

Kennedy Campers Enjoy Army & Navy Club Cuisine

As has been its custom each year since 1964, when Camp Kennedy was established, Manchester's Army & Navy Club Wednesday served a full-course lunch to the campers and staff members. Keeping an eye out for any problems is Camp Director Harry Smith, wearing the orange T-shirt and cap given him by the staff. Yes, the lettering does read "Rooky Commander." The Army & Navy Club members manning the serving trays are, from the right, Butch Auden, Tommy Conran, Dave Krinjak, Ray Laine, Ed McGregor and, blocked from view, Teddy Pastva. The menu consisted of meat loaf, mashed potatoes, gravy, carrots and peas, rolls and butter, grape punch and ice cream. There were seconds and thirds, and in one instance, fourths. Brezhnev Says Accord Doesn't Back Meddling HELSINKI (UPI) — Soviet leader Leonid I. Brezhnev said today the agreement on European security to be signed here Friday does not confer on any nation the right to meddle in Russia's internal affairs.

"No one should try to dictate to other peoples, on the basis of foreign policy considerations of one kind or another, the manner in which they ought to manage their internal affairs," he said in an address to summit leaders from 35 nations of East and West Europe, the United States and Canada.

Some delegates saw in the speech a renunciation of the "Brezhnev Doctrine," under which the Soviet Union after the invasion of Czechoslovakia in 1968 claimed the right to intervene anywhere in Eastern Europe.

Others saw it as a warning to the U.S. Congress not to link a trade agreement with Russia with emigration of Soviet Jews from Russia.

Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger said he thought it was a "conciliatory speech."

Brezhnev made a strong appeal for East-West military detente in Europe after the Helsinki conference and for renewed efforts to speed up disarmament.

"The Soviet Union," Brezhnev said, "has consistently supported the idea that the conference should be followed by a further development of military detente.

A primary goal is to find ways to reduce armed forces and armaments in Central Europe without diminishing the security of anyone. On the contrary, to the benefit of all."

"It is the materialization of detente which is the essence of all that should make peace in Europe truly durable and solid," Brezhnev said. "And here uppermost in our mind is the task of ending the arms race and achieving tangible results in disarmament."

Asked if he viewed Brezhnev's remarks as renouncing the so-called Brezhnev Doctrine, under which the Soviet Union claimed the right to intervene in Eastern Europe and use this to justify the 1968 invasion of Czechoslovakia, Kissinger said only, "it indicates there should be no interference in the affairs of other nations."

Today's session was marked by a walkout by Turkish Premier Suleyman Demirel when Archbishop Makarios, president of Cyprus, rose to speak. Turkey does not recognize Makarios as the Cypriot head of state and Demirel was not present when Makarios said the Turkish invasion of Cyprus last summer was a flagrant violation of the "Final Act" the delegates are here to sign.

Brezhnev looked well. He spoke slowly but in a strong, clear voice as he addressed the leaders of East and West Europe and Canada and the United States. He left a dinner given by President Urho Kekkonen of Finland Wednesday night before the meal was served. But a Soviet delegation spokesman denied this was because he was unwell.

"It is not true that Mr. Brezhnev left the dinner early because of ill health," the Soviet spokesman said.

"He explained to President Kekkonen that he had to work on his speech to the conference. The president agreed. Mr. Brezhnev worked all evening on his speech." In his warning against meddling in the internal affairs of other countries Brezhnev did not refer specifically to the West. But the implication was unmistakable.

Among the agreements included in the "Final Act" to be signed Friday are pledges to increase human contacts between Eastern and Western Europe, something the Soviets previously have resisted strongly.

Brezhnev's words appeared to mean Moscow will interpret these undertakings in its own way and does not want the West to take it how to act.

GOP Endorses Town Slate

By SOL R. COHEN
Herald Reporter

As expected, the Manchester Republican Town Committee Wednesday night endorsed the entire 17-member slate of candidates recommended by its selection committee. The action was unanimous with no nominations from the floor.

Heading the GOP slate are incumbent Town Directors Vivian Ferguson and Carl Zinsner. The third minority Republican on the board—Hillary Gallagher—has resigned effective Sept. 1. A replacement for him will be endorsed by the Republicans in late August.

The Democratic Town Committee meets tonight to endorse its 17-member slate, with the 17 incumbent Democratic office-holders expected to fill all slots. Joining Ferguson and Zinsner as Republican candidates for the Board of Directors are Paul Willhide, Clarence Brown, Edward Wilson and Harry Reinhorn.

Other endorsed candidates are:
• Board of Education—Incumbent Earl Odom plus Frederick Otter for the 1975-77 term; Gertrude DeLeo and Verna Hubbard for the 1976-78 term. Incumbent Elinor Hashim declined to seek re-election.

• Town Treasurer—Louise Cronin.
• Selectmen—Incumbent Mildred Schaller plus Robert Meek, presently a constable.

• Constables—Incumbents Sedrick Straughan and Joseph Swenson Sr. plus Marion Mercer and Henry Michalski.

Prior to the endorsements, the town committee welcomed Michael Murlagh, 15, of Armagh, Northern Ireland, who was present as an observer. Michael, in the group of Irish teen-agers visiting Manchester this summer, is staying with Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Diana. The slate was presented by Donald Genovesi and David Odegard, members with Harlan Taylor (who was unable to attend) of the selections committee.

The meeting was conducted in an atmosphere of confidence, with predictions of victory in November expressed by almost all speakers.

Said Genovesi, "This slate will provide Manchester with the type of government it has been accustomed to. It has gone astray for a few years, but Manchester will go Republican again. The Democrats don't do their homework and the voters know it."

Zinsner said, "The people and their needs are being ignored, even though the Republican minority speaks out on those needs. It's time for a change."

Mrs. Ferguson said her philosophy of government is that "it's an extension of community service, responsive to the needs of the people, and the Republicans are anxious, willing and able to assume that responsibility."

GOP Chairman Nathan Agostinelli agreed. "What government it is all about is responsiveness to the people," he said. "They aren't getting it from the Democratic-controlled board. It's time for a change, and the people know it. I don't think we'll have any trouble electing our candidates in November. All we have to do is get our message across to the people. What impresses me about our candidates is their desire to improve the community."

