Ford Keeping Options Open On Use of Nuclear Weapons

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Ford has declined to rule out first use of nuclear weapons by the United States in a future conflict.

He told reporters that a news conference in 91-degree heat on the White House lawn Wednesday was not the place to say whether the United States might be first to use either long-range strategic nuclear weapons or so-called tactical nuclear weapons, which are stored in Europe and South Korea.

The President was more willing to discuss domestic problems:

—He said Americans may have to suffer high unemployment "for a short period of time" to avoid another round of inflation.

—He declared that a threatened $2 to $4 a barrel oil price increase by producing nations next fall would be "very disruptive and totally unacceptable."

—He said he would consider recommending an extension to 1976 of the tax cut for Americans if the economy isn't moving, if the current tax cut appears to be working and if the deficit can be kept in bounds.

In 1961, President John F. Kennedy had declared: "Our arms will never be used to strike the first blow in any attack."

The "military posture" statements in which the Pentagon each year asks Congress for its budget have for years described the U.S. arsenal of strategic nuclear weapons — missiles based on land and in submarines, and long-range bombers — as weapons of retaliation, and therefore of deterrence.

However, past administrations and the current defense secretary, James R. Schlesinger, have made clear that tactical nuclear weapons might be used in response to massive nonnuclear attacks in either Europe or Korea.

Ford left U.S. policy on both strategic and tactical weapons unclear.

"I don't think it is appropriate for me to discuss in a press conference what our utilization will be of our tactical or strategic weapons," he said. "...I don't believe under these circumstances that I should discuss how, when or what kind of weapons should be used."

Asked specifically whether he would order use of tactical nuclear weapons if North Korea attacked South Korea, Ford said: "I am not either confirming it or denying it." Military forces will be used, he said, as national interest warrants.

Index Indicates End Of Current Recession

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The government's index of leading economic indicators released today rose in May for the third straight month, virtually assuring that the 18-month long recession has ended.

At no time since World War II has a three-month rise in this closely watched index failed to signal an end to bad times and a return to economic prosperity.

In May, the index rose 2.1 per cent following increases of 3 per cent and 1.1 per cent in April and March.

The upturn ended a slump in the index that began in mid-1973, several months before the economy entered the worst of the six post-war recessions.

Through the years, shifts in the index has foreshadowed similar movement in the overall economy.

This spring, the Commerce Department issued a revised format to eliminate the distorting effects of inflation. The redesigned index, when applied to past business cycles, has had a perfect record of forecasting when a recession is about to end.

The index is made up of 12 sensitive indicators from various sectors of the economy. Figures for 10 were available for the May report and eight of these moved up, the government said.

Those increasing were building permits, new orders for manufacturing and consumer products and materials, the money supply, stock prices, contractors orders for plant and equipment, changes in wholesale commodity prices, change in total liquid assets and delivery performance by vendors.

Two other indicators — the length of the average work-week for blue collar production workers and the employment lay-off rate in manufacturing industries — were unchanged from April.

Special Session Set to Rewrite Vetoed Community Bond Bill

HARTFORD (UPI) — Gov. Ella T. Grasso has vetoed a widely criticized development bill and says she will sign an amended version if safeguards against abuse of public funds are contained in it.

"I want you to join to structure remedies to the legislature so that it will be viable," Mrs. Grasso told legislative leaders in announcing her veto of the Town and City Development Act Wednesday.

The measure, backed by Hartford Democratic Chairman Nicholas Carbone, was opposed by most major newspapers, town officials and Republicans.

Lawmakers were expected to uphold her veto at the legislative trailer session July 21 and then approve the improved version of the bill during a special session Mrs. Grasso ordered on the same day.

"I understand the plight of the cities and it is with some measure of sadness that I do this," she said of her veto of the bill.

The measure would have given local officials widespread authority to subsidize urban development projects with bond revenues without requiring referenda on the bond issues or competitive bidding for the construction work.

Democratic State Chairman Rep. William A. O'Neill, D-East Hampton, admitted after the meeting that the Democratic majority in the legislature was wrong when it rejected several Republican amendments to the bill.

"In some instances they were right and we were in error," O'Neill said.

In a legal opinion about the bill, State Attorney General Carl R. Ajello said it would have allowed local officials to ignore zoning and environmental regulations, even in towns other than their own.

House GOP leader Rep. Gerald F. Stevens, R-Milford, said he felt vindicated by Mrs. Grasso's veto, but he said he supported the aim of the measure and that he would cooperate in drafting a better version.

Mrs. Grasso initially supported the proposal, but changed her mind in the face of growing opposition from the news media and taxpayer organizations. Many business and construction groups endorsed it.

"The vigilance and guidance from the media was most helpful in this matter," she said.

Mrs. Grasso said she had no specific proposals for improving the bill, but she wanted to review the new version before it went to the legislature.

"This requires total input, without regard to political or partisan consideration," she said.

House Speaker James J. Kennelly, D-Hartford, said he was "disappointed that the governor felt she had to veto the bill, but pleased that she called for a special session to consider it again."

Kennelly, who voted for the measure when it was approved in the waning hours of the 1975 session two weeks ago, invited the GOP leaders to a meeting Monday in his office to discuss the changes required.

Four Mill, $258,187 Budget Approved

Eighth District Voters Re-Elect Officers; Name New Directors

By SOL R. COHEN

Eighth District voters Wednesday night adopted a 4-mill tax rate and $258,187 budget for 1975-76 (up 1.5 mills and $41,554), re-elected the district's president, treasurer, clerk and tax collector, and elected two new directors to the six-member board.

Re-elected, all to one-year terms, were Michael Massaro, president; Howard Keeney, treasurer; Joseph Volz, clerk; and Mary Laria, tax collector.

The two new directors are William L. Sheridan, 41, of 141 Delmont St., and John C. Flynn Jr., 34, of 31 Strong St. Elected to three-year terms, they succeed J. Edward McKeever and Dante Balboni, who had decided not to seek re-election. McKeever was a director for six years and Balboni for three.

A total of 128 eligible voters attended the annual meeting, average for recent years but far below the 200 who attended the 1974 meeting. An estimated 5,500 district residents are eligible to vote at the district's annual meeting.

Those re-elected to office had no opposition. However, there were three candidates for the board's two vacancies. Defeated was Robert Froelich, 27, of 15 Thistle Rd. Sheridan, who won one of the two seats, had run for the board in 1974 and lost then.

On the first ballot Wednesday night, Sheridan received 57 votes, Froelich, 46, and Flynn, 25. Needed to win was 65 votes. Flynn dropped out of the race and, on the next ballot, Sheridan received 71 votes to Froelich's 56. Sheridan was declared the winner.

Flynn and Froelich then were nominated for the second vacancy. Flynn was declared the winner when he received 79 votes to Froelich's 47.

In a short acceptance speech Sheridan said, "It's a great honor to be elected. I'm proud of the services in the North End, especially the fire services. The District Fire Department has an excellent record, accomplished at a very low tax rate."

And Flynn said, "I hope I can justify the confidence you have placed in me. I'll work my best for the good of the district and its residents."

The moderator of the meeting was Nathan Agostinelli, former state comptroller and former Manchester mayor. John LaBelle, the district's counsel and moderator the past 18 years, was attending a testimonial in his honor at The Colony, Talcottville. LaBelle is retiring as Hartford County state's attorney.

The $258,187 budget provides $112,045 for the fire department, $105,097 for public works and $41,045 for administration.

The district's tax rate had been 2.5 mills since the 1957-58 fiscal year. Checking back 35 years, it was 3 mills in 1941-42, dropped to 2 mills in 1942-43, went to 2.5 mills in 1943-44, where it remained until 1956-57. That year it was at 3 mills.

The budget and tax rate was adopted with little discussion and by voice vote.

In other business Wednesday night, the voters:

- Authorized its officers to offer for sale "at fair market value" two district-owned parcels — one on Loomis St., the other on Duval St.

The action was on a split vote after some pro and con discussion. The income from the proposed sales will be utilized in 1976-77. The same proposal was rejected by district voters in 1974.

- Authorized the officers to purchase a mini, fire truck, at a sum not to exceed $25,000.

The action was by a unanimous voice vote after some pro and con discussion.

