Firehouse Fund Voted Pending Legal Probe

By SOL R. COHEN
Herald Reporter

The Board of Directors Tuesday night approved a $275,000 bond issue for a Town of Manchester firehouse in the Buckland area — at N. Main St. and Tolland Tpk.

In a compilation action, the board stipulated that the borrowing and the construction will not commence until all legal questions concerning fire service jurisdiction in the area has been resolved. It instructed Town Counsel William Bronnell to "proceed expeditiously" toward a method of resolving those questions.

Tuesday night's board meeting began at 7 p.m. and didn't end until after 11 this morning. It was Mayor John Thompson's intention to hold only one meeting this month and to conclude all board business in one session. He succeeded, although the elapsed time was equivalent to the time normally spent in two meetings.

An overflow crowd which spilled into the corridors attended the meeting. The hearing room was hot and stifling, and so was the discussion at times. The air conditioner didn't seem to mesh good, and there were about sanitary sewers were there about sanitary sewers were approved for Kenoey St. and E. Middle Tpk.; others were there for a proposed November referendum on a $2,275,000 bond issue for school improvements (it was authorized); others were there to hear a proposal for a commuter parking lot in Charter Oak Field (it was referred to the Advisory Park and Rec Commission for its review); and still others were there to protest construction of sidewalks on the east side of Oakland St. The directors concurred with Police Chief Robert Lannan's ruling and the walks will go there.)

The board's action on the firehouse had been expected and came as no surprise. What was a surprise, however, was the vote — 8 to 1, with only Republican Hillary Gallagher, who consistently had opposed the construction each time it was considered, casting the lone "nay" vote.

The three minority Republicans offered two amendments to the motion authorizing the construction — losing 6 to 3 both times.

The first proposal was for an "advisory" referendum in November, to let the people decide. The second was for tabling all action until all legal questions were answered.

The legal questions involve jurisdiction for fire protection — the town or the Eighth Utilities District.

Last Thursday night district voters authorized expansion of district boundaries (for fire protection) into that area of Buckland paying taxes to the Town Fire District but getting fire protection (under contract) from the district fire department.

At conflict is an opinion by Assistant Town Counsel Victor Moses that the District can't extend its boundaries into an area serviced by the town without first "obtaining the consent and approval and consent of the Town of Manchester." He said the town charter is clear in providing that, whenever a conflict of authority arises between the town and district, the authority of the town will prevail. He said Tuesday night, "I'm quite optimistic the dispute, if it goes to court, would be settled in favor of the town."

Bronnell acknowledged that the several public acts being quoted by both sides in the dispute indicate "a clear conflict of authority," and that all aspects of the special acts and the two charters (town and district) must be checked, "to resolve all possible avenues of authority." He said he doesn't anticipate any clear-cut answers for a month or two.

A surprise development was interjected into the discussion after the public hearing on the proposed construction and before the board debated it.

A petition was received from property owners on Ambassador Dr., in the Northfield Green Condominium, requesting they be serviced by the Town Fire District. All others in the condominium area already are serviced by the town. Ambassador Dr. is serviced by the Eighth District. The petition was signed by 29 of the street's 38 property owners. It was referred by the board to the town council for advice.

Prior to the votes on the two amendments offered by the Republicans, Director Phyllis Jackson charged the Republican directors with playing politics in trying to postpone action on the firehouse. She said the Republicans were making it a campaign issue for the November elections.

Mrs. Ferguson replied that the origin of the word "politics" meant "people" and that there's nothing wrong with the word. "All it means is looking out for the people," she insisted.

Mayor John Thompson said he doesn't

Colby Says CIA Careful with Money

WASHINGTON (UPI) — CIA Director William Colby insisted today the agency was careful with the taxpayers' money and indeed had turned a profit on a couple of its front operations.

In a 28-page statement prepared for delivery for the Select Committee on Intelligence in the House of Representatives, Colby elaborated on balky bureaucratic procedures required for running his agency, which he occasionally called a commodity.

But Colby explained he was not about to give many specific details because it could jeopardize the CIA's business.

He did disclose, however, that Air America had been a financially healthy front operation although now it is being liquidated and its net assets are being turned over to the U.S. Treasury.

The other profitable CIA firm "is a financial enterprise which enables the agency to administer certain sensitive trusts, annuities and insurance

Leak of Legal Ruling May Explain Hoffa Case

By DAVID SMOTHERS

DETROIT (UPI) — A leak from the U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals may have been the signal to get rid of former Teamsters Union boss James Hoffa, sources said today.

The leak would have been Hoffa's appeal of the " Nixon rider" which would keep him from winning back leadership of the Teamsters union until March, 1980.

Hoffa disappeared one week ago when he was supposed to have met three men — one of them a reputed Mafia chieftain — for lunch. The FBI entered the investigation Sunday.

Nixon, then President, put on that stipulation in 1971 when he committed Hoffa abroad that we are anxious to avoid."

Colby added, "we cannot simply adhere to a rigid plan when the world around us is changing. He said the value of his agency was partly that it offered "some option regarding a diplomatic protest and sending the Marines."

At the outset of the prepared testimony, Colby said he was willing to offer more details in executive sessions.

The 11 member panel, organized after a forerunner committee was abolished because of internal bickering, turned to subpoenas and closed sessions after its failure to get some classified matter. Tuesday, the group voted unanimously to subpoena a document that established the National Security Agency in 1952.

It also said it would subpoena a secret 1970 internal report on the military intelligence community.

Rep. Otis Pike, D-N.Y., panel chairman, said huge sums were going into the NSA, which is engaged in monitoring foreign communications and code breaking, and "it seems incredible" Congress doesn't know the legal authority under which the agency was created.

He asked Albert Hall, assistant secretary of defense for intelligence, who testified Tuesday, why he didn't bring the NSA document with him.

Hall said he didn't have the clearance. He also declined to answer on grounds of national security numerous detailed questions on the budgets of various intelligence agencies, forcing the committee to dismiss the press and public and go into executive session.

The panel had the same trouble Monday with Colby, who insisted on testifying behind closed doors and only after one of his electronic experts swept the committee room with special equipment to detect any eavesdropping "bugs."

The Hoffa family kept its vigil in its summer cottage at Lake Orion, Mich., about 40 miles outside of Detroit, and Tuesday put up $200,000 of its fortune as reward for help from "anyone in the world of States or the world" who knew where the man the Teamsters call "little fella" was.

The offer was for $75,000 the amount offered for the safe return of the 62-year-old street brawler who slugged his way to the top of the Teamsters Union in 1957 and then had to give up his scepter while in Lewisburg, Pa., federal prison on jury tampering and mail fraud charges.

The rest of the reward comes from the Teamsters and other sources.

Mayor John Thompson said he doesn't think the people in Buckland want the advice of the people of Manchester in settling the dispute. "Nor do the voters of the Eighth District," he added. He said the district action actually challenges the sovereignty of the town and must be settled legally and correctly.

Thompson said, "It's my duty, and I grasp it, to appeal to those voters in the district who voted to annex a portion of the town to reverse their vote. We should all work for the good and safety of the town. That should be foremost in all our minds."

Embassy Monday announced three alternatives for financing the new firehouse.

No Asylum Offered, Some Hostages Held

KUALA LUMPUR, Malaysia (UPI) — Release of the last 15 remaining hostages held aboard a plane by five Japanese Red Army terrorists was delayed today by the reluctance of Arab countries to grant asylum to the radicals who seized the U.S. Embassy Monday and forced Japan to free five of their cohorts from jail.

