The exact cause of death has not been given. The body was taken today to the University of Connecticut Health Center in Farmington for a post mortem, a hospital official said.

ZBA Denies Bid To Split Home Lot

A High St. property owner's request to divide his lot and build another house was denied Monday night by Manchester's Zoning Board of Appeals (ZBA).

ZBA members decided there was no legal hardship proven, other than financial, after three neighbors opposed the application by John and Mary Lenowicz of 15 High St.

Lenowicz told the ZBA in a short public hearing that he wanted to divide his oversized house lot into two lots, but the two proposed lots would be smaller than required.

Opponents said lots in the Residence B Zone area are already too small and the streets are too narrow.

The ZBA's vote for denial was unanimous after Lenowicz admitted he had no legal hardship relating to his land.

In other business Monday night, the ZBA granted a five-year extension of permission for the Savings Bank of Manchester to maintain a sign on Parkway Court, property near Interstate 84.

The ZBA didn't consider a billboard sign application by Rhodes Dining Inc. of Spencer St. because the applicant didn't show up for the public hearing.

Boys Have Much in Common Including Tragic Illnesses

By MAL BARLOW
Two Manchester boys share a great deal in common, including the same tragedy.

Scott Chapman, 7, of 23 Oak St. is a student at Nathan Hale School in Unit B. Mark Tilton is his main teacher.

Both boys have brain tumors which have damaged them, especially their eyes. Both boys were diagnosed at about the same time; roughly this winter and early spring.

Both boys have undergone extensive surgery without completely satisfactory results.

And both boys are still in their respective hospitals. They are being given, or will soon be given, radiation treatments.

His Head Hurt
Scott was a friendly, polite boy in Unit B earlier this year, Tilton said.

Ford Promises Business Relief from Red Tape

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Ford, asserting his strong belief in the free enterprise system, promised today to release small business "from the shackles of federal red tape" and unfair regulations.

In a speech prepared for the National Federation of Independent Business conference, Ford said he would eliminate business regulations that are unnecessary, unfair and needless.

"Some indicators will continue to be used in public remarks they record only what is past," he said.

He said businessmen, watching the "fantastic pace" of government spending, "foresee an end to individual initiative in American life, a government turned into an instrument of philanthropic collectivism."

He decried collectivism, a term he has used before in public remarks.

A responsible society must help certain individuals do what they cannot achieve alone, Ford said.

He said the district directors indicated Monday night "will consider" a petition from Buckland area property owners for the district fire service.

The request is for fire service only and without a vote and on the condition legal barriers don't exist or, if they do, can be removed.

OPINION

Hardline for U.N.

It would be an understatement to say that the United Nations has never fulfilled the hopes and ideals which were expressed at its formation in 1945. Yet it has served some purposes, as it is in supplying the present peacekeeping forces which are supervising the cease-fire agreements between Israel and Egypt and Syria. Membership in the General Assembly has grown tremendously in the last 10 years. Many of the new members are nations which have formed as the result of the breakdown of former colonies.

He also said that he opposed U.N. sanctions against South Africa brought because of its racial policies. Sanctions against South Africa is the work of newly formed black African states which are protesting its internal racial policies. We think that the American ambassador to the United Nations should take exactly the hard line which Mr. Moynihan has indicated. And if he is backed up by our government, Mr. Moynihan will prove to be an excellent choice for the post. If he is not backed by the U.S. government, we feel sure that he will not serve long.

And in praising Mr. Moynihan's stern approach we do not intend to diminish in anyway the services of John Scali who filled the job well during exceedingly trying time. Approval of Mr. Moynihan's proposed course of action, in the event of expulsion of Israel, is not based on blind support for that country. Rather any such action against Israel can be taken as a direct affront, even impudence, to the United States because it is thoroughly understood by those urging it that we have been the great national bulwark to the continued existence of the Jewish nation.

Many of the new members of the General Assembly are governed by quickly formed military dictatorships which supplanted their colonial rule. They have in no sense achieved the liberty which the people may have hoped for. Two things contribute most to the trauma — the Rockefeller Commission report about "Operation Chaos" directed against external enemies but against Americans, and the assassination stuff, which President Ford has turned over to the congressional committees to complete — the latter even more so than the first.

When questioned by the Senate Foreign Relations Committee as to what American reaction should be in case the United Nations expels Israel, as has been proposed by Third World nations, he replied that we should cut off our participation in the General Assembly.

Robert Burns said it, and it seems to get truer every day. "The best laid schemes 'o' mice and men, Gang aft a-gley." We have in mind the cost-of-living increase, which was created with the best of humanitarian motives, and now is almost universal from the federal government through almost all echelons of business.

The idea of a cost-of-living increase in salaries and wage contracts was, on its face, a very worthy one. When living costs have risen the worker, it was thought, should be paid more so that he can maintain the same standard of living which he did before the increase in prices.

Something Went Wrong

Of course cost-of-living increase for the governmental worker comes from the pocket of the taxpayer. And hence his cost of living rises. In business or industry this type of increase ignores the old criterion of productivity. When a cost-of-living increase is made in salaries, or wage contracts, the price of the goods or services which are sold must rise, just as it does when a basic raw material goes up in price. So the people who are buying the goods or services find that their cost of living has risen, and that they need an increase in their income to keep up.

When workers in the whatsa-madoodle industry get a cost-of-living increase it goes without saying that the rest of the people will pay more for whatsa-madoodles. So they all have to get cost-of-living increases, too, and no one is better off for it but some are much worse off. People living on fixed incomes suffer, even though there have been attempts to bring Social Security and other pensions up by comparable increases. The person living on savings or invested money is damaged very badly by the continually rising price of everything and he has no cost-of-living increase to fall back on. Before the days of sociological economics the maker of whatsa-madoodles would have been very wary about raising his wages and hence his prices. He would have known that if he went too far with it that he could price himself out of the market.

