

Takes Direct Action

Making sure he won't miss the target, two-year-old David Carr of 40 Coburn Rd. pushes his bean bag through the hole for a win during the final session of Manchester Interfaith Day Camp at Concordia Lutheran Church. Friday's rain turned the camp's annual field day program into a carnival day as all activities were moved into the church hall. All 66 children from Manchester and Hartford's North End were awarded prizes at the final camp session. (Herald photo by Pinto)

Ford Leaves for Europe European Security Pact Defended by President

By HELEN THOMAS
UPI White House Reporter
WASHINGTON (UPI) — Departing for Europe today, President Ford defended the European security pact he will sign in Helsinki and pledged not to recognize as permanent the Soviet takeover of the Baltic states or present Eastern European borders.
The first stop on Ford's 13,000-mile, 10-day trip is Bonn. Accompanied by his wife Betty, their son Jack, 23, and an entourage including Secretary of State Henry Kissinger, Ford also is going to Poland, Finland, Yugoslavia and Romania.
A key stop will be Helsinki, where Ford will attend an East-West summit meeting along with 34 other heads of state, including Soviet Communist Party leader Leonid Brezhnev.

Those views: "If I seriously shared these reservations I would not be going."
Former California Gov. Ronald Reagan and Sens. Henry Jackson, D-Wash.; Edward Kennedy, D-Mass.; Lloyd Bentsen, D-Tex.; and James Buckley, R-N.Y., have also criticized the pact.
In an airport departure statement, Ford said the Helsinki conference aims at expanding East-West contact and creating more stable relations and "this is in the best interests of the United States and of world peace."
He said the United States jointly with West European partners is acting to preserve Western interests in Berlin and Germany and also has obtained a public commitment from the Warsaw Pact governments to the possibility of peaceful adjustments of frontiers.
"This is a significant concession — contrary to the claim that present borders are being permanently frozen. The United States has never recognized the Soviet incorporation of Lithuania, Latvia and Estonia and is not going to do so in Helsinki," Ford said.
"Our official policy of nonrecognition is not affected by this conference," he added. "We are not committing ourselves to anything beyond what we are already committed to by our own moral and legal standards."

Turkey Takes Control Of U.S. Radar Stations

ANKARA, Turkey (UPI) — Turkish armed forces today took control of two key American radar stations in retaliation for a cutoff in U.S. military aid.
At Sinop, a peninsula jutting into the Black Sea, Deputy Governor Emin Bayar said, "Turkish armed forces took over the control of the radar. The American personnel are staying on."
The Sinop base, using sophisticated electronic equipment, monitors military movements and communications in the Soviet Union.
Turkish forces also took over a surveillance base on the Marmara seacoast in southeastern Turkey. They ran up the star-and-crescent Turkish flag over the installation at Karamursel, 94 miles east of Istanbul.

Turkish television interrupted its evening newscast Friday to broadcast the government decision cancelling joint defense agreements with the United States.
"The joint defense agreement of July 3, 1962, and other related agreements have lost their legal validity," the government announcement said.
"Operations of all joint defense installations will cease as of tomorrow. Operation of joint defense installations will be transferred to the full control and authority of the Turkish Armed Forces."
(In Washington, a Pentagon spokesman said, "We have not been notified officially of any action against the bases. So far all we have are news reports.")
The bases involved are considered vital to North Atlantic Treaty Organization operations and to U.S. surveillance of the Soviet Union.
They were designed to provide the United States with early warning of possible Soviet nuclear attack. U.S. officials said Turkish troops would be unable to operate the sophisticated eavesdropping equipment installed on the bases.
Turkey excluded from the takeover of the U.S. fighter plane squadron base at Incirlik in southern Turkey which it said could "continue to operate strictly for NATO defense purposes."

Ducharme Arraignment Scheduled for Monday

Thomas R. Ducharme, 31, will be presented in Common Pleas Court 12 at East Hartford Monday on charges of attempted murder with a crossbow.
He is being held at Manchester Police Headquarters under $50,000 bond.
Ducharme was returned to Manchester Friday from North Attleboro, Mass., where he was arrested early in the morning by Manchester and Massachusetts police acting on a tip that Ducharme was at a motel there. He waived extradition and was brought back by Detective Lt. John Krinjak and Detective Samuel Kotsch.

Ducharme, from Pawtucket, R.I., is charged with the attempted murder of Russell Leblanc, 27, of 18 Horace St. Leblanc was wounded in the face by a short, multi-bladed arrow late Wednesday night while seated at a kitchen table writing a letter. The arrow pierced his right cheek and stuck in the roof of his mouth.
Police said the shot was probably fired from about 17 feet away and through a screen window. The metal arrow head, police say, is generally used by hunters seeking large game.
Leblanc is in satisfactory condition at Manchester Memorial Hospital.

Liquor Law Violation Charge Involves Coventry Official

Warrants charging liquor law violations have been served on Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Fowler of S. River Rd., Coventry. Mrs. Fowler is chairman of the Coventry Town Council. The warrants, issued by the Court of Common Pleas, were obtained by the Coventry Police Department. Joseph Fowler is charged with one count each of sale of liquor to a minor, unauthorized sale of liquor, and sale of liquor on a day of closing.
Rose Marie Fowler, his wife, is charged in the warrant with two counts of sale of liquor to a minor, one count of unauthorized sale and one count of sale of liquor on a day of closing.
They operate Fowler's package store on Daley Rd.
Coventry Police sought the warrants after learning in the course of an investigation of burglary and vandalism of an alleged illegal sale of liquor to minors involving 16- and 17-year olds and of alleged sale on the Fourth of July the police report says.

Fowlers have been released on their promise to appear in Common Pleas Court 19 in Rockville Aug. 27.
The liquor violation charges grew out of an investigation into burglaries and vandalism which resulted in arrests and the recovery of $250 in stolen property.
Allen K. Tierney, 18, of Rt. 44A, Coventry, was charged with two counts of third-degree burglary, one count of second-degree burglary, two counts of fourth-degree larceny, and one count of third-degree criminal mischief.
A $500 non-surety bond was set for his appearance in Common Pleas Court at Rockville Aug. 20.
The burglaries occurred July 22 at Jimmie's Plaza on Rt. 31, and at the Waterfront Restaurant, South St. The vandalism occurred on the same day at a home on Squirrel Trail, Waterfront Park, where windows were smashed.
Also involved in the investigation was the theft of a motorcycle from a Standish Rd. home on May 25.
A 15-year old boy was turned over to juvenile authorities as a result of the investigation.

Town Firemen Threaten Suit If District Extends Boundaries

By SOL R. COHEN
Herald Reporter
Town of Manchester firemen are threatening court action if the Eighth Utilities District votes to extend its boundaries into that area of Buckland now paying taxes to the Town Fire District.
District voters are meeting Thursday, at 7:30 p.m. in the district firehouse to consider extending its fire lines. The action will be on a petition from a majority of the residents in the Buckland area.
The area pays taxes to the Town Fire District, but gets service under contract ($250 per call) from the Eighth District Fire Department. Fire taxes to the town are at 6 mills. Fire taxes to the district are at 2 mills.

"After consulting with our union attorney," said Harold Pohl, president of Manchester Local 1579, International Association of Firefighters, "we are going on record that we will take legal action when the livelihood of the paid union fire fighters is involved."
Pohl pointed out that "town firemen are paid by a special fire tax that includes the Buckland area."
He said, should the Town Fire District cease to collect the fire tax in that area, it stands to reason the funds available for paying town firemen also would drop.
Local 1579 has a signed contract with the Town of Manchester, recognizing the union as the sole and exclusive bargaining agent for all paid, uniformed employees of the Town Fire Department.

May Call Nixon

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate Intelligence Committee is thinking again about calling Richard Nixon as a witness in its CIA probe, Congressional sources said Friday.
The select committee went into closed session Friday and sources said the main business was whether to seek sworn testimony from Nixon.
Some sources indicated the Nixon issue had sparked discussion — presumably along party lines — among the panel of six Democrats and five Republicans.
Committee spokesmen said recently the panel had decided against calling the former President as part of its investigation of alleged CIA assassination plots. They said Nixon's lawyers had convinced them Nixon knew little about such plots.

