Mao meets Kissinger

PEKING (UPI) - Communist party chief Mao Tse-tung met unexpectedly with Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger tonight, American delegation officials said. The meeting in the Great Hall of the People came so suddenly that Kissinger left some 2,000 guests at a reception he was hosting. There had been concern a combination of antidelete feeling plus a question of the ability of Washington to influence world affairs - because of troubles there from the Ford administration and Congress - had caused a dip in American prestige in China. Kissinger's meeting with Mao also indicated that Ford, when he arrives in China shortly after Thanksgiving, will also see the chairman. Before meeting with Mao, Kissinger took a break in negotiations and joined China's top diplomat on a joke-filled, huffing-and-puffing march up the hills west of Peking. This is the most exercise I've had in six months," Kissinger told Chinese Foreign Minister Chiao Kuan-hua. "Do I have to walk up again?" The sighting came on the third day of a five-day China trip aimed at setting the stage for Ford's trip. More than halfway through the hike, Chiao began to feel the exertion. He shrugged off his overcoat, which an aide picked up before it hit the ground. Kissinger kept his jacket on. Before the hike, Kissinger appeared to underline the U.S. devotion to detente by inviting the Soviet Union, China's arch enemy, to today's reception for Peking's diplomatic colony. Vernon's town planner and they are seeking the services of a study group at the University of Connecticut. He said the group is very helpful in doing economic impact studies, at no charge. Atty. Schwelb said such a study would be needed as the town has to have an affidavit that removal of the rails would have a detrimental effect on the area's economy. He said removal of the rails would definitely be taking an asset from the town. Vernon has placed a tax lien against Penn Central. The railroad owns Vernon and Coventry tax money but Penn Central claims there is an order that would prevent the town from serving the liens. Atty. Schwelb said the injunction action has nothing to do with the collection of the back taxes. He said there are still some very involved questions to be answered. He said the impact study may prove that the economic impact on the town would be insignificant.

Vernon to seek injunction to halt removal of rails

BARBARA RICHMOND

The town of Vernon is in the process of preparing supportive data to go into court to attempt to obtain a temporary injunction to stop action on removal of Penn Central rails in town. Mayor Frank McCoy told the Town Council last night that he felt this was the only measure that can be taken now, "or we'll wake up some morning and find the tracks have been taken up in Vernon." Outlining what has taken place, to date, since he accidentally discovered about two weeks ago that track removal equipment was in Vernon, the mayor said a representative from Penn Central had been in town to try to set the facts, straight about the agreement between the State Department of Transportation (DOT) and Penn Central. He said it seems to be Penn Central's opinion that the rails have been sold to the contractor and therefore Penn Central has no say about them. The representative added that Penn Central feels the state has been given ample time to have come up with an offer concerning the tracks and therefore does not feel it is acting in bad faith. The railroad spokesman, Robert McKernan, was referring to the fact that the state has agreed to purchase the 19-mile right-of-way but hasn't been successful in obtaining federal funds to buy the rails. Mayor McCoy said the only other town which has indicated interest in the court action, is Coventry. Belton has, however, attempted to stop action on rail removal in that town where some rail has already been torn up. Vernon's Town Attorney Abbe Schwelb is also town attorney for Coventry. He said he had been in contact with

Eighth District special meeting on Buckland issue set for Nov. 7

By SOL R. COHEN
Herald Reporter

A special meeting of Eighth District voters is scheduled for Nov. 7 at 2:30 p.m. in Bentley School, Hollister St. The meeting is to consider a petition from Buckland property owners for expansion of district lines into their area, "which would be a referendum on the district board. The petition is the second received by the district board. The first was accepted and considered at a special meeting Nov. 31, when district electors, by a voice vote, authorized the expansion. Subsequently, District Counsel John LaBelle declared the petition invalid and said also the July 31 vote was, as a consequence, a "nullity." Assistant Town Councilor Victor Moses also had declared the petition invalid. The Buckland property owners then circulated another petition, designed to meet all requirements, and presented it to the district board. The board, in turn, presented it for review to LaBelle, who ruled it is valid and told District President Michael Massaro he was required to call another special meeting, under the terms of Special Act 200 of the 1963 General Assembly. Massaro announced the Nov. 7 special meeting date at Monday night's meeting of the district board and immediately drew objections from Larry Nove, leader of the petition drive, and Christopher Noble and Robert Blechman, attorneys for the petitioners. All three requested that the special meeting be moved up to Oct. 28 or 29. After adjournment of their regular meeting, the directors met in executive session to consider the request. Massaro then announced the Nov. 7 date stands and that the special meeting will be held there. LaBelle, when he had declared the petition valid, recommended the special meeting for a date after the Nov. 4 town elections. LaBelle is due back Sunday from a trip to Europe. Noone said he's upset by "the lack of expediency" shown by the board and that the special meeting was being "held up unnecessarily" by LaBelle.

United Way helps Homemaker Service

By JUNE TOMPKINS
Herald Reporter

The Manchester Homemaker Service, Inc. is celebrating its 11th birthday this month. The agency serves seven towns including Manchester.

During 1974 the agency carried a caseload of 250 clients with about 23 homemaker-health aides serving about 22,000 hours.

Of this number of cases, 181 were in Manchester and South Windsor, both of which pay their share of supplementary funding through the United Way Fund as well as through the town's budgets.

The other towns, Bolton, Vernon, Tolland, Ellington, and Somers supplement the service to residents of their towns solely through their general town budgets.

Because Homemaker Service is a community-supported agency, families are charged on a sliding scale according to their ability to pay.

The agency, over the years, can take credit for keeping many a family together in cases where it would be impossible due to the household's inability to handle her household duties for a variety of reasons. The homemaker-home health aides receive special training in household management and learn to handle a variety of situations competently. They are also trained in personal care techniques for patients. The training program is conducted by the Connecticut Department of Health and the Department of Vocational Education.

While many people think the service is just for those who cannot afford help, this is definitely not the case. It is used by families of doctors and lawyers, who pay the full fee, as well as by those who cannot pay the full fee.

The basic philosophy of the agency, since its inception, has been to preserve the family unit during times of crisis and to keep the home atmosphere as near normal as possible.

With the advent of Medicare and Medicaid, a whole new area was opened up to keep the home atmosphere as near normal as possible.

One typical case involved a woman who had terminal cancer and needed constant personal care and attention plus someone to manage her home so her husband could continue to work.

In this case, there were no children at home but the homemaker stepped in and cared for the woman's physical needs and took care of the household duties throughout the woman's illness, all supervised by the public health nurse.

Another classic case involved a young woman from a middle class family who had undergone gallbladder surgery. Upon her return home from the hospital she was not up to the physical demands of keeping up her home and caring for a pre-school child.

With the help of the homemaker she was able to convalesce and her husband was able to continue his normal work schedule.

Thanks to us it's working.

Solon predicts Ford will sign NYC bill

The candidates are saying

Mayor John Thompson has responded to a charge Monday by Clarence (Bud) Brown that there's an alarming trend in Manchester toward uncontrolled government spending, similar to the kind "which, at this moment, is creating disastrous situations for municipalities across the country."

Addressing himself directly to Brown and the charges, Thompson stated:

"You give as examples of your concern, the increase in the number of town employees and town-owned passenger vehicles. You imply that in some way the majority Democrats are responsible. Using the years you cited, it is clear that substantial increases in town spending was effected by the previous Republican Board of Directors. A much more prudent approach to government spending has been taken by the present Democratic majority."

"For comparison purposes, you use the fiscal periods 1969-70 through 1974-75. My first point out that in three of the five budget years you cite a Republican majority controlled the Board of Directors. Democrats were not included in budget deliberations in 1969-70 and 1971-72. We have ended that practice, Republicans fully participate in all budget-making workshops. In the Republican period, the number of employees increased from 343 to 411. A jump of 68 employees, and an increase of 20% in the two following years you cite, when the Democrats controlled, 13 employees were added, an increase of 3%.

"Eleven different departments are operating with fewer employees today than when we took office. Some of these employees have been shifted to other areas to meet priorities. For years a Republican board ignored its legal obligation to provide a full-time health director. We employed a director and two inspectors to upgrade our health services. We have added nine employees to our police department. Three of these new employees were disabled veterans. They became police dispatchers and freed uniformed patrolmen for patrol duties to try to upgrade our public safety and our efforts against criminal activity. The three dispatchers and eighteen other positions are federally funded and give us a needed service at little cost to Manchester. Five positions were added to the Fire Department. (Some of these haven't yet been filled.) Other departments are operating with either one or two new employees or with reduced staffs.