Also in a unanimous action, the town committee endorsed the following 15-delegates to a Special Republican State Convention Sept. 20 in Meriden: Agostinelli, Elsie Swenson, Harriet Haslett, Patricia Lawrence, Charles McKenzie, Mrs. Ferguson, Zinsner, Gallagher, Miss Hashim, Beverly Mahone, Roy Thompson, Mrs. Mercer, Odegard, Genovesi and M. Adler Dobkin.

Vernon's 'Head Start' 10 Years Old

BARBARA RICHMOND
(Herald Reporter)

The Head Start program in Vernon is 10 years old and the first crop of preschoolers is now going to high school and no doubt much better for the "head start" they had.

The program, which is federally funded, has financial and educational criteria set by the federal government, for acceptance of children to participate.

In some cases the children attend for two years but most only attend the one year before entering kindergarten.

In this year's group there are 41 pre-kindergarten children and 19 pre-first grade children. The program runs for six weeks. John Zanella is the head teacher and the program comes under the direction of Ronald Kozuch of the Continuing Education Department.

Besides Zanella, who supervises, there are three classroom teachers. Mariee Pfau teaches academic subjects; Louise Devaney, art; and Jeffrey Livingston, music.

Kathy Borsare, a speech clinician and Marie Girelli, a nurse, also work with the children.

The children learn letters, numbers, colors, and visual and auditory discrimination. Zanella said they learn to adapt socially to one another, or peer acceptance, plus "EXETER-PA-11 relationships.

During the session the children's medical records are established and they are transferred to the public schools for follow-up by the school nurses.

Besides classroom activities the children also go on several field trips during the six-week sessions to expose them to things going on around them.

Also, they enjoy visits from representatives of the town's police and fire departments who explain what their job is all about.

The children also have fun playing games which are entertaining but educational. They have naps and snacks, learn about good hygiene habits and other such things they will be exposed to when they start regular school.

Congress Retains Controls On Oil

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Congress has said "no" for the second time to President Ford's proposal to gradually lift oil price controls.

The action creates an impasse which — unless it is quickly resolved — could result in the controls expiring all at once Aug. 31, causing immediate and sharp rises in gasoline and other petroleum prices.

The House voted 228-189 Wednesday night to reject Ford's plan to gradually remove the oil price controls over a 30-month period ending November, 1978. The Senate voted 50-44 in favor of Ford's plan. But a rejection by only one branch of Congress is enough to kill his proposal.

That leaves two possibilities: the present controls could expire Aug. 31, or they could be extended.

The Weather

Sunny and hot today with highs in the 90s although lower along the coast. Fair tonight with lows in the mid 60s to near 70. Mostly sunny and hot Friday with highs in the 90s except lower along the shore.

Some economists say expiration could raise retail gasoline prices as much as 10 or 12 cents a gallon and have an inflationary impact throughout the economy, since fuel costs are an element in the prices of many products. Others say the effects would be less severe.

Ford has said — and Federal Energy Administrator Frank Zarb repeated it Wednesday — the President will veto any extension without a congressional acceptance in some form of his phase-out of controls.

"The President feels strongly that additional delays of any variety can only deepen this nation's vulnerability (to foreign oil)," Zarb wrote Rep. Clarence Brown, R-Ohio, a leading Ford supporter in the debate.

Later, Zarb said the administration is "extremely disappointed" over the House rejection and that his agency is "making necessary preparations for an orderly transition" when the controls expire. He didn't say how the transition would work or spell out what would happen to prices.

Present oil price controls apply to about 60 per cent of domestic oil — the so-called "old oil," produced from wells existing in 1972. The controlled price is $5.25 a barrel.

GOP Favors Advisory Firehouse Vote

By SOL R. COHEN
Herald Reporter

The Republican Town Committee Wednesday night backed a proposal for an "advisory" referendum in November on whether a Town of Manchester firehouse should be built at N. Main St. and Tolland Pike, in the Buckland area.

The action was on a voice vote, with no "nays" heard, and on a motion by Town Director Vivian Ferguson.

Mrs. Ferguson said she'll offer the proposal to the Board of Directors Tuesday, when it meets to consider a $26,000 bond issue for the firehouse.

The GOP action, with no position taken (pro or con) on constructing the firehouse, came on the eve of a special meeting of the district voters.

They are meeting at 7:30 tonight in the district firehouse to consider action on a petition from Buckland area property owners. The petition asks the district to extend its boundaries into their area—now a part of the Town Fire District and paying taxes to it. The petitioners request that the entire Buckland area become part of the district and pay taxes to it instead.

Mrs. Ferguson, in requesting GOP backing for the proposal she'll present Tuesday, said, "This issue of a firehouse in Buckland has become very emotional and controversial. Although it's not a political issue, I'd still like to have the committee's backing on the proposal for a referendum.

"The town charter permits the directors to authorize the bond issue without a referendum. However, I think the taxpayers should have a chance to express their views. An advisory referendum, although not binding on the directors, would make them consider all the facts before authorizing the bond issue."

The proposal Mrs. Ferguson will offer Tuesday will call for participation in a November "advisory" referendum by all town voters, if legally permissible, or by voters residing only in the Town Fire District, if not.

Mayor John Thompson, commenting today on the call for an "advisory" referendum, said, "The action by the Republican minority is strictly political. It is a complete about-face from their previous position, when Vivian Ferguson and Carl Zinsner voted with the majority in an 8 to 1 vote to go ahead with the firehouse. (The lone "nay" vote was by Republican Hillary Gallagher.)"

Thompson said, "It was no mystery at the time of the vote how we would proceed—without a referendum. And, because there was no question but that we'd proceed, we've already appropriated a considerable amount of money for property acquisition and other expenses."

He said, in the event Mrs. Ferguson submits her proposal Tuesday for an "advisory" referendum, "I'll vote against it. I have just one vote and I can't predict how the other five Democrats will vote. I must repeat, on the basis Mrs. Ferguson and Zinsner were for the firehouse right along, despite what they say now to the contrary, their new proposal is strictly political."

The petition from Buckland area property owners requesting extension of Eighth District boundaries contains 246 signatures, many of them of husband and wife for the same property.

A total of 469 property owners was eligible to sign the petition (many of them multiple owners of property). The petition will be considered tonight by Eighth District voters, at a 7:30 p.m. meeting in the District Firehouse, Main and Hilliard Sts.