Student Freed

STANFORD, Calif. (UPI) — Stephen Smith, 22, a Stanford University student kidnaped over two months ago with others while working on a research project in East Africa, was released unharmed Friday after secret negotiations.
University officials said Smith, a graduate student who had been studying chimpanzees in Tanzania, had been held in a mud hut village in East Zaire since May 19. They said he was brought across Lake Tanganyika by his captors.
Smith walked into Kigoma at 4:30 p.m. PDT (2:30 a.m. local time).
The other three abducted in a night raid by the Popular Revolutionary Party and taken to Zaire had already been released unharmed.

Rejects Egypt's Proposals

TEL AVIV (UPI) — Israel has rejected most of the latest Egyptian proposal for an interim peace agreement in the Sinai Desert, but agreed to continue negotiations.
"We received Egypt's proposal," Israeli Prime Minister Yitzhak Rabin said in a Tel Aviv television interview Friday night. "It is mostly being rejected by Israel, with Israel not simply rejecting it but also stating her own position."
"The process of negotiations is thus continuing," he said.
Rabin warned against quick agreement on a new accord, saying "we cannot expect within the next few days to arrive at any surprise or summing up."

Hathaway Resigns

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Stanley Hathaway, who resigned — exhausted and depressed — after five weeks as interior secretary, was a victim of a merciless Washington system, Washington sources said.
President Ford Friday accepted Hathaway's resignation "with my deepest regrets." The 51-year-old former Wyoming governor has been hospitalized since July 15 suffering from exhaustion, depression and mild diabetes. He has received psychiatric care.
Hathaway was sworn in June 13 after a grueling Senate confirmation battle during which virtually every major environmental group opposed his nomination.
Sen. Mark Hatfield, R-Ore., said Friday Hathaway was a sensitive and open person, unprepared for the "fierce political hassle surrounding his confirmation."
Hatfield said the Senate should not rubber stamp nominees but should treat them with dignity.

Predict Violent Weekend

LISBON, Portugal (UPI) — Portugal's two biggest parties held emergency meetings Saturday in response to what politicians called the creation of a "military dictatorship" in Portugal.
Political sources predicted a violent weekend.
"There is no hope now. The people must show the are opposed to communism and military dictatorship," one politician said.

Hone Up Firefighting Skills

Men of the Vernon Fire Department and the Eighth District Fire Department practice fighting oil and gas fires here on the district's land off Fleming Rd. The practices are held about once a month to keep the volunteer fire fighters used to the heat and smoke of gas fires and to keep them used to the equipment. The men are, from

Doctors Watch Astronauts For Delayed Effects of Gas

HONOLULU (UPI) — The Apollo astronauts were hospitalized with inflamed lungs today while doctors watched for delayed effects from the pilots' inhalation of poisonous fumes in their space ship.
Thomas Stafford, Vance Brand and Donald "Duke" Slayton were reported resting comfortably at the Tripler Army Medical Center but experienced chest pains with deep breaths.
Physicians said the three astronauts would likely stay at the hospital under observation for three days. They originally were scheduled to meet their families in Houston today in a reunion ceremony that was to mark the end of the age of Apollo.
Dr. Arnauld Nicogossian, the Apollo crew surgeon, and Dr. Peter Bartoloni, chief of medicine at the hospital, were optimistic and predicted the astronauts would have no residual respiratory effects after five to seven days.
"Their condition is stable," Nicogossian said at a midnight EDT briefing. "There is no indication that this process will be a chronic condition. If their condition progresses as it has, they will be in the same condition as they were prior to the spaceflight."
Because of the uncertainty of the nature of the fumes and the amount inhaled by the spacemen, Dr. Jerry Hordinsky, NASA flight surgeon in Houston, said there was no way to predict how many days of observation would be required.

Sam Adams And Boston Massacre

By Dr. Francis G. Walett
 Worcester State College
 c. 1975 American
 Antiquarian Society
 No one knows precisely where Sam Adams was on the night of March 5, 1770. He may have been home, his palsied head nodding vigorously in the candlelight as he peered another of his atrocity stories about the British troops that had been occupying Boston for the past 18 months.

Adams almost certainly was not physically present in front of the old State House on King St. (now State St.) where the British sentry was being taunted and threatened by a gang of toughs. He did not see the British troops marching to the scene on the double, facing the angry mob with guns ready. Master Propagandist Adams almost certainly was not physically present in front of the old State House on King St. (now State St.) where the British sentry was being taunted and threatened by a gang of toughs. He did not see the British troops marching to the scene on the double, facing the angry mob with guns ready.

Adams and his radical colleagues had been whipping up popular feelings against the British since the Stamp Act, five years before. That act was repealed, but Parliament passed the Townshend Revenue Act of 1767. The outcry that greeted the Stamp Act was repeated. Adams and his Sons of Liberty promoted boycotts of British goods. Ships owned by John Hancock — that oily, slippery demagogue — slipped into Boston time and again without making out proper customs declarations. His Majesty's customs agents were intimidated and routed up.

Send Two Regiments
 In London, George III and his chief ministers tightened their ties and came to a decision. Two regiments of royal troops were dispatched from Halifax and quartered in Boston. The Americans thought them a scummy lot. James Otis said they stunk — literally. Boston

NEWS FOR SENIOR CITIZENS

By WALLY FORTIN

Hello again. I guess the important news is that come Monday we will begin registering for our Connecticut River Cruise to Greenport, L.I., starting around 8 o'clock in the morning. The complete package is $12.50, and the trip is scheduled for Aug. 14. We will be able to take as many buses as we can fill for this trip, therefore you won't necessarily have to get up real early.

Speaking of trips, this Thursday we head out for Rockingham Park, and the buses are scheduled to leave the Senior Center at 9 o'clock. This will give us a quick coffee-break, and then because we do not have reserved seats we should get to the track a bit earlier.

On Wednesday morning we had 11 tables for pinocle with the following winners: George Last, 589; Joseph Windsor, 584; Alfred Sellman, 572; John Gally, 566; Gladys Seelert, 565; Felix Jesani, 558; Nadine Malcolm, 555; Grace Windsor, 551; Leo Steinhilber, 550; Wesley Frost, 548; Clara Hemmings, Grace Moore, Betty Jesanis and Esther Anderson, 547.

Bridge Winners
 In the afternoon we had 20 players for bridge and the lucky prize winners were: Marjorie Scribner, 4,900; Nadine Malcolm, 4,440; Marjorie Reed, 3,930; George Last, 3,730; Ivy Siddell, 3,400; and Jack Owen, 3,340.

Date Changed
 By the way, because we have been getting lots of interest in our coming trip to Brown's, we had to change the date. The dates we had would have allowed only two buses, one on each of the two weeks, and I feel that more of our members will be wanting to go.

Promoted Independence
 The Boston Massacre increased the voltage of public indignation tenfold. No deed was too dreadful for Sam Adams to attribute to the British. Never mind that his own cousin, John Adams, successfully defended the British soldiers and their commander in court. Never mind that the men who had been killed had not been highly regarded in Boston. Samuel Adams skillfully if cynically used the event to promote what had been developing in his mind since 1765 — independence from Britain.

A PINT OF LIFE-SAVING BLOOD
 Nobody else in the world can give us what you can. A pint of your blood. And your gift has never been more important. Because blood from healthy donors, who freely donate their blood, is 70 times less likely to cause infectious hepatitis in the recipient than in blood from many commercial sources. Think about that. The need is urgent, and continuous.

OPINION
Taxes and Beauty

A tax, like beauty, lies in the eyes of the beholder depending on whether he is a beneficiary or a payer.
The attempt by the Republican minority to get the General Assembly to reconsider the sales tax extension to certain services was defeated.

While admitting the new tax contains certain inequities, the Democratic leadership followed Gov. Ella Grasso's cue in putting over any revision consideration until the next regular session.

Over this pledge of review was overshadowed by the suggestion that a study of the tax structure by the Federal Reserve Bank of Boston may well recommend a "fairer" system of taxation, which means a state personal income tax.

Despite strong and constant statements that she will never sign such a bill, Gov. Grasso is also the state's most adroit politician.
If the criticism of the services tax transforms into reality and the state's economy recovery is hampered by it, small businesses injured, and the consumers of the newly taxed services aroused, the stage might well be set for a strong effort to impose a state income tax as a substitute for the obnoxious ones now on the books.

The question, unless public outcry changes political thinking, appears to be one of how to tax rather than how much to tax.

This is where the taxpayers of this state need to be alert.

Taxes, as we stated, are like beauty. To the bureaucrat or politician the tax power is vital to fulfill public services regardless of merit or actual need.

It has been said the power to tax is the power to destroy. Whatever tax system we design and implement must have safeguards against abuse.

