

Egyptian-Israeli Pact Hinges on U.S. Pledge

By United Press International
Egyptian President Anwar Sadat said today Egypt and Israel have agreed on basic terms for a new Sinai disengagement pact. Israeli Foreign Minister Yigal Allon said such an agreement will include firm American commitments and guarantees.

There were indications the final agreement could come Saturday when Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger meets Israeli Prime Minister Yitzhak Rabin in Bonn. It was considered almost certain the agreement would call for the use of U.S. technicians to man an early warning system in the Sinai between the two nations.

Sadat made his statement in an interview with William Randolph Hearst Jr. and Kingsbury Smith of the Hearst Newspapers, printed today in the Boston Herald American.

Sadat said the agreement would be "a defusion of the explosive situation" in the Middle East if movement on the Syrian front follows and if an upcoming Geneva conference handles the problems of Palestine.

The Egyptian leader said he told President Ford in Salzburg last month the United States would be allowed to establish an early warning system in the Mitla and Gidi passes in the Sinai after Israel withdraws from those strategic areas.

Hearst and Smith reported Sadat said the new pact would return the oil fields of the Sinai to Egypt. In addition, he said following the agreement, he would extend on an annual basis the mandate for keeping United Nations forces in the Sinai buffer zones.

Israeli sources indicated the key to a settlement lay in the guarantees from the United States in what Allon called a three-way deal.

Rabin returned to those commitments and guarantees today in a news conference in Berlin when he said, "... Let me add in all humility—Israel does not consider it a national duty to commit suicide."

Allon did not spell out what the commitments from Washington would be but the newspaper Ma'ariv said Israel was seeking assurances of long-range aid from the United States. Both Egypt and Israel were reported to have agreed on a U.S.-manned early warning system between the two sides in the Sinai.

There was general optimism in Israel that the accord might be reached Saturday when Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger meets Rabin in Bonn after Kissinger's two days of talks in Geneva with Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko.

Rabin, on a four-day official visit to West Germany, told the Berlin news conference that a new agreement with Egypt now depends on its duration and on arrangements for establishing an early warning system against possible surprise attack.

In addition to these elements, Rabin said, an agreement with Egypt must include lifting of the Arab trade boycott of Israel and a cessation of hostile Arab propaganda.

Rabin said year-long negotiations had resolved quite a few problems but that certain key questions remain open.

"Among these is the question of the minimal duration of the agreement," Rabin said. "This has to be precisely regulated because so many agreements in the Middle East have not lasted very long."

Boston Antibusers Take Over Suite

BOSTON (UPI) — Antibusing demonstrators early today commandeered the penthouse hotel suite of Boston Mayor Kevin H. White protesting failure of the U.S. Conference of Mayors to oppose busing to integrate public schools.

The demonstrators voluntarily vacated the suite shortly before 11 a.m. after the entire floor had been cordoned off by police in both directions for a dozen hours. Police Commissioner Robert deGraaf said little damage was done.

"Demonstrations like this are unheard of in America. Streets, and sidewalks — yes. But breaking into a suite like this is unheard of," said White, host of the 43rd annual conference.

The demonstrators were led by City Councilor Louise Day Hicks, a symbol of antibusing. They danced, sang and burned small candles in the lavishly decorated suite on the 29th floor, atop the Sheraton-Boston Hotel.

Police cordoned off the floor. Mrs. Virginia Sheehy, a leader of Restore Our Alienated Rights, said there were some 75 demonstrators. But Stephen Dunneavy, a spokesman for Police Commissioner Robert deGraaf, said there were less than 40 and that 11 left during the night.

A white sheet, with the word ROAR — the name of the antibusing organization — pointed in huge black letters on it, hung from the windows of the room and could be read by passersby on Huntington Avenue.

Mrs. Sheehy said the group wanted the mayors to consider a proposal for an amendment to the U.S. Constitution forbidding busing pupils for integration.

White said he had no intention of having the demonstrators evicted. He also said it was too late for new resolutions to be submitted to the mayor's conference.

State Employees Soon May Pay More for Fringe Benefits

HARTFORD (UPI) — Gov. Ella T. Grasso today said she favors changes in state employees' fringe benefits which will save taxpayers about $2.6 million annually.

One change would "virtually eliminate" commissary privileges and free meals for state employees, she said. "Instead, employees would pay for each meal at a rate roughly equivalent to the state's cost."

Another change would increase the cost of housing available to state employees so charges would reflect the prices found in the real estate market. She said housing costs for certain state employees were devised 42 years ago in the Griffenhagen Plan.

She said she would ask the State Personnel Policy Board to approve the changes.

The governor today also vetoed a measure which would have allowed municipalities to issue permits for the burning of trash, including leaves.

The governor confirmed she was considering appointing Hartford City Councilman George Levine to the new State Public Utility Control Authority. She was to meet with Levine later in the morning.

Levine has come under attack for his lobbying at the Capitol for a number of private interests as well as for Hartford. The open burning bill had come under attack by critics who said the smoke created by the open burning would create a health hazard.

Mrs. Grasso said a report from the Department of Environmental Protection influenced her in her decision to veto the bill.

"When leaves burn, they don't burn clean, you know that," she said at a mid-morning news conference.

Mrs. Grasso was questioned about the state's neglect of the historic Prudence Crandall House in Canterbury. Money has been bonded to restore the landmark, a school in the 1830s run for black girls by an abolitionist, but the project has not started.

MMH Seeks Rate Increase In Budget Given to CHHC

By JUNE TOMPKINS

Manchester Memorial Hospital has submitted a budget to the Commission on Hospitals and Health Care requesting a price increase of 4.2 per cent, or about $1.8 million for the fiscal year beginning Oct. 1, 1975.

Nationally, hospital service charges have risen 11.2 per cent during the past year, according to the Bureau of Labor Statistics, while hospital semi-private room rates have risen more than 16 per cent. Last year, the commission approved hospital budgets calling for price increases averaging 8.3 per cent, a hospital spokesman said.

The increase requested by MMH would affect the room rates in semi-private rooms, intensive care unit, and maternity.

A hospital spokesman said the per day increase would be reflected as follows: Average semi-private — $74.36 to $87.51; intensive care unit, $119.51 to $150; maternity, $92.65 to $100.

Rockville General Hospital has requested a 4.5 per cent increase in its budget. Its daily room rate increases would be: Average semi-private — $89 to $91; intensive care unit — $122.18 to $123. The $80 per day rate in maternity would remain unchanged.

This year is the second in which hospitals have submitted their operating and capital budgets to the state regulatory agency.

Herbert A. Anderson, president of the Connecticut Hospital Association, said the rate increases will be used primarily to finance increases in wages and benefits for more than 30,000 employees in Connecticut's general care hospitals.

Anderson also said a recent survey of projected price increases for hospital supplies for 1975 to 1976 shows such key items as food, surgical supplies, pharmaceutical products, radiology equipment, etc., will have substantial increases which must be paid for by the hospitals. The MMH spokesman said in addition to rising costs in fuel and medical and surgical supplies, the cost of malpractice insurance premiums has more than doubled since last year.

Connecticut's hospital budgets will be examined during the next three months, said Anderson, and hearings will be held. If the budget is not approved as submitted, the commission will order the hospital to adopt a lower budget, Anderson said.

The Weather

Chance of afternoon thundershowers, highs in the 80s. Variable cloudiness, chance of a shower or thundershower tonight and Thursday. Lows tonight in the 60s and highs Thursday in the 80s. Chance of rain 30 per cent today, 40 per cent tonight and 30 per cent tomorrow. Winds variable about 10 mph, briefly gusty in thundershowers through Thursday.

Ring the Bell for Downtown Sales

Townwide Sidewalk Sales Begin Thursday Morning

Manchester merchants will continue a 25-year-old business tradition with Thursday's kickoff of the annual Sidewalk Sales promotion on Main St. and at the Manchester Shopping Parkade.

The sales will run Thursday, Friday and Saturday at nearly 100 stores downtown, at the Parkade, and other locations. Among special events planned during the three-day promotion are a chess tournament and an old-fashioned town crier.

Town Crier Kent Denley will begin his rounds on Main St. Thursday morning, walking the full length of the street (to the North End) and back, calling out bargains available at participating stores.

The chess tournament, sponsored by the Main Street Betterment Association and the Manchester Chess Club, will be conducted in the St. James Parking Lot, Park St., during the Sidewalk Sales. Registration for the tournament is Thursday from 4 to 6 p.m. at the parking lot.

At the Parkade, more than 40 stores are joining in the Sidewalk Sales, offering savings of 40 to 70 per cent. Similar bargains can be found throughout town.

Today's Herald includes a 16-page tabloid section on the Parkade's promotion. Downtown and other area stores' Sidewalk Sales advertisements start on Page 17 today.

MMH Nurses Ratify Contract

Nurses at Manchester Memorial Hospital voted Tuesday afternoon to ratify a two-year contract and averted a threatened strike.

Members of Local 28 of the Connecticut Nurses Association (CNA) voted from 1 to 5 p.m. in the conference rooms of the hospital. The ratification followed a month of unsuccessful efforts to reach an agreement on contract settlement.