"We adopted an austerity budget in 1975-76. Vacated positions are not automatically filled. Any position to be filled must be approved by our Board of Directors. In short, Mr. Brown, we have straightened out a serious mess left by the previous Republican Board of Directors. At the same time we have tried to be fair to our employees."

"In response to your second question concerning new passenger cars, I believe your figures are misleading. Again, substantial growth occurred under the previous Republican majority. We have doubled the number of police cars from 11 in 1969-70 to 23 in 1974-75. We have more police patrols today, and more uniformed policemen available. We have added 4 jump of 68 employees, and an increase of 20%. In the two following years you cite, when the Democrats controlled, 13 employees were added, an increase of 3%.

"Eleven different departments are operating with fewer employees today than when we took office. Some of these employees have been shifted to other areas to meet priorities. When the Board of Directors adopted Manchester's 1975-76 budget, its goal, as explained in a May statement by Mayor John Thompson, was "to avoid laying off town employees" and to adopt "a policy of attrition for our work force."

Noting at the time, "We have succeeded," Thompson said, "Vacancies will be filled by promotion or internal transfer approved by our Board of Directors. Turnover of employees will gradually reduce our work force."

Town Manager Robert Weiss said last week the town is "running into serious problems."

The Manchester Chapter, Disabled American Veterans, will meet tonight at 8 at the American Legion Home.

The Cub Scout pack at Buckley School will have a costume party Wednesday at its first meeting of the season at 7 p.m. at the school. All cubs and their families are encouraged to attend the party.

because of the board's budget policy and he's asking it to consider filling vacancies in several departments.

He said the suggestion for filling vacancies by transfers from other departments "generally are not feasible, due to the thin staffing already existing in most departments."

Not involved is a department head vacancy in the building department and one to be created in November in the highway department.

Examinations are being scheduled for a chief building inspector. Francis Conti has been acting chief inspector since Thomas Monahan retired. John Burchill, superintendent of highways and sanitation, will leave his post next month. It, too, will be filled by examination. On Friday, vacancies were filled for four top jobs in the police department.

Weiss said six vacancies exist in the fire department and that he hopes to fill them during the current fiscal year, as funds become identified. He said five police officer vacancies exist, with three to be filled shortly and the other two before the end of the 1975-76 fiscal year, as funds permit. In addition, said Weiss, two dispatcher vacancies were created by resignations of one filled with the help of a 50 per cent salary federal grant.

He said a vacancy exists in the health department, another in the welfare department, two in the water and sewer department, six in the highway department and one expected in December in the recreation department.

"The positions," he said in a memo to the Board of Directors, "are considered essential to the effective operation of the departments involved."

The board received the memo last Tuesday. It tabled it without discussion.

Rothman variance request denied by zoning agency

After hearing objections by neighboring property owners, the Manchester Zoning Board of Appeals (ZBA) Monday night denied a zoning variance which would have allowed construction of a two-family house on Bond St.

The ZBA unanimously decided that the applicant, Gerald P. Rothman, didn't prove a legal hardship. Only single-family dwellings are allowed in the Residence A Zone area.

Atty. David Golas, representing Rothman, argued that a two-family variance wouldn't change the character of the neighborhood because of mixed uses on Bond St. and an influx of business uses in the area.

But Bond St. residents said there are only single-family homes on the street and a two-family dwelling would be out of place. Four persons spoke against the variance, and an opposition petition submitted to the ZBA contained 11 signatures.

In other business Monday night, the ZBA:

- Approved a variance sought by Elizabeth Locke to divide a 3.5-acre parcel into two residential lots at 564 Bush Hill Rd., Rural Residence Zone.
- Approved a side yard variance requested by Douglas and Diane Willett, to erect an addition to their home at 124 Washington St., Residence A Zone.
- Agreed to reconsider at a public hearing next month an application denied last month. John W. Greene is seeking approval to erect a larger-than-allowed free-standing sign at his new Midas Muffler Shop, 285 Main St. The application failed last month due to inconclusive ZBA voting.

MHS post-high school seminar this evening

The third in a series of post-high school education seminars will be tonight at 7:30 in the Manchester High School cafeteria.

Mrs. Sara Robinson, MHS guidance counselor, will discuss local and regional sources of financial aid.

John Rupp, director of financial aid at the University of Connecticut, will discuss the parents' confidential statement and the basic educational opportunity grants.

The Connecticut student loan program and other bank loans for education will be explained by a representative from a local bank.

The seminar is sponsored by the adult evening school and is free to all interested parents and students.

The final post-high school education seminar will be next Tuesday at the same time in the same place.

Again, we must hang together, or...

"When in the course of human events the threat of extinction confronts mankind, it is necessary for the people of the United States to declare their interdependence with the people of all nations and to embrace those principles and build those institutions which will enable mankind to survive and civilization to flourish."

1789, when the new system of federal government began to function under the U.S. Constitution. Like that original Declaration, it is recognized that this will be a beginning, not a conclusion of effort," says Frederick Holding, chairman of the council's Bicentennial Era program.

Why a "Declaration of Interdependence"? Because just as the founding fathers of the United States framed their Declaration on the basis of certain self-evident truths, new self-evident truths of an even more complex nature confront the United States and the whole world today.

The lives, fortunes and cultures of all peoples are threatened by worldwide imbalances of food, natural resources, intercontinental pollution, world population, crisis in the international monetary system and military armaments out of control, as well as a host of other threats to human development and order that transcend national boundaries, points out William W. Bodine Jr., president of the council.

"It is time," he says, "for daring initiatives by people concerned and responsible for the fate of mankind." It is the council's hope to reawaken the spirit that led to a mutuality of understanding among the American colonies and to kindle that same spirit for an understanding of mutuality among nations.

As the nation approaches its Bicentennial, says Bodine, "nothing could be more timely and relevant than to extend the concept of interdependence to interdependence." "The Vietnam, parallel doesn't hold. The American 'adversers' in Vietnam, first sent under Dwight Eisenhower, were there to organize and teach military operations. The 200 technicians in the Sinai will be there with the consent of both sides, to warn everyone against attacks mounted from whatever source. They will not be soldiers in disguise but the peace wardens of the passes.

Pa, who was Irish, would be pleased

ANDREW TULLY

WASHINGTON - Let the record show that former Sen. J. William Fulbright of Arkansas is now entitled to be addressed as "Sir."

Fulbright, an Angliophile from 'way back, finally found his way home when he was knighted by Great Britain "for outstanding contributions to Anglo-American relations." Standing in for Queen Elizabeth, British Ambassador St. Peter Hambrotham decorated Fulbright as an Honorary Knight Commander of the British Empire.

The knighthood had to be honorary because a law says no American citizen may accept a foreign title without getting into a peck of trouble with the U.S. authorities and probably losing his American citizenship. I won't report Fulbright if I catch him responding to a pal's surreptitious "Sir William," but will merely shrug it off as a victimless crime.

However, I trust Fulbright will not go about harassing peasants and abducting lower-class damsels, as knights are still technically entitled to do by the rules and regulations of chivalry. I will be annoyed if he goes charging into a supermarket and starts pillaging the joint, or demands free Dover sole at Sans Souci.

In fact, it's been a long time since a knight misbehaved in such a manner, although the Beatles kept right on being nuisances after they were knighted, and I wouldn't trust around the block some of the British industrial tycoons with "Sir" in front of their handles.

Still, the whole knight-hood-nobility gimmick has become a piece of mostly harmless nonsense. Titles don't mean that much these days, even in the British Isles, on account of what the tax collector has wrought. Many titled Englishmen and even a few Lords and Ladies actually work for a living and do not have unlimited credit at ritzy saloons.

Pa, who was Irish, would have been pleased by this turn of events. He regarded knights and peers of the realm as a bunch of lazy loafers afflicted with the morals of a Parisian courtesier. He was always delighted when a member of the nobility was caught with his hand in the till or in a Chelsea love nest with someone else's spouse.

This sometimes castrated strained relations of the family dinner table because Ma was a church of England Britisher and did not take kindly to Pa's wisecracks about what he called the "king and queen racket." She was a good, loyal American who enjoyed the Fourth of July, almost as much as Pa did, but she had an abiding pride in and affection for the titled crowd.

Pa would sit down to take on a load of pot roast, clear his throat and then remark that he hoped Ma had read about Lord Whatsitname's arrest for embezzling funds of the Society for the Protection of Hunting Dogs "Poor England," he'd say with a sigh, "burdened with a gang of pillering nobles."

We need respond quietly that she had indeed read about Lord Whatsitname's "troubles," but she had also taken note of the activities of a certain U.S. Senator who had been convicted for accepting bribes. Her argument was that Milord had not turned to thievery because he was a peer but because he was a crook.