However, he has little to fear under the present system, since the people who buy his product will get cost-of-living increases and he knows it. So, why not raise prices to try to stay ahead of the game? If a manufacturer's prices got too high, it used to be that his sales suffered and his business went down hill. His alternative was to use better production methods and to get his workers to be more efficient and productive. When that was achieved he could reduce his prices to where his goods were saleable.

Under the almost automatic increase system there is little incentive to greater productivity or development of ingenuity to production methods. Wages will rise to catch up to his prices. But the cost of goods that he and his employees buy will also rise.

So the cycle continues, very much like a dog chasing his tail and imagining that he is making great progress because he is going at a dizzy pace.

Today's THOUGHT
What is The World of the Lord? We can think of lots of answers to this question. It is the British put the colonials to flight at Bunker Hill, the first pitched battle of the American Revolution, but suffered 1,054 casualties from the landing force of 2,400. American losses were 100 dead, 267 wounded, 30 taken prisoner. Among the slain was Dr. Joseph Warren, president of the Massachusetts Convention.

CIA — Mask And Face

NEW YORK — Americans seem surprised by the CIA revelations but what did we expect? We are a nation of spy-story addicts, and we know the dirty tricks perpetrated in every political suspense novel. Yet when we learn some of the actual workings of an actual secret intelligence agency we are as shocked as if we had learned against a pillar and found the whole house come crashing down on us. We are a nation of innocents who—at least in the fiction we read—have learned to live with the worst in our fantasies but are startled when they come to life.

Two things contribute most to the trauma — the Rockefeller Commission report about "Operation Chaos" directed against external enemies but against Americans, and the assassination stuff, which President Ford has turned over to the congressional committees to complete — the latter even more so than the first. Long ago, in my young days, I was a junior editor on the Encyclopedia of the Social Sciences. We couldn't get an expert to write the article on assassination, so it was assigned to me. I wrote it and duly got a check which my wife blantly resented — she said it was a bribe to take the light off the whitewash charge. The basic problem is simple to state, hard to carry out. It is how to separate intelligence gathering from policy formation, how to establish a close and strong congressional and executive surveillance of the CIA without doing mortal damage to its work in short, how to make intelligence intelligent.

ANDREW TULLY

The Voice Of Reason

WASHINGTON — Instead of fussing around trying to increase fringe benefits and other supposed handouts for members of Congress, maybe the Democrats should heed the voice of reason raised by Wendell Anderson of Minnesota, outgoing chairman of the Democratic Governors' Association. Then there is the "problem" of Gov. George C. Wallace of Alabama. New Orleans showed again that the Democrats just don't know what to do about a potential Presidential candidate who is sure to go to next year's party convention with a huge bloc of candidates.

Durkin-Wyman Dispute

By Matt Pinkus

WASHINGTON — Dusting off its magnifying glasses, the Senate has turned from major debates on defense and foreign policy to trying to settle a dispute over the closest election in its history. Congressional Republicans are hardly a rarity. Since 1913, when popular elections to the Senate began, it has considered more than two dozen contests. Among the issues involved have been fraud, excessive campaign spending, miscounting of ballots, election law violations and moral turpitude. Some of these cases have taken years to resolve.

Only One Reversal
In only one previous case has a recount changed the outcome of a Senate race. Sen. Smith Brookhart, an Iowa Republican, took office after winning the 1924 election by 78 votes. But his victory margin disappeared after a Senate-ordered recount made Democrat Daniel F. Steck the winner.

Downer was arrested on a black jack blow to the head. Patrolmen Donald Wright and Roy Abbe assisted Benson. At headquarters, Downer struggled as he was put in a cell. He cut his head badly on a cell block door. At the emergency room of Manchester Memorial Hospital, he caused another disturbance and was subdued again. Back at the cell block, Downer ripped off his bandages. Downer was being held this morning on $1,000 surety bond for appearance in Common Pleas Court 12 in East Hartford today.

Two Would Terminate Dog Pound Contract

BOLTON
Bill Grey and Willard Webber of Yankee Kennels Monday night asked the Board of Selectmen to terminate their contract for the use of the town's dog pound. In a prepared statement, they said the fault would be their own. "This general public attitude is not commensurate with the philosophy of dealing with animals," Yankee Kennels said. "The owners suggested the town maintain a separate facility or share a pound with another municipality. The kennel owners would like the present contract terminated in 30 days. In checking the dog pound budget, the selectmen learned there is enough money to build a kennel. Now all they have to do is locate an area where it can be built."

Interfaith Celebration Opens East Hartford Festival Week

Sheila Tuller, East Hartford's annual Town Festival Week began Sunday with an interfaith celebration of the American Bicentennial.

Members of many East Hartford churches met on Meetinghouse Green at Main and Pitkin Sts., where a very large rock stands firmly. On the rock, a plaque notes that the first worship services in East Hartford were held at this spot.

The small island between the two streets has been reclaimed by the DAR to preserve that part of the town's history.

The Rev. James Nock of St. Mary's Roman Catholic Church, opened the service there, reading Psalm 90.

Life Deacon Raymond Brewer of the First Congregational Church led those assembled in a litany of the invocation prayer.

Residents will be asked to approve an appropriation of $120,000 for the purchase of the E.J. Holi estate and about $15,000 for additional police protection.

The Board of Selectmen is calling a Town Meeting June 30 to consider the requests. It will begin at 8 p.m. at the Town Hall.

The E.J. Holi estate consists of 27.8 acres of land along Tolland Rd. and Lywood Dr. There is frontage on Bolton Lake.

It is presently owned by Nature Conservancy of Connecticut, Inc.

The selectmen expect to receive a formal notice that the property is for sale sometime this week.

Of the amount needed to purchase the property, $57,500 will be reimbursed through a federal grant from the bureau of reclamation. State funding is expected to cost between $12,000 to $14,000 initially.

