Drainage, traffic problems cited as arguments against zone change

There's a shortage of good building lots in the Town of Manchester, Atty. General Herbert Phelon told the Planning and Zoning Commission (PZC) Monday night, trying to win approval for rezoning to allow a Residence AA Zone subdivision off Birch Mountain Rd.

change is granted. The lots would be substantially larger than zoning requirements, ranging in size from about 45,000 to 80,000 square feet.

Phelon said Nutmeg Homes wants to build custom-built homes which will carry a price tag of $70,000 to $90,000. He said rezoning is sought because the Residence AA Zone is more restrictive than the Rural Residence Zone.

Candidates to appear on cable TV

A series of videotaped interviews with candidates in Manchester's town election will begin airing on local cable television Thursday night.

The programs will be seen nightly from 7 to 8 (except weekends) and will run through Oct. 14. Manchester's cable TV franchise, will receive the programs on Channel 21.

Candidates are saying

Republican Board of Directors candidate Harry Reinhorn is urging the state Department of Transportation to grant priority status to the completion of the short connector strip between I-84 and I-96 in Manchester and East Hartford before extending I-84 to the Rhode Island line.

Reinhorn said that the advantages for Manchester will be easier commuting to Hartford and the removal of a great deal of truck and car traffic from Manchester streets resulting in a net gain in safety for children and less air pollution from autos.

alternatives to "this raid on Connecticut's water resources," which threatens Sharpless said.

The Connecticut Citizen Research Group and the Connecticut River Ecology Action Coalition urged Gov. Ella T. Grasso to act immediately "to ensure that the rights and well-being of Connecticut citizens are not jeopardized."

The Metropolitan District Commission (MDC) of Massachusetts plans to divert 72 million gallons per day from the Connecticut River and 76 million gallons per day from the tributary Millers River to supply water for the Boston area, CCRG environmentalist Katharine Preston said Monday.

Dr. Thomas Sharpless of the coalition said the administration of former Gov. Thomas J. Meskill three years ago began its unsuccessful opposition to the water diversion.

Rock salt bids identical

It appears that Manchester Purchasing Agent Maurice Pass may have to toss a coin to determine which of two identical bidders will get the contract for supplying the town with about 2,000 tons of highway grade rock salt.

A third bidder, at $22 a ton, is Lowell, Mass. The bids specify state that, in case of a tie, the coin may be broken by the toss of a coin or some other lottery, mutually acceptable to the tie bidders.

Retirees to hear panel

The Manchester Chapter of the American Association of Retired Persons will meet Wednesday at 1:30 p.m. in Cooper Hall at the South United Methodist Church.

Allen, director of Social Services at Manchester Memorial Hospital, Mrs. Karen Reid, supervisor of Manchester Public Health Nursing Association, and Mrs. Hylle Hurwitz, director of the Manchester Homemakers Service.

Town loses appeal in Grover case

The U.S. Supreme Court has dismissed the appeal by the Town of Manchester to reverse the Connecticut Supreme Court's decision favoring special compensation for Mrs. Leo Grover, widow of the Manchester police officer who died of a heart attack Sept. 8, 1971.

The decision announced Monday means Mrs. Grover is entitled to compensation of $84 per week until her death or remarriage, said her attorney, Thomas Fitzgerald of Manchester.

Grover was on the Manchester police force for nearly 15 years. He was a detective on the day he died at his home of a heart attack.

The decision Monday was the final test of a state law which, in effect, gave a bonus to police and fire fighters in the state.

Leaf pickup likely to be restored

It appears the Board of Directors will approve continuation of Manchester's leaf-pickup program, never interrupted over the past several years but threatened to be dropped this year because of a tight budget.

When the board adopted the 1975-76 budget (last May), it stipulated the leaf-pickup program be dropped, in favor of other projects by town highway personnel.

In the last month, the directors have had many calls and visits from concerned property owners, requesting that the program be continued.

Members of the majority and minority parties have indicated they back the program and are ready to vote for it tonight.

Town Manager Robert Weiss has estimated an additional $9,000 appropriation may be required.

In addition to public hearings on a variety of proposed appropriations, almost all to be financed by state grants, the directors will consider an agreement with Manchester Community College for a hand shell on college land, approval of job classifications and pay scales for 18 employees of the former Manchester Water Co. and now employees of the town water department, authorization for the manager to apply for a state grant for completing the townwide sanitary sewer treatment system, and acceptance of a baseball scoreboard at Robertson Park (a gift from Sam Crispino).

Many other items appear on the agenda and, except for those acted upon tonight by waiving the board's rules, they will be considered for action at the board's Oct. 14 meeting.

Opinion

Campaign spending law cramps GOPs

The political pundits are still mulling over the meaning of New Hampshire's senatorial run-off election in which Democrat John A. Durkin defeated Republican Louis C. Wyman.
As New Hampshire went, not necessarily will the nation go in 1976, of course. But the immediate consensus is that the defeat is a bad omen for the GOP in next year's presidential and congressional races.

Professor 'justifies' political assassination

WASHINGTON — Today I'm pretending I'm one of those crazies who want to assassinate President Ford, and I find encouragement in the remarks of one Alphonso Pinkney, professor of sociology at New York City's Hunter College.
Somebody from The New York Times asked Pinkney for his views on the two attempts on Ford's life, and then a second attempt in authority actually decided to publish them.