- Authorized the officers to deposit district funds in the Connecticut Bank and Trust Co., the Hartford National Bank and Trust Co. and the Savings Bank of Manchester.

Gandhi Imposes An Emergency

NEW DELHI (UPI) — Prime Minister Indira Gandhi, defying demands for her resignation, declared a state of emergency across India today and ordered a nationwide roundup of opposition leaders.

Authorities arrested dozens of Mrs. Gandhi's sharpest critics in pre-dawn police raids that roused sleeping opposition leaders from their beds.

Political sources said at least 55 persons were known to have been seized in the crackdown. But some of the sources put the figure as high as 3,500.

Mrs. Gandhi, fighting for her political life in the face of a corruption conviction and widespread calls for her resignation, said she ordered the crackdown to prevent an outbreak of "internal disturbances."

Jayaprakash Narayan, one of the most widely respected opposition leaders in India, was among the government critics seized in the police raids.

Narayan's arrest came hours after he told a rally of 10,000 persons that Mrs. Gandhi should resign because of her conviction on charges of campaign corruption.

Government sources said the arrests would keep on all day.

In a radio address this morning, the prime minister accused opposition political parties of a "widespread conspiracy" that threatened the internal security of India.

Mrs. Gandhi said "the forces of disintegration are in full play" and accused critics of inciting "our armed forces to mutiny and our police to rebel."

"How can any government worth its name stand by and allow the country's stability to be imperiled?" she asked.

Mrs. Gandhi said the two-month state of emergency "will not affect the lives of law-abiding citizens." But she did not spell out the details of the decree.

A.R. Baji, the government's chief information officer, told news agencies the decree provided for the censorship of all dispatches leaving the country.

Receives Diploma on Crutches

Keith Munroe, seriously injured in an accident several months ago, received loud applause as he made his own way to the podium to be presented with his Rockville High School diploma by Board of Education member Mrs. Devra Baum. (Herald photo by Richmond)

Rockville Conducts 100th Graduation

BARBARA RICHMOND

Just as darkness was settling on the athletic field at Rockville High School Wednesday night the 379 graduates switched the tassels on their mortarboards and then tossed them and confetti into the air as they were declared the 100th graduating class of the school.

Before the exercises started, the graduates, the girls in gold caps and gowns and the boys in royal blue, filed across the field and up into the bleachers. The beautiful sky etched with pink clouds almost stole the show from the students.

The school band under the direction of Edwin DeGroat played the familiar "Pomp and Circumstance" and later the school choir, under the direction of Eileen Sullivan, sang the traditional "Halls of Ivy" and "Let There Be Peace On Earth."

One of the highlights of the ceremonies was when Keith Munroe, who was seriously injured in an accident earlier this year, made his way on crutches to receive his diploma amid loud applause from his classmates.

Despite the confusion of double sessions and construction going on in every section of the school, the ceremonies went off without a hitch, much to the credit of Principal Martin Fagan.

Following the salutatory by Donald Apel and the valedictory by Jean Cody, Fagan presented 24 special awards and 16 scholarships to members of the class. (See Page 10)

Dr. Raymond Ramsdell, superintendent of schools, presented the candidates; Mrs. Devra Baum, a member of the Board of Education, distributed the diplomas. She was given this honor as her daughter, Marjorie, was among the graduates.

Assisting Mrs. Baum was Albert Kerkin, assistant superintendent of schools; and Maurice Miller, former chairman of the Board of Education.

As Dr. Ramsdell was calling off the long list of names, he had to keep increasing the pace as the sun slipped lower and lower. More than 1,500 parents and friends were there to watch the ceremonies.

The Rev. Paul Bowman of the Union Congregational Church, also a former member of the school board, offered the invocation and the benediction.

On special request of the class, a tape was played of a popular singer singing a tune that asked, "What about tomorrow and what about our dreams and all the memories we share?"

Several loud firecrackers set off in the area of the bleachers seemed to be expected by the graduates as not one of them blinked an eye at the noise.

He said 39 per cent of the class would be going on to four-year colleges; 23 per cent to two-year colleges or nursing school.

Five per cent of the class plans to go on to some other further schooling; 27 per cent plans to go to work; 2 per cent, military service; 5 per cent plan to travel; and 1.6 per cent are undecided about their future.

Of the 379 graduates, 27 were named Connecticut State Scholars; three were National Merit Scholarship finalists; 14 were National Merit Commended Students; and one student, Yolanda Graham, received the National Achievement Scholarship for Outstanding Black Students.

The total amount of scholarships awarded this year was $32,732 of which $5,450 came from local sources. Over the next four years these scholarships will amount to $104,032.

Scaled-Down Housing Bill Offered In Wake of Veto

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate, in humble recognition of President Ford's influence in Congress, is about to pass a housing bill tailored to his specifications.

Sending up the flag of compromise, Sen. William Proxmire, principal sponsor of the $1.35 billion housing bill Ford vetoed Tuesday, offered the new measure on Wednesday.

It would have passed on the spot, but Republicans wanted a roll call so they could be recorded as voting for the bill.

Leaders scheduled the vote for today. Proxmire, chairman of the Senate Banking Committee, which handles housing legislation, drafted the compromise a few hours after the House failed to override the veto.

The vote was 268 to 157, or 16 short of the constitutionally required two-thirds majority.

The victory was Ford's fourth on a veto of a big Democratic measure. Despite its 2-1 Democratic majority, the House has upheld vetoes of a $5.3 billion jobs bill, a bill to regulate strip mining and a farm price support measure.

Proxmire's new bill extends an existing program, providing for government purchase of $10 billion worth of home mortgages at subsidized rates. Ford wanted only $7.75 billion worth of authority, but does not have to use the extra $2.25 billion worth.

The Proxmire compromise also provides underwriting for loans of $250 a month for 24 months to unemployed homeowners who receive foreclosure notices. It generally conforms to the administration request.

The Wisconsin senator's version would also authorize $100 million to continue a housing rehabilitation loan program the administration wants ended.

It was uncertain whether Proxmire's House counterpart, Henry Reuss, D-Wis., would accept Proxmire's version.

Following the veto defeat, Reuss introduced his own new bill. It was a scaled-down version of the vetoed bill. He said it was a version that "we can override."

Town Realizes $2,092 From Glass Recycling

The Town of Manchester realized $2,092 in 1974 from its glass-recycling program and should do much better during the 1975 calendar year. Director of Public Works Jay Giles reported Wednesday.

Giles said 113.15 tons of various colors was delivered by the highway department during 1974 to the Glass Container Corp., Dayville, at an average price per ton of $18.50.

He said to date in 1975, a total of $2.83 tons was delivered to Dayville. The town has realized $1,784 for it, at an average price of $21.60 a ton.

The town maintains three bins for recyclable glass on the entrance road to the Olcott St. disposal area. Glass should be separated by color — brown, white and green.

The weapon used by colonials fighting in the Revolutionary War was the light-weight Pennsylvania flintlock, developed by farmers for shooting food and Indians. By doubling the length of the barrel and grooving it to make the bullet spin, the flintlock enabled the hunter to pick off single targets with greater accuracy. From this rifling of the barrels comes the word "rifle." The World Almanac notes.

"What about my rights?" James Kenas, owner of the Christian co-op, asked.

"You have the right to turn around and look in a different direction," Weidenbaum replied.

Teachers Pacts Almost Settled

SOUTH WINDSOR
Vivian Kennison

The second of three hurdles leading to new contract for the South Windsor Association (SWEA) has been cleared, now that the Board of Education has ratified a two-year contract giving teachers a 14 per cent increase in salaries, increments, and fringe benefits.

During the 1975-1976 year teachers will receive $20,255 more in differentials, fringe benefits and salary increases.

In 1976-1977 this figure will be $27,067 more in benefits, or a 7.5 per cent increase. During that year, the town will spend over $4 million for its 300 teachers.

However, the school board has contracted the termination or elimination of 11 teachers during the contract course in order to cut salaries by $100,000.

"We were able to reserve for the Board of Education the right to establish how teachers will be terminated due to the decrease in teacher needs," said Asst. School Supt. William Perry.

"We did however agree that a committee of the board would be established by December to determine this policy and that SWEA could have representation on this committee."

Highlights of the new contract give teachers an increase in accumulated sick and personal leave days.

