity badminton and letters went to Sue Backofen, Colleen Connor, Janet Slavik, Debbie Vogel, Paula Jones, and Laurie Boynton and numerals to Valerie Curtis, Sue North, Pat O'Brien, and Lisa Warner. Silver volleyballs were awarded to Miss Schaefer and Karen Peterson, captains of the varsity team and Angie Drosser

A small team of staff members will work for about a week with Dr. Philip Sall of the Capitol Region Education Council developing an evaluation instrument and procedures to be piloted in the early part of 1975-1976. Susan Ford Graduates

HARTFORD (UPI) - President Ford watched his 17-year-old daughter Susan accept her high school diploma and he couldn't keep the tears from his eyes.

"You might be interested to know that my daughter Susan gave me some advice on this speech," he began, drawing laughter from the 1,300 students and parents present.

The President devoted his speech Thursday to a call for passage of the Equal Rights Amendment to the Constitution before completion of the nation's bicentennial celebration.

Washington (UPI) - The Northrop Corp. says it has found four cases in which its employees made payments which may have been used to bribe foreign officials.

The company announced the development Thursday. Earlier in the day, the State Department told Congress it opposes legislation to monitor U.S. companies which operate overseas to find out if they are bribing foreign officials.

Northrop, a major airplane manufacturer, said it conducted a six-month investigation which "disclosed four instances in which Northrop employees made payments which may have gone to officials in foreign countries."

Congress and Energy

By Tom Arrandale Congressional Quarterly WASHINGTON - Reluctant to accept the economic and political costs of curbing U.S. oil imports, congressional Democrats have forfeited the initiative on national energy policy to President Ford.

House Democrats still have planned to take the Ways and Means bill to the floor before the Memorial Day recess, meeting the House deadline for final House action.

Although Democratic leaders were planning to take the Ways and Means bill back to the floor in June, its chances for surviving were uncertain.

Yet the committee's final recommendations, especially for federal gasoline tax increases that probably would reach 23 cents a gallon...

Gardner Gets Support Of College Congress

The Connecticut Congress of Community Colleges unanimously adopted Thursday a resolution supporting the faculty of Manchester Community College in its demand for due process and reinstatement for James W. Gardner.

The congress represents major faculty groups at all 12 community colleges in the state. They met Thursday at Greater Hartford Community College.

Groups represented included the American Association of University Professors, American Federation of Teachers, Connecticut State Employees Association and the Connecticut Education Association.

Gardner was dismissed from his teaching job at MCC this spring. He said he has not been told the reasons for his dismissal.

He also lost his summer job, and is in court now in a show cause hearing. Thursday, he testified in Hartford County Common Pleas in the action he has brought against State Attorney General Carl Ajello and Dr. Searis Charles, chairman of the state board, in which he asks them to show cause why they should not be enjoined from dismissing Gardner from the summer teaching job.

Dear Abby

Woman Wants Hands Not Face On Money

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I am no big woman's liber, but I would like to know why no woman has ever had her name on an American dollar bill, a $5, $20, or any other denomination of paper money.

It is the way a country honors its outstanding historical characters, I think it's time we gave that honor to a woman. How about making a survey to find out how other women feel about it?

ONE WOMAN

DEAR ONE: I polled 12 women. Nine agreed that it's time a woman got her face on paper money. Two said they didn't care one way or the other, and one said, "I don't want to get my face on any folding money, but I would like to get my HANDS on some!"

DEAR ABBY: This is a response to "His Wife" who's clinging to her husband for prestige, social position, money and retirement benefits. Let me tell you my story:

My husband found an old flame, and they took up where they left off 30 years before. After a couple of miserable years of hanging on to him, I asked him for a nice "no fault" California divorce, which was the best move I ever made.

I am now financially secure and emotionally at peace. No more scenes or churning stomachs as I had when I knew he was with her. I don't have to put up with his lies, unexplained absences and sulking, and no more tennis socks to wash!

He is so grateful to me for giving him his freedom that he balances my checkbook, makes out my income taxes and even remembers my birthday. I live in a beautiful condominium and am back in college getting my master's degree — at 50! I can also stay up all night to read whenever I feel like it. Life is beautiful. I wish I'd done it years ago.

FREE

DEAR FREE: You all lucked out. Dissolving your marriage had all the sentiment of dissolving a business partnership. Not all parties to a divorce are that lucky.