THE OLD CODGER'S CODGITATIONS

O.C. remembers when there were no uniformed full-time policemen in Manchester. There were town constables and county sheriffs and their deputies.

The first uniformed policeman O.C. remembers was "Al" Thomas who came from the Hartford department. Later Sheridan came and became the first chief. He was also from the force in Hartford. He built the Police Building for a hotel on the east side of Main St. a little north of Pearl St.

Sam Gordon also became chief of Manchester police. He had been conductor on the first trolley, each day, which left the south terminus at Main St. and Hartford Rd. at 5:45 a.m. It was crowded with men who worked in Hartford. His motorman was Henry Bissell.

A five-cent fare was good to Laurel Park. Then another was Burnside. From there another was good to Hartford with a transfer on any of the lines in the city to the city limits. Total fare fifteen cents.

One of the early Manchester policemen was a Swedish man named "Charlie" Johnson. One very hot night O.C. and a companion found Charlie sitting on a step near Main and Maple with coat wide open, helmet and night stick beside him and sound asleep. We didn't want to be mean to the poor guy so let him sleep, and never did he know that we had found him and club that was left around the building in the dark.

There were surprises of applicants for jobs on the city police forces and the most liable to be accepted were the large men. There were not many men seeking that kind of employment in small towns like Manchester so size was not as important. There were two very short men on the force, Glenney and Crockett. They proved that size had little to do with doing a good police job.

It means that the average height of men is now greater than it used to be and of women less. Perhaps that is an illusion because they appear so in comparison with the taller men.

That's supposed to be a Cheney silk worm Suzanne Flocken of the Chamber of Commerce offers Burl Lyons as a remembrance of Manchester. The Rotary Club gave him the lid (only) for a garbage can as a reminder of his complaints about damaged lids.

Lyons Will Enter Public Service

Burl Lyons, former Herald publisher, will enter public service in Montana Aug. 11.

He told an audience of well-wishers Wednesday night that he will become administrative assistant to an old friend, Atty. Gen. Robert L. Woodahl.

There were nearly 100 at The Colony, Talcottville, for the testimonial arranged by the Greater Manchester Chamber of Commerce. Lyons became its first chairman of the board in an organizational structure change two years ago.

In his farewell remarks, Lyons touched upon his newspaper career experiences, some tragic, others comical. He said leaving Manchester and the newspaper field was one of the toughest decisions he ever had to make.

The gathering included representatives from the several civic and fraternal groups with which he has been associated during his nearly four years in Manchester.

John Barnini of the Manchester Rotary Club was master of ceremonies.

Brief speeches were made by William H. Hale, now chairman of the Chamber board; Mayor John Thompson; Perley A. Trombly, past president of Rotary; and Mrs. Suzanne L. Flocken, executive vice president of the Chamber.

Lyons received some humorous gifts as reminders of Manchester. A pipe smoker, he was presented with an imported Danish pipe.

OPINION

Best Fire Protection

The method by which Buckland will get its fire protection should be decided with a little further devicive effect among townspeople as possible. It should be decided purely on the basis of long-range economics and efficiency of fire protection for all concerned.

If should not be decided on the basis of any real or imaginary superiority of tradition of any segment of town, nor on the ground that it will reward and retain the loyalty of volunteer firemen or protect the job security of paid firemen.

(Actually all firemen are a special breed who are motivated more than the rest of us by a desire to serve others in fires or otherwise.)

The decision should not be based on the extraneous consideration that a firehouse is an asset which becomes an attractive nuisance in that it lures to the area some people who are not already there.

We remain convinced that the ultimate aim is for the town to supply to all townspeople all the services a town normally supplies and that there should not be a municipality within a municipality.

There are many, however, who are as firmly convinced that the Eighth

District is a responsive and responsible municipality that is best equipped to provide fire protection to those who live within it.

If the town is to assume legal and moral responsibility for fire protection in any area, it must provide that protection by the method it, as a town, feels is best. Turning the job over to an outside contractor is not a permanent solution.

If the district is permanently to provide fire protection in the area it serves, it ought to assume full responsibility. That carries with it the burden of taking on an area which is geographically contiguous and logical and extends to Manchester borders so that the town's moral fire protection duties do not stretch around the district.

Relatively permanent boundaries are vital if plans for fire protection, particularly deployment of personnel and equipment, is to be valid. That would make it easier to decide whether and where firehouses are needed, one of the issues in the current dispute.

Whatever legal obstacles stand in the way of such a long-term development can presumably be resolved.

ANDREW TULLY Inflation Continues

WASHINGTON — Progress of a sort has been made on the inflation front. Sen. Hubert Humphrey, D-Minn., agrees with President Ford that "inflation remains a serious problem and not one that automatically disappears, as some seem to believe, with recession."

This should offer a modicum of comfort to wage earners and housewives because it suggests that Humphrey will desert the ranks of those Democratic members of Congress who want to fight the recession with massive Federal spending, always a major factor in the cost of living.

Humphrey took a job at President Ford by blaming the rise in gasoline prices on administration policies. "President Ford wants them to rise," said Humphrey. "He believes that higher prices will stimulate production and increase conservation. But so far only the prices are rising."

Humphrey did not mention that so far consumer prices are still rising, partially as a result of the nation's biggest federal deficit ever.

You can't argue with the figures. The Department of Labor has reported that the Consumer Price Index rose 0.8 per cent in June, twice the 0.4 per cent increase in May and the biggest retail price increase of any month this year. As a result, the purchasing power of a weekly paycheck fell 0.4 per cent in June. It rose 4.7 per cent in May, mainly because of lower federal withholding taxes which took effect May 1.

Worse, the cost of dinner-table necessities soared in June. Although grocery store prices rose "only" 1.9 per cent, most of the increase was due to a sharp 5.8 per cent rise in meat prices and a 2.7 per cent boost in fruit and vegetable prices. I don't know about Presidents and U.S. Senators, but I can't live without ingesting an occasional meal, square or otherwise.

Anyway, there was no good news even for those who enjoy minor luxuries. Non-food commodities such as cars, fuel oil, clothing and appliances rose 0.5 per cent in June, and services rose 0.7 per cent. The cost of being sick was also up; medical care services rose 0.7 per cent.