Next year teachers will be allowed to accumulate up to 165 days for sick and personal leave time. In 1976-1977 this figure jumps to 180 days. Teachers now can accumulate 150 days.

Town Aims Pollution Solutions

COVENTRY
Monica Shea

Coventry's Town Council will conduct a public hearing tonight on the alternatives available to the town to cure lake area pollution problems.

The hearing will be at 8 in the auditorium at Coventry High School and seeks citizen input before the council makes a decision on which method to present to the Department of Environmental Protection.

Then DEP will have to decide if the plan would merit lifting the abatement order. The Lake Rehabilitation Study Committee has recommended installation of a storm underdrain system to lower the water table, in conjunction with a major housing removal program.

Other provisions increase the major medical insurance coverage from $20,000 to $250,000. This will cost the town $710 more each year.

Also being given to teachers is a provision that allows retiring personnel to remain in the group health Blue Cross plan. The retiree will pay the full group rate to the board at a billing schedule to be determined by the board.

One major highlight includes boosts in salaries for female coaches in varsity and elementary athletic activities.

For example, the girls' varsity basketball coach, now paid $350 a year, will be paid $1,280 by 1977. This represents an increase of nearly 300 per cent.

The same holds true for the girls' gymnastics coach. On the other extreme, coaches for boys' sports on the elementary level receive comparatively meager increases ranging from $90 to $200.

The third and final hurdle standing in the way of the teachers contract is approval by the Town Council.

The contracts go to the council, which has 30 days to reject it. If the council rejects it, negotiations must resume.

Carilli To Seek Another Term

COVENTRY

Al Carilli, Democratic town councilman, told Coventry Young Democrats Wednesday night he will seek re-election.

This brings to three the number of incumbents seeking re-election. Republicans Jesse Brainard and Robert Keller have also announced they will seek re-election.

Democrats, Rose Fowler, Richard Breaux, and William Schmidt, and Republican Henry Grabowski aren't seeking re-election.

Carilli told Young Democrats that many townspeople had suggested he seek office as an independent, but he decided against it.

"You have to run with a party label because you have to have party support. It isn't the time to run as an independent," he said.

"The last time," Carilli said, "I ran a campaign on council responsiveness to the people, and I think the council is learning to be responsive to the people. I would like to see the next council become more involved in expenditures such as accounting and purchasing. There is room for improvement there."

Carilli also mentioned that he would like to see the council become more involved in expenditures such as accounting and purchasing. There is room for improvement there.

Hebron ZBA Hears Two Variance Bids

HEBRON
Anne Dallaire

The Hebron Zoning Board of Appeals Wednesday heard a request to grant a variance to Daniel Cardono of East Hartford to build a year-round residence on Hillcrest Dr., Amston.

Cardono said he bought the land in 1950. The property is now in a RI zone and Cardono has less than an acre of land. The board also heard from Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Cullit of Jan Dr. who are seeking a variance to erect a two-car garage and breezeway to their home. Neighbors had no objection to the proposed building coming to four feet from the sidewalk. The board will make their decision in executive session and notify applicants soon.

FROM YOUR NEIGHBOR'S KITCHEN

By VIVIAN FERGUSON

From time to time, I receive telephone calls requesting that recipes be published in this column. Mildred DeCarli of 16 Bigelow St., representing a group of ladies, asked if I had ever heard of Kiss-Me-Cake.

I remembered this very well. It was popular in the early 1950's and a good many people made the cake at that time, it having won a prize in a bake-off contest. It is a good cake for the lunch box or to take on a picnic.

Orange Kiss-Me-Cake
1 large orange
1 cup milk
2 eggs
1 cup raisins
1 1/2 cup walnuts
2 cups all-purpose flour
1 cup sugar
1 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon baking soda
1/4 cup shortening
reserved orange juice

Cinnamon-Sugar Topping
1/3 cup sugar
1 teaspoon cinnamon
1/2 cup chopped walnuts or pecans

Generously grease bottom only of 13x9" pan. Squeeze orange, reserve juice. Place orange peel, milk and eggs in blender. Using high speed, process until orange peel is chopped very fine. Add raisins and walnuts, process just until coarsely chopped. In large mixer bowl, combine remaining ingredients except topping and reserved orange juice. Add orange-raisin mixture. Blend at low speed until moistened; beat three minutes at medium speed, scraping bowl occasionally. Pour batter into prepared pan, spreading to edges. Bake at 350 for 35-40 minutes until top springs back when touched lightly in center. Drizzle warm cake with reserved orange juice. Sprinkle with cinnamon-sugar topping.

Jennie LaDuca of 15 Ash St. inquired about making granola. There are many ways of making this cereal. Some recipes include many ingredients and you can vary them to suit your own taste - just add more or less of whatever you like. One of the simplest recipes I have seen comes from Shirley Banks and is published in "Country Cupboard Cooking," a publication of the Bolton Women's Club.

Granola Cereal
3 cups oatmeal
1 cup whole almonds
1 cup shredded coconut
1 cup wheat germ
1 cup nuts (peanuts, almonds or walnuts)
1 cup raisin or dates
1/2 cup safflower oil
1/2 cup honey
1 teaspoon vanilla

Mix all dry ingredients except raisins or dates. Mix oil, honey and vanilla together. Then toss all ingredients. Spread on cookie sheet. Bake at 250 until golden brown, stirring often. Let cool. Add raisins or dates. Store in jars. Serve with milk or plain yogurt.

This brought to mind a snack that is good for the children. Take 1/2 cup each of raisins and hulled, roasted sunflower seeds. Add one cup shelled, roasted peanuts and season with sea salt to taste. Store in a tightly closed container.

While back, a lady wrote a letter to the Open Forum, requesting recipes that used only a pound of meat and that would feed six people.

Leigh's Chili

corn with peppers, drained
1/2 cup soda crackers, crumbs
1/2 cup chili sauce
2 tablespoons sweet pepper flakes
1 tablespoon minced instant onion
1/2 teaspoon oregano
4 stuffed green olives, sliced
4 slices crisp, crumbled bacon (optional)

Topping:
1 egg, slightly beaten
2 tablespoons milk
1/2 teaspoon dry mustard
1/2 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
1 cup shredded Cheddar cheese
Beat egg slightly in mixing bowl. Add ground beef, corn, cracker crumbs, chili sauce, pepper flakes, onion and oregano. Mix well. Press meat mixture firmly into pastry-lined pie pan. Bake 20-25 minutes at 425. Spread topping; then top with olives and bacon, if used. Bake five minutes longer until cheese melts. Allow to stand 10 minutes before serving. When making topping, combine egg and milk; add salt, dry mustard, Worcestershire and cheese. A simple dish, which my 18-year-old daughter Leigh makes, is chili. With a green salad and some hot rolls, you have a nice, tasty and inexpensive meal. She served it recently to a guest from Indonesia who loved it. This recipe is supposed to serve six. Leigh says, "It depends on the appetite. If you have boys, add another 1/2 lb. of meat and/or another can of beans if you don't want to double the recipe."

Leigh's Chili
2 tablespoons fat
1 lb. ground beef
2 eight-ounce cans tomato sauce (2 cups)
1 one-pound can kidney beans (do not drain)
1 teaspoon salt
chili powder, and tabasco sauce to taste
hot pepper flakes to taste, if desired

Melt fat in sauce pan. Sauté onion and pepper until tender but not browned. Slowly add meat until browned. Add tomato sauce, beans, salt and chili powder to taste. Add tabasco sauce and hot pepper flakes, to taste, if desired. Best made in advance and reheated.

Dear Abby

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I have fallen in love with a man who has had a past history of mental illness. Years ago, his mother placed him in a state hospital. Now he lives in a half-way house. He sees a therapist weekly and is on medication.

I know I will have to make the first move because he is not aggressive. My mind is somewhat made up already, but I need assurance that I am doing the right thing. What is your opinion?

DEAR NAMELESS: You are a wise girl to stop, look and listen before you leap. Since I know nothing about the young man's emotional maturity and the seriousness of his mental condition, it's impossible for me to advise you. Please don't initiate a relationship without first talking to his therapist. He is qualified to guide you. I am not.

DEAR ABBY: Hoorah for the young man who doesn't shake hands with anyone—and don't bet too heavily on the germ theory.

