Belgian Government Faces Vote Test Over Selection of F16 Jet Fighter

BRUSSELS (UPI) - The Belgian coalition government of Prime Minister Leo Tindemans today faced a vote of confidence in parliment because of its choice of an American jet fighter over the French

Lucien Outers, secretary general of the French Speakers Front, an opposition party representing the French-speaking half of this nation, said he would call for such a vote Tuesday.

Tindemans has drawn criticism from the Walloon Front, a small party representing French-speaking Belgians France following his cabinet's selection Saturday of the General Dynamics F16 jet fighter over the French Mirage for its air

The choice seals the purchase of 334 F16s for $2 billion by a consortium of Belgium, Norway, Denmark and The Netherlands to replace their F104 Star-

The Walloon Front executive over the weekend reaffirmed its veto of any plane solution that was "not European."

The party's 13 parliament members were meeting today to decide how to vote in the action.

The Walloon Front usually votes together in Parliament with the 12 members of the French Speakers Front, although the French Speakers are part of the opposition.

One of the four Walloon cabinet members - Institutional Reform Minister Francois Perin - vowed to resign if his parliamentary colleagues voted against the government.

If the Walloon Front's ministers resign, Tindemans would be faced with the choice of running a minority government or stepping down with the rest of the cabinet. The Walloon Front and an allied party have 25 members in the 212-seat parliament. There are 85 opposition legislators

German Train Collision Toll at Least 36 Dead

WARNGAU, West Germany (UPI) -Rescue teams using acetylene torches cut through the wreckage of two passenger trains today in a search for victims trapped in twisted metal and shattered

Officials said they were having difficulty in establishing the exact number of persons killed because mangld bodies were still being found in the wreckage.

Police revised the death toll to 36 with 86 injured, lower than the death toll of 42 they had reported earlier. Many of the injured were reported in critical condition. One hundred policemen, 250 firemen, 200 first aid workers and more than 20 doctors worked through the night with the help of giant electric lights.

The two trains, one nearly empty but the other packed with tourists, collided Sunday evening on a single-track railroad line 200 yards south of Warngau station in the Bavarian Alps.

It was the second worst rail disaster in West Germany. Forty-six persons, including 41 children, were killed in 1971 in the worst accident.

One train, coming from the mountain resort of Bad Toelz, was packed with travelers taking advantage of warm and sunny weekend weather. The other train, coming from the town of Holzkirchen, was nearly empty.

Police said the trains apparently collided at high speed and the two locomotives were "virtually glued together into one." The first car of the train from Bad Toelz was demolished.

A police spokesman said the search teams now were looking for victims left in the wrecked second car of the train from

A railroad official said the train from Holzkirchen apparently left the Warngau station ahead of schedule. He said the train should have stayed at the station until the one from Bad Toelz passed through.

Hundreds of cars carrying weekend travelers blocked ambulances, fire engines and other rescue vehicles trying to get to the site of the crash, forcing police to clear nearby roads. Witnesses described the accident site as a "scene of horror." Smashed doors, splinters from shattered windows, wooden fragments and pools of blood littered the area.

Rockefeller CIA Report Release Expected Tonight

WASHINGTON (UPI) - Five months after President Ford asked Vice President Nelson Rockefeller to head an investigation into U.S. intelligence agencies, the uproar over the final product is almost as loud as the one that created the probe.

Ford will hold a nationally televised news conference at 7:30 p.m. EDT tonight, and he was expected to announce he will release the 350-page Rockefeller commission report but withhold from the public an accompanying report on allegations the Central Intelligence Agency was involved in plots to assassinate foreign leaders.

White House sources said Ford will turn over the commission's findings on the assassination question to the Senate committee investigating the CIA, headed by Sen. Frank Church, D-Idaho.

Ford got the report Friday. Despite an earlier statement from Rockefeller it would be released to the public Sunday, the White House decided to keep it under wraps, not saying if or when it would be

But Ford aides said during the weekend it would be released, but without the sensitive material on alleged CIA plots to kill foreign leaders, which the panel did not complete.

Attempting to clarify the confusion, White House sources said Ford had always intended to release it but was offended when commission officials took the lead in announcing an exact release time.

They said Ford felt he was being pre-empted by lesser officials and decided to assert his right to control the situation, providing himself time to read and digest the report before making it public in orderly fashion.

White House aides have been saying one reason for not publicizing the evidence about CIA plots was that Ford did not want to be the President to blow the whistle on

The Rockefeller commission was set up Jan. 5 in response to allegations the CIA violated the law by spying on domestic antiwar dissidents.