And it appears the only practical way to limit the tax bite is to limit the size and functions of government, for it follows that when we ask government to do it all, it will have to take it all, too.

Drawing to Inside Straight

Later this month a New York City TV station will televise the drawing of the state's $1 million lottery. The Lottery Division is attempting to line up additional stations to carry the program statewide and there is talk of a weekly TV series for the lottery.

We suppose it was bound to come to that, especially after Congress recently ended the prohibition against broadcasting lottery information. Three states already televise lottery drawings and the sales volume for Ohio's 50-cent lottery is said to have risen almost 40% since weekly drawings have been carried on a statewide TV network.

Yet the over-all performance of government-run gambling operations has been largely disappointing. Neither New York nor New Jersey's state lotteries has come close to generating the millions of dollars promised for education and social services. Delaware legislators were assured that state's lottery would earn more than $3 million in the first year, but ticket sales were so disappointing it was recently abandoned after only one month's operation.

All of which casts considerable doubt on efforts by government to try to monopolize gambling or compete with the bookies. Especially since gambling's appeal is founded on illusion and its proceeds are derived largely from those who are most gullible and can least afford it.

Manchester Week in Review
Town, District Headed for Clash

The stage was set this week for a possible legal showdown between the Town of Manchester, and the Eight Utilities District over fire protection for the Buckland area.

District directors scheduled a July 31 special meeting of district voters, to act on a petition from Buckland area property owners. The petition requests the district to extend its fire lines into the area, thus removing it from Town Fire District jurisdiction.

On Thursday, the town opened bids for construction of a new firehouse in the Buckland area - at N. Main and St. and Tolan Dike.

Can we develop a tax structure for the state that will be equitable, fair and yet flexible enough to meet changes without first examining the whole structure of state government and the services offered?

This is the key, because if there is any one single truism in government today at any level, it is that whatever is available to be spent will be spent.

The rare exceptions are smaller communities like Manchester, where town government and the people still have direct contact.

We hope that in the coming months there will be thought and discussion as to the roles and functions of state government. Once this is done, the taxing system can be reappraised in the light of its ability to fulfill this role and distribute the burden equitably.

It is not a question which tax or combination of taxes is best, but whether tax dollars, no matter how they are collected, go to meeting essential services.

Getty, the oil millionaire, once was sent a check for $500 for a magazine article on how to become rich. He kept the check and sent back this reply: "Some strike oil and some don't."

That was good pay for six words. The same kind of an answer is often given to the question of how to teach ethics.

The Church School has been wrestling with the problem of teaching ethics and religion for years. Many simply throw up their hands and let it go with the statement: "Ethics and religion are either caught or taught and we don't know which."

Now, interestingly enough, the question of teaching ethics comes from the graduate schools of business. A recent issue of the Wall Street Journal has a feature article about the increase of ethics courses now offered because of the "corporate bribery and political slush funds."

Fifty business schools this fall plan to offer courses on social, ethical, and legal issues. Last year a first time ethics course at Stanford University was oversubscribed and this fall more sections of the course will be offered to meet the demand.

However, this concern is not universally supported. Harvard University's comment was that this activity is just a fad. It will not participate because, to quote one spokesman, "on the subject of ethics, we feel that either you have them or you don't."

To those of us who have long been concerned with the application of ethics to all of life, this whole movement assumes titanic proportions.

Most of this heavy promotion and gimmickry is founded less on sound merchandising premises than on the ingrained political notion that there is an audience ready and willing if only enough tax money can be spent to convince it. For example, with all the assurance of greenhorn poker players drawing to an inside straight, Delaware lottery officials claimed they could fix things up if they had $355,000 more to go with the original $400,000 appropriation.

General Manager Richard Martin returns to his desk after seven-week absence during which he underwent surgery for eye cataracts.

Today, Local 1579 of the union representing Town of Manchester fire fighters entered the picture. The local threatened court action if and when "the livelihood of the paid union fire fighters is involved."

The union pointed out its members are paid from the revenue of the special fire tax levied by the Town Fire District - including the Buckland area.

The Eight District board of directors began its 1975-76 year with two new directors on its six-member board - William L. Sheridan and John C. Flynn Jr. The district's president, clerk, treasurer and tax collector all were re-elected to one year terms.

The board reappointed Granville Lingard to the posts of fire chief and fire marshal.

And placed on the Board of Directors' agenda for its Aug. 5 meeting is a public hearing on a proposed $295,000 bond issue for its construction. Bond issues for Town Fire District appropriations don't require referendum approval. They may be authorized by the Board of Directors.

Proponents of extending district fire lines into the Buckland area cite Public Act 200 of the 1963 General Assembly by their authority. Town officials base their opposition on the town charter, which declares that when there is a conflict of authority between the town and the district, the authority of the town will prevail.

The Buckland area property owners pay fire taxes to the town but receive fire protection from the district under a $250 per car contract between the town and the district. The town fire tax is at six mills and the district fire tax at two mills.

Incumbents Running
The Democratic Town Committee learned it will have only routine business July 31, when it meets to endorse a slate for the November elections. All incumbents have announced they'll seek a return to office and all are expected to be on the slate. Because the Democrats fill all the positions possible under minority rule, there's no room on the slate for any additional names.

The Republicans will meet July 30 to name their slate and to endorse a slate of candidates for delegates to a special GOP State Convention, Sept. 20 in Meriden.

Robert P. Fuller, long-time associate of Lydall Inc., resigned as its chairman and as a member of its board. The board voted to abolish the post of chairman and to leave the vacancy on the board unfilled.

Fuller, who resides in Andover and said he plans to move to Maryland, revealed he will enter a new business. He wouldn't elaborate.

Madeline Uccello resigned her post as assistant director of New Hope Manor and severed all her connections with the drug rehabilitation center for teen-age girls. She cited difficulties with New Hope's board members for her action.

Eight District Fireman Dan Mullin was named the district's John Mearns Fireman-of-the-Year Trophy.

The Board of Education and its custodial workers signed a two-year agreement.

An Invisible Means of Support
An atheist has been defined as "a person with no invisible means of support."

On occasion, when I have heard someone say, "I am an atheist," I have asked, "What kind of a God don't you believe in?" It frequently turns out that the kind of a God rejected is the kind that reputable theologians also deny.

Communism today is a society organized without a belief in God. But if you read carefully the theory expressed in "The Communist Manifesto" you find the assumption of a force in history that brings justice into society. This action includes the efforts of man but is over and above it. To my mind this is akin to the preaching of the eighth century prophets in the Old Testament.

"On Overcoming Worry"
G.K. Chesterton once said, "I've been a preacher and had only one sermon to preach I would preach on worry."

Worry has been with us as long as man has existed. Adam worried about his equality with God. Cain worried about his relationship with his brother Abel. Moses worried about the children of Israel and their future. The Israelites worried about their quality of life and their existence.

No wonder they complained and griped. But don't we all?
Jesus said, "Don't worry about tomorrow, it will take care of itself, because it belongs to God." You can still look out your window and see the grass growing, the birds flying, and the clouds drifting by. Not one aspect of your worries has made a difference to the out-flow of life.

World Swim Mark Canceled by Fouls

CALI, Columbia (UPI) — Bruce Furniss cried. Tim Shaw put his arm around him and tried to console him. Jim Montgomery just walked away and said "damn it."

The Americans knew they had blown it. With a marvelous combination of 200-meter freestyle swimmers, they apparently had set a new world record in the men's 200-meter freestyle relays Friday night with a time of 7:30.35, capturing another gold medal.

But they knew what was coming. Furniss, the last of the four American swimmers, had jumped into the pool too soon, before Shaw had touched the wall. By that time Robin Backhaus, Montgomery and Shaw had already given the Americans an unbeatable lead.

The disqualification was announced in due course and the world record, an improvement of almost three seconds over the two-year-old mark set by another American combination at the last World Championships in Belgrade, was annulled. The West Germans, who had finished a distant second, moved up to the gold medal in the final of the 1500 meters freestyle.

Piniella Hero in Yank Victory

NEW YORK (UPI) — Operation save-face is a one-game success.

The New York Yankees, whose high spring training hopes have been squashed thus far by the unexpected spring showing of Boston, blasted the Red Sox 8-6, Friday night to close the gap between the American League East's two top teams to seven games.

Lo Piniella knocked in four runs with a single and a triple

Rookie Parker Pacing Pirates

NEW YORK (UPI) — One of these days the name Parker may bring more to mind than just a writing utensil.