The final negotiation meeting of state and federal mediators was a 14½-hour session beginning Monday afternoon at the Holiday Inn in East Hartford.

The contract includes increases for those who work shift differentials, and in weekend premiums.

The nurses will be paid time-and-a-half for seven designated holidays. In addition, they will get a day off later at straight time.

The nurses regularly have three floating holidays with pay.

The new contract also provides for increased pay for on-call operating room (OR) nurses. From the present $10 for 7½ hours and $18 for 15 hours, the new rate is $12 for 7½ hours and $22 for 15 hours.

Vacation improvements will allow four weeks after 15 years of service the first year, and three weeks after seven years of service the second year of the contract.

There is a maintenance of membership clause contained in the new contract which states a nurse who is a member of the Connecticut Nurses Association must maintain her membership in good standing throughout the contract.

Mrs. Mary Lou Millar, CNA district representative, said although an official vote could not be disclosed, it was the "largest turnout ever" to vote on a CNA contract.

The nurses planned to strike July 20 if a new contract had not been ratified. They had issued a 10-day strike extension on a strike notice Tuesday morning.

Controversial Labor Bills Signed by Gov. Grasso

HARTFORD (UPI) — State employees have the right to collective bargaining, and municipal labor talks include a binding arbitration backstop under two controversial labor laws now on the books.

With little fanfare, Gov. Ella T. Grasso, a Democrat, signed the two measures Monday. Their enactment, officially announced Tuesday, was given no more attention than 29 other new laws.

The two bills, of major importance to public employees and high on organized labor's list of legislative priorities, were opposed strongly by the small Republican minority in the legislature.

One bill gives state employees, including legislative and judicial employees, the right to organize collective bargaining units under the supervision of the state Labor Relations Board. Neither group has the right to strike.

In the municipal bill, binding arbitration goes into effect 90 days after a contract expires. The arbitrators take from each side its "last best offer" and decide from there.

The quiet manner in which Mrs. Grasso signed the two bills into law may prove to be in marked contrast with the court cases and union competition certain to follow.

At least one court fight looms over the state measure, and perhaps also over the municipal measure. And at least two major unions will meet head to head over representation of state employees.

The state employees' bill was attacked as an unconstitutional delegation of legislative authority. Although the legislature still must approve all contracts, some claim the legislature gives away its budget power.

Critics also charge the law does not provide enough criteria for the formation of bargaining units. Two guidelines in the law deal with "community of interest" and avoiding too many units.

Opponents of the municipal bill fear it will bankrupt the cities.

Professionals in state government, under the state bill, will have an option to vote on whether to organize with non-professionals.

Once the units are set up, various labor unions will compete to become the bargaining agent for each unit.

A major contest is shaping up between the 23,000-member Connecticut State Employees Association and the 5,000-member American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees.

Organizing may take two years or more.

'Does Everybody Remember What Bread Means?'

CAMP PENDLETON, Calif. (UPI) — "Does everybody remember what 'bread' means?" shouted Kelly De Sere into the microphone.

Maher Appeals For More Help For Children

HARTFORD (UPI) — A state commissioner Tuesday appealed to Connecticut's "more fortunate families" to help inner city children have a more rewarding summer despite widespread cutbacks in recreational services.

Social Services Commissioner Edward Maher said his agency would work with "public spirited groups and organizations" in placing the youngsters with families which "volunteer to share a part of their summer."

He encouraged families and single adults willing to make the summer months more enjoyable to urban youth to contact the central office or a district office of his department.

"Many supervised playgrounds, swimming pools and other types of recreation areas around the state are operating on shorter hours and with less staff this summer due to the fiscal crunch many cities and towns are laboring under," he said.

Those affected most by the cutback in services are inner city boys and girls whose recreational possibilities are normally limited due to family economics and now find themselves constricted to an even greater degree," Maher said.

OPINION
A Just Complaint

The other day we had a call from a lady who was very upset with the personal property tax on her car.

Her contention is that poor people like herself buy compact cars of economic necessity, yet because of the high demand and the relatively high resale value of such cars, she is paying almost as much in taxes as the owner of large cars which apparently have dropped in comparative value because of higher gas prices.

Her request was that the town and the state come up with some type of tax break for poor people.

She has a point. There is an exemption for veterans on property taxes and there are tax breaks for the elderly who have fixed incomes.

Hot Weather Blues

Here are a few things that seem to make the summer hotter than it really is or at least hotter under the collar.

A couple of senators have announced they will conduct hearings on the ways and whereof of the latest round of gasoline price increases. One of them conducted hearings on the price increases that followed the Arab Oil Embargo almost two years ago and has been too busy running for President since to push through any positive legislation on that price hike.

The Congress has reconvened but apparently won't be unpacking. Almost in the same breath, with the long list of jobs ahead of it, a recess for the month of August was announced. We wish congressmen would have to take their vacations in January for nothing ruins a day at the shore more than television politico.

Televoting, having tired of running reruns, is letting us have a break with what it calls mini-series. These are shows that will run for about four weeks to fill the gap between the shows of last year and those for next year which may or may not be the same.

This mini-series may be rejects have his taxes increase also.

Since there is no graduated income tax to take the place of the auto tax it is extremely unlikely that even if an income tax were placed on the books, it wouldn't end the tax on cars which is a major revenue source for the town, a low income exemption would not be out of line.

We would suggest our local legislators ponder the matter a bit and perhaps come up with a remedy at the trailer session later this month. A graduated scale of car taxes based on annual incomes up to $10,000 should not be too costly. Perhaps the same formula the federal government uses for hot lunch subsidies might be considered.

When a compact car sells today for what a Cadillac sold for only a few years ago, the lady has a point in seeking some relief from auto personal property taxes for low income people.

The bird that built this nest in the bell on the outside of the Sykes School, Park St., Rockville can settle down to hatching its eggs as the bell is now silenced for the summer vacation. (Photo by Barbara Richmond)

Indira As Dictator

This is not the woman I recall when I first met her the year I lived in India, 15 years ago; nor is it the woman I talked with on her visits to the United States as prime minister of India. The Indira Gandhi who has declared an emergency, suspended the democratic legal process of the Indian Union and put thousands of her political opponents into jail and made herself virtually a constitutional dictator seems so different a person that her transformation needs some explaining.

The late 1950s in India were an era of democratic hope. As Nehru's daughter, Indira Gandhi shared in that hope.

After she became prime minister, three things happened. Instead of holding an even "nonaligned" balance between the Soviet Union and America, she tilted far toward a Soviet alliance. She moved leftward toward nationalizing banks and industries, which mostly got India bogged down worse than, ever into economic wretchedness. Finally she got the sweet taste of an election success even greater than her father's, tasted also the heavy military triumph over Pakistan, venturing into nuclear testing, and expanded India's territory by annexing the little kingdoms to the north.

Thus the ground was prepared for her fall from her earlier grace. An Indian court held her guilty of corrupt election practices. This coincided with mounting discontents and a severe prestige defect in provincial elections. She faced a critical decision: Should she go along with an eroding power position and face possible ouster when the Supreme Court meets? Or should she stretch the emergency provision in the constitution, use its literal text as a pretext; discover a "conspiracy" which no detached observer believes in; and choose to lie her betrayal of India's democratic past?

She was in a tight spot. The courts and her political opponents were pressing her hard. Richard Nixon had the same feeling of being cornered by his opponents. If Nixon, just before the Supreme Court ruling against him on the tapes, had declared a national security emergency, the Soviet Union and America, she tilted far toward a Soviet alliance.

Indira feared having to resign and found the loss of her power and an intolerable situation. The next step was to imply the law was built as a convenience to the public? Sorry, we can't buy that one. If we wanted to pursue it further, a license plate check of vehicles in adjacent areas might prove interesting.

We received a letter from a woman complaining about cancellation of the learning, play activities program sponsored by the Board of Education. In her letter, she also contained an address and neither could we find it in the telephone directory.

A lot of programs are rewarding and worthwhile but unfortunately they cost money which is difficult to come by these days.

Also in the mail was a letter expressing disappointment over the Manchester Evening Herald's editorial on the fragility of Lincoln Center.

Will she succeed? There is a great tradition against her — that of nonviolent resistance to satrapism, which Gandhi and Indira's own father, Jawaharlal Nehru, used against British rule. But thus far there has been little resistance of any kind to Indira's coup. The fact is that potential critics fear arrest, and that there are no organized cadres for resistance.

The only weapon that the jailed leaders have is a longer strike. In Gandhi's image, two of the leaders — Jayaprakash Narayan and Morarji Desai, both in their 70s — have probably already begun such a fast. They have little children, plant early in their hearts the thought that religion is a job. Beware how you put a cross in the place of a rose. It is not enough that you teach the REVERENCE.

I would begin with LOVE. Let not the solemnity of religion be the foundation! Let your child see the ripple on the stream. Begin with telling him what he must do for God, tell what God has done and is doing for him! Do not link his Sabbaths with sadness, or his church with childless, or his prayers with pain! Show his faith among the flowers, his religion in radiant places. — He who serves God with gladness in the morning will find in God his peace when the night is far spent.