Even Albert Rees, director of the Council on Wage and Price Stability, could summon up no optimism. Indeed, he sounded almost as dejected as the average supermarket shopper. "Everything is up from a month ago," said Rees. "I thought somewhere there would be something that would have gone down." Join the club, Rees.

Meanwhile, gasoline prices went up 3 per cent last month, after 1 per cent increases in April and May. Although gas is not a necessity of life, this is not a so-what from a month ago," said Rees. "I thought somewhere there would be something that would have gone down." Join the club, Rees.

Last year, the area residents were duped by one Mr. Holland and his real estate agent, Mr. B. Sharpe (you'd better believe it) Mulcahy, into allowing a portion of this land to be rezoned to industrial for use as a beautiful, well-planned industrial park. We can see now that it was the first nick in the armor.

If I were a gambler, I'd bet that Mr. Pandolf was behind that zone change, just as he is behind the application now before the Planning and Zoning Commission, submitted by Henry Glode "et al" and Stephen Gluck "et al," to change our rural residence property to industrial.

Mr. Pandolf is no mean adversary. He has connections in the high places, is represented by the sharpest of real estate lawyers, and locally by our own Eugene Kelly. Together with Mr. Pandolf's well-organized band of hard-sell emissaries they have made it mighty hot around here, and I don't mean weatherwise. They make Pandolf's junkyard sound like priority one on the "Keep America Beautiful" list. To hear them tell it, there will be roses growing out of every wreck.

I spent several hours in a junkyard last week, and I didn't see any roses. The only living things that seemed to be thriving were the rats. The owner verified that they were doing just that. Upholstery is the Ritz for rats. Not much food, though they eat out of it. The clientele was a veritable rogues gallery, and came from miles around. The owner admitted that vandalism is an uncontrollable problem. Security guards are employed with limited success, due to the acreage involved.

Manchester already has a serious vandalism problem. We certainly don't need to attract more criminal types. The traffic was constant: not only customer traffic, but wreckers, and heavy haulers piled high with scrap. The entire area was blackened from leaking oil and gas.

OPEN FORUM

Opposed to Junkyard

To the Editor:
If you are familiar with the western end of Tolland Tpk. in Manchester, you know it is a quiet, rural residential and agricultural area north of Wickham Park.

Without the support of our fellow townspeople, we may soon be west, east and south of Pandolf's junkyard. THE Pandolf's junkyard, formerly of Hartford, is a disgrace to our town.

I appeal to the citizens of our City of Village Charm to help us, and protect their own interests as well, by keeping this ugly operation out of our town. Not only would it be an eyesore, but an environmental disaster. The hundred-plus acres in question are now largely wooded, contain several ponds, complete with ducks, and are bordered by wetlands abundant with wildlife.

Last year, the area residents were duped by one Mr. Holland and his real estate agent, Mr. B. Sharpe (you'd better believe it) Mulcahy, into allowing a portion of this land to be rezoned to industrial for use as a beautiful, well-planned industrial park. How long would it take seepage to reach nearby water courses? I would be hard-pressed to find any advantages that such an operation could offer Manchester.

I can understand the present owners' desire to profit from the sale of their land. However, it seems that a zone change from agricultural to industrial is an unnecessary extreme, and that the interests of the town as a whole and the interests and property values of the neighboring residents must be taken into consideration.

If the area must be developed, can't it be done within the context of its residential surroundings?

Mr. Pandolf must appear before the Zoning Board of Appeals to request a special exception to the zoning laws. Notice of this public meeting will appear in the newspaper and I urge the people of Manchester to attend. The board must be told that we do not want Pandolf's junkyard in our community. The residents of our area have enjoyed its serenity for many years. Must it be sacrificed for an instant whim?

Dear sir:
I'm angry, justifiably angry and I'd like to take this opportunity to express the reason for my anger.

I'm angry at the small percentage of teenagers in this town who are nothing but a crude group of pigs, yes pigs, and yet they cry out in favor of Ecology, Anti-Littering, Clean Water and Open Spaces for Recreation.

What a bunch of hypocrites! They think nothing of dropping their empty beer cans and bottles on our street day or night. I just came to my home after picking up a beer bottle which was thrown from a passing car right in front of our driveway. I have, in the past few days, also swept up broken glass from beer bottles from in front of my home to prevent any more flat tires on my car.

Just because we happen to live on a country street in this City of Village Charm does not mean we are second class citizens, and I for one am fed up with these "car jacks" screaming around the curves on our street at speeds well above the posted speed limit and throwing all their junk in the road as well.

Perhaps this town should reinforce any anti-littering laws plus increasing the fines for same.

Sincerely,
A Birch Mt. Rd. resident

"The bank that listens." It isn't just a slogan. It's a way of doing business.

And that's what this questionnaire is all about. It's the same one that's been available for some time at all CBT branches (part of our continuing program of listening to our customers). Its purpose is a simple but extremely important one: We want to know what we can do to further improve service to our customers.

Because if CBT isn't the one bank in Connecticut most respected for its service, there'll be some changes made.

We promise you that.

A $78,000 appropriation for the electrical and heating systems at Robertson School was approved by 27 residents attending a special Town Meeting Wednesday at Coventry High School.

Reimbursement is expected for the electrical portion of the appropriation but there is doubt about the heating system. The state doesn't reimburse for alterations or replacements.

Dr. Arnold Elman, superintendent of schools, said there is question as to whether the system is an entirely new one which the school never had before.

Irish Showmen Killed

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (UPI) — Five men including members of the Irish republic's best known band and were killed today and another seriously injured in the ambush of the musical group on its way home from a concert in Northern Ireland.

The dead showband men were identified as Fran O'Toole, a television award winning singer; Brian McCoy and Anthony Geraghty. Another member of the band, Steven Travers, was wounded.

The other two men killed were believed to have been members of the group which held up the small bus as it was taking the band back to Dublin from Banbridge.

Police believe they died in a premature explosion of a bomb which they intended to put in the showband's bus.

AREA POLICE REPORT

VERNON
Vernon Police is seeking information concerning a robbery that occurred at the Cumberland Farms Store, 67 Windsor Ave., Rockville, Wednesday afternoon.

Police said the store clerk was held up at knife-point and robbed by a man reportedly wearing a stocking mask. An undetermined amount of cash was taken, police said. The incident occurred about 3:15.