Dave Parker, a 24-year-old outfielder with the Pittsburgh Pirates, is a fast-rising star who has been destined to leave an indelible mark on the national pastime.

The 6-foot-5, 225-pound slugger gives a chance to be a regular by Manager Danny Mortuaugh during spring training, continues to play beyond his years even his own expectations.

Parker, largely responsible for the Pirates' five-game lead in the National League East, rapped off three hits, including his 18th homer, and scored twice Friday night to lead the Pirates to a 6-1 victory over the Montreal Expos.

The three hits boosted his batting average to .330 and he also had driven in 56 while scoring 50. Not bad for a guy who was only a part-time performer a year ago.

Shower of Greenbacks on Diamond

Peggy Stevens of Atlanta stuffs one of five lucky fans who had 90 seconds to grab as much of $25,000 spread over diamond.

Atlanta Braves pitcher Peggy Stevens, 22, pitched a 9-1 victory over the Montreal Expos Friday night at Atlanta Stadium.

The three hits boosted his batting average to .330 and he also had driven in 56 while scoring 50. Not bad for a guy who was only a part-time performer a year ago.

Carew on Tear For .400 Mark

NEW YORK (UPI) — Just about the time everyone figured they'd heard the last this year about someone hitting .400, Rod Carew has 'em talking again.

"I'm back to hitting like I should," he says.

Carew starts off hitting almost every season as if he should bat .400.

He usually threatens that magic figure until June, then slumps down in the heat of summer and the heavy schedule, and finishes in a slump, at say, around .350.

That's the way he has won four American League batting titles, including the last three.

This season Carew started as usual. He was over .400 well into June and then slipped below .370 in July.

Now Carew is stirring things up again.

With four hits Friday night in Minnesota's 12-1 victory over the California Angels, he's 18 for 24 in his last six games. He has raised his average 15 points to .385.

ing. Ben Ogilvie started the rally with a double and scored on a single by Willie Horton.

But, Carew conceded, it would be difficult to maintain his hot pace into September, something he would have to do to have a 400 season.

"If then I'm hitting the way I am now, I'll be thinking about it," he said. "It's a natural thing to press."

Carew, named as captain of the Twins, contributed a triple and three singles to a 19-hit attack Friday night, supporting the five-hit pitching of Bert Blyleven. Blyleven struck out five.

Royals Rojas has three hits, two runs and scored once in the opener. Al Cowens had a two-run triple and a two-run homer in the second game. The Kansas City victory came in his first two games under new manager White Herzog while the losses for Texas were its first following three victories under Frank Lucchesi.

Personal Tee and Antiques Capture Softball Contests

Two games were played last night in the Girls' Senior Softball League at Martin Field.

Personal Tee outlasted Frisco, 17-8, behind the pitching of Gail Butler and Lori Veal. Jennifer Kracella homered for the winners while Helen Greiner and Dorree Dowman each pitched for Frisco.

Louid in Jail

ORLANDO, Fla. (UPI) — Ronnie Louid, former general manager and part owner of the defunct World Football League Florida Blazers, was in jail today after being extradited from Massachusetts Friday.

Louid, who was arrested on charges of conspiracy to defraud and sell cocaine last May, was expected to post $500,000 bond for his release later today.

The former World Football League player and coach was flown here from Boston Friday after arrested.

Rev. Swartz to Speak At Manchester Church

The Rev. Frances Swartz of Ellington will be guest preacher at the 41st service at North United Methodist Church.

Blanche Newman, a member of North Church, will serve as liturgist at the service. There will be a coffee fellowship after the service.

The guest preacher was recently ordained a deacon and received as a probationary member of the Southern New England Conference of the United Methodist Church.

She and her husband, the Rev. James Swartz, are co-pastors of Vernon United Methodist Church and the Community United Methodist Church of Ellington.

Before seeking ordination, the Rev. Mr. Swartz served as a director of Christian education in volunteer work at the International Ecumenical Congress, a Roman Catholic congregation which is expected to bring Pope Paul VI to the United States.

Bolton Churches Schedule Events

Donna Holland is planning a series of events at St. George's Episcopal Church in Bolton.

Each weekend has a set schedule and is led by a team of three couples and a deacon. The couples making the counter practice and use the technique for themselves in the privacy of their own rooms.

There is no group therapy, marriage counseling or sensitivity to it. The only person you share yourself with is your own spouse.

The cost of a marriage encounter weekend is minimal. Free baby-sitting is available when needed for those couples who are making an encounter weekend.

Attendance at the information night is not necessary for anyone to attend a retreat.

Both the information night and the encounter weekends are open to the public.

The flower show is being coordinated by Millicent Jones.

The Rev. David Campbell, pastor of the United Methodist Church, is planning a marriage encounter information hour at the request of the council on ministries of the church.

The information night will be Sunday, Aug. 17 at 7:30 in Skinner Hall. Refreshments will be served.

Two couples who are active with Connecticut Marriage Encounter will give a short presentation and answer all questions a program such as an encounter weekend will raise.

The next two encounter weekends in the area are:

OBITUARIES

Mrs. Esther S. Bowers
Mrs. Esther Swanson Girouard Bowers, 74, of Marlborough, formerly of Manchester, died Thursday at Manchester Memorial Hospital.

Mrs. Bowers was born in Manchester and lived in the Greater Hartford area for many years, moving to Marlborough in 1955. She was a member of St. John Fisher Church and the American Legion Auxiliary in Marlborough.

Survivors are two sons, Edgar Girouard and Ronald Girouard, both of Marlborough; 3 daughters, Mrs. William Foley of Marlborough, and Mrs. Edward Williams and Mrs. Frank O'Keefe, both of North Kingstown, R.I.; 18 grandchildren and 10 great-grandchildren.

The funeral is Monday at 9:30 a.m. from the Lowe-Robacker Funeral Home, 2534 Main St., Glastonbury, with a Mass at St. Paul's Church, Glastonbury, at 10. Burial will be in Marlborough Cemetery.

Friends may call at the funeral home tonight from 7 to 9 and Sunday from 3 to 5 and 7 to 9 p.m.

William M. Wilson

William M. Wilson, 82, formerly of 61 Mather St., died this morning at a Manchester convalescent home.

Mr. Wilson was born May 29, 1893 in Manchester, son of the late Henry and Elizabeth Wilson, and had lived here all his life. Before he retired 18 years ago, he was employed at Cheney Bros. for eight years. A watch and clock repairman, he was in business with his father on Main St. at one time. After his retirement, he made violins. He also made a wooden wheel clock.

He was an Army veteran of World War I and a member of Manchester Barracks of World War I Veterans, and Manchester's VFW Post.

Survivors are a son, Russell B. Wilson of East Hartford; and two granddaughters.

The Holmes Funeral Home, 400 Main St., is in charge of arrangements, which are incomplete.

In Memoriam

In loving memory of Harry Snover who passed away July 26, 1967.
You left without a last goodbye,
I asked the Lord why, oh why,
My heart still aches in loneliness and silent tears still flow.
I see your smile and hear your voice
No matter where I go.

Sadly Missed by his Wife
Gertrude Snover

In loving memory of Edgar H. Barracliffe who passed away July 26, 1974.

Although one year has passed,
You are not forgotten
A heart of gold stopped breathing,
God broke our hearts
To prove to us He takes only the best,
But you didn't go alone,
Part of us went with you.
Little did we know that morning,
The sorrow the day would bring,
The call was sudden, the shock severe,
To part with one we loved so dear.
Time hasn't eased the pain in our hearts,
Nor dried the tears in our eyes.
Your memory will always last,
We loved you then, we love you yet.
Gone but not forgotten,
Son, Rich, Daughter-in-law,
Kathy, Granddaughter, Dawn

Ira R. Allen
Ira R. Allen, 62, of Hartford died Thursday at Hartford Hospital. He was the brother of Crawford Allen of Manchester.

He is also survived by his wife, his mother, three daughters, a son, three sisters and eight grandchildren.

The funeral is Monday at 11 a.m. at Central Baptist Church, Hartford. Burial will be in Rose Hill Memorial Park, Rocky Hill.

Friends may call at Rose Hill Funeral Home, 580 Elm St., Rocky Hill, Sunday from 7 to 9 p.m.

Gregory A. Voss

COVENTRY—The funeral of Gregory Allen Voss, 22, of Windham, who drowned Friday in Coventry Lake, is Monday at 11 a.m. at Potter Funeral Home, 456 Jackson St., Willimantic.