That was the trouble with Great Britain, Pa would say; it was a country where a born crook was a peer because he had the right blood. A man, he said, should be required to work his way up at some useful task before the government let him inherit a title.

Such debates always ended in a tie, most because Pa had a gallant streak and he knew how far he could go without hurting his wife's feelings. "All right, dear," he'd say, "you can have your Lords and Sirs, and I'll take democracy."

"Thank you, Andrew," Ma would reply. "But if you don't mind I think I'm entitled to have both."

And so, indeed, is J. William Fulbright. Another hand across the ocean won't do either Britain or the U.S. any harm.

The 200 American Technicians

Some of my friends are fearful about the Israeli-Egyptian agreement which will bring 200 American technicians to monitor the early warning system against attacks from either side at the Mitla passes in the Sinai. They are wrong. Their basic wrongness is that in their fear of a repetition of the U.S. entanglement in Vietnam they have allowed themselves to become mindlessly isolationist. Any American involvement in the affairs of other nations, however crucial it may be to world peace, seems to them beyond the pale. Once frightened, twice and forever on guard against unreal as well as real dangers.

MAX LERNER

sides, to warn everyone against attacks mounted from whatever source. They will not be soldiers in disguise but the peace wardens of the passes. Still, the whole knight-hood-nobility gimmick has become a piece of mostly harmless nonsense. Titles don't mean that much these days, even in the British Isles, on account of what the tax collector has wrought.

Wants vigilant councilmen

"Who authorized sewers to be included at the town expense? The answer was 'Oops, someone made a mistake.' The sewers were deleted and construction went ahead. What a precedent that would have set for future industrial roads.

Jackson vote urged

During this past year there has been much progress made in this town which has been beneficial to all of us. We have also had several local governmental problems that have been controversial. One of the members of the Board of Directors has freed all of these issues squarely and with fortitude.

In the brilliant analysis in The New York Times Magazine, Richard H. Ullman, of Princeton, points out some things which might be argued. The early-warning system will operate for the Egyptians as well as the Israelis. It will strip Israel of the surprise element, which it has used in earlier wars before the last one. Moreover, there is little danger of the American technicians getting trapped between the two camps if shooting starts in earnest. Once they have given the warning, they will have time to extricate themselves by helicopter.

Again the insistent question, what then does Israel gain? It gains world attention and American attention. And it gains the promise of an American presence. This is the key fact about the Middle East problem for the next decade: It will not be resolved without an American presence there, in one form or another. I am not talking of troops meant to take part in military action, as is true of the American NATO contingents, but of some kind of security setup which will operate under the U.N. Security Council and will include Americans as well as others.

This will probably be the deep thrust of the final stage of the negotiations, which will focus on Israel and Syria and will include agreements on the Golan Heights, Jerusalem, the West Bank and the Palestine Liberation Organization (PLO). Assad and Yasser Arafat will be hard bargainers. For Israel there will be greater anguish ahead on what it has to yield than was true even about the Sinai oil fields and passes.

Since Syria - unlike Egypt - is Soviet-oriented, the Soviet Union will have to be part of the settlement. I don't see the danger in making its agonized decision unless there is an American presence in the disputed area, as part of the peace underwritten by the United States and probably the Soviet Union as well.

TODAY'S THOUGHT

"Well, my mother taught me to smile at people and always be nice... that's the most important thing... always be nice. Sure some people bother me, but I keep my feelings inside and just smile. My mother always said, smile and the world smiles with you; weep and you weep alone." - Eve Angvall

Food stamp changes proposed

WASHINGTON (UPI) - President Ford's proposal to change the food stamp program contains elements of two contrasting bills already introduced on the subject. Borrowing from the more conservative of them, sponsored by Sen. James Buckley, CR-N.Y., the Ford program would set a family's eligibility to the official poverty level at $5,600 for a family of four, thus eliminating about 3.4 million people from the program now serving about 18.8 million persons.

Alternative rail plan urged by Sen. Ribicoff

WASHINGTON (UPI) - The revised railroad consolidation plan is an improvement over the original, Sen. Abraham Ribicoff, D-Conn., said today, but it still will have "disastrous economic consequences." Ribicoff, in testimony for the Senate surface transportation subcommittee, called for an alternative rail rehabilitation plan to improve American passenger and freight service. The Connecticut Democrat said the final plan of the U.S. Railway Association failed to provide for a primary freight route into Connecticut and restoration of the Poughkeepsie, N.Y., rail bridge.

BETTY'S NOTEBOOK

By BETTY RYDER

Do you have a character in your neighborhood? You know someone who always manages to get into predicaments, such as losing golf balls in the drain pipes, or running out with the trash and returning to find the door locked.

Well, we have one in our neighborhood, and I think it's me.

For instance, the other morning, while waving one of the children off to school, "Red" scooted out the door.

Now "Red" is my dog and we call him "Red" because he is. Well he is always hitched on a chain when he goes out—unless of course he escapes—which was the case last week.

He darted across the street, and "woofed" hello to the world as I stood on the back steps gently calling his name. You have to be gentle with "Red" or he won't come back at all.

He paid absolutely no attention, and I had visions of him being picked up by an alert dog warden or hit by a passing car.

Well, there I was in my Salvador Dali housecoat (you know the kind that looks like it's been shot at and lit) holding a piece of bologna in my hand, ankle deep in soggy grass, trying to coax sweet things to "Red" who had safely made it across the street.

"Red" I said, as I slowly inched closer and closer to him. He laid on the ground, his tail wagging, cause he thinks it's much fun when someone plays with him.

I told him what a good boy he was, dangled the bologna in front of me, thinking all the time that everything would be okay if I could just get close enough to hold onto his collar.

In the meantime, sympathetic neighbors leaving for work, gave a little toot on their car horn, encouraging me to pursue "Red" Ryder a little further.

Suddenly, he stood up, wagged his tail, turned around and walked away.

He paused just once, and "woofed" a message to me. "You really think I'm gonna fall for that old baloney."

Well he returned home when he was darn good and ready which was about two hours later, barked at the door for admittance, sauntered in, sniffed around, then curled up on the dining room rug for a nap.

Sometimes a dog's life doesn't seem too bad.

Summer curriculum workshops reviewed at education board session

At last week's special meeting of the Board of Education, 10 reports were presented on the summer curriculum workshops.

Ralph Smith and Joanne Ochs of Pitkin School explained the Fine Arts program they designed in the workshop. Their main objective was to develop a more meaningful course of study in the areas of music, art, home economics, and industrial arts.

Rachel DeLoe, reading consultant, explained the independent reading program to be implemented at Burnside School with the primary students.

Dorothy Cipolla, a third grade teacher at Hockanum School, spoke on the computerized report card issued last year to Hockanum's third graders.

The objective of this workshop was to improve upon and expand to the fourth grade the same type report card.

Mrs. Cipolla said an informal test is planned to introduce the reporting system to the third grade parents.

Conference periods are held in November so parents and teachers can discuss the first quarter marks. Board members Robert Bannan and Richard Veltri suggested issuing report cards in advance of conference week so parents would have time to study them before meeting with the teachers.

Mrs. Ellen Kowal, school nurse at Penney High, reported on the workshop to develop a health curriculum for Grades 5 through 8 in all schools.

How did the tradition of displaying Halloween jack-o'-lanterns get started?

As the story goes, it all began centuries ago in Ireland. There, a miserly, hard-natured, hard-drinking tella called Jack O'Drinking died and went to heaven. Refused admittance for his earthly misdeeds, he made his way down to hell. But the devil recalled that Jack in his lifetime had once played him a trick. So he barred him from entering.

"But it's dark out here," yelled Jack. Whereupon Satan handed him a pumpkin with a glowing coal inside. And Jack has supposedly wandered the earth with his lantern ever since—visible to human eyes only at Halloween.

Home Solicitation Act Explained

By State Department Of Consumer Protection

To be accosted at home by a door-to-door salesman may sometimes be an unnerving experience. The Connecticut Home Solicitation Act was passed a few years ago to afford protection to consumers in high-pressure sales situations.

Here is how the law works. You may cancel your order if:

1. The sale was made at your home.
2. The cancellation is made within 72 hours. The 72 hours refer to calendar days. If you sign on a Friday, Saturday or Sunday, however, you have until the following Wednesday to cancel.
3. The cancellation is made by certified mail.
4. You may not cancel your order if you pay the full price when you sign the agreement.

Police arrest 10 juveniles for northeast area break-ins

A rash of house breaks and other crimes committed recently led to the arrests Monday of 10 juveniles, said Det. Capt. Joseph Sartor today.

