Jaworski Honored

ABA Turns Down Amnesty

MONTREAL (UPI) — The American Bar Association has turned down proposals for amnesty that would have encouraged 30,000 draft evaders and deserters to return to the United States from Canada.

In its closing session Wednesday, the ABA house of delegates, governing body of the nation's largest legal organization, rejected two proposals calling on President Ford to extend amnesty to Vietnam war deserters and draft dodgers.

One proposal backed unconditional amnesty. The other, introduced by Albert Jenner, former chief minority counsel for the House Judiciary Committee's impeachment inquiry last year, asked Ford to grant unconditional amnesty limited to men who avoided service because of "principled objections to the war."

Parents and wives of men who died or lost limbs in Vietnam spoke on both sides of the issue. But opposition to the resolutions was apparent at the outset as delegates trooped to the podium to declare their conditional amnesty in any form would dishonor those who died in Vietnam.

Herbert Johnson, a delegate from Atlanta, typified opposition when he said "we as lawyers, of all people, should not encourage disrespect of lives that were in effect, at the time they were broken."

ABA resolutions have no legal effect but carry the weight of the organization. A resolution urging legalization of prostitution was unanimously deferred for consideration until the house meets in February in Philadelphia.

The ABA's week-long annual meeting ended Wednesday night with a banquet honoring former Watergate Special Prosecutor Leon Jaworski. He was presented the organization's highest award and was praised by ABA President James Fellers as "a distinguished lawyer, inspired leader and dedicated public servant."

Also Wednesday, Lawrence Walsh, New York, was installed to succeed Fellers as ABA president.

Two file bids on school items. Two bids were received and opened Tuesday for a mini-computer to be used as educational equipment at Manchester High School.

The bids submitted were from Edcom Corp., 189 Trumbull St., Hartford, for $11,000 with a 5 per cent discount; and Wang Laboratories, Inc., 55 Towline Rd., Wethersfield, for $10,044.

After an evaluation of the bids, a decision will be reached probably by Monday, a Board of Education spokesman said.

14 New Voters Sign; 17 Young Dems Meet

Manchester election officials signed up 14 new voters Saturday night, during a SAM rock concert at Mt. Nebo, with 9 declaring themselves unaffiliated, 3 registering Republican and 2 Democratic.

They were addressed briefly by State Rep. Ted Cummings, who is also Democratic town chairman. State Sen. David Barry and Mayor John Thompson, Sr. were also present.

White 13 colonies joined against George III, planting acquired from Spain in 1763 as a result of the French and Indian War, remained loyal to the King.

Before the days of flying we had to satisfy our yen for getting up to where we could look down by climbing everything that presented a challenge. And we found and saw many interesting things in the doing.

For instance, at the brink of the south face of 500 foot Great Hill in Portland there are the parallel grooves planed in the granite by that two-mile-deep glacier that slid over from north to south, eons ago. Just because we can't remember quite that far back is no reason why we should not believe those who know more.

Never noticed those tall-tale marks on top of the cliff above the square hole in Bolton because O.C. didn't make it a point to look for them whenever he was up there, but bet they are there.

On top of the trap-rock hills near Meriden a smooth horizontal plane looks like a monstrous tile floor. When the hot volcanic outflow cooled, the basalt solidified into hexagonal crystals standing on end like the Giant's Causeway in Antrim, Ireland. Then the glacier planed and polished the top so it looks like hexagonal tiling on a floor.

Any fall tree on a high hilltop invited a looksee from its top. There was one grand opportunity when work was to be done on the top of the 135-foot-tall chimney of the Cheney's boiler room on Forest St. Ladders had been lashed up the north side clear to the top when the workmen's day ended. After they were gone we went to the top without being apprehended.

No need to worry about a lad falling on a climb like that. You might better worry about the ladder rungs being dented by the tight grips of his fingers. That other chimney at the Ribbon Mills on Pine St. was higher when built than now. It was lowered after a lightning stroke had damaged the top. Speaking of chimneys, the one you see at the Alden Spinning Mills at Talcoville used to stand in front of the mill on the street side to the east and on much higher ground. It was picked up and moved to its present location and then had additional height added to get more draft. The new bottom section is quite evident.