How Great Britain could wake

LONDON — The symptoms of the British malady are economic, but its roots are political, psychological, intellectual and moral. This could, of course, be said of the United States as well, and there are signs that America may be following the same road to sickness as Britain and that in 20 years it could arrive at the same outcome.
But Britain doesn't have America's resources or its capacity for resilience and innovation, and it is much further gone in its malady.

Hearing deaf pleas

The 13 million Americans who are deaf are the latest discriminated-against minority to be heard from, and they intend to shout until the insurance industry, for one, opens its ears.
"Insurance protection is an essential element of American life, yet deaf citizens are often denied coverage," says Albert Pimentel, director of public service program at Gallaudet College in Washington, D.C. "Or when insurance is available, the deaf man or woman must be content to pay higher premiums, accept unwarranted restrictions or both."

TODAY'S THOUGHT

I AM the Lord Your God, Leviticus 19:4b
The One and Only, I AM speaks here. He is the Lord your God. What follows, through His servant Moses, is: Thou shalt not. We live as others before in a world that hates the word — not.
Sometimes ago, a noted psychiatrist and counselor asked the question, "whatsoever happened to sin?" He was referring to its lack of proclamation by those who should. "Sin," according to the New Testament, "is the transgression of the Law." Whose Law? The Lord your God's Law. Sin robs a person of his intended worth and value. It stifles all, "for all have sinned."

THE ALMANAC

Today is Tuesday, Oct. 7, the 280th day of 1975 with 85 to follow. The moon is between its new phase and first quarter.
The morning stars are Venus, Saturn, Mars and Jupiter.
The evening star is Mercury.
Those born on this date are under the sign of Libra.
American poet James Whitcomb Riley was born Oct. 7, 1849.
On this day in history:
In 1916, in the most staggering football defeat on record, Georgia Tech humbled Cumberland, 22-0.
In 1961, a British airliner crashed in the French Pyrenees and 37 persons were killed.
In 1963, Bobby Baker resigned as Senate Democratic secretary after being charged in a $300,000 civil suit with using its influence for personal monetary gains.
In 1971, President Nixon announced an economic control system to follow the 90-day wage-price freeze he imposed in mid-August.

Jackston committee members named

Mary E. LeDuc of 162 Homestead St. has been named chairman of the committee to re-elect Democrat Phyllis Jackston to the Board of Directors.
In accepting the appointment Mrs. LeDuc said, "I'm honored to be serving as Phyllis Jackston's campaign manager. Phyllis is a concerned and dedicated member of the Manchester community. She has worked hard and done a good job in her previous term as a town director and the town government needs more people with her dedication to be involved."

Treasurer names Sinon

Walter R. Sinon of 260 Hollister St. has been named campaign manager for Roger M. Negro, Democrat, who is running for re-election as town treasurer.
Sinon, who was Negro's campaign chairman in 1971 and 1973 when the latter won election, is a member of the Democratic Town Committee and served three years on the citizens advisory committee. He is a member of Hartford Elks, the Knights of Columbus and the British American Club. He has been a coach in Manchester Little League.

Washington window: Tagging the liberals

ARNOLD SAWISLAK
WASHINGTON (UPI) — Yogi Berra, catching for the Yankees, once pulled off an unassisted double play. Asked about the play after the game, Yogi explained, "I just grabbed the ball and tagged everybody in this day of prepackaged, electronic politics."
The liberal Democrats have adopted something like Yogi's strategy in their search for a favorite among the candidates for their party's 1976 presidential nomination.

Maj. Morrison has just completed a brief tour of duty at the Air Force Academy in Colorado. During the tour he attended briefings by Brig. Gen. Hoyt S. Vandenberg Jr., commander of cadets, and other members of the academy staff and faculty.
In addition to serving as an academy liaison officer, Major Morrison is an international marketing engineer for United Technologies Corp.

Fendell issues warning on telephone solicitation

Norman Fendell, director of the Manchester Sheltered Workshop, has issued a warning to area residents regarding the telephone solicitation of goods purported to be made by the workshop clients.
Fendell said the solicitors are offering ironing board covers and toothbrushes for sale and stating that they are made at the Manchester Workshop at Lincoln Center.
The firm, according to Fendell, who also received a telephone call, goes by the name of Handicapped Workers, 115 Park St., West Hartford, Conn. "We do not solicit by telephone at the workshop," he said.

1. On August 5, 1975, the Republican members of the Board of Directors voted for the Buckland firehouse with the condition that all legal problems be solved before construction would begin.
On September 29, 1975, at a hastily called meeting by the Democratic majority, the Republican members of the Board of Directors voted against the firehouse based on the facts presented because we feel that the legal problems have not been solved in the best interests of the taxpayers.

Depression

a matter of chemistry
As a mood, depression is a part of everyday living. It could occur after other illnesses such as, viral infections...nutritional deficiencies...anemia...vitamin deficiencies (such as pellagra) and chronic illness. It may also occur after the long term taking of stimulatory drugs as well as the chronic and frequent use of cigarettes (contains nicotine) and the drinking of several cups of coffee daily. Caffeine and nicotine are central nervous system stimulants and after they wear off you tend to get a time of depression. People who work under a great deal of tension for long periods of time develop depression when they try to relax.

