

Strikes Spread Across Country

By United Press International
Garbage simmered in the summer sun in New York city, skeleton staffs manned Pennsylvania prisons and mental institutions, the presses of Pittsburgh newspapers were halted and some construction was stopped in Atlanta today.

Tens of thousands of workers — including more than 100,000 Pennsylvania state employees — were off their jobs as a series of strikes spread across the country.

Some 7,000 New York sanitation workers staged a wildcat strike in sympathy with their 2,824 fellow workers laid off by Mayor Abraham Beame in efforts to trim the city's budget. The sanitation workers were among some 19,000 workers — including about 5,000 policemen and 2,000 firemen — laid off by the city.

Health officials worried about the consequences of a prolonged strike. As the day wore on Tuesday, overflowing trash cans and piles of uncollected trash bags became common sights — if not smells — in the city.

The city planned to seek an injunction to order the workers back to their jobs, but a union spokesman said he did not if the men would obey any court order.

"Men who work physically react physically. It's a gut, heart and you-know-what reaction," he said.

The rank-and-file went on strike without union authorization and has vowed not to return to work unless the layoffs are rescinded.

In Pennsylvania, a strike brought picket lines to almost every government building in the state.

An estimated 90,000 members of the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees walked out demanding higher wages. They were joined by the 12,000-member Pennsylvania Social Services Union and the 3,300-member Pennsylvania Nurses Association.

Pennsylvania Attorney General Robert Kane filed suits seeking to force about half the strikers back to work. In the interim, prisons and mental hospitals were manned by skeleton crews of non-union personnel.

Negotiations between the Pittsburgh Press Co. and Teamsters were deadlocked as a strike by paper truck drivers entered its sixth day. The strike, staged to protest the reassignment of a receiving dock worker, has halted publication of the afternoon Pittsburgh Press and the morning Pittsburgh Post-Gazette.

Unionized construction workers walked off their jobs in Atlanta, halting construction of the 10-story Peachtree Plaza Hotel in the downtown district and stalling work on the $47 million Tower Place development in suburban Buckhead. The union said the strike affected some 18,000 to 20,000 workers, although contractors said they doubted more than 3,000 workers — the total union membership — were on strike.

Elsewhere:

—Management manned telephone operations for the Central Telephone Company of Illinois, serving some 70,000 customers in Chicago's northwest suburbs. Some 950 members of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers went on strike Tuesday in a contract dispute.

—About 50 sanitation workers walked off their jobs in Jackson, Tenn., halting garbage collections. Workers were pushing for higher wages.

—Thousands of picketing Santa Clara County workers in San Jose, Calif., ignored a temporary court order against their first strike in county history. The action by about 4,000 of the County's 10,000 employees threatened to cripple public services in 15 cities.

—City workers in Pawtucket, R.I., returned to work today after a court order halted a one-day orderly strike by about 265 members of the Municipal Workers Union in a contract dispute.

Review Insurance Coverage

Insurance coverage for 28 teenagers from Belfast, Northern Ireland, who will arrive Saturday in Manchester, was completed yesterday. Frank Sheldon, seated left, Phoenix Mutual Life Insurance Co. agent, arranged for full major medical coverage for all youngsters while they are here. An amount equal to the premium for the coverage was treated as a corporate gift by Phoenix Mutual and an amount equal to the commission on the special policy was donated by Sheldon. The policy provides up to a maximum of $1 million for each participant. Seated right is Dr. Edward P. Flanagan, fund raising chairman for the Irish Children's Project co-sponsored by St. Mary's Episcopal Church and St. James Catholic Church who arranged for the 14 Catholic and 14 Protestant teenagers to spend the summer months in Manchester. Town Ends Fiscal Year With $300,000 Surplus

By SOL R. COHEN
Manchester finds itself in an enviable position today!

With municipalities all over the state and nation in financial straits—scratching for money to keep vital services going, faced with layoffs of teachers, policemen, sanitary workers and firemen—Manchester wound up the 1974-75 fiscal year (it ended June 30) with an extraordinary surplus.

That surplus, as Town Manager Robert Weiss revealed Tuesday night, "could be in the neighborhood of $300,000," the equivalent of just over one mill in the tax rate.

Weiss said his estimate is preliminary but near-accurate, "pending more information on year-end revenue and expenditures."

He complimented department heads and other town employees "for holding the line in expenditures."

Weiss said the town wound up the fiscal year with over $200,000 in unspent (unapplied) appropriations. Other factors include about $120,000 more received from the state for special education than estimated, $80,000 in premium refunds received from Aetna Life & Casualty (based on a review of premiums and claims) and more "previous years' tax revenue than anticipated."

When the Board of Directors adopted the 1975-76 General Fund budget and tax rate, it didn't make any allowance for 1975-76 surplus. It raised the tax rate by 1.35 mills. The $300,000 estimated surplus is the equivalent of just over 1 mill.

The 1975-76 budget provides for minimal cutbacks in vital services and, except for vacancies due to attrition, no layoffs.

Astronauts Make 'Tour' of Russia

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (UPI) — With the help of a $9,000-mile radio link, a pair of Russian cosmonauts gave three U.S. astronauts a make-believe tour of the Soviet Union. With luck, 15 days from now it will be the real thing.

The "tour" was part of a three-day dress rehearsal which ended Tuesday. It was a test for a planned July 17 rendezvous in space between the Americans and Russians.

A launch rehearsal without the astronauts was set for today at 3:30 p.m. EDT, the same hour of the day as the actual launch is scheduled July 15.

The final launch rehearsal takes place Thursday with the U.S. astronauts — Brig. Gen. Thomas Stafford, Donald Slayton and Vance Brand — actually in the Apollo spacecraft. That will complete the detailed "countdown demonstration test" which began last week.

Officials at Houston, Cape Canaveral and Moscow said the rendezvous rehearsals went smoothly.

During the three days of exercises, the astronauts at the Manned Spacecraft Center in Houston and cosmonauts Alexei Leonov and Valeri Kubasov at Star City, Russia, operated out of simulators, and American and Russian flight controllers worked in the control centers of both countries.

The cosmonauts gave the Americans a "tour" of the Soviet Union when the spacecrafts were supposedly flying over Russia.

The American crew spoke Russian during the rehearsal, which lasted for nearly 12 hours each of the three days, and the Russians spoke English.

The Soviet news agency Tass quoted Leonov as saying "from both ends of the Moscow-Houston line they threw into the channel of developments almost 20 unexpected faults."

Tass said Leonov and Stafford "cracked these hard nuts in a matter of seconds."

