Well worth waiting for

The weather was near-perfect, the price was right and the offerings delicious as thousands of Manchester area residents took advantage of a double-header eat-out Friday. In the top picture is the line of customers waiting to be served at the fish fry at Frank's Market. After the

Fish fry, peach festival successes

Thousands of hungry, happy people attended the fish fry at Frank's Supermarket off E. Middle Pike, and the Eighth District Peach Festival in the North End Friday afternoon and evening. Both appear to be bigger successes than last year from early reports.

Frank Tornaquindici, owner of Frank's, said today the fish fry netted about $1,200, more than $200 above last year.

A fireman at the district said this morning it appears they may have had their "best year ever." Figures are not all in, he said.

The fish fry was sponsored by Frank's, the Manchester Jaycees, and the Greater Manchester Chamber of Commerce. It was to provide funds for the chamber's Youth Awareness Week and a cardiac arrest machine for Manchester Memorial Hospital.

Jaycees, employees of Frank's, and employees of the Gorton Fish Co. served dinners of fish and chips, soda, ice cream, and cake for 50 cents. The first dinner was served about 4 p.m. and the last about 7 p.m.

The 18th annual peach festival is run by firemen of the district and their families in order to provide funds for uniforms and other needs of the volunteers.

Chief Ted Lingard of the district said this morning the firemen sold over 3,000 peach desserts at $1 each and gave away to children under age 6 several hundreds more.

Their figures are not complete yet. But he said they have netted about one third of their gross income in past years. This would mean they did about as well as the fish fry.

"It was a big success," Lingard said. Capt. Thomas Tomkunus was chairman of the event this year. His staff began serving at 6 p.m.

There was entertainment and door prizes. The two events may have conflicted with each other but it is hard to tell by the figures. Both succeeded.

Tornaquindici said his people urged many fish and chips buyers to attend the peach festival. He went over himself for a peach treat after his last dinner was served.

State school fund aid still invalid

HARTFORD (UPI) — In spite of extra money expected to come from an instant lottery scheme, a Superior Court judge says Connecticut's school financing program is still unconstitutional.

However, state Attorney General Carl

Ajello said Friday the state is continuing its original appeal of a decision last December by Judge Jay Rubinow that declared Connecticut school financing illegal.

A new ruling by Rubinow, disclosed Friday, said the $7 million special school aid plan approved by the legislature this year isn't enough to bring state financing into line.

If the state loses its appeal of Rubinow's original decision, lawmakers may have to come up with considerably more than $7 million to equalize educational spending in Connecticut's 169 towns.

The suit against the present method of financing, based chiefly on local property

Former Greek leaders given death sentence

ATHENS, Greece (UPI) — Former Greek dictator George Papadopoulos and two former members of his government were found guilty of high treason and sentenced to death today for the 1967 overthrow of democracy in Greece.

A special appeal court, after 45 minutes of deliberation, sentenced Papadopoulos and codefendants Stylianos Pattakos and Nikolaos Makarezos to death by firing squad.

They stood motionless as presiding Judge Ioannis Deyannis read the death sentence, their faces betraying no emotions.

After pronouncing sentence, Judge Deyannis told the defendants they could appeal within the next five days.

Papadopoulos, 56, former tank commander Stylianos Pattakos, 63, and former artillery colonel Makarezos, 56, were accused of masterminding and leading the April 21, 1967 coup. Pattakos and Makarezos became deputy premiers under Papadopoulos who ruled Greece under a military dictatorship from 1967 to late 1973.

During their trial, they took full responsibility for their actions and refused to defend themselves.

As the defendants were led from the courtroom, newsmen asked Papadopoulos what he thought about the sentences.

"No comment," the former dictator replied in a steady voice. "All is fine," said Pattakos as he followed Papadopoulos out.

The court also found 15 of the other 17 defendants guilty of high treason and participation in the military takeover.

It sentenced eight of them to life in prison and gave the other seven sentences ranging from 20 to 5 years in jail. Two defendants were acquitted for lack of evidence.

Among those sentenced to life in prison was Dimitrios Ioannides, the former military police commander who, in November 1973, ousted Papadopoulos when Papadopoulos began leading Greece toward parliamentary elections.

Ioannides assumed a behind-the-scenes strongman role but his regime collapsed July 23, 1974 after Turkey invaded Cyprus in the wake of the Athens-inspired coup that temporarily ousted Archbishop Makarios, the Cypriot president.

The current Greek premier, Constantine Caramanlis, returned the following day from self-imposed exile in Paris to head Greece's new democratic government.

The high treason trial of Papadopoulos and 19 of his closest associates in the coup began July 28 in a special room of tightly guarded Korydallos prison in Piraeus.

Use of fire truck challenged

Town firemen distribute messages in Buckland

Uniformed, paid fire fighters of the Town Fire Department Friday afternoon distributed messages door-to-door to residential and commercial properties in the Buckland area. They explain the services, personnel and equipment of the department and invite the area people to inspect the town's modern facilities and equipment.

"Due to possible misinformation and recent inquiries about the Town Fire Department," reads the letter, "uniformed, professional fire fighters of the Town of Manchester Fire Department are bringing you this message today."

The men are members of Professional Fire Fighter Local 1579, AFL-CIO.

A report that the town fire fighters were using a town fire truck to distribute letters was called in to town director Vivian Ferguson by a district fire fighter.