DEAR ABBY: A plumber's wife asked why so many people think plumbers are overpaid. The L.A. Call, 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please. For Abby's booklet, "How to Have a Lovely Wedding," send $1 to Abigail Van Buren, 132 Lasky Dr., Beverly Hills, Calif. 90212. Please enclose a long, self-addressed, stamped (20¢) envelope.

I'M 14 IN PHOENIX

DEAR "14": You're right. Let's hear it for the heroes who risk their necks routinely to protect us against those dastardly twins, crime and fire!

Everyone has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply, write to ABBY, Box No. 89760, L.A., Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please. For Abby's booklet, "How to Have a Lovely Wedding," send $1 to Abigail Van Buren, 132 Lasky Dr., Beverly Hills, Calif. 90212. Please enclose a long, self-addressed, stamped (20¢) envelope.

In Canada's Atlantic Provinces There's A Leisure Way Of Life

Canada's four Atlantic provinces hold within their boundaries much of the initial history of North America.

Here is where the Vikings landed — 500 years before Columbus. The Grand Banks, off Newfoundland, have been luring the fishermen of Europe for almost 500 years.

And this is where John Cabot landed, seven years after Columbus. In Newfoundland, they still celebrate Cabot's landing on Discovery Day, June 22; on Cape Breton they have raised a monument to him on a magnificent sweep of near-deserted pink sand beach, and in Prince Edward Island they have set aside a provincial park with a cairn and plaque in his honor — and excellent camping and swimming all around it.

This is relaxed, friendly country with more than 17,000 miles of wrinkled coastline and fabulous beaches, remote forests where you can hunt bear and moose... inland waters alive with trout and salmon... and record-breaking tuna just offshore.

Here you'll find splendid old cities, some dating back to the 17th century. There are Martello Towers and cannon worn by gone wars, kitty-corner from modern high-rise hotels, bustling shopping complexes, theaters, art galleries and museums.

Popular take-off point for a motor tour is Portland, Maine, with its direct ferry service to Yarmouth, Nova Scotia. New on this run this summer is the Price of Purity, a 1,000-passenger luxury ship with room for 200 cars.

Nova Scotia ("New Scotland") is a subtle blend of 350 years of history. Yarmouth, where the ferry lands, is still 90 per cent French-speaking. At Grand Pré, on the Fundy shore, you can see the statue of Evangeline, immortalized by Longfellow in his poem about the Acadians. Close by is Annapolis Royal, founded in 1685 as the capital of the French colony of Acadia and at one time headquarters for pirates who pillaged the New England coast. A few miles away is the reconstructed Habitation of Port Royal, established by Champlain in 1606.

Halifax, the provincial capital, was established originally as a British stronghold to counter the strong French fortress at Louisbourg, on Cape Breton Island. You can still visit the ancient Citadel in the shape of a star, with moat and cannon facing out to sea, the Martello Tower and the Admiralty.

Cape Breton, with its rugged highlands reminiscent of Scotland, is the major stronghold of the Scottish settlers who gave the province its name, and Gaelic is spoken quite widely. There is even a Gaelic College at St. Ann's, and the Scottish heritage is manifest itself at the annual Highland Games at Antigonish (on the way to the island) July 17-18; and St. Ann's, August 2-8.

The Cabot Trail, climbing to the heights of the highlands that make up Cape Breton Highlands National Park, with magnificent vistas of open sea on the east and on the west, is one of the most scenic drives in eastern Nova Scotia.

Nearby Fortress Louisbourg, now being partially restored by the Canadian government at a cost of upwards of $12 million, contains the finest collection of 18th century antique furnishings on the continent.

Newfoundland North Sydney, on Cape Breton Island, is the take-off point for ferry service to Port aux Basques and to Argentia — both on the island province of Newfoundland.

tucky Canada," Prince Edward Island is a favorite with tourists. The water is usually about 70 degrees, there are miles of sand beaches, and because it's only 140 miles long and 40 miles wide at its widest point — everything is easy to visit.

It was at Charlottetown, the provincial capital, that Canada's Fathers of Confederation prepared the way in 1864 for the union of Canada's provinces, and you can visit the Memorial Chamber where the documents were signed.

Noted for the quality of its horses, the island features horse racing throughout the summer, and at major festivals, such as Charlottetown's "Old Home Week" (August 10 to 15) and the Lobster Carnival at Summerside, July 13 to 18.