The primary U.S. crew is in quarantine. The astronauts can associate only with a select few people, including their wives, whose health is monitored by space doctors.

The backup crew of Alan Bean, Ronald Evans and Jack Lousma also is in quarantine and taking part in the rehearsals.

The Weather

Mostly sunny with high temperatures in the mid 80s to low 90s. Fair tonight with lows in the upper 50s to mid 60s. Variable cloudiness with highs in the 80s and a chance of showers developing Thursday.

Civil Strife Spreads To Northern Lebanon

BEIRUT, Lebanon (UPI) — Battles between Moslem and Christian political militias spread to northern Lebanon today, defying an hours-old cease-fire and threatening the country's new "salvation" government.

Bombs and bullets rocked the Lebanese capital this morning for the ninth day in a row, raising casualties in the bloody religious warfare to 250 dead and 700 wounded.

But most of Beirut was calm by daybreak. Radio Beirut said all the city's roads were open by 7:30 a.m. although streets in southeastern suburbs were still unsafe.

The fighting between the militias of Lebanon's warring Moslem and Christian political parties spread northward to Tripoli and the Bekaa Valley near the Syrian border.

The major political parties in the divided nation of 2.5 million maintain militias to protect the rights of Lebanon's two principal religious groups.

The violence flared despite a cease-fire worked out by Premier Rashid Karami Tuesday evening hours after he formed a "salvation government to save Lebanon from further bloodshed."

Board Mission Accomplished

The Manchester Board of Directors accomplished its mission Tuesday night. It completed all of its business for this month and won't have another meeting until Aug. 5. It's normal procedure is to meet formally twice a month.

Director Carl Zinsner, who had expressed doubts the board could complete its business in one session, was told by Mayor John Thompson to "wait and see," before formally requesting 130 sessions.

At 10:58, Zinsner complimented Thompson on completing the board's agenda.

A poll of the nine directors Tuesday night shows four definitely will seek reelection in November. The other five said they're "undecided."

Definite for seeking re-election are Democrats Phyllis Jackson and Jack Goldberg and Republicans Vivian Ferguson and Carl Zinsner.

"Undecided" are Democrats John Thompson, Pascal Frignano, Matt Morarty Jr. and Robert Price, and Republican Hillary Gallagher.

Dodd Proposes Busing Workers

HARTFORD (UPI) — Rep. Christopher J. Dodd, D-Conn., said today he's working on a plan to bus persons from his 2nd District's high unemployment areas to sites where there are labor shortages.

Dodd said he discussed his plans for the economic recovery of southeastern Connecticut in a meeting with Gov. Ella T. Grasso. They also talked briefly about the violence Tuesday between strikers at Electric Boat in Groton and state police, he said, and they agreed to watch the situation.

Dodd said the busing program would be paid for by the industries who hire the workers. He mentioned Electric Boat, builders of submarines, and United Technologies as possible backers of the program.

Electric Boat already buses some of its apprentice welders from as far away as Bridgeport, about 60 miles away.

Gasoline Prices Up For Holiday

HARTFORD (UPI) — With gasoline prices on the rise, a state official says a gallon of regular last week went for about 50 cents on the average, a price which may be looked back on longingly by holiday weekenders.

Kenneth Wood, deputy administrator of the Connecticut Energy Agency, said Tuesday that the 14-to 5-cent raises announced by eight oil companies could boost the price of regular gasoline to 96 cents a gallon in Connecticut.

Rep. Charles R. Matties, R-West Hartford, a director of the Connecticut Gasoline Retailers Association, predicted that gasoline prices will rise above 70 cents a gallon by year's end.

Matties, who runs an Exxon station, termed the increase "the holiday raise," added in the knowledge that motorists will log millions of extra miles over the long July 4 weekend.

Because gasoline supplies are short, he said, dealers will raise their prices further than the few pennies per gallon ordered by the major companies.

Shell, American and Phillips are brands at least 3 cents per gallon higher in price. Mobil, Ashland and Clark prices are going up at least 2.5 cents. Arco will be at least 2 cents more expensive, and Texaco will cost at least 14 cents more per gallon.

Wood attributed the higher prices to President Ford's tariff hike, lower gasoline supplies, higher operating expenses, increased demand and inadequate refinery production.

Police and Pickets Tangle at Groton

GROTON (UPI) — Picketing resumed peacefully today in the second day of a strike by skilled workers against Electric Boat Division of General Dynamics as Gov. Ella T. Grasso looked into claims of police brutality that were denied by state police.

The governor's chief legal advisor, Aaron Ment, was at the scene to observe picketing by the 10,000 member Metal Trades Council which accused state police of brutality in the arrests of 11 pickets Monday.

Mrs. Grasso met in Hartford with State Police Commissioner Edward Leonard to discuss the use of troopers at the struck submarine yard, the major builder for the Navy's nuclear submarine fleet.

Leonard said after the meeting some of the strikers had been drinking and local police asked for help because of trouble in past strikes. Leonard said he had 60 troopers on the scene Monday and this was cut down to 20 today. He said he opted to withdraw all state police within a week if everything remains peaceful.

Rep. Christopher J. Dodd, D-Conn., in whose district the shipyard is located, also met with the governor to discuss the strike.

Anthony DeGregory, president of the council, said today the unions will seek civil court action on the brutality charges.

DeGregory also charged that at least one state policeman dressed in civilian clothes infiltrated the picket line Monday and was removed when his presence became known.

"They've got troopers here, helicopters, and everything. What a way for the governor to waste the state's money," DeGregory said.

The public information officer of the Connecticut State Police denied the brutality charges, and said the state policemen were not taking sides.

At issue is a new contract between the Metal Trades Council and Electric Boat. A union spokesman said the two issues blocking a settlement were wage hikes and a company attempt to change contract language that governs the workers' productivity.

The council turned down a three-year offer that included a 33-cent-an-hour wage increase and improvements in health, hospital and pension plans, a company spokesman said.

DeGregory said the union wants an 8-cent wage increase with a cost-of-living escalator built into any multiple-year pact.

Members of the MDA, which struck Electric Boat two years ago, honored the line Tuesday but were asked to return to their jobs today. At least one member said he and others could not get through the picket line.

"The Connecticut State Police engaged in what I call police brutality," said Mrs. Grasso by telegram that Connecticut was "not a police state and we appeal to you as governor not to let this incident repeat itself."

Mrs. Grasso told newsmen Leonard advised her his men would be at Electric Boat because Groton police had asked for them. "It was his decision, his judgment," she said.