Mrs. Ferguson called Assistant Town Manager Charles McCarthy, acting manager while Robert Weiss is on vacation, and asked him to check into the report.

McCarthy, in turn, called Town Fire Chief John Rivoso, who verified the report. Rivoso ordered the fire truck withdrawn and returned to its station.

McCarthy explained that the fire truck being utilized is one proposed to be housed in the new Buckland Firehouse when it is constructed. The equipment, he said, was being exhibited as one of the pieces that would service the Buckland area.

The letters list the number of paid personnel, fire trucks and firehouses in the Town Fire Department, tell of the services performed, the training given the personnel and the advantages of the planned Buckland Firehouse.

It claims, also, "Information has been obtained from the proper insurance authorities indicating that certain types of commercial property, when serviced by the Town Fire Department, should realize an 8 per cent to 10 per cent reduction in insurance premiums."

Eighth District Fire Chief Ted Lingard questioned the action, saying the district still was under contract to provide fire protection to the Buckland area.

District firemen called it a "harassment" action.

The issue has grown out of a town decision to build a firehouse in Buckland and end its contract with the district.

Since those plans became known months ago, the district has voted to annex Buckland; the town has opened bids for the firehouse.

Monday, Mayor John Thompson reported the low bidder — Fred Brunell & Sons of Avon — has agreed to hold firm on the bid price of $233,000 until Oct. 7 while legal ramifications are studied.

Town Counsel William Bronell has said his office should have a report ready for town directors by the first of next week.

Mayor Thompson has asked district leaders to reconsider annexation action.

News summary

WASHINGTON — President Ford is thinking of using a quasi-public corporation to lead the national effort aimed at finding new energy sources and freeing the United States from dependence on foreign oil.

HARTFORD — State energy agency director Lynn Alan Brooks, contradicting pessimists, predicts that natural gas supplies will be adequate in Connecticut this winter and there will be no large increases in gasoline prices.

VAIL, Colo. — President Ford is winding up a 15-day working vacation here with staff meetings and a round of golf. Sunday he will fly to Kootenai, Mont., to dedicate a hydroelectric plant at Libby Dam and discuss energy with Donald McDonald, Canadian energy minister. After an overnight stop in Chicago and a Monday visit to Milwaukee, Ford will return to Washington.

CLEVELAND — The complex $14 million Kent State University civil damages suit was sent to the jury for its verdict Friday. It will decide whether state officials and national guardsmen should be held responsible for the death of four students and the wounding of nine others during an antiwar rally more than five years ago.

WASHINGTON — With a "yes" vote running more than 3 to 1, approval of a new three-year contract by the nation's largest postal union is expected tonight. Acceptance will require first-class postage rates to increase from 10 to 13 cents by the end of the year, according to postal officials.

ANN ARBOR, Mich. — The FBI has doubted its force of agents hunting for a possible psychopath who may have deliberately injected a paralyzing drug into at least 15 persons at a Veterans Administration hospital.

ALEXANDRIA, Egypt — Secretary of State Henry Kissinger, reporting progress in his talks with Egyptian and Israeli officials, took time out today for a diplomatic detour to Damascus to try to mollify Syrian President Hafez Assad's opposition to a Sinal accord and assure him the United States seeks peace on the Golan front as well.

LONGBEACH, Calif. — The mystery spy ship Glomar Explorer, which two days ago sailed away for secret maneuvers off the Southern California coast, is then more secret than anyone realized. Its whereabouts since it left is unknown and whoever knows isn't telling.

WASHINGTON — American and Russian officials have been meeting in Washington in negotiations designed to persuade Moscow to pay higher fees to American shippers carrying U. S. grain to Russian ports. The current rate of $9.50 a ton is considered unrealistically low.

Giles proposes projects using surplus funds

Director of Public Works Jay Giles is proposing that $21,000 of the $21,896 left over in the sum allocated for Hilliard St. reconstruction be used for four other projects, as follows:

- $9,000 for paving the area on Center St. where the Trotter Block once stood and for constructing an exit to Center St., west of the Central Firehouse.

- $1,000 for "Welcome to Manchester" signs at the Glasbury, East Hartford, South Windsor, Vernon and Bolton town lines. Lettering on the other side, Giles said, could be "Welcome to (the town being entered)," with that town sharing half the cost of the sign. He said Glasbury and Bolton have replied favorably to the proposal.

- $2,000 for repairs to Verplanck, Waddell and Swanson Pools. The sum is for materials only. The labor would be by town forces.

- $9,000 for ramps for the handicapped at several polling places — Manchester High School, Buckley School, Verplanck School and Waddell School. Giles said the concrete work would be by the town's sidewalk contractor and the wood ramping for the voting machines by town forces.

In 1973, the Board of Directors allocated $221,000 from revenue-sharing funds for Hilliard St. reconstruction — from Broad St. east to the railroad tracks.

Giles attributed the $21,896 saving to economy measures taken — reduction in pavement thickness, re-use of existing granite curbing and elimination of the item calling for reconstruction of the railroad crossing.

Giles' recommendations will require Board of Directors' approval.

Typhoon slashes southwest Japan

TOKYO (UPI) — Typhoon Rita slashed across southwest Japan today, bringing death, landslides and torrential rains, and then wheeled around for a second punch at the northern part of the country.

The storm hit Shikoku, smallest of the main Japanese islands, early today. It then smashed into the city of Kobe, crossed the main island of Honshu, and headed into the Japan Sea.