The constabulary force is expected to cost between $15,000 to $16,000 annually with an initial investment of $6,100 for a police cruiser and a radio.

The constabulary force will provide the town with an additional 74 hours a week of coverage. They would work under the present resident trooper.

The funding would include training.

The vote on the first request was Mrs. Janis Prell, Mrs. Louise Bourrett and Robert Owens in favor, and Mrs. Nancy Foote, Mrs. Patricia Mullen, Mrs. Betty Mastrandrea, and Edward Williams opposed the request.

David White, principal of Hebron Elementary School, was opposed to the request, while Ralph Succuzzo, principal of the Gilead Hill Elementary School said that he was in favor of it.

Dr. David Cattanauch, superintendent of school said he was opposed and that he had already told the teachers so.

Surplus

Dr. Cattanauch also told the board that the potential $1,800 budget deficit estimated several months ago has been absorbed by the school board, and should be an anticipated $800 surplus for the current fiscal year.

The board also endorsed the present seventh and eighth grade programs in principle as a desirable approach to junior education with the implementation contingent on costs, should the two grades be returned to the town by the Regional District.

A number of staff appointments were approved by the board for next year.

Patricia Olson has been appointed to a sixth grade position at Gilead, Barbara Keilner to a third grade position at Gilead, and Julia Haver to a second grade position at Hebron.

McCoy Accepts Bicentennial Flag

In what was the first official act of the Vernon Bicentennial Commission, Mayor Frank J. McCoy was presented with a bicentennial flag at special ceremonies Friday at the Northeast School.

The school was presented with an American flag by the local bicentennial commission and the town was presented with the bicentennial flag by the State Bicentennial Commission.

Mayor McCoy told students and others gathered for the observance that, "A flag has been a symbol of unity since ancient times. It has been used in both the most sophisticated civilizations and the most undeveloped nations or group."

The mayor asked those present to dwell on the virtues of the country and its flag. "Let us again, as in the words of the 'Battle Hymn of the Republic,'" rally round the flag as we all begin our bicentennial celebration," he said.

In connection with the ceremony the students at the school made individual room flags and also made smaller flags to pin on themselves.

The students also sang, "You're a Grand Old Flag," "God Bless America," and "The Battle Hymn of the Republic."

Betty Ryder - Women's editors attending the 58th National Press Week at the New York Hilton were treated Monday to fashion presentations by Donald Brooks and Bill Elias. Brooks presented sporty weather coats in new looks, both classic and sporty, with slimmer down silhouette, casual jackets and in the new woolly, herb and spice colors. One of the newest by Brooks is the "sherra" coat, inspired by the Tibetan mountain goat's wool in perimmon canvas lined with fleecy pile. His new nautical look gets a new interpretation in a navy double-breasted pea jacket, as well as a new officers coat. Mady Gerrard, a petite Hungarian designer, has brought a distinctive new dimension to American knits and crochets. She has designed a lighter-than-air dress, almost, that weighs a mere eight ounces and can be folded into a handbag. This is accomplished by a special machine, the only one of its kind in New York. Some of her other distinctions are her extraordinary colors dyed to produce unusual effects such as amber abstracts and stripes. Her collections are made on jackets and in the new woolly, herb and spice colors. Born in Budapest, she learned to knit at the age of five from her great-aunt and was a weaver and a knitter in London and Canada before coming to New York in 1969, where her success was instantaneous. AYH Bike Ride Planned Sunday A 25-mile bike ride will leave from the Mary Cheney Library on Main St. at 1:30 p.m. Sunday, going through South Windsor and back. The ride is open to the public. The American Youth Hostels sponsor the Sunday rides. Joseph Shanahan of Manchester will lead this ride. The ride will be mostly flat, and the majority sets the pace. AYH sponsors a ride leaving the library every Sunday throughout October. On Sunday, June 29, a 55-mile ride to Stratton Brook in Simsbury and back will leave at 8:30 a.m. Steve Pink, leader, suggests riders bring swim suits and lots of lunch. Vincent Ramizi, retiring principal of Buckley School, will be honored at a reception Friday from 7:30 to 9 p.m. in the school cafeteria. The affair is a result of a letter to the Buckley School PTA and the school staff. The public is invited. Ramizi is retiring after 34 1/2 years in education and 25 years as a principal in Manchester. He has been principal of Buckley School since it opened in 1953. He received a B.S. degree from Teachers College in New Britain, now Connecticut Central State College, and a master's degree from New York University. He has also completed course work toward a doctorate at the University of Connecticut. Ramizi taught at elementary schools in Southington and Weston, and served as principal of elementary schools in Southington and as an elementary school supervisor for the state Department of Education before coming to Manchester as principal of Washington School. He has also taught graduate courses at University of Connecticut and Central Connecticut State College. Active in local educational affairs, Ramizi is a life member of the Buckley PTA and has organized and conducted parent groups for the study of children. He also heads the Alumni Association of Central Connecticut State College and is a contributor to state educational magazines. He and his wife, Mrs. Doris Ramizi, a teacher at Waddell Elementary School, live at 220 Greenwood Dr. Eric Gordon, instructor at Manchester Community College, used an open letter to the MCC staff to respond to a letter written about him by Dr. Ronald H. Denison, MCC president. Denison wrote to the staff about Gordon's arrest for disorderly conduct on the night of the MCC commencement June 4. Gordon wore a clown's makeup and streamers on his robes. Police stopped him at the door to the Clarke Arena and removed him from the procession as the commencement began. "President Denison fails to appreciate any of the sense of humor which informed the whole event," Gordon wrote. Gordon said Denison has created "an atmosphere" on the MCC campus in his three months as president which is characterized by "armed bodyguards paid at state taxpayers' expense." Gordon said his actions had no connection to the case of James Gardner, MCC English instructor, whose teaching contract for next fall has not been renewed. Gardner is protesting his loss of position at MCC to the state courts. He ended his letter saying he will defend himself and his rights. He thanked the members of the MCC staff who expressed support and concern for him. Gordon was part of the Brazilian studies program at MCC. The program has been discontinued. He was not disappointed for the coming year.