Burial will be in New Willimantic Cemetery. Mr. Voss was born Aug. 17, 1952 in Coventry and has lived in Windham for two years. He was employed as assistant manager at Dunkin Donuts in Willimantic.

He is survived by his mother, Mrs. Neta D. Voss of Windham; his father, Arthur Voss of Coventry; and a brother, Charles Voss of Chaplin.

Friends may call at the funeral home Sunday from 7 to 9 p.m.

BICENTENNIAL FACTS

Among the mob that precipitated the Boston Massacre on Mar. 5, 1770 and one of the three Americans killed outright, Crispus Attucks is believed to have been a gigantic mulatto slave who ran away from Deacon William Browne of Framingham, Mass. in 1750. A strong argument also has been presented to prove that he was an Indian and there is evidence that he may have been of mixed Indian and Negro blood. The World Almanac notes.

Mrs. Feinstein's Funeral Is Sunday

HARTFORD (UPI)—Funeral services will be Sunday for Eleanor LaZarre Feinstein of West Hartford, the first woman broadcaster in Connecticut. She died Thursday at the age of 56.

She worked for radio stations WTIC, WDRG, WHTT, formerly the Hartford Times radio station, and was active in community theater groups.

Mrs. Feinstein leaves a husband and two sons.

Revaluation Team Near End of Work

Members of the revaluation team inspecting Manchester residential properties now are on the streets south of Woodbridge St., including Forest Hills; east of Main St.; north of E. Center St. and the extension of E. Middle Tpke.

It is the final area to be covered by the field men. Residents in other areas who haven't had their property inspected may call the revaluation office for an appointment, at 649-5281, Ext. 201. Appointments can be made for any day —including evenings and Saturday.

Revaluation of all town real estate will take effect as of the October 1976 Grand List and will be reflected in 1977-78 taxes.

POLICE REPORT

MANCHESTER

Arthur G. Cilley, 19, of 49 Birch St., was arrested early this morning by police called to that address by a neighbor reporting a commotion. Police said Cilley attempted to bar their entry to the residence and abused them verbally.

Police rapped on the door and when it opened Thomas J. Shaia, 20, of 47 Thomas Dr.

fled. Cilley also fled. Cilley was wrestled to the ground by one officer and handcuffed. Another officer arrested Shaia. Cilley continued to abuse the officers and attempted to kick out screen in patrol car. At the police station he had to be subdued by three officers in order to get him into a cell, police said.

Cilley has been charged with third degree criminal mischief, interfering with an officer, and breach of peace. A $500 bond was not posted. Court date is Aug. 4.

Shaia was charged with disorderly conduct. His bond was set at $50 after he refused to make a call and he, too, was jailed. Court date is Aug. 8.

George Amaral, 41, of 9 Cottage St., Rockville, was arrested at 8:16 p.m. Friday at 37 Marble St. after reports to police that he was pointing a gun at cars. The complaining parties refused to come forward and police charged Amaral with disorderly conduct and intoxication. A rifle and three bullets were found in his vehicle. Court date is Aug. 4.

Dana Dubois, 20, and Dale Dubois, 17, both of 133 W. Main St. Rockville and John P. Sullivan, 19, of 125 High St., Rockville were arrested early today at E. Middle Tpke. and Earl St. on charges of disorderly conduct and intoxication. Bonds were set at $500 and court date is Aug. 11.

VERNON

A judge's robes and a coffee pot belonging to the prosecutor were stolen from the Common Pleas Court building. The missing items are valued at $125.

Edward E. Easton, 16, of 130 Vernon Ave., Rockville, was charged with third-degree burglary, fourth-degree larceny, and third-degree criminal mischief in connection with a burglary July 13 at a home. He was released under a $500 non-surety bond for appearance in Common Pleas Court at Rockville Aug. 20.

State Given $570,000 In Planning Grants

HARTFORD (UPI)—Gov. Ella T. Grasso says Connecticut's comprehensive state, regional and local planning programs have received $570,000 in federal grants.

Mrs. Grasso said Friday extensive planning is necessary for the state as it deals with a critical period of its history. "Energy supplies are dwindling, a strong system of public transportation is essential and the conservation of our environment and development of new natural resources need action now," she said.

The recently formed Department of Planning and Energy Policy will receive $210,000 of the federal grant to support its statewide planning and management work.

The department also will coordinate planning among state agencies in such areas as water resources, transportation, human services and air quality.

The state Department of Community Affairs will receive $200,000 to help communities of less than 50,000 population with planning and management services.

Seven non-metropolitan regional planning agencies will receive $140,000.

They are Connecticut River Estuary with headquarters in Essex, Litchfield Hills in Torrington, Mid State in Middletown, Northeastern Connecticut in Brooklyn, Northwestern Connecticut in Warren, Valley in Ansonia and Windham in Willimantic.

A $20,000 grant will go to the Department of Environmental Protection to analyze a census of Indians in Connecticut and plan the long range development of reservation lands. The state is contributing $285,000 in matching funds and in-kind services to the planning program.

MANCHESTER HOSPITAL NOTES

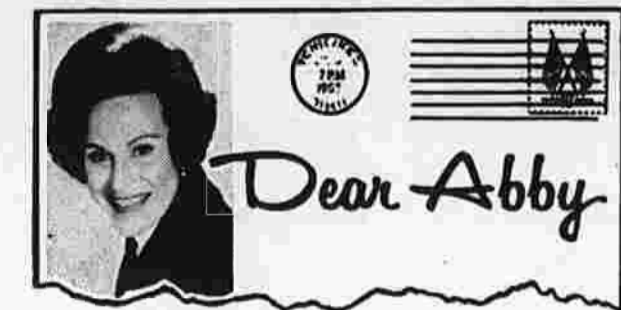

Discharged Thursday: Rheta Colpitts, 122 Bretton Rd.; Irene Walsh, 138 Garth Rd.; Esther Bowers, Marlborough; Robert Bessette, 24 Wapping Woods Rd., Ellington; Richard Kiro, East Hartford; Ellen Lesure, 228 New State Rd.; Diane McConville, 21 Elro St.; Anthony Staskunas, 29 Thompson Rd.; Donna Orcott, Rocky Hill

Also, Winston Cornish, Buff Cap Rd.; Tolland; Shirley Zorger, 57 Hemlock St.; Judith Morton, 28 Durant St.; Lisa and Daniel Lichanec, Willington; Helena Dutelle, 92 Avondale Rd.

Our Apologies

Our apologies to Betty Lundberg, who does such a fine job as Mrs. Baker in Theatre 3's production of "Butterflies Are Free." Her name inadvertently was left out of Friday's review of the play now showing in Manchester Community College auditorium.

Mrs. Baker (Betty Lundberg) is the Scarsdale matron called "Mighty Mom" by her blind son, Don.

Dear Abby

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1975 by Chicago Tribune-N.Y. News Synd., Inc.

DEAR ABBY: I am married, although my husband is in prison. I do not go out with other men, and I don't entertain any, either. I live a clean, simple, uncomplicated life and am only trying to hang in there until my man comes home. My problem is that most men think that I am "fair game" because I have no husband home. There are several in my neighborhood who insist that I am "lonely," hungry for a man and desperately in need of the company of one. I am tired of trying to straighten these guys out. Maybe if you print this, they will get the message. Just because a woman is alone doesn't mean that she is available.

WAITING FOR MY MAN

DEAR WAITING: Hooray for you! And I hope your man on the inside reads this. It will make his day. God bless.

DEAR ABBY: In fairness to the many older people like myself who cannot eat a large meal at one sitting and who eat many times a day (which the doctors assure us is healthier, anyway), I would like to present the side of the majority on "doggie baggers."

We enjoy restaurant eating every now and then, but my husband resents paying today's prices only to see half of my meal returned to the kitchen unopened and then hearing me say, "I'm hungry" two hours later. Since asking for a doggie bag is frowned upon in some restaurants, a simple solution for me is to carry my own plastic bags.

Yes, I do this in some friends' homes, too. If you ask for a very small portion, the hostess thinks you ate before you came. And if you leave half of it on your plate, she thinks you didn't like it. But if you're truthful, the hostess is delighted to let you take your portion home to enjoy for several meals.

WOOF WOOF IN PA.

DEAR WOOF WOOF: I'm with you all the way. Many restaurants offer "a child's" portion at a reduced price, of which many senior citizens also take advantage.

DEAR ABBY: I'm 40-years-old, and I have a problem. I always cry at sad movies, hymns, sad stories, parades, beautiful skaters and "The Star Spangled Banner." Soon my son will be getting married. The plans for the church ceremony sound just beautiful and end with my son's presenting me with a single red rose! The thought of it sends chills up my spine.