BETTY'S NOTEBOOK

By BETTY RYDER

There's just no end to the imagination of movie producers. After "Inferno," "Earthquake" and "Jaws" we have a new film coming called "Alligator."

The original screenplay by Shelley and Paul Katz is a contemporary melodrama set in the Florida Everglades and concerns the conflicts arising between two men, one many years the other's senior, during their search for the largest alligator ever seen.

United Artists and Quinn Martin Productions will present the film soon. I can hardly wait.

New Products

Inventors must really lose sleep nights trying to think up new ideas for consumers.

One of the latest is called the "Kury-Dog" which is purported to turn a hot dog into a gourmet delight.

Now with this gadget a patented cutter shapes a "frank" into a "Kury-Dog" for easier serving on a hamburger bun. English muffin, Italian, French, or sandwich bread. And to make things even tastier, you can fill the center hole with chili, sauerkraut, onions, etc.

With the rectangular "Kury-Dog" the hot dog is placed in the cutter, the blades are pressed through the hot dog and before you can say "hot dog" there it is all curled up.

Sounds great, but somehow it's sad. A hot dog is supposed to look like a hot dog. The world is just going to the dogs.

Way back then

Traffic may be a hazard today, but Ross Bagg 88 of Holiday House on Cottage St. remembers back when it wasn't.

Bagg dropped into the office today and reflected on the summer of 1922 when he left New Jersey in an open touring car headed for the West Coast.

"We had seven people in the car," he said, "and the whole trip took us three months and one week."

"We could only make about 100 miles a day, and were lucky if we met another car once a day," he said.

Seems hard to imagine when highways were not crowded, bumper to bumper.

Bagg has promised to stop in again, bring the diary he kept of the trip, and a few photos of his car. Maybe we can do a little feature on it for our travel page.

Dining Out

Had a wonderful time at a dinner party last week at the Hartford Sheraton hosted by the Home Lines Agency Inc. and the Bahama Tourism Office.

The Home Lines had been most instrumental in supplying the film for our recent travel show on the Caribbean and while we corresponded, it was the first time I had a chance to meet some of the officials.

Many area travel agents were invited also, so we finally got to matching faces with voices.

Next event, on Oct. 15, is an Ice Cream Party hosted by Eastern Airlines and Walt Disney World at the Ramada Inn in East Hartford.

Imagine, we'll be able to make our own goopy sundae till our heart's content (or I should say tummies). Maybe they won't be content.

I better start slimming down for that one.

Buenas noches amigos

Speaking of travel, our next show is set for Thursday, Oct. 16 at East Catholic High School.

It will feature Mexico and we'll have some great films.

American Airlines will present "Invitation to Mexico" and the Kiwis, former AA stewardesses will give a packing demonstration, which is fabulous.

"The Sacred World of the Mayans" will be presented by the Mexicana National Tourist Council of New York.

We hope to have a few surprises, so come on down.

Tickets are available at the Herald office and from our sponsoring agents, a list of which will be appearing again soon in the paper.

Holiday fashions

Didn't get to attend the fashion show and dinner sponsored by the Hartford area Zonta Club last week which featured fashions from the Cartwheel in Talcoville, but one of my co-workers said things were beautiful.

Reports are that fashions are definitely going feminine and knoses are definitely out (actually you still have them but they aren't supposed to be shown).

Wide trimmed felt hats topped off many outfits including smart, tailored pantsuits.

Among the models were

A fine net

"Laws are like cobwebs, which may catch small flies, but let wasps and hornets break through," he said.

It was a great evening. Slides of the first engines built at the aircraft factory were shown, and we even saw pictures of the first two women to work there. Boy, they wore some outfits in those days. Now c'mon, I do not remember.

Haeckel-Porter

Claudia M. Porter of Hebron and Thomas E. Haeckel of Brandon, were married Oct. 4 at St. Peter's Episcopal Church in Hebron.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David R. Porter of Hebron. The bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Lillian I. Haeckel of Temple, and Thomas Haeckel of Fort Lauderdale, Fla.

The Rev. William Persing, rector of St. Peter's Episcopal Church, officiated at the double-ring ceremony. The church was decorated with yellow and white chrysanthemums. Horace Sellers of Hebron was organist.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a white polyester mist crepe gown designed with Victorian neckline, bodice and long Bishop sleeves, all accented with Alencon lace and pearls, with skirt terminating into a sweep train. Her two-tiered veil of illusion was attached to a matching Cameliot cap trimmed with lace and pearls. She carried a cascade of white roses, miniature carnations and baby's breath.

Miss Denise C. Porter of Hebron, was her sister's maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Ann Lumpkin of Plymouth, Miss Vickie Savatone of New Haven, and Miss Carol McCann of Meriden.

Charles Haeckel of New Haven, the bridegroom's brother, served as best man. Ushers were Karl Wagner and James Raw, both of New Haven, and Victor D'Annunzio of Westchester, Pa.

A reception was held at the Yankee Silversmith Inn in Wallingford, after which the couple left for Aruba. The couple will reside in Brandon.

College Notes

Bruce D. Arey of 133 White St. received his BS degree in general civil engineering at Worcester Polytechnic Institute.

Janet Brewer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Brewer of 100 Scott Dr., has been named to the 38-member A Cappella chorus at Abilene (Tex.) Christian College for the 1975-76 school year.

Miss Brewer, a 1973 graduate of Manchester High School, will sing first alto in the chorus. She is a junior music major at ACC.