Earlier today the Red Army fanatics —

6-3 Vote Approves School Referendum

By a 6 to 3 vote Tuesday night and with minor discussion, the Board of Directors authorized a Nov. 4 townwide referendum on a proposed $2,275,000 bond issue for additions and renovations to Bentley School and the replacement of the West Side Rec.

The three "nay" votes were cast by Republicans Vivian Ferguson, Carl Zimster and Hillary Gallagher. Their opposition was on the contention the proposal should be split into two questions, with Bentley School as one and Washington School and the West Side Rec. as the second.

School board chairman Allan Thomas, who explained the proposal, said it's a continuation of his board's program dating back to 1969.

He said the latest proposal is endorsed by a Citizens' Advisory Committee which studied the preliminary plans and backed them within the limits they're being offered, the Town Building Committee and the Board of Education.

He said the Washington School-West Side Rec. proposal is being offered as a package because the rec facilities will be replaced by the school and thus will qualify for state aid. He estimated state reimbursement of $979,500 toward the $2,275,000 bond issue.

Thomas predicted a 200 to 400 pupil decline in Manchester in the next five years and said Manchester Green School will be phased out of the school system in about five years.

He said only preliminary plans are ready for the additions, renovations and replacement and that Mankey Associates, architects for the proposal, are preparing more detailed plans.

NEWS FOR SENIOR CITIZENS

By WALLY FORTIN

Hi, how are you holding up under this hot spell? Sure was a rough weekend; however, as hot as it has been it didn't keep our members away.

On Monday morning we had 66 players for our kitchen social games, and we also registered for our trip to Stanley Park in Westfield, Mass. By the end of the day we were just starting on the second bus. This trip should be a nice one because the ride isn't too long; in fact, no more than one hour away. It is really a beautiful area with many flower gardens, and pond and the other interesting sites. It also has a large pavilion where we will be treated to a huge all-in-one buffet. You will have a chance to play some cards and enjoy a sing-along. I'm surprised we haven't more members going, because from all reports it will make for an enjoyable and memorable day. We're still taking names, so drop by and sign up.

Cruise

Our Connecticut River Cruise is just about all set now. I think we may have one or two seats open. The cruise is actually one week from tomorrow, Aug. 14. We'll still take a few names just in case someone drops out the last minute. The buses will be leaving the center at 7 o'clock in the morning, so please get here a bit earlier, say about 6:45 at the latest.

Setback Winners

The happenings here start with last Friday, when once again we had a nice turnout for our kitchen social games in the morning, and after serving our final meal until September, the action moved upstairs where we had 59 players for our set-back games with the following winners:

Dorothy Andrew, 125; Thomas Murphy, 121; Ann Lehmann, 120; Audrey Durey, 117; Esther Anderson, 116; Roy Durey, 116; Louis Weber, 114; Betty Jesanis, 113; Paul Schute and Ernestine Donnelly, 112; Catherine Cappucco, John Gally and Nadine Malcolm, 111.

Back to Monday morning when our Senior Golf League was out bright and early at the East Hartford Golf Course, getting and chipping away at that little white ball. These are the better scores: John Gibson and Edward Scott, 44; Joseph Quinn, 45; and William Crowley, 46.

In the afternoon on Monday we had 59 players for our pinocchio games with the following winners:

Irene Mahoney, 733; Andrew Nook, 722; Esther Anderson, 706; Joseph Windsor, 703; Fritz Wilkinson, 688; Frank Gadamski and Nadine Malcolm, 687.

Trip to Brown's

Next Monday we start off registering for the big three-day trip to Brown's. From all reports there is quite a bit of interest for this one, so we are setting it up so you can pay half now, and the rest later. The complete package is $88, which takes care of your busfare, hotel room, all your meals, plus all kinds of entertainment day and night.

The dates for the trip are Oct. 29, 30 and 31, and we can take any part of five buses. Registration will start around 8 o'clock and the down payment is $34.

Remember that one person can register for themselves and one other person only. No one is allowed to sign up for more than two members.

Here is a reminder, there will be no meals in September, however, if you attend Monday and Friday mornings program, and plan to stay for another one in the afternoon, I suggest you bring a sandwich, and we will supply the coffee or tea for you.

Tomorrow is outdoor shuffleboard games all day. You will also be able to play cards in the park if you'd like to.

Vacation Time

By the way, these next two weeks are vacation time for Gloria and Tom. We hope they enjoy their well deserved vacation after working so hard all year.

My turn comes the last two weeks, and along with that center will close the last week of August so that the staff can surprise me by putting in another day in the afternoon, I suggest you bring a sandwich, and we will supply the coffee or tea for you.

Tomorrow is outdoor shuffleboard games all day. You will also be able to play cards in the park if you'd like to.

Israel Laughs At TV Satire

JERUSALEM (UPI) — Theaters, movie houses, restaurants, clubs and the streets of Israel are empty every second Thursday night.

It is the night of television's "Nikui Rosh" (Head Cleaning), the sometimes biting satirical Israeli version of America's "Laugh-In" or the defunct "Smothers Brothers Show."

Poking fun at everything from top political leaders to the latest financial scandal, the program airs up nearly as much controversy as would the showing of a blue movie at a church social.

But where the Smothers Brothers may have gotten into trouble by satirizing American politics, Nikui Rosh rolls along virtually without threat of being muzzled by the publicly run Broadcasting Authority despite numerous complaints from viewers.

The 40-minute program is about the only thing that has kept Israelis laughing since widespread demonization set in after the October 1973 war. Life for Israelis since the war has been one burden after another, including the tough government austerity program and rising unemployment. And there is the constant fear of renewed war.

Nikui Rosh concentrates mostly on short skits filled with jokes or songs with caustic lyrics to dramatize what its writers view as the quirks, defects and inconsistencies in the nation's political, religious and social life.

For example, it parodied president Ephraim Katsir as revealing Israel's top nuclear secrets. Complete with mimicry of his speaking style, the skit depicted Katsir, a biochemist, as telling a group of

Nickel Ferry Ride Victim of Economy

NEW YORK (UPI) — In 1975 you could buy a bathing suit on sale for 15 cents, purchase a bottle of Grandi which completely takes the place of coffee — for a quarter, or ride the Staten Island Ferry for 5 cents.

Until Monday, the nickel ferry ride was still around .05. It's gone the way of Heed's Pills, which promised New Yorkers in those fading days of the 1960s to "cure headaches, biliousness, indigestions, nausea and bad taste, and moreover to 'win favor everywhere.'"

Nottingham Still Hard On Sheriffs

NOTTINGHAM, England (UPI) — Robin Hood and his Merry Men may have passed into history, but the sheriff of Nottingham still takes some lumps.

He's been making the five-mile trip across New York's harbor since the 1920s. "I've probably rode this a hundred times," he said, on one of the last Sunday rides for a dime. "I think maybe 80 per cent take it for pleasure like I do."

By $1.35 million a year. "It's a stinking ripoff of the public," said Arthur Schenone, climbing aboard on the first day of the new fare, Schenone visits his daughter often on the island, but says the new prices may trim back the number of trips.

Manchester Evening Herald OPINION

We Don't Need The Office

The idea of a permanent special prosecutor with a staff of agents to see that no one in government oversteps his bounds has a certain surface appeal in the aftermath of Watergate.

But when two of the men most closely connected with the prosecution of the Watergate culprits say it is not a good idea, they probably know what they are talking about.