A few months ago I had a right hand painfully sprained when I shook hands with a professional football player. A few weeks ago, I shook hands with a retired plumber who apparently wanted to prove that he was the strongest man on earth. One fractured bone.

A few days ago, a slightly built law student finished the wedding job on my hand. This note is written in pain. If those strong men want to prove their masculinity, let them find another victim. I'm for the Oriental custom of bowing.

DEAR SUFFERING! Let's shake on that!

DEAR ABBY: I have long hair and make no apologies for it. Long hair is one of the most stupid things for anyone to argue over because long hair is just that—long hair. It doesn't hurt anybody, and if a man wants to wear it that way, he should have the right to do so without getting hassled.

In fact, have you ever noticed that people with short hair are always telling people with long hair to get their hair cut? But it is very rare to find a person with long hair who tells people with short hair to let their hair grow!

People with long hair seem to be more mature than people with short hair because they let people look the way they want to instead of feeling that everyone's looks are their business.

Please print this letter so that all the critics with short hair will lay off those of us who like long hair. Thanks,

Natalie Wilson Served As Consumer Division Aide

Miss Natalie Waterman Wilson, 62, of Avon, formerly of Manchester and retired division chief of administration of the state Department of Consumer Protection, died Tuesday at Hartford Hospital.

Miss Wilson was born Sept. 15, 1912 in Lebanon daughter of the late Honorable Elisha Livingston and Ella Tucker Waterman, and lived in Manchester and Hartford for many years before recently moving to Avon. She attended Waterman School and Lyman Memorial High School, Lebanon.

A 1931 graduate of Bryant College, she organized the first girls sorority at the college and was its president for two years. While at college, she was a member of the girls' basketball team, won national honors in a shorthand and typing speed contest conducted by Gregg, and prevailed upon the college authorities to have class rings as well as class pins.

Upon graduation, she entered a career with the State of Connecticut at the Connecticut Agricultural College, Storrs, first as secretary to the dean of the agriculture department and subsequently as office manager of the extension service.

In 1942, she transferred to the New Haven's Teachers College, now Southern Connecticut State College, where she stayed for four days before transferring again to the Dairy and Food Commission in Hartford at the request of Commissioner John Swaney.

Firemen Douse Apartment Fire

Manchester's Town Fire Department quickly doused a fire in a second-floor apartment at 207 Center St. this morning, preventing any structural damage to the large four-family dwelling.

Firemen said the blaze, still under investigation, started in a bedroom vacated by Donald Ellis just half an hour before the fire call. The fire was reported simultaneously by a neighbor from Box 37 and a telephone call from a motorist who had been passing the address.

Deputy Fire Chief James McKay said damage was limited to the one bedroom, although the rest of the building sustained some smoke damage. McKay said firemen had little trouble extinguishing the flames despite explosion of aerosol cans in a wastebasket.

No one was in the dwelling at the time. The call came in at 7:43 a.m. About 12 firemen responded with two engines and a ladder truck. There were no injuries, McKay said.

The structure is owned by Robert Ryan of 41 Imperial Dr., South Windsor.

He was released on a $150 cash bond for court appearance July 14.

The driver of the car involved in the crash was Frank Petrone, 26, of 813 Sycamore Lane. Details weren't available.

Other accidents reported by police today included:

- An 8:56 a.m. accident Wednesday on W. Middle Tpk. near the East Hartford town line, in which a car driven by Diane M. Johnson, 28, of 270 West Rd., Vernon, struck 14-year-old bicyclist Patricia Carpentera of 88 Meville Rd. The girl was treated at Manchester Memorial Hospital. No charges were lodged.
- A two-car crash on Spencer St. at the Interstate 84 exit at 4:15 p.m. Wednesday. The drivers were Kathleen A. Moriarty, 24, of Rt. 31, Coventry, and James M. Burke, 35, of 64 Winthrop Rd. Minor injuries were reported; the Burke vehicle was towed.

Fire Said Suspicious

Manchester Police and Eight District firemen are investigating a suspicious fire Wednesday night at the 77 Oliver Rd. home of Kenneth G. Avery.

No one was home at the time and no one was hurt.

Police said their investigation of the incident showed that telephone lines to the dwelling had been cut.

Police are still investigating a Monday night motorcycle-car accident in which Joseph Snarski, 28, of 97 Bridge St. suffered serious injuries.

Snarski, the motorcyclist in the 9:30 p.m. accident at W. Center and Cooper Sts., was in serious condition today at Manchester Memorial Hospital.

Thets reported to police Wednesday included:

Grads Crossing Gets Approval

The Georgia-Pacific Corp. has received permission from the state Public Utilities Commission (PUC) to build a private railroad crossing at its N. Main St. warehouse facility.

It filed its application in January and the hearing was held on May 7, with representatives of the Penn Central and the Town of Manchester appearing and voicing no objections.

The PUC approval was on the basis the crossing won't be detrimental to the public interest, will be in the best interests of Georgia-Pacific and will be the best economic interests of the town.

The PUC listed five minor stipulations and ordered Georgia-Pacific to bear all costs for the railroad crossing.

Thoughts ApLEnty

By Len Auster

Psychology Part of Job
"We'll bounce back."

That's one cliché which sportswriters, including this one, hears over and over again from a defeated coach.

Why do they say it?

Two months ago, Dave Kelley and I talked about it at length and later the East Catholic cross-country and track coach put his thoughts on paper.

In part, he stated, "The simple and perhaps obvious point is that a coach must be an optimist. If you gotta believe in the cornerstone attitude of winners. If you can't even picture yourself winning, you certainly never will."

"A coach without that belief will either have a short unsuccessful career or longtime painful ulars. If I really didn't believe my athletes would improve after setbacks they would know, no matter what words to the contrary I might mouth. And knowing of my lack of confidence, it would probably deplete theirs, which was already shaky following defeat."

This brings the picture into sharper focus. A coach must not only do his assigned task but also in good balance. Any good coach not only must teach the basics but also must show his club he believes in them. And he must present his case with conviction, today's athlete can detect the slightest waver of faith generated by the person who must guide.

Kelley continued, "The coach's job is not to hold out the impossible dream but a reasonable goal that is just beyond their grasp. A goal that forces them to take one bold giant step or perhaps a hesitant small one... Study after study demonstrates the awesome effect of teacher expectations on pupil performance. Teachers who believe get superior results with the same type of students that non-believers have."

Can a team with inferior talent to others but a coach who believes in them succeed above all others? I think so. The Golden State Warriors won the NBA championship not because of superior talent but because they believed in themselves and their coach was an exponent of superior performance. He "believed."

Simply, a coach must believe in his players and fight and claw for them. When a coach refuses to support his team, how can they possibly give 100 per cent for him. When a coach believes, and the players get that feeling, they'll give everything they have to be successful. If this doesn't occur, however, then the lines of communication have broken down somewhere.

Putting it in perspective, Kelley closed with some lines from one of his favorite poems by Langston Hughes.

"Hold fast to dreams. For when dreams die Life is a broken wing bird That cannot fly."

So, when a coach continually states, "We'll bounce back," it's not trying to escape from the harsh reality of the moment. It's a cliché, but one with hidden meaning many don't realize. He's trying to tell the world "we lost tonight but don't worry we'll show our true colors when the right time comes."

And when you find a coach who expounds this simple phrase time and again, you know you have the right man for the job.

Yanks Using Old Formula to Stay on Top

NEW YORK (UPI) — In the old days, when the New York Yankees ruled baseball, the formula they used to stay on top was simple.

They would just wait until someone tried to challenge them and then they usually beat the stuffings out of the upstarts, head-to-head.

It was easy, especially since the Yankees usually had the best players.

New York's last pennant came 11 seasons ago but it looks as if the Yankees are trying to revive their old successful formula to win again this time.

Although the Boston Red Sox are closest to them in the current standings, the Yankees feel the Baltimore Orioles are the club they must beat to finish first in the American League East.

Last year it also came down to these two teams. The Orioles came into New York, swept a three-game series from the Yankees in late September and finished two games ahead of them.

In recent seasons that was what usually happened when the Yankees played the Orioles.

But Wednesday night, New York defeated Jim Palmer 2-1 to complete a three-game series sweep at Baltimore, moving 1½ games ahead of second place Boston and nine in front of Baltimore, which is in fourth place.