When the chimney at Case's Highland Park mill was having a new lead cap installed, one of the workmen moaned so hard his dentures flew down the flue. In telling about it a little kid said, "My uncle Bill mended his SALT teeth down the chimney. Before O.C. was big enough to climb a ladder he used to ride up on his father's back. Dad said he never worried about the lad falling off because he could feel those little legs so tight around his waist and the arms around his neck almost as if they were carrying him before he reached the top. It was fun to carry lunch and eat with the man on a roof of some high building."

A trip to Laurel Park was never complete without climbing the tower built around a large tree on the hill.

Moral Poverty and Crime

Recently several big city police chiefs appeared on a panel discussing crime, and most of them blamed rising urban street crime to unemployment.
One, Edward Davis of Los Angeles, said quite bluntly that moral, not material poverty, is the blame.
His view is a minority one. We have in this nation drifted a long way toward blaming the physical environment for everything that goes wrong with the human personality.

Judge Needs a Rest

WASHINGTON — Even in this dumb, muggy age, a few judges have dared to suggest that one of the obligations of the police is to protect the right of innocent citizens to pursue their daily lives in peace.
Judge Joseph C. Waddy of Hill City is not one of that few. In an opinion handed down the other day on the antiwar demonstrations in this miserable community from November 1969 to the May Day in 1971, Waddy didn't write a syllable in behalf of the innocent. Instead, he limited his opinion to a blanket denunciation of Washington's cops for violating the constitutional rights of the demonstrators.

Sohio Brings in a Gusher

There must be money in oil. Standard Oil of Ohio (Sohio), which ranks only 12th among U.S. petroleum products, has just completed arrangements to borrow a whopping $1.75 billion — the most money ever borrowed at one time by any American corporation — to finance the trans-Alaska pipeline.

Embarrassing Housecleaning of HEW

WASHINGTON — Buried in the files at the Department of Health, Education and Welfare is a typed document called the Mega Proposal, written in 1972, and still in draft form.
This reporter recently read through the draft of several hundred pages with some amazement. For this in-house document, written by men high in the department, is both sensational and vague in its charges of inefficiency and waste in the multi-billion dollar programs spawned and managed by the agency.

Proving the Worth Of Democracy Again

It is difficult to believe that a year has passed since the greatest constitutional crisis the nation has ever faced, the resignation of Richard Nixon from the office of the presidency.
That anniversary has come and gone with an almost total absence of observance or comment cannot be due alone to the fact that Americans have forgotten, or want to forget, the sordid scandal which absorbed their attention for nearly two years.

The House Moves Into Spotlight

WASHINGTON (UPI) — There were bitter partisan recriminations as Congress pushed toward its month-long August vacation, among them this comment from House GOP leader John Rhodes: "I do not believe it is one of the finest hours of the House of Representatives."
Rhodes had his reason — the administration's desperately sought aid to Turkey bill was about to be put over until September. But the remark was not entirely accurate about the position of what some of the uniformed refer to as the "lower House."

TODAY'S THOUGHT

It's funny thing, but whenever we are hurting or are in trouble we expect to receive help from anyone who can give it to us. When we don't receive this help, we feel that society let us down. We feel it their duty or obligation to help us.

Dear Abby

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I was pleased when you urged your readers to have their blood pressure checked. I wish you'd have added, "And one way to have it checked absolutely free is to become a blood donor. It's quick and painless, and should you have a disease that shows in your blood sample, you are promptly notified."

I donate blood twice a year. And I feel that I'm getting much more than I give.

DEAR DONOR: God love you. And readers, if you are between 17 and 65, you, too, can become a donor. The only bank in the world that would rather have your blood than your money is the Red Cross Blood Bank.

DEAR ABBY: I have a problem. Please don't give me a "try-it, you'll like it" answer because that's not the kind of help I need.

I will be in the eighth grade next year. (I'm a male.) I'll be going to a big public school. The law in our state (Calif.) says that every able-bodied student must take physical education, and that's where my problem comes in.