Barth-McMahon

Lynn Ellen McMahon of Vernon and Donald R. Barth of Fort Lauderdale, Fla., were married Aug. 30 at Sacred Heart Church in Vernon.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry J. McMahon of Vernon. The bridegroom is the son of Mrs. H.G. Barth of Southbridge, Mass. and the late H.G. Barth. Miss Doreen Kozack of Boston served as maid of honor. Heldon G. Barth, the bridegroom's brother, was best man.

A reception was held at The Colony in Talcoville, after which the couple left for Cape Cod, Mass. They will reside in Fort Lauderdale.

Mr. Barth is employed as a medical photographer by Dr. Ralph Millard Jr., plastic surgeon in Miami, Fla.

ENGAGED

The engagement of Miss Kathleen V. Oakes to Victor L. Pettig, both of Manchester, was announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frederick D. Oakes of 187 Tanner St.

Mr. Pettig is the son of Mrs. Katherine R. Pettig of 29 Rachel Rd. and Stanley Pettig of New Britain.

The bride-elect was graduated from Manchester High School and is currently attending A.I. Prince Technical School in Hartford. She is employed at Meadows Convalescent Home.

Her fiancé is 1973 graduate of Manchester High School and is employed as a screw machine operator in Newton.

The couple is planning a Feb. 21, 1976 wedding.

Mrs. Willes dies, was social worker

VERNON—Mrs. Mildred Stiles Willes, 81, of 743 Hartford Tpk., Vernon Center, a retired social worker for the State Welfare Department, died Monday night at her home. She was the widow of Howard H. Willes. Mrs. Willes was born Jan. 15, 1894, in Danbury and lived in Manchester before coming to Vernon in 1939. A social worker, she retired in 1964 from the State Welfare Department after 50 years service. She was employed at the Manchester office of the department from the time of its inception in 1961 until her retirement. She then worked for the Vernon Head Start program and was known by the children as the "story lady."

Before coming to Vernon, she and her husband managed a tea house on the Potomac River, outside Washington, D.C., and the National Association of Girl Scouts.

She also has worked with the Women's Bureau of the Metropolitan Police Department in Washington. She took and passed a civil service examination for policeman and was a social worker with authority for the department. During her career, she served as assistant superintendent of a city mission in New Haven and as personnel director, Cotuit Firearms Co., Park St. Branch, Hartford, during World War II.

Survivors are a daughter, Mrs. Barbara Ann Chetkov Yanov of Hertsia, Israel; two grandchildren and several cousins.

The funeral is Thursday at 2 p.m. at the First Congregational Church of Vernon. The Rev. John A. Lacey, pastor, and the Rev. Edwin W. Bartholomew, associate pastor, will officiate. Burial will be in Elmwood Cemetery.

Income tax debate

tax, but I'm happy we live in a society where people can speak out." Thompson then asked, "What is the present tax rate in Manchester and what is the change since the Democrats took office?"

Ed Wilson replied, "The question is whether I know it or not. It's a stupid question and I say, let's get on with what we're here for."

In his brief summation, Wilson again said, "I'm opposed to a state income tax, and the mayor's on record for it. It's as simple as that."

He said, "They're watching us in Hartford (at the State Capitol) and if we allow the ballot in Manchester, we'll see a push for a state income tax in Hartford."

Thompson said, "I'm talking about an equitable tax system, where everyone pays his own share. It's not a charge. One of the great fears when one talks about tax reform is the charge the door is being opened for tax spenders. The mood in Connecticut is for austerity and it's a fallacy to assume the state would go on a spending spree because of tax reform."

He added, "It's time the state balanced its fiscal affairs. Nobody should be excused. There are many people, some of them millionaires, who don't pay their fair share of taxes."

During the questioning from the floor, Thompson was asked to define what he means by tax reform.

"A balancing of the tax system, to include balancing the various income groups and, to provide equitable taxation," he replied. "I would recommend reduction of the sales tax and reduction of the property tax, and shift the burden to revenue from the income tax."

Wilson was asked, "What's so bad about the sales tax?"

He replied, "Progressive taxes are exactly what bureaucrats want to keep themselves going. We're spending just too much money. For example, we're spending from $8,000 to $13,000 annually to rehabilitate a criminal. Every time they (the bureaucrats) want more money, they call on you. If they can't control income, certainly they should be able to control output."

The final question was addressed to Thompson. "How would the people be protected against abuses in taxation if the state income tax were adopted?"

Thompson replied, "By people like yourself, who participate in the town government, who would be watchdogs and alert others to guard against abuse, and who speak out about the issues."

He concluded, "If you agree with me, fine. If you disagree with me, that's fine too. But, let's always be able to discuss it."

Rogers then cut off further questions and brought the meeting and debate to a halt, praising the participants and to the audience for their fine performance.

Shooting victim not well enough for questioning

Doctors at Manchester Memorial Hospital told Det. Capt. Joseph Sartor his detainee would not be able to question a Sunday night shooting victim for about a week, Sartor said this morning.

The victim, Eric Gustafson, 35, of 462 E. Middle Tpk., was taken to MMH about 10 p.m. with a 22-caliber pistol bullet inside his chest and below his left shoulder, police said.

The bullet is still somewhere inside him, a hospital spokesman said late this morning.

Gustafson is listed in satisfactory condition in the MMH intensive care unit, the spokesman said.