I don't want to embarrass my son or husband by blubbering.

Do you have any suggestions? (I'm on hormones, so it's not the menopause.) Thank you.

SENTIMENTAL IN ILLINOIS

DEAR SENTIMENTAL: Being told in advance will prepare you for the presentation. I'm sure there won't be a dry eye in the house, so if you shed a tear or two, you won't embarrass anyone. Good luck and God bless.

DEAR ABBY: My dad and I are at a disagreement. He says I should not eat with my left hand. He says it is like eating peas with a knife.

I like eating with my left hand, and I think I am old enough to know which hand I feel more comfortable eating with. (I am 16.)

Dad says the etiquette books say that you are supposed to eat with your right hand.

Who is right? Please hurry your answer. I hate eating with my right hand.

BUGGED

DEAR BUGGED: I hope your dad is big enough to admit that he is wrong because he is.

Everyone has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 69700, L.A., Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please. Hate to write letters? Send $1 to Abigail Van Buren, 132 Lasky Dr., Beverly Hills, Calif. 90212, for Abby's booklet "How to Write Letters for All Occasions." Please enclose a long, self-addressed, stamped (20¢) envelope.

For reservations, call 413-637-1600.

'Eddie' at Goodspeed

The fact this writer is a native of The Catskills and has ridden the Hudson River dayliner no doubt makes us particularly partial to the Goodspeed Opera's current production of "Very Good Eddie."

Besides basking in the nostalgia suggested by the backdrop of the scenic mountains rising behind the river banks, the story is chock full of funny incidents about two honeymoon couples who become separated as their Hudson River dayliner sails, leaving one member of each couple on the shore in search of lost luggage.

The play is one constant round of hilarity sparked with some clever songs and lyrics among which is an early number called "Thirteen Collar" sung by Charles Repole, the short bridegroom.

Reminiscent of the pre-1920 days, some of the songs have phrases such as "poopsie-woopsie," "ta-la," and "hot dog" which, in combination with the costumes of the era really take the audience back a few years.

In the past 50 years, a couple of the tunes remain familiar such as "Babes in the Wood" and "On the Shore at Lei Wi."

A chorus whose members also played in "Louisiana Purchase" earlier this season at Goodspeed, goes through some fast routines with the one-step, the two-step and the foxtrot.

Jill Choder as Elsie Darling, one of the honeymoon wives, is vivacious, with a piquant charm which endears her to the audience—and Eddie, whose wife she isn't.

Charles Repole, with his banjo eyes reminds one of Eddie Cantor. With Jill Choder, and even with Spring Fairbank, his wife in the play, he is a perfect complement.

But we can't disclose anymore of the story except to say it ends on a happy note.

Embellishing the main characters are Eddie Phillips as Al Cleveland who plays a boat porter and hotel registrar and is glib with some punch lines.

Also, Travis Hudson as Mme. Matropo, who struts as opera mentor to a group of young lovely operatic aspirants en route to a Catskills resort to concentrate on their voice training.

Ms. Hudson nearly stops the show with her red-hot mama rendition of "Katydid."

The stage set in the second act for the lobby of the posh mountain resort is well contained on Goodspeed's limited stage space. The costumes are the prettier for being worn by the attractive lovelies in the chorus.

This is a show we wouldn't mind seeing again.

The boat whistle blows nightly at 8:30 through Aug. 17. For reservations, call 873-8668.

Former resident writes guide to pregnancy

BETTY RYDER
Family/Travel Editor

When Jean (Martin) Marzollo, a former Manchester resident now of Manhattan, became pregnant she discovered from other young mothers that they had many questions concerning child care that even a medical doctor couldn't answer. So she decided to do something about it.

In her book, "9 Months 1 Day 1 Year," Mrs. Marzollo covers the whole period of pregnancy, birth, and that first year as a new parent, with excerpts from many parents who contributed tips and experiences they had with their infants.

"Shortly after I became pregnant with my first child, I started talking to friends and associates about their problems and solutions in child rearing," she said.

"Later, I sent out questionnaires asking them to relate some of their experiences which might be beneficial to new or prospective parents. "From that beginning I put their comments along with my own experiences altogether as a guide to pregnancy, birth and baby care," Mrs. Marzollo said.

The author of another book, "Learning Through Play," about preschool activities for the home, Mrs. Marzollo was graduated from high school in Manchester.

She received a B.A. degree from the University of Connecticut in 1964 majoring in English and later attended Harvard Graduate School of Education.

Her mother, Mrs. Ruth Martin, taught for many years in East Hartford. Her father, the late Richard Martin was town manager of Manchester for over 15 years, and was director of the Connecticut State Water Commission in Hartford.

The former resident and her husband have two children, Danny, 20 months old, and David, 1 month. Mr. Marzollo is a sculptor and currently has a display at the Fischbach Gallery in New York City.

Among the contributors to her new book are Mrs. Beth Tangerone Kalehmainen, formerly of Manchester, now of Barrington, Ill.; Mrs. Ann McIntosh Mello, a former Manchesterite, now residing in Paxton, Mass.; Mrs. Roberta Shenkman Bynes of Coventry; and Martha and Rodney Dimock of Tolland.

The Jack Palmers of South Windsor also wrote a brief review on "9 Months 1 Day 1 Year," in which they expressed their thoughts.

"This 191-page book is just the one to read first if you are going to be a new parent. The book is a composite of all ideas, trials, tribulations and thrills of becoming and being a new parent," the young couple wrote.

"Although we have a 14-month-old son and have established our own views and methods on how things should be handled regarding his health, upbringing, etc., we appreciated the book's theme of using different parents' comments and opinions.

Palmer wrote, "Take for instance, feeding schedules. Some parents follow their pediatricians advice and try to schedule their baby to certain intervals, whereas another parent writes in the book that feeding on demand allows the baby to be secure in the 'new world' and eventually find his own schedule."

He and his wife agree that the book is great and wish it had been available before their first child was born.

"A good portion of the anecdotes are written by fathers before, during and after pregnancy, bringing me as a father, right into the picture," he said.

The Palmers especially liked the chapters dealing with visits to the obstetrician by both parents.

"It gave me a chance to discuss the delivery methods, be sure everything was going well, and hear the baby's heartbeat," Palmer said.

The Palmers live at 518 Graham Rd. in South Windsor firmly believe new or prospective parents should read Mrs. Marzollo's latest book. "Granted, most of the book is by mothers and for mothers, but it does a good job of including fathers, too. And fathers should be involved as much as possible," Mrs. Palmer said.

"9 Months 1 Day 1 Year," published by Harper & Row, is currently available at local and area bookstores.

“Ja-ja-je-um”

Here come the junior usher, junior bridesmaid, flower girl and ring bearer!

Maybe you are going to be in a wedding soon, since August is a very big wedding month.

Many weddings these days are being held outside. Some couples are writing their own ceremony rather than reciting one from a book.

In some weddings, the ushers wear pastel colors such as aqua, yellow and light blue. Many bridesmaids wear flowered dresses. All-white weddings where even the groom wears white are popular.

Flower girls walk in front of the bride and scatter flower petals down the aisle.

Ring bearers, always boys, carry small white pillows with the rings pinned on them to make certain that they do not fall off.

Junior bridesmaids walk down the aisle by themselves or with another bridesmaid. They dress just like the older bridesmaids.

Left: Junior ushers help seat the guests. They offer the ladies their right arm as they escort them down the aisle to their seats.

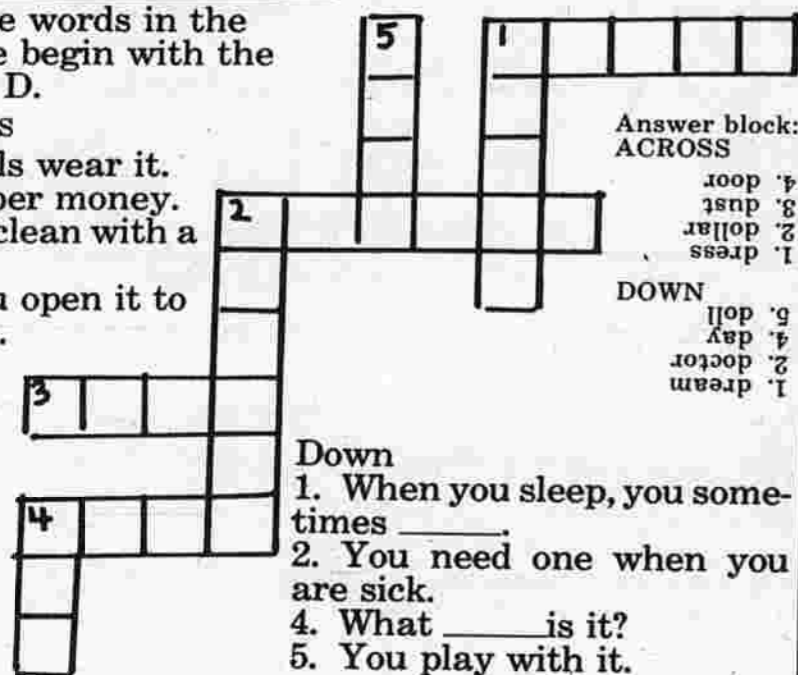

A bride shows her ring to two flower girls and the ring bearer.