Six of the juveniles are charged with committing about 20 breaks into homes in the northeast corner of town.

Three are charged with unrelated shoplifting incidents. One of the three is a female.

And one is charged with the theft of a mini-bike.

Over $2,000 in small amounts of cash and many small, easily carried items were taken in the breaks, Sartor said. Little of it was recovered. The breaks occurred in August and September.

The homes were on E. Center St. (three), Sanford Rd. (two), Milford Rd. (four), Crosby Rd., Lydall St. (two), Farmington St., Jorht St., Parker St., Scarborough Rd., and Constance Dr.

The shoplifting incidents occurred recently at the Card Gallery in the Parkade, the Health and Beauty Aids store on Spencer St., and the Fly Front on Main St.

The mini-bike was taken from an E. Middle Tpk. address.

Motives for the thefts puzzled police. Sometimes it appeared to be gain. All loose cash was grabbed where it could be seen, Sartor said.

But other times, the juveniles would take such things as a watermelon or four eggs or a half gallon of ice cream.

Five of the children had been involved with police prior to the arrests, said Sgt. Patricia Graves, youth services officer.

All 10 juveniles arrested Monday are being referred to Juvenile Court, Sartor said.

"The kids are reflective of their society," said Robert Erll, director of probation for the Third District of the state Juvenile Court. His district serves the northeast part of the state.

"More violence is occurring in our society," he said.

About these kids arrested Monday, he said, "We take one kid at a time."

Fire lane ordinance public hearing set

VERNON BARBARA RICHMOND
Herald reporter

An ordinance, establishing fire lanes for Vernon, was approved by the Town Council Monday night and will go to a public hearing Nov. 17. The ordinance would carry fines of $100 or $25.

Mayor Frank McCoy said he discussed the advantages of creating fire lanes in certain areas of town with fire marshals William Johnson and Donald Maguda and both agreed that such an ordinance would be of great assistance to the fire departments.

The mayor also said he had discussions with the new owners of the theaters in the redevelopment area and they indicated that the parking of cars in front of the theaters, stores and the cafe, in the shopping center, causes considerable problems and is a deterrent to patrons.

The ordinance defines a fire lane as a designated, unobstructed passageway sufficient in size to permit free passage of fire and other emergency equipment from a public highway to all necessary areas or portions of any private or public property, as designated.

It will be up to the fire marshal to determine where the fire lanes will be established. This will be based on determining the safety of persons occupying or using any public or private place, having a capacity of at least 15 persons as to whether a fire lane is necessary for orderly access of fire and other emergency equipment.

Wherever it is determined there should be a fire lane it will be established by written order of the marshal and announced in the newspapers. The owner of the property involved will also be notified and will have 15 days to object and give his reasons for doing so, by notifying the director of administration.

After a hearing, the director of administration may affirm, modify, or rescind such order.

After a lane is established the public works department will put up adequate signs, markings and such to delineate the fire lane. Such signs or markings installed on privately owned property will be at the cost of the owner and may be billed for and collected as a municipal fee in the same manner as municipal taxes.

The ordinance will require that no person park, or permit to stand, a motor vehicle in a fire lane which has been established in accordance with the ordinance, unless the driver stays in the vehicle and is in the actual process of picking up or putting down passengers. Any person violating this section will be fined not more than $100.

Any vehicle found standing in a fire lane may be towed, upon the direction of a police officer, and the expenses will be paid by the owner of the vehicle.

Whenever a vehicle is found in violation of the section concerning leaving a vehicle in a fire lane, the owner or operator shall be served with a notice directing him to appear at the

The South Windsor Town Council has tabled a decision regarding the Avery Brook Watershed Project since discovering that purchase of the Philip Welles property may not be necessary.

According to Mayor Robert Smith, the town may be allowed to obtain an easement on the property for the construction of a portion of the dam on property owned by Welles.

Welles, a long-time resident of South Windsor, said he would be interested in discussing the easement rights and did not wish to move from the property.

The $700,000 plan to control Avery Brook flooding was submitted by the U.S. Department of Agriculture Soil Conservation Service and calls for two dams.

South Windsor residents defeated a referendum in March of 1974 for town construction of dams. Under a bill passed in 1974 by the General Assembly, the state-purchased land would permit building costs to be assumed by the Soil Conservation Service.

Series resumes tonight

BOSTON (UPI) — And on the fourth day they played. Or so it was hoped in this west of World Series since 1903. At 3:30 p. EDT Monday, Commissioner Bowie Kuhn called off game six between the Cincinnati Reds and Boston Red Sox for the first straight day and rescheduled it for 6:30 p.m. EDT tonight.

"The weather report for Tuesday is quite good," Kuhn explained. "The forecast for a Monday game wasn't all that bad either, but the condition of the field just wasn't suitable, we felt, for game conditions."

"Although we felt the field could be playable for a Tuesday afternoon game, it most surely will be playable by Tuesday night."

In addition to the steady rain pelting this city for three straight days, the bone chilling dampness accompanying it took its toll of the Red Sox from owner Tom Yawkey down.

Yawkey, Manager Darrell Johnson, outfielder Dwight Evans, first baseman Carl Yastrzemski, reliever Rogelio Moret, and sixth game starter Luis Tiant have been battling severe chest colds all week.

"I've been sick, Louie's been sick and there's quite a few others," said Evans, one of the Red Sox hitting stars (.358) thus far in the series. "But I've played sick before and so have the other guys. Besides in this business you can't very well call in sick."

Despite the latest postponement — both managers—Johnson and Sparky Anderson of the Reds—seemed at last to have settled their pitching plans.

Tiant, winner of two games already, will still be the Boston starter tonight in this "must" game for the Red Sox, who trail in game 3-2. Anderson will stick with Gary Nolan, saving his ace, lefty Don Gullett, in the event of a seventh and deciding game.

If it does go to seven games Johnson will pitch southpaw Bill Lee, his original choice (before the rain) for the sixth game. The record for a postponement of a series games was six days set in the 1911 series between the Philadelphia Athletics and New York Yankees.

March of protest

DETROIT (UPI) — Thirty-five angry women marched through the front doors of the staid all-male Detroit Athletic Club Monday to protest a longstanding club rule that requires women to enter by a side door.

"Everyone has a right to say their piece, I guess," said one astonished club member who was just about to light a cigar as the women massed in the lobby and began reading a protest resolution.

Davis peddled to Expos, fifth team in two years

ST. LOUIS (UPI) — Irrespressible Willie Davis, a 35-year-old veteran of 15 seasons in the major leagues, has been sent to his fifth team in less than two years.

Rodeo at Civic Center lists four performances

The exciting sounds of pounding hooves, bawling steers and yipping cowboys will reverberate through the Hartford Civic Center when the All American Pro Rodeo hits the city.

The colorful and fast-moving western show will be staged Oct. 31 and Nov. 12 in the Center. Cowboys from throughout the nation will be on hand for a crack at prize money and a chance to boost their points standing in the Rodeo Cowboys Association.

Johnson enjoys life at the top

BOSTON (UPI) — Now that he's managing in the World Series and everyone's making a fuss over him, crowding around him for his opinion, his autograph or his time, it wouldn't be any trouble at all for Darrell Johnson to gloss over his baseball beginning, brush it under the rug so to speak.

All he has to do is mention it and most people laugh. Sh-h-h, don't breathe this around too much, but Darrell Johnson broke in with the old St. Louis Browns. That's right, those fumbling, bumbling Browns who still symbolize baseball futility in the absolute even though they've been inoperative now more than 20 years.

How bad were the St. Louis Browns? Well, they were the only club in history who found a way of mathematically eliminating themselves by May. Bill Vecek, the man who had them at the end, said if he could trade enough of them to the other American League clubs, he could lose up the rest of the league.

But Johnson, now managing the Boston Red Sox, isn't the least bit defensive over the fact he came up through the St. Louis Browns' chain and was no more than a backup catcher for them in 1952.

"I had very mediocre talent," he confesses, "but I could catch."

He could, indeed, and says no matter what others thought about the

Whalers' Hangsleben to Cape Cod

HARTFORD (UPI) — The New England Whalers have assigned defenseman Alan Hangsleben temporarily to the Cape Codders of the North American Hockey League, Coach Jack Kelley says.

"Hangsleben is going down to the Cape to get experience at both defense and left wing," Kelley said Monday. "It's a difficult decision to make but I feel it's in the best interest of the player and the team."

Looking at the long-term picture, to have him playing at this time.

BOSTON (UPI) — The lives of World Series umpire Larry Barnett and members of his family have been threatened and all have been placed under police protection, the Boston Herald-American reported today.