Walt Williams, who was just breaking into pro ball the last time the Yankees swept the Orioles in 1968, tripled to start the ninth inning and scored the winning run on a sacrifice fly by Thurman Munson.

It was New York's 19th victory in 24 games this month, including 14 wins in its last 15 road games.

"I'm not surprised," said Williams, who has hit safely in 19 straight games. "This team has the most talent of any club I've been on or played against. There are guys in this clubhouse who have delivered clutch performances many times before and there are guys on this team who should be playing regularly, but you can't play everyone."

Elsewhere in the American League, Cleveland defeated Boston 8-5, Chicago White Sox topped Texas 5-2, Milwaukee edged Detroit 7-6, Oakland ripped Minnesota 7-1 and Kansas City beat California 6-2 in 12 innings.

White Sox 5, Rangers 2

In recent seasons that was what usually happened when the Yankees played the Orioles.

George Scott hit two bases early homers and Pedro Garcia had three hits and stole three bases to help Milwaukee hand Detroit its sixth straight loss. Scott's homers produced the last two Brewer runs and raised his season RBI total to 50.

Twins 1

Ken Holtzman, pitching a seven-hitter, to even his record at 7-7, beat Minnesota for the seventh time in his last eight decisions and gave streaking Oakland its 10th victory in 11 games. A two-run double by Phil Garner and a two-run single by the Ray Pousse were the key hits for the A's, who lead second-place Kansas City by five games in the West.

Royals 6, Angels 2

Frank White, inserted by Kansas City in the 10th inning for defensive help, snapped a 2-2 tie with a grand slam home run in the 12th to provide Steve Busby, who went the distance, with his 11th victory in 16 decisions. Frank Healy opened the rally with a single before Al Cowens and Bob Stinson walked.

R Sox' Bernie Carbo Slides Hard Indians' Duane Kuiper Upended at Second

Indians Enjoyed Visit to Fenway

BOSTON (UPI) — The Cleveland Indians had just one question after drubbing the Boston Red Sox for the third straight time.

"Do we have to leave?"

The Indians completed their sweep Wednesday afternoon with an 8-5 win over the Red Sox as Roric Harrison went 8 2/3 innings for his first win in three decisions. A pair of rookies, catcher Al Ashby and second baseman Duane Kuiper, drove in two runs each to give the Indians a season high of four straight wins.

Ashby's RBIs came on a two-run homer in the second that put the Indians ahead to stay at 4-2. The drive was the sixth homer in the series for the Indians, who also collected eight doubles.

"This is the character of this park—it provides a thrill an inning, a thrill a minute, a thrill a hitter. You never have enough runs and are never safe until the last out is made."

Robinson was speaking from very recent experience. He just had watched an 8-2 lead dwindle to 8-5 in the ninth with the tying run at the plate. But Busby came on to stop Boston for the second straight day by getting Bernie Carbo to ground out and end the game.

George Hendrick gave the Indians a 1-0 lead in the first by singling home Kuiper but Jim Rice's two-run double in the bottom of the inning put Boston ahead. Ashby, a switch-hitter, capped a three-run third with his second homer after Duffy singled. Cleveland crammed four more runs into the sixth inning.

'Looking Ahead' Johnson Claims

BOSTON (UPI) — Red Sox manager Darrell Johnson says his team is not in a slump despite the loss of three straight games to the Cleveland Indians that knocked Boston out of first place in the American League East.

"I think the next four days against the league-leading New York Yankees you'll see a little different kind of club," Johnson said after Wednesday's 8-5 loss to Cleveland.

Johnson said perhaps the Red Sox were looking past Cleveland to the Yankee series that opens tonight at Fenway Park and to the three-game set against Baltimore that follows.

"I'm inclined to believe" the Red Sox were taking the Indians too lightly, said Johnson, "especially because of the way we played the 13 previous games."

"We had just come off five well-pitched games (in Detroit and Baltimore) and we had a letdown against the Indians."

Cleveland manager Frank Robinson, informed of Johnson's remarks, had a word of warning for the Red Sox: "You've got to have respect for every major league club. Our team is certainly not as bad as the record shows and any overconfidence by another club is definitely a mistake on their part."

Whatever altered Boston in the Cleveland series will disappear against the Yankees, according to Johnson.

"Whether we can cool off the Yankees remains to be seen," Johnson said, "but in the next four days you'll see us play as good as we can play. I'm sure we'll be ready to go to Fenway."

Boston ace Luis Tiant, 10-6, opens the four-game series tonight against Rick Nelson, 4-9, and Rogelio Moret, 4-9, probably will get his first start Sunday against Calfish Hunter, 11-6.

Seaver Doing Job As Fans Expected

NEW YORK (UPI) — Billy Loes, of Brooklyn Dodger fame, said the way to win 15 games every year so that you'll make a lot of money but people won't expect too much from you.

Well, Tom Seaver made the mistake of winning 25 games in 1969. So last year when he slumped to a rather mediocre 11-11 record, he became the scapegoat for disenchanted New York Met fans and accepted a healthy pay cut from management.

While the Mets may be having their troubles again this season, nobody is blaming Seaver for the club's slow start. After all, by defeating the St. Louis Cardinals 2-1 Wednesday night, Seaver has already matched last season's victory total.

Now 11-4, Seaver credits his recent success to the realization he no longer possesses the famed fastball that heven if to 200 or more strikeouts in seven consecutive seasons, a National League record.

Even if the days of the double figure strikeouts are over, there should be more than a few wins on the horizon. Against the Cardinals, Seaver retired the first 13 batters before Ron Fairly singled to right.

Putting it in perspective, Kelley closed with some lines from one of his favorite poems by Langston Hughes.

"Hold fast to dreams. For when dreams die Life is a broken wing bird That cannot fly."

So, when a coach continually states, "We'll bounce back," it's not trying to escape from the harsh reality of the moment. It's a cliché, but one with hidden meaning many don't realize. He's trying to tell the world "we lost tonight but don't worry we'll show our true colors when the right time comes."

And when you find a coach who expounds this simple phrase time and again, you know you have the right man for the job.

LOCAL BASEBALL

ALUMNI JUNIORS
With SCOTT PRYOR singing home the winning run in the top of the eighth, Krause tripled, Manchester Credit Union, 4-3, last night at Cheney Tech. Chris DeCiantis picked up the win, allowing one run while striking out nine and walking two. Mike Colombaro, Brian Matre and Pryor each had two hits for the winners.

Behind a 10-hit attack, Liggett Parkade downed Marietta 9-3, last night at the West Side Oval. Matt Peterson had three hits and Dave Parks, Will Britnell and Chris Hayes took over for the winners.

ALUMNI INTERTOWN
Two five-run frames powered Manchester Crespi's 10-1 victory over Colchester last night at East Catholic. Wayne Parker had two hits and Wayne Oslroft fanned 11 for the winners.

Mads, 9-3, last night at the West Side Oval. Matt Peterson had three hits and Dave Parks, Will Britnell and Chris Hayes took over for the winners.

Another of last year's scapegoats, Rusty Staub, belted a two-run triple in the seventh inning to provide Seaver with all the scoring necessary.

With one out in the seventh, Felix Millan was hit with a third and both runners scored when Staub belted Forsche's next pitch against the fence.

The Cards got to Seaver for their run in the ninth on back-to-back doubles by Ted Simmons and Ron Fairly.

Harmonious Cincinnati Clubhouse Unique

SPARKY ANDERSON, Wise Manager

ATLANTA (UPI) — Sparky Anderson thinks the Cincinnati Reds are "unique."

"No other clubhouse is like ours," said the Cincinnati manager.

"Where else can you find five stars like Pete Rose, Johnny Bench, Joe Morgan, Tony Perez and Dave Concepcion who also are fine human beings?"

"Usually, when you find a team with that many stars, you'll find at least one who is pretty hard to take off the field."

And Anderson believes this has a lot to do with the continued success of the Reds.

"We're a team, not a group of individuals," he said. "It's a group that any manager would be proud to have."

Atlanta Manager Clyde King disagrees with Anderson in part.

King feels that the Reds have so much talent that they'd be winners even if every member of the club was a pain in the neck.