As for the arrests, the governor said Leonard told her "state policemen had been assaulted."

Troopers should only be used to protect the "rights of both parties — the strikers and those who want to work," the governor added.

Larry Flaman, a member of the boiler-makers' union at the shipyard and a vice president of a New London longshoremen's local, said the state police would "gang up, five and six to one picket," and "haul him away."

Meet Mabel Glutz, MHS Class of '55

Northam Hills Subdivision Hearing Postponed

HEBRON
Anne Dallaire
228-3267

The Planning and Zoning Commission (PZC) has voted unanimously to adjourn a public hearing on the proposed Northam Hills Subdivision section-11 for an indefinite period.

The proposed subdivision consists of six lots on Millstream Rd. and two 50-ft. rights-of-way, one leading into a 21 acre parcel and the other leading into a 7-acre parcel of land. The PZC also voted to hold two public hearings at their Sept. 9 meeting on Salmon River Park Subdivision and the proposed Shangri-la subdivision.

Engineer Russell Fransen told PZC members that the pond is designed to collect and detain the water which flows to properties owned by Mr. and Mrs. John Gordon and Mrs. Tina Nicolo.

Gordon said at the hearing and Gordon said that they would not grant an easement for water to flow onto their property. Gordon said that recent newspaper accounts were incorrect and he had spoken to both Monaco and Luchs and informed them that they would not grant an easement.

PZC Chairman Salvatore Mastandrea raised the question of possible impact the pond would have on wetlands and with the information now presented the commission would rule the hearing application incomplete.

The PZC approved the request from Robert I. Tupper for permission to subdivide the Hebron Business Center, containing through the approval of a caveat on the plan to be filed in the land records as a separate document. The caveat provides that the other land owned by Tupper cannot be built on until a plan of development is submitted to PZC.

The PZC also referred the proposed Sorghum Mill Farms to the Conservation and Recreation Commission for review.

Mastandrea also asked that a wetlands application be submitted to PZC.

Disney Film Tonight at Gilead School

HEBRON
Anne Dallaire
228-3267

The first of four Walt Disney movies sponsored by the Hebron Recreation Commission will be shown outdoors tonight at the Gilead Hill Elementary School on Rt. 88.

The first movie is "The Light in the Forest," and the program will run about two hours. In case of rain the film will be shown in the school gymnasium.

The cost is 25 cents for students up to age 18 and 50 cents for adults. Persons should bring blankets to sit on. The Martha Crow Phelps branch of Burrill Mutual Savings Bank has underwritten the program.

The Recreation Commission has voted not to replace a picnic table and grill taken from Grayville Falls Town Park. Last year a picnic table was chopped and burned at the park.

The commission's eight-week summer program will begin Monday at Hebron Elementary School. Hours are 9 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. Youngsters attending may bring a lunch and remain at the school all day or parents may pick up youngsters for the lunch period.

Robert Merrifield is summer recreation director. The program will run through Aug. 22 and rotate between the two elementary schools.

In other business at its recent meeting, the commission reviewed the Sorghum Mill Farms Subdivision map and will walk the property with the Conservation Commission July 10.

There is a vacancy on the commission and interested persons should contact a commission member.

Reservations for use of the tennis court on Tuesday and Friday may be made by calling the Town Office Building. The commission will meet July 8 at 8 p.m. in the Town Office Building with Merrifield to review the summer program.

required to have leaching trenches installed no greater than 20 inches into the original grade.

The PZC will not conduct a meeting in July or August.

Building Permits
Building permits issued during May in Hebron were for three single dwellings totaling $94,000; additions and repairs, $3,570; three pools, $14,189; one chicken coop, $150; one shed, $2,100; and a garage and breezeway, $3,500.

Requests Granted

The Hebron Zoning Board of Appeals has granted two applications for variances, each with a number of stipulations.

Daniel Carlone, 686 Brewer St., East Hartford, was granted permission to construct a one-family, year-round dwelling on Hillcrest Dr., Amston.

Recreation Program Now In Full Swing

VERNON

The Vernon recreation programs are now in full swing, the playground programs until Aug. 15 and the swimming programs until the Labor Day weekend.

Swimming periods at the Vernon Elementary and the Horowitz Pool in Henry Park will be from 1 to 2:10 p.m.; 2:30 to 7 p.m.; and 7 to 9 p.m.

The last period is a family hour with no one under 16 admitted unless accompanied by an adult.

The hours at Valley Falls Park pond are noon to 7 p.m. The first in a series of swimming classes started Monday at all three swimming areas.

Donald Berger, recreation director, said about 700 children are registered for the first series.

Season passes for individuals or families are available at either pool. A pass entitles each member of a family to two swims per day throughout the season.

Individual passes are $4 for one pool for those 15 or younger and $5 for those 16 or older.

Dennis Schaeffer is director at Henry Park pool, Calvin Goldsmith, Vernon Elementary Pool, and Charles Stone, Valley Falls Park.

The playground programs will be conducted at Henry Park, Legion Field, and Vernon Elementary, Lake St., Maple St., Skinner Rd., and Center Rd. schools.

Each playground will have three supervisors with Sherri Blonstein as over-all director. The areas will be open Mondays through Friday from 9 a.m. to noon and 1 to 3 p.m.

The programs will include games and arts and crafts with a special event scheduled for each week.

Shifting The Tax
Evades The Issue

It seems like only a few days ago that many of the critics of Gov. Ella Grasso's budget were stating quite plainly their feeling that much more could be cut so that tax increases which went into effect July 1 would not have been necessary.

And the legislature, in bowing to the demands of state worker unions by tapping the pension fund for a wage increase, gave some credence to the claims that the state budget was not as austere as we were given to believe.

It would appear that no one really honestly believes that a little more here or there is going to upset the budget apple cart. In fact, the unions which rallied and then bullied the legislature into tapping the pension fund, may sue the state to prevent it from raising the early retirement age to 55 instead of 50. A court order lowered the male retirement age to 50 because that was the age women could leave state service if they had met certain other requirements.

The irony is that the legislature conned itself in accepting the pension-tapping deal for pay increases on the premise that the higher retirement age would make it less of a fiscal risk.

Now we have concern over the sales tax on certain services such as garbage collection.

It is being proposed that this is a form of double taxation and a special session ought to consider repealing these acts.

We agree that the sales tax on a rental car, on which the rental firm has already paid a sales tax, is double taxation. This isn't fair.

But we think groups which have a good case against the service sales tax are being just as selfish as state workers when they suggest the loss in revenues from the service tax be made up with another half-cent on the regular sales tax.