Police said the holdup man was last seen leaving the scene on foot. He was described as being a white male, probably in his early 20s, of a medium height, thin build and with dark hair.

He was barefoot, shirtless and wearing blue jeans, police said. Anyone having further information concerning this incident should call the police station.

James H. Thomas, 23, of Hartford, was arrested Wednesday on a warrant issued by Common Pleas Court 19 charging him with third-degree criminal trespassing and fourth-degree larceny in connection with the investigation of a Dec. 12 incident in Vernon.

He was released on a $500 non-surety bond for appearance in Common Pleas Court 19, Rockville Aug. 27.

Vincent Rendo Jr., 17, of 9 Robert Rd., Vernon was charged Wednesday with failure to drive a reasonable distance apart in connection with the investigation of an accident on Union St. Police said Rendo ran into the rear of a car driven by David Errissman of Chamberlain St., Rockville. Rendo is to appear in court in Rockville Aug. 27.

Daniel Dougan, 20, of Center Rd., Vernon, was charged Wednesday with speeding. He is to appear in court in Rockville Aug. 20.

John J. Schultz, 19, of West Willington was charged Wednesday with operating an unregistered motor vehicle and misuse of registration plates.

He was released on a $200 non-surety bond for appearance in court in Rockville Aug. 20.

Price Control Veto Predicted

WASHINGTON (UPI)— President Ford, stung by congressional refusal to compromise on oil pricing, will veto any extension of domestic controls and sees no way to avoid further gasoline price hikes this fall, energy chief Frank G. Zarb said today.

Zarb said gasoline prices could go up to 70 cents a gallon in six to nine months and warned that leaders of oil exporting nations are watching while Congress showed it "could not come to grips with the hard issues."

The House voted 228-189 Wednesday night to reject Ford's plan to gradually lift oil price controls over a 39-month period. Zarb said today the President has no choice but to let controls lapse Aug. 31 when the oil allocation act runs out.

Zarb was asked if Ford would veto any extension passed by Congress, however brief.

"Given things as they are today, there is no doubt in my mind," Zarb said. "The troubling part of all this to me is that the oil ministers (of oil exporting nations) will meet in September on the price question."

"They will have this indication that we do not have a policy—that Congress could not come to grips with the hard issues."

The big impact of lifting price controls will not hit the consumer all at once, Zarb said. But he said gasoline could rise to around 70 cents a gallon in six to nine months.

He said that is plenty of time to write a "key document"—a tax on windfall profits of oil companies. He said such a tax would be largely related with a stipulation that the companies put the money into new oil exploration.

The Senate Finance Committee completed writing such a tax Wednesday and the House Ways and Means Committee plans to study the idea in September when Congress convenes after its August recess.

Boy Killed

HARTFORD (UPI)—An 11-year-old boy was stabbed to death early today and police said they charged a woman with the murder.

The body of Alan Jones of Farmington Avenue was found about 2:50 a.m. outside of 19 Owen St. He was pronounced dead at St. Francis Hospital, police said.

Eva Holmes, 34, of 19 Owen St., was arrested shortly after and was charged with the murder of the Jones boy. She was held in lieu of $100,000 bond pending arraignment later today, police said. Police said Ms. Holmes and the boy were not related, and they refused to comment on a possible motive for the slaying.

RICENTENNIAL FACTS

To reduce what he called "embezzlement of the public tools" Gen. Washington ordered the Quartermaster General of the Continental Army to have etching tools branded with the mark "CXIII" meaning the Continent and the 13 colonies. After the Declaration of Independence the mark was changed to the "U.S." with which government issue (G.I.) property still is marked. The World Almanac notes.

Coaches Set For C-Squad

Donna Holland 646-0375

Marshall Taylor, head coach of the midget football C-squad, has announced the names of those making up his coaching staff.

Assisting Taylor throughout the 1975 season will be Gil Boissonau, Dane Ward, Dave Arsenault and Roger Stalowitz. Assisting during the August practice sessions will be Joe Fontanella who last year was a member of the town's undefeated pony team.

Dye Hooper, John Morianos and Tony Kalkus will assist the C-squad on a part-time basis.

Taylor said practice sessions for boys on the C-squad will be held Aug. 5. Practices will be held each Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday from 6 until 7:45 p.m. at Herrick Memorial Park.

Practice Sessions: Practice sessions for new squad members will begin Monday Aug. 4 at 6 p.m. The special practices will continue each Monday throughout August.

Taylor said most C-squad games will be played on Saturday afternoon beginning Sept. 20.

He said if a sufficient number of nine-year-old boys register a special team will be formed. It will consist of nine-year-olds and lighter ten-year-olds who will play against similar, area C teams.

Midget Football To Start Monday

Anne Dallaire 228-3267

Practice sessions for the Hebron Rams Midget Football teams, comprised of boys from Hebron, Andover and Marlborough will start Monday at Gilead Hill School on Rt. 85 in Hebron.

Sessions will be held Monday through Friday for the month of August from 6 to 8 p.m.

Two registrations have already been held and any interested boys may still register at the practice sessions. They should be accompanied by an adult and should bring a copy of their birth certificate. A doctor's permission slip is also required and there is $3 registration fee to cover insurance.

In order to play, boys cannot turn 14 before Sept. 1 and must be nine by Sept. 1.

The program includes two teams, the Hebron Rams for the older boys and the Burritt Bucks for the younger boys, with both teams playing a minimum of seven games.

Head coach for the year will be Donald Simmons of Hebron who will be assisted by James Hurst and Tony Tiemann of Andover and Eric Emt and Michael Batignani of Hebron.

Tryouts for the two squads of cheerleaders will also be Monday. Ages for the girls is the same as the boys, 9 through 13. In charge of cheerleading this year is Mrs. Dianne Pines. She may be reached at 643-8394 if there are any questions.

Adult help for the program is needed in many areas. Those interested may contact Mrs. Anne Emt, association president, 223-3971, or Charles Wallace, association representative, 537-5343.

The Herald Road Sweeper Rental/Purchase Approved

HEBRON
Anne Dallaire

The Board of Selectmen has unanimously approved a rental/purchase agreement with Casey and Dupuis of Newton for a road sweeper.

The agreement calls for a payment of $4,000 this year and subsequent payments of $8,800 in two equal payments, $4,400 in 1976-77 and in the 1977-78.