A number of newspapers have received letters from the Justice Department requesting that the papers comply with a recent federal statute prohibiting discrimination based on sex in the advertising of housing.

The 1968 Fair Housing Act was amended Aug. 22, 1974 to include a prohibition against sex discrimination in the sale or rental of a dwelling.

The statute doesn't cover advertisements by tenants seeking roommates. Thus, to add to the confusion, you can still advertise that you are seeking a male or female roommate.

But you can't advertise that you have an apartment that you are willing to rent to a single girl only or for that matter a single man. When our want ad girls tell you it can't be done, please don't scream at them.

It is strange but those in business will hire the best attorneys, the best accountants the money can buy, but they won't spend 10 minutes a day trying to find out what is going on in Washington, Hartford, or for that matter, town hall.

A great part of the citizenry will complain about this or that piece of legislation to a friend or neighbor but won't take the time to write to the lawmakers. Too many are quick to comment, "They won't pay attention to my letter anyway."

Good and bad news. Under a new federal emergency program, you can draw unemployment benefits up to 85 weeks, and brother that ought to give you enough time to either find a job or discover truly that you didn't want to work in the first place.

The official gave us a copy of a memo from the general manager of the Lincoln Center parking lot. It would have been equivalent to what Indira has done. Even Nixon lacked the gall to do it.

The election offense for which a judge declared Indira guilty of corrupt practices was a minor one and doesn't compare with the military triumph over Pakistan, venturing into nuclear testing, and expanded India's territory by annexing the little kingdoms to the north.

Indira feared having to resign and found the loss of her power and an intolerable situation. The next step was to imply the law was built as a convenience to the public? Sorry, we can't buy that one. If we wanted to pursue it further, a license plate check of vehicles in adjacent areas might prove interesting.

Electric Boat Talks Continue

GROTON (UPI) — Negotiators for Electric Boat and 10,000 striking workers were to return to the bargaining table today as the threat of legal actions divided the number of picketers at plant gates.

The negotiators vowed Tuesday to meet every day in an attempt to reach a quick settlement to the nine-day strike, and federal state mediators said both sides were bargaining "seriously."

The walkout by the Metal Trades Council, a group of 11 unions, has hampered work at the plant, which builds atomic submarines for the U.S. Navy.

Only about 50 picketers congregated near the plant gates Tuesday, in contrast with the hundreds of strikers who turned out in the first days of the walkout, when 20 persons were arrested during a number of disturbances.

A Norwich Superior Court judge Monday ordered the union to keep no more than five picketers at each of the plant gates, and threatened fines against the union of up to $10,000 for disobeying his order.

Three persons were arrested Tuesday after brief incidents, and two picketers were treated for minor injuries after being hit by a car driven by an Electric Boat employee, police said. The driver was charged with reckless driving. One of the two persons arrested in an incident shortly after the car mishap was charged with disorderly conduct and the other with tearing a phone out of a booth at a plant gate, police said.

A record 43 million Americans, or one out of every five of the population spent $270 million on state hunting and fishing licenses in 1974.

Major Francis Mahoney issues general appeal to Manchester youth to join with him for "complete elimination of all unnecessary disturbances that are creating many problems facing the town today."

Mrs. Gary Caron

The marriage of Doreen Anderson of Manchester to Gary Caron of Hebron was solemnized May 24 at St. James Church.

The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Iver Anderson of 15 Willard Rd. The bridegroom is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Adrian Caron of Wellswood Rd., Hebron.

The Rev. Bernard Killen of St. James Church performed the double-ring ceremony. Bouquets of white gladioli were on the altar. Kenneth Wood was organist, and Helen Copes, soloist.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a beaded gown of ivory silk organza accented with re-embroidered Alencon lace and designed with high fitted lace collar, fitted bodice, long tapered sleeves edged with beading, an A-line skirt and a chapel-length train. Her cathedral-length mantilla of silk illusion was edged and applied with lace, and she carried a colonial bouquet of ivory stephanotis and roses with baby's breath.

Karlyn Santanella of Elmwood, cousin of the bride, was maid of honor. Her gown of meadow green Quiana and ivory Belgian lace was styled with a lace bib and collar, fitted bodice, long fitted sleeves and circular skirt. She wore a matching saucer-type hat, with face veil, and carried a bouquet of roses, carnations, daisies and ivory baby's breath.

Bridesmaids were Diane Caron of Hebron, sister of the bridegroom; Kim Maults of Florida, cousin of the bride; and Gail Wilkinson of Manchester. Their cool green colored ensembles were similar to that worn by the maid of honor. They also carried similar bouquets.

Junior bridesmaids were Sandy Caron of Hebron, sister of the bridegroom; and Donna Gentilcore of Vernon, the bride's niece. Their peach party-fair ensembles were styled to match those of the adult attendants, and they carried similar bouquets.

Jennifer Wilkinson of Manchester was flower girl. Her gown was similar to that worn by the maid of honor, and she wore a floral headpiece. Steve Kukutcha of Hebron served as best man. Users were MIDDLETOWN (UPI) — A $1 million fire which destroyed much of a downtown factory complex has been labeled "suspicious" by Fire Chief John E. Riordan.

More than 200 persons were thrown out of work by the blaze. The investigation into the Saturday night fire by his office and the state fire marshal showed the blaze began near an outside wall at the rear of the complex, indicating it was set, Riordan said Tuesday.

He said the fire began near two propane gas tanks, the contents of which fueled the flames.

Ex-Official Admits Guilt

HARTFORD (UPI) — A former officer of the parent firm of Artistic Wire Products Co. of Norwich has pleaded guilty to ordering the $1 million fire that destroyed the firm.

Robert G. Icenhower, 40, of Santa Ana, Calif., entered the plea Tuesday just as his trial was about to begin before U.S. District Court T. Emmet Clarke. The charges were conspiracy and interstate travel in connection with the purpose of committing arson.

The prosecution had alleged that Icenhower arranged to pay $100,000 to have Artistic Wire burned down in order to collect about $6 million in insurance benefits.

Two of the four other men charged in the blaze Oct. 28, 1973, already have pleaded guilty.

The Montreal Gazette, the English language morning newspaper, was founded in 1773 by Benjamin Franklin. It was originally published in French.

GAO Says Federal Workers May Have Been Overpaid

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The General Accounting Office says federal government workers may have been overcompensated since 1970. Under a 1966 law, federal workers were to receive compensation equal to what is received by their counterparts in the private sector. But because the government ignored fringe benefits in comparing compensation, federal workers have received more total compensation than their counterparts, GAO said.

The GAO is Congress' investigatory arm. Since the government spends almost $1 in fringe benefits — vacations, sick leave, retirement benefits, health and life insurance and the like — for every $3 in pay, billions of dollars could be involved. The federal work force numbers 2.7 million and is paid $41 billion a year. At the time the law passed, private employers' fringe benefits exceeded federal fringe benefits, but that situation reversed around 1970, GAO said.

As a result, the Civil Service Commission learned two years ago the federal government was more generous than 19 other big employers, comparable to five and less generous than only one. The employers surveyed for that comparison were 12 big corporations, the cities of Baltimore, Dallas, Phoenix and St. Louis and nine states — California, Georgia, Maryland, Michigan, Mississippi, Minnesota, New York, Virginia and Wisconsin.

The study covered retirement, life and health insurance, holidays and sick and annual leave programs. When the "comparability principle" was enacted, federal fringe benefits, but that situation reversed around 1970, GAO said.

There was the Secret Service agent, standing guard at the door, "who started screaming and whistling," says Gouley. When the garbage seizure incident ended 2 1/2 hours later, Gouley had the trash bags secure in his car and the police, despite requests from the Secret Service, refused to take Gouley's car.

The State Department said later Kissinger was "really revolted by this act" and Mrs. Kissinger was caused "great anguish." Gouley, 27, said in an interview that his paper had been a lawyer and determined, as did the police, that the garbage was on public property and therefore available to the enterprising reporter.

He declined "for crass and commercial reasons" to disclose what he learned. But he conceded that going through the garbage is "a rather unpleasant task."

HARTFORD (UPI) — The U.S. Labor Department has severely criticized Hartford for its laxness in handling about $30,000 given to a local manpower program.

The clearly administrative manner in which the CRT portion of your grant was operated, the department said in an audit of some of the expenditures by the local anti-poverty agency, the Community Renewal Team.

Another was a $2,152 expenditure for a trip to Las Vegas by three CRT employees. A CRT spokesman said Tuesday the trip was for a national convention and was correctly charged to the federal funds. The Comprehensive Manpower Program received $5.6 million from the federal government in the period audited.

Hartford Criticized for Laxity by CRT

One of the audit's criticisms was that CRT had spent $28,829 in salaries for persons in the manpower program who apparently did not meet the federal requirements for low income.

CRT is under contract to the city to operate the Comprehensive Manpower Program, which provides job training to low and low-middle income persons who are unemployed.

City Manager Edward Curtin was given until Aug. 1 to justify the questioned expenses or the city will have to reimburse the federal government.

Benefit expenditures, which amounted to $11 billion in 1974, at present rates of growth will reach $24 billion in eight years, the report said.