In their desire to get out from under new taxes, they are willing to accept what they wouldn't accept before, a tax increase instead of budget cuts.

Divide and conquer is a traditional military tactic and it apparently works in politics too.

The special session may, if enough of the new sales taxed service suppliers scream loud and long enough, eliminate those taxes and impose a 7 1/2 cent sales tax.

If it does happen it will be our own fault for not being persistent and insistent.

We need to persist and insist our legislators get the message that we shouldn't pay more sales taxes just because one tax is unpopular with a group which has more political clout than John Q. Taxpayer.

The way the administration seems to be able to find funds for the things it really wants indicates to us that perhaps the sales taxes on services could be reviewed and eliminated without shifting the burden to the regular sales taxpayer who now pays the nation's highest sales tax.

The Decades

NEW YORK — Why should the news about John Roselli bring to my mind a poem by W. H. Auden? John Roselli is, of course, the Mafia gangster, now a grand-fatherly figure, who appeared before the Senate committee on the CIA with such secrecy that the papers were not sure the pictures they ran were really of him. Along with the late unlamented Sam Giancana, he seems to have worked on the Castro assassination plot in the early 1960s, in a plan to poison Castro and his top two men, and thus topple the regime.

For some reason it sent me back to Auden's poem, called "September 1, 1939," which opens thus: "I sit in one of the dives on 52nd Street, as the clever hopes expire of a low dishonest decade." That is how Auden felt about the '30s, which had inspired his generation with such fire and hope, and which expired with a second world war. Similar lines could have been written about the '60s, and doubtless will be written about the '70s as well. What makes the lines especially poignant now is that the shadow of Roselli and Giancana, and of the CIA operations now being sifted, falls over the Kennedy years in the early '60s when so many points of light seemed to be flashing over the nation.

For anyone who wants to review the events of those decades William Manchester's massive 1,300-page book, "The Glory and the Dream" (Little, Brown), is a good starting point. '60s. If there was a paperback version of the Manchester book I would make it mandatory for every high school and college student — and for their teachers as well. Some newspapers have also reduced the size of their comic sections.

It isn't any secret that we are taking a look at several changes in format and reducing costs.

Our prime consideration, however, is that we must come up with a format that makes the newspaper easy to read, particularly for the elderly.

One Realtor told us the other day about the growing amount of paper work in real estate transactions due to government regulations.

We recall President Ford commented awhile back there were 5,146 separate kinds of government forms as a result of that paperwork.

Those who sit on any jury perform a valuable public service. Secrecy has no part in our jury trial system. We hope the press puts the pressure on the judge to release the names of the jurors.

Once again we are pleased to set aside space for the Summer Activities in Manchester program which meets with much appeal by our young people. The first SAM page of the season will appear in The Herald tomorrow.

This weekend will be a long one for many with Independence Day falling on Friday. Whatever your plans, we wish all of you a safe and sane holiday and weekend.

We can certainly appreciate the nuisance and inconvenience someone has to endure when a wrong telephone number appears in one of The Herald's want ads. We can attest to the fact that want ads get results because of the telephone calls we receive when a number is wrong.

Naturally, we are quick to offer an apology. The error isn't intentional and is corrected as quickly as possible but there will always be misuses when dealing with people and sophisticated machines.

One of our fellow Rotarians has a telephone number which is one digit away from both the cable television company and Manchester Community College numbers. He has many amusing moments and jokingly admits he is almost operating a secretarial service.

The thing that really turns us off is the person that calls and when we inform he or she it's a wrong number, the receiver is coked in our ear as if it were all our fault the number wasn't dialed correctly.

We are a bit disturbed when a electrician crew from Hartford Electric Light Co. can create a power outage, as was the case recently, when a branch accidentally fell across a power line. Granted, accidents can happen, but that we can understand.

What really worries us is if an innocent branch can knock out service, some of those lines are probably too weak to stand a severe wind and rain storm.

Ever since that famed ice storm, we also thought HELCO was engaged in a program of strengthening power lines to avoid as much as possible future outages.

Since the company is still paying rent for an empty building on Main Street due to lease requirements, perhaps it should consider renting the building or a portion of it and use the money to upgrade power lines.

A number of newspapers are reducing the width of their printed sheet so as to conserve newsprint which now seems to be in plentiful supply if you have the money to pay the high price.

Some newspapers have also reduced the size of their comic sections.

It isn't any secret that we are taking a look at several changes in format and reducing costs.

Our prime consideration, however, is that we must come up with a format that makes the newspaper easy to read, particularly for the elderly.

Gov. Grasso Vetoes
State Mortgage Bill

HARTFORD (UPI) — Five more bills have been vetoed by Gov. Ella T. Grasso, including one that would have extended a state program of guaranteeing mortgages for low- and middle-income families.

Mrs. Grasso also signed some bills Tuesday, including one barring the Environmental Protection Department from enforcing some of its pollution regulations on urban renewal projects.

The vetoed mortgage bill would have allowed the Connecticut Housing Finance Authority to start a low-cost mortgage program for city-dwellers regardless of income. The authority sells bonds to finance its program.

The governor also signed a bill requiring out-of-state specialized contractors working in Connecticut to hire employees with Connecticut licenses. The contractors who work on projects such as power generator construction generally have brought their own workers from out of state.

The pollution law exempts urban renewal and allowed plumbers to draw bonds before Oct. 1, 1974, from state regulations on "indirect pollution sources" adopted late last year.

The bill was sponsored by the Stamford urban renewal agency, which said some projects planned or started before Oct. 1 could not meet the regulations on indirect pollution sources, such as parking lots and streets.

Mrs. Grasso said she vetoed the measure on cheap mortgages for city-dwellers regardless of income because its impact "would transcend the current scope of the activities of the Connecticut Housing Finance Authority."

Other bills vetoed by Mrs. Grasso would have: — Doubled, from $100 million to $200 million, the finance authority's limit for insured mortgages.

— Required contractors working in Connecticut to hire employees with Connecticut licenses. The contractors who work on projects such as power generator construction generally have brought their own workers from out of state.

TODAY'S THOUGHT

To err is Human, to forgive... I once telephoned a contractor to do some work around the house. He made an appointment and never showed. Later, I tried again. The same result. Then, once again, I set up a time to discuss the matter. He agreed and never came. This went on for ten times.

Finally, we met by chance. When asked if he wanted the job, he eagerly asserted that he did. I told him about the ten missed sessions and offered him one more chance.

Three years ago we had this confrontation — and he has not missed a conference about the house and grounds since.