I HATE team sports, and there is no way to get out of baseball, football, etc. in P.E. Don't get me wrong: I like swimming and things like that. I'm not fat, and I DO exercise regularly so I am in good shape. But I detest sports that will make me a part of a team.

I don't want a lecture. I want to know how I can get out of team sports.

DEAR HATES: Unless you can persuade your P.E. teacher to allow you to substitute swimming at something you like for baseball, football and sports you dislike, I'm afraid you're stuck. Look at it this way: Doing something whether you like it or not is a good preparation for life. Don't fight it.

DEAR ABBY: I was engaged, and the wedding date was set 16 months ago. As the date drew near, I panicked. For some strange reason, marriage frightened me. I was sure I was in love with my fiancé, but I just couldn't go through with the wedding.

I had had some offers and received some beautiful and expensive shower gifts.

We decided to postpone the wedding. (Our wedding invitations were addressed—but never mailed.)

Now the marriage appears unlikely, although my fiancé says that he will wait for as long as I want him to.

The shower gifts are still in their original boxes, and it's doubtful that the people who sent them can take them back now. Also, those I've spoken to said, "Keep it. I can't use it."

Abby, please tell me what I should do at this late date about those shower gifts. I may marry him after all. And I may not.

DEAR UNDECIDED: Return the shower gifts. And should you marry the man, decline all offers of another shower.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "J" IN COLUMBUS, NEB.: When a man lists the reasons why he thinks the marriage is a "bad deal," beginning with, "I don't know of one good marriage," depend upon it, dear, he is subtly telling you that he has no intention of marrying YOU! Say goodbye while you're still young and desirable.

FROM YOUR NEIGHBOR'S KITCHEN

By VIVIAN FERGUSON

At this time of the year, I always receive requests for canning recipes. The produce is in abundance in backyard gardens and the market is full.

Truck gardeners about the area tell me they receive calls asking what is available for quantity sale on a particular day. If vegetables appeal to the caller, he'll go out to buy them for home canning or freezing.

The preservation of food has been important in man's survival. Primitive man died in great numbers until he discovered fire and the benefits of smoking meat. Salt was another method of preservation that helped him to survive.

With preservation, man was able to live in groups and to follow that will the herds of wild animals.

Some time later on, fermentation was learned and vinegar helped in the storage of foods. Before the use of sugar, honey was used to preserve. Fresh fruits were submerged in honey by the Romans. They covered the pork with a paste made of honey, salt and vinegar.

Both honey and sugar were expensive luxuries until the 19th century when home canning became popular. It was during this period that the famous Louis Pasteur performed his studies in bacteriology. He found that the exclusion of air from food was important to its preservation. It is air that carries living organisms. Science brought knowledge and the professional canning companies flourished.

I will not attempt in this column to give out advice on proper canning and freezing methods. Information can be secured through services such as the Toll-free County Extension Service. Pamphlets can be secured from the U.S. Government. The Ball Canning Co. publishes an excellent good-sized booklet which is sometimes difficult to secure as it sells out rapidly.

I suggest you invest in a good book on canning and freezing. Some have fine photographs showing how to do each step as well as the method for pressure-canning. One such is The Complete Book of Home Preserving by Ann Serrano published by Doubleday. In addition to canning and freezing, there are chapters on pickling and brining, smoking and curing, and how to build a simple drier.

For the fisherman, there is a section on canning fish and sea foods. Exact directions are given for canning fish chowders, white clams, oysters, etc.

Following is an old-fashioned conserve form the book: Blueberry Conserve

2 cup water
4 cups sugar
1/2 lemon, thinly sliced
1/2 orange, thinly sliced
1/2 cup raisins
4 cups blueberries

Bring water and sugar to a boil. Add lemon, orange and raisins, and simmer five minutes. Add blueberries and cook gently until conserve is quite thick, stirring frequently and being careful not to crush the berries. Pour into hot jars and seal.