OAKLAND (UPI) — "In my heart I feel we are going to win the playoffs and make it to the World Series."

It was Sal Bando speaking Monday and he wanted it understood clearly that he didn't mean in any way to put down the Boston Red Sox.

"Boston is a good team," Bando said, "and I honestly don't think people realize how good they are. I think the A's are better."

"We have more home run power," he better team speed, are stronger in the infield and have a far better bullpen. The Red Sox have a better outfield than we do and maybe are stronger all around defensively. We lead them 4-2, and that's why I think we are better."

Still, the Red Sox, a perfect blend of veterans and youngsters, won the first two games of the playoffs against the seasoned three-time World Champions. How does Bando explain that?

"We were too tense in the first game after being idle for a week waiting for the playoffs to begin," Bando said. "Also, we were too conscious of that wall in left field, and we shouldn't have. We psyched ourselves, which is stupid. The second game was a very well played game on both sides and they won it because they played a little better." Now that the best-of-five series has shifted to Oakland, Bando is confident.

"Being behind is nothing new to us," he said. "We lost the first game of the 1975 playoffs to Baltimore in our own park, yet we went on to win it in five last year (Mike) Cuellar beat (Catfish) Hunter in the first game, then we won the next three to close it out."

The A's, of course, are in a similar position, only this time they MUST win the next three to reach the World Series and gain a shot at a fourth straight world title.

"Today's game is the big one," Bando said, "and we are youngsters, we won the first two games of the playoffs against the seasoned three-time World Series and gain a shot at a fourth straight world title."

Rose praises current Reds

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — "If you're going to start an argument over which was the best team in baseball, you'll lose Pete Rose. He's no expert in that field. He's not that old."

Talk to him about the 1977 Yankees and all he knows is Babe Ruth hit 60 home runs for them that year.

Now if you talk about the last 20 years, or maybe the next 20 days, that's a different matter. Pete Rose speaks with more authority on this time frame. That's because he has been with the Cincinnati Reds 13 years and followed them long before that. So if you care to challenge his statement that the present Reds constitute the best club the majors have had in the past 20 years you go right ahead.

"There isn't any question in my mind that this is the best ball club I've been associated with in 13 years," says Pete Rose. "Is the best balanced club and I honestly don't see anyone around who can beat it. I'm not downgrading the Yankees, but they can beat you only one way, with pitching. But we can beat you more ways than any other team in baseball. With our speed, our defense or our bats."

"Everybody says we don't have good starting pitchers," he says. "We went 45 straight days without getting a complete game from our pitchers and I think we set a record. But when you got (Willie) McEaney, (Rayley) Eastwick, (Pedro) Borbon and (Clay) Carroll to come in relief, what do you care about complete games? Our starters pitched only 22 complete games all year. So what? We won 108 ball games, didn't we? When's the last time any team won that many?"

Sixty-six years ago, but who's counting? The Reds have won their last eight games in a row, and the way they're playing, they could win their next five that would give them first World Championship in 35 years.

"It doesn't matter to me who plays, the Red Sox or the A's, but from all I hear, the Red Sox have a fine young team, and I'd like to play 'em. I've never seen Fenway Park. Never been there. I think that's a better wall of theirs would be good for guys like (Ken) Griffey, (Cesar) Geronimo and myself not to mention our own right-handed power hitters. I heard a lot about this Freddie Lynn. I saw him in the All-Star game and was impressed. I'd like to meet Tom Yawkey also. I've heard so many good things about him."

"Everybody calls me 'Charlie Hustle,'" he says. "They always talk about my hustle but I think a better word is enthusiasm. I just enjoy playing baseball. I'm making big money for doing something I love. Look, when you play baseball you're going to have your slump, your negative fan reaction, long plane rides and a life of living out of a suitcase. If you don't have a tolerance for all these things, how can you do them? Yeah, I know, I'm half-lazy. That doesn't make any difference, though. I still love to play baseball."

Single sessions planned at RHS despite drawbacks

BARBARA RICHMOND
Herald Reporter

Although there will be some problems involved, the Board of Education voted last night to open Rockville High School to single sessions in February. The school addition is completed as expected.

The board, in so voting, went against a recommendation of Dr. Raymond Ramsdell, superintendent of schools, who suggested that the school continue on double sessions and then go on single session next September.

Dr. Ramsdell said he does feel the work on the new addition will be completed ahead of schedule as far as the physical plant is concerned but he listed several drawbacks to opening mid-term.

He said he met last week with the high school administrators and Charles Brisson, business manager, to re-evaluate a suggestion he made last year that double sessions could be eliminated mid-year. He said three plans were discussed at the meeting. Plan "A" involved a complete rescheduling of the high school using a seven-period day starting in February. He said school hours would revert back to the times prevailing prior to double sessions. It was from about 8 a.m. to 2 p.m.

Plan "B" would utilize the present schedules for the morning and afternoon sessions, start both groups at the same time in February. Dismissal would be about 1:15 p.m. with a seventh period added to the end of the day for activities.

He said one advantage of "B" over "A" would be the avoidance of massive rescheduling of the entire school.

He said a third plan, Plan "C" was also discussed at length and this would open the school on a single session with virtual full curricular expansion and course selection and with no additional funds from the current budget required. This would start next September.