The advice against the permanent setup comes from Special Watergate Prosecutor Henry S. Ruth Jr. and the man who preceded him in the job, Leon Jaworski.

Jaworski said simply that Watergate is not the sort of thing that is likely to happen again for a long time. Ruth had an even more cogent argument against the move. He said a special prosecutor could easily abuse his power and would be freer from accountability than others in government.

Closely linked to this argument is another. Such an office as permanent special prosecutor would grow into another bureaucracy, costly, cumbersome and determined to protect its prerogatives. It would develop into another weighty agency, of which the government already has plenty.

No matter what mechanics are set up to keep such an agency independent, it would become a member of the family of federal agencies with the normal contradictory family tolerance of sibling abuses and jealousy of sibling rights.

It could not have the freedom of operating and freedom from suspicion that a temporarily selected prosecutor has.

The abuses of Watergate came about not because there were no existing agencies equipped to stop them, but because none of those agencies did the job they were supposed to do.

Scene from Here Dr. Olmsted Retires

When we asked him, "What are your plans now?" the peppery little man with the quiet smile, gentle ways and quick wit replied, characteristically, "I ain't been nowhere and ain't seen nothing. Now, my wife and I plan some real vacations, and not just weekend trips."

Dr. Richard C. Olmsted retired last week after 42 years as a veterinarian—33 of those years in Manchester.

"I'm 67 and I'm tired," he explains. "Actually, I hate to give up practice, but it's time to give others a chance. A direct lineal descendant of James Olmsted who, with Thomas Hooker, founded Hartford in 1636. Dr. Olmsted thinks there's no place like Connecticut and New England, in that order. And so, he and his wife, Mildred, will start with Connecticut and then see as much of the rest of New England as we can."

Two years ago, Dr. Olmsted retired from a post to which he devoted almost 31 years—low sanitation. It was a part-time post but he served it with the dedication of a full-time employee. He had to retire under the town's mandatory age 65 rule. His associates, fellow employees and friends at Cornell but I never thought at the time we'd practice together," says Dr. Olmsted.

However, after Dr. Olmsted was in practice for about nine years, most of it in Painted Post, N.Y., a town of about 2,500, he's keeping his third "as long as they'll have me." He's health director in Bolton, where he resides.

Federal Workers Are An Exception

WASHINGTON — Oh, inflation is terrible, everybody in Washington is saying and it's time somebody somewhere did something about it like cutting wages in Kalamazoo and San Francisco because everybody has to make sacrifices, including widows and orphans.

Naturally, the exceptions are federal white collar workers in gallant service to the republic. As a reward for their dedication they'll be getting their annual pay increase on Oct. 1. This time, it's an 8.6 per cent boost, hardly enough to buy a yacht, but things are tough all over.

These yearly raises are virtually automatic under a formula called "comparability with industry," presumably that sector of industry composed of board chairmen and oil well owners. They become effective unless rejected by Congress, an eventuality about as likely as a Teddy Kennedy-Barry Goldwater presidential ticket.

Of course, it's again making noises about holding the pay rise to 5 per cent. Forget it. Employees of the federal government and their families, including fourth cousins, cast several million ballots on election day. Does Kissinger snub Queen Elizabeth?

The added cost to the taxpayers and to the so-called war on inflation can be calculated only roughly. But there are nearly 2,500,000 folks on Uncle Sam's payroll across the country. Last fall the Senate thwarted Ford's attempt to postpone a 5.5 per cent federal pay boost for three months. The saving would have been $70 million. Thus it is fair to suggest that this fall's 8.6 raise will carry a price tag of more than $3 billion clammy.

(Meanwhile, the Senate and the House approved legislation granting annual cost-of-living pay raises to members of Congress, federal judges, the Vice President, Cabinet members and other top-level federal executives. But that's a story for another day.)

To translate that "comparability with

'Life, Liberty and the Right to Sue'

Edmund Burke, the 18th-century English statesman and friend of America, observed that "in no country perhaps in the world is the law so general a study. This study renders men acute, inquisitive, dexterous, prompt in attack, ready in defense, full of resources..."

Burke should see us now. As "prompt in attack" as ever, the litigious propensity of Americans has grown to such proportions that, on the eve of the nation's Bicentennial, we might seriously consider amending the Declaration of Independence to read: "Life, liberty and the right to sue."

The "litigation boom" — the current rash by Americans to sue over liability — may end up either by breaking down the insurance system or by pricing many products out of the hands of consumers. The Declaration of Independence warns the Journal of Insurance, a bimonthly publication of the Insurance Information Institute.

The medical malpractice crisis, which affects virtually every part of the country today, is just the tip of an iceberg, writes the executive vice president of one large insurance company in a symposium in the magazine's current issue.

"Today it is doctors and hospitals telling us they cannot afford liability insurance," says Ian H. Heap of Commercial Union Assurance Companies. "Tomorrow it will be manufacturers of vital consumer products such as pharmaceuticals and foods. Downstream, unless public expectations and demands change, few business activities will go untouched."

Kenneth C. Tyler, president of Truck Underwriters Assn., recalls that when he entered the insurance business in 1938 as an adjuster, claims were relatively easy to settle. Most people wanted to avoid lawsuits and their demands were reasonable.

Today, he charges, the insurance system is increasingly being used for improper purposes. He lays the blame on what he calls "the transfer payment syndrome."

"Our elected representatives, the courts and, unfortunately, too many jurists now regard it as a positive good to transfer money from persons who earned it to persons who did not, for whatever flimsy or insubstantial reason."

Another contributor to the symposium, Stanford University president Richard W. Lyman, sees a vicious cycle at work here.

Confronted with limitations on their freedom or apparent injustices in the way they are treated in society, people demand that "somebody do something," he writes. And in the United States the particular

TODAY'S THOUGHT

When Thomas Jefferson wrote, in the Declaration of Independence, "...as their right, it is their duty, to throw off such government and to provide new guards for their future security," he was doing more than expressing his awareness of the failure of the British. He was giving all Americans a guideline to practical citizenship.

It does each of us well to consider how we are living up to the ideal that he gave us. We may well ask, individually and collectively, what "guards" are we providing for our security. Was Jefferson talking about some legal document that would be locked up in a library or museum? Or was he reaching out to all people of this country, asking for a promise, a guarantee from everyone, for future security?

In a country as big as ours, it is very easy to avoid making any contribution to each other's security. We can always blame the congress, the president, the weather. But Jefferson gave us — each one of us — the job of providing security. The question is: What are we doing with it?

Manchester Memorial Hospital creates public relations post and names Roger Denton to the job.

Bushnell bought the vet hospital and business from the Bushnell family. And now, he has sold it back and the business has come full circle again, with the third generation of Bushnells operating it.

No one knows how many animals and pets Dr. Olmsted has taken care of in those 42 years he's been a practicing vet.

If one knew how many thousands there were, one would also know how many thousands of friends Dr. Olmsted made among the owners of those animals and pets.

All we can do is join those many friends in wishing Dr. Olmsted "a long and healthy life in retirement."

When he says, "I ain't been nowhere and I ain't seen nothing," don't you believe him. He's been places and he's seen things.

Gas Price Up 3.1c in July

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Americans paid about 3.1 cents more per gallon for their regular grade gasoline in July than they did in June, the Federal Energy Administration said Tuesday.

The FEA said the oil companies' price increases brought the average price for regular gasoline to 58.7 cents a gallon.