"You judge a baseball team by its strength down the middle," said King. "There have been few teams stronger there than Cincinnati—offensively or defensively."

Bench is in a class by himself as a catcher; Morgan and Concepcion have to be the top second-short combination in the game; and Cesar Geronimo in centerfield can get after that ball, and he can hit.

The general consensus seems to be that the Reds would be just about unbeatable if they had a little more pitching.

Going into Wednesday night's game in Atlanta, they were playing .620 ball and leading the National League West by three games, even though their top pitcher, Don Gullett (9-3) is on the disabled list.

Gullett broke his hand last week when he tried to make a bare-hand stab at a line drive off the bat of Atlanta shortstop Larvell Blanks.

"We don't have any idea when he'll be back," said Anderson. "I'm not even thinking about it. You can't worry about something like that. You have to go with the people available. If you are short-handed, you have to look around the farm system for someone you can bring up."

Anderson feels the Reds have "four of the top five players" in the National League (Bench, Rose, Morgan and Concepcion), but he points out that Cincinnati has its off days. "Just like anybody else."

"You ought to see this team on an off day," said Anderson. "We've stunk up a few ball parks. We're like anybody else. We have nights when we don't play."

That may be. But the Reds, after a slow-for-them start, have been playing like champions of late.

Through Tuesday night's game, Morgan was hitting .354 with 48 RBIs and 10 home runs; Rose was hitting .318; Bench was hitting .304 with 61 RBIs and 15 home runs; Geronimo was hitting .301; Perez had 49 RBIs and he and George Foster both had 10 home runs.

When Ken Griffey (.328) is in the outfield, the Reds start line-up, excluding the pitcher, is hitting right at .300 as a unit.

"We don't need as good pitching as some of the other clubs," noted Bench. "We're capable of breaking loose for five or six runs in an inning. This has to be a comforting thought for our pitchers, especially when they get behind."

"Don't forget, we can play a little defense, too," added Morgan. "We had two Golden Glovers on this team last year and we've got a couple of other contenders this time."

"It's like I was telling people last winter," said King. "Cincinnati doesn't have to have a lot of pitching to be a winner. When that bunch is hitting the way everyone knows it can, the Reds are hard to beat."

If the Reds do win the National League West this season, it will be the fourth time in the six years that Anderson has been their manager. Last year they played .653 ball, winning 98 games, but finished second, four games behind the Dodgers.

"Maybe," said King with a smile, "it's time someone started a 'break-up-the-Reds' campaign."

Watson Heads Pirates In Western Open

OAK BROOK, ILL. (UPI) — Tom Watson won't settle for same score he hit last year, a three-over par 287, and he expects to win the $200,000 Western Open golf tournament for a second consecutive year.

"The scores were high last year because the greens were very hard and very firm," Watson said. "This year the greens are softer. But in the other hand, the course is playing a lot longer. I foresee the scores coming down a little bit."

Watson, 25, was among the favorites for the 72-hole event starting today at the 7,002-yard Butler National Golf Club, along with Tom Weiskopf, who had victory locked up a year ago until he drove in water and double-bogeyed the last hole, Lee Trevino, Hale Irwin and John Mahaffey. Jack Nicklaus, the leading money winner, and Johnny Miller, second in earnings, weren't in the field of 156.

"The greens are the strong points at Butler," said Watson, "and maybe the conditions of the grass in the fairways is not right up to par yet. It's still a young golf course and the blue grass hasn't filled out well enough to give you real good lies, and that means you hit a lot of fliers to small greens. And hitting fliers, it's awfully hard to score well."

Butler, like the site of the U.S. Open last week, Medina, was hit by heavy rains, including a downpour Wednesday which delayed the start of the pro-am event by 2½ hours and forced the sponsors to cut it from 18 to nine holes.

The weather forecast for today called for more thunderstorms and temperatures in the 80s.

"The course is playing longer," Julius Boros said. "It's fairer than Medina, but with this rain, you don't get any roll. The greens don't have as many bumps, and have flat spots where you can put the pins. You don't have to drive them up."

"This course requires good iron shots and good driving," Watson said, "and right now a drive almost backs up, the fairways are so soft."

Speculation among the contestants was that a sub par score would win the event, unless the greens dry out quickly so that two or more rounds are played with their own hand and fast. It was doubtful though that under any conditions they would become as slick as those of the U.S. Open.

Half the field was scheduled to open play this morning and the other half this afternoon, with players starting from both the No. 1 and No. 10 tees.

Watson Wins Western Open

OAK BROOK, ILL. (UPI) — Tom Watson won the $200,000 Western Open golf tournament for a second consecutive year, finishing at 287 on a par-360 course.

Watson, 25, shot a 67-120-90-100 to finish at 287, one stroke ahead of runner-up Lee Trevino, who finished at 288.

Watson's victory was his second in a row, having also won the tournament in 1974. He is now the youngest player to win the Western Open twice.

Watson's performance was particularly impressive in the final round, where he shot a 90 to finish at 287, one stroke ahead of Trevino.

Watson's victory was a significant achievement, as he had never won the tournament before. He is now the youngest player to win the Western Open twice.

Ilie Nastase Sadder, Upset at Wimbledon

WIMBLEDON, England (UPI) — Ilie Nastase, who is not necessarily a wiser man after his complete defeat by his bearded opponent, Sherwood Stewart of Goose Creek, Tex., at the Wimbledon Tennis championships Wednesday.

There is a broad streak of the showman in the makeup of the flashy Romanian that has always kept him from reaching the heights and now, with his 29th birthday three weeks away, it may be too late.

Big money tennis is a serious business. One of the American players, well brought up young man in 1973, accounts modeled with a few four-letter words when he misplayed a shot, heedless of the crowds in the stands, Wednesday.

Some of the lady players, too, did not learn the language they sometimes use in finishing school. But Nastase is what he is — a fun-loving fellow who refuses to consider the game a matter of life and death.

He is a kinking tee on extra points and the number five seed, he went down to Stewart, ranked only 15th in the United States.

"In his prime I would never have beaten the kind of a couple of years ago," Stewart said of his 6-8, 6-2, 1-6, 6-3 win.

Nastase apparently hasn't learned a lesson becoming more obvious with every tournament in the professional tennis of today — there are any number of players who can beat any seed on a good day. Nastase, some of the experts felt, played to the crowd and got back into the car and was whisked away.

She was the solid wall of humanity, or much of it in jeans and windbreakers or shortsleeves, looked around as though she could hardly believe her eyes and got back into the car and was whisked away.

They'll Play for New Hope

Billed as the softball game of the year, the WTIC Titans will take on the WDRS Softies in a benefit game Sunday under lights at 8 p.m. at Charter Oak Field.

Proceeds will go to New Hope Manor, Connecticut's only drug and alcohol rehabilitation center for teenage girls, on Hartford Rd. In the past year, New Hope has helped 90 girls from 40 cities in the state.

Personalities from both radio stations are expected to participate in Sunday night's game.

Team captain Lou Palmer, afternoon personality at WTIC, said "We ask only one favor, that the lights go on for WTIC and off for WDRS." In response, team captain Ted Dalaka, morning personality at WDRS, said, "We may have to give them a six-run lead to make the game interesting."

Both boast to being No. 1 in radio. Sunday night's game will prove which one is tops in softball. Donations are $2, and tickets may be obtained at the gate. Federal Savings and Loan.

Holl Estate Purchase Goes to June 9 Meeting

BOLTON

Donna Holland

The Board of Finance Wednesday night amended its Monday vote appropriating funds for the purchase of the E. J. Holl estate.

In a special meeting, it voted to take $80,000 from the general fund; Monday it had voted the funds from cash surplus.

The $30,000 total cost would come from the capital and non-recurring account.

The decision will be brought to townspeople at a Town Meeting July 9. It was originally set for next Monday but is now delayed a week to meet legal advertising requirements.

At the Monday meeting, the finance board took no action on a request by the selectmen for funds for additional police protection.

At its Wednesday meeting the finance board approved requesting the selectmen resubmit the proposal for its next meeting.

It requested that the selectmen forward additional information about the proposal including a detailed breakdown of costs, plan outline, and the advantages and disadvantages of either a town constabulary force or an additional resident trooper.