The Boston office of the FBI said a complaint was made "and we are investigating." The FBI declined further comment.

"The lives of World Series umpire Larry Barnett, his wife and daughter have been threatened and all have been placed under police protection," the Herald's Bill Liston wrote in a front-page exclusive.

The Cincinnati Reds lead the Boston Red Sox 3-2 in the series, which resumes tonight in Boston. Barnett made a controversial decision in the 10th inning of the third World Series game, in Cincinnati, after the Reds' Ted Armbrister was involved in a collision with Boston catcher Carlton Fisk. The Red Sox claimed interference, but Barnett ruled there was none.

The collision followed a bunt by Armbrister. Fisk then threw the ball into centerfield trying to get a runner at second base. Pete Rose walked to fill the bases and Joe Morgan got a hit to give the Reds a 6-5 win.

"Local sources produced the information that mail threatening and harassing Barnett has been arriving daily at Fenway ever since the series adjourned here from Cincinnati on Friday," the article said.

"While not confirmed by the sources, it was believed that the threat against Barnett and his family was the result of the disputed call," it said.

The threat that resulted in the guard and investigation came in a telegram from Cincinnati, the story said. Also, the article said, "extortion demands have been made on Barnett, and the other five umpires working the series."

The article said "An FBI agent is with Barnett during his every waking hour and even screens Barnett's mail which he picks up in the umpires room in Fenway Park." It said a round-the-clock guard has been placed on Barnett's family.

The article said Baseball Commissioner Bowie Kuhn's office requested the FBI enter the case after Barnett informed Kuhn of the threats.

Women pros to replace celebrities
HARTFORD (UPI) — Officials of the World Cup tennis tournament say women pros will replace celebrities in an exhibition match prior to the annual contest between U.S. and Australian players.

Thomas Collins, tournament director, said Monday the decision to include a mixed doubles exhibition match next March was based on a canvass of spectators at this year's tournament.

Collins said the change recognizes "the importance of women in the sport" as well as their providing "serious competition" to strengthen the tournament as a major tennis event.

He said the two women players would be named at a later date.

The World Cup tournament pits five women teams from the United States against Australia. The Aussies have won all but one of the six annual tournaments, held in the Hartford Civic Center.

Defensive realignment helps Pats to rebound

FOXBORO, Mass. (UPI) — The New England Patriots, who have used a college defense since the start of last season, won their first game of 1975 by looking like pros.

The Patriots resorted Sunday to the four-man defensive front, the set most pro teams use, and held the Baltimore Colts to 130 yards of total offense in a 21-10 victory. The new, old defensive alignment also helped New England linemen sack Baltimore quarterback Bert Jones six times for losses totaling 57 yards.

"We thought we had not been rushing as well as we should so we put in an extra down lineman," said Bill Plunkett, who will play four three-man line with four linebackers. "We had good results but it doesn't mean we're going to do it other days. It worked because it was something the Colts weren't expecting."

Nose tackle Ray Hamilton, who had two sacks as did end Craig Hanemann, said the team's defensive performance "was something that we've needed for a long time. We believe that in Tony McGee, Hanemann and myself, we have the quickness to beat anybody one on one."

With a three-man rush, I was double and triple teamed. This time, I was able to blow right in there."

While the defense stymied the Colts, the Patriots offense ground out their most overland yardage in nine years. Andy Johnson, replacing injured Mack Herron at halfback, did the big running job with two touchdowns and 124 yards to seal the initial win in the team's fifth game.

Sam Cunningham also banged out 59 yards and Herron had 36.

Bennet's runners in split

Downed in cross country action yesterday was the Bennet Junior High team, 21-37, by Vernon Middle School. The Bennet girls won by an 11-13 margin.

Bob Strauss and Ken Belcourt took the first two places for Vernon with Steve Takemata and Craig Woykowsky taking the next two places for the Bears. Bob LaChance, Roy Gallant and Mike James rounded out the scoring for Bennet.

Sue Taylor of Vernon won the girls' race with Sue Caouette taking second for Bennet. Chris Cheney and Judy Stoker took fourth and fifth for the Bears clinching the win.

Collins proud to represent USA, wanted American flag to wave

MEXICO CITY (UPI) — Seven years after United States black athletes held their first high at the Olympic Stadium as a protest against their country, Bill Collins stood on the same winner's stand and wished he had a giant American flag to wave.

"We are all proud to represent our country," said Collins, who moments before had outprinted Cuban Jose Triana over the final leg of the 400-meter relay. "We know America is No. 1 and we wanted to show it."

American pride, something of a nonentity of late, grew during the past week at the Pan American Games because of Cuban boasting and continual harassment from Mexican crowds.

And that pride broke out in a rash of gold medal performances Monday — the United States winning six of eight finals on the last day of track and field and taking four of five awards in swimming.

With five days remaining in the Games, the U.S. had stockpiled 81 gold medals and 138 overall compared with Cuba's 33 first places and 83 total medals.

The American surge was best represented by Collins and his 400-meter relay teammates — Clarence Edwards, Larry Brown and Bob Merrick.

Collins took the baton two strides in front of Triana but quickly the Cuban came alongside the American.

"I wanted to go out easy so he could come up next to me," said Collins. "And then I destroyed him. I don't care who they had as an anchorman today (Cuba's Leonard), did not run because of an injury suffered last week. I was up for his race."

"We have had this big gripe with the Cubans. But the U.S. will always be No. 1 in track and field.

"We wanted to give a performance on the platform after we won. We wanted to have four American flags and wave them. We couldn't find any. We looked all over the Pan American Village for some flags, but they didn't have any."

"We wanted to show we were proud of the United States."

It was in the Olympics here in 1968 that John Carlos

Monday was the busiest day at the Games, and the U.S. made the most of it. Along with the 400-meter relay victory at the track, the Americans came up with victories from Tony Waldrop of Columbus, N.C. in the 1,500-meter run; Sherry Calvert of Los Alamitos, Calif., in the javelin; Earl Bell of Jonesboro, Ark., in the pole vault and the men's 1,600-meter and women's 400-meter relay teams.

At the swimming pool the United States had wins from Steve Furniss of Santa Ana, Calif., in the 400-meter individual medley; Laura Stirling of Modesto, Calif., in the 100-meter breaststroke; Kim Peyton of Portland, Ore., in the 200-meter freestyle (her second gold in as many nights), and the men's 400-meter freestyle relay team.

In addition the American basketball team whipped Canada 84-73, in its toughest period with failing to 68-1 for the season. Playing well for the Eagles was sophomore Don Martin who was pressed into service as goalie because of an injury to starter Geoff Blackwell. Martin made eight saves.

"I've always been proud to be an American," said 1,500-meter winner Tony Waldrop. "It is always a thrill to stand on the platform and hear our national anthem being played."

"I guess I'm an old fashioned, but that's the way I am. I think there are a lot of things wrong in our country that must be improved. But I wouldn't want to live anywhere but in North Carolina."

The candidates are saying...

Louise M. Cronin, Republican candidate for town treasurer, said today, "I promise to bring a fresh approach to the office of town treasurer by investigation, research and advisement to the Board of Directors and the Pension Board members so that the most prudent use of the funds entrusted to the care and supervision of the treasurer will be realized. I pledge to safeguard the funds entrusted to me and to further see that these funds will be placed where they will realize the highest return possible."

"I am keenly concerned about the present and future status of the town employees' pensions. I feel their pension fund is in jeopardy because it has not been fully funded in the past. I intend to make sure that the Board of Directors is provided with the necessary information regarding the funding of the Pension Fund and that these funds are actually sound and available for future use. Since the town assumed the obligation of providing certain benefits to the town employees I feel we are morally bound to provide the necessary funding to meet these benefits for all who will be entitled to them."

"I will definitely listen to the wishes of the voters and follow their mandate — as with the question of the establishment of a finance department. In 1973 the people of Manchester voted against such a consolidation in a referendum and I think that is sufficient reason at the present time not to support a finance department. I think the division of a controller who is appointed and the treasurer who is elected and answerable to the people every two years is a good balance for the town. With a department of finance there would be another department head who would be at the whim of the town manager. The only recourse left to the people would be the Board of Directors which is a policy-making organization not a financial organization. The treasurer is the last elected financial official the people have who should act as "watch dog" over the town monies.

 "I am no stranger in the field of money management. I have a sound business background in addition to my assets of taxpayer and wife. For almost 22 years I have had the responsibility of managing my husband's pay check. Even though we are in a modest income bracket I am proud of the success I have had in managing our savings and investments. We receive the highest return for our family dollars because I keep a constant watch on our fluctuating economic market and move in the direction which gives us the highest and most prudent return for our family dollar.