In explaining the rationale of his recommendation, Dr. Ramsdell said each of the present sessions are six periods in length. If total rescheduling of school sessions is required to revert to Plan A, then it would mean a vast number of students would have new teachers, new equipment or have a significantly altered schedule.

He said there are both monetary and non-monetary considerations in Plans A and B while the non-monetary may have more significance, the monetary ones are important too.

No money was provided in the current budget to cover a February opening of the school as it was not known when the budget was made up that the school would be completely early.

Plan A would mean additional costs amounting to $82,387 and Plan B, $93,067. Plan B would mean another $13,680 would be added to the transportation costs.

There would be problems with equipment as the equipment budget was cut way back to allow for other things in the building program to bring it within the $5.2 million allotted by a referendum vote.

Dr. Ramsdell said: "All students and their families might be affected by school hour changes; equipment, bus delivery and installation has not been clarified at this point; total monetary expenditure for equipment has not been committed; total completion and acceptance of the building has not been guaranteed; a crash program designed with the main thrust being to occupy rather than to educate, is not in the best interest of the students, he said.

In his May report, Dr. Ramsdell noted that a February change in the high school schedule would probably mean the rescheduling of all bus routes for all schools.

He estimated the cost of staffing, maintenance and supplies plus utilities would mean an additional $166,537 to open the school to single sessions in February.

The staff would include additional industrial arts instructors, and one each of a science teacher, guidance counselor, business education teacher, home economics teacher, one additional secretary and four custodians.

After the board voted to go along with Plan "C", Dr. Ramsdell said it will mean a lot of work but it can be done.

He said all bus routes will have to be rescheduled as the single session schedule will mean some students who have been bused because of the school hours, now will be walking starting in February. He said, however, the busing will be accomplished with the same fleet. He added that the opening hours of some of the other schools may have to be adjusted to the new bus schedule.

Andover adopts seal

A new town seal was adopted by Andover in the annual town meeting Monday night.

The attractive seal is the result of a contest sponsored by the Bicentennial Commission, which last April awarded first prize to Dawn Madore, a student in the elementary school. About 200 children entered the contest, five of them students and the others adults.

The final winning design contains input from 200 persons. It was finished off in professional style by Gordon MacDonald, local artist and member of the commission.

Richard Clark, Bicentennial Commission chairman, announced today that the first 100 copies of the seal are now being run off in ceramic material. These will be displayed soon at the town office building, elementary school and library.

A sale date for the ceramic copies will be announced soon. The first run will be numbered, enhancing their value as collector's items.

The seal is circular. As imposed on the circle is the outline of Andover as established in 1884, but divided three ways to represent origins in Hebron, Coventry and Lebanon.

In each section is a symbol of early activity which made the area important and useful. An ox cart with yoke of oxen tells of the tremendous loads of supplies that left from the area and supported colonial troops. A grandfather clock suggests Daniel Barnard's clock shop above the ell of Robert Post's home. A church structure represents the first church in Andover, an ecclesiastical society 110 years before it became a town.

Sale of the ceramic copies will benefit the Bicentennial Commission and its programs.

Room mothers sought

Andover Elementary School needs room mothers for Mrs. Wheeler's and Mrs. Allison's room. Anyone interested is asked to call Rose Bunker, 742-9089.

Halloween parade

The traditional Halloween costume parade will be held at the elementary school in the early afternoon of Oct. 30.

Dear Abby

DEAR ABBY: Someone wrote to say that he was irritated by people who used the expression "making love".

DEAR STICKLER: You're right, of course. But some people are hung up by the graphic (though correct) terminology.

DEAR YOURS: Your letter was marked Iowa City, Iowa, where it's hot enough in summer to fry an egg on the sidewalk.

DEAR NOVATO: Sorry, but a loan is a loan and a gift is a gift.

The candidates are saying

The fiscal responsibility for maintaining a fairly stable tax rate and providing improved services and facilities for the Town of Manchester has been demonstrated by the Democratic majority over the past four years, according to Robert B. Price, Democratic candidate for director.

The comparison of the past four years of Democratic control clearly exhibits that the Democrats have fulfilled the camaign promise of "we can do it better for less."

In the years 1971-1975, the Democrats increased the tax rate an average of 1.34 per cent per year contrasted to the years 1967-1971, where the Republican-controlled board increased the tax rate an average of 6.15 per cent per year. The Republican 6.15 per cent rate of tax increase occurred when the Consumer Price Index was increasing at an average rate of 4.94 per cent per year. The Democrat's 1.34 per cent rate of tax increase was accomplished when the Consumer Price Index was increasing at an average rate of 7.5 per cent per year.

Summarizing the tax record over the last four years clearly demonstrates the willingness, the desire, and capability of the Democrats to deliver to the people of Manchester the service they deserve at the lowest possible cost, Price said.

Moriarty coordinators Appointed

Mrs. Coltman names her campaign chief

Louise Nathan of 109 Adelaide Rd. has been named campaign manager for Eleanor D. Coltman, Democratic candidate for re-election to the Manchester Board of Education.

Others on Mrs. Coltman's campaign committee are Albert Harris of 205 Henry St., treasurer; James O. Tatro of 200 Redwood Rd., deputy treasurer; and Marge Flynn of 301 Henry St., publicity.