Premium grade gasoline sold at an average of 62.3 cents a gallon in June, the FEA said. The FEA didn't release July figures for premium gas.

Americans continue to use more gasoline, but not at the rate of increase of recent past years, the FEA said.

The FEA estimated that gasoline demand in the four weeks ending July 25 had risen 1.8 per cent from the same time two years ago. The average increase of the years 1969 through 1974 had been 4.6 per cent.

Board Asked to Back Trick or Treat Ban

BOLTON
Donna Holland
 646-0375
 The Board of Selectmen was asked to endorse a ban on trick or treating on Halloween with alternatives being provided for town children.
 Those alternatives would be a party at Bolton Elementary School for the younger children and a party at Herrick Memorial Park for the older children.
 The request came from Noreen Carpenter, chairman of the public affairs committee of the Bolton Woman's Club.
 Her original request to the selectmen was for an ordinance to prohibit trick or treating.
 At the selectmen's meeting Monday, she said she learned it would not be a legal ordinance so she was asking for endorsement.

 She said the committee has a request to the Board of Education for the use of the school on Halloween.
 It plans classroom-to-classroom trick or treating for the younger children with a party in the school's all-purpose room.
 Mrs. Carpenter cited the following as reasons for stopping trick or treating: Many dangers to children, traffic, little or no street lighting, no sidewalks, constant harassment of and physical abuse by older children to younger children, and vandalism which often results in property damage.
 David Dresely said, speaking for the Board of Selectmen, he endorsed highly any alternative to door-to-door trick or treating.
 The selectmen endorsed the idea presented by Mrs. Carpenter and said they would like to see the details after they are worked out.

Constabulary Favored

BOLTON
Donna Holland
 The Board of Selectmen leans toward a local constabulary for the town as opposed to hiring an additional resident state trooper.
 At its meeting Monday the selectmen agreed there would be more flexibility for the town with a constabulary.
 The selectmen all favored the idea of the town having its one resident state trooper but liked the combination of a resident trooper and a constabulary rather than two resident troopers.
 The selectmen agreed more work was needed in order to spell out all details before going to townpeople.

 In July the Board of Finance requested the selectmen obtain additional information about funds for either the constabulary or additional trooper.
 The original request by the selectmen for funds for either a constabulary or trooper was denied by the finance board.
Coach Needed
 The Bolton Football Association needs a volunteer coach for cheerleaders for the middle A and B football team.
 Anyone interested is asked to call Pat Narvasage, 646-7459, immediately.
 The football program is now under way and continues through November.

Recreation Unit Asks Funds for Ball Field

ANDOVER
Donna Holland
 646-0375
 The Board of Finance will meet tonight to act on a request of the Recreation Commission for a $800 appropriation to complete engineering specifications for a town ball field and recreational field on Long Hill Rd.
 It will meet at 8 at the Town Office Building.
 The request from the recreation commission follows its receipt of a topographical survey of the area showing the amount of elevation and fill needed.

It was completed by Stanley Sestowicki and Associates of Rocky Hill.
 The commission was granted $400 for the survey in June.
 The parcel of land totals 4.4 acres and borders the Hop River. It was deeded to the town.
 The plan being presented tonight includes the ball field, parking, three tennis courts, and a children's play area.
 The request will be for construction of the ball field to start immediately.
 Total cost to develop the area will not be known until the specifications are completed.

Bicentennial Group Will Get Film Funds

HEBRON
Anne Dallaire
 223-3267
 Hebron's Bicentennial Commission will be the recipient Thursday of a $2,000 federal grant to be applied toward the production of a television documentary film. Ceremonies will be at 10 a.m. at commission headquarters in the Old Town Hall on the corner of Rts. 66 and 85.
 The $2,000 grant, along with matching funds contributed by the town will be used for the filming of the production, which will be a re-enactment of colonial days in Hebron plus scenes of today, keeping in mind that future residents of the town might want to know about the town 100 years from now. Producing and directing the film will be John Sibun of East St.
 Receipt of the funds will also mark the official opening of the Bicentennial Commission's information booth.
 The Marlborough Five and Drum Corps will play. Residents are invited to attend the ceremonies and encourage to wear colonial costumes.

New Bids Sought For Roof Repairs

EAST HARTFORD
Sheila Tuller
 289-4238
 All original bids for roof repairs to local public schools have been rejected.
 The announcement was made by Richard Dubois, supervisor of buildings and grounds.
 When the original bids were received and reviewed, the administration decided the original bids may have been too restrictive.
 Acting on the advice of Corporation Counsel Timothy J. McNamara, the school department will submit an invitation for new bids from contractors this week.
 At one point last month Dubois thought it might be possible for his crews to do the roofing work.
 However, after investigating this possibility, it was concluded the size of the job was too much for the size maintenance crew employed by the Board of Education.

Bonfire Fan Chooses Trial

WINSTED (UPI)—A Barkhamsted man, who's annual bonfire celebration of the Fourth of July was halted this year by state police, has elected to stand trial on a disorderly conduct charge.
 C. Harold Shepherd, 59, who staged the traditional evening bonfire each July 3 for the past 17 years, pleaded innocent to the charge Tuesday in Winsted Court of Common Pleas and asked for a trial.

Chides President

HARRISBURG, Pa. (UPI) — Indiana Sen. Birch Bayh says he wants to be president "to kick a few rear ends, knock a few heads together and get this county turned around."

Bayh spoke at a news conference Tuesday, the day "The Committee for Birch Bayh in '76" filed papers with the Federal Election Commission in Washington to allow Bayh to collect money.

"At this stage I'm just testing the waters," Bayh said. "We want to try to find out whether there are enough people across the nation who believe in Birch Bayh to put together a viable presidential campaign."

Bayh was in town to address the Pennsylvania Welfare Department's Juvenile Justice Day Conference. He then went to Philadelphia for his campaign's first Pennsylvania fund-raiser.

Bayh, 47, is the ninth Democrat to announce his interest in running but withheld his formal announcement.

Mayor's Day at Playgrounds
It was "Mayor's Day" at Vernon's summer recreation areas Tuesday. Mayor Frank McCoy started out the day at Henry Park and sat a moment to enjoy one of the poppicles he distributed. He then moved on to the several other areas and noted he might eat a few more before the day was over as the temperatures went higher. (Herald photo by Richard...)

Council Faces Court Space Issue

VERNON
The Town of Vernon will have to decide whether it wants to spend the money to renovate the former Administration Building to lease to Common Pleas Court 13.

The state now leases space in the town-owned Memorial Building and People's Bank Building for the court facilities. The actual courtroom is in the Memorial Building and the offices are now housed in the adjacent bank building.

The state and the town had an unwritten agreement that when all of the town offices were moved from the Administration Building, to renovated space in the Memorial Building, the court would take over the vacated building.

ON SECOND THOUGHT

By JAN WARREN

The Census Says We're Six

According to the town census-taker, there are six people living in our household; a mother, a father, and four school children — aged 12, 15, 16 and 17.

I find these statistics perplexing and can't help but wonder when the census-taker arrived at them. Certainly it was not this summer, for half the time I don't know how many people are living in our household myself. I only know it has never been six.

Sometimes there is nobody here but my husband and I. Our voices make hollow echoes in the empty house and at meal time we huddle together at one end of our long trestle table.

Other times the house is so full of people and voices that we can barely hear ourselves think at meal time the only way we can all sit down is to serve food in shifts.

Last weekend was a classic. There were two extra teen-age grandmas and grandpas and 11 kids. To make that last figure in my census official — six were boys, four girls, and one, who was wandering about in its sleeping bag remains unclassified.