Bicentennial Facts

Containing a large Loyalist population and influenced by its many Quakers, Pennsylvania was late in joining the Revolutionary movement. With the aid of such leaders as John Dickinson and Thomas Mifflin, however, the colony signed the Declaration of Independence at the State House in Philadelphia and by September, 1776, had overthrown its proprietary government and adopted a new state constitution. The World Almanac notes that during the Continental Congress (1774 and 1775-81) were held in Philadelphia.

Bentzen Urges CCC, WPA Be Revived

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. Lloyd Bentsen, D-Tex., suggested Tuesday the revival of two Depression era agencies so that half a generation of young people will not reach their mid-20s without ever holding a meaningful job. "The Depression programs that created jobs — the Civilian Conservation Corps and the Works Progress Administration — have been denied for some time, but with persisting unemployment they are beginning to look like a useful approach to putting people back to work," Bentsen said.

President Ford, in a speech to a Republican group in Cleveland last week, said the one thing the country does not need is a return to the leaf-raking schemes of the 1930s.

But Bentsen said the CCC put millions of young men in job camps, where they learned job skills while building national parks. "WPA built hospitals, public swimming pools, municipal buildings and parks that we are still using," he said.

He made his comment at a hearing by the Congressional Joint Economic Subcommittee on full employment, where witnesses said up to 60 per cent of black teenagers may reach their mid-20s without ever having held a productive job.

Stanley H. Rutterberg, assistant secretary of labor for manpower in the Johnson administration, testified that unless the government spends more to create jobs "the much heralded 'bottoming out' of the recession due this coming fall will be a false bottom."

Rutterberg called for a big public works program, arguing every $1 billion spent on construction directly or indirectly creates 50,000 jobs.

On Monday, William Lucy, president of the coalition of black trade unionists, told the panel that Ford's plans for economic recovery are "fundamentally racist" because they accept exclusion of blacks from the work force.

Reagan Still Undecided On Candidacy

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Ronald Reagan has not made a decision on whether to seek the Republican presidential nomination and such suggestions are "purely speculative," his private secretary said Tuesday.

Helene von Dam, who has worked for Reagan since he first ran for office in 1966, said she could speak for the former California governor in stating that he has not yet made up his mind whether to oppose President Ford.

Reagan was at his ranch near Santa Barbara, Calif., and not immediately available for direct comment.

Miss von Dam made her statement after the Miami Herald reported in its Tuesday edition in a story from Washington that the Knight newspapers had learned that Reagan had tentatively decided to challenge President Ford for the nomination after months of urging by conservatives in the party.

The Herald said the announcement of candidacy would be made later this month following the opening in Washington of a Reagan-for-President Committee to be organized by Lyn C. Nofziger, a long-time Reagan aide and political adviser.

Miss von Dam said that Reagan was aware of plans to form such an organization. "He does not oppose formation of the committee," she said. "But he does not want to comment about it until there is a formal announcement."

"I can say flatly that the governor has not yet decided on whether to seek the nomination and any suggestions to that effect are purely speculative."

Since he left office in January, Reagan has made dozens of speeches from coast to coast, many of them at GOP fund-raising events in which he definitely has left the door open to his candidacy.

ON SECOND THOUGHT By JAN WARREN

The Renaissance of the Dress In case you haven't noticed, dresses are back!

Anyway, it's a kind of fun to feel feminine and have a skirt swirling around my knees again.

But, after wearing pantsuits all these years, a dress does pose a few problems.

There's the matter of sitting like a lady. And checking for runs in your stockings.

And being sure that your slip doesn't show. And of course, in a dress your freedom of movement is a little restricted.

That fact was brought home to me yesterday when I heard the sound of cloth tearing.

Next time I'll remember. When you're wearing a dress you shouldn't try to jump the guard rail in the parking lot.

Palmer-Magadini Norma R. Magadini and William L. Palmer, both of Manchester, were married May 30 at Buckingham Congregational Church in Glastonbury.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Charles E. Gardella of Great Barrington, Mass. and the late Mr. Gardella.

The couple has returned from a trip to St. Thomas, V.I. and is residing in Manchester.

Vernon To Vote Sept. 9 On Fire Improvements

BARBARA RICHMOND
Vernon voters will go to the polls Sept. 9, to decide on an appropriation of $725,000 to carry out recommendations of the Fire Protection Committee appointed by Mayor Frank McCoy.

Before approving an ordinance and setting the referendum date, the Town Council conducted a public hearing on the ordinance last night.

The $725,000 appropriation includes funds for building and equipping an addition to the Vernon Center firehouse, buying land for a proposed new firehouse to replace the existing Dobsonville station, buying three major pieces of equipment, and improving the fire alarm system.

All were cited as priority items by the committee. While no one at the hearing really objected to the ordinance some voiced various degrees of disagreement with the amount and how it was going to be spent.

Richard Bowman asked how much the appropriation, if approved, would cost the average taxpayer. Morgan Campbell, a councilman and member of the committee, said he figured it would cost the average taxpayer about three-fourths of a mill the first year and would decline to about one-half mill in the 10th year. He later said this would mean, to the average homeowner, an increase of about $15 for the first year.

Vernon Fire Chief William Johnson spoke in favor of the ordinance and asked to get it to referendum as soon as possible.

"The committee report bears out all of the problems in the department," he said.

Former Councilman Milton Tedford also spoke in favor of the ordinance and urged that the full appropriation of $725,000 go to referendum as soon as possible.

Some of those attending the hearing questioned how the costs were broken down and what would happen if there shouldn't be enough money to cover all of the priority items.

Donald Eden, mayor pro tem, said that the figures used came from consulting with the two fire chiefs, the Permanent Building Committee and others, and he said he expected the $725,000 would cover all of the estimates.

Arthur Hobs, a Vernon fireman, questioned why plans were to add on to the Vernon Center station when the new one is contemplated to replace Dobsonville.

Eden said this recommendation came after a very lengthy investigation by the study committee. He said all of the information is contained in the report released several weeks ago.

Melvin Parrele then chastised Eden, asking, "How can we discuss this if you won't answer the questions?"

"I'm not a public hearing is not a debate and I told Parrele he was not to give a copy of the committee report to anyone," he said.

Bolton Appointments Delayed

BOLTON
Donna Holland
646-0375

Appointments to various town positions were temporarily postponed by the Board of Selectmen because those holding the positions had not been contacted to see if they wanted to continue and give Selectman Leon Rivers more time to get feedback from the Democratic Town Committee.

Although several appointments were unanimously agreed upon by the selectmen, controversy arose when David Dreselly, first selectman, presented the name Aiden Click for park commissioner and said he would be supported by Ray Soma and Ernie Manning.

He said the names were suggested by the Republican Town Committee.

Rivers asked why Larry Shaw, who has been park commissioner for about two years, "isn't being reappointed."

Dreselly said, "...because of comments he made during the last election."

In May Shaw and two other Democratic candidates in the town election said the Republicans were claiming credit for things that were not theirs to claim.

On several occasions Shaw said the people who led volunteers and those who volunteered did so because they care about the betterment of Bolton.

He said, "The volunteers were Bolton residents first, working toward improvement for their town, and party affiliates second, if at all."

At the meeting, Rivers said it's only fair the Democratic Town Committee has a chance to submit names. He questioned Click's appointment, saying of all those he knows who volunteer to work at the park, Click has done the least on a voluntary basis.

Dreselly said he thought Rivers was checking people and asking for feedback from the Democratic Town Committee. Maureen Houle, Democratic Town Committee chairman, said she would like more feedback and Dreselly said, "I thought you'd have it by tonight."

Rivers said he would like to wait until the next meeting to make the appointments unless it was a critical appointment that should be filled immediately.

Appointments made by the selectmen were John Mahon, town counsel; Donald Massey, tree warden; Henry Ryba, recreation commissioner; Cliff Massey, civil preparedness director.

The selectmen asked anyone interested in holding one of the following positions for the next two years to contact their office before their next meeting.

The selectmen's meeting scheduled for July 21 has been changed to July 18 at 8 p.m. at the Town Hall.

Positions to which appointment will be made are park commissioner, a committee of three to care for veterans' graves, energy coordinator with three helpers, selectmen's representative to the Capitol

Region Purchasing Council, Bolton Scholarship Committee and Regional Forum, Capitol Region Mental Health Planning Committee, Board of Health, Insurance Advisory Board, assistant civil preparedness directors, civil preparedness inter-communications officer, zoning commission, zoning communication alternate.

Also youth activities advisor and coordinator, liaison between drug information center and town, community contact person between state and town for the elderly, senior citizen committee, building board of appeals, industrial study committee, also known as the economic development committee, and representative to the health planning council.

Dreselly asked for and was given approval by Rivers and Norm Prewis, selectman, to appoint Phyllis Sattar, to the position of welfare director subject to her acceptance.

He said the resignation of Jean Nichols led the position vacant.

School Board
The Board of Education will meet Thursday at 8 p.m. in the Bolton Center School library.

Included on the agenda will be an election of officers, administrative reports, smoking policy and superintendent's priorities and system objectives.