Make tomatoes in abundance, make old-fashioned chili sauce. My husband loves this on baked beans and hot dogs. The recipe was given to me by Madge McPartland, formerly of Manchester, who now lives in Brewer, Mass. She got it from her mother-in-law, Mary named for my husband's late grandfather. She calls it simply: Relish

2 medium cabbages
2 quarts ripe tomatoes
2 quarts green tomatoes
1 quart onions
3 small sweet red peppers
2 bunches celery
2 cucumbers

Add 1/2 cup salt and let stand overnight. Drain well in the morning and add:
1 quart vinegar
3 lbs. brown sugar
1 teaspoon cinnamon
1/2 teaspoon ground cloves
1/2 cup mustard seed
Boil 1/2 hour. Bottle while hot in sterile jars. Makes about 12 pints.

Ingredients for Tricia's Relish
25 medium tomatoes
6 green peppers
1 or 2 hot peppers
8 medium onions
1 lb. sugar (2 cups)
1 teaspoon cinnamon
1 teaspoon allspice
1 teaspoon ground cloves
1/2 cup salt
Grind all together in grinder. Add vinegar. Boil to desired thickness (should cook down about 1/2). Place, while hot, in sterile jars and seal. Makes about 7 quarts.

Druckman's Tax Trip Delayed by Illness

The long-awaited appearance this week of Abraham Druckman of New York, to pay the delinquent Connecticut taxes he owes on his 111-401 Main St. property, will not be materialized, Tax Collector James Turk announced today.

Druckman said ill health caused him to cancel his planned trip. Druckman said also he's looking forward to coming to Manchester next week, to confer with town officials regarding the money he owes - about $21,000.

Turk said the tax liens placed against the property won't be lifted until the delinquent taxes are paid in full. He said he has no objection in the matter and must follow state regulations - which require payment in full.

State Man Implicated In Stock Fraud Case

NEW YORK (UPI) - A Connecticut man, six other former registered stock brokers, and a private investor were indicted Wednesday on charges of fraudulently inflating the over-the-counter price of securities in a martial arts school.

U.S. Attorney Paul J. Curran said the 42-count indictment involved stock and mail fraud in the sale of 194,700 shares in the securities of Jerome Mackey's Judo Inc. at a price of more than $1 million.

Mackey was named as an unindicted co-conspirator in the indictment. He was named in a separate indictment charging mail fraud earlier this year in Brooklyn Federal Court.

The indictment alleged that the defendants "artificially raised the bid price of Judo Inc. stock from approximately $1 per share to approximately $4 per share in 1973."

Curran said the major figure named in the indictment was Albert R. Coffey, 41, of Akron, Ohio, where he waived a federal extradition hearing Tuesday.

Coffey was among 10 persons named in federal indictments on conspiracy charges in the case of another day trader, James E. Carr III, 37, a private investor of St. Petersburg, Fla.

Former registered stockbrokers named in the indictment were: R. Bruce Buschbaum, 34, of Altamonte Springs, Fla.; Roger Drayer, 33, of New York City; Barry Drayer, 33, of New York, Conn.

Shirley A. Thompson, 17, of Hartford, charged Wednesday with fourth-degree larceny (shoplifting) at Shoe Town, Spencer St. Court date is Aug. 26.

David M. Monroe, 16, of Windsor, charged Wednesday afternoon with third-degree burglary and fourth-degree larceny in connection with a recent break. Similar charges were lodged by police at Park and Bloomfield, authorities said. Court date is Sept. 8.

Police discovered an attempted break into Ray Bolter's Music Shop, 1033 Main St., this morning. A hole was found in a front door window, with a trail of blood leading from the storefront to a parking lot behind the Manchester State Bank. Investigation is continuing.

Detroned as champions in the Silk City Slow Pitch Softball League by Trudon Volkswagen, Bogner's Packers gained the upper hand in the Town Class A Tournament last night at Robertson Park by trimming the champs, 7-4.

Holiday Lanes, Candlelight champions, sent Dick's Americans to the sidelines by an 11-7 score in the double elimination event. Dick's placed second in the North End loop.

Tonight at 7:30 at Fitzgerald Field, Holiday faces Trudon with the loser being eliminated. The winner will then face Bogner's at 8:45 for the championship.