Dear Abby

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1975 by Chicago Tribune-N.Y. News Synd., Inc.

DEAR ABBY: We are supposed to be living under a democratic system, right? Well, what kind of justice is there when the mother and father of a family can do anything they want, including things they tell their kids they can't do, but nobody can say a word to them about it?

DEAR NO: Kids are supposed to do what their parents tell them to do — unless it is dishonest, harmful to others or a violation of law. I wish more parents realized that the most effective teacher a child can have is the example set for him by his parents.

DEAR ABBY: I have two very pretty daughters I'll call "Lucy" and "Ann." Lucy is 24 and Ann is 17. Lucy is married and has a small child. The child was hospitalized recently, so during that time, Lucy stayed at the hospital with him.

DEAR DISGUSTED: Don't tell Lucy, and don't mention it to her husband. But do tell Ann to let you know if her brother-in-law ever gets out of line again. THEN, lower the boom on the bum.

DEAR ABBY: You passed over the problem of sweaty palms much too casually. It's a serious handicap. My husband had that condition (it's called "hyperhidrosis") for over 25 years. He recalled that in the second grade, other kids would say, "Get your clammy hands off me!"

DEAR GRATEFUL: And I am grateful to you for informing me that excessive sweating is not a curse that one must simply accept and learn to live with. Dermatologists have also been successful with yet another approach.

A 'Miracle' In Bolton

By BETTY HYDER Family/Travel Editor

There's a real, live, doll in Bolton. Her name is Maureen and she's just over four months old.

Maureen is a real live, doll in Bolton. Her name is Maureen and she's just over four months old. The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Maurice (Moe) Butts of 21 Hebron Rd., the petite miss, born five weeks prematurely, weighed 2 lbs. 9 oz. at birth.

With the proper care and medication, by her eighth day she had built up near normal cells (8,000 to 10,000) and the infection was beginning to stabilize, her mom said.

Mrs. Butts speaks highly of the modern hospital methods and said that years ago such a condition would have been difficult to diagnose. Now, the family and their physicians are hopeful it can be corrected.

"She is hyperactive and has colic," Mrs. Butts said. "She can't have milk or milk products and is on a soy protein formula. Other than that, she eats everything."

"We had some trying days, as her birth weight would fluctuate from one day to the next. We just kept our fingers crossed that she'd be all right."

Mrs. Butts has four other children by a previous marriage. Christine, 8, Debbie, 17, Brenda, 16, Earl (Chicken), 15, and Amy, 11.

Maureen, not about to miss any of the action in such a busy household — only sleeps six hours a night.

The ceremonies are open to all members of the Legion Post and Auxiliary.

Benefit Fair Nets $29.13

Two Bidwell St. youngsters conducted a Burger King/Leskenski backyard fair recently and raised $29.13 for their efforts.

Thomas Nielson of Manchester was one of two students to receive special awards at graduation ceremonies at the Saint Francis Hospital School of Respiratory Therapy.

Nielson received $300 from the Robert Higners Memorial Scholarship Fund. The fund was established to honor Higners, young clinical coordinator at the school, who died last year.

"I used to have such a schedule, before Maureen arrived. I'd give myself just so long to complete the job, then move onto another. But all that has changed; she requires constant care."

"We are very thankful to have such good friends and neighbors," she said.

The Butts family was equally grateful when they found out that medical insurance had already paid $11,247 of Maureen's medical bills.

"The warmth and love found in this busy household knows no barriers."

"The little miracle," as her mom and dad call her, has a long way to go. But, surrounded by her warm and loving family, she has every chance of growing into a great, big doll.

Reds' Ken Griffey Slides In Hard Takes Out Giants' Second Baseman Craig Robinson

Palmer Encouraged By Littler, Boros

AKRON, Ohio (UPI) — Arnold Palmer heads into the PGA championship looking for encouragement wherever he can find it, and these days he's finding more of it on television than almost anywhere else.

He has been a PGA runner-up three times, twice because of some remarkable shot-making by Dave Stockton and Bobby Nichols and once when Boros edged him thanks to a clutch chip shot at the final green.

"This is an old man's year. I'm starting to get pretty young," Palmer is right. This has been a year for the old men on the PGA tour, and it's a trend he hopes will continue when the PGA championship begins Thursday.

Palmer was in the prime of his career. It was maybe his best year of all the good ones. He had won the Masters. He finished second by a shot in the British Open. He was to win a total of eight tournaments that year and he figured to win the PGA.

Championship Course Boring Nicklaus Says

AKRON, Ohio (UPI) — Jack Nicklaus has played the Firestone Country Club course, site of this week's PGA championship, so often he thinks it's a bore.

"This is a great golf course, but put collectively, you fall asleep. It seems like you play there over and over again," said Nicklaus, who will be seeking his second major title of the year and his 16th championship when he tees off Thursday.

Nicklaus won the Masters Cup Championship at the U.S. and British Opens in 1962 and 1966, respectively.

19th Hole

The Patriots' roster now and that has been trimmed to 43 when the season begins.

Some players, I don't know if they'll make the team," Fairbanks said. "I'd like to find out how they play without being up on our own guys."

The Patriots announced they are adding four new players to the roster for the 1975 season. The additions are:

John T. O'Neil, 37, pitcher, from the New York Yankees; Bob Lincecum, 31, catcher, from the Los Angeles Dodgers; and two outfielders, Mike Krukow and Dick Schoonover, from the New York Yankees.

Palmer was in the prime of his career. It was maybe his best year of all the good ones. He had won the Masters. He finished second by a shot in the British Open.

Big Welcome for Ruthven

NEW YORK (UPI) — The Philadelphia Phillies threw a "welcome home" party that left the guest of honor in a state of confusion.

The Phillies welcomed back pitcher Dick Ruthven, who was recalled from the minors Monday after being sent down during spring training.

Ruthven, making his first start for Philadelphia since Sept. 22, got the club out in the first inning when he watched wide-eyed from the bench as his teammates began with eight consecutive hits off starter Bill Bonham and reliever Ken Crosby.

Dave Cash and Larry Bowa started the rally with singles and Garry Maddox made it 3-0 with his third homer of the year.

Ruthven, who had been in the first two of his first two appearances in the game, John Oates singled off Crosby, and then he hit a sacrifice for the first out.

Vilas Unstoppable In Tennis Classic

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (UPI) — Players on the pro tennis tour are beginning to wonder if anyone can beat Argentina's Guillermo Vilas on a clay court.

The broad-shouldered left-hander ran his winning streak to 17 matches Tuesday night when he whipped Romania's Ilie Nastase, 6-3, 6-3, for the championship of the rain-plagued $100,000 Louisville Classic.

The Argentine, top-seeded and defending his Louisville title, added $100,000 in prize money and a $1,000 per match fee to his $300,000 in earnings for the year and 90 points to the already commanding lead he enjoys in the Grand Prix standings. Vilas, a runaway winner of last year's Grand Prix championship, now has 450 points while Spain's Manuel Orantes is next with 289.

"The way Guillermo is playing, I don't know if anyone in the world can beat him on clay," said Chile's Jaime Filipek after losing to Vilas in the semifinals.

"You've got to have a lot of patience when you're playing him because he hits his ground strokes so well and I don't have that patience," lamented Nastase, who fell behind 2-1 in the first set and only broke his opponent's service once.