Youth's Death Spurs Move for Coventry Auto Club

Monica Shea 742-9495
Due to the death of Robert Carr in an automobile accident last week, Rose Fowler, chairman of the Town Council and

Rev. Robert Bechtold of the Second Congregational Church will sponsor a meeting tonight in an attempt to form an automobile enthusiast club. Mrs. Fowler said, "Bobby's death pointed out a glaring need in Coventry for some form of constructive activity for teenagers and young people interested in cars."

"There is a hope that the meeting will act as a catalyst in bringing people together to form a car interest group." "A lot of ideas have been offered such as supervised races, an auto show to be held in Coventry where customized cars could be exhibited and a place arranged for young people to congregate and talk about cars."

Yesterday Mr. and Mrs. Milton Carr, parents of Bobby said, "We support the formation of this club. I know that Bobby would like to see this happen. For the past four years he has been taking cars apart and putting them back together again. He has rebuilt engines from scratch."

"I hope this club can prevent further tragedies." The meeting will be held at 8 p.m. in the Town Hall and is open to all are interested in the formation of such a club.

Swimming Lessons
There are still openings available in the swimming program at both Lisickie and Sandy Shores beaches. Openings are in the July 14 to Aug. 1 session and the Aug. 4 to Aug. 22 session.

Student Suggestion Results Reported

EAST HARTFORD
Shelia Tuller 289-4283

Three June graduates of East Hartford High School were present at Monday's Board of Education meeting to hear a follow-up report from Youth In Government Day's student superintendent and board of education.

Douglas Cleary, chairman of U.S. (understanding students) party was present. On Youth In Government Day, he was administrative aide to the student mayor. Also at the meeting were Michael Freed, student superintendent of schools, and Teresa Leone, a board member.

Registration fees, not to exceed $8 may be required for all other subjects offered to residents. East Hartford's board voted to charge the fee to compensate for the loss of state reimbursement due to the new legislation. The board also voted to require a fee of $18 for non-residents. This charge has been agreed to by several area towns.

Driver Education Leone also reported on the recent state legislation to mandate driver education for public schools.

Cleary noted the students were satisfied with the progress made. However, as the student officials have graduated and will be off to college, he hopes the remaining students at EHS will be aware of these accomplishments and continue to follow up on them. As the Youth In Government Day, activity is alternated each year with Penney High, it will be almost two years before East Hartford High students take over as town leaders again.

The items of concern on the student agenda last May were read by Dr. Eugene Diggs who also reported on the present status of the student proposals. Among the items the students thought worthy of board attention was the construction of a sidewalk in the rear of East Hartford High from the building to Scotland Rd. Dr. Diggs said construction of this sidewalk had been planned by the maintenance department, but funds had not been approved in the 1975-76 budget. This project must await further funding.

Students requested a change of policy to restrict smoking only within school buildings to everyone including adults. However the board reconfirmed its present policy of no smoking in school buildings or on school grounds this past spring. It was proposed that the universal gym be made available to all students. This will be done, because it is mandated by law that boys and girls have equal access to physical education opportunities.

Students suggested requiring 20 credits for graduation with class rank based upon degree of difficulty of subject taken. This proposal has been referred to each high school to be discussed by administrators, teachers, and student council members. Their report is due by Oct. 15. A request for equal facilities at each high school was made by the students. Dr. Diggs said reasonably equal facilities do exist, but because East Hartford High is older it does need some refurbishing and remodeling. It is hoped much of this can be done on a year-to-year basis without a major bond issue. Richard Dubuc, newly appointed acting Assistant Superintendent Sam J. Leone reported to the board on new adult education legislation effective 1975-76.

Leone attended a state adult education meeting in June where he learned of a new guidelines that will affect adult education programs this fall. Each Connecticut board shall provide instruction in Americanization - U.S. Citizenship and elementary and secondary school completion programs. Tuition or registration fees cannot be charged for these services.

Teacher Resign In another matter the board accepted the resignation of two teachers. Mrs. Susan Ryan, a homeroom teacher at East Hartford High, resigned as she is moving out of state. Also retiring is Mrs. Theresa Maniscalco who has taught at the elementary school level since September 1969.

Adult Education Newly appointed acting Assistant Superintendent Sam J. Leone reported to the board on new adult education legislation effective 1975-76. Leone attended a state adult education meeting in June where he learned of a new guidelines that will affect adult education programs this fall. Each Connecticut board shall provide instruction in Americanization - U.S. Citizenship and elementary and secondary school completion programs. Group Given Piano

ANDOVER
DONNA HOLLAND 646-0375

The Andover Rural Music Committee (ARMC) recently received a grand piano from its owner, Janet Ohman. The piano was brought to Andover from Bronxville, N.Y. The Board of Selectmen approved the town paying its transportation and upkeep.

The ARMC will have the piano for at least three years and possibly forever. Mrs. Ohman learned of the committee's wanting a piano through David Yeomans, first selectman. When she recently broke up housekeeping, she wanted the piano to go to someone who would appreciate it, not sell it. If Mrs. Ohman or her family desire to have the piano back they may request such in three years. Otherwise, it will remain in Andover.

Nathan Hale Homestead To Be Restored

The Nathan Hale Homestead in Coventry

Restoration of the Nathan Hale Homestead in Coventry has begun, financed by a $6,000 grant from the Howard and Bush Foundation, Inc., of Hartford.

Built in 1776, this historic house museum is being restored as a Bicentennial project by the Antiquarian & Landmarks Society, owners of the property and seven others in the state.

The project involves the restoration of two sides of the Homestead that were "modernized" and altered in the late 1890's by previous owners. These sides still retain clapboards, window and door frames dating from this period. The other two sides are original to the 1776 date of the Homestead.

The society director, Arthur W. Leimbundguth, in announcing the $6,000 grant, comments that with our country's 200th celebration upon us, and that of the Homestead in 1976, the society feels a tremendous responsibility to present the Homestead to the public in as authentic a restored form as possible.

Since restoration began, structural damage has been uncovered so additional funds will be needed to complete the project. Tax deductible contributions may be sent to the A & L Society, 394 Main St., Hartford, Conn. 06103. The Nathan Hale Homestead is open to the public for tours daily through Oct. 15, from 1 to 5 p.m., and the public is invited to see the progress restoration of the Homestead during the week.

MONICA SHEA 242-9495

The Beautification Committee has issued its annual awards for those homes in Coventry which are consistently maintained and kept up with many gardens.

Five awards were issued to the following:

To Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Brog of Rt. 31 because the impressive setting of their home is consistently maintained with such charm and the house is painted such an interesting color and often has a variety of doorway decorations appropriate to the season. Also for the several gardens and many plantings among the large trees.

To Mr. and Mrs. Joseph A. Farei, of Richmond Rd. for their neat, and well-laid-out yard with attractive small flower gardens.

To Mrs. Bessie Lynch at the corner of Pucker St. and Bunker Hill Rd. for the many hours she has spent tending her gardens which extend to the road's edge and are a joy to see.

To Mr. and Mrs. Anthony DeStefano of Swamp Rd. for neat trim house and pretty rock garden on a slope that is so eye appealing as you approach their home on Richmond Rd.

To Mr. and Mrs. William Clark Jr. for their six-year project restoring and rebuilding the house on South St. which is now owned by Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Slady. Their work has resulted in a lovely story-book setting and included redoing the entire house, painting it red, redesigning the gambled roof, designing and building a salt-box barn, installing post and rail fencing and completing a man-made pond.

The property included a walled side garden with an old smoke oven and has underground water, electric and telephone lines.

A special Service Award was given to Mr. and Mrs. Edward Shaltheiss for their many years of continuous contributions in behalf of all the residents of Coventry for generously using their publication, The Broadcaster, in bringing to the public's attention many projects.

Education Focus Shifted by Club

BOLTON

Donna Holland Correspondent 646-0375

The Bolton Woman's Club education committee plans to change its focus this year from mainly children to children and adults.

Its tentative projects include leadership development (sponsoring a workshop on developing leaders), helping the schools develop and purchase materials and supplies for teaching the metric system because by 1985 everything should be metric, making information on resources as concerns scholarships available.

Also provide information for women who wish to re-enter the education or business field, investigate character education (the purpose to instill values in our children because school vandalism costs taxpayers $996 million last year).

The committee's national project is learning disabilities. The local committee plans to continue to work with and support the learning disabilities program in our schools.

The committee will try to keep everyone informed on the many issues that concern all of us, such as co-ownership, investments and securities.

It would like to make parents making information on manifestations ways to help modify them.

Gallagher To Quit Board?

By SOL R. COHEN
 Republican Town Director Hillary J. Gallagher today would neither confirm nor deny reports he will resign soon from the Manchester Board of Directors, possibly after its August meeting.

Gallagher, an attorney, has been taking courses in law for the past two years at Boston University—commuting one night a week. He passed up the spring semester because of local commitments. With three semesters still needed for his M.A. degree, reports are he must make a choice between quitting the program or resigning his board seat.

Apparently he has reached the decision his professional future is more important than his political future.

Gallagher was elected to the Board of Directors in November 1973. In 1974 he was a candidate for state representative from the 15th Assembly District and last November he ran for the position of judge of probate. He lost both times.