Bogner's margin to a 4-0 lead in the first inning and upped the margin to 7-0 after four with three runs in the fourth.

Establishing a course record for third time in five weeks, former East Catholic High cross country standout Bob Clifford flashed home in 20:11 to pace the field over the Manchester Community College campus last night.

The Williams College captain-elect received his strongest competition from today with Rick Barry's fish designed pants among the flashiest. Ron Smith, Manchester golfer and now a pro in Maine, won 33 in the 19th UGO.

Dave Fradin sped to his fifth victory in earning the Open Division title. Fradin was undefeated in the 26-35 age brackets.

First to cross the finish line in the Women's Division was Val Poulin who established a standard with a 10:30 clocking. The state high school girls' champ wound up third in the final points standings, behind the runner, Ruth Veal, who placed second in the season standings.

Sharon Kelly, Dan Gardner and Larry Furbush rounded out the top five in the 12-18 age group. Capturing his first title after only two years of running was Don Roy in the Masters Division.

The Boston Marathon placed second last night but accumulated enough points to gain overall honors. Bob Russell, Jeff Coulter and Don Berghuis trailed Roy.

Football and track star Steve Dawson romped to a third straight win in the Juggers' Division and had to be content with fourth place in the final standings.

Another steady performance by Larry Furbush, Jim Eilke, Ed Kaytis, John Gray.

Teenage - Chris Walton 20:50, Matt Wallace, Eric Scott Moffat rounded out the top season point-getters in the 12-18 age group.

U.S. Attorney Paul J. Curran said the 42-count indictment involved stock and mail fraud in the sale of 194,700 shares in the securities of Jerome Mackey's Judo Inc. at a price of more than $1 million.

Mackey was named as an unindicted co-conspirator in the indictment. He was named in a separate indictment charging mail fraud earlier this year in Brooklyn Federal Court.

The indictment alleged that the defendants "artificially raised the bid price of Judo Inc. stock from approximately $1 per share to approximately $4 per share in 1973."

Curran said the major figure named in the indictment was Albert R. Coffey, 41, of Akron, Ohio, where he waived a federal extradition hearing Tuesday.

Coffey was among 10 persons named in federal indictments on conspiracy charges in the case of another day trader, James E. Carr III, 37, a private investor of St. Petersburg, Fla.

Former registered stockbrokers named in the indictment were: R. Bruce Buschbaum, 34, of Altamonte Springs, Fla.; Roger Drayer, 33, of New York City; Barry Drayer, 33, of New York, Conn.

Shirley A. Thompson, 17, of Hartford, charged Wednesday with fourth-degree larceny (shoplifting) at Shoe Town, Spencer St. Court date is Aug. 26.

David M. Monroe, 16, of Windsor, charged Wednesday afternoon with third-degree burglary and fourth-degree larceny in connection with a recent break. Similar charges were lodged by police at Park and Bloomfield, authorities said. Court date is Sept. 8.

Police discovered an attempted break into Ray Bolter's Music Shop, 1033 Main St., this morning. A hole was found in a front door window, with a trail of blood leading from the storefront to a parking lot behind the Manchester State Bank. Investigation is continuing.

Palmer Survives Rain To Post Two-Hit Win

NEW YORK (UPI) — Unlike those mechanical pitching machines to which he is often compared, Jim Palmer doesn't get rusty when it rains. The 29-year-old right-hander of the Baltimore Orioles weathered nearly three hours of rain delays Wednesday night but still managed to pitch his second two-hitter of the season while leading his club to a 2-0 victory over the Kansas City Royals.

Palmer, the major league's leading winner, notched his 18th victory and also posted his eighth shutout of the year which tied him for the club record set by Steve Barber in 1961. The only hits he allowed were a double by Bob Simon in the sixth inning and a single by Vada Pinson in the ninth. Simon hit the ball after a rain delay of two hours and eight minutes while Pinson came after another delay of 42 minutes.

Palmer, who has not lost since July 23, credits his current five-game winning streak to a change in his delivery.