- Burlap. This is a fabric with a very big weave.
 - A big needle
 - Knitting wool of many colors
 - Scissors
 - Chalk

- Draw your design in chalk.
- Using a running stitch, go over it. Add felt flowers if you wish.
- To make a wall hanging, make about a one inch hem at the top and bottom. Run sticks through. Add a string at the top.

Wedding Customs.

Years Ago

Today

Today, there are many wedding customs. How they got started is sometimes a mystery. Experts don't always agree, but here are some ideas that date back hundreds of years ago!

In early history, the groom would take along his best friend to help him capture the bride. Of course, he would want to pick the very best man possible.

Carrying the bride over the threshold or doorway probably goes back to the custom of capturing the bride. Since she might be going against her will, the groom would have to carry her.

He would have to hide her away from her relatives, who might come after her, so this is how the first honeymoon began.

He would also want to keep who she was a secret, so he would cover her up. This is how use of the wedding veil started.

More Customs

Throwing rice at a couple is an ancient Chinese custom. Rice is an old symbol used to wish couples lots of children. It has another meaning—good wishes for kitchen shelves full of plenty to eat. In this country, we do it just for fun. Sometimes people throw confetti. Some Europeans throw fresh fruits, such as figs!

At the end of a Jewish ceremony, the groom steps on a glass and breaks it as a symbol of the destruction of the ancient temple in Jerusalem in the year 70.

A bridal shower is a party for the bride where the guests bring gifts. It is believed that this custom started in Holland when friends "showered" a bride with presents when her family did not approve of the groom and would not give her anything.

Meet Laura Baugh

"How's your love life, Laura Baugh?"

Have you seen this commercial on TV? The beautiful girl in it is the number one attraction on the Ladies Professional Golf Tour. The Mini Page talked with her recently.

Q. When did you start playing golf?

A. "I hit my first ball when I was two, started playing at three, and won my first tournament at the age of five. Golf was a family thing with us. My two older brothers play, too."

Laura was national Pee Wee golf champion. She also won the Junior World title in 1970 and the U.S. Amateur title in 1971. This is her third year as a pro. In 1974 she won a total of $37,000. She makes a lot more money endorsing products. She just turned 20 years old.

Q. What are your other interests?

A. "I design golf outfits for the same sportswear people that Billy Jean King designs tennis dresses for. I do commercials and travel a lot, especially to Japan."

Laura is a national idol in Japan. She is recognized everywhere she goes.

Q. How's your love life?

A. "I really don't have time to date. It's hard to meet men at a tournament. I'm looking for someone who will be a serious friend in the future. I want to meet someone who's really interested in me."

Healthy Horse Twins

See the unusual twin baby horses. They were four days old when this picture was taken. One is a colt or a boy horse. One is a filly or girl horse. Not many twin horses live. These are healthy and doing well. These are Appaloosa horses. They have spots on them.

Guess Why?

Guess why the number 13 is thought to be unlucky!

This superstition goes back to ancient mythology. The story was that the gods were having a party. Twelve guests were invited. Thirteen gods showed up. The uninvited god was evil.

Love and
 XXX
 XXX

Guess why X is used as a symbol for a kiss.

Many years ago, people who could not write their names would sign an X. Sometimes they would kiss the X to show that they were really sincere about what they signed.

Mini Jokes

The Colonial Times

In Virginia, there was the unusual custom of "throwing the stocking." After the wedding ceremony, the bride would get into bed. The bridesmaids would turn around with their backs to the bed, and, standing at the foot, would take off one of their stockings and throw it at the bride. The first one to hit her would be the next to marry. The groomsman would do the same thing to the groom.

August is the month for fairs, festivals

August in Connecticut is generally a good bet to be sunny, warm, and relaxed—ideal for arts and crafts and antiques fairs, horse shows, and all kinds of outdoor goings-on all over the state.

The Mystic Outdoor Arts Festival, Aug. 9 and 10, is a total community event. The juried show of the Mystic Art Association forms the nucleus of a wide-ranging exhibit. The whole harbor area becomes a gallery for paintings, drawings, sculpture, photography, and graphics.

Artists as well as viewers come from all over Connecticut and the Northeast, bringing color and gaiety to an already picturesque setting.

The Mystic area, particularly during the outdoor art show, is a lively and entertaining place to spend a weekend.

The Seaport's carefully preserved buildings house memories of the days when whaling was the major industry. Seaport craftsmen demonstrate many of the skills used in those times, and visitors can board the authentically restored Charles W. Morgan, last of the wooden whaling ships.

Not far away, the Mystic Marinellife Aquarium expands on the maritime theme, with hundreds of kinds of fish and sea creatures in environments as close as possible to nature.

New London, Groton, and Stonington, all in the immediate vicinity, abound with historic sites, inviting beaches, and boating facilities.

For other tastes, the Stratford Antiques Festival, Aug. 2, offers an opportunity to combine a little antiquing with a visit to the American Shakespeare Theatre, the town's most famous attraction. Sightseers should take time to visit Stratford's links to colonial times. One is the Judson House and Museum, a 1723 home restored and furnished in keeping with the period.

Another is Christ Church, founded in 1724, the first Episcopal Church established outside of England. The brass rooster on its steeple adorned the church's second building, built in 1742, and bears nicks from bullets fired by British officers during the French and Indian War—not in battle, in target practice.

For avid collectors, more antiques festivals are scheduled for August—in Glastonbury the 9th, in Kent the 14 to 16th, and in North Stonington the 15 and 16th.

The town of Bethlehem presents a double bill Aug. 10—an arts and crafts street fair on the town green, and a horse show on the fairgrounds. If one horse show is not enough, there will be another Aug. 2 at Litchfield, and a third, the Madison Rotary Club Horse Show, at Durham Aug. 16 and 17.

Art shows in Connecticut in August are plentiful and varied. Besides the gala at Mystic, the Essex Art Association's Juried Show will be on display throughout August, as well as the Lyme Art Association Exhibit. The Crafts Center at Brookfield will have a Guatemalan Indian Crafts Exhibit for the month.

The 13th Annual Torrington Arts Festival, Aug. 3 to 9, incorporates many art forms, with performances of music and drama also scheduled, using local as well as "imported" talent.

Mini Do: Designs on Burlap

You'll need:

- Burlap. This is a fabric with a very big weave.
- A big needle
- Knitting wool of many colors
- Scissors
- Chalk

- Draw your design in chalk.
- Using a running stitch, go over it. Add felt flowers if you wish.
- To make a wall hanging, make about a one inch hem at the top and bottom. Run sticks through. Add a string at the top.

Wedding Customs.

Today, there are many wedding customs. How they got started is sometimes a mystery. Experts don't always agree, but here are some ideas that date back hundreds of years ago!

In early history, the groom would take along his best friend to help him capture the bride. Of course, he would want to pick the very best man possible.

Carrying the bride over the threshold or doorway probably goes back to the custom of capturing the bride. Since she might be going against her will, the groom would have to carry her.

He would have to hide her away from her relatives, who might come after her, so this is how the first honeymoon began.

He would also want to keep who she was a secret, so he would cover her up. This is how use of the wedding veil started.

More Customs

Throwing rice at a couple is an ancient Chinese custom. Rice is an old symbol used to wish couples lots of children. It has another meaning—good wishes for kitchen shelves full of plenty to eat. In this country, we do it just for fun. Sometimes people throw confetti. Some Europeans throw fresh fruits, such as figs!

At the end of a Jewish ceremony, the groom steps on a glass and breaks it as a symbol of the destruction of the ancient temple in Jerusalem in the year 70.