Harrington Bond Set At $100,000

MERIDEN (UPI) - A former New Hampshire mental patient was ordered held on $100,000 bond after his arraignment Monday on a charge of murdering an elderly widow by dousing her with gasoline and setting her on fire. Mark Harrington, 22, formerly of Suncook, N.H., was appointed a public defender and his case was continued for two weeks. Police said Harrington poured half a gallon of gasoline on Mrs. Bertha "Lillian" Bowen, 71, as she came out of a beauty shop last Friday about noon, then set her on fire and watched the flames briefly before fleeing. She died about 24 hours later at Yale-New Haven Hospital. Harrington was arrested less than a block from the scene of the incident a few hours after it occurred, police said.

Rail Roadbed Funds Called Inadequate

WASHINGTON (UPI) - Current funding for railroad right-of-way improvement is inadequate, says Rep. Stewart B. McKinney, R-Conn., who is seeking passage of a bill to put $2.5 billion into restoring roadbeds. "Efficient mass transit, led by a revitalized rail system, could be one step closer if the necessary funding was allocated for the restoration of the long neglected track beds," he said Monday.

Bloss Offering New Looks In Stormy Weather Coats

Betty Ryder - Women's editors attending the 58th National Press Week at the New York Hilton were treated Monday to fashion presentations by Donald Brooks and Bill Elias. Brooks presented sporty weather coats in new looks, both classic and sporty, with slimmer down silhouette, casual jackets and in the new woolly, herb and spice colors. One of the newest by Brooks is the "sherra" coat, inspired by the Tibetan mountain goat's wool in perimmon canvas lined with fleecy pile. His new nautical look gets a new interpretation in a navy double-breasted pea jacket, as well as a new officers coat. Mady Gerrard, a petite Hungarian designer, has brought a distinctive new dimension to American knits and crochets. She has designed a lighter-than-air dress, almost, that weighs a mere eight ounces and can be folded into a handbag. This is accomplished by a special machine, the only one of its kind in New York. Some of her other distinctions are her extraordinary colors dyed to produce unusual effects such as amber abstracts and stripes. Her collections are made on jackets and in the new woolly, herb and spice colors. Born in Budapest, she learned to knit at the age of five from her great-aunt and was a weaver and a knitter in London and Canada before coming to New York in 1969, where her success was instantaneous. It is entirely fitting that she receive the Woolmark Design award for creative achievement in the women's knit industry in 1974. The Manchester Republican Town Committee will conduct a drawing for a trip to Bermuda for two Thursday at the KofC Home. A social hour starting at 8:30 p.m. will precede the drawing. The event is open to the public. Tickets for the raffle will be available during the social hour until the time of the drawing or from any of the members of the MCC staff who expressed support and concern for him. Other prizes are a portable color TV, two 10-speed bicycles and four pocket-size transistor radios. Roy Thompson, chairman of the raffle, has been assisted by Mary Anne Shaw, Carol Kuehl, Marion Mercer, David Odegaard, Ed Wilson, Biz Swenson and Town Chairman Nathan Agostinelli. Thomas O'Marra is in charge of the social hour. Buckley Staff and PTA Plan to Honor Principal

Vincent Ramizi, retiring principal of Buckley School, will be honored at a reception Friday from 7:30 to 9 p.m. in the school cafeteria. The affair is a result of a letter to the Buckley School PTA and the school staff. The public is invited. Ramizi is retiring after 34 1/2 years in education and 25 years as a principal in Manchester. He has been principal of Buckley School since it opened in 1953. He received a B.S. degree from Teachers College in New Britain, now Connecticut Central State College, and a master's degree from New York University. He has also completed course work toward a doctorate at the University of Connecticut. Ramizi taught at elementary schools in Southington and Weston, and served as principal of elementary schools in Southington and as an elementary school supervisor for the state Department of Education before coming to Manchester as principal of Washington School. He has also taught graduate courses at University of Connecticut and Central Connecticut State College. Active in local educational affairs, Ramizi is a life member of the Buckley PTA and has organized and conducted parent groups for the study of children. He organized and served as program director of the Professional Educators Association of Manchester and is a member of Connecticut and National Education Associations. He also heads the Alumni Association of Central Connecticut State College and is a contributor to state educational magazines. He and his wife, Mrs. Doris Ramizi, a teacher at Waddell Elementary School, live at 220 Greenwood Dr. Eric Gordon, instructor at Manchester Community College, used an open letter to the MCC staff to respond to a letter written about him by Dr. Ronald H. Denison, MCC president. Denison wrote to the staff about Gordon's arrest for disorderly conduct on the night of the MCC commencement June 4. Gordon wore a clown's makeup and streamers on his robes. Police stopped him at the door to the Clarke Arena and removed him from the procession as the commencement began. "President Denison fails to appreciate any of the sense of humor which informed the whole event," Gordon wrote. Gordon said Denison has created "an atmosphere" on the MCC campus in his three months as president which is characterized by "armed bodyguards paid at state taxpayers' expense." Gordon said his actions had no connection to the case of James Gardner, MCC English instructor, whose teaching contract for next fall has not been renewed. Gardner is protesting his loss of position at MCC to the state courts. He ended his letter saying he will defend himself and his rights. He thanked the members of the MCC staff who expressed support and concern for him. Gordon was part of the Brazilian studies program at MCC. The program has been discontinued. He was not disappointed for the coming year.