"I'm not throwing my leg as high as used to," said Palmer. "I'm throwing the ball well, certainly as well as I ever have, and I have a great freedom of delivery.

"I feel I'm throwing the ball really well now, although I can't say whether the rain delay really hurt my chances for a no-hitter, but I wouldn't have thrown the same pitch to Stinson if it wasn't for the rain.

"I feel Boston is going to lose five or six more games than we are. So the key to catching them is just playing .750 baseball."

In other AL games, New York defeated Oakland 5-1, California defeated Detroit 6-3 in 11 innings, Chicago nipped Cleveland 4-3 in 12 innings and Minnesota downed Milwaukee 5-2.

Yankees 3, A's 1
Jim "Catfish" Hunter tossed a three-hitter for his 15th victory in pitching New York over Oakland. It was Hunter's third straight triumph this season. He shouldered the load of two hours and eight minutes while Pinson came after another delay of 42 minutes.

IOC Out to Settle Television Dispute

BRUSSELS (UPI) — The International Olympic Committee is expected to step into the dispute which threatens to rob 100 million viewers across the world of television pictures from the Montreal Olympic Games, according to IOC sources.

The dispute is between the Montreal organizing committee (COJO) and the world's broadcasting networks outside North America. Negotiations over the games will go ahead as scheduled.

But IOC officials argued that both sides in the dispute will come under pressure unless some agreement was worked out. COJO, facing a growing deficit in its budget, has needs the reverse to balance its books. The IOC will apply pressure because it normally receives a share of the television fee which it shares with the international sports federations and national Olympic committees to help run affairs in their own countries.

The networks may come under pressure from the public which will want to see the Olympics and which has become accustomed to better presented and more comprehensive coverage of sports events during the last decade.

The worldwide networks, which include the European Broadcasting Union, the Eastern European Intervention, and the Arab Television Union, expected an audience of more than 100 million next July.

COJO officials argued that with that kind of audience, their fee was perfectly reasonable and amounted to about 10 cents for each viewer's set.

"That is cheap entertainment, and we have no intention of subsidizing any network," said COJO president Roger Sabidoze earlier this summer.

But the networks argue that they are not in a position to raise that kind of money. BBC director Charles Curran, who has been leading the networks' negotiating team, pointed out that North American television companies could recover the money by raising their advertising revenues.

Many European networks, Curran said, work on a fixed government budget.

Score Board Davis Cuppers Need Connors

MILWAUKEE (UPI) — Personal feelings aside, Arthur Ashe says he believes Jimmy Connors would be "an invaluable asset" to the United States Davis Cup team.

"I think it will be very difficult for Connors not to play on Wimbledon finalists which were capped by Connors' lawsuit against Ashe for several million dollars.

"Connors has created a lot of mental, physical and emotional anguish to friends of mine (with his various lawsuits)," Ashe said. "Then he hits me with one. How would you expect me to feel?"

Ashe also downplayed his participation in special challenge matches for large amounts of money and emotionally, and the addition of Connors to the team would enable the U.S. to always have fresh players on the court.

However, Ashe admitted he personally didn't get along well with Connors.

"I don't get along with Connors in my life. At one tournament this year our lockers were mixed and he was right away from the imposters."

"Secondly, if I have too many of these things I will take away from the imposters."

Cluster Development Approved by Council

VERNON — The Town Council Tuesday night voted to accept open space land in a proposed cluster development located on Center Rd. The developer is U & R Constructors of Manchester.

The Center Rd. open space area involves about 2.5 acres. Town Planner John Loranger explained that the area is wetland and it would be impractical to fill it as it would cause a downstream problem.

Noting that there is no playground area in the neighborhood of the development, Loranger suggested that the developer provide some small playground equipment, picnic tables and such, on a portion of the land and to fence it with rustic fencing so there would just be pedestrian access.

He said the Planning Commission has already approved the Center Rd. proposal with several stipulations concerning the open space land.

The Boulder Ridge open space land was first by developer George Risley, who is also involved in the proposed

AREA POLICE REPORT

ELLINGTON
Richard Hewins of Stafford Springs was charged Wednesday night with reckless operation in connection with the investigation of an accident on Crystal Lake.