 "I would appreciate your vote and support on Tuesday, Nov. 4. I would feel it a privilege to give of my talents and ability in money management to the people of Manchester."

Costa wins MHS scholarship

Keith N. Costa, 315 Grissom Rd., has been chosen as the Manchester High School winner in the Bicentennial Seniors scholarship competition.
 The MHS competition is part of a nationwide scholarship program for high school seniors conducted by the National Association of Secondary School Principals with funds from the Shell Oil Company.
 Runners-up are Rebecca Timbrell and Deborah Duff.
 Costa's winning composition consists of a "Bicentennial Minute" and a commentary discussing the relevance of this "minute" for today and for America's future. He also scored high on a current events test.

The selection committee was composed of Elgin Zatursky, head of the social studies department at MHS; Dr. Alfred Tychsen, assistant school superintendent in charge of curriculum, and Nathan Agostinelli, president of the Manchester State Bank.

Costa will compete with other high school winners to become one of the two state representatives in the national competition. Two winners from each state and the District of Columbia will receive a scholarship of $1,000 and an all-expense paid trip to Williamsburg, Va., in January to attend seminars on educational and social issues and to be on hand for the selection of the national winner.

 The grand prize winner receives a $10,000 scholarship and will have his "Bicentennial Minute" presented on the CBS television network.

Drive for emergency food pantry started

A canned food drive to replenish the Emergency Food Pantry is being sponsored by Manchester Conference of Churches, Manchester Community College Voluntary Action Program and the Collegiate Civitan Club, Friday and Sunday.

The Pantry is a permanent food bank for eligible Manchester residents. Collection boxes will be placed throughout the school system for donations Friday. Boxes will be placed Sunday in Assumption, Center Congregational, St. Bartholomew, St. Bridget, Concordia Lutheran, Community Baptist, Emanuel Lutheran, North United Methodist, St. James, St. Mary's Episcopal and Second Congregational Churches and Temple Beth Shalom.

UNICEF group to greet Danny Kaye at airport

Mrs. Helen Meister of 6 Overlook Dr. will meet with Danny Kaye Monday at Bradley Airport to talk about the UNICEF program in Manchester.

Mrs. Meister is the Hartford area chair person for Kaye's visit to promote UNICEF (United Nations Children's Fund) fund gathering during this Halloween.
 She will lead a delegation of about 50 Manchester youngsters and an equal number from West Hartford. UNICEF derives a great deal of its annual funds from the Halloween trick or treating of young goblins, witches and other spooks. In one hand, they get a treat. In the other, they show a UNICEF can for coins.

 Mrs. Meister said Church Women United in Manchester has made the town a leader in the nation in contributions to UNICEF each year. The town's spooks collected $2,400 in 1974. UNICEF uses the funds to help other children in less fortunate lands, she said.

 Kaye will be piloting his own jet called UNICEF ONE.
 Mayor John Thompson will accompany the children and Mrs. Meister.

Save this special supplement to assist you in making your choices in the Manchester election.

It tells you where to vote and how to go about casting your ballot.

It gives brief biographies of candidates for the Board of Education and the Board of Directors.

It gives their answers to questions about issues affecting Manchester.

Election just two weeks away

BY SOL R. COHEN
Herald Reporter

Two weeks from today, Manchester voters will go to the polls to elect a nine-member Board of Directors, a town treasurer, six members to the nine-member Board of Education, a three-member Board of Selectmen and seven constables.

All but the Board of Education members will serve two years, from Nov. 17, 1975 to Nov. 21, 1977. The school board members serve three-year terms—three from Nov. 17, 1975 to Nov. 20, 1978 and three from Nov. 15, 1976 to Nov. 19, 1979. The reason for electing the 1976-79 members this year is that Manchester holds municipal elections every two years.

An oddity of this year's election is that all 17 Democratic candidates (for the maximum 17 posts available to them) are incumbents.

The 17 Republican candidates comprise 11 incumbents and 6 newcomers.

Only one referendum question appears on the voting machines. It is for a $2,373,000 appropriation for additions and renovations to Bentley and Washington Schools and for replacing the West Side Rec with a new building.

A resolution adopted Sept. 29 by the Board of Directors and Sept. 8 by the Board of Education makes the proposed construction program contingent on the availability of state funding (estimated at just under $1 million). Voting will be from 6 a.m. to 8 p.m. in the town's 10 voting districts. Schools will be closed. All places where alcoholic beverages are sold must remain closed during voting hours. Because package stores and supermarkets may not sell packaged alcoholic goods after 8 p.m., they may not sell any at all that day. However, bars, grills and restaurants may sell drinks after the polls close at 8 p.m.

The chief moderator Nov. 4 will be former State Sen. David Odegard, a Republican. The assistant moderators in all 10 voting districts also will be Republicans. The two political parties alternate. The moderators were Democrats November 1974.

The Democrats, who want to be returned as the majority party for the third consecutive term—for the first time in Manchester history—are running on their record, pointing to their accomplishments while keeping down the tax rate.

The Republicans are stressing a lack of accountability by the Democrats as a top issue and claim they can do a better job with available funds than the Democrats.

In addition to exposure in The Herald's election tab today, the candidates were interviewed on Cable TV and will appear at a League of Women Voters "Meet the Candidates" seminar Wednesday night.

Checks voter list for name

This Manchester voter looks for his name on voter lists posted on billboards in front of the Municipal Building. The list is being changed daily, with the addition of some names and the removal of others (deceased or moved from Manchester). A final voter-list will be made Oct. 24. Yes, this Manchester voter found his name. (Herald photo by Dunn)

Dems ahead of GOP in total of voters

Manchester's preliminary voter lists show the Democrats with a comfortable 2,270 lead over the Republicans—10,613 to 8,343. The 7,850 shown for unaffiliated brings the preliminary total to 26,665.

Permanent voter lists are being prepared and will be completed by Oct. 24. Democratic Registrar Herbert Stevenson and GOP Registrar Fred Peck have announced.

They said the new list will be several hundred voters below the present 26,605 total, because names of those who are deceased or have moved from Manchester will be removed. Whatever the total as of Oct. 24, it will be far below the 27,174 who were eligible to vote in the November 1974 election.

The only names to be added to the list will be those signing up as voters in a 9 a.m. to noon voter-making session Nov. 3 in the town clerk's office. Only those whose eligibility rights will have matured between Oct. 12 and Nov. 3 (plus those who will turn 18 on Nov. 4) will be eligible to sign up Nov. 3 for voting the next day.

LWV and Herald asked candidates these questions

The League of Women Voters and The Manchester Evening Herald posed three questions to each of the 12 candidates for the Board of Directors and two questions to each of the eight candidates for the Board of Education.

The candidates' responses appear on the following pages along with pictures and brief biographies.

Here are the questions asked of the candidates for the Board of Directors:

1. Can Manchester improve the quality of municipal services within reasonable budgetary limits?
2. What problems do you foresee in the development of Buckland Commons? How would you solve these problems? What benefits to the town do you see in the development of Buckland Commons?
3. Do you feel government effort should be put forth to reinvigorate the central core area of Manchester? Do you have any proposals to accomplish that goal?

 3. Do you feel governmental effort should be put forth to reinvigorate the central core area of Manchester? Do you have any proposals to accomplish that goal?

Clarence G. Brown Jr., Republican

A Manchester businessman for over 20 years with reasonable judgment and common sense.

1. I believe the quality of municipal services has been good. It could be improved, however, while achieving a lower tax rate through better management.
 2. Manchester consists of 17,664 acres of which over 7,000 acres, or 41 per cent are undeveloped. I would prefer to see that portion of our rural land, which the owners want to develop, used for residential development over a long period of time, along with continued improvement of our existing shopping and business areas.
 3. I prefer not to answer this question at this time. There have been many studies made of this area by various groups, such as the Mayor's Downtown Action Committee, the Chamber of Commerce and a group of downtown business people. In addition, the Town of Manchester paid an outside consultant for recommendations. I would prefer to study these plans and recommendations in depth before giving any opinion.

Vivian F. Ferguson, Republican

I have served five years as a member of the Board of Directors, the last two as minority leader. I have been both a majority and minority member so I understand both sides of the coin. I have a lifetime of experience living in Manchester, and working in innumerable civic and charitable endeavors. As a director, I have been consistent in studying and researching agenda items, in attendance and have been honest with the public and in my work.

1. Quality of services can be improved by better control over management. More detailed reports on costs, salaries, etc., should be made available at budget-setting.

2. Traffic, need for schooling, provisions for water and sewer, additional police protection, fire protection, etc. Additional structures affect tax income.