Vilas, who likes to write poetry, had plenty of time to indulge that passion while waiting for the final match. He beat Filipek Sunday and then, on Tuesday, he was back on the tennis court in Sugarbush, Vt., Tuesday and polished off veteran Martin Robinson of Great Britain, 6-3, 6-3, in the first round of the $45,000 U.S. Open International Tennis Tournament. Robinson was then returned to Vermont.

Top-seeded Jimmy Connors of Belleville, Ill., and third-seeded Ilie Nastase of Romania were to play their first matches today in the $100,000 tournament. Nastase, who is a native of Romania, has a 36-year-old record in the 18-year-old tournament with 10 wins and 10 losses.

Chicago (UPI) — Irving Crane, a 64-year-old retired car dealer from Rochester, N.Y., defeated Steve Mizerak of Edison, N.J., Tuesday in the first round of the $45,000 U.S. Open Pocket Billiards championship.

Robinson showed "a lot of guts," Rosewall said. "I was pleased with my game, considering I hadn't played in three weeks."

Other results Tuesday: Rod Laver won by default; Victor Pecci, Paragway, defeated Phil Dent, Australia, 6-3, 6-3; Alexander, Australia, won two matches, over Jack Kramer, Great Britain, 6-2, 6-4, and Erick van Dillen, Egypt, Calif., 6-2, 6-2.

Australia, defeated Woody Boelcher, Los Angeles, 6-2, 6-2 in the second round. The third round was Nickl Spier, Yugoslavia; Hans Pfotz, West Germany; Norman Holmes, Melbourne, Fla.; Ray Moore, South Africa; and John Lloyd, Great Britain.

NEW YORK (UPI) — The New York Yankees have ended negotiations to sign former New York Met outfielder Cleon Jones, running into a snag in the amount of bonus money the outfielder would receive.

Jones, who was waived out of the National League by the Mets this week after a mid-July suspension for refusing to play the field, wanted a large bonus for providing his services to the Yankees and the American League Club did not see any reason to give it to him.

Jones received his free agent status Monday and by Tuesday he had reached an agreement with the Yankees on a contract for the remainder of the 1975 season. But he would not sign until the Yankees came across with the bonus which the AL East's third place team would not give.

Jones, who was waived out of the National League by the Mets this week after a mid-July suspension for refusing to play the field, wanted a large bonus for providing his services to the Yankees and the American League Club did not see any reason to give it to him.

Robots Do Some Jobs Of Workers

NEW YORK (UPI) - The recent theft of a robot from the marked car of New York City University professor got a lot of headlines.
Ever since Karl Capek wrote his imaginative play "R.U.R." half a century ago, the concept of the useful robot has intrigued people.
Now, the industrial robot is coming into fairly wide use, particularly in Europe, says Frost & Sullivan, New York business research firm.
Expensive robots have been made in the United States, Sweden, Germany and Japan for some years, but their use up to now has been largely confined to industrial tasks deemed too dangerous for human beings - handling highly radioactive materials, for example. There has been no attempt in the United States to introduce them as economical replacements for human labor.
But that's no longer true in Europe and Japan, says Frost & Sullivan in a new study reaching the conclusion that the European market for industrial robots will total at least $5 billion a year in 1985.
The report says more than 170 companies around the world are building at least 200 models of robots with the Japanese making the most sophisticated, followed in order by the United States and Sweden.
The study says shortages of labor and hourly wage rates that are going up much faster than those in the United States are spurring the demand for robots in Japan and Europe.
Sweden and Germany are the European countries making the greatest use of robots. They are used in many industries for spray painting, welding, drilling and materials handling. They are controlled by computers. The report says in many industries a new robot will pay for itself in a single year in comparison with the cost of human labor to do the same task.
Two American companies, Unimation division of Condec Corp. and Veratron division of AMP, Inc., have almost 500 installations in Europe and Japan, a big share of the burgeoning robot market. Other leading makers in the European market are Electrolux and Kautskid, both of Sweden, Norda, an Italian firm, and Keller & Knappich of West Germany.
The present industrial robots can do only very simple tasks involving no alternative moves, the study says. The next generation is expected to be able to carry out simple testing and alternative operations, and by 1985 it is expected robots with so-called perceptual motors will be available. It is hoped these will be programmable so they will have the rough equivalent of human hand-eye control and a simplified mechanical intelligence allowing them to carry out some discrete assembly operations.
Robots probably will continue to be used mostly in dangerous or messy operations that human workers find objectionable but the Frost & Sullivan study indicates the purely economic incentive for using them is pretty sure to increase in many parts of the world.
At any rate, the present growth rate in the number of industrial robots in use in Europe is nearly 90 per cent a year.

Roadblock To Bankruptcy

As the aftermath of an auto accident, a motorist is walloped by a big verdict in the courtroom. It is more money than he is insured for, more money than he can possibly scrape together. Can he "get out from under" by going into bankruptcy?

Not necessarily. It depends on how wrongfully he had behaved in bringing about the accident. The law says that not even bankruptcy will wipe out liability for "willful and malicious" injuries inflicted upon others.

Consider an example: A motorist, driving home drunk from a party, ran down and killed a pedestrian. Held legally liable, he sought relief in bankruptcy.

But the evidence showed that 1) his driving had been negligent, and 2) he had announced at the hearing of the party that he only intended to get drunk before heading for home.

The deliberate disregard for safety, said the court, put his conduct into the "willful and malicious" category and barred him from getting relief in bankruptcy.

But in another case, the motorist had caused a collision merely by driving too fast through an intersection. Finding him guilty of nothing more than a momentary lapse of attention, the court said this could not be described as willful and malicious.

Result: The motorist was able to escape a heavy burden of liability by going into bankruptcy.

Suppose that after a collision a motorist gets into an argument, sees his temper, and beats up the other driver. If he is held liable later for assault and battery, he would not be able to use the bankruptcy way out.

An assault and battery, say the courts, is the kind of intentional wrongdoing that the Bankruptcy Act was never intended to forgive.

A public service feature of the American Bar Association and the Connecticut Bar Association.

COMMENT SESSION

Comments on six different subjects were filed Tuesday morning by the six persons who appeared at a Board of Directors comment session in the Manchester Municipal Building conducted by Directors Carl Zinsner and Vivian Ferguson.

A man who said he's been using water from the Highland Park Spring for over 70 years wanted to know why there's a pollution problem there now and wasn't in the past.

A Woodbridge St. resident said he's disturbed at the speeding on his street and noted there's no stop sign on it between E. Middle, Park and Oakland St. He called attention to similar complaints of speeding by present and former residents of the street.

The owner of a commercial property at Center and Trotter Sts. claimed her building was damaged when the town-owned Trotter Block was demolished. She said the town has an obligation to repair the damage.

A Rajah Rd. resident complained of a large puddle of water that gathers on Hillstown Rd. near Redwood Rd. He said the water-backup and puddle is because of large piles of dirt on the roadside.

A woman who resides on Brainard Pl. filed a repeat complaint of potential storm-water backup into her house. She said there hasn't been a backup lately but is concerned about potential future problems.

And a man who resides on School St. suggested the town should obtain an immediate legal decision about whose authority it is the town or Eighth District to provide fire protection in the Buckland area, in order to settle the dispute once and for all.

ABORTION STAND WASHINGTON (UPI) - The women's division of the United Methodist Church's Board of Global Ministries has passed a resolution opposing a Constitutional amendment prohibiting abortion, in part because it fears the effect such an amendment would have on ecumenical relations.