Gallagher, 30, is a 1963 graduate of Manchester High School. He graduated also from Boston College and the University of Connecticut School of Law. He and his wife, the former Virginia Deitan of Manchester, reside at 342 Center St.

GOP Town Chairman Nathan Agostinelli said today he hasn't heard from Gallagher about his plans. He said about the reports of the resignation prove true, Gallagher's replacement on the board (to the November elections) would be endorsed by the Republican Town Committee, possibly in August.

Agostinelli said the committee will meet July 30 to endorse a complete slate for the November elections. Vivian Ferguson and Carl Zinsler, the other Republicans on the nine-member Board of Directors, already have announced they'll seek re-election.

The GOP candidate selection committee is trying to enlist the public in helping it find capable candidates for its November slate. It will run a newspaper poll with paid advertisements, asking for candidate suggestions from the public.

The Democrats will endorse their slate of candidates in August.

Democratic Town Chairman Ted Cummings said today, "From all indications, all of our incumbents appear to be candidates for re-election."

When told that four of the six Democratic directors (John Thompson, Pascal Prignano, Robert Price and Matt Moriarty) said only last week they're "undecided," Cummings replied, "I only can repeat—we're not looking for any new candidates."

Town Seeks Firehouse Bids

The Town of Manchester is proceeding with its plans to construct a firehouse at N. Main St. and Tolland Tpk., to service the Buckland area.

Sealed bids for the construction will be opened publicly July 24 at 11 a.m. in the Municipal Building Hearing Room.

The next step will be up to the Board of Directors, probably in August. It will consider authorizing a bond issue for the cost of construction. Under the rules and regulations of the Town Fire District, a referendum on the proposed bond issue isn't required.

Property owners in the northwest area of Manchester (Buckland) are within the boundaries of the Town Fire District and pay taxes to it. However, under a contract the town has with the Eight Towns Fire District, the area is serviced by the District Fire Department.

The town pays the district $250 for each call it answers. The cost to the town was $11,250 for the fiscal year ended June 30.

Town Manager Robert Weiss has notified the district the contract will terminate when the Buckland Firehouse is in operation. He has estimated it could be by the end of the current (1975) year.

To date, the town has spent $32,400 for purchasing the firehouse site, $700 for removing the building from the site and $12,000 for architectural fees to Lawrence Associates of Manchester—for a total of $46,100. Incomplete estimates are the firehouse cost to be constructed for $300,000 or less.

The town's Lawton Rd. Firehouse was dedicated in September 1967. It replaced the Spruce St. Firehouse and services the northeast area of Manchester. Until a year ago, most of that area, too, was serviced by the district, under a contract with the town.

The two-story Lawton Rd. Firehouse was constructed under a $220,000 bond issue. Until June 30 (the end of the 1974 fiscal year), a $12,907 balance from that bond issue had been carried on the books and had been drawing interest. As of June 30, the $12,907 was placed in the Town Fire District's 1974-75 operating fund. The sum will contribute to a surplus for 1975, anticipated to be at least $30,000 and probably more.

The proposed Buckland Firehouse will be a one-story building of about 5,700 square

Cyclist Gave Signal But Cut Off Cruiser

A 15-year old on a 10-speed bike heading north on Parker St. Tuesday at 7 p.m. came along the right side of the cruiser driven by Patrolman John Hanley.

The youth signaled a left turn with his hand as they approached Lydell. He went through the stop sign making his turn in front of the cruiser without looking at it.

Hanley said his cruiser almost struck the youth.

The youth repeated the same maneuver in front of his home nearby and started going in the house when the officer signaled him.

The officer told the officer he was not concerned. He was in a hurry to play tennis.

The officer told him a letter would be sent to his parents from Chief Robert Lannan about the incident.

The letter tells his parents the details of the bike violation and asks that "corrective action be taken in the home."

The officer's actions and the letter are part of a locally developed, bike safety program now in its second summer.

Other area police departments concerned about serious bike accidents have contacted the department to study the program, a local officer said.

Missing Jet Located

NEW YORK (UPI) — An executive jet airplane believed lost over Norfolk, Conn., was found safe early today in an airport on Cape Cod in Massachusetts, Coast Guard officials said.

The pilot of the twin-engine, Sabre Line 329, owned by a Stratford, Conn., firm, apparently changed his flight plan and didn't tell authorities about it, a Coast Guard spokesman said.

A search along the southern part of Long Island Sound was started shortly after the craft disappeared about 11:15 p.m. Tuesday night from the radar screen of the Westchester County Airport.

The jet was supposed to be en route from Westchester to the Igor I. Sikorski Bridgeport Municipal Airport in Stratford when it went off the radar screen over Norfolk, Conn.

The Coast Guard said the pilot apparently had to pick up a passenger this morning in Nantucket, Mass., and he decided to go there rather than stop overnight in Stratford.

VA Replaces Markers, Stolen Gravestones

Worn or stolen headstones or markers may be replaced by the Veterans Administration, which provides either for unmarked veterans' graves, says Edwin M. Edwards, veterans' graves custodian for the Town of Manchester.

Edwards suggests "Local bicentennial committees should keep this in mind when sprucing up historical burial grounds."

Replacement of stolen or markers may be obtained for veterans of any U.S. war. If the worn headstone was originally a government stone, all that is required is an application requesting a new headstone or bronze marker plus a notice of destruction, he said.

If the veterans' stone was privately owned, proof must be obtained that the deceased was in fact an eligible veteran. This information is available at national or state archives where records date back to the participants of the Revolutionary War, he said.

"In cases where headstones or bronze markers have been stolen, and this is happening with increased frequency, the application must be accompanied by a police report of the theft," Edwards said.

Stolen markers will be replaced with headstones free of charge. Bronze markers ordered to replace stolen ones must be paid for at the reproduction cost to the Veterans Administration on the day the request is received, he said.

Edwards said a bulletin on worn or stolen headstones or markers was recently released by the Veterans Administration to the taxpayers of the whole town."

Denny Carlin in Official Capacity

Official scorer for all Little League playoff baseball games in the Town Round Robin Double Elimination Tournament is Denny Carlin. Reggie Smith pulled a "first" when he engaged Manager Gene Mauch of Montreal in a brief battle with his fists after exchanging lineup cards with umpires before the start of Sunday's game. The former Boston Red Sox outfielder, now with St. Louis, always claimed he was a little ole innocent man when involved while working for Tom Yawkey in Beantown. In addition to Sunday's squabble, Smith was also involved in a fight the previous day. Smith is the same guy who failed to show for a scheduled appearance at a Masonic Sports Night in Manchester several years ago. Just for the Record: Out of every 25 calls from readers seeking information on major league baseball games in New York and Boston, 20 ask about the Red Sox. Four about the Yankees. One speaks up for the Mets. Manchester is without question an American League community and is definitely Red Sox territory. Happy that they didn't trade Roy White away during the winter months are the New York Yankees. Unhappy with being platooned and as a designated hitter, White asked the front office to trade him last fall. Needless to say, White, too, is happy with his current status as a regular outfielder and one of the American League's top hitters. Once again Stan Orodnicki's Hilltop Basketball School at East Catholic High, which opened Monday, drew record numbers. Because of the size, both East and adjacent Cheney Tech facilities are being utilized.

Directory Dedicated to Four

The 1975 directory of the Central Connecticut Association of Football Officials is dedicated in memory of four men including Jim Horvath of Manchester. The latter was a member of the group for 25 years. The active membership lists nine from Manchester, including Jim Horvath's son, Len, plus two probationary members...Mike Cooney, Brad Strella and Tim LaFrancis, one-two-three finishers in the Manchester Insurance Agents recent golf tournament at the Manchester Country Club, will compete in the State Insurance Agents event, July 21-22 at the New Haven Country Club. The top three low scorers at New Haven will move on to the Nationals Aug. 8-12 at the Eisenhower course at the Air Force Academy in Colorado Springs, Colo. Several members of the Hartford Bicentennials pro soccer team will conduct a free soccer clinic Friday morning, July 19 at Memorial Field starting at 10 o'clock. Carl Silver of the Rec Department reports all soccer enthusiasts are welcome...The West Hartford Open Tennis Tournaments will be staged in September with proceeds to the Cystic Fibrosis Fund. Last year local players wound up in the finals of several divisions. Dot Ogden and Dina Bailey teamed to win the women's doubles and Larry Kahn, Ted Bailey and Meg Bluet reached the finals before being out...Weekend Red Sox home afternoon games at Fenway Park will start at 2 o'clock, effective today, for the balance of the season. Previously, weekday contests started at 3:30.

MB's, Orioles Play Deadlock

Close but no cigar came the Vernon Orioles last night in their bid to tack a first loss on Moriarty's in the Hartford Twilight League as second round play started.

Darkness halted play after seven innings last night at Moriarty Field with the score 2-1.

Changes Story

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (UPI) — Former Ole Miss basketball star Johnny Neumann says his testimony that the school paid all his living expenses in 1970 and 1971 "was taken the wrong way," and that scholarship aid he received was entirely legal.

Neumann said Tuesday that money he and his wife received for apartment rent was the same money he had been receiving under his scholarship for documentary expenses, and that he received grocery money because he did not eat in the cafeteria.