However, income must be weighed against all the other factors. Zoning is extremely important not only here but in any other areas of town especially where large complexes could be built. There should be greater interchange between Planning and Zoning and the Board of Directors than has occurred in recent year.

3. The central core needs more input on the part of retailers. Some have done so but not enough. Good merchandising and attractive stores are the real key to success. The Mayor's Downtown Action Committee spent $10,000 of town and private money which was wasted on a paid planner who did not perform. The town has expended funds for additional parks (on Park St.) and has taken Main St. back from the state. The town should show firm action in such cases as the Druckman property, which is in disreputable condition. Certainly, the board should have communication with the Main St. merchants who pay a special tax rate to the town.

Jack D. Goldberg, Democrat

I hold a bachelor of fine arts degree with a major in architecture and I have 25 years experience in a construction development and management company. I'm familiar with purchase, financing, building and management of large multiple dwelling projects. I served on the Town Building Committee, Town Redevelopment Agency, was a founding director of MISAC Corp., and presently a member of the Board of Directors.

1. Manchester can improve the quality of its municipal services by hiring a qualified personnel supervisor. With more than 400 town employees it is essential to create such a position. Greater efficiency would result immediately. The employment of a full-time town counsel would provide prompt resolution to routine legal problems and would assist the tax collector with tax liens, foreclosures, etc., thus bringing in the tax dollars.

2. The Buckland Commons proposal encompasses one of the prime locations in Manchester. It has the potential of bringing into Manchester high tax dollars. There are some problems which need resolution, namely school and traffic flow. However, the problem of size is one which gives me the most trouble. I would strongly recommend phased construction, with bonded safeguards, completion and dedication of subdivision before proceeding to the next phase. Manchester would benefit with a broader tax base, employment, short and long term, support to existing service industries.

3. Yes, Manchester can help reinvigorate the central core area by encouraging implementation of the high density zone already in existence. The larger support would have to come from federal and state governments. When I served on the Redevelopment Agency, I participated in developing a plan for renewal of Main St. It is still in existence and can be updated. I would support a re-establishment of such a renewal program.

Phyllis V. Jackston, Democrat

I am a business woman, presently self employed. My business experience was 15 years in management with private enterprise, particularly in the field of budgets and finances. I have served on the Board of Directors since 1972, serving the last two years as secretary to the Board of Directors.

1. Compared with communities of the same size, in my opinion, Manchester ranks as one of the top five in the state in services to its citizens. At the present time Manchester offers above-average services for every tax dollar collected. If services to our community are to be improved within our budgetary limits, it can only be accomplished through greater efficiency in our governmental operations.

2. My comments regarding

Matthew M. Moriarty Jr., Democrat

I have served on the Manchester Board of Directors for more than a year and a half. I believe that this experience in addition to my practical experience in local business, as well as my strong desire to serve my community, qualify me for the office.

1. I am convinced that there is room for improvement within reasonable limits. It has been my observation that many present services could be improved through greater efficiency in many town departments. However, I also maintain that Manchester taxpayers are presently receiving more and better service per tax dollar expended than are taxpayers in any comparable area community.

2. I believe that development of the Buckland Commons area is inevitable. However, I think that any such development should be compatible with the

Robert B. Price, Democrat

In 1966, I received a B.S. in Mechanical Engineering from the University of New Haven and since then I have attended the masters degree program in Business Administration at the University of Hartford. I am employed as a project engineer at Jacobs Manufacturing Co., West Hartford. Presently, I am a member of the Board of Directors, co-president with my wife, Susan, of the Keeney Street PTA, member of the Democratic Town Committee, past member of the Conservation Commission, and other community and civic organizations.

1. We must adjust our programs to be aligned with the times. By eliminating services that are not desired, incorporating cost-savings techniques, and obtaining services at the most favorable cost/benefit ratio, we can improve the quality of municipal service without putting any additional financial burden on the taxpayers of Manchester. I believe the record speaks for itself. The Democrats, over the past four years (1971-1975) upheld this philosophy by meeting the needs of the people and only raising the mill rate 2.93 mills.

benefits to the town do you see in the development of Buckland Commons?

is resolved by the courts.

3. Governmental efforts in Manchester have always been put forth to invigorate and/or reinvigorate all areas of our town. Presently the Citizens Advisory Committee has proposed a revolving loan fund at very low interest rates to be made available from the Community Development funds for the rehabilitation of housing in the core area. The same opportunity will be made available to all businessmen in our downtown area. Goals for major structural changes in the core area would, in my opinion, have to be studied by a participation of citizens groups (groups outside the core area) and their recommendations assessed by the Board of Directors as to the feasibility of any governmental involvement to accomplish that goal.

existing neighborhood and should be agreeable with the wishes of its neighbors and the greatest number of Manchester residents. Orderly development of the area should increase our tax base in a manner acceptable to most local residents.

3. Any governmental body should be concerned with all areas of its jurisdiction. An effort should be made to improve the traffic flow at the center of Manchester by whatever means necessary. I also feel that our local government should encourage efforts by Main St. interests to improve their areas of Manchester. However, as a strong believer in the free enterprise system, I do not believe in spending town funds, to support any commercial area of town at the expense of Manchester's taxpayers.

2. My greatest concern is the scope of the Buckland Commons project. It would have a tremendous impact on most municipal services and facilities, as well as our education institutions. Basic safeguards must be provided in advance of any development. The benefit of new taxes might be offset by the cost of services.

3. I feel government should provide an impetus which will give some assurances that a favorable tax base will be generated the central core area of Manchester. The Democratic majority has voted to increase and improve parking downtown, taken control of Main St. from the State, and contributed to the cost of studies to improve the area.

The Board of Directors could continue to assist in formulating a program for improvement of the downtown area and give assistance to obtain money for local property improvement loans.

Pascal A. Prignano, Democrat

I have lived in Manchester most of my life, having attended elementary schools at Hollister (Bentley) School and Nathan Hale School. I am a graduate of St. John's University and St. John's School of Law, Brooklyn, N.Y. I am currently a member of the Board of Directors, elected in November 1971 and re-elected in November 1973. I am at present vice president and legal counsel for CBT Realty Corp., Hartford.

1. The Board of Directors, under the leadership of the Democrats over the past four years, has improved the quality of services for the people of Manchester and pledges to continue to provide the best services available within reasonable budgetary limits. The board has made every attempt to determine the needs of the people of Manchester, has attempted further to determine the most critical areas of concern within each defined need and has acted to implement either the immediate or long term fulfillment of those needs.

2. Any development of a large tract of land in Manchester should be planned in a manner to create the least trauma to the town schools, services, roads and facilities and be compatible with the immediate neighborhood and our community as a whole.

3. The board must do what is necessary to prevent a deterioration of this entire area and in a manner that will not create unfair advantage to one business area over Manchester business area through the use of town tax dollars. Over the past four years the core merchants, with the cooperation of the Mayor's Downtown Action Committee, have made important strides in invigorating the core area. Cooperation is the solution and must be encouraged and continued by the board.

Harry W. Reinhorn, Republican

As former president of Manchester Property Owners Association, this gave me an opportunity to study town issues to greater depths than I would have as an ordinary citizen. I feel this experience has made more response to the people's wishes and what the law needs.

1. Yes, Manchester could improve its services by more effective management.

2. I do not feel that a full investigation has been made by the present town directors to say whether we, as taxpayers, are ready for Buckland Commons. I feel that a lot more facts should be brought out to the public attention before a decision is made.

3. I feel there has been too much government interfering into private business already. The Board of Directors should encourage the development of the central core of Manchester through private enterprise. The town has helped to encourage the growth of the downtown area in the past.

John W. Thompson, Democrat

Experience: • Four years as mayor and chairman of the Board of Directors; • 19 years of Connecticut Conference of Municipalities; • vice chairman of Capitol Region Council of Governments; and • Member of Economic Development Committee of U.S. Conference of Mayors.

1. Quality improvements are possible. Modest investments in equipment have increased productivity of snow-removal. Federal grants have improved police information capability. The housing of fiscal departments together improved communications with the manager. A "ground zero" approach to budgetmaking would have departments justify each service anew. In January, we would begin to evaluate all services, alternatives and conclude by dropping a budget.

2. This development has inherent environmental and congestion problems. These problems can be solved because of improved public awareness and new strict federal-state regulations. Proposed commercial development will create problems rather than resolve needs. Recently two major shopping areas have been constructed in Manchester. Main St. and Parkade merchants have improved these centers. A Capitol Region study has criticized a large commercial development in the Buckland area. I don't believe we need such development. I welcome responsible housing and light industry.