But last month Ford said the panel also would look into reports the CIA may have been involved in plots to kill foreign leaders, such as Cuba's Fidel Castro and the late Francois "Papa Doc" Duvalier of Haiti, Rafael Trujillo of the Dominican Republic and Patrice Lumumba of the

Morton Says Oil Tarriffs May Drop If OPEC Increases Petroleum Prices

WASHINGTON (UPI) - Commerce Secretary Rogers C.B. Morton said today if exporting countries hike the price of oil this fall, the administration should consider removing the tariff on imported oil. Morton said that if the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries increases the price of oil again "I'd like to look at it (the tariff) and make a recommendation to the President that we take it off."

"It's a thing you have to constantly look at and monitor," Morton said at a breakfast meeting with newsmen. Morton is also chairman of the Energy Resources Council which completed a weekend meeting at Camp David Sunday. Morton said the purpose of the tariff raised to $2 a barrel by President Ford last month, was to bring about conservation and to "get the Congress moving."

He said to leave it intact if OPEC raise prices more "might be self defeating" pecause the price would become so prohibitive people would look to other souces of energy.

The Shah of Iran has been quoted as saying that OPEC nations will probably increase oil prices by at least another $2 a barrel this fall. There have been reports that the cost may jump by as much as $4

Morton said his views on the tariff were "You would not want to lower the his own and not discussed at the Camp tariff...and simply transfer those revenues to the OPEC countries," he said. David meeting "The tariff is a darn good thing," he

Oil-Producing Nations Open Policy Sessions

Word on Loyalty Oath

LIBREVILLE, Gabon (UPI) - The oilproducing nations opened a major policymaking meeting today with a threat to tie oil prices to world inflation or to stop quoting these prices in dollars.

Gabon President Albert-Bernard Bongo keynoted the meeting of ministers of the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Counties by accusing the west of undermining OPEC's new wealth through inflation and a falling dollar. Gabon is one of OPEC's newest and smallest members and this palm-shaded West African capital put on a rhythmic, hand-clapping show of African singers and drummers to open the first meeting that the cartel has held here.

"It would be possible to decide the pegging of petroleum prices and to post our prices in a suitable unit of accounting," Bongo said.

-A proposal to "index" oil prices by linking them to the rate of inflation of the prices of goods which OPEC countries import from the West. OPEC claims this inflation is some 35 per cent per year. "These measures would be capable of largely protecting the development of our countries against the running inflation of the Western economies," Bongo said. The Gabonese leader's speech seemed to set the stage for an OPEC attempt either to circumvent the price freeze now or arrange for new price hikes in September.

The need to protect OPEC's funds from inflation and the dollar's problems dominated most conversations here.

Court Rules Jobless Parent Has Option on Benefits

WASHINGTON (UPI) - The Supreme Court ruled unanimously today that an unemployed parent has the option of receiving either unemployment compensation or welfare - the latter being higher in most states.

Justice William H. Rehnquist said that under amendments to federal welfare laws approved in 1968, jobless parents cannot be forced to accept unemployment compensation rather than welfare. He said that if Congress and the states, which share in financing welfare costs, want to force a parent to exhaust his unemployment benefits, they must join in changing the federal law. The Court affirmed the ruling of a three-judge federal court in a Vermont case. The state had argued that since unemployment compensation is paid for by employers based on an employe's service, it should be exhausted before benefits can be obtained through tax funds financing welfare services.

The Department of Health, Education and Welfare joined Vermont in asking the justices to reverse the lower court, which had determined the federal law permitted a parent the option of taking either unemployment or Aid for Dependent Children welfare

Ford's Popularity Up Sharply in May

WASHINGTON (UPI) - President Ford's popularity increased significantly in May, giving him a small edge over Democratic Sen. Edward M. Kennedy in the 1976 presidential race, according to a new Harris survey.

The survey showed that Ford for the first time since May 1974 has a chance of defeating Kennedy, the Democrats' strongest candidate according to the poll. Kennedy has continuously said he will not be a candidate for president.

Ford, who was trailing Kennedy 50-43 per cent in April, registered a 48-46 per cent edge in the survey in May.

Wyman defeated Durkin, a former state insurance commissioner, by 355 votes Nov. 5. An official recount gave the victory to Durkin.

Wyman asked a Republican-dominated commission to review the dispute. A ballot review board stripped Durkin of a 10-vote edge and gave the victory to Wyman by two votes.

Durkin appealed to the Senate in a complaint that resulted in barring either man from taking the seat.