Moriarty's Win In Farm Playoffs

Starting off with a bang, Moriarty Bros. trounced Ansd's last night in the opening Farm Little League playoff at Leber Field, 13-1.

The National Leaguers scored twice in the first at bats, three more in the second and iced the verdict with six markers in the third stanza.

Steve Hurley collected a single, double and homer to the winners who only had five hits. Rich Maudsley and Vince Purnagen collecting the others.

Catcher Ken Miffith was the only Ansd's player able to solve the pitching of Maudsley, a triple that drove in the International Leaguers only marker. Maudsley fanned 13 batters and walked five.

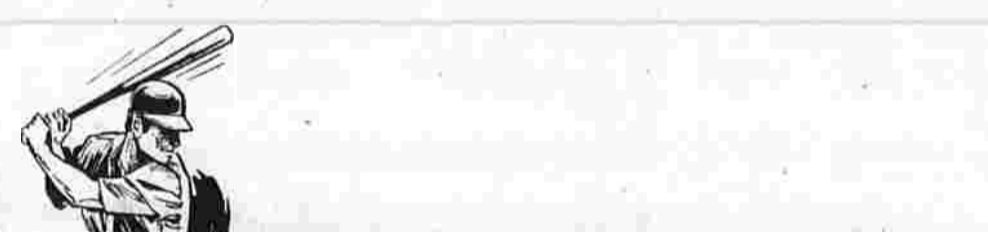

Thursday night at Leber Field, Moriarty's and the Army & Navy, American Farm winners at 6.

Junior Golf Qualifiers

Three Manchester Country Club golfers and two playing out of Ellington Ridge were among the North section qualifiers for the Connecticut State Golf Association Junior Championship staged yesterday at Pequabuck.

Medal honors went to Steve Tantillo of Ellington with 35-34-49 a par equalling 53-34-49 score. He's a junior at Tolland High.

Clutamate Ben Reddley was third at 71 while Jeff Torrance led the MCC trio with a 74 to tie for sixth place. Mike Cooney and Bred Strella each carded 77, the last qualifying score.

SOCCER

PEEWEE
Scoring twice in the first and fourth periods, the Tornados blanked the Stars last night, 4-0. Goals were scored by Gary Wade, Tim Haddock, Doug Marshall and Dave Kelly. Dave Simler and Rick Reid played well for the Stars.

Four scores by Danny Gauchione led the Chiefs to a 5-0 whitewashing of the Lancers. He scored twice in each of the first three quarters, Jimmy Emmering did the final tallying as the Metros nipped the Falcons.

Brother act of Benton Rubin and Mike Rubin led the Bicentennials to a 2-1 win over the Yankees. Mike Bonanno added the third score, Mark Copeland and Tim McConville played well for the winners with Barbara Silver best in the loss.

Goals by Jeff Lombardo and Bob Walsh were the only scorers in the first period but Paul Hohenthal matched the feat for the Sun in the second canto. Logan's winner came at 7:19 in period No. 3. Joe Cosgrove also excelled in victory with Shawn Haggerty a standout in the loss. Tommy Wood was the whole offense as the Cougars shutout the Falcons, 5-0. Wood scored in the second and fourth periods. Teammate Joe Binks turned in a fine showing as did Marty Simon and Mike St. Laurent for the Falcons.

MIDGETS
Two tallies by Don Logan proved to be the margin of victory as the Metros nipped the Suns, 2-1. Logan tallied in the first period but Paul Hohenthal matched the feat for the Sun in the second canto.

Girls' Softball Tourney Sunday at Fitzgerald

Sunday will see four of the top teams in the East Central Connecticut Girls' Softball League vie in a mid-season tournament at Fitzgerald Field beginning at 3:30.

The fast-pitch league is for girls 13-16 years of age and is in its second year with teams in 16 towns.

In an effort to make the public aware of what is going on in the area of girls softball, the league has decided to stage this four-game exhibition.

The opening game, at 3:30, will feature Manchester's Formals Inn Penguins against Taylor of Glastonbury. At 5:30 South Windsor will face East Hampton. A consolation game pitting the two losers will get underway at 6:30 while the winners of games one and two will vie for the championship at 7:30.

The combined league records of the four teams show only two losses, both at the hands of the undefeated Penguins.

There is no admission charge and the public is invited.

Third Ace

Diminutive Jim Melley is a big man in the hole-in-one category.

Yesterday afternoon the local man scored the third ace of his golfing career. He achieved it at the Manchester Country Club.

Melley's iron drive on the 147-yard fifth found its way into the hole and Gene Kelly, John Gaglianella and the Rev. Philip Hussey witnessed the feat.

Fred Lynn Honored

NEW YORK (UPI) — The American League Tuesday named Boston's Fred Lynn its player of the month for June after the rookie outfielder reached base in each of the Red Sox 31 games during the month.

Ailing Lynn Delivers In Pinch-Hitting Role

BOSTON (UPI) — Two national sports publications featured Fred Lynn on their covers last week, making the Red Sox rookie look like a shoo-in for rookie of the year.

But as soon as the journals hit the stands, Lynn hit the skids—going 0-14 before jamming his wrist in Milwaukee. The wrist felt better Tuesday night after a four-game rest, yet Lynn stayed on the bench until the ninth inning when he had a pinch-hit single to give Boston a 6-5 win over the Minnesota Twins.

The victory kept the Red Sox one game ahead of New York atop the American League East. The Twins had tied the game with two runs in the eighth before Boston loaded the bases with one out in the ninth. With second baseman Doug Griffin due to bat, manager Darrell Johnson leaned over from his seat at the end of the bench and scrutinized the row of unplayed players.

"I was hoping to pinch hit over the Rooster (shortstop Rick Burleson) because I'll be the pitcher," said Lynn.

"I looked down that way and he was looking me right in the eye," said Johnson.

The starting match ended with Johnson sending Lynn to the plate, and the left-handed hitter returned moments later after placing a seeing-eye single between first and second to drive home Rick Rice.

"I pinch hit a couple of times last September and again this year and had no success so I was nice to get a hit," said Lynn, who raised his average to .327.

Lynn's return to glory saved Boston from the embarrassment of losing a game that had seemingly won earlier.

The Red Sox scored single runs in each of the first three innings but the Twins responded with a fifth-inning run to close to 3-1. In the bottom of the fifth, though, Red Carew made a two-base throwing error on Carlton Fisk's grounder and Burleson and Bob Heise doubled to boost the advantage to 5-1.

The Twins added two runs in the seventh off Luis Tiant, who asked to be lifted after the inning because of a stiffening in his right shoulder. Dick Drago gave up two runs in the eighth before Jim Burton bailed him out and Reggie Cleveland struck out two of the three batters in the ninth to gain his fifth win against six losses.

Tom Johnson, making his first appearance of the season since being called up from Tacoma, pitched 2 1/3 strong innings for the Twins despite suffering the loss.

"The thing that hurt us," said Minnesota manager Frank Quilici, "was Jim Rice's leadoff hit in the ninth. He hit straight down on the ball and I think it bounced off the plate and went 25 feet in the air."

Rice beat out the bounce, was sacrificed to second and stayed there as Fisk was walked intentionally. Then Burleson worked young Johnson for a walk, paving heros.

Manager Picks Own

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — National League All-Star manager Walter Alton Tuesday bypassed pitchers from the Cincinnati Reds, owners of the best winning percentage in the major leagues, but named three of his own hurlers for next week's game against the American League.

In addition to tapping Andy Messersmith, Don Sutton and Mike Marshall, aces of the Los Angeles Dodgers pitching corps, Alton selected Tom Seaver and Jim Malackof of the New York Mets, Philadelphia's Tug McGraw, Randy Jones of San Diego, Pittsburgh's Jerry Reuss and Atlanta's Phil Niekro.

NL Attendance Up

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Last week's attendance of 962,900 was the highest single week total in the National League since 1973, according to figures released Tuesday by the N.L. office.

In addition, the weekend total—covering games of July 4, 5 and 6—of 574,850 is the highest weekend total in 1975. The attendance through July 6 totaled 8,543,161, more than one million over last season's figure at the same date.

Worst Baseball Fans in A.L. In Boston Cleveland Claims

BOSTON (UPI) — Pitcher Reggie Cleveland, who pitched his way into the spotlight Tuesday night, took the opportunity to berate Boston baseball fans as "the world's I've seen in the big leagues."

Cleveland, an object of cat-calls over 1 1/2 in consecutive seasons with the Red Sox, threw his fastball with unusual velocity in a one-inning relief stint to earn a 6-5 win over the Minnesota Twins.

Then the right-handed pitcher unleashed a torrid attack against Boston fans, who only had an 11-4 record then 1 recently have taken to throwing pennies at him while he warms up in the bullpen.

"These fans are the worst I've seen in the big leagues. They do absolutely nothing to help guys who are struggling. When I'm warming up, I hear them yelling, 'Cleveland, you bum, why don't they get rid of you' or 'You can't get anybody out, why don't you quit.'"

The six-year veteran with a 5-6 record this season said fans were different in St. Louis where he began his career. "One year I had won eight games in a row and had an 11-4 record then I lost seven straight. But even after I was getting knocked all over the place, the fans would yell, 'Go get 'em next time Reggie, you can do it.'"