Weathermen said Rita has shifted to a northeast course and will land agal on the northern tip of Honshu Sunday.

The Japan Broadcasting Corporation reported that 11 persons were known dead and nine others were missing, most of them in Tokushima province on Shikoku island. It said 108 houses were completely destroyed and more than 18,000 others damaged.

State doctors delay slowdown

HARTFORD (UPI) — Doctors at four state mental hospitals have put aside threats of work slowdowns at least until they get a look at details of a state wage offer to offset lost fringe benefits.

The 70 doctors would have refused to work overtime Friday but postponed the action at least until Monday afternoon, when they expect to get the state proposal in writing and with detailed dollar amounts, said Dr. Patrick Lee of Connecticut Valley Hospital in Middletown.

Finance Commissioner Jay O. Tepper and Dr. Lee said the state proposed contained no detailed wage figures, and instead it was only a promise to raise the state's salaries to make them comparable to those offered by neighboring states.

Tepper said he would work over the weekend to "cost out" the proposal, or compute the increases that will be required to make the state wages competitive.

Tepper said he approved the wage hikes because the doctors would be losing valuable fringe benefits with the planned elimination of the so-called Griffenhagen plan. It provided low-cost food and housing benefits to professionals employed by the state.

"We must pay enough to attract doctors and physicians to Connecticut, but we don't want to overpay or underpay," Tepper said.

"The proposal was that of compatibility with other states and the need to attract new staffers," Lee said.

Lee said the physicians will decide Monday whether the state's offer is acceptable.

Lee spoke to newsmen after a 15-minute meeting at the State Capitol with representatives for doctors at the three other state mental hospitals in Newtown, Norwich and Meriden.

Newsmen were not allowed into the meeting or the one which preceded it with Tepper, state Personnel Commissioner Frederic Rossumando and other state officials.

The doctors had threatened not to work more than the 35 hours a week their contracts call for, and to skip the one hour of unpaid overtime they said they usually work every day.

The physicians began demanding wage hikes after Gov. Ella T. Grasso called for the elimination of the Griffenhagen Plan. She has said the plan costs Connecticut about $2.8 million a year.

The plan was established during the Depression Era, to attract professional employees to the state with non-monetary fringe benefits.

Cubs end season at Camp Johnson

A six-week day camp for area Cub Scouts recently ended its season at Camp Johnson in Bolton.

The eight, nine and 10 year olds attending were from Manchester, Bolton, Andover, Torrton, Hartford, Hebron, Vernon, Rockville, South Windsor, East Hartford, Glastonbury, Enfield and Marlborough. The camp marked an average of 80 boys per day throughout the summer.

The Cubs had a little of everything each day including swimming, nature, hikes, arts and crafts and campcraft. During free periods, Cubs could play games or work to improve their campcraft. The nature program consisted of hikes and teaching the Cubs how to recognize trees and wildlife. This program taught the Cubs respect for our natural resources.

During their daily free periods, the Cubs often labored with leaf-toss, tree houses, tables and chairs. Rope was used in place of nails. Each day a different Cub Scout theme was used for craft projects. Some themes include "Environmental Science," "Indian Lore," "Circles," "Transportation" and "American Heritage."

Swimming instruction was given daily along with recreational swimming. Staff employees include Mrs. Kelly Emnis, camp director; Bill Worthen, program director; Ellen Vanine, arts & crafts director; Ellen Anderson, waterfront director; Gregory Emnis and Jeffrey Emnis, lifeguards & rangers; Bill Boyley, maintenance.

Staff nurses include Mrs. Kay LaFarga, Mrs. Brenda Knickerbocker, Mrs. Nancy Dionne, Mrs. Barbara Musinski and Mrs. Sandra Barrery.

Counselors include Gregory Saunier, Buddy Gagliano, Edward Gadavory, Alan Porter, Stuart MacGruder, Gregory Jones, James Whitehouse, Mark Wells and David Sorenson.

Camp Johnson is run by Long Rivers Council, Boy Scouts of America.

Cub Scouts have a lively game of kickball at Camp Johnson, off Hop River Rd., Bolton. About 80 Manchester area Cub Scouts attended the camp each day this summer. The day camp is conducted annually by Long Rivers Council, Boy Scouts of America, with camp counselors from all Boy Scouts from area towns. (Herald photo by Pinto)

A number of volunteers assisted in carrying out this outstanding program for boys. These volunteers include Bill Aiden, Frank J. Emnis, Tom and Gay Mertz, Ann Madden, Tom Griswold, Patty Bouley, Kathy Jourdanis and Tammy Morand.

The 65-acre site, located off Hop River Rd. in Bolton, was donated for the use of scouts in 1957 by Mr. and Mrs. Johnson. The camp is used throughout the year for cub and scout activities.

At the final day of camp, Mrs. Barbara Gordon of Hartford, made cakes for the entire camp.

NEWS FOR SENIOR CITIZENS

Hi everyone! Just a reminder that next week, although we are closed to activities, we are open for routine business. We will be busy helping in the upstairs of our building, plus ordering supplies, running off different stencils for the new season.

Jim will be busy getting the floors done in the main hall, plus sprucing up the rest of the building.

We will be doing with champagne punch with cheese and crackers on our arrival, then served Continental roasted turkey with gravy and cranberry sauce. We will be serving a great job helping us out.

Speaking of Tom, I was over to see him Tuesday afternoon and he is coming along real well. He expects to be discharged in a few days at all most well.