Dear Abby

DEAR ABBY: Your dictionary definition of "bachelor" is a single man. There are terms that legally define the marital status of a man or woman, and they are the following: A single man or single woman is one who has NEVER been married. An unmarried man or woman is one who is legally married. A widower or widow is one who has lost his or her spouse through death and has not remarried. And in conclusion, let me say that a divorced man who goes around calling himself a "bachelor" should be hauled into court and sued for misrepresenting himself. BROOKS NO NONSENSE DEAR BROOKS: You can haul a man into court, but it won't do you any good unless you can prove damages. DEAR ABBY: My husband and I have been married five years, and we've decided that we do not want any children. My husband had a vasectomy last year. We are happy about it, but the problem is his mother. She is always bugging us about having a baby. (She has grandchildren from another son, so it's not as though we're depriving her of having any.) We just can't tell my mother-in-law about the vasectomy. She's never understood. She keeps asking us what's wrong, whose fault it is, or lots of similar questions. We keep putting her off. My parents know about the vasectomy. They understand and agree that we shouldn't tell his mother. Help us, Abby. How can we tell her (in a nice way) that it's none of her business? CHILDLESS BY CHOICE DEAR CHILDLESS: There's no "nice" way to tell someone it's none of his business. It is your right to remain childless, and your choice of contraception is strictly your own business. Tell your mother-in-law that you do not plan on having children because you don't want any. Don't apologize or explain. And if she doesn't understand, that's HER problem. DEAR ABBY: Last year I found a hat in a snowy field. It is a very good hat, and, according to the label, had been made in Inverness, Scotland. It is exactly my size, so I took it home, had it cleaned and blocked, and have become very fond of it. Today I wore it to a neighbor's home. He remarked that he had had a hat just like mine for years and had lost it in a snowy field last year. I am convinced that it is his hat. My question: Who should have the hat? My wife says, "Finders, keepers." I know the original owner would like it back, so I am asking for your advice. J.C. DEAR J.C.: Had you not found the original owner, I'd have agreed, "Finders, keepers." But since you also found the man who lost it, return it.

East in Finals on Controversial Call

Face Stamford Catholic Today for Title

By Len Auster

Wild, crazy, bizarre was the finish to yesterday's Class B semifinal baseball clash between East Catholic and Wilby High at the University of Hartford.

The Eagles won it in 10 innings, 3-2, to move into today's championship tilt against Stamford Catholic at Yale Field in New Haven at 4 o'clock. It will be East's first appearance in the finals.

The ending came quickly and suddenly as three basked upon Joe Romano invoked a seldom used offensive interference call against the Wildcats' Ken Corey, pinch running for Mark Bain. The Eagles, now 18-3, had scored the go-ahead marker in the top half of the frame. Bill Moffett led off with a single to left, the first hit off losing hurler Roger Bourival since the third inning. Keith Lamb fanned but Terry Hickey, who picked up the win, bunted and reached on a fielder's choice as third baseman Bain elected to go to second. Mike Furlong laid down a sacrifice pushing to second. Bourival grounded to third baseman Tom Milles and senior catcher Tim Charlebois, who had been befuddled by Bourival's curve all afternoon, looked for one and jumped on the first pitch driving it to left plating Moffett. The fireworks broke out as the downstate Wildcats took their last at-bats. Pinch hitting Ed Thomas walked on four pitches. Bain tried to sacrifice but Charlebois hopped out and gunned down the lead runner at second. Corey then ran for Bain.

Pinch hitter Ed Bar-tokowicz sacrificed Corey to second. Bourival grounded to third baseman Tom Milles and senior catcher Tim Charlebois, who had been befuddled by Bourival's curve all afternoon, looked for one and jumped on the first pitch cut the air with his right arm and both benches erupted. Milles, not knowing Corey was called out, threw low to first and the Wilby bench was gleeful. But that was for a fleeting moment as they realized Romano called Corey out and the mood changed to anger.

"The runner yelled at the fielder and I called him out for interference," Romano explained. Wilby, Coach Mario Carlo, after calming his players, said, "I'm protesting the game. I've never heard of that rule or seen it. That protest will be to no avail, however."

Milles, the man in the middle, stated, "I'm not sure of the rule but he was waving his arms and yelling at me. I didn't know the umpire had called him out but he did distract me. I don't know what he was yelling."

East Coach Jim Penders commented, "That's a heck of a way to lose a game but the umpire made the call quickly. There was no question. He called it before Milles threw it first."

Overlooked in the commotion was the pitching performance of senior right-hander Hickey. In 25 innings in the tournament, he's allowed just one earned run. He threw 118 pitches yesterday and after the fourth inning, hurled scoreless ball. His record is an unblemished 11-0. He got himself out of two jams by picking runners off Wilby.

East and Wilby, which winds up with 14-7 mark, evenly divided four unearned runs in the first four innings, but East's base running, did exactly what it needed to do to score on a groundout by Purlong and scored as Dan Socha's infield roller was thrown away by shortstop Mike Cruz. Socha, who went to second, scored on Milles' poke single to left.

Eighth All-Star Berth For Bruins' Bobby Orr

MONTREAL (UPI) — At the ripe old age of 27, Boston Bruins defenseman Bobby Orr added another of his long list of records Monday by being named to the National Hockey League's first-team All-Stars for the eighth consecutive year. Orr and right-winger Guy Lafleur of the Montreal Canadiens were the only unanimous choices of the Professional Hockey Writers voting in the league's 18 cities. Orr, who led the NHL in scoring last season with 46 goals and 89 assists for 135 points, broke the record he set with former Montreal and New York Rangers defenseman Doug Harvey, who was a first-team choice seven straight years during his career. Orr also added a shoo-in for the Norris Trophy as the league's outstanding defenseman for the eighth consecutive time in his nine years in the NHL, all with Boston. The trophy winners will be announced Wednesday, the third day of the league's annual meeting which began here Monday. Orr only failed to make the first team his rookie season (1967-68), when he made the second squad. Along with Orr, repeaters from last year's first team were Larry and Martin

Personal Toll
PITTSBURGH (UPI) — The financial troubles piling up on the destitute Pittsburgh Penguins hockey team also are having their personal toll on principal owner Thayer "Tad" Potter. In the latest episode Monday, Equibank filed six writs of execution to attach the bank accounts of the owners of the financially troubled team in an attempt to recover nearly $5 million which it had loaned to them. The writs directed the Allegheny County sheriff's office to attach the bank accounts of Potter and his wife, Jean; Peter Block and his wife, Ina; Albert H. Birchfield III; Janet B. Keener, and Katharine R. Potter.