PEALE AWARDED
NEW YORK (UPI) - Dr. Norman Vincent Peale, best known for his "power of positive thinking" philosophy, has been given a "Spirit of America" award by the business firm of Sarah Coventry, Inc., makers of costume jewelry.

BICENTENNIAL FACTS

By the 18th century women camp followers in the armies of Europe were legitimized to the extent that soldiers' wives were carried on official muster rolls. These women washed and cooked and attended to their men and helped with the sick and wounded. They also drew rations but received no pay. Camp followers accompanied both the British and American armies during the Revolutionary War. What is surprising is their number, especially with the British forces. At least 5,000 women and probably an equal number of children trailed through North America with King George's armies. The World Almanac recalls.

SOCIAL SECURITY

Q. My brother was severely injured in a boating accident two months ago. He hasn't applied for disability benefits yet because he says there is a five-month waiting period. When would he file?

A. Even though there is a five-month waiting period for disability benefits to begin, people should apply for benefits as soon as they become disabled. By filing early the claim may be completely processed during the waiting period and benefits can begin at the earliest possible time for the sixth full month of disability.

Q. I recently got a letter from Social Security telling me that it is time for my redetermination. I've been eligible for Supplemental Security Income payments for a year. Why do I have to have a redetermination?

A. Under the Supplemental Security Income program, a yearly redetermination is made for each recipient. The purpose of the redetermination is simply to make sure that your payment amount is correct and that there has been no change in your income, resources or living arrangements.

Q. My mother recently died at age 69 after a long illness. If I say our family doctor who was treating her, can I apply for the Medicare medical insurance payment?

A. When someone who has Medicare dies, special rules apply to the medical insurance payment. If your doctor accepts assignment, Medicare will pay a claim. If he won't accept assignment, the payment can be made to whoever pays the bill. You will need to file two forms and a proof of payment. The forms are Request for Medicare Payment and Statement Regarding Medical Payment for Medical Services to a Deceased Patient. You can get both at your local Social Security office.

Q. I've heard that both parts of Medicare cover home health care. Is the coverage the same under both parts?

A. In general, Medicare's hospital insurance can pay for home health care after you have been in a participating hospital for at least three days in a row. Under Medicare's medical insurance, you don't have to have a three-day stay in a hospital to get home health care. But, under each part, home health care is covered only if certain conditions are met. Your Medicare Handbook explains home health care in detail. If you don't have a handbook you can get one at your Social Security office.

Tempo of Violence Mounts in Portugal

LISBON, Portugal (UPI)—The tempo of violence mounted in Portugal early today with Communist party and Marxist headquarters reported in flames in at least three towns.

Police reported major attacks against leftists in the two northern towns of Vila Nova de Famalicão and Santo Tirso and in each case, thousands of demonstrators sacked and set fire to local left-wing headquarters, they said.

Morning newspapers in the capital said incidents occurred "in various other points," but gave no details.

In Lisbon, the Communist party decided to boycott the Constituent Assembly to protest a Socialist party accusation that Communists had provoked the violence by their irresponsibility and demagoguery.

The left-wing newspaper Seculo compared the political unrest to the events that led to the ouster and death of Marxist President Salvador Allende in Chile.

"We cannot allow this aggression against our country to take place with impunity so it compromises our Socialist future," the newspaper said. "We cannot afford the luxury of wasting another second of the month."

Information Minister Jorge Correira Jesusino, tapped as a likely candidate for Portugal's next foreign minister, declined to comment on a newspaper report that he had drawn up a law for censoring Portuguese news media.

The newspaper Jornal Novo published what it said was a copy of the proposed law, headlining the story "Serious Attack Against Freedom of Information in Portugal."

The newspaper said the law would create a board of military censors to pass on newspaper, radio and television reports and would have the power to impose fines of as much as $20,000 and to suspend publication of newspapers for up to six months for "condemnable news practices."

These included: Dissemination of false, biased or manipulated news; negligence of the "obligation to sensitize the population to the great national tasks"; and systematically adopting anti-revolutionary positions.

A bomb exploded Tuesday in Lisbon's Forestry Mission building, killing a man standing in the street outside and breaking windows for blocks around.

In the northern textile town of Vila Nova de Famalicão, 180 miles north of Lisbon, some 3,000 persons "Tuesday emptied a three-story Communist center and burned the contents in huge bonfires. Some soldiers assigned to guard the building joined the mob."

Several hours later, about 3,000 persons attacked the Communist headquarters in Santo Tirso, eight miles from Vila Nova, burning furniture and shouting anti-government slogans.

Police reported no serious injuries in either incident.

Idle Claims Processing Up-To-Date

State Labor Department officials say they're up-to-date on processing claims for unemployment compensation in Manchester despite the steadily increasing claim totals and the high number of seasonal claims.

"There are no delays despite a particularly heavy schedule," a department spokesman said. The department has hired eight temporary employees to help with paperwork in Manchester, and the local office is busy nights and Saturdays.

The spokesman said the jobs claim load has increased dramatically in Manchester, as well as throughout the state, due to seasonal closings by employers.

In mid-July, the department's Manchester office had 55 claims attributed to seasonal closings. By the end of July, the department's 31 local offices had a total of 250 such claims pending, and the department has hired 250 temporary workers to help with the load.

In Manchester, the department's office has 21 full-time employees and eight temporary employees.

"There've been no major problems in Manchester, the spokesman said, and few complaints have been heard.

There have been normal time lags in processing the seasonal claims, which are handled by mail, the spokesman said.

The total number of jobless benefit claims filed in Manchester averaged 4,041 weekly for the two-week period ending July 26. The statewide total in the same period was 142,228, with nearly 11,000 of those claims attributed to seasonal closings.

Somoza Quits Windham Post

Paul Somoza, former assistant administrator of Manchester Memorial Hospital, has resigned his position as administrator of Windham Community Memorial Hospital in Williamstown, according to Eugene S. Mittelmann, president of the hospital board of trustees.

Somoza, who had held that position for the past eight months, submitted his resignation order to become effective Dec. 1.

Mittelmann said Somoza is resigning for personal reasons. Somoza was unavailable for comment today.

He was appointed an administrative assistant at Manchester Memorial Hospital May 1, 1966. He came to Manchester from Temple University Hospital in Philadelphia, where he had served as administrative assistant to the executive director and as an administrative resident.

Somoza resides with his wife and three children at 550 Keneedy St.

Several hours later, about 3,000 persons attacked the Communist headquarters in Santo Tirso, eight miles from Vila Nova, burning furniture and shouting anti-government slogans.

Police reported no serious injuries in either incident.

Chief Repeats His Warning: No Firemen on Inspections

Chief John Rivas of the Town Fire Department repeated today his warning to residents and businessmen to beware anyone seeking to enter their homes and buildings to make fire inspections.

When his fire fighters make inspections they do not wear uniforms and traveling in a fire department vehicle.

They do not inspect homes or businesses.

His warning was prompted by a report Tuesday that a man wearing a dark suit and a dark hat had entered a woman's home July 30 claiming to be an inspector for the fire department.

Police checked with the woman's office. No one was aware of an inspection to be made there.

Library Reading Club Plans Tuesday Party

Children who have participated in the Mary Casey Library Junior Room's "Guinness Book" reading club are invited to a party Tuesday at 10:30 a.m. at the library.

Members who have completed five books and filled out their folders will receive certificates citing their reading achievement.