Thursday the summer bowlers were knocking over the pins at the air-conditioned Parkade Lanes.

Pinocchio had eight tables playing pinocle with these lucky winners: Alreda H20, Wilford Mestier, 588; Al Chelmas, 576; Grace Windsor, 561; Martha LaBate, 545; Cecil Benson, 548; Wesley Frost, 545; Audrey Duray, and George Last, 539.

In the afternoon we had five tables for playing pinocle with the following winners: Jack Owen, 540; Dorothy Adair, 420; George Valton, 378; Nadine Malone, 370; William Lucas and Joseph Schmitt, 350.

Shuffleboard was had quite a few playing shuffleboard. It was an ideal day for it, with the sun shining brightly with low humidity.

Speaking of shuffleboard, the Manchester Jaycees are sponsoring a shuffleboard tournament for the seniors the week of Sept. 15. We will have two divisions, a beginners and an advanced one. There are prizes for the best players which will be provided by them. If you wish to participate, please stop in the office and sign up so we can determine how many days we will need to set it up.

In the afternoon we played cards and more games and just enjoyed ourselves.

Just a reminder again that we are registering for our trip to the Inn on Lake Waramaug. This is a lovely inn that knows how to please senior citizens. We will be doing with champagne punch with cheese and crackers on our arrival, then served Continental roasted turkey with gravy and cranberry sauce. We will be serving a great job helping us out.

We will be entertained by Adolph, the piano player. We will play bingo, have arm chair massages, and if you choose, take a cruise around the lake in the showboat. We are limited to two buses, so be early.

Now remember, those leaving for the Lawrence Walk should be here promptly at 6:45 p.m. Buses will leave at 7 p.m.

Also on Thursday, I want you people going to Stanley Park to be at the Center at 9:45 in the morning. We will return about 4 o'clock in the afternoon. I am sorry there are not more people going because if everything we have been promised is given to us, I am sure by word of mouth we will have six buses going next year.

Thanks, volunteers. It's that time when we want to thank all the loyal volunteers who have served in various jobs to aid the staff and other seniors. You have all done a splendid job, and we will be calling on you again soon. Next week we will announce the new committees for September and October.

Let us know if you want to volunteer. Just speak to Wally or me, and we will put your name on the list.

Speaking of volunteers, my special thanks this week go to Pauline Maynard for helping out with the trip to the inn.

Baptists to sponsor Mike Coyle concert

Mike Coyle of St. Peterburg, Fla., tenor soloist and considered one of the world's top French horn virtuosos, will present a concert of sacred music Sunday at 7 p.m. at Faith Baptist Church, which meets at Orange Hall, 72, Center St.

The concert is open to the public. There will be no admission charge, but a free will offering will be received.

Coyle appears regularly before Bible conferences, colleges, religious conventions and service clubs in many areas throughout the world. He has been frequent guest musician on the "Day of Discovery" television program.

In 1969, Philip Parkas, an authority on French horn, included Coyle in a study of the world's top 40 French horn virtuosos.

Coyle's interest in the French horn began at the age of 14 and two years later he was playing at home. He has been in the orchestra. Before he was 25, his musical experiences included performance conducted by such noted directors as Arthur Fiedler of the Boston Pops, Leonard Bernstein of the New York Philharmonic, and Dr. Howard Hanson of the Eastman School of Music, Rochester, N.Y. He also has performed with several popular musicians.

Today is Saturday, August 23, the 235th day of 1975 with 130 to follow.

The moon is between its full phase and last quarter.

The morning stars are Mars, Jupiter and Saturn.

The evening stars are Mercury and Venus.

Those born on this date are under the sign of Virgo. American General Jonathan Wainwright, hero of Bataan in the Pacific Theater of World War II, was born August 23, 1883. This is also the date of birth of American bandleader Bob Crosby (1913) and dancer-actor Gene Kelly (1912).

On this day in history:
In 1924, Mrs. Miriam "Ma" Ferguson won the Democratic nomination for governor of Texas. In November, she became the first elected woman governor of a state.

In 1926, hundreds of thousands mourned the death of movie idol Rudolph Valentino.

In 1968, a U.N. resolution condemned the Soviet bloc invasion of Czechoslovakia...but Russia vetoed it in the Security Council.

sister, Beth, went on a month's camping trip through the Scandinavian countries this summer. (Herald photo by Tompkins)

Gary Hohenthal will return to family in Germany Sunday

A 17-year-old boy from Germany has been spending the summer with his grandparents in Manchester.

Gary Hohenthal, who is a native of the Manchester area, has been living in Germany for three years where his father, Eric, is an assistant principal in Heilbronn under the jurisdiction of the Department of Defense.

While Gary lived with his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Elmore Hohenthal of 44 Ridgewood St., he also worked for his uncle, Norman Hohenthal, doing lawn work, painting, and other odd jobs.

Gary's visit to Manchester was the result of a choice between two offers for his summer vacation. The other one was to go with his parents on a 4,000-mile camping tour of the Scandinavian countries.

Life in Germany offers many of the same diversities for a teen-age boy as the United States. For instance, skiing. Because the area where Gary lived is poor for skiing, he has to go about four hours out of the area to find good conditions.

Gary, joined a group from the American Youth Association who went skiing in the Austrian Alps near Kitzbühl — for three days. During the Christmas holiday, he spent a week skiing on a Tyrolean Tour in Austria — with his family.