How long do we forgive? How many do we forgive? Jesus says very much.

On every level of life we need more forgiveness — in our professional demands, our business relations, and in the home. And also, in the church.

John Wesley's mother had corrected one of her many children seventeen times. Her impatient husband remonstrated with her. The response has much truth and relevance the impatience of our day.
"If I had not told him the eighteenth time, I would have wasted the other seventeen."
Passions controlled, patience exerted make a difference in human relationships. We need to learn how much of each to exercise and upon whom — lest we cast our pearls before swine.

We are urging you to drive safely over the Fourth today, Wednesday, in the hope that you will read this before you leave on your holiday or will give the same message to your friends and loved ones who plan to take advantage of the long holiday weekend.

Frankly, we don't know if the safe driving messages we publish before every major holiday get across to our readers.

We suspect that in all the excitement and pleasure of family holiday outings, the last thing we want to think about is the real possibility of an accident in which someone we love might be killed or seriously injured.

Yet, after each holiday, there are those grim statistics of hundreds of Americans being killed and thousands injured because in most instances

Support Sports 41 Years - Forty-two years ago Matt and the late Maurice Moriarty launched their service station business under the name Moriarty Bros. on Center Street.

One year later, in 1934, Moriarty's backed the first athletic team bearing their name. Since that time, Moriarty's has become the No. 1 backer of sports annually in this one-time City of Village Charm.

The first team Moriarty's sponsored was basketball, which carried the name Moriarty Firestones. Fran Mahoney, a state representative and long-time friend of Moriarty, was the skinny little West Sider who approached Matt and asked if he was willing to sponsor his team of West Side young men.

Moriarty, who has picked up the title of Mr. Baseball in Manchester, has been the financial angel behind American Legion baseball since 1945 when the popular summer program was reborn after a lapse during World War II.

Without his support, the local program would have been in deep trouble over the years. The official dedication and naming of the field will take place between the first-day doubleheader in the Matt Moriarty Invitational Tournament featuring four Legion entries.

Little Mike Cooney, who captured the first two Insurance Agents Youth Tournaments the past two years at the Manchester Country Club, credits his father for his help, patience and encouragement.

Placido collected his hit in the first inning and after that Lewis closed the door. Hartford tallied all four runs in the sixth frame off reliever Jim Gagne.

Top Designated Hitter - NEW YORK (UPI) - Jim Rice, the Boston Red Sox "other rookie," is the American League top designated hitter after 12 weeks of the season, it was announced Tuesday by the league office.

Hits Came in Waves at Fenway With Orioles Getting More Runs

BOSTON (UPI) - The hits came in waves, pounding through an infield crashing against the left field wall and washing over the fences.

But the tide suddenly turned on Boston Tuesday night as relievers Wayne Granger and Grant Jackson drier up the Red Sox offense to give the Baltimore Orioles a 10-6 victory.

Each team amassed 13 hits, the Red Sox, however, managed just four safeties during the final four innings while the Orioles unleashed seven hits over the same stretch.

The winning hit was Don Baylor's three-run homer in the seventh off Reggie Cleveland, the third of Boston's five pitchers. The clutch, which hit a light tower behind the left field wall, broke a 6-6 tie.

The Orioles were scoreless for three innings Tuesday against Dick Drago, but scored two runs in the fourth on a walk to Al Bumbry, a triple by May and Jeff Northing's ground out. The Red Sox, who had taken a 1-0 lead in the Bernie Carbo's 13th inning, scored four runs in the fourth inning to go back ahead, 5-2.

Baltimore tied the game with three fifth-inning runs. Boston won the game 10-6.

Director Phyllis Jackson presented a resolution on the subject which will be presented to Moriarty between games of Friday's doubleheader in the Matt Moriarty American Legion Invitational Baseball Tournament.

Moriarty has been a major factor in supporting and keeping baseball alive in Manchester for more than 40 years. A plaque will be erected at Moriarty Field at a later date.

Johnson, Serafini Pace MB Victory

Old pro Gene Johnson, energetic Mike McDonald and fireballing John Serafini combined their talents last night as Moriarty Brothers continued their undefeated pace in the Hartford Twilight League.

The season's best crowd at Mt. Nebo, which contributed the highest collection, watched the MB's move two and one-half games ahead of Volkswagen in the American Division standings with a 5-0 triumph over Langan.

Johnson, who entered play with a 500 batting average, landed three hits in as many trips, all singles, and drove in three runs as the designated hitter.

The mustached McDonald gave Serafini all the runs he needed with a two-run homer over the centerfield fence in the third inning, following Johnson across the plate.

Serafini finished the shutout on a four-hit effort. The only trouble he had was with Lou Bazzano who collected three of Langan's four safeties, all singles. Serafini fanned six batters and walked just one in outdueling Ken Skoglund. Each pitcher entered play with a 2-0 record.

Light-hitting Manchester Community College found Paul Plass giving the allocation of runs to the team.

Placido collected his hit in the first inning and after that Lewis closed the door. Hartford tallied all four runs in the sixth frame off reliever Jim Gagne.

Top Designated Hitter - NEW YORK (UPI) - Jim Rice, the Boston Red Sox "other rookie," is the American League top designated hitter after 12 weeks of the season, it was announced Tuesday by the league office.

Mr. Baseball Honored

Mr. Baseball in Manchester, Matt Moriarty Sr., was honored last night when the town's Board of Directors unanimously approved renaming the athletic complex at Mt. Nebo to Moriarty Field.

Moriarty has been a major factor in supporting and keeping baseball alive in Manchester for more than 40 years. A plaque will be erected at Moriarty Field at a later date.

Evert-Billie Jean Gain Semi-Finals

Bjorn Borg Rests on Injured Leg Suede Lost to Arthur Ashe 2-6, 6-4, 8-6, 6-1

WIMBLEDON, England (UPI) — Chris Evert's ambition — besides retaining her Wimbledon singles title — is to beat Billie Jean King on grass. This conflicts with Ms. King's ambition to win two titles at the championships this week and break the pre-war record of 19.

Since 20-year-old Chris, the top seed and defending champion from Fort Lauderdale, Fla., and 31-year-old Billie Jean meet in the semifinals today, somebody is going to be disappointed. The bookmakers are giving odds that it will be Billie Jean, the third seed.

Billie Jean disagrees with them. "I'm in my best shape in years," she said.

Another contest between youth and experience takes place in the other semifinal where Margaret Court of Australia, a mother of two, will play for her 32nd birthday, meets Evonne Goollagong Cawley, a 23-year-old newlywed, fifth-seeded Mrs. Court, with her family to think of, and 16-year-old Mrs. Cawley, with the high price of setting up house these days, have the same single-minded ambition — the $10,000 first prize.