Happy With Win But... Coach Levels Blast at CIAC

By Len Auster
Happy with the win which puts his club into the state championship game but unhappy with the CIAC is East Catholic Coach Jim Penders. "We should have played this game Saturday," Penders said yesterday after his Eagles topped Wilby to move into the finals against Stamford Catholic. "It's nice to be in the finals but this game (the semifinals) should have been played in an enclosed field. I've never heard of playing a semifinals game on an open field." The University of Hartford field was still wet in many spots and some areas dangerous to the outfielders, a metal graded storm drain for example in not so deep right centerfield. Jabbar Gets Wish In Deal to Lakers

INGLEWOOD, Calif. (UPI) — Kareem Abdul-Jabbar has gotten his wish. Taking advantage of Jabbar's desire to be out of Milwaukee, the Los Angeles Lakers acquired the disgruntled 7-2 forward Monday night in a blockbuster six-player deal with the Bucks. "I hope I can live up to the building," Jabbar told a packed news conference. "This is the impossible dream," said Jack Kent Cooke, the Lakers owner, who added the Bucks' club finished last in the NBA's Pacific Division last season. "I feel almost any team with a Kareem Abdul-Jabbar on it will be a winning team and a contender," Los Angeles coach Bill Sharman added. "And, certainly, we hope a championship team."

Behind the three-hit pitching of Kevin Hanlon, the Manchester American Legion baseball team blanked Newington, 1-0, last night at M.L. Nebo in non-zone action. Hanlon struck out six and walked none in notching the win. Manchester scored its lone run in the first with Bruce Ballard driving it in.

Courtney Tipped Off Batters

Word yesterday that Clint Courtney, a former major league catcher and minor league manager, died of an apparent heart attack, kindled memories of a game in which he played and I umpired in Hartford two decades ago. Courtney, who was managing the Atlanta Braves' No. 1 farm club in Richmond, Va., in the International League this season, was stricken while playing table tennis with several of his players in a Rochester, N.Y., hotel. Courtney played 11 years in the majors and was the American League's Rookie of the Year in 1952.

Not Surprised at Move

Here's one party who wasn't surprised that Tony Conigliaro wasn't able to stick with the Boston Red Sox. A .122 batting average in 57 trips to the plate is proof enough that the one-time glamour boy of the Fens needs more work and he wasn't getting it riding the bench. Jimmy Rice has proven to be a consistent run-producing player as a right-handed designated hitter and his left Tony C. out-Lew Randall of the State Department of Education who presented diplomas to Cheney Tech grads last week was a top-flight college baseball player who tried his hand in pro ball. It was good to note that of Cheney's top athletes, Mike Pressamaria and Tom Poran were prominent at the latter as class president. "Pele's first appearance with the New York Cosmos resulted in a 200 per cent increase in paid attendance. The team without Pele averaged 7,000 fans per game and with Pele averaged 12,728 ticket purchasers for the game." Downside on Randall's Island to see the Cosmos tie Dallas in the North American Soccer League. "Northwest Catholic High will be the scene of the closed circuit telecast of Muhammad Ali and Joe Bugner on June 30, plus two other title fights featuring Carlos Monzon and Victor Galindez in middleweight and light heavyweights bouts.

No-Hitter Tops MCC

Each side scored in two last night but Volkswagen had a pair to Manchester Community College's one and that was the difference in a 4-2 decision in the Twilight Baseball League at St. Thomas. Bert Livingston had a no-hitter going for six and one-third innings before four walks and a wild pitch gave the locals two runs. John Daly came on in relief to get the last two outs and preserve the no-hitter.

Burton Changed Style as Tigers Find Out

DETROIT (UPI) — The scouting report Leon Roberts gave to his old college teammate Jim Burton was very accurate — five years ago. Burton showed a national television audience Monday night not all learning takes place in the classroom, even though the left-hander was not the pitcher of record in the Boston Red Sox' 6-2, 12th-inning victory over the Detroit Tigers. "It was a demonstration that what he learned in the intervening years should help Boston quite a bit in the future," said Burton. "He told us to expect fast balls and not much else," said Mickey Stanley, who was playing first base for Detroit against left-handed pitchers. "But it was obvious after

Player Draft Completed

NEW YORK (UPI) — Dave DeBusschere may be his first season as the American Basketball Association commissioner, but he already knows what the game is all about. At the conclusion of Monday's ABA draft, DeBusschere said flippantly, "Now all they have to do is go out and sign these phenoms."

Struggling Franchises Topic at NHL Meeting

MONTREAL (UPI) — The National Hockey League governors got down to the real meat and potatoes of the NHL's annual meeting today when they tackled the financial plight of two struggling franchises. The Penguins' NBA competition for Webster and Thompson comes in the form of the Atlanta Hawks, who also own the rights to the Denver Nuggets franchise in serious trouble with U.S. tax authorities and an Oakland team still trying to find a professional home.

Everett Kennedy, senior custodian of veterans' graves in Manchester, aids Mrs. Luna Hutchison place flowers at the grave of her uncle in West Cemetery off Spencer St. (Herald photo by Dunn)

Two Cited for Long Service To Memorial Day Committee

Mayor John Thompson presented certificates of appreciation to Mrs. Luna Hutchison and Dr. Everett Kennedy of 87 Phelps Rd. recently during a meeting of the Permanent Memorial Day Committee.