In accepting her appointment, Mrs. Nathan said, "Eleanor Coltman's lifetime involvement with education, including teaching experience at every level from kindergarten through community college, makes her singularly well-informed and well-qualified. In addition to her committee assignments on the Board of Education, she is also an alter-

ABOUT TOWN

Manchester Lodge of Masons will meet tonight at 7:30 at the Masonic Temple. Alfred L. Rossetto, president of the Omar Shrine Club and his officers, will visit to confer the Entered Apprentice Degree. Norman M. Pierce, P.M., will preside.

Mayor taps campaign manager

Mayor John Thompson has named Joel E. Janenda of 42 Timber Trail as his campaign coordinator in his bid for re-election to the Town Board of Directors. Thompson has served as leader of the Democratic majority on the board for the past four years.

Janenda is a member of the Democratic Town Committee and chairman of the Advisory Park and Recreation Commission. He is an attorney with the law firm of Kelly and Janenda.

Thompson also named James Watt of 143 Autumn St. as treasurer for the campaign. Watt is chairman of the Commission on Aging.

A social evening chaired by John Fitzpatrick will be held Sunday, October 26 for the benefit of Thompson's campaign. The event will be at the Knights of Columbus Hall, Main St.

Gerald Okrant of 49 Waranoke Rd. was named deputy campaign treasurer.

Pastore came up hard way

United Press International John O. Pastore came up the hard way, the American way. The son of immigrants, he worked in a jewelry shop by day and studied law at night.

The peppery Democrat used personal ambition and timely opportunities to rise quickly in public office, becoming the first Italian-American in the U.S. Senate in 1950.

The boucny, energetic Rhode Islander stands five-foot-five inches but has a big voice. He earned his debating honors in one of the toughest clubs in the world the U.S. Senate.

Pastore still describes himself as "just an average fellow who got a lot of breaks" and he never lost an election. He entered politics during the lean years of the Depression "because business was hard in law."

He was born on March 17, 1897, St. Patrick's Day, in Providence, Fatherless at age nine, he became the head of the family and worked while attending high school and Northeastern University Law School.

Pastore was elected to the state House of Representatives in 1934, re-elected in 1936 and became an assistant attorney general in 1937. He was elected lieutenant-governor in 1944 and one year later rose to chief executive when Gov. J. Howard McGrath was named U.S. Solicitor General.

Pastore's move to Washington also followed McGrath's political opportunities. The latter won a U.S. Senate seat in 1946 and resigned at mid-term to become U.S. Attorney General in 1949.

Pastore named Edward L. Leahy to serve in the Senate until the 1950 statewide election. Then Pastore won a special election race to serve out the remaining two years of McGrath's term.

He won his following elections by huge proportions the largest coming in 1964 with a 252,822 plurality over Republican Ronald R. Laigueux, a record that still stands.

During his years as a state prosecutor, Pastore married the former Elena Calio in 1941. To this day, he fondly refers to her as "little mother."

They have three grown children—one son and two daughters.

Construction contract signed Buckland firehouse issue now in court

By SOL R. COHEN
Herald Reporter

Town officials this morning signed a $233,000 construction contract for a new Buckland firehouse, only hours after being served with papers in a court action which seeks a determination of who has jurisdiction for fire service in Buckland—the Town of Manchester or the Eighth District.

The contract signing was only minutes after Superior Court Judge Harold Mulvey signed a "show cause" order, directing Mayor John Thompson and other town officials, to appear Oct. 16 in Hartford Superior Court to show reasons why the court shouldn't issue a temporary injunction to stop the construction. The action was brought by Larry Noone of 227 Burnham St.

The first action, returnable Nov. 18 in Hartford Court Superior Court, also was brought by Larry Noone. It was filed on his behalf by Christopher Noble and Robert Blechman, counsel for Buckland area property owners petitioning the Eighth District for inclusion in its boundary lines.

Noone is a leader of the petition drive and is leader also in the drive by Buckland area property owners to halt construction of the multi-million dollar Buckland Commons industrial-commercial-residential complex.

Papers were served last night on Town Directors John Thompson, Pascal Prignano, Phyllis Jackson, Robert Price, Matt Moriarty Jr., Jack Goldberg, Vivian Ferguson, Carl Zisser and Paul Willhide; Town Manager Robert Weiss and Building Committee chairman Paul Phillips; and this morning on Fred Brunoli & Sons of Avon, contractors for the firehouse.

Also named in the suit and served with papers last night were Eighth District Directors Gordon Lassow, Patrick Brown, Paul Cervini, William Sheridan and John Flynn. Willard Marvin, also a director, wasn't named.

The court action, although anticipated, still came as a surprise to town directors. They were told by Town Counsel William Bronelli (at $233,000) be signed as scheduled.

Weiss signed for the town and Joseph C. Brunoli, secretary-treasurer of the Avon firm, signed for Fred Brunoli & Sons.

After studying the writs, Bronelli, this morning, recommended that the construction contract (at $233,000) be signed as scheduled.

The temporary notes are being purchased by the United Bank & Trust Co.

FBI arrests local man on hijacking charges

The FBI arrested a 27-year-old Manchester man in Tampa, Fla. this morning in connection with the hijacking of a single engine airplane.

Three men hijacked the airplane at Greensboro, N. C. today and forced the pilot to fly to Tampa.

FBI agents arrested one man inside the Tampa terminal but the other two escaped.

The arrested man was identified as Ronald Edwards, Ralph, 27, of 34 Englewood Dr. Manchester.