New Brunswick Second biggest city in New Brunswick is Moncton, with a "Magnetic Hill," where cars appear to roll up hill when parked at the bottom. Twenty miles south is another phenomenon — the Hopewell Rocks, carved into huge flower-pot shapes by the giant Fundy tides, highest in the world.

Prince Edward Island Charlottetown, the provincial capital, is the take-off point for ferry service to Port aux Basques and to Argentia — both on the island province of Newfoundland.

Isolated as it is, and tracing its history back to those early Grand Banks fishermen, this is probably one of the most distinctive areas north of the Mason-Dixon line.

St. John's, the provincial capital, is filled with historic mementoes of the city's action-packed history. At Cabot tower, overlooking the harbor city, Marconi sent his first trans-Atlantic wireless message. The Church of St. Thomas, dating back to 1888, contains many beautiful memorials from its days as the Garrison Church.

New Policies Favored By Administrators

In an effort to evaluate the new policies instituted recently by George Emmerling, HSW interviewed several people including Dr. James P. Kennedy, superintendent of schools.

Dr. Kennedy mentioned that the new state of the MHS campus and cafeteria, the numerous fire alarms, and several rock throwing incidents led up to the action taken after the April vacation.

"The view of the high school by the community was not a good one," he said. Dr. Kennedy had been hearing from faculty, students, and members of the community. He realized that something had to be done, but he wanted it to be a positive step.

"An increase in graduation requirements was part of the program.

"If we were to place restrictions on the open campus, it was first instituted but now seems many advantages to it.

"The question is: Do we want to convert empty rooms to study halls or perhaps to new art rooms or shops?" he pointed out. Leonard feels that getting a new attitude at the high school has been the greatest step; he sees much of the problems coming from these people.

Language Week Observed at MHS

If you heard strange sounds coming out of the intercom, stop posters written in illegible writing in the halls, or were forced to fill in for a missing dancer while wandering through the halls last week, you obviously were experiencing part of International Language Week at Manchester High School.

Every morning language students and guest speakers gave a speech over the loudspeaker. German, French, and Spanish were all represented. Such personalities as Mr. Emmerling and Mr. Digan gave their feelings on the value of a foreign language in careers. Dialogues and a German horoscope were also done.

Banners and posters were hung over the school. Many languages, 1 for one, even picked up some Spanish and French from them. The saying, "Parlez-vous French?" from "Parlez-vous French?" to "Trinken Sie viel Bier?"

The culmination of the week was the International Dinner held in the cafeteria Friday, May 23. Greetings were given by Det. Bradmoure in Spanish. Miss Duttelle in French, and Mary Stack in German. Entertainment was provided by the language clubs and ranged from singing to an appearance by Steve Latham, an area magician. Although he didn't give his presentation in German, he still succeeded in stumping most of the audience, at least the younger members.

Mrs. McInerney, the head of the language department, along with the help of Spanish teachers and French teachers, read songs in various languages, after a while, all who attended were singing a round of "Frere Jacques" in three languages.

The German Club's folk dancers consisted of Nancy Carmienie, Hilary Gwynn, Rob Grzyb, Eric Kusche, and Sue Stack. Keith Stauffer and Mary Turner, along with Spanish Club recruit Bob Mumford, did a rendition of two German dances.

Spanish Club members gathered their sambros to do the Mexican Hat Dance. After their demonstration, everyone was invited to try their luck at it. Music, dancing, and conversation in all the languages gave everyone an introduction to different cultures and social customs and a buffet gave samples of foreign foods. French and German main courses and Spanish desserts were provided. Not surprising, when people entered the humid cafeteria, the most widely appreciated "international" foods were milk and punch.

Mrs. McInerney proceeded to tell us what she called "The Grand March" after the eating was completed. The audience was led through a variety of movements in a circle which became slightly organized as time went on. She also led everyone in "Ja, Das ist ein Schmitzball," one of her favorite visual-speaking device games.

In New York State, they have concluded, the soil was just too alkaline for rhododendrons, which grow naturally on acid soil. Since they built their house in the woods, they have natural shade, which may, indeed, be getting a little too dense on trees grow. Gunter welcomes the opportunity to take down a tree now and again as it is damaged by a storm or otherwise in trouble.