On behalf of the town, the mayor was honoring the two for the long years of dedicated service to the committee. Mrs. Hutchison is the daughter of Maronthon H. Kenney, a Civil War veteran of the 16th Connecticut Volunteers. She began her association with Memorial Day as a school girl. She followed the members of the Grand Army of the Republic (GAR) from Cheney Hall on Hartford Rd. to the local cemeteries to decorate the veterans' graves.

Kennedy is a World War I veteran and former town director. He is also the senior custodian of veterans' graves for the committee. As custodian, he takes care of the more than 2,000 graves of veterans in Manchester's six cemeteries. The final meeting of the committee for this fiscal year ended with the election of the officers for the coming year.

Harold Osgood of the Marine Corps League is the new chairman. Walter A. Von Hone of the American Legion is vice chairman. Mrs. Emma Swanson of the Daughters of Union Veterans is treasurer. Mrs. Albert Schulze of the Daughters of the American Revolution is assistant treasurer.

Christopher Hodges, 35, of 50 Cubes Dr., Vernon was charged Monday with passing a standing school bus on Reservoir Rd. He is to appear in Common Pleas Court 19, Rockville, July 16.

The Vernon Traffic Authority has approved the making of part of High Street one way and the Public Works Department will put up the necessary signs in the near future, police said. Traffic will be one way north, from McClean St. to Cedar St.

The original estimated cost of the facility was about $250,000, but this was about two years ago. This included core facilities for a possible second rink. It is expected four to five acres of land will be needed and the committee guessed that 70 hours of ice time, per week, at $50 an hour, would have to be sold to make the facility operate at a profit.

Mayor McCoy said he was hesitant about using suggested land in the town industrial park for the facility. He said that the land left in the park is mostly prime industrial land. Councilman Richard MacDonald said, "I resent the fact that there were comments made that the facility will cost the taxpayers anything. It may require additional police protection, additional sanitary facilities, and such," he said. He added he was definitely opposed to donating any town-owned land for the project.

Councilman Morgan Campbell suggested the town-owned Roker property, to the rear of the Middle School, and said perhaps the town could sell it at the going rate or a fair price but not necessarily give it for the facility. The project has had its ups and downs over the past two years since the study committee was appointed by Mayor McCoy.

It was the committee's finding that an ice facility in Vernon appeared to be feasible based on the considerable interest in recreational skating, ice hockey and figure skating in the area. However, the committee emphasized that an adequate and constant supply of revenue would be necessary to pay the mortgage and all other bills. It stressed the importance of proper management.

Mrs. Wilkinson said Bob has also shown good spirit. He was afraid at first, she said. But he now takes it all in stride. Letters From Friends Both mothers said the letters and cards from the boys' friends and classmates cheered them up a great deal. "Tilton tried to keep in touch with the families about the boys. He reported to the Nathan Hale children how they were doing, almost on a daily basis. "The kids were very interested and attentive," he said. "They understood even the details very well."

Tumors like this are not contagious. Two such serious cases in the same school, even the same class, is remarkable, Tilton was told. Future Looks Bright A doctor for Scott who wished not to be named said Scott's eye control is improving now even before a regular therapy program has begun.

He is more concerned about his learning how to walk again, he said. "It's hard to say what the future holds for Scott. Only time will tell," he said. If Scott improves as well as he did in the first few days after conquering the fevers, he suggested he might be able to attend school again sometime next year.

Bob's mother was told the radiation therapy appears to be working with him without hurting him. His family has high hopes. But doctors added that if the radiation did not provide a cure, they would have to try an operation again.

She said his fevers had been high and erratic before. But his condition was stable when he came home for the weekends, she said.

Anxious For School The boys missed their friends and school, their mothers said. They all hope he will be able to attend at some point next year.

John J. Drobiak (Continued From Page One) and Miss Jennie Drobiak of Webster, Mass. The funeral is Thursday at 9:30 a.m. from the John F. Tierney Funeral Home, 219 W. Center St., with a Mass at the Church of the Assumption at 10. Burial will be in St. James Cemetery.

Friends may call at the funeral home Wednesday from 7 to 9 p.m. The family suggests that any memorial contributions may be made to a charity of the donor's choice.

Frosh Democrats Want More Power

WASHINGTON (UPI) - A group of freshman House Democrats, frustrated at President Ford's victories over a "veto" Congress, today demanded a stronger voice in party strategy from Speaker Carl Albert.

About half of the 75 new Democrats in the House met with Albert for two hours Tuesday night and arranged another meeting with him later today to present a list of suggestions, including a five-day work week instead of four days.

"We're saying: Let us talk to one another, let us talk what your problem is and we think we can provide the kind of leadership from within our class," Rep. George Miller, D-Calif., said today.

"But don't come to us after the fact and beg us not to vote the way we think we should be voting anyway. We want input at the beginning."

Miller, who is 39 years old, hinted that freshmen are not approaching seriously on some votes until party leaders find they will come up short on such items as a veto override.

A majority of the group said Tuesday they still supported Albert, although Rep. Bob Carr of Michigan repeated a demand that Ford, 67, resign because he "is not a dynamic, strong personality" around whom Democrats can rally.

Manchester Police won't tolerate any unauthorized Manchester High School graduation party this year, Police Chief Robert Lannan said Tuesday.

President's Stock Up in California

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) - The California Poll reported today that President Ford's political stock has risen to the point where he would not only defeat any Democratic presidential nominee if an election were held now, but would still be favored to beat most Democrats in a three-way race.

Only Sen. Edward Kennedy holds his own against the President in a three-way matchup. The poll found that Kennedy leads Ford 45-1 if former Gov. Ronald Reagan were on a third ticket. Reagan gets 21 per cent support. If Alabama Gov. George Wallace were a third candidate, Ford and Kennedy each poll 31 per cent while Wallace is supported by 18 per cent.