Police said Hewins, who was pulling a water skier, struck the front of a boat being operated by Alexander Duclos of Hartford.

Police said Duclos was pulling slowly away from the town's boat launch when struck. He was taken to Hartford Hospital for treatment of a head laceration and a broken wrist, police said.

Hewins is scheduled to appear in Common Pleas Court, 19, Rockville, Sept. 2.

Councilman Requests Campaign Signs Rule

VERNON
Are campaign signs that can be seen from a polling place legal?

Town Attorney Abbot Schwedel has been asked by the Vernon Town Council to issue a written opinion concerning the placement of political camaign signs as they pertain to polling places.

Councilman F. Richard MacDonald made the request for the written opinion at the council meeting Tuesday night noting that he knows that the legal distance is 75 feet from a polling place for placement of campaign signs.

Rate Rises Will Vary At Hospital

VERNON
Rockville General Hospital has been granted a 4.5 per cent rate increase by the Commission on Hospitals and Health Care but it will not mean rates will go up 4.5 per cent across the board, Robert Boardman, administrator said today.

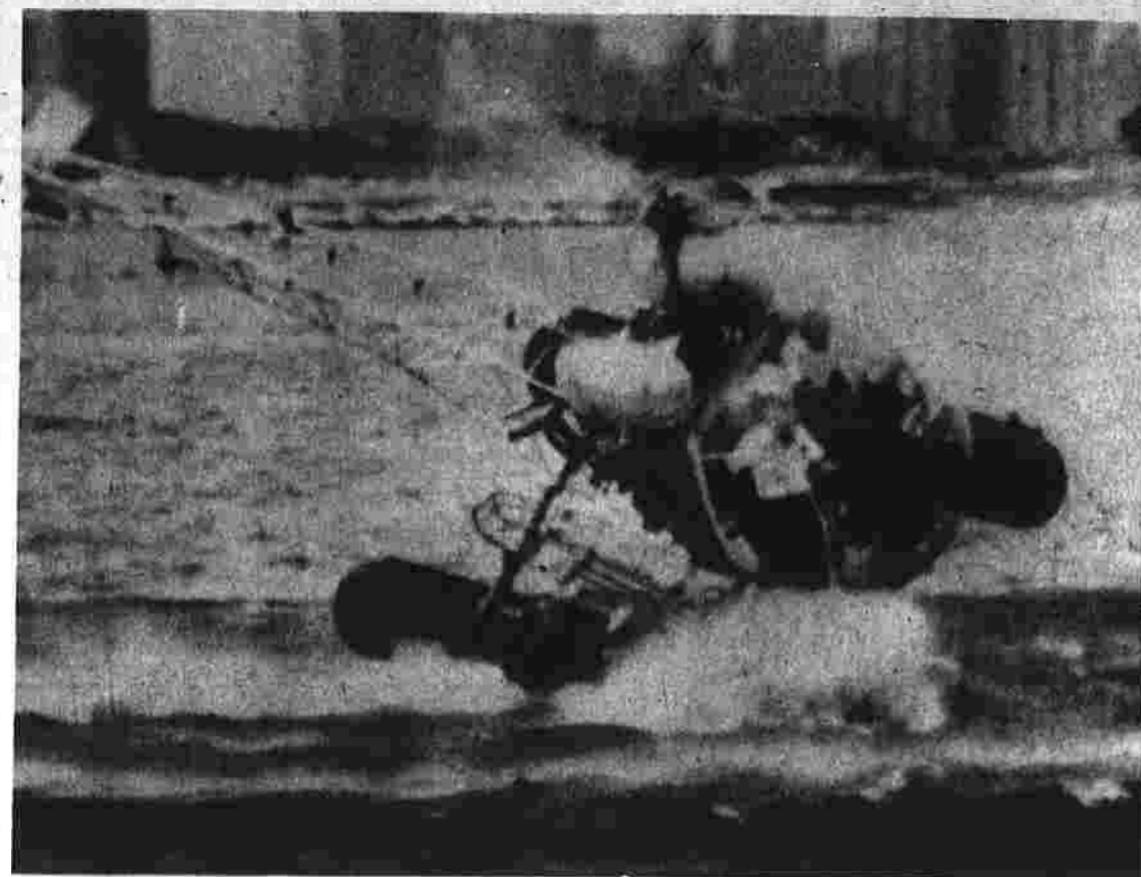

Boardman said the hospital requested the 4.5 per cent figure, which was the lowest percentage requested from hospitals throughout the state.