Duck Surgery

A small brook flows past their house and a small dam holds back enough water to make a pond. A Mallard duck lives happily in the pond, but one day had an encounter with an owl in which, somehow, the owl broke the duck's beak.

Helen provided first aid, fastening the broken beak with Scotch tape, and fed the duck puddles in the mud for food without any apparent hiccup. He is called, fondly, Fitzgibbon. There are three other ducks but none has angled with an owl. Nifty swims over to the bank as readily as Fitzgibbon. He seems to regard the Winklers as his family.

There is a tiny island in the pond and an azalea on it that blooms nicely although the surroundings would seem to be too wet. These plants do best in moist soil but their roots are shallow so perhaps this azalea manages to keep its roots above the water level.

My garden encyclopedia, which answers many questions but not all, is silent on growing azaleas in soil that is just a few inches above the level of a pond, but emphasizes that both azaleas and rhododendrons "must" be grown where the soil is cool and moist and not exposed to long periods of hot summer sun.

The plants come from all parts of the world and some have been cultivated for centuries or more. Most recent introductions have come from southeast Asia.

Profile: Brian Kilpatrick

"It is a good feeling and a great honor."

That is Brian Kilpatrick, senior at MHS, referring to "Being number one" — the top student in the Class of 1975.

Brian Kilpatrick, 17, lives in Manchester. He resides with his parents at 100 Concord Rd. Brian has two older, married brothers, James and Robert, and a sister, Elizabeth. He is a member of the Manchester High School and Robertson Elementary Schools and Hilling Jr. High.

Throughout his years in the Manchester school system, Brian has been dedicated to several extra curricular interests. He was a member of Round Table for two years. As an accomplished pianist of eleven years, he has accompanied choirs in Hilling Junior High, as well as MHS in his junior year at MHS. Brian played in the orchestra for "The Unsinkable Molly Brown" performance. He was a JV Soccer team member in his sophomore year.

"I would have liked to have gone out for every sport I could have — had I the time."

In this year, Brian is serving a term as MHS secretary. He also assisted in the sale of year-books in senior honorariums.

"Currently, Brian's courses include A.P. English, advanced biology, physics and math 5 (all honors, of course). He is quick to point out that he has "no favorites and enjoys all of his classes."

MHS has adequately met Brian's needs as a student over the years. His only gripe is that he would like to see the MHS administration bureaucracy decrease.

"I can remember having to stand around the office for a long time before being assisted."

not only how well you know the material, but also how quickly you can respond to a question with the correct answer."

Brian currently coaches the Manchester Bible Team in quiz-bowl technique and often accompanies them to competitions.

About religion, Brian states, "I believe one must have a strong, solid faith, but going around merely to show it off defeats its whole cause in life."

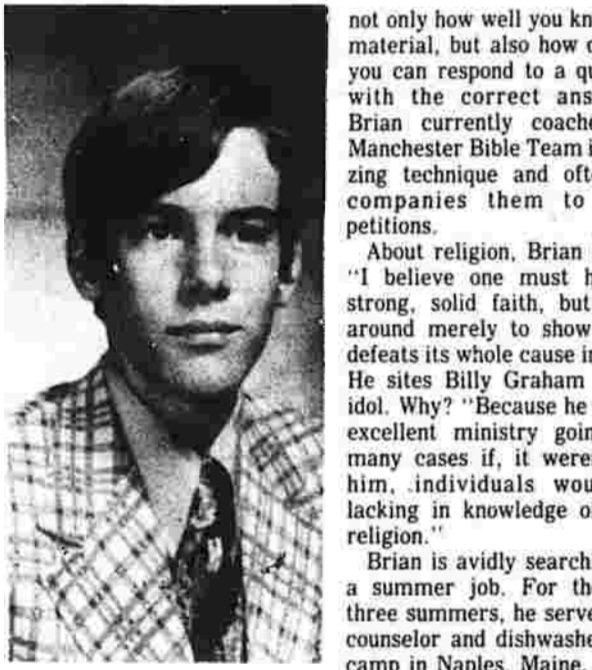

He cites Billy Graham as his idol. Why? "Because he has an excellent ministry going and many cases if, it weren't for him, individuals would be lacking in knowledge of their religion."

Brian is avidly searching for a summer job. For the past three summers, he served as a counselor and dishwasher at a camp in Naples, Maine.