Doctors at ringside said temperatures under the television lights in the stadium averaged 115 degrees and both fighters said the heat and humidity nearly wilted them. Bugner, who earned $500,000 dollars, weighed 230 pounds and was 6'2 1/2.

Not Reds' Win Formula

NEW YORK (UPI) — The errorless streak record is over but the Cincinnati Reds, reluctant bystanders last year while Los Angeles swept to a pennant, are pretty confident they've found the winning formula.

It's the same formula Billy Martin has been trying to tell his Texas Rangers and, as simple as it is, it makes perfect sense: hang in and play through the late innings.

The Reds wisely ignored that factor last season and the result was they were beaten out by the Dodgers by four games.

This year the aggressive Reds already have won nine games in their last 10 and are running away from the Pirates 10, Expos 4, and Cardinals 9.

St. Louis' Mike McGraw drove in three runs apiece for Houston, Pittsburgh and Montreal 4-4, Chicago clipped New York 5-4 in 10 innings, San Diego whipped Los Angeles 10-1 and San Francisco walked Atlanta 9-1.

Ali Not to Return To U.S. Before Oct. 1

KUALA LUMPUR (UPI) — Muhammad Ali said Tuesday he would not return to the United States before defending his world heavyweight championship against Joe Frazier in Manila, Oct. 1, preferring to train in Asia.

"I just don't want to go back — there's too much pressure," Ali told reporters a few hours after retaining his title with a 15-round unanimous decision over British challenger Joe Bugner.

Describing himself as disappointed with his performance against Bugner despite having to fight in 115-degree temperatures, Ali said he would remain in Malaysia before moving to the Philippines in early September.

All, in his bare feet and wearing the same black and white robe in which he entered the ring at Merdeka (Independence) Stadium Tuesday, first met with reporters in the presidential suite of his hotel and later at a circus-like news conference with Frazier.

The Manila bout, with the Philippine government the promoter, could net Ali as much as $8 million dollars, according to Frazier.

Trainer-manager Andy Smith, plainly disappointed with Bugner's showing Tuesday, said he would fly home to London on Thursday afternoon.

"I feel bad because of my performance today," said Ali, whose purse was about 2.5 million dollars. "I couldn't land a jab. It was two men with the same style. This man is like punching myself. But he's better than the fellows I've been fighting."

Despite aggressive tactics which surprised Ali from the opening bell, Bugner seemed incapable of throwing a serious right-hand punch, depending on an ineffectual left jab. The bout ended with Bugner on the ropes and Smith screaming at his fighter to "hit him, hit him."

Doctors at ringside said temperatures under the television lights in the stadium averaged 115 degrees and both fighters said the heat and humidity nearly wilted them. Bugner, who earned $500,000 dollars, weighed 230 pounds and was 6'2 1/2.

The champion was flying off to Sabah state in North Borneo on Wednesday for a brief vacation as the guest of Tun Mustapha Harun, chief minister of Sabah and a multi-millionaire timber tycoon who has two private golfstream jets at his disposal.

No Place in Soccer For Any Witchcraft

NAIROBI (UPI) — Which doctors have become the behind-the-scenes superstars of Kenyan soccer and sports officials have threatened to prosecute teams who hired them.

Kenya Soccer Federation secretary Oware Ashok said he was angry at the witch doctors, who doctors, and fans: "Witchcraft should have no place in Kenya soccer. The practice of witchcraft is unsettling our efforts to clean up soccer."

Observers estimate 95 per cent of Kenya soccer clubs hire witch doctors or soothsayers to help them win matches.

The witch doctors, many of them former members of the Kenya Air Force, claim they can — Make the ball disappear. — Make it serve at a vital moment. — Prevent players from scoring by freezing their bodies momentarily.

Over at the West Side Oval, Burger King ruled Mari-Mads, 10-2, with the losers charged with seven misdeeds. Dave Cheung picked up the win with two hits and four RBIs. Craig Yankovsky had two hits for Mari-Mads.

The King and Queen of Malaysia and lesser royalty sat in a sealed-off section at ringside, cooked by electric fans. "Bugner didn't put on pressure on him (Ali)," Frazier said. "I was sweating more than they, was I'm looking forward to meeting this man."

But Ali and members of his entourage reminded listeners that the champion had boxed 41 rounds in his last three matches over a 100-day period, while Frazier had been idle.

Early goals by Steve Byam and Eric Waller gave the Lancans a 2-1 verdict over the Tigers. Randy Nightingale scored for the Tigers.

Dave Johnson and Tom Wood also scored for the winners. Dan Logan scored two for the Metrox with Dan Weinbaum and Mike Zotta adding one apiece.

Tim Carmel's goal in the first period gave the Apollos a 1-0 lead over the Specters. McCurry was best in defeat. Also in the Southern Division, the Wings ousted the Comets, 4-1. R.J. Jones scored four goals. Billy Silver, Bob and Jennifer Hedlund one for the winners. Dale Blagrove, Gabriele Purcell, Cherie Backdock and Angelo Morson tallied for the Comets.

Vernon Teachers Seek Contract Mediation

BARBARA RICHMOND

A request for mediation hearings on Vernon teacher salary contracts has been filed with State Education Commissioner Mark Shedd by the Vernon Education Association. The Town Board of Education agreed Tuesday night to take no further action and let mediation proceedings go forward.

The letter to Shedd was sent by Richard Bowman, chief negotiator for the VEA. The special meeting of the school board was conducted to bring the board up to date on the negotiations.

Board Chairman William Houle said the two committees have been meeting since last October. He said there were 18 meetings in all and they didn't succeed in bringing negotiations to a successful conclusion.

The ground rules set by the two groups included an agreement that no information would be released to the public until the groups agreed on a salary contract. It also included an agreement that either group would be free to discuss the matter openly should an impasse occur.

Bowman's letter stated that the VEA had made repeated efforts to go to mediation.

Robert Dubeau, chairman of the school board's negotiating team, said the last VEA proposal was for a 10 per cent increase across the board and the most recent offer of his committee was a two-year package with a seven per cent increase the first year and an eight per cent increase the second year. This also carried with it a clause for reopening salary negotiations the second year, if necessary.

Dubeau said the VEA request would have required $481,762 more than the $4,882,577 budgeted and the board's most recent proposal would have cost $314,169 more.