3. We have assisted the areas by reconstruction of Purnell Pl.; cooperation with Downtown Authority in repairing the Purnell parking lot and construction of the St. James lot. We plan significant drainage improvements. I believe with federal assistance, we can help property owners in the area rehabilitate multi-family units and make these units available at low cost to elderly persons. Such housing would generate the freeing of housing for young people.

Edward J. Wilson, Republican

1. Rather than work for new and bigger taxes, let us reduce taxes here by 8 1/2 mills thusly: Build more elderly housing. Senior citizens have nearly 100 per cent spendable income. Back the police department with better laws and equipment. Manchester is now losing thousands of dollars yearly on vandalism.

Set taxes to attract new industry. A tax suspension for an incoming industry for its first three years would provide a stimulus for it to locate here.

2. There are no benefits to the town in Buckland Commons. Just as the residents of Coventry were wise enough to stop DEVCO, so too, should the residents of Manchester realize secretively with the mayor to avoid costly mistakes and changes. There is a lack of long-range planning with too many emergencies arising. Emergencies are costly.

1. Yes, but only if we are willing to cut back on government spending.

2. I personally am opposed to Buckland Commons. If it is built it will mean that our police force, fire department, school systems and all other town services will have to be expanded. It will also add to our crime rate with an increased population and adversely affect our established shopping and commercial areas. Manchester should be looking to improve what we have and not try to take on new problems.

Board of Education

1. How comprehensive and varied a curriculum should Manchester schools provide? 2. Do you feel Manchester can improve the quality of its education within reasonable budgetary limitations?

Carolyn H. Becker, Democrat
1976-79 term

As a taxpayer, parent and teacher in Manchester, I care about our young people. My training includes an M.A. from Bryn Mawr College, graduate work at Columbia University, Trinity and Wesleyan. My experience includes college teaching, medical research (Rockefeller Institute), editorial research (Time Magazine), biology teaching (Manchester High School), two years experience on the Board of Education during which I visited well over 100 classes.

1. As comprehensive and varied as taxpayers want. The ideal includes schooling available from preschoolers to senior citizens, including enough diversity for all abilities, needs and desires: job training, college preparation, citizenship responsibilities, health and family life studies aimed toward reasonably happy adulthood, courses for intellectual stimulation and enrichment, and perhaps a job training after formal schooling is completed. 2. Manchester can, and already has, improved the quality within reasonable budgetary limitations, thanks primarily to excellent administrative leadership. Accomplished improvements include new total elementary science curriculum; new total elementary social studies curriculum; planned alternative schooling for "disenchanted" high school students; new budgeting and purchasing systems; special efforts for exceptional and handicapped students; standardization of courses in the junior high schools; evaluation of personnel to improve the learning process.

Needed improvements include professional physical education for kindergarten and for first and second grades to improve hand-eye-large muscle coordination thereby facilitating learning to read and write; reassessment of methods used in high school to place students in certain levels (honors, 1, 2); re-examining high school science curriculum planning for building new, modern biology labs; re-examination of the high school social studies program; formulation of long-term plans for an early program for talented and gifted students; re-examination of the Board of Education policy on student smoking.

the concept of individualized instruction, which I heartily endorse. Manchester's citizens have a wide range of economic, social, and cultural backgrounds, and our schools provide instruction from early childhood through adult life. These factors necessitate a comprehensive and varied curricula. Resource limitations demand hard choices and setting priorities for curriculum implementation. Renewed emphasis on accountability requires solid reasons for these choices.

2. Yes. Two current efforts illustrate this. Last year, in recognition of a system-wide need, the board budgeted a moderate expenditure to introduce a new system for teaching spelling. Another example is implementation of the new state-mandated yearly evaluation of teachers. This system has its cost, but may help our teachers be even more effective. Expenditure of money does not guarantee quality, but quality cannot be achieved without some cost.

1. I believe Manchester schools should provide as comprehensive and varied a curriculum to meet individual needs, interests, and abilities as allotted resources permit. Democracy assumes that each individual has fundamental dignity and worth. The Manchester school system has a long-range commitment to

1. The curriculum within the Manchester Public School system must be responsive to the needs of students. Instruction should be stimulating, challenging and sufficiently broad to allow for varying levels of student abilities, while maintaining standards that are consistent with potential achievement levels. A comprehensive and diverse curriculum is not, however, an end in and of itself. It is the means whereby individuals can be provided with the tools necessary for their future.

Paul B. Greenberg, Democrat 1976-79 term

In addition to my education and professional training, my four years' experience on the Board of Education is probably the most valuable asset I bring to this office. My commitment to quality education, my knowledge of the issues and experience in resolving them allow me to be a contributing and effective member of that board.

1. Manchester should provide the most comprehensive, high quality, and varied curriculum possible within reasonable budgetary limitations. We must strive to meet the needs of all students — the academically gifted, the vocationally oriented, and the disabled learner. We must continue to establish our needs, decide programs and maintain high standards.

2. Manchester can and Manchester has! Great strides have been made in improving the quality of education recently, specifically in the areas of curriculum development, expanded physical and plant facilities, and evaluation procedures. Manchester can continue to improve the quality of its education within reasonable budgetary limitations if the policies and programs which have been started are allowed to continue. It takes time, effort, and the skill of many people to build a quality school system. Manchester is headed in the direction of quality and I hope it will be able to remain on course.

Any business or discussions conducted by the town's Board of Directors should be in an open session, open to the press.

The board is meeting in executive session this evening to review the performance of Town Manager Robert Weiss. That is, it is closed to the press, even though the town manager is paid with your tax dollars along with the services the town provides.

Our praise for Directors Hilary Gallagher and Carl Zinsser who voted for tonight's session to be open to the press.

Following this evening's session, the board plans to release the proceedings and findings to the press and public. Fine, but will the report be factual? The press and the public will never know, save for some comment some director might make at a future social gathering which is almost a certainty.

We are vigorously opposed to executive sessions. We shall remember it come election time and if it becomes necessary, in the future, we will fight such sessions in the courts.

Board of Education

1. How comprehensive and varied a curriculum should Manchester schools provide?
2. Do you feel Manchester can improve the quality of its education within reasonable budgetary limitations?

John C. Yavis Jr., Democrat 1975-78 term

I was first elected to the board in 1971. Since 1973 I have chaired the board's committee charged with budget preparations and have served on the board's committee on school building programs. My principal college courses were in economics and political science, and I am a practicing lawyer.

The term "curriculum" connotes the breadth of material and information which a school system seeks to impart to its students. Manchester's curriculum should address the individual needs of dictate, within reasonable limits. For example, the curriculum should address the needs of students who will not pursue a formal education beyond high school, as well as those who are planning for college or other higher education. A curriculum with this diversity thus should comprehend the needs of most if not all students.

2. Yes, I would not serve on the board if I thought the quality of education in Manchester could not be further improved. Through competent leaders such as Dr. Kennedy and Dr. Tychsen the Administration must allocate its resources to improve curriculum, planned in-service training of its teachers and carefully selected teaching materials. This is not underestimate the severe budgetary constraints under which Manchester's schools will continue to operate in the foreseeable future. Economics can be achieved, however, and through some reallocation of resources modest program improvements should be possible.

How to use voting machine

All of Connecticut's 169 towns and cities use voting machines for all local, state and federal elections.

The following HOW TO VOTE instructions should answer all questions. In additions, questions may be asked of election officials at the polling places. By law, they are required to give the information on request.

• TO BEGIN — Enter the machine. Move the red curtain handle to the right to close the curtain.

• TO VOTE A STRAIGHT TICKET — Pull the party lever of your choice to the right. All the pointers above the candidates in that row will go down automatically.

• TO VOTE A SPLIT TICKET — Pull the party lever of your choice to the right. All the pointers above the candidates in that row will go down automatically.

Then push up the pointer over the name of any candidate for whom you don't wish to vote and pull down the pointer over the name of the candidate of the other party for whom you wish to vote for that office.

• TO VOTE WITHOUT USING A PARTY LEVER — Simply pull down the pointers over the names of the candidates for whom you wish to vote. Don't pull a party lever.

• TO VOTE ON THE REFERENDUM QUESTION — Pull down either the "Yes" or "No" pointer above the question.

• TO RECORD YOUR VOTE — Don't touch any of the pointers on the machine, but move the red curtain handle to the left. This will automatically record your vote, will open the curtain and will return the pointers to their original positions for the next person who uses the machine.

A sample ballot is posted at each polling place. It shows the inside of the voting machine and provides written instructions for its use. The sample ballot also lists each candidate's name and the question to be voted upon.