He is looking forward to the fall when he will attend Eastern Nazarene College in Quincy, Mass. Brian plans to pursue a medical career.

Brian Kilpatrick is more than a "number one" student. He is a well-rounded, pleasant, highly motivated individual. This writer believes that Brian is a person who rarely is bored and has addressed himself to the belief that "a person should do that whatever he does is dedicated, he remains truly fulfilled." — Jessica Laufer

Three hundred deans and presidents of universities, and representatives of international organizations, will convene in Vienna, Austria, on June 6 and 7 to establish the European Association of Universities.

Sports Wrap-Up

Following is a summary of the 1975 spring sports teams for MHS. It deals mostly with the participation of students in this year's varsity programs and is based on information given by players and coaches.

The 1975 spring sports teams have all completed their regular varsity seasons, and all seven (baseball, girls' softball, boys' and girls' track, boys' and girls' tennis, and golf) either are going to participate in post season play as a team or are sending individual players to the tournaments.

The varsity baseball team completed a 12-4 overall record and are headed for the state tournaments. Coach Harold Parks stated that last season's turnout for baseball was better, but he feels this was due to the fact that there were many lettermen returning from last year's squad. This discouraged players from trying out, since they felt they had little chance of making the team.

Coach Mary Paigant's girls' softball entry posted an 8-4 mark, and is playing in the state tournaments this week. Miss Paigant said that this year's participants are about the same as that of 1974, but she mentioned that good players are always lost to the Felme League, a Manchester women's softball league.

The boys' track team, coached by Dick Williams, was 19-5 overall, and 7-2 in the CCIL. There was a decided drop in membership for this year's entry. This was caused by a loss of many seniors in '74.

coupled with the failure of sophomores to replace the graduates.

The girls' tracksters led by Barry Bernales and Sandy Hamm, finished with a 5-1 CCIL record, and was 111 overall. The 1975 team was larger than last year's, probably because girls' sports are more popular now, and many sophomores tried out this year.

The Manchester High netmen were coached by David Flaegan, and had a league record of 4-5, 4-4 aggregate. The 1975 squad was much larger than last year's, although this was due mostly to the fact that a new policy was instituted this year, with no "cuts" and all players being considered part of the team.

Coach Mary Paigant's girls' tennis team has exceeded, and was confident that the turnout will increase in later years.

Finally, the golf team completed the campaign with an 18-62 over-all record, and 11-52 in the CCIL, good enough for third place. The tournaments for this year and last were about the same.

I would like to take this opportunity to congratulate all of the varsity spring teams on their seasons, and wish all competitors the best of luck in the upcoming tournament play. — Russ Wilson

Thanks To All Walkers

Last Sunday, June 1, the Easter Seal Walk-A-Thon took place. Despite frequent rain, the walk was a tremendous success.

About 100 people started the walk, almost as many completed it. About $15,000 is estimated in pledges.

In order to do a dozen student workers and several members of the Rotary Club for manning checkpoints along the walk-a-thon route. Also, special thanks go to the band, Northern Comfort, who generously donated their time to play for the walkers. They have a unique sound and impressive variety of music.

In order to speed up the return of pledge money, there will be a special showing of the movie "Woodstock." It will be Monday, June 16, at the U.A. Theater. It will be free for all walkers, with the sponsor sheets and pledge money being distributed to walkers. Free popcorn will be given out to a lucky walker in attendance whose name is picked from a hat.

Overall, the Walk-A-Thon was a tremendous success, and the organizers are grateful to all Manchester students and the cooperation of the High School Administration.

Thanks to everyone who walked and a member of the International Thespians Society, Alan Girelli.

Scholarships Awarded

Manchester High School seniors George Sweetnam and Jonathan Adams have been selected to receive college scholarships from United Technologies.

They will be granted $2,000 each year during their four years of study in college.

These scholarships were awarded to children of Connecticut workers who are presently employed with United Technologies. A board of college admissions officers not affiliated with United Technologies chose the students.

Sweetnam is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Sweetnam, 198 Hollister St. He is planning to attend Harvard where he will devote his studies to environmental science and journalism. George has already received $1,000 toward his college education from the national merit scholarship foundation.