The initial $4,000 would be covered by trade-in of the town's presently owned sweeper and a $2,000 payment. The latter is no greater an amount than the estimated cost of repairs to the old sweeper.

The Selectmen also made note of needed funds to prepare the required alphabetical indexes of vital records of the town. These include birth, death and marriage certificates.

Hal Burde, acting chief, state registrar of vital records, said in a letter to the board that Town Clerk Mrs. Marion Celio is aware of the problem and willing to take steps to meet the statutory requirement providing funding is available. The board agreed to bring the matter to the attention of the Board of Finance at its next meeting.

Family Picnic
The Fourth District American Legion Auxiliary will have a family picnic Sunday beginning at 2 p.m. on the grounds of the Coventry Legion Home.

For six years the Penske Racing Team has been using an oil you couldn't get your hands on.

Now you can.

CAM2™ A motor oil designed for passenger cars. But until now, it's been used only in race cars.

The Penske Team has used CAM2 for six years and 60,000 race-engine miles without a failure. Now it's available to you.

"It's the first multigrade oil for street use," says Roger Penske, "that's tough enough to stand up in race-car engines when the heat is on. We've used it in every-thing from McLarens to Matadors. And it's the first multigrade ever certified by the U.S. Auto Club for championship racing."

"Regardless of where we race, it's the only oil we use."

CAM2. Remember the name.

We proved it in race cars, and it meets or surpasses all API and auto manufacturers' warranty requirements.

Look for CAM2 wherever you buy oil to change yourself. It's one of the ways to stay ahead.

Now you can use the oil the Penske Team uses.

FROM YOUR NEIGHBOR'S KITCHEN

By VIVIAN FERGUSON

I am sometimes asked, "What is the difference between a barbecue sauce and a marinade?"

That is a very good question, since both are seasoned liquids and are sometimes used interchangeably. First, let's look at the meaning of the two words, "marinate" and "barbecue."

"Marinate" means to "soak in a seasoned liquid." A marinade is usually uncooked. It gives flavor to the food such as beef, lamb, chicken or game which are steamed raw. The word "marinate" comes probably from the Italian "marinato" which is the past participle of "marinare" meaning "to marinate" or to pickle.

When we use the word "barbecue," we think of an open fire on which meat, poultry or fish is cooked. Most of us think of a red sauce for barbecuing, which is used for basting and seasoning during the cooking process.

"Barbecue" comes to us from the Spanish "barbacoa" which was a crude framework upon which meats were hung for smoking or drying over an open fire. Eventually, it was applied to the roasting of whole animals for eating in the open air.

Let us then say, simply, that a marinade is a liquid in which foods are steeped and flavored and that a barbecue sauce is a basting sauce. Why then do we sometimes confuse the two?

What's happened is that these liquids are being used interchangeably. We have found that we can marinate in barbecue sauce and conversely we barbecue with marinades. Confusing? Here's an example. Make a simple marinade by pouring some dry red wine into a flat dish. Cut up an onion, drop it into the wine. Add a clove or two of garlic. Now, add herbs if you like — say, a bay leaf, chopped parsley, oregano. Have enough liquid to reach at least half the thickness of the meat. Marinate, covered, in the refrigerator a couple of hours, turn over, and do the other side.

Broil the meat and, if you like, baste with the marinade while cooking. At this point it becomes a barbecue sauce. If you have some liquid left, don't throw it away. Put everything into a covered jar. It will look murky because of the refrigerator and looks as though there is sediment in the bottom. It is nothing to be concerned about.

In a day or two, make yourself the best roast in the world by using the marinade instead of water or other liquid. If there's a piece of steak left over, reheat it in the oven, pour some of the marinade over to keep from drying.

Here's another quicky. You're having guests. It's going to be simple but you want to zip.

Chicken 'n ribs in Beer Barbecue Sauce things up. Take any bottled Italian dressing. Dip pieces of chicken, coating well on both sides. A pastry brush is helpful. Baste the chicken with more of the dressing during broiling. Or, dip your steaks into the barbecue sauce before grilling rather than just basting.

What's good in making a marinade? Wine and salad dressing, as we have mentioned. Also, tomato juice, lemon, vermouth, soy sauce, beer. The following recipe combines several good marinading and/or barbecue sauce agents.

Combine all ingredients and mix well. Makes about 3 cups sauce. Good with chicken, chops, spare ribs or hamburgers.

Dear Abby
By Abigail Van Buren
© 1975 by Chicago Tribune-N.Y. News Synd., Inc.

DEAR ABBY: I'm 16 and have been going with a guy I'll call Doug for nearly two years. (He's 17.) He's very popular at school and comes from a well-to-do family. (More so than mine.)

Well, four months ago his mother came home early and caught us going all the way. She didn't say anything, but the next day Doug told me he'd promised his mother that he'd break up with me. (She doesn't know it, but we've been going all the way for a year and a half.)

We stayed apart for two months, then we started seeing each other on the sneak.

Doug's mother was driving by a hamburger shop yesterday and saw Doug and me coming out, so she phoned my mother and told her she didn't approve of Doug's seeing me. (She didn't say why.) My mom said she approved and that it was up to me. (My mom doesn't know I've gone all the way.)

Doug's mother is crazy. Doug said she had been treated for mental illness.

Doug and I love each other and hate all this sneaking around. How can we make his mother realize that she can't keep us apart?

DOUG'S GIRL

DEAR GIRL: First, I think Doug's mother was very charitable in not telling your mother why she disapproved of you. Furthermore, your remarks about the woman were unkind. Having been treated for a mental illness does not make a person "crazy."

I have no idea how you can get Doug's mother to realize she can't keep you apart. She's understandably concerned about her son's future, and I can't fault her.

A little unsolicited advice from me: "Going all the way" is for people who can handle mature relationships. Obviously, you don't qualify.

DEAR ABBY: I am 10 years old and take piano lessons, but I hate it very much. My lessons are almost over for this year, but my mom says I have to take piano lessons again next year, and I don't want to.

What should I do?

PIANO LESSON HATER

DEAR HATER: Take lessons and practice! Many adults have told me that one of the biggest regrets of their lives is having quit music lessons. But not one who has quit has said that he was glad he did.

DEAR ABBY: You hear a lot about ungrateful children. How about ungrateful parents?