"There isn't much fishing in our area, nor hunting. The Germans aren't much for that," said Gary.

Speaking of school and education, Gary has had a couple of college interviews since he came to Manchester. He will be a senior this next year. He prefers going to college in the states.

"Most European kids go on to technical schools," he said.

Not too sure what he will be, he talks of being a lawyer with a political science background. "I might like to be a politician," he says, although he adds, "It could be tough to be a straight lawyer and a politician."

Gary modestly admits he was one of two picked from his class last year to attend a four-day science symposium in Heidelberg.

Living in Germany has helped develop Gary's taste for some special German dishes. His mouth waters as he talks about

Fanny was funny but movie wasn't

By SOL R. COHEN

It takes an uninhibited child to say the things we grownups don't seem to want to say, like in the story, "The Emperor's Clothes," where it took a child to say it out loud that the Emperor wasn't wearing any.

Last week, we took our six-year-old grandson to see "Funny Lady."

Now, everyone who remembers knows that Fanny Brice indeed was funny. But, take "Funny Lady," and before that, "Funny Girl."

To most viewers, "Funny Girl" seemed funny much of the time, because Barbra Streisand made us believe it. But, "Funny Lady" is something else again.

All through the movie our grandson kept asking, "When will it get funny?" And, for hours after, he asked, "Why did they call it funny?"

Well, you know something? He's got something there. Barbra sings and emotes and cries and looks horrified, or surprised, or hurt or whatever. She gets cheated out of love, gets pushed into thinking she's in love, and falls into one divorce and then another.

But we ask you, how often is she funny? We don't mean references to her being funny—like telling us what a success she was as Baby Snooks. Come to think of it, maybe they're saving that part for a third movie, like "Funny Baby" maybe?

As for the movie, even when Barbra isn't front and center, it employs an old burlesque trick of using mishap after mishap (to scenery, lighting, tangled hairdos, tripping dancers, and the like) as an excuse for comedy.

But, is it? We don't think so. As a musical, it's a great extravaganza and a marvelous background for Miss Streisand's magnificent voice. As for, "Why did they call it funny?"

Barbra Streisand is "Funny Lady," now playing at Manchester area theaters.

"funny?", we don't know. And, you have to believe this. Until we were asked the question, and by a six-year-old child yet, we were ready to believe the word belonged in the title. Out of the mouths of babes!

Stamps and coins

By Russ MacKendrick

It's the tourist season—A quick trip to Prince Edward Island in the Gulf of the St. Lawrence.

Although they issued 40 or 50 varieties of copper tokens, starting in 1840, this bronze cent was their only attempt at a decimal coinage. About a million were struck and they aren't scarce in this area.

Note the difference between the face of the P.E.I. piece and the Canadian large cent. The former says "Victoria Queen...1871" instead of "Victoria Dei Gratia Regina Canada." It is the only coin from up that way that doesn't hit us with Latin for the royal title.

They do parade their Latin on the reverse. There is an oak tree sheltering three saplings, with the inscription "Parva Sub Ingenti" (freely translated "Little Under Big"). The threesome stands for the countries of the island.

You may have heard of the Prince Edward Island holey dollars. They date from 1813 when a thousand Spanish coins were punched out to make doughnuts. The holes, after counter-marking, circulated for one shilling and the rings for five shillings. Either item is now cataloged at $1,000. Forgeries abound.

The Islanders had their own stamps from 1861 until July, 1873, at which time the colony became a province of Canada.

There are 16 catalog numbers given by Scott and 47 by Gibbons. The Gibbons people have a fine eye for micro-tints like yellow-orange versus brown-orange. They can pick up a bluish-lilac, dull mauve, lilac, and a reddish-mauve where Scott lumps them all together as "violet."

This is bearable, but the maddening part begins when they go into perforations in comparisons of 11 and 11½-12 and so on.

At any rate they both agree on a total of 13 designs. These are mainly a bunch of drabs. The only one with a trace of charm is the 4½-pence young Queen Victoria, full-face, in a soft brown.

There is nothing as good as the variety we get from their offshore neighbor, New Brunswick.

There is an extra twist to P.E.I. stamps in that many of them bring more used than mint, so concerted cancellations are plentiful.

The real gems are the half-stamps tied to covers. It was legal to snip a 4-penny one crosswise when all you needed was a 2-penny.

Certain of these covers proved to be worthy of faking by the famous south-of-the-border artist, Raoul de Thuin, who was retired after much angst by the efforts of the American Philatelic Society. Some P.E.I. bisects were prominent in his offerings at bargain prices.

84th convention

The 84th Anniversary Convention of the American Numismatic Association is going on right now in Los Angeles as attested to by a 184-page edition of Coin World. The best thing to see, perhaps, beyond the 1873-CC No Arrows quarter, (being offered at $500,000), would be the uncirculated 1792 half-dime ("No, dad, say it like 'dime'").

This was the first official issue of the United States Mint, made from the private plate supplied by George Washington.

Summer meeting

The Manchester Philatelic Society will have another summer meeting, with circuit books, at Mott's Community Hall, 7 to 10 p.m., Tuesday, Aug. 26.

Does she...?

"Do I look like a prostitute? The question came from actress Sylvia Miles, who has played hookers in almost all of her 14 movies at 26 off-Broadway plays. "ME? I don't think I look like one. I sure don't behave like a hooker except when I'm playing the part," she said.