The theme for this year's reading club was based on "The Guinness Book of World Records" by Norris and Ross McWhirter and published by Sterling Publishing Co. Children who joined were issued folders in which were listed many categories such as "the best book," "the worst..." "the longest..."

In keeping with this theme, the party Tuesday will be a "Guinness Side Show." Those attending are asked to come dressed or equipped as a holder of a Guinness World Record; for example, one who has postage-stamp jumped the longest or has the longest moustache. There will be a refreshments and games as well as the awarding of certificates.

Some 300 whites, some armed with baseball bats, rocks and bottles, had gathered at the beach Sunday. Police dispersed the crowd. The previous Sunday, several black men were beaten during a confrontation which followed a white group ordering a black couple off the beach.

Two white teen-agers were arrested in connection with incidents at the beach. One 16-year-old charged with assault and battery with a baseball bat on a policeman who arrested him.

A second youth was arrested Monday on a charge of willful and malicious destruction of personal property in connection with a baseball bat thrown through the window of an automobile carrying a Puerto Rican family.

Police from Maine took custody of Perkins Sunday at Manchester Police Headquarters. He was returned to Maine to serve a two-year prison sentence. Local police are not aware of the Maine charges which led to his sentence.

* Leon A. Crowl, 23, of 147 Oakland St., operating a motor vehicle while license suspended, failure to appear. A rearrest warrant was ordered with a $250 surety bond.

* Richard E. Sheerick, 22, of Hartford, operating a motor vehicle while under the influence of liquor or drugs, $150.

Perkins had been arrested in Manchester Aug. 1 and charged with threatening and second-degree criminal mischief. Both charges were nolle prosequat.

Mayor Kevin White and other city officials said they would not issue a permit for a march or gathering. However, the mayor said anyone can use the beach in safety.

The Committee Against Racism (CAR) said it planned to stage a "massive multicultural parade" at the beach Aug. 17.

The time is noon, July 30, and there are 17,332 Boy Scouts from 98 countries of the world in that "hand" which symbolizes the motto of the Boy Scout World Jamboree at Lillehammer in Norway. Among those scouts is Manchester's Carl (Gay) Gunderson. The photo is reproduced from a newspaper clipping sent by Gunderson.

14th World Jamboree of Boy Scouts

Fem Fingre — En Hand: Five Fingers — One Hand

Editors Note—Carl (Gay) Gunderson of 115 Oldcut Dr., a member of Boy Scout Troop 28, who is attending as a visitor the 14th World Jamboree of Boy Scouts which closes Thursday in Norway, reports to 'The Herald' some of the happenings and his personal reactions to the opening day ceremonies and activities.

Our arrival at the official opening day of the jamboree, July 30, when all the opening ceremonies took place. Campsites were in different areas named Siljan, Teno, Norjunga, Trelleberg, Hokla, Skiarne, Jurmo, Dovre, Sarek and Lillebelt, all with walking distances from each other. Each campsite had its own opening ceremonies.

The jamboree motto was "Five Fingers — One Hand," which was selected by participants at the Nordic Scout Seminar held in the summer of 1973. This motto symbolizes and lends itself to many interpretations.

The World Jamboree of Boy Scouts in Norway was one of the greatest anticipations and experiences of my life so far. After traveling through Norway since July 1, my parents and I arrived at the jamboree site in Lillehammer on a bright, sunny warm day. We soon learned that the greatest aspects of scouting and its principles were practiced and upheld by participants. All activities, performances and celebrations exemplified scout laws, which are intended to be guidance for a way of life from childhood to adulthood.

At the jamboree, a large torch lit in the symbolic fire of the 14th World Boy Scout Jamboree. Again, with music, the same torch has been used at all 14 jamborees since 1920. The next, official flag of the World Organization of Scouting and "Nordjans" flag were raised amid a fanfare of special badges. Everyone joined in singing, with the band, the official song composed for this jamboree, of which we all had copies. Five fingers were neckerchiefs represented the different groups.

There was stirring music, as each group from the various countries marched in, wearing colorful uniforms, they did their individual thing with singing, bands, bagpipes, joyous cheering, etc.

The big moment came finally, King Olaf V of Norway arrived in an open car as the band played "God Save the King." He spoke of the joy of being together in a group, of the spirit of scouting and all it meant in youth and as we grow older. He extolled the virtue of coming together in this fashion and offered it must have taken on part of scouts and parents to make it possible.

STAMPS AND COINS

By RUSS MACKENDRICK

The Channel Islands are still churning out stamps and somebody is snapping them up. Dealers' buy offers in Linn's for certain of the older issues are amazing.

Here are some birdies from Jersey. A common tern, storm petrel, brent geese a-winging, and a shag. (This latter bird is also called a green cormorant, without whose outspread wings no picture of Jersey's north coast is said to be complete.) The stamps are produced by Courvoisier, by photogravure, in multicolor. The paper has a special graining for a tropical climate — just right for our Manchester Green area a couple of weeks ago.

Jersey is merciless — coming out with another set in October, this time to mark the Royal Air Force Anniversary. And the late of Man is keeping up. On Sept. 3 there will be four stamps to honor Sir George Dashwood Goldie. (No, Hortense, he was not the previous employer of Jerves just before Bertie Wooster.) Woodhouse did not invent him; he was a real, live, stiff-necked Englishman (1846-1925), who did a fine job of getting Nigeria together commercially in the 19th century.

He was born on the Isle of Man at the Nunery Manston House, which is shown on one of the stamps. Another gives a view of the River Nigger transportation with trading hulks, a native canoe, and a stern wheeler. All four stamps carry a likeness of Hamrod George.

There is a periodical to keep the drums rolling: "The Channel Islands Reporter," a bimonthly. Can be had for $5 a year from CIOCC, Box 579, NY, NY 10028.

Scott's Volume II is announced for late this month. Although the list price of $25 for the hard cover edition seems terrible, there are many offers in the back pages of Linn's that bring it down to about $4. My Volume I ("Limited Bicentennial Edition No. 4743") is just great, whereas the regular soft cover atrocity is masher than ever this year.

The addition of the chronological "For the Record" pages is helpful, even though they give no prices and don't guarantee complete coverage. This section lists things neglected in the main books for countries such as Manama, Anguilla, Biafra, Khor Fakkan, et al.

On Aug. 10 from 10 to 4:30. Another "Detente and Link-up."

The Second Sunday Stamp Show at Meriden's Holiday Inn will have both British and American Post Offices represented. There will be a limited selection of Crown Agents' FDC's. A British Penny Black will be the free door prize.

The Manchester Philatelic Society will continue with its summer meetings at Mott's Community Hall on Tuesday Aug. 12, 7 to 10 p.m.

Loud Church Bells Irk Neighbors

INKSTER, Mich. (UPI) — The age bell tower in the First Missionary Baptist Church — powered by 500-watt amplifiers — is more nuisance than inspiration to some residents of this Detroit suburb.

"It's too loud," said Police Chief Hank Jason. "We've had several complaints."

"If religious music is disturbing to the neighborhood's peace and tranquility, it's got to be proven to me," said the Rev. Aaron Butler, pastor of the 486-member church.

City ordinance officers ticketed Butler last Thursday for "operating a noisemaking instrument by which the peace and good order of the neighborhood is disturbed."

But they began canvassing a two-block area around the church Monday to see whether the hourly chimes interspersed with religious music are generally regarded as a nuisance.

Police said they probably would have asked Butler to turn down the chimes in any case, but the 36-year-old pastor said he would fight any such attempt to "to the Supreme Court of the Land."