Our parents are retired on modest pensions. To save them money, my husband does their plumbing and electrical repair work. He's no amateur. He makes his living that way. Sometimes he spends two or more days on a repair job for them and asks nothing in return. He even supplies the parts.

My kick is that my parents have called other plumbers and electricians who have charged them outrageous prices (one bill was $75 and the other, $160 for jobs that were so poor my husband had to straighten them out afterward.)

It seems to me that if my folks are going to pay for a job, they could at least call my husband and give him the business.

Should we tell them that from now on they should hire people to do their jobs for them? Or should we apply for guardianship of these old fools?

TIRED OF IT

DEAR TIRED: Of the two alternatives, I'd recommend the former.

Everyone has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 69700, L.A., Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

For Abby's new booklet, "What Teen-agers Want to Know," send $1 to Abigail Van Buren, 122 Leaky Dr., Beverly Hills, Calif. 90212. Please enclose a long, self-addressed, stamped (20¢) envelope.

Brennan-Kelley

Mrs. John Brennan

Eden-Rolfe

Mrs. Scott Eden

Mary Evelyn Kelley and John Thomas Brennan, both of Manchester, were married June 28 at St. James Church. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Francis Kelley of Weymouth, Mass. She is the niece of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence LaForest of 188 Eldridge St. with whom she resided.

Mr. Brennan is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Brennan of 43 Wadsworth St.

The Rev. Louis Cramonic of St. James Church celebrated the folk Mass and performed the double-ring ceremony.

Music was provided by the folk group of St. James with Michael Kelley, the bride's brother, as soloist.

The bride, given in marriage by her uncle, wore a gown of imported silk organza with seed pearl accents and designed with an Empire waist, high Victorian scalloped neckline, long fitted sleeves of lace and English netting and an A-line skirt edged in lace and terminating in a redingote effect chapel-length train. Her elbow-length veil of silk illusion was attached to an Alençon lace covered Camélot cap. She carried a cascade bouquet of white gladioli, variegated ivy and streamers.

Mrs. Patty Maher of Manchester was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Robin Brennan and Miss Holly Brennan, both of Manchester, sisters of the bridegroom; Miss Laura Kelley of Weymouth, Mass., the bride's sister, and Miss Janet Stevenson of Manchester. Miss Tammy Hatak of Manchester was ring bearer.

Michael Pilver of Manchester was best man. Ushers were Donald Hatak, Steven Putnam and Fred Adamson, all of Manchester; and David Dearwester of New Smyrna Beach, Fla. William Hatak of Manchester was ring bearer.

A reception was held at the Elks Home in Manchester after which the couple left for Faget, Bermuda. They will reside in Manchester.

Mrs. Brennan is employed at Aetna Life Insurance Co. Mr. Brennan is employed in the circulation department of The Herald.

The couple was married on the anniversary of the bridegroom's parents.

Susan Rolfe and Scott Eden, both of Vernon, were married July 28 at the First Congregational Church of Vernon.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard S. Rolfe of 4 Wilson Lane, Vernon. The bridegroom is the son of Donald B. Eden and Mrs. Marilyn Eden, both of Vernon.

The Rev. Edwin Bartholomew of Vernon performed the double-ring ceremony. Barbara Clarke was organist and Mark Diebolt of Vernon, was guitarist.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a white organza gown designed with Empire waist with floral appliques, long sheer sleeves, U-shaped neckline. Her elbow-length veil was attached to a floral headpiece and she carried a bouquet of white daisies and yellow roses.

Miss Susan Platt of Vernon was maid of honor. Miss Nancy Siorza of Vernon was bridesmaid.

The leading contenders in the National League East and West Divisions also follow this pattern.

Trades Not the Answer

When the New York Yankees got Catfish Hunter and Bobby Bonds last winter, many said they had traded for the pennant.

Steelers to Use Starting Lineup

LATROBE, Pa. (UPI) — Coach Chuck Noll says his Pittsburgh Steelers will field their Super Bowl lineup against the College All-Stars at Chicago's Soldier Field Friday night.

Pele Still Outside Shot

Penguins Capture Title

Capturing the top rung in the East-Central Connecticut Girls' Fast Pitch Softball League last night were the Formal's Inn Penguins with a 5-2 win over South Windsor at Cheney Tech.

Formal's Pitcher Gail Butler

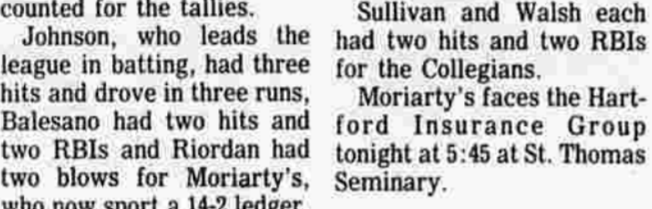

Hurled Club to League Championship

The Penguins added an insurance marker in the sixth. Colleen Shane singled, stole second, went to third on a passed ball and scored on singles inning.

Caroly Jaworski's sacrifice fly Butler hurled a five-hitter in notching the win with Rosen setting a team putout mark with seven in left field.

Player of Week

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — A seven home run outburst over a 12 game stretch after the All-Star break earned Dave Kingman of the New York Mets the National League's Player-of-the-Week award for the period, July 17-27.

Waivers Asked

HEMPSTEAD, N.Y. (UPI) — The New York Jets announced Wednesday that Lou Piccone, who led the National Football League in kickoff return yards last season, has been placed on waivers at his own request.

Morris Swapped

AMHERST, Mass. (UPI) — Jon Morris, 12-year veteran center, has been traded by the New England Patriots to the Detroit Lions.

NEW YORK (UPI) — Out of the doghouse came John Ellis — just in time to put the bite on the Baltimore Orioles' would-be American League East pennant drive.

Good Pitching Stops Red Sox

BOSTON (UPI) — Sports cliches are the worst kind. The average fan hears them incessantly on radio and television and reads them in every publication.

Ballard Pitches Legion to Victory

Behind the two-hit pitching of Bruce Ballard, the Manchester American League baseball team downed Rockville, 3-1, last night in Zone Eight action at Henry Park in Vernon.

Fishing Advisory

Inland Fishing Field personnel report that trout fishing is generally slow. A few of the better areas for trout are the West Branch of the Farmington River, Candlewood Lake (night) and Ball Pond.