"The two committees were well over $167,000 apart but we are further apart in terms of philosophy or in terms of what the salary proposal might be," Dubeau said.

Dubeau was asked by Steven

Marcham if the across-the-board approach was a new one. Dubeau said this was the first time he can remember that such a raise was discussed. He said it was hoped that this would be an inducement to effectuate a settlement and reward the teachers who have been in the system a long time.

Houle said the across-the-board approach wasn't the original proposal. He said he felt this approach will tend to create problems at the top of the salary scale but it was the VEA's position that there be agreement on such a raise to give the top level as much of an adjustment as the lower level. He said under the old arrangement the top level only received about half the salary adjustment.

One of the additional fringe benefits sought by the VEA is a dental rider on the insurance policy. Dubeau said his committee had agreed that this could be part of the second-year agreement if a two-year proposal were accepted.

Houle said he feels mediation should be avoided.

"It is detrimental to the school system and to the education of the kids in town. I had hoped we could come to terms with our employees as I feel if the employees are happy, we'll have better teachers," Houle said.

Dubeau said the VEA once proposed that it be given one lump sum and be permitted to set its own salary schedule.

"This would be fraught with problems," Dubeau said.

He said that when the Town Council was cutting the budget the VEA was told all previous agreements were off and would have to be renegotiated because of the budget restraints.

The Town Council reduced the budget by $200,000 and this budget was finally approved at a third town meeting. Education budgets reflecting a $338,000 cut were rejected twice.

Dubeau said it is the board members' position that it can't budget an amount higher than what it already has budgeted for salaries.

"It's not fair to the taxpayers," he said.

He added, "We've attempted to remain as flexible as possible. I don't think mediation is going to prove fruitful to either side. Mediation is not binding."

He said, "The Town Council has the ace in its hands to approve or disapprove the contract and I don't think it will approve a contract above the budget."

The council has already indicated, by cutting the education budget, that it feels a six per cent salary increase is proper.

Board member Harold Cummings noted that the board has the power to transfer funds within its budget if necessary. Cummings said, "I don't think it would be to the board's advantage to take another option. If we make another offer we'd have to restructure our budget. I don't see anything frightening about mediation, I think we should let it ride its course."

Board member Steven Marcham reminded Houle that the negotiating committee had already gone beyond limits set by the board in offering a seven per cent increase the first year. James Boettcher said, "I think anything beyond the 6.5 per cent would mean we are extending ourselves beyond the economy of the budget and what is reasonable."

Bowman, attending the board meeting, was asked later to comment.

He repeated Dubeau's comment that both groups worked very hard to reach an agreement. He said there were no fights, but rather than waste time the VEA felt it was important to get a third party's opinion.

He said in March the two groups were very close to settlement, but the Town Council's budget cut caused the offers to be altered dramatically.

He said the teachers feel that all municipal employees should be treated equally. He also said that compared to other towns, Vernon's teacher salary schedule is "very, very poor."

He said the teachers gave his committee firm approval that if an agreement could not be reached during the summer their further action will be taken in the fall.

He said the existing contract has a holdover clause, calling for it to remain in effect until a successor agreement is reached.

He said Shedd said the matter might go to mediation by mid-July and arbitration by mid-August depending on when both groups file briefs.

Field Lights Await Council Action

SOUTH WINDSOR

Judy Kuehnel

The only thing left before the South Windsor Jaycees can begin developing the town's first lighted softball field is for the Town Council to authorize a payment of $30,000 to pay for the field.

That authorization is expected to come at Monday night's Town Council meeting next week.

The council will make one of its first expenditures from the revenue sharing account for the park if it authorizes the money. With the new fiscal year beginning this week, and the council's first meeting of the next year next week, the ballpark will be one of the major items on the agenda.

However, after months of controversy over the field, any vote to authorize payment of the town's first such field will be somewhat anticlimactic.

The most recent development in the ballpark controversy came this past weekend when Mayor Robert Smith asked the Town Council to consider developing the field on a site other than the already existing hardball field at Rye Street Park, and in this way preserve one field and add a new one.

The council, however, felt the existing field was worth saving and was somewhat split on the matter during an informal session.

Ever since the proposal for a lighted baseball field the council has been split on the matter. Initially the question was "should we have such a field in South Windsor?"

Once it was determined enough residents wanted the field, the question became "where should it be developed?"

This is where the real controversy lies, and still does, despite a majority council vote placing the field at Rye Street Park, and in this way preserve one field and add a new one.

The council, however, felt the existing field was worth saving and was somewhat split on the matter during an informal session.

should be easier for everyone in town to use.

Proponents of Rye Street, however, contend their section of town is often left out for the same reason - it's not centrally located.

Secondly, Rye Street advocated contend that a park already exists there and to develop the field where the current hardball field is located would save money in landscaping, backstops and other already provided-for equipment.

The issue may come to an end by next week, but the argument over which site would have been best is one that easily flares up among councilmen when the matter is talked about - whether in public or private.

Building Program Too Ambitious

SOUTH WINDSOR

Judy Kuehnel
644-1364

A program proposed for municipal buildings in 1975 is apparently too expensive to be put into effect in full force for some time now, officials said.

However, the school department has decided to keep libraries open all summer this year, manned by volunteers, and in effect is implementing a small part of what the concept is about.

Under the community school concept, schools and municipal buildings are available to the public on a day and night, year round basis.

Proven successful in other communities, the concept, for the most part, is funded by boards of education.

With the Town Council pulling the purse strings tighter than ever this year the Board of Education finds itself unable to spare any of the additional funds a community school program will require.

While the school board has not eliminated or even discontinued the possibility of South Windsor entering a community school concept program, the word is "not right now."

The concept began in Flint, Mich. where schools and school yards are being turned into hundreds of courses ranging from aviation to basket weaving are offered to people in all age categories.

In 1974 a representative from the Mott Foundation visited with South Windsor officials and spoke on the proposed concept.

The Mott Foundation - a subsidiary of General Motors - concerns itself with establishing community school concepts in communities that express a desire to initiate this type of program.

The South Windsor Library will be closed Friday, July 4 in observance of Independence Day.

Library hours are Monday through Thursday, 10 a.m. to 9 p.m. and Friday, 10 a.m. to 5 p.m.

ZBA

The South Windsor Zoning Board of Appeals will meet Thursday at 8 p.m. to hear three applications.

Dr. and Mrs. Benjamin

Adamo, 71 Breezlyth Rd., requests a variance to allow construction closer to the sidewalk than permitted in an AA-30 zone.