Nancy Marchand and Stephen Elliott appear as Mary and Benjamin Lassiter in "Beacon Hill," premiering on CBS-TV Monday at 9 p.m. and moving to Tuesdays, starting Sept. 2, at 10 p.m. The new series depicts the intertwined lives of a rich, influential Boston Irish-American family and its staff of servants in the 1920s.

Paul Rudd portrays Brian Mallory, newly arrived Irishman who becomes a chauffeur, in CBS-TV's "Beacon Hill." The network is advising viewer discretion due to mature themes in the new series.

'Beacon Hill' by CBS is a super soap opera

By JOAN HANAUER

NEW YORK (UPI) — "Beacon Hill," one of the few programs for the coming television season to arouse a twitch of real interest, is super soap opera with superior casting and a tenuous connection to Masterpiece Theater's "Upstairs, Downstairs."

CBS is presenting its big show for the 1975 fall television season Monday night in a two-hour preview at 9 p.m. It then will reappear Sept. 2 in its regular 10 p.m. slot Tuesday nights.

"Beacon Hill" is the continuing saga of a wealthy Boston Irish family (upstairs) and their servants (downstairs). It doesn't pretend to be great theater; judging by the first episode, it could be good fun.

At least none of its characters wields a scalpel, wears a badge, totes a gun or has ever appeared on the Mary Tyler Moore Show. Better son of "Upstairs, Downstairs" than sitcom spinoff.

Scorecard needed

The initial two hour presentation concentrates on introducing characters and their situations. There are a lot of people for the viewer to keep track of without a scorecard.

For openers there are Benjamin and Mary Lassiter, heading the rich and political Lassiter family, played to within an inch of their improbably aristocratic lives by Stephen Elliott and Nancy Marchand.

You meet Mr. Hacker, the British head butler (George Rose) and his Irish wife, played by Beatrice Straight. Rose obviously has fun in the first episode and it's to be hoped that Miss Straight, an actress of dignity and fire, will be given more scope in later episodes.

The Lassiter children are: Robert, who lost an arm in World War I and has been sulking elegantly ever since; Maud, married to Richard Palmer, a Rudy Vallee look-alike who irons his hair to either side from an engraved middle part and talks incessantly about yachts; Emily, married to Trevor Bullock, who aspires to a social position he appears much too dull to achieve; Fawn, who flits about the arts picking up lovers; Rosamond, the "plain" Lassiter sister who really is rather pretty.

So much for upstairs

There's also Betsy Bullock, a Lassiter grandchild headed for trouble in an unsuitable love affair.

So much for upstairs. Downstairs, there are the Hackers, the immigrant "greenhorns" Mrs. Hacker has imported from Ireland, most notably her nephew, Brian Mallory (Paul Rudd) who is up to no good with the not so fair Rosamond. There are several other servants about whom we likely will learn more later.

Sad fact of television

The ballyhoo given "Beacon Hill" underlines the sad fact of television — that so little is new, so much is imitative. Some, possibly but not probably many of the new television programs will be amusing. But how many situation comedy and detectives stories can we watch? Here's the lineup:

On Monday nights the new programming consists of ABC's "Barbary Coast," a humorous Western adventure; NBC's Phyllis (out of MTM) and CBS's new serial version of that golden oldie, "The Invisible Man."

Tuesday's ABC will present "Welcome Back, Kotter," a classroom situation comedy; NBC presents "Joe Forrester," Lloyd Bridges as veteran policeman; CBS, aside from "Beacon Hill," will air "Joe and Sons," a situation comedy about a widower raising two teen-agers, and "Switch," about a pair of private eyes.

Sound famillier?

Wednesday ABC has "When Things Were Rotten," Mel Brooks' updated Robin Hood comedy, and "Starsky & Hutch," undercover cops. CBS has lady lawyer "Kate McShane" and NBC offers "Doctors' Hospital."

Thursday ABC has "On The Rocks," a jailhouse situation comedy, and NBC offers "The Montefuscos," an Italian-American situation comedy, "Fay," a divorcee situation comedy, "Elleary Queen" and "Medical Story."

Friday ABC has "Mobile One," adventures of a television reporter, CBS has "Big Eddy," a Damon Runyon style situation comedy.

Saturday ABC will present detective "Matt Helm," and what's up on CBS is "Doc," another situation comedy.

Sunday rounds it off with ABC's "Swiss Family Robinson," CBS presents "Three for the Road," another widower-and-sons situation comedy, and "Bronk," a detective show. NBC presents "The Family Holvak," about a rural family in the Depression. Any of it sound famillier? More to the point, what's new?

The Rotterdam Delivery, by Edward A. O'Neill. (Coward, McCann Geoghegan, $7.95) Rotterdam is the major petroleum port of Europe and this is a good, fast-moving adventure about the hijacking of a 220,000 ton super-ship and its two million barrel cargo of oil. The culprit an IRA explosives expert who is afraid that his former associates are out to kill him. The complications multiply, and so does the action.

Lucky Luciano, by Hickman Powell. (Citadel, $7.95) Powell wrote this account of the trial of mobster Luciano 35 years ago and it still stands up as a fine example of crime reporting. Powell, a journalist, was convinced long before crime enforcement officials that a crime organization existed and that Luciano was among its kingpins. Luciano, incidentally, was found guilty of 549 felonies and deported.