Firemen Not Making Any Home Inspections

A man who said he was a fireman gained entrance to a woman's home Wednesday for an inspection, said Chief John Rivosa of the Town Fire Department.

"Under no circumstances are any firemen under my command allowed to enter homes for inspections," he said.

If a person tells a resident he must enter the home for an inspection, Chief Rivosa said they should refuse him entry. Then they should call the fire department or police.

A crew of firemen from his department are now inspecting schools and apartment complexes in town, he said. But they do not enter any private areas of the complexes, only the common halls and basements.

He is today investigating the report and has yet to determine the purpose of the man who said he was a fireman.

Dr. Samuel Clark Red, who died in 1940, was the first physician to use X-ray in Houston, Tex.

TODAY'S THOUGHT

In his book "Man's Search for Meaning," Viktor Frankl pursues the interesting theme "He who has a why to live can bear with almost any how."

For me the ultimate conclusion of this idea is found in the Gospel. Jesus could bear the 'how' of the cross because he had his purpose for living the 'why' set firmly before him. My experience has been that the person whose life is filled with the meaning provided in the "Good News" of God's love in Jesus Christ can face not only the joys of life but also the difficulties with a sense of victory.

What brings ultimate meaning to your life?

Union Head Asks Cuts For Staff

HARTFORD (UPI) — The head of one of Connecticut's public employe unions today called for reducing food and rent benefits for professional staff at state institutions.

Salvatore Perruccio, president of the Connecticut Employe Union, Independent, said, however, rank and file employes should not be saddled with increases because they already are discriminated against.

The state Personnel Policy Board scheduled an afternoon hearing on Gov. Ella T.

Grasso's proposal to abolish the so-called Griffenhagen plan implemented in the 1930s to attract employes to state service.

POLICE REPORT

A Hartford woman has been arrested on a third-degree larceny charge stemming from alleged attempts to steal $100 worth of meat at Pathmark Supermarket Wednesday night.

Virginia Copeland, 30, also known as Carol Brown, was taken into custody by Manchester Police shortly before midnight. She was held in Hartford overnight in lieu of a $250 bond. Court date is Aug. 18.

Police said Pathmark employes became suspicious of a woman roaming the store with an empty grocery carriage, and they asked her what she was doing. As the woman responded, store officials told police, a steak fell from beneath her dress.

The woman headed for the door, but a store employe locked it first. Authorities said the woman then removed $104 worth of steaks and other meat from concealed positions on her person.

Spencer was taken into custody Wednesday night after authorities discovered thefts of about two dozen tablets of Quaalude, a sedative, and about three dozen tablets of Darvon, a pain killer.

Police said a search of Spencer resulted in recovery of most of the pills.

Spencer was released to his parents on a $500 non-surety bond. He is to appear in Court of Common Pleas 12, East Hartford, on Aug. 18.

Other arrests reported by Manchester Police included:

• Bernice J. Crowley, 35, of Rt. 85, Hebron, charged Wednesday with four counts of issuing a bad check. Court date is Aug. 11.

• Angelo A. Trapuzzano, 30, of 9 Orchard Lane, Bolton, charged shortly after 1 a.m. today with operating a motor vehicle while under the influence of liquor or drugs. The charge was lodged after Trap-puzzano's car went off W. Center St. near the Manchester Racquet Club, police said. Court date is Aug. 19.

Wednesday accidents reported by police included a minor dump truck-car crash at 10 a.m. on Spencer St., a 1:45 p.m. two-car crash with major damages on Wetherell St., and a minor two-car crash at 1:30 p.m. at Oakland and Edward Sts. No injuries were reported.

Thefts reported to police Wednesday included a $250 tool box taken from a truck at K-Mart department store, a $60 hanging plant removed from a front porch on Lewis St., a $185 chain saw missing from the St. James Cemetery maintenance shop, a $370 police radio stolen from a civilian's car at Manchester Memorial Hospital, and $130 in items taken from a truck parked on Rachel Rd.

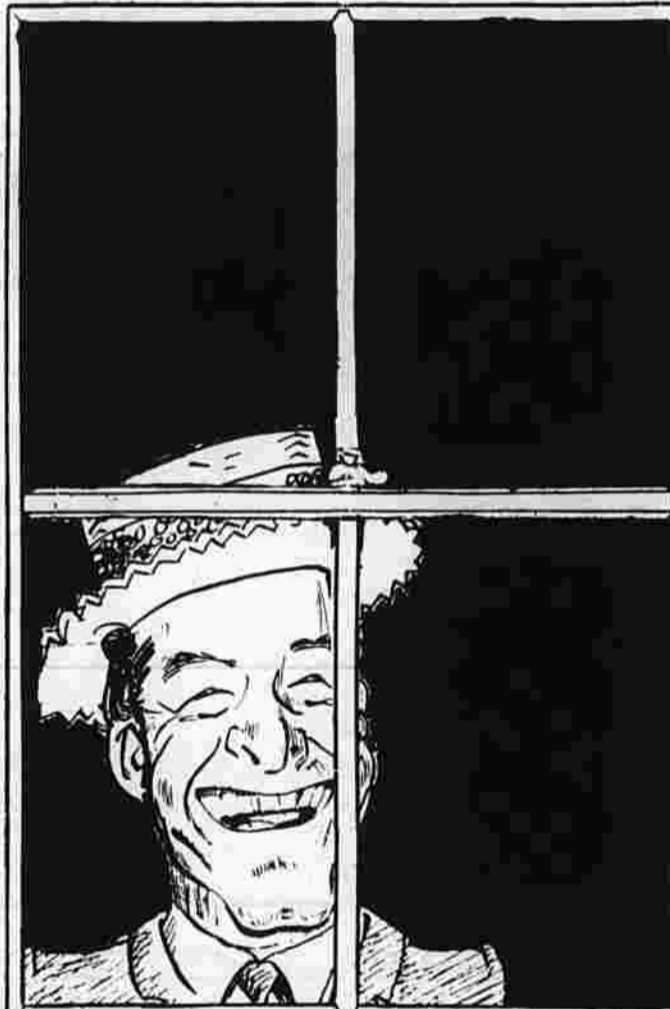

Catholic Burial

Here in death as in life. Christians are united not by race or age or affluence but by unity in the belief that was the central point of their life on earth — The belief in the resurrection of the dead and everlasting life.