The average price increases amounted to 8.5 per cent and several hospitals had their requests rejected completely and will go to hearings to be conducted by the commission next week.

Boardman said the daily rate for semi-private rooms at Rockville will increase from $88 to $91 starting Oct. 1. He said maternity room rates will stay at $50 and pediatrics will remain at $69.50.

Boardman said increases will be made in operating room facilities, the pharmacy, laboratory, and such. He said these costs will probably go up about six per cent.

Rate increases granted the hospitals will be used to finance increases in wages for hospital employees as well as to offset the increase in price of food, pharmaceutical supplies, radiology equipment, medical and surgical supplies and such.

Helicopter Crashes

He said, however, he wants Atty. Schwedel to research all aspects such as signs on cars parked where they can be seen by voters at a polling place.

MacDonald, a Republican, said he was referring to signs such as "re-elect John Jones."

Democrat Peter Humphry, with tongue-in-cheek, said, "First of all I object to the word re-elect."

A Chicago Fire Department helicopter demonstrating routine air-sea rescue techniques crashed into Lake Michigan Wednesday killing one fire fighter and injuring two others. Fire Department diver Charles Theil hangs onto pontoon of the helicopter as it crashes into the lake. The two pilots had just picked up Theil when the craft tilted and a rotor blade hit the water. GOP Resolution Backs Fire Study

VERNON
The Republican Town Committee gave its unanimous support Wednesday night to the referendum question for an appropriation of $725,000 to support recommendations of the Fire Study Committee's report.

The Town Council passed a resolution in June concerning the appropriation and a public hearing conducted later lent more support than opposition to the proposal.

The referendum is scheduled for Sept. 9 from noon to 8 p.m.

The money, if appropriated, will provide for the construction of an addition to the existing Vernon Center firehouse; the purchase of two aerial trucks and a pumper; and provide funds to accomplish tying in with the Tolland County Mutual Aid dispatch system.

The town committee also voted to put the name of Robert Romejko on the state for the November election. Romejko will replace Gardner Ruggles who had previously been endorsed to run for selectman.

Ruggles withdrew his name as he felt he could not devote the time necessary to the campaign.

Romejko, who lives on 55th St., is a former member of the Planning Commission. He is a member of the town committee and has been active in helping other candidates in previous campaigns.

Heavy Rain
When seven inches of rain fell within 30 minutes at Cambridge, Ohio, one day in July, 1914, the air was so full of water that anyone stepping outdoors found it virtually impossible to breathe. It was one of the severest rainstorms ever recorded in the United States.

Solon Accused Of Violating Ethics Code

HARTFORD (UPI) — Rep. Harold G. Harlow, R-Litchfield, a bank vice president, has been accused of violating legislative ethics by voting on banking-related bills.

The accusation filed Wednesday with the legislature's Ethics Committee is the first sworn complaint against a state legislator since the Code of Ethics law took effect two years ago.

Mark H. Dougherty, a Democrat who ran against Harlow in the 1974 election, said the lawmaker violated seven sections of the ethics law.

He said Harlow, a vice president of Colonial Bank and Trust of Waterbury, voted on several banking bills in violation of conflict of interest statutes. Harlow denied the charges and said he welcomes an investigation to "finally get this aired." Dougherty made similar charges during the election campaign.

Where Did We Put Those Warranties?

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (UPI) — John Neilson, launch director at the Kennedy Space Center, was half an hour late to a news conference Wednesday to announce a drained battery had forced a further delay in the Viking launch.

He was late because his car wouldn't start. "The battery was dead as a doornail," Neilson said.