Every Crime in the Book, edited by Robert L. Fish. (Putnam, $7.95) These niblets of mystery are light enough to carry anywhere on vacation. Margaret Millar's tale about the mortician who stopped believing in death is a charmer. There also are offerings by Stanley Ellin, Robert Bloch and Joe Gores. The anthology is by the Mystery Writers of America, so the stories are varied and professional.

Here's where you'll find 'em

Fishing is one of the easiest, most relaxing and most popular sports in Connecticut. Fishermen may pursue such freshwater species as trout, bass, pickerel and shad, or take to the salt water for the seasonal excitement of bluefish and striped bass. There's no shortage of places to go fishing in Connecticut. More than half of the state parks and forests are open for fishing, and there are scores of lakes, ponds, streams and rivers open.

If you're new to Manchester, here's a list of the most popular fishing spots in the area. The list is by no means complete.

- Bolton Lake, with access from Rt. 44A. Experts say it's best for small and large mouth bass.
- Bolton Notch Pond, at Bolton

Notch. There are a lot of small fish, particularly bluegill and perch, and it's best for youngsters.

- Coventry Lake, reached from Rt. 31. Large mouth bass are plentiful.
- Crystal Lake, off Rt. 30 in Ellington and Stafford. It's good for trout and bass.
- Mansfield Hollow, off Rts. 89 and 195 in Mansfield. Large mouth bass and pickerel are found in great numbers.
- Walker's Reservoir, off Rt. 31 near the Wilbur Cross Highway in Vernon. It's one of some 250 lakes, ponds and streams stocked with trout.
- Mashapaug Pond in Union, off Rt. 171 near the Massachusetts state line. Mashapaug holds the state record for small and large mouth bass.

- Williams Pond on Rt. 207 in Lebanon. Again, small and large mouth bass are found.
- Moodus Reservoir and Bashan Lake, off Rt. 149 in East Haddam. Another bass fishing favorite.
- Lake Pocotopaug, off Rt. 66 in East Hampton. A variety of fish.
- Gardner Lake, off Rt. 354 in Salem. Large and small mouth bass are best.
- Hop River, near Rt. 6 through Andover and Columbia, stocked with trout.
- Scantic River in East Windsor and Podunk River in South Windsor, relatively small rivers, both stocked with trout.
- Farmington River, through Granby and Windsor. One of the best-stocked trout streams.

- Mt. Hope River and Natchaug River, both emptying into Mansfield Hollow. Both good for trout.

• Last but not least on our select list, the Connecticut River. It's said to be the best in the U.S. for shad during the April-to-June season. It's possible to find anything there, though. The closest places for access are in East Hartford, Glastonbury, and Rocky Hill.

Opening fishing season in Connecticut runs from the third Saturday in April to the end of February, but some species close at the end of October.

Resident fishing licenses, available in town clerk's offices and selected sporting goods shops, cost $4.35.

Ask Kleiner

By Dick Kleiner

DEAR DICK: Please tell me about a movie I saw at least 20 years ago, "The Razor's Edge," which starred Tyrone Power, Anne Baxter and Gene Tierney. Why have I never seen it on TV? Would just love to see it again. — ADRID VAN HORN, Roseburg, Ore.

DEAR DICK: I am 10 and not long ago read a story titled, "The Diary of Anne Frank." My mother said there was a movie on this book. I was wondering if it will ever be shown on TV again? — CADENCE REAVIS, Longview, Tex.

Both these movies are oldest — "The Razor's Edge" was made in 1946, "The Diary of Anne Frank" in 1959. Both have been shown often on TV and have exhausted their network appeal. Only chance to see them again would be to have your local stations order them.

DEAR DICK: It's very important that I find out where and by who did Phyllis Diller get her face lift. — DEBI FREESE, New Orleans, La.

The wizard responsible for Phyllis' transformation was Dr. Franklin Ashley who was, at the time, the head of the plastic surgery department at U.C.L.A. Incidentally, Phyllis says she's going back to him again soon — for some work on another part of her body. She says that, every five years or so, she's going to have something else done. Can plastic surgery be habit-forming?

DEAR DICK: I would like to know when John Wayne's new movie will be shown on TV. Or will it? That's the one where he played a Chicago cop. — R.K. DAVIDSON, Hallsville, Tex.

That was "Brannigan," and it shouldn't take too long for it to make it to the TV screens. The better a picture does at the box office, the longer it takes before it comes to TV. "Brannigan" didn't do too well, so it should pop up at home in a year or so.

DEAR DICK: I think I found a boner on the Saint program last Saturday. In one scene, Roger Moore finds that a few letters and a small box have been slipped under his door. I can understand the letters — but how did the small box get under the door? — HARRY ROSE, Lakewood, N.J.

How does a ship get in a bottle? It probably was a boner, as you call it. The miracle is that there aren't more of them, considering the speed with which TV is shot.

Ask Kleiner

By Dick Kleiner

DEAR DICK: I recently heard that one of the Marx Brothers (Harpo?) tried to buy Shirley Temple when she was a young girl. Is this true? — KAREN SMITH, Salinas, Calif.

In the book, "The Marx Bros. Scrapbook," by Groucho and Richard J. Anobile, Groucho tells the story. When they were making "Horse Feathers" in 1931, a little girl and her parents would watch them work. "Harpo... was crazy about this little girl," Groucho writes, "so crazy about her that he offered her parents $50,000 for her. But, of course, her parents didn't accept." The girl was Shirley Temple, who was then three or four. Of course, these are the memories of an 82-year-old man, but that's the story as Groucho tells it.