Wendell R. Hillmolt Jr., of 47 Philip Henry Circle, Windsor, requests a variance to allow construction close to the rear line than permitted at 350 Pleasant Valley Rd., industrial zone.

John Mason Jr., of 21 Hilton Dr., requests a temporary and conditional permit to allow the sale of hot dogs, hamburgers and other foods from a vehicle on A to Z Plaza, 164 Sullivan Ave.

Also approved was an application of Paul Cassarino, 540 Main St., for a subdivision of land, into two lots, located at Chapel Road and Main Street in an A-40 zone.

The PZC has disapproved the application of Jack Guay, of North Main Street, West Hartford, for a zone change from RR to A-40 on property consisting of about 18 acres, located north of Clifford Road to the east of Lawrence Road.

Methodist Church School Revamped

BOLTON

Donna Holland
646-0375

The United Methodist Church has restructured church school for the 1975-1976 school year.

A new Sunday morning format has been adopted following the church's 1975 emphasis on the family and because the UMC is now using a three-year lectionary in conjunction with the Roman Catholic, Lutheran, Episcopal and other Protestant mainline churches.

It will become effective Oct. 5.

The planned time schedule is church school for kindergarten through Grade 12 at 10 a.m., a short break from 10:30 until 10:45 a.m. and family worship at 10:45 a.m.

To fully appreciate family worship services families in the parish are encouraged to begin attending the summer 10 a.m. family services.

They include both children's and adult's sermons.

Beginning Oct. 5 coffee will be served from 10 until 10:45 a.m. A nursery will be in session from 10:30 a.m. until noon for infants through Grade 2 children.

A minimum requirement for youth anticipating joining the church in 1976 will be participation in the Sunday morning high school class and attendance at the family worship service.

When the budget for the 1975-1976 fiscal year was prepared, the school board didn't know the bill would be passed.

Townpeople approved the program at a cost of $1,386 with revenue expected in the amount of $1,320.

Joseph Fleming and Roger Titus, Bolton High School principal and driver education teacher respectively, said the program is very important to the students.

Allen said according to statistics the cost decreases accidents.

He said we talk about offering a wide area of curriculum and driver education should be an important part of the curriculum.

The program decreases the insurance rate for participants from 10 to 20 per cent.

Allen said commercial training cost $15 per hour for on-the-road training and $30 to $40 for classroom instruction so even charging students more than in the past is still cheaper than commercial training.

He said Bolton will have the use of a car next year at no cost.

The board discussed various ways the program could be run before arriving at its decision.

William Vogel, chairman of the board, said if the town people approved the whole cost of the program it would take pressure off the state legislature and government to pick it up again in the future.

He said citizens should complain and let them know they were interested in cutting back this type of program.

Board member Marilyn Breslow said when the program begins in September, night driving should be included. It hasn't been in the past.

Barbara Smith, who begins her first term on the school board this month, asked the board to look into a program entitled "Defensive Driving" that is sponsored by an insurance company.

Legislation passed during the 1974-1975 session repealed the driver education mandate act. It left the decision of whether or not to have driver education up to individual school boards. It ended all remuneration.

Club Offers School Anti-VD Stickers

Donna Holland

A request from the Bolton Women's Club affairs committee for permission to put "end venereal disease" stickers on lavatory doors and mirrors was turned over to the administrator by the Board of Education.

Superintendent of Schools Raymond Allen is to work with the health staff in finding a proper location for the stickers.

The request came from the club in an attempt to spread information rather than the disease.

Board members appeared surprised at the request.

Marilyn Breslow said she couldn't believe the club would put money into the stickers.

She said if they were put on doors and mirrors they would be peeled right off. She said the idea was good, but those requesting it didn't know school kids.

William Vogel, chairman of the board, said he feels a good deal is being done in the schools to get the information to the kids and he feels it could be overdone.

He said putting stickers on doors and mirrors would be offending it.

He said it shouldn't be put someplace where someone had to go specifically just to get the information.

Court Decision Ends Tax Suit

SOUTH WINDSOR
Judy Kuehnel
644-1364

Superior court judge ruled in favor of the taxpayer in a suit filed in the Superior Court of the State of Connecticut on July 1, 1975.

An attempt by a dozen South Windsor homeowners to obtain an injunction against the Board of Tax Review to prevent one-to-one hearings regarding assessments has come to an abrupt end.

Hartford County Judge Francis McCarthy has denied the Main St. group the injunction on the basis that a choice was offered — either a one-to-one hearing or a full three-man hearing.

Had the injunction been granted, the case would have had statewide implications regarding tax review hearings during revaluation time — and would have been "precedent setting," according to officials.

Because of the hearing on assessment appeals nearly 500 — following South Windsor's property assessment, the Board of Tax Review had planned to hold one-to-one hearings with the final decision made by the entire board.

Following this announcement, however, a group of Main

Second Vietnamese Family in Town

A second refugee family from South Vietnam has settled in Manchester under the sponsorship of the Emanuel Lutheran church's Mission and Ministry Committee.

The Dao family from Saigon arrived Monday evening at Bradley International Airport from Ft. Chaffee, Ark., ending a month of "red tape" paperwork which included the loss of one set of processing papers, David Torstenson, vice chairman of the church council and lay chairman of the congregation, said.

Handling the paperwork, he said, was Don Toney, chairman of the Mission and Ministry Committee.

The Dao family sponsorship was arranged through the Lutheran Immigration and Refugee Service and according to church officials it is expected that as many as 20 families will be settled in the Hartford area. Leading a delegation of parishioners to welcome the family to its Manchester home were Toney, Torstenson and the Rev. Ronald Forster, pastor.

The family is headed by Dao At Van, 40, who has worked for the United States Army and more recently its intelligence mission in Saigon for 10 years. He was born in South Vietnam and is a Buddhist.

His wife, Ngy Khiam Thi is 36 and a Catholic.

They have three children, two daughters, Nga Thanh Nga, 15, and Nhang Thi Thanh, 11, and a son, Quoc Khanh, 7.

The father speaks English fairly well and will be employed at the Cheney Bros. mill when it resumes operations about July 15. The son also speaks some English, having studied the language for about three months before the family was evacuated just before the fall of Saigon.

The father has had 13 years of schooling including one year of law school, Torstenson said. The committee asked the address of the family be withheld for the time being to give them time to get settled in their new home. The home has been furnished by church members.

Many church members brought in food for the family and were busily engaged in explaining operation of stoves, refrigerators and telephones to family members.

The Daos are the second refugee family in Manchester and will be joining the Nguyen family brought here about two weeks ago under the sponsorship of Lydall, Inc.