As far as school activities are concerned, George's present program is currently lacking. He is president of the High School World, president of the Baskin drama club, and a member of the International Thespians Society, the American Field Service, and the Round Table Singers. Sock 'n Baskin, the High School Word, and the National Honor Society are currently inactive. His hobbies include hiking, camping, biking, kung fu, and photography. He uses his vocal talents to sing with Nifty Fitzgibbon, a popular nostalgic rock group here in town.

As a senior at MHS, Jon is a member of the Somerset staff, the Round Table Singers, Sock 'n Baskin, the High School Word, and the National Honor Society. He has received several awards, including a letterman's award for his participation in the program. He is currently a member of the Baskin drama club, and a member of the International Thespians Society, the American Field Service, and the Round Table Singers. Sock 'n Baskin, the High School Word, and the National Honor Society are currently inactive. His hobbies include hiking, camping, biking, kung fu, and photography. ## Students Visit West Point

On May 29, the history department conducted a field trip to Hyde Park and West Point. About 70 students left MHS at 7 a.m. for the ride to Hyde Park.

The first place visited was the Vanderbilt Mansion. Former home of the famous financier, the Vanderbilt Mansion is situated on 211 acres bordering the Hudson River. It is surrounded by many quaint buildings which at some time were the homes of his employees, but some are now private residences. The mansion is no longer lived in as it is being exhibited to the public.

The interior of the mansion is an amazing array of marble staircases and spacious rooms filled with priceless antiques. No less beautiful are the grounds that surround the buildings. Many different types of trees shade the well-kept lawns. A short film on the history of the mansion was shown after all had toured the mansion and explored some of the grounds.

Next on the itinerary was the Franklin D. Roosevelt Summer White House and Museum. The group visited the grave of FDR and his wife, and his stables where he raised several prize-winning horses. Then the group went through rooms of the house seeing his study, the presidential den, and noticing his particular trademark of walls totally covered with pictures.

Following a short respite at Howard Johnsons, we left for buildings which at some time were the homes of his employees, but some are now private residences. The mansion is no longer lived in as it is being exhibited to the public.

Also, Laurence H. Freheit, secretary, Walter R. "Ty" Holland, treasurer, Robert Schubert, base steward, Earl McGowan, ladder steward, and Elmer Vennart, trustee for two years.

Nurses Sought For Day Camp

Registered nurses are being sought to volunteer for duty at Camp Kennedy this season.

Camp director Harry Smith asks that nurses contact the Rec Department office at Garden Grove Rd. and leave their names and two choices of days they could be available. They will check campers each morning.

Two more volunteer counselors have been added to the staff. They are Diane Genovese and Jacquelyn Hedlund.

A Message From 'Oldie'

This issue marks the first week of total responsibility by the new editors of the High School World.

It is a tradition for the new editors to put out the last regular issues of the school year so that they can get started and get in some experience while they still have a chance to get expert advice from the last set of editors.

Another reason for transferring the responsibility to the new editors is that the senior editors are gradually becoming more and more lazy as they reach the end of their 13 years of public education, while the ambitious underclassmen are anxious to see the reins of power from the faltering hands of the seniors.

The senior editors will only surface one more time when they put out a special two-page effort known as the Senior Edition.

This article is being written for the new staff as they look ahead to their "Tuesday Crunch." The phrase is HSW parlance for "Tuesday" or "no typing and layout on Friday." Next year's editors were chosen out of a fairly large pool of applicants. All had at least some experience in working on the paper before being picked. They now have about 30 issues to look forward to putting out. They will handle about 400 articles and 80 pictures before they're through. It will only be a very few exceptional photos or articles that you will remember, but there will be many others that will interest and influence you without your remembering them.

Putting out the World for the year is a real challenge, which can be both satisfying and edifying. We oldies wish the newbies the best of luck.

GARDENING

By-FRANK ATWOOD

Both Gunther Winkler and his wife, Helen, love rhododendrons, and the home they built in Bolton 13 years ago is surrounded by the plants. When they lived earlier in New York State their rhododendrons did poorly in Bolton, where the soil is acid and where shade is provided by tall trees, they do splendidly. The Winklers estimate they have 2,000 plants, large and small.

Pops Concert, Art Sale Tonight

The vocal ensemble will sing "Let Me Be the One," "Never Can Say Goodbye," and "Funny Valentine."

Both groups are under the direction of Nicholas Lesbines.