A bridal shower is a party for the bride where the guests bring gifts. It is believed that this custom started in Holland when friends "showered" a bride with presents when her family did not approve of the groom and would not give her anything.

Meet Laura Baugh

"How's your love life, Laura Baugh?"

Have you seen this commercial on TV? The beautiful girl in it is the number one attraction on the Ladies Professional Golf Tour. The Mini Page talked with her recently.

Q. When did you start playing golf?

A. "I hit my first ball when I was two, started playing at three, and won my first tournament at the age of five. Golf was a family thing with us. My two older brothers play, too."

Laura was national Pee Wee golf champion. She also won the Junior World title in 1970 and the U.S. Amateur title in 1971. This is her third year as a pro. In 1974 she won a total of $37,000. She makes a lot more money endorsing products. She just turned 20 years old.

Q. What are your other interests?

A. "I design golf outfits for the same sportswear people that Billy Jean King designs tennis dresses for. I do commercials and travel a lot, especially to Japan."

Laura is a national idol in Japan. She is recognized everywhere she goes.

Q. How's your love life?

A. "I really don't have time to date. It's hard to meet men at a tournament. I'm looking for someone who will be a serious friend in the future. I want to meet someone who's really interested in me."

Healthy Horse Twins

See the unusual twin baby horses. They were four days old when this picture was taken. One is a colt or a boy horse. One is a filly or girl horse. Not many twin horses live. These are healthy and doing well. These are Appaloosa horses. They have spots on them.

Guess Why?

Guess why the number 13 is thought to be unlucky!

This superstition goes back to ancient mythology. The story was that the gods were having a party. Twelve guests were invited. Thirteen gods showed up. The uninvited god was evil.

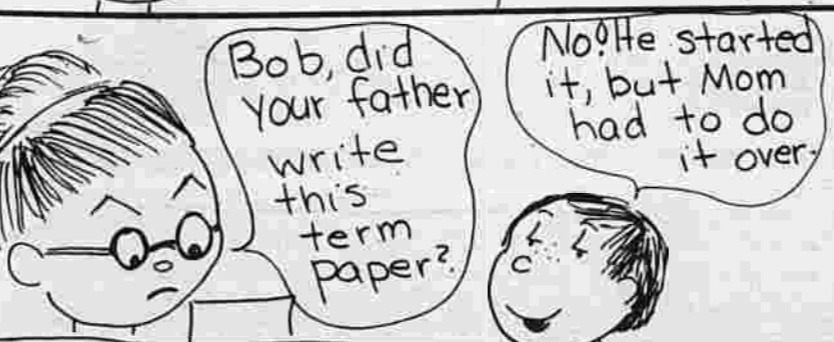

Love and XXXX XXXX

Guess why X is used as a symbol for a kiss.

Many years ago, people who could not write their names would sign an X. Sometimes they would kiss the X to show that they were really sincere about what they signed.

Mini Jokes

The Colonial Times

In Virginia, there was the unusual custom of "throwing the stocking." After the wedding ceremony, the bride would get into bed. The bridesmaids would turn around with their backs to the bed, and, standing at the foot, would take off one of their stockings and throw it at the bride. The first one to hit her would be the next to marry. The groomsman would do the same thing to the groom.

Wrap 'n bake hot dogs

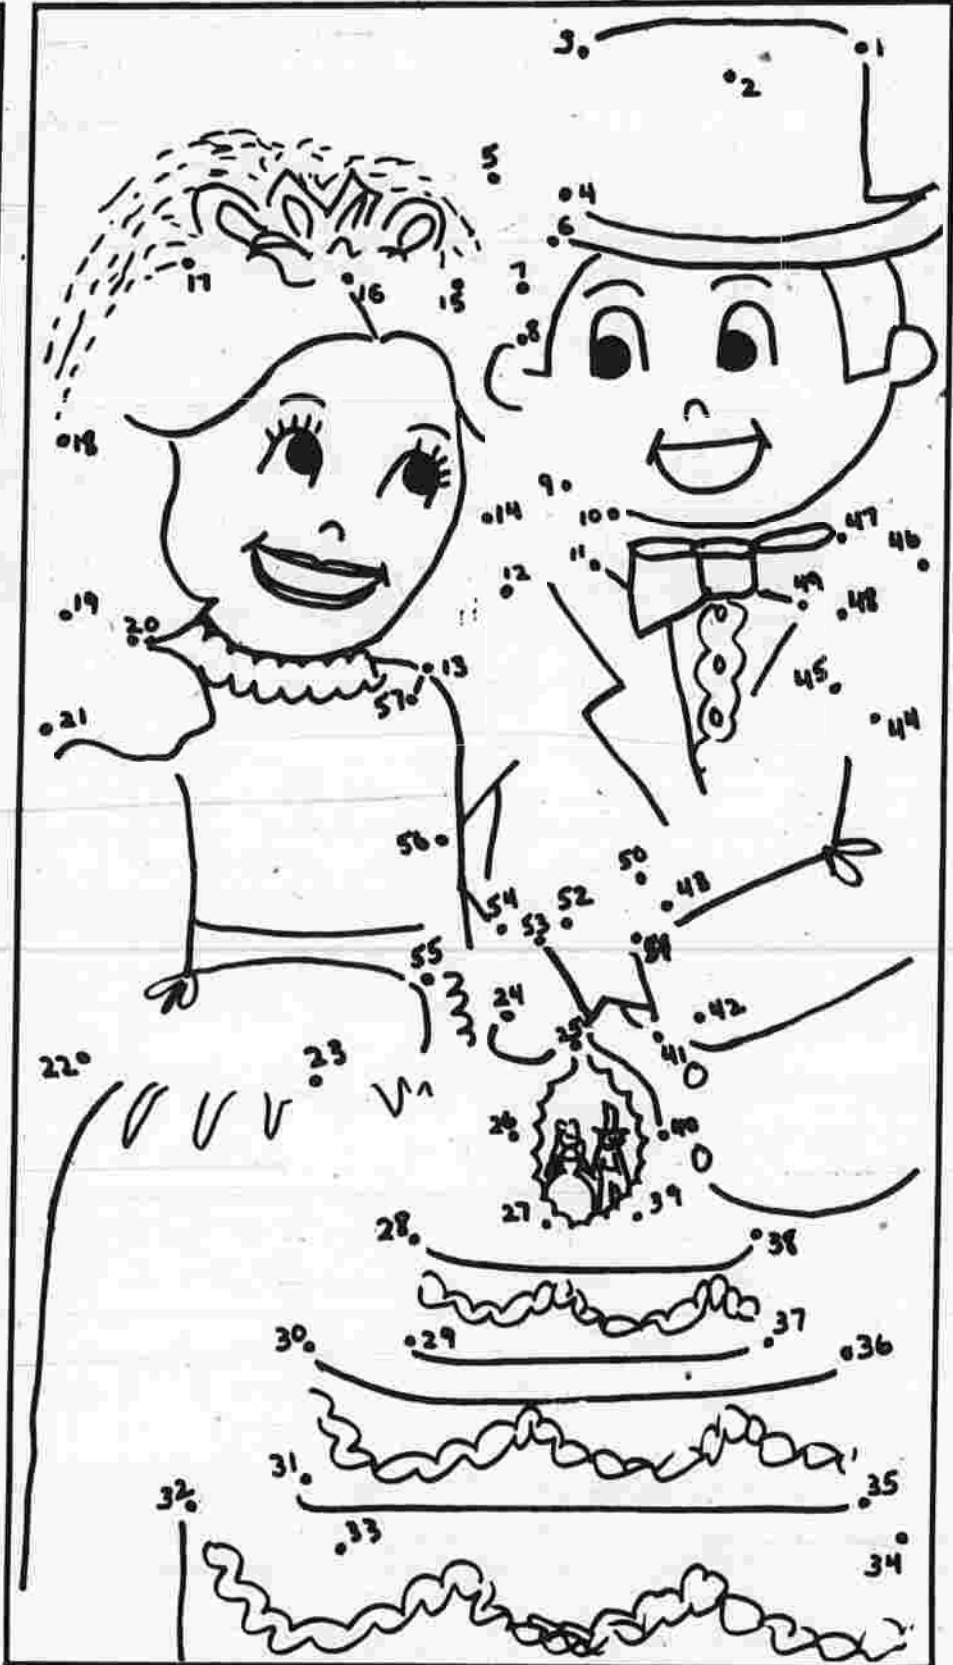

What you'll need:

- Hot dogs