DEAR DICK: I recently saw "Tommy." Are the "Tommy" T-shirts, worn by hundreds of people toward the end of the movie, being sold? — TRACY WEST, Marrero, La.

The studio licensed a New York manufacturer, Don Jacobson, to make those T-shirts. They tell me the T-shirts should be available in stores soon, for somewhere around $5. They're also making "Tommy" jeans (Elton John on one leg, Roger Daltrey on the other) which will sell for around $11. Now you can have "Tommy" on your tummy.

DEAR DICK: I'm asking you this because no one seems to know the answer. If our former President Nixon and his lawyers wanted to do something which was not legal, why did they have to tape it? — HARRY ROSE, Lakewood, N.J.

That's a good show biz question. Nobody knows the answer for sure, but the best guess is that Nixon was so preoccupied with his place in history that he felt he owed it to the future to record everything. Some day, we may all hear those tapes — what a special that will make!

DEAR DICK: I am doing a study on American actors for my drama class. I need to find some poetry recordings by Richard Chamberlain. Are any still in print? — V.R., Mobile, Ala.

Chamberlain tells me he never recorded any poetry — "and chances are I never will, because I'm not good at that sort of thing." He says he wishes he were, but he's not.

DEAR DICK: My husband and I are in a heated debate on who played the girl regularly on Surfside 6 back in the '60s. He says Carol Baker and I say Connie Stevens. — MRS. RICHARD ALMEIDA, Ventura, Calif.

I am pleased to tell you, in the interests of domestic tranquility, that you're both wrong. Baker never made a series and Stevens was in Hawaiian Eye. The girl in Surfside 6 was Diane McBain.

DEAR DICK: Whatever happened to Dennis Cole of the Felony Squad series with Howard Duff? — JOHN PARKER, Ft. Lauderdale, Fla.

He's around, battling unemployment like so many actors. He was recently on the TV movie, "The Barbary Coast."

DEAR DICK: At the beginning of Cher's show, do they play the "Space Odyssey" theme? — L. HOBARTH, Trout Run, Pa.

No. They play something they are calling, with great originality, "The Cher Theme." It was written by Cher's musical director, Jimmy Dale.

DEAR DICK: I want to see all three of the "Billy Jack" movies. Is Tom Laughlin married? — LONI BUELL, Canastota, N.Y.

Completely. His wife is Dolores Taylor, his "Billy Jack" costar.

DEAR DICK: For years now, I have been arguing about the character, Hoss, on Bonanza. I recall that Hoss was a brother of a group of outlaws originally, that Ben took him into his home when he said he wanted to go straight. Everyone else says he was always Ben's son. Please tell me if I'm right or wrong. — HELEN DUNKEL, Garden Grove, Calif.

Sorry, but you're wrong. Ben always had Hoss as one of his three sons, right from the series' inception. You may be remembering a character called Candy (David Canary) who was a regular for a few seasons, and was taken in by Ben. But not good old Hoss.

DEAR DICK: I would like to have a discussion settled about the age of Lawrence Welk. I say he is in his late '70s and my relatives say he is 80. — MRS. C.H., Joplin, Mo.

You're all off by a few years. According to his official biography, Welk is 72.

"We're easy on your ears."

Australian television industry in chaos

SYDNEY (UPI) — The introduction of color television to Australia has created chaos in the local industry.

Hundreds of actors and technicians have been thrown out of work as many of Australia's top locally produced shows are being wound down and replaced by less costly U.S. productions.

In the 1973-74 ratings, local shows dominated the national ratings and only two U.S. series, "The Six Million Dollar Man" and repeats of "Bewitched" were among the top 10.

But with the introduction of color television overseas programs are staging a big comeback.

The impact of U.S. and British color shows has grown considerably, despite a policy by the Federal Minister for the Media, Sen. Doug McClelland, that national viewing should contain 75 per cent Australian content.

Present Australian content is 41 per cent.

Peter Scott, president of the Australian film council, says only one Australian-made series, the highly rated "Number 96," would be in production by the end of this year.

"The reason is obvious. The cost of producing one episode of Homicide (a Melbourne produced police drama) is $40,000, whereas it only costs $5,800 to import one Kojak," Scott says.

"Ever since the Labor party policy of 75 per cent Australian content was announced newspapers and television channels have ridiculed it, saying it was not possible," said Fred Betts, a lead in the top-rated "The Box."

"We do not want to stop good overseas shows, like 'Upstairs, Downstairs,' being shown but we do want a huge amount of imported rubbish replaced by local shows," he said.

John McCallum, the Australian actor, manager, producer and playwright, said he thought Australian television had gone overboard with nationalism.

"The Australian television industry could not expect to hold 75 per cent of viewing time with the local rubbish showing now," he said.

The programs often are pretty crude. "Number 96," has a homosexual hero. In the past few years, it has featured six killings, a dozen homosexual encounters, an occasional lesbian embrace, much bed-hopping, a black mass, and, surprisingly, a pregnancy or two.

"Number 96" and other shows, have, over the years, created several headaches for the Australian Broadcasting Control Board, a government-sponsored watchdog of television standards.

Irate board members have several times told executives of the three commercial networks (with a total 53 stations) and one government network (84 stations) to clean up their shows.

The board is armed with a license-suspension penalty if their orders are not obeyed.

But the commercial stations in Australia are mostly affiliated with powerful newspaper groups which mount an effective lobby and although the "clean up" edict is obeyed, the stations live to offend another day.