Change Union

South Windsor Police have agreed in a vote to drop the International Brotherhood of Police Officers Local 351 (IBPO) and join the Civil Service Employees Association (CSEA).

The one vote against the change came from one police officer who voted against any union.

It is expected that now that the change has come, negotiations over police contracts, which expire at the end of the month, will resume.

A tax refund is not a gift. It was your money to begin with.

Now invest those dollars in nature's gifts.

When you add green, growing beauty to your surroundings — a tree, shrub, flowering — you make an investment that keeps paying off big dividends for years to come.

You add to the actual value of your property (studies have shown that smart landscaping adds something like 10% if the house is sold). But you do so much more. Put trees in the right places and you make your hot days cooler, cold seasons warmer. That's good for you, and it helps save cooling or heating energy at the same time — and that saves money.

Whatever of nature's green gifts you add to your outdoor living, you help clean the air, muffle noise, restore beauty that we need for our peace of mind. It's all a part of survival in a contaminated world. Green Survival. And it depends on you.

Sullivan Slams Pair of Home Runs As Indians Tounce Newington, 13-3

By Len Auster

Credentials for home run prowess belonged to Newington High, having hit 19 during the season, but it was Manchester High which showed its muscle yesterday at rain-drenched Kelley Field.

Ray Sullivan Connects on First of Two Homers

The Silk Towners clubbed three homers, two solo shots by Ray Sullivan, to tounce the visiting 23rd-ranked Indians, 13-3, in the playdown round of the CIAC State Baseball Tournament in the Class AA Division.

The game was called because of rain in the bottom half of the eighth inning with Newington batting.

Yesterday's playdown result reverting back to the last full inning completed.

Newington, which winds 14 overall, took a quick 2-0 lead in the bottom of the first. Lead off hitter Jim Mayfield tripled to left centerfield and came home from losing hurler Rick Vogel, 4-4. After John Tasillo fanned, left hitting Rick Nicola lofted an easy pop near third. But star baseman Bob Valen couldn't find it in the overcast sky.

Sullivan, Anthony, Nicola and Koepsel each had two of Manchester's 12 hits with the latter leading the way with four RBIs.

The locals took the lead in the third as Sullivan drilled his first roundtripper down the leftfield stripe and in-

One Major League Club Seen on Coast in 1975

NEW YORK (UPI) — Prediction: Only one major league baseball club will operate in the San Francisco-Oakland area next year and it may be one of the most solid bids Horace Stoneham has received for his Giants is a certified $18 million offer by a leading business firm in Tokyo.

He announced he has taken down the "for sale" sign but the significant part of the announcement is that it merely applies for the balance of this year.

The Giants will be sold at the end of this season and the possibility exists they could become the first Japanese-owned major league club in baseball history.

One of the differences Catfish Hunter notices between Bill Virdon, his present manager with the Yankees, and Alvin Dark, his old one with the A's, is the length of time before a ball game each posts his lineup.

Frankly, that was the hard selling point we ever had."

Seaver, Kingman Combine Talents

NEW YORK (UPI) — Only a year ago Tom Seaver of the New York Mets was a confused pitcher standing at the crossroads of his career.

Today he is a star again—a "thinking man's pitcher" who mixed his pitches instead of trying to throw smoke past hitters.

A three-time 20-game winner and two-time Cy Young Award-winner during seven previous seasons with the Mets, Seaver had a 3.5 record at this stage of the 1974 season.

The Chicago Cubs defeated the San Francisco Giants, 8-4, in the other National League game. In the American League, he New York Yankees beat the Minnesota Twins, 7-4, in 11 innings, and the California Angels topped Detroit Tigers, 8-3, Texas at Baltimore was rained out.

"I can still reach back for the fast ball," said Seaver Thursday after pitching a six-hitter that gave the Mets a 2-1 victory over the Houston Astros. "But I've learned I can't overpower the hitters in any situation—I have to mix up my pitches."

The Mets snapped a 1-1 tie in the eighth inning when Dave Kingman singled with the bases filled to score of Felix Millan, who opened the inning with a single. He was Kingman's third game-winning hit in the last four games. Tom Griffin, who went the distance for the Astros, suffered his sixth loss against two wins.

But all that is in the past. Adjusting to the fact that he no longer has the overpowering fast ball that he once had, Seaver now mixes his wide variety of stuff with outstanding control. The result is that he has an 8.4 mark this season—especially significant since he didn't win his eighth game of an 11-1 season in 1974 until Aug. 29.