An FBI spokesman said the three men chartered the four-passenger plane for a flight from Greensboro to Atlanta. Ten minutes into the flight, one of the passengers produced a .32-caliber handgun and ordered the pilot to fly to Florida.

The pilot, who was not identified, landed at the fueling area of the Tampa Air Center and when the hijackers went into the terminal, he radioed authorities and was also placed on probation for one year.

CCM urges state policy prohibiting rail removal

The Connecticut Conference of Municipalities (CCM) has urged state officials to start a policy which would prohibit removal of railroad tracks along abandoned rights-of-way for possible future mass transit use.

If such a policy had been in effect, the controversial removal of tracks on the Penn Central Railroad's Vernon-to-Willimantic line would have been prevented, officials said.

Vernon Mayor Frank McCoy, president of the CCM, said today the state should have a policy to assure that all abandoned rails will be left in place. His comments were in a letter to Gov. Ella Grasso.

McCoy and State Rep. Aloysius Ahern of Bolton have led the fight to stop a salvage contractor from removing 19 miles of track between Vernon and Willimantic. In Vernon, town officials have placed a tax lien against the right-of-way and are seeking a temporary injunction to halt the rail removal. Ahern has succeeded in persuading Town of Bolton officials to take similar action.

Tuesday, State Transportation Commissioner Samuel Kanell said Penn Central was asking its salvage contractor to suspend track removal operations, but railroad officials now say the contractor is proceeding with work in Bolton.

Robert McKernan, a Penn Central executive, said a salvage contractor is working under terms of an April agreement with the state. At that time, McKernan said, the state indicated it wanted to buy the railroad right-of-way but it had no interest in saving the rails.

State officials are now trying to get federal funds to buy the rails.

Reagan begins drive in New Hampshire

CONCORD, N.H. (UPI) — Former California Gov. Ronald Reagan today opened presidential campaign operations in the state with the nation's first 1976 primary, guaranteeing a showdown with President Ford.

The formation of a citizens committee for the conservative Republican was announced five days after President Ford's campaign declaration he would open his drive for the nomination in New Hampshire's Feb. 24 primary.

Reagan and Ford will skip the subsequent Massachusetts primary and meet two weeks later in the nation's third presidential primary in Florida.

Formation of the local Reagan committee, announced by Reagan organizer Sen. Paul Laxalt, R-Nev., came as Reagan continued to claim he was undecided about a challenge to Ford, an untested President.

Speaking in Houston Tuesday, Reagan said a convention battle for the nomination could be healthy to "spark a little interest in a tired old elephant." He has said he plans to announce his decision about a White House bid in November.

Named to head the New Hampshire Reagan organization was former GOP Gov. Hugh Gregg, a lawyer in the state's second largest city of Nashua and a single term chief executive in the 1960s.

Reagan's earliest supporter in the state, second-term conservative Gov. Meldrim Thomson, was absent when formation of the Reagan committee was announced. Thomson is vacationing in Israel.

Thomson is Reagan first met on Nationalist Chinese-sponsored trip to Taiwan.

Reagan said in a letter to his new New Hampshire chairman he felt strongly he must develop an organization independent of the governor to create "an effective nationwide effort."

Ford will use '100 vetoes' to get tax-spending cuts

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Congressional leaders say President Ford's combination tax and spending cut proposal is "preposterous" and "irresponsible." But Ford insists it is a package deal — all or nothing.

On Capitol Hill, most Democrats responding to the President's fiscal program unveiled Monday night, were curious about the choices Ford had in mind.

"It is irresponsible for the President to call for a massive cut in federal spending without identifying where the cuts are to be made," said Sen. Hubert Humphrey, D-Minn.

Long, D-La., said, "It might be better to push through a one-year extension of the tax-cut provisions which expire Dec. 31, rather than attempt to make them permanent."

Al Ullman, chairman of the Ways and Means Committee already working on tax legislation, put off further committee deliberations on major issues to give the administration time to be specific about the "hard choices" to strike out swinging blindly and put a $36 billion ceiling on without a budget just seems to me totally preposterous and something I'm shocked the administration would propose," Ullman said.

"I wonder who he would do if we took the $28 billion out of defense and space and foreign aid. He'd obviously veto them," Ullman said.

Leaf-pickup program to begin on Oct. 20

However, because of the many calls and visits they received from people concerned with leaf-pickup, the directors indicated bi-partisan support for continuing the program.

On a suggestion by Director Phyllis Jackson, the town manager was instructed to seek cost figures for a leaf-pickup program by outside contractors — to be considered for next year, if favorable. The purpose, explained Mrs. Jackson, is to free highway personnel for other duties in 1976.

This fall's program, said Town Manager Robert Weiss, may require an additional $9,000 appropriation. He recommended a "wait-and-see" approach before an appropriation is considered — to determine the severity of winter expenses.

Leaf-pickup program to begin on Oct. 20

The Board of Directors Tuesday night authorized continuation of Manchester's leaf-pickup program. The action was by unanimous vote and followed only brief discussion.

The program is scheduled to start Oct. 20 and continue through the first week in December, weather permitting.

Actually, the program has been in effect for many years and hasn't been interrupted. What was interrupted, last May when the board adopted the 1975-76 budget, was the intent for the program.

The board had stipulated that the program be dropped, in favor of other work projects by highway department personnel.