David Dreselly, first selectman-elect, said the selectmen prefer the constabulary force but because there is an opportunity for the town to have a second resident trooper the board feels townspeople should be given a choice.

The selectmen's request was for either $21,000 for a constabulary force or $14,000 for a second resident trooper.

Dreselly reported on a recent meeting he had with Lt. John Watson of the Colchester State Police Troop saying he (Watson) favored the town going for a constabulary force.

Watson reportedly said one resident trooper could handle a town having a population of from 7,000 to 10,000. He said Bolton's present protection is adequate.

Dreselly and Robert Morris both said a number of people personally requested additional protection.

They said in the opinion of the police study committee there is interest and a need for additional protection.

The selectmen agree the town will get more coverage if the constabulary force is approved.

Attyus Ahearn, state representative, took exception to some of the information the selectmen presented.

He told the finance board it was in its jurisdiction to recommend to townspeople what it

Grasso Pledges Support For Law Enforcement

ELLINGTON (UPI) — Gov. Ella T. Grasso today pledged to continue her administration's support for law enforcement agencies, saying Watergate proved the United States is a nation of laws.

And Mrs. Grasso told the Connecticut Chiefs of Police Association that she will continue her fight to lower Connecticut's speed limit from 70 to 55 miles per hour to save lives and conserve energy.

One of the lessons of Watergate "is that the system of law under which we live is stronger than any individual," she said.

"The trust of the people in our police department will be sustained by the principles of honest law enforcement, a concern by police of the problems of people and a dedication to the dictum that society helps protect those who can not protect themselves," Mrs. Grasso said.

The lower speed limit was lost in the shuffle as the legislature wound up its 1975 session two weeks ago.

Alternative Ed Program Aimed at Underachiever

TOLLAND
Acting under the guidance of Assistant Principal Eleanor Gowen, a group of teachers at Tolland High School have been preparing information and seriously discussing the possibilities of providing an alternative education program for students at the school who find themselves turned off by regular school work.

The program, which could include all students who could be of its efforts, is aimed at the underachiever — those not challenged by the existing curriculum. Mrs. Gowen explained the board.

We have reached the point where we have to gauge community support for such a venture. It is hoped costs of the program, adding she would like to enlist the support and interest of parents, taxpayers and board members.

There will be a public hearing on Monday, June 30, 1975 at 7:30 P.M. in the Registration Room at the Coventry Town Hall, to hear the following appeals: Paul Diehl seeking relief from the restrictions imposed in Section 10.3 and for a special exception as provided for in Section 13.1.3 of the Coventry Zoning Regulations for an 8 foot variance from side lot line. William Daniels seeking relief from the restrictions imposed in Section 6.16 and for a special zoning ruling by Mr. Wheeler, Zoning Agent to permit change of old sign and installation of new sign.

Friends of Music Consider Portable Building for Band

TOLLAND
If all goes as planned, the Tolland High School Band will have its own music building within the coming year, instead of having to continue its present makeshift arrangement of attempting to practice in an overcrowded science classroom where the decibel level ranges between an ear splitting 90 to 115.

Richard Roberts, chairman of the newly organized Friends of Music group, reported on the committee's progress to date, during Wednesday night's meeting of the Board of Education.

The group's building committee headed by Peter Duguay, an engineer, and including the school's music teachers, has been looking into a variety of building types and costs.

The committee would like to place the building against the rear portion of the high school arts and science wing, eliminating the need to include bathrooms and dressing rooms. If the building is moved to a distance of about 150 feet from the existing building, the cost to be included, boosting the price by about $10,000 to $15,000.

The possibility of qualifying for state aid amounting to 50 per cent of the reimbursement cost is also being explored, Roberts said.

The prime goal of the organization will be to conduct a fund-raising drive to pay for the music building, which could be a steel walled portable building measuring about 50 by 100 feet which could seat about 600 people, contain a rehearsal hall and a stage, doubling as an auditorium.

And thanks for your past business — we really appreciate it — but we spent too much money already. How about bringing us some more?

Housing Unit Attacked Over Dining Expenses

EAST HARTFORD (UPI) — The East Hartford Housing Authority has come under attack for its dining out expenses of $400 over a 13-month period.

"I don't think it is the intent of the federal government to let the housing authority commissioners," Esther B. Clarke, a Republican town committee member, said Wednesday. "These bills are unjustified, especially in these economic times."

"It's all perfectly legal," Stanley Ozimek, the authority's executive director, said, noting that $1,500 is budgeted this year for dinners and conventions. There are five commissioners. "They can do anything they want to do," he said. "They can either go to conventions or go to dinner meetings. Sometimes they just don't use the money up."

Bills of $735 for 10 persons at Willie's Steak House in Manchester Jan. 27 and $418.83 for eight persons at Howard Johnson's Oct. 3 were among those found in an investigation by the Hartford Courant, and there was no breakdown for food and liquor.

Traveling Restrictions Are Proposed

HARTFORD (UPI) — Rep. Jean Thornton, R-Glastonbury, wants to put restrictions on Connecticut lawmakers's out-of-state travel trips paid for by the taxpayer.

"I've watched travel expenses grow from $22,000 in 1970-71 to $54,600 in 1973-74, and this year's travel expenses could reach $60,000," Mrs. Thornton said.

Legislators have begun taking staff members along on out-of-state conferences, also at taxpayer expense, she said. The legislature should limit the number of conferences any legislator may attend, require written reports on what legislators learned and use public stenographers instead of taking along legislative secretaries, she said.

the ore cannot compete with richer deposits in other places. Cobalt is used for the old fashioned blue color in dishes. It was transparent and could stand high temperature without breaking as would glass. Of course, it was mined and the thick chunks called "books" which could be split into thin sheets of large area were much sought after.

When a pocket of large books was found, blasting was stopped and hand work with pick and shovel was resorted to avoid breaking them. There were sizeable piles of refuse near the mines composed of small pieces mixed with broken white quartz and feldspar.

O.C. remembers several abandoned mica mines where he could find books three or more inches wide and up to an inch thick and the scrap piles, probably more with a shovel. He only used a stick found near by.

When the sheet at the bottom had built up to a desired thickness it was put between hot plates in a powerful press. The large sheets that resulted could be cut and formed into any shape wanted. Probably the best quality of mica that can be used now can be produced elsewhere more economically than from the several mines O.C. knew near Manchester.

Before larger and richer mines were found in later prospected parts of the country, our local hills and valleys were searched thoroughly. Prospecting signs are everywhere if one hunts for them. There is copper at Highland Park and Granby but

SOCIAL SECURITY

Q. I understand that when a person accepts Social Security retirement benefits at 62 his benefit is reduced. But, I heard recently that it goes back to the full amount at age 65. Is that right?

A. No, if a person decides to retire at age 62 and takes the reduced monthly benefit, the benefit amount won't change at age 65. However, some people do retire at 62 later return to work. In that case, the benefit could be higher later.

Q. When my children graduated from high school, I went back to work. I plan to retire at 62. My husband will be 66 then. Will I get retirement benefits based on my husband's work record or my own?

A. You may be eligible for reduced monthly retirement benefits on your own work record, as well as your husband's. You can't collect both benefits, but you'll always receive the higher of the two amounts.

Q. I will be 65 in a few months and ready to retire. I am also going to move out of state shortly after I retire. Should I wait until after I move to apply for Social Security retirement benefits?

A. No, you should apply 3 months before you reach 65. For your Social Security retirement benefits and your Medicare coverage. Then as soon as you know your new address, notify any Social Security office.

Q. Even though I am 66 years old, I am still working full time. My friends told me that I should find out about Social Security retirement benefits. Should I do this when I'm still working?

A. Yes, for several reasons. Even though you are still working, you might be eligible for more Social Security checks. It all depends on your earnings. And, you would be missing out on valuable protection from Medicare insurance.

Two Bills Signed

HARTFORD (UPI) — Gov. Ella T. Grasso has signed bills allowing public housing tenants to sit on local housing authorities and requiring higher insurance coverage for fireworks displays.

Another measure signed into law by the governor will make towns in which a person becomes destitute responsible for the welfare payments. Under previous laws the benefits were paid by the town in which the person had lived most of the time in the past two years.

Persons with contracts or financial interests in public housing projects had been banned from sitting on the housing authorities. The law of interest. The governor has signed 430 bills and vetoed four since taking office last January.