Ford tops Sen. Henry Jackson of Washington 39-25 with 25 per cent for Wallace. Kennedy leads 45-23 with 25 per cent for Wallace.

Durkin-Wyman Rerun Rejected by Senate

WASHINGTON (UPI) - For the second time, the Senate has refused to relinquish its right to decide who will lead the November 3 Senate race in New Hampshire.

On a near party line 55-43 vote, the Senate Tuesday defeated an attempt by Sen. Lowell Weicker, R-Conn., to vacate the New Hampshire seat and call a new election. Only five southern Democrats voted with the Republicans, the same five who joined in support of a similar Weicker motion defeated 53-39 in January.

Today, the Senate was to consider another amendment that could result in a special election between Democrat John A. Durkin and Republican Louis C. Wyman. That motion by Sen. James Allen, D-Ill., would force a special election if neither Durkin nor Wyman had been seated by Aug. 1.

"We are dealing here with a photo finish, only no camera was at the finish line to catch the winner of this reestablishing event," said Sen. Edward Brooke, R-Mass.

Democrats countered that the Senate has constitutional responsibility to determine who won the election, and a special election should be held only if the recount ends in a tie.

"It is not the duty of this Senate to sanction a new election," said Assistant Democratic Leader Robert Byrd of West Virginia. "It is the duty of the Senate to determine the will of the voters in the election of execution in Saudi Arabia is by behaving."

King Faisal's Assassin Convicted, Executed

BEIRUT (UPI) - Prince Faisal Bin Musaed was executed today for assassinating his uncle, King Faisal of Saudi Arabia, Riyadh Radio said.

The broadcast at 5 p.m. (10 a.m. EDT) said the execution had been carried out 30 minutes earlier. It did not say how the prince was killed, although the traditional form of execution in Saudi Arabia is by beheading.

Balance of Payments Makes $6.6 Billion Positive Shift

WASHINGTON (UPI) - The U.S. balance of payments made a dramatic $6.6 billion positive swing between January and March, the largest quarterly shift in history, the Commerce Department announced today.

Sharply improved foreign trade performance, a large decline in American investment dollars flowing overseas and advance payments for U.S.-made military arms by several Middle East countries were chiefly responsible for the improvement, the department said. The so-called "basic" balance was in deficit in the first quarter by a narrow $475 million compared to a $6.6 billion deficit in the previous three months.

The $6.1 billion improvement is unprecedented but a Commerce analyst noted that, in part, it reflected a rebound to a $3 billion decline between the third and fourth quarters of 1974.

The basic balance is considered the most comprehensive of the three balance of payments measures.

Services, private investment and government transactions but excludes the short-term international "hot money" flows. However, even the basic balance has lost some of its credibility under the present regime of floating exchange rates.

"None of the balances looked at today give a true picture of U.S. international transactions," a Commerce economist said. "What one really needs to do is look at the various individual transactions."

The United States has traditionally run a deficit in its basic balance, technically known as the balance on current account and long-term capital.

A deficit means that foreigners have acquired more dollars than they have returned to the United States in government and business deals.

The various components of the basic balance in the January-March quarter included a $2.4 billion positive shift in the balance on goods and services to a $3.3 billion surplus.

A steep drop in imports reflecting a reduced demand for foreign-made goods by the sluggish U.S. economy more than offset a $1.9 billion negative shift in net investment income resulting from lower oil industry profits.

Gov. Wallace Ready to Make Fourth Presidential Attempt

WASHINGTON (UPI) - Gov. George Wallace of Alabama, ready for his fourth presidential campaign despite confinement to a wheelchair, came to Washington today to disclose his political plans for 1976.

Wallace, in a luncheon speech to a business group, intended to leave no doubt about his plans to run for president next year, but would not formally declare his candidacy for the Democratic nomination until now, Wallace has said he has not decided whether to seek the presidency again.

"Six Democrats already have announced and are on the campaign trail. But the national public opinion polls show Wallace has more support for the nomination than Sen. Henry Jackson of Washington, Lloyd Bentsen of Texas, Rep. Morris Udall of Arizona, former Gov. Jimmy Carter of Georgia and Terry Sanford of North Carolina, and Sen. Fred Harris of Oklahoma. Georgia legislator Julian Bond and Sen. Edward Kennedy of Massachusetts, who has announced he will not seek the nomination and will not accept a draft. However, Kennedy's supporters believe he would change his mind if no other strong candidate emerged and the convention fell into deadlock. Wallace, 55, is paralyzed below the waist as the result of gunshot wounds suffered while campaigning in Maryland in May, 1972. He campaigned from his wheelchair last year to win an unprecedented third term as governor and began stepping up pre-presidential campaign activity in 1970.

In 1974 and this year, Wallace and his organization have reported receiving contributions of more than $2 million and outlays of $1.96 million.

At the time he was shot, Wallace had received more votes in 1972 state presidential primaries than any other candidate and had shown strength outside the South by winning the Michigan primary. In 1968, as the candidate of the American Independent Party, he received nearly 9 million popular votes, 13.5 per cent of the total, and 46 electoral votes in carrying five southern states.

Municipal Bonding Bill Backed by Two Groups

HARTFORD (UPI) - Hartford's Downtown Council and the Connecticut Construction Industries Association have endorsed a controversial bill giving municipalities wide powers to issue bonds to pay for redevelopment projects.

The bill's sponsor, who has asked her to sign the measure as it stands now and deal with its problems later, said Tuesday she is inclined to veto the measure and later ask the legislature to approve a similar bill without the sections she has objections to.

The Downtown Council said the bill is sorely needed by cities which need to revitalize their downtown areas.

"We look at this development act as a way for downtowns to 'bootstrap' themselves into exciting activity centers," a council statement said.

Carbone Tuesday listed a number of changes he would accept in the bill after a storm of criticism, charging that the bill would give unscrupulous politicians a field day with public funds.