Manchesters Mr. Baseball

ANAHEIM (UPI) — Nolan Ryan will receive a $3,000 bonus for pitching his fourth career no-hitter Sunday, California Angels General Manager Harry Dalton said Friday night.

He pitched his first no-hitter in 1973 and a $2,000 bonus for recording his one in 1974.

It might not mean so much if we were on the road but with a chance to do it at home, I'll definitely be thinking about it."

It's not that I'll be trying to overpower every hitter but I'll try to make sure that if I lose the no-hitter, I lose it with my pitch. And not the hitter's pitch."

Walker Cuppers Led by Siderowf

HOYLAK, England (UPI) — Three Americans, led by 1973 champion Dick Siderowf, sought places today in the finals of the 80th British Amateur golf championship. Only one of them had a chance to make it.

The draw bracketed Siderowf and his U.S. Walker Cup teammates John Grace and Jimmie Giles in the same group, so only one could emerge for Saturday's 36-hole match play final over Royal Liverpool's 6,979-yard, par-72 seaside course.

Either Mark James or Geoff Marks, both British Walker Cup stars, was likely to go through to the last round from the other group.

The day's best match could come in a morning showdown between Siderowf, who won at Portcawth two years ago, and Grace, the jaunty Fort Worth, Tex., real estate agent.

"This is a hard way to reach any final," said Siderowf, 38, of Westport, Conn. "First I get Grace and then I have Giles to look forward to."

Ray Floyd (UPI) — After last year's Kemper Open, stars, was likely to go through to the last round from the other group.

Floyd, 32, picked up birdies on each of the four par-5 holes on the Quail Hollow Country Club course and fired a 7-under 65 Thursday to take a two-stroke lead into today's second round of the $250,000 Kemper Open.

Tucker to Wesleyan

Former Manchester High and Manchester Community College basketball star Tom Tucker will attend Wesleyan University in Middletown in the fall.

Tucker, who scored 655 career points in two years at MCC, said that he was impressed with the school and its high academic standing.

"Wesleyan is a superb school," said Tucker. "I hope to continue playing basketball there." Wesleyan basketball coach Herb Kenny added, "We're glad to have him. He will be a welcome addition to our program."

In addition to his 16.8 scoring average this year, Tucker set a new record for free throw percentage, hitting 82.9 per cent for his career. Tucker averaged 44.9 per cent from the field and committed just 2.3 turnovers a game.

"Tom has made tremendous progress in his two years here," summed up MCC Athletic Director Pat Mistretta. "He will succeed both academically and athletically at Wesleyan."

Tucker is a D.C. List student and graduated with honors from MCC. He also served as the senior vice-president on the Student Senate during the past year.

O'Brien Punishes Knicks and Hawks

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Newly appointed NBA Commissioner Larry O'Brien has established himself as a hard-line administrator by punishing the New York Knicks and the Atlanta Hawks for their attempts to land a pair of ABA superstars.

In only his fifth day on the job, O'Brien remarked Thursday upon being told he must pay the $400,000 immediately. "I didn't bring my checkbook."

O'Brien said he was not clear whether the prospective new owners of the Hawks, the family of Simon Selig Jr., will be liable for payment.

"As of this moment, we haven't had a chance to discuss it with our attorneys," said Selig in Atlanta. "I'm not in a position right now to make any comment."

McGinnis starred for the Indiana Pacers for the past four seasons. New York did not have the draft rights to him because he left the University of Indiana after his sophomore year and still plays in the ABA.

The Philadelphia 76ers bid signed a reported $2 million contract with New York.

He also made the Knicks forfeit next year's first-draft choice as punishment.

In the Erving case, an NBA spokesman said the Hawks would have to pay $250,000 to the league and $150,000 to the Milwaukee Bucks, who own the draft rights to the 6'7 Erving, considered possibly the top forward in basketball.

Erving has been playing under a two-year contract with the ABA's New York Jets. The Bucks will receive Atlanta's two second-round choices in the 1976 draft.

O'Brien said the McGinnis decision that under NBA by-laws, it was the only decision he could make.

"If violations of the rules were permitted," said O'Brien, "then it would be the same as if there were no rules at all. This would, of course, threaten the structure and very existence of the league."

The huge fine against Atlanta might threaten the very