"People here love the game, but they go about it the wrong way. For example, (Red Sox rookie) Jim Rice is a power hitter and of course he's going to strike out a lot—name one power hitter who didn't—yet the fans keep screaming at him. So he gets up to the plate and he's afraid to swing at pitches because he might strike out and get booed. You can't play baseball like that."

Cleveland also cited an incident June 23 when catcher Carlton Fisk got a standing ovation after returning to the club plays 500 ball at home and 600 on the road unless there's a reason.

"This club used to play at home. We didn't even want to go out on the field. It's a little better now but the fans still don't try to give you constructive criticism; they give you negative ideas and you find yourself saying, 'Well, I'll try to get these guys out instead of hitting I know I'll get them out.'"

Cleveland said he shut his ears and mind to the 17,519 Fenway critics Tuesday night.

"When I was called in to pitch in the ninth I told the guys in the bullpen I was just going to throw as hard as I could. I didn't care if the ball hit the screen. As far as the fans were concerned, I couldn't do any worse than I had been."

The rear-back-and-fire method worked, as Cleveland struck out two Twins batters and got the other to hit shallow fly. "I was throwing seeds out there and I even have to brag about that performance tonight," he said.

"But a big thing in baseball is confidence and the fans can help a ballplayer. So why not brag about that performance tonight?" he said.

The tension peaked June 28 when several Red Sox players jostled Boston Globe writer Bob Ryan for an uncomplicated Always, he gives an honest answer.

With the Texas game out of the way, Hunter directed his thoughts to the usual questions.

He didn't appear to be too concerned that Dark is the American League manager for the All-Star game. Last year when he played for Oakland, Hunter often criticized Dark for being too conservative and not being natural for me to play for Dark, absolutely no strain. I'm satisfied with my performance this year."

Hunter said the Yankees and A's are both good ballclubs—the biggest difference being "we haven't gotten into any fights over here yet. All year I've said Oakland is going to win the West, I'd like to play the A's and see what Mr. Finley has to say."

Ron Blomberg supported Hunter's pitching with a two-run first inning homer, his fourth. New York added a run in the second on Terry Whittield's single, a sacrifice and Fred Stanley's double. They added a final run in the seventh on a sacrifice to Blomberg and singles by Thurman Munson and pinch-hitter Lou Piniella.

eventually scored on a sacrifice fly by Bobby Grich to give the Orioles a victory over the Angels. Doyle Alexander, who relieved Jim Palmer in the ninth when the Angels rallied to tie the score, got credit for the win while Nolan Ryan lost his fifth game in a row.

Coleman, who had won only four of 16 decisions and carried an earned run average of 6.37, pitched shutout ball for eight innings before giving way to John Hiller as the Tigers defeated the White Sox 3-0 to run their winning streak to seven games.

With his new delivery Coleman gets the ball back from the catcher then proceeds to pitch right away without going through a lot of deliberation. The quickened pace tends to wear him down somewhat, but forces him to concentrate more."

"I got the idea from watching Kaal pitch in spring training," Coleman said. "He gets the ball, he's ready to throw it. His fielders are ready and they like it. I even ran from the mound to the dugout tonight. At times I'm very lachrymical and it feels funny running out there after eight years in the big leagues."

It could have been just one of those crazy nights, but I hope not. I was working on it (the new delivery) against Baltimore, and although I didn't pitch that well, I felt confident. Then I went back to my old way against Milwaukee and became my old sloppy self."

Yankees Fare Better With Western Clubs

NEW YORK (UPI) — Somehow, one gets the feeling the New York Yankees wish they were playing in the American League Western Division instead of the East.

After all, the Yankees have won 24-of-35 games against Western opponents while posting a rather dismal 20-27 record within their division.

Catfish Hunter celebrated his 40th birthday with the 4-0 shutout over a Western foe, the Texas Rangers.

The shutout was the fifth of the year for Hunter and the victory his 12th in 20 decisions, including triumphs in all three divisions against the Rangers. Hunter, who walked two and struck out three, permitted only one run in his five innings.

The victory ended a personal two-game losing streak for Hunter, who dissipated leads against Boston and Baltimore last week, and extended the Yankees' mini-winning streak Tuesday night with a seventh straight win.

Wherever Hunter goes, talk invariably gets around to his Oakland connection. Constantly, he is asked to comment on Charlie Finley. Constantly, he is asked to compare the Yankees with the A's. Constantly, he is asked to compare New York Manager Bill Virdon with Oakland Manager Al Dalk.

Always, he gives an honest answer.

With the Texas game out of the way, Hunter directed his thoughts to the usual questions.

He didn't appear to be too concerned that Dark is the American League manager for the All-Star game. Last year when he played for Oakland, Hunter often criticized Dark for being too conservative and not being natural for me to play for Dark, absolutely no strain. I'm satisfied with my performance this year."

Hunter said the Yankees and A's are both good ballclubs—the biggest difference being "we haven't gotten into any fights over here yet. All year I've said Oakland is going to win the West, I'd like to play the A's and see what Mr. Finley has to say."

Ron Blomberg supported Hunter's pitching with a two-run first inning homer, his fourth. New York added a run in the second on Terry Whittield's single, a sacrifice and Fred Stanley's double. They added a final run in the seventh on a sacrifice to Blomberg and singles by Thurman Munson and pinch-hitter Lou Piniella.

Coleman Winner, Changes Delivery

NEW YORK (UPI) — Like a comedian who had forgotten how to make people laugh, all Joe Coleman needed to become a winning pitcher again was a change in his delivery.

The 28-year-old right-hander of the Detroit Tigers, struggling through the second half of his major league career, switched from his old deliberate style of pitching to a speeded-up, modern version, similar to that used by Chicago's Jim Kaat, Tuesday night and the results were quite pleasing.

Coleman, who had won only four of 16 decisions and carried an earned run average of 6.37, pitched shutout ball for eight innings before giving way to John Hiller as the Tigers defeated the White Sox 3-0 to run their winning streak to seven games.

With his new delivery Coleman gets the ball back from the catcher then proceeds to pitch right away without going through a lot of deliberation. The quickened pace tends to wear him down somewhat, but forces him to concentrate more."

"I got the idea from watching Kaal pitch in spring training," Coleman said. "He gets the ball, he's ready to throw it. His fielders are ready and they like it. Shrine Plans Annual Visit To Hospital

Omar Shrine Club makes its annual pilgrimage Sunday to the Shriners Crippled Children's Hospital at Springfield, Mass.

The Manchester Shriners have been making this visit every year for 25 years.

Chairman emeritus is Harold Barnsley, who was in charge of the visit for most of those 25 years.

Cochairmen Sunday are John Rieg and Fred Gaal.

Weather permitting, youngsters are moved to the patio where they are entertained. If poor weather prevails, the program is in the auditorium.

Sunday's entertainment will feature Tommie the Great, a youthful magician assisted by a youthful female aide.

Returning for another visit will be Weird Harold and his Hog Hollow Hooters and their Ozark-type comedy.

There will be a cookout, under leadership of Rieg, with Omar Shriners and their wives serving hotdogs, hamburgers, ice cream and soda.

As has become the custom in recent years, some Omar members make up a dinner party returning from the hospital. Omar President Al Rossetto says he has made advance reservations at the Mountain Laurel in Thompsonville.

Failure to Use Option Costs State $15,000

HARTFORD (UPI) — State auditors say Connecticut appears to have lost $15,000 because two successive secretaries of the state did not exercise a purchase option on computer equipment.

Instead of buying one or more "flexwriters" the secretary of the state's office has been leasing two since the 1960s for $4,800 a year, auditors Leo Donohue and Henry Becker said in the report Tuesday.

The leases included an option to purchase after two years, giving credit for 65 per cent of the first two years' rental toward the purchase price of $13,400.

Enrollment Open For Project HELP

The Business Careers Division of Manchester Community College announces open enrollment for Project HELP (Handicapped Earning and Living Project) Food Service Training for the fall session. HELP begins Sept. 8 and runs through Dec. 16.

Applicants must be recommended by a special education supervisor. Trainees will be accepted on a first-come, first served basis. Project HELP is a 200-hour lab program to train high level performance mental retardards for employment as cook and baker's helpers, vegetable cooks, salad makers, and other food service workers. Trainees meet five hours per day, three days per week, for 14 weeks in the college's food service lab. Each lab session, trainees prepare a complete luncheon meal, serve up to 40 patrons, and clean-up the dining room and kitchen. On completing the program, trainees are placed through the efforts of the instructor and the trainee's sponsoring agency. To learn more, call Fred Ramey or Richard Vizard at 646-4900, Ext. 341.

ABOUT TOWN

Those planning to attend are asked to bring clear glue, scissors, baby rickrack in Christmas colors, needles and thread.

LARGER HOTEL
LIMA (UPD) — The Peruvian government has taken preliminary bids on a new hotel near the Machu Picchu ruins, the famed lost city of the Incas high in the eastern Andes mountains. The 200-bed hotel is expected to be completed in April 1978. The present 50-room hotel must be booked months in advance, so most tourists have only a hurried afternoon at the ruins.