The dispute came back on the Senate floor because a Rules Committee review deadlocked on 35 issues, including the validity of 27 ballots. Conservative Sen. James B. Allen, D-

Calvin Rampton of Utah, that he could not support Wallace because the Alabaman's health was not up to the rigors of the presidency or vice presidency, the wheelchair-bound governor said, "If I decide to run, it's because I feel well enough to run.'

Wallace did not say he would abide by the party's decision next year on a nominee and in fact added: "There are a lot of people I can't support either."

He said the Democrats who have been attacking him recently were old opponents but his appeal was going to be to the "people" anyway.

F16 fighter planes because their engines will be built here. Pratt and Whitney, a division of United Technologies Corp., will be the prime contractor for manufacturing the F100 engines. Most of the engine work will be done at Pratt and Whitney's East Hartford plant. Bruce N. Torrell said in a weekend statement that Belgium's decision to buy the F16 will stabilize his firm's work force into the 1980s. My nephew, John Proctor, who is 13 years old, participated in this "Walk-A-Thon" and walked 8 of the 19 miles. This may not seem much compared to the others, but the fact that he wears braces

United States League of Savings Associations - "and the cost of attracting savings has been going up steadily ever since inflation took off in 1966." Since 1966, there have been six increases of one kind or another in savings-rate ceilings, which are set by federal regulatory agencies. In that year, the passbook rate ceiling was 4.75 per cent; it is now 5.25 per cent. But savings certificates are the predominant form of savings today, and the most recent increase, authorized late in 1974, allows savings institutions to issue certificates for six years or more at a new high rate of 7.75 per cent per year.

"Obviously," says Bowles, there can't be any return to the "good old days" of 6 or 7 per cent home loans so long as savings rates continue to rise.

Disputed Double Helps Stop Red Sox String

BOSTON (UPI) - Everyone in Fenway Park agreed Boston's Bernie Carbo got his glove on a ninth-inning liner by Minnesota's line drive but what happened next is open

The 18,301 partisan fans agreed with Carbo and his Red Sox teammates that the ball went straight up in the air and came down in the left-fielder's glove. Second base umpire Jerry Neudecker, however, said the ball touched the wall in between meetings with Carbo's glove and he credited Hisle with a hit.

The disputed double, coming at a time when the score was 1-1, paved the way for six Minnesota runs in the ninth

Boston manager Darrell Johnson was ejected for arguing the call and Carbo, center-fielder Fred Lynn and third base coach Don Zimmer became embroiled in a shouting match with the umpire after the game.

Yet Neudecker, who was involved in a bumping incident last month with Cleveland manager Frank Robinson, was convinced he was right. "There is no question in my mind the ball hit Carbo's glove, hit the wall, then came back down. That is no catch. It was so clear cut I'm amazed Johnson came out to argue. There's no question in my mind it was not a catch.'

Carbo was equally certain he had made a legal catch. "No way that ball hit the wall. I jump up, my body hits the wall, the ball drops off the heel of my glove and I catch it

"Look, if the ball went off the wall, I wouldn't have stood there and argued. I would have thrown the ball into second base to try and get the runner." Minnesota players were understandably tight-lipped on the call. Manager Frank Quilici said he "didn't really see the play well from where I was" in the third base dugout. The Twins manager added cryptically, "I'll tell you what, there have been some injustices the past week." Boston center-fielder Fred Lynn, a usually quiet type, explained heatedly that he had an excellent view of the play. "I was about 20 feet away and it was obvious that the all didn't hit the wall."

Lynn, told the television replay seemed to bear out his version of the incident, added, "We don't have to see any replay. We were right on top of it. If the umpire had gotten his butt out there in position, maybe he wouldn't have called it that way."

Johnson, barely in control of his anger, said, "I've got eyes and you've got eyes and we both saw the umpire boot that call. That's all I've got to say about that." "The bad thing is," Johnson said, "there isn't a thing you can do about it except scream, holler and give yourself a

With Fast-Talking Texas Manager Billy Martin

NEW YORK (UPI) - There may not be many home runs left in his bat, but Joe Torre is still one of the most dangerous hitters in baseball. The Atlanta Braves can vouch for that today. The 35-year-old Torre, who broke in with the Braves 16 years ago, collected four hits in six at-bats and drove in three runs Sunday to lead the New York Mets to a 14-inning, 7-6 triumph over the Braves. Yet, ironically, it was a ball that Torre did not hit safely that caused Atlanta the most grief.

That came in the 14th inning after Millan had led off with a bloop single. Torre hit a high windblown fly toward rightcenterfield which centerfielder Clarence Gaston dropped for a twobase error, allowing Millan to reach