Gandhi Takes Wide Powers

NEW DELHI (UPI) — Prime Minister Indira Gandhi has assumed virtually absolute power in India, jailing hundreds of political opponents and imposing press censorship in the world's largest democracy.

Government spokesmen said 676 persons were arrested in the lightning-fast crackdown but opposition leaders put the figure as high as 2,500.

Mrs. Gandhi, who declared a two-month state of emergency across India Thursday, said the arrests were necessary to combat a "widespread conspiracy" that threatened the nation's internal security.

Most of those jailed had led demands for Mrs. Gandhi's resignation following her conviction two weeks ago on charges of corrupt campaign practices.

After the crackdown, similar to the mass arrests ordered by Mrs. Gandhi last year to break a nationwide rail strike, the government's chief information officer said the situation was "generally peaceful throughout the country and there were no demonstrators taking to the streets to protest the government action."

In New Delhi, government offices operated normally and there were no reported demonstrations. Government orders prohibited carrying firearms, shouting slogans and holding public meetings or demonstrations in the capital.

The government closed international telephone and telex lines at noon Thursday but restored them about eight hours later after imposing censorship of outgoing news copy.

Among those arrested was Jayaprakash Narayan, a respected Mohandas Gandhi-style leader whose "peaceful revolution" has been gaining strength in recent months.

He was picked up by police only hours after he addressed a rally of 10,000 followers and urged "the army, police and government employees not to obey any order they consider illegal."

More than 400 persons, many of them former submarine men, were expected to witness the event at a 2 p.m. ceremony at Pier 31 at the U.S. Naval Submarine Base.

The Tigrone and the Clagmore will be towed to the Philadelphia Naval Yard to await an unknown future. Lt. Cmdr. James W. Philbrick, captain of the Tigrone, who supervised plans for the decommissioning, said the vessel meets the standards set 30 years ago but not those higher standards made for modern nuclear submarines.

In the waning days of the war, the Tigrone sank a Japanese lugger and established an all-time record in the rescue of 29 American aviators from the sea.

Today's ceremony is the third decommissioning for the Tigrone. It was first taken out of duty in 1946 but in 1948 was recommissioned as a radar picket. It was decommissioned again in 1957 but put back to work in 1962.

Last World War II Sub To Be Decommissioned

GROTON (UPI) — The end of an era is signaled today with the scheduled decommissioning of the Tigrone, the last submarine to have served in World War II, and the Clagmore, the only other diesel sub still in the Atlantic fleet.

More than 400 persons, many of them former submarine men, were expected to witness the event at a 2 p.m. ceremony at Pier 31 at the U.S. Naval Submarine Base.

FBI Arrests Pair As Spies for USSR

WASHINGTON (UPI) — FBI agents today arrested two men on charges of spying in this country for the Soviet Union, the Justice Department announced.

FBI Director Clarence M. Kelley said Sarkis O. Paskalian, 36, was arrested in New York City and Sahag K. Dedeayan, 41, was arrested in Rockville, Md.

A criminal complaint and an FBI agent's affidavit filed with a federal judge in New York charged Paskalian with conspiracy to gather classified national defense information to aid a foreign country.

A criminal complaint and agent's affidavit filed with a U.S. magistrate in Baltimore, Md., charged Dedeayan with failing to report illegal photographing of national defense information.

The Soviet Embassy in Washington had no comment. The FBI affidavits said after Paskalian

Paskalian of New York formerly lived in Soviet Armenia, Kelley said. He was sent to the United States in the summer of 1971 with instructions to meet with Petros Petroyan, an alleged Soviet intelligence agent, at a prearranged address in the Queens section of New York.

The affidavit said he was told to contact Dedeayan, a distant relative of Paskalian and develop a close relationship in order to obtain secret information.

Dedeayan of Rockville, was identified as a former employee of Operations Research, Inc. of Silver Spring, Md., the FBI said. The FBI said he was an associate mathematician at the Applied Physics Laboratory of Johns Hopkins University at Silver Spring from 1966 to September, 1973.

Kelley said both organizations are engaged in secret work under contract for the Defense Department and Dedeayan had top secret clearance.

Grasso Shifts Road Funds To Use for Mass Transit

HARTFORD (UPI) — Gov. Ella T. Grasso today announced the reallocation of $300 million allocated for interstate highway projects in the Hartford area to be spent on mass transportation and specific highway improvements.

Mrs. Grasso said $200 million would go for mass transit and $100 million for highway improvements.

Mrs. Grasso said the specifics of the mass transportation plan will be detailed in a report in August and she hopes that sufficient planning can be accomplished to qualify the state for federal mass transit funds.

"The people of our state need mass transit systems in operation as soon as possible," Mrs. Grasso said. "Efficient and attractive forms of rail and bus transportation are vital if automobile use is to be reduced to save energy and curb air pollution."

The funds will come from withdrawing portions of Interstate 95 and 291 from the interstate highway system.

The governor recommended withdrawal of: —Interstate 86 between Interstate 91 in Wethersfield and Interstate 84 in Manchester.

—Interstate 291 between Interstate 84 in Farmington and Interstate 91 in Windsor.

—Interstate 91 in Hartford and Interstate 84 in East Hartford. Improvements to the stretch of Rt. 15 can be obtained from other sources.

Mrs. Grasso recommended the substitution of U.S. 5 as part of the Interstate

Dual Kissinger Role Criticized by Panel

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A blue-ribbon presidential commission says the White House adviser on national security should not in the future also hold a cabinet post.

The report, being submitted to President Ford today, criticizes Henry Kissinger's dual role as national security adviser to the President and secretary of state. Kissinger has insisted —with President Ford's approval — on retaining both roles.

The report is based on a study by a commission appointed by President Nixon and Congress in 1972 on reorganization of foreign affairs. The panel is headed by retired Ambassador Robert Murphy.

Sources said the report recommends replacement of CIA director William Coleby with a non-career official, proposes changing the name of the CIA to the Foreign Intelligence Agency and moving the office of the director to the White

FBI Men in Battle Dress Seek Killers of Agents

OGALA, S.D. (UPI) — Four carloads of rifle-carrying FBI agents in battle dress spread out through the hills of the Pine Ridge Sioux Indian reservation today, searching for the killers of two agents slain in a gun battle while trying to serve an arrest warrant.

One Indian also was shot and killed Thursday in the gunfire which erupted around a house in this tiny hamlet in southwest South Dakota. The FBI men had entered the 3,000-square-mile reservation to serve a warrant charging assault with a deadly weapon and kidnapping, the FBI said.

The FBI today denied earlier reports that described the shooting of the agents as an ambush. The office of Gov. Richard Keip said the agents were dragged from their cars and shot up to 15 to 20 times with automatic weapons. But an FBI source said that they were not lured from their cars, and were shot outside of it.

"We do not know if they were alive when they were shot in the head," the FBI official said.

A reporter seeking to return to the shooting scene — a house protected by soldiers similar to those used by the 1973 Wounded Knee — was told by a senior official, "I don't think it would be worth your life." Anyone moving along a roadway was an object of suspicion.

Grasso To Name Blue Ribbon Panel To Probe Nursing Home Finances

HARTFORD (UPI) — A blue-ribbon panel, possibly with experts on financial manipulation available, will be named soon to investigate Connecticut nursing homes, especially those owned by large chains.

Sources said Thursday the panel will be formed by Gov. Ella T. Grasso but its probe may exclude the state Health Department, which regulates Connecticut's 220 nursing homes. The department has been criticized for allegedly failing to enforce the regulations.

Still to be decided was whether the panel would get state funds to hire an experienced staff needed to unravel the complex financial arrangements of chain-owned nursing homes, the sources said.

Those funds, if Mrs. Grasso approves them, now would go the panel, the sources said.

The sources said the panel would be made up of Cohen and his co-chairman in the Public Health and Safety Committee, Sen. Anthony Carlucci, D-New Haven, two representatives of the Legislative Program Review Committee, Welfare Commissioner Edward H. Maher, a member of the rate-setting Hospitals and Health Care Commission and perhaps one lay person.

Several nursing home employees testified during the legislative hearings that they always knew a week in advance of visits by the Health Department's inspectors, which are supposed to be unannounced.
