SHELTON — Although they voted 282-37 Sunday night to strike, teachers agreed not to begin the walkout today and Shelton schools opened normally. A teachers' spokesman said if no time were set to strike today, a meeting would be held each day to decide on when to stage the strike. The Sunday vote followed a rejection Friday by the Board of Alderman of a new contract.

BOSTON — The Massachusetts Republican chairman John Sears says a primary fight between Ronald Reagan and President Ford would be "healthy" and could revitalize the GOP's dwindling ranks in the state.

BOSTON — Police forces at South Boston High School were more than doubled today in an attempt to prevent a recurrence of the racial brawling which broke out Friday. More than 500 policemen were assigned to South Boston, rather than the usual 200.

SAN FRANCISCO — Sara Jane Moore, 45, a one-time FBI informer, will be arraigned Tuesday in federal court on charges of trying to kill President Ford Sept. 22. She was taken from San Diego, where she underwent a psychiatric evaluation, to San Mateo County Jail in Redwood City during the weekend.

MORRISTOWN, N.J. — Sometime in the next few days, a judge must decide whether comatose Karen Ann Quinlan can be removed from a life-sustaining machine and allowed to die. The trial on the issue resumed today with the prosecutor calling several medical experts. The state contends removal of the machines would amount to homicide.

CLEVELAND — First Lady Betty Ford reaffirmed her support of the Equal Rights Amendment at the International Women's Year meeting here over the weekend, saying it may give women new freedom but it will not separate them from their husbands and children.

CHICAGO — Nobel Peace Prize winner Andrei Sakharov, the dissident physicist who helped develop the Soviet hydrogen bomb, has called for world disarmament and "the total prohibition of nuclear weaponry" in an article in the Bulletin of Atomic Scientists.

Buildings bombed in three U.S. cities

By United Press International
Bombs exploded in a half-hour period early today at the State Department in Washington, the world's tallest building in Chicago, the United States Mission to the United Nations in New York and at several banks in New York and Chicago.

There were no injuries in the series of blasts in the three cities and damage at the nine nearly empty bombing sites was mostly confined to broken glass.

The Associated Press in New York reported receiving two telephone calls from a somewhat incoherent woman who said the New York blasts were the responsibility of the Puerto Rican Armed Forces of National Liberation (FALN).

The FALN claimed responsibility for a number of past bombing incidents, including the Jan. 24 explosion at Fraunces Tavern in New York in which four persons were killed and 56 injured. One of the banks damaged in Chicago, the Continental Illinois

Bank, was once bombed by Puerto Rican terrorists.

In Chicago, an FBI spokesman said, "It sounds like some coordinated group since we have these explosions here in ... other cities, but we're waiting for the reports from our men out in the field before we can say anything definite."

The State Department blast shattered windows and doors on three floors of the building. A police spokesman said the smell of powder was detected at the bombing site.

As many as 60 windows were blown out at the 110-story, 1,454-foot Sears Tower in Chicago, the world's tallest building. Other bombing sites in Chicago's downtown district included the IBM Building and the Continental Illinois Bank. Police said an unexploded bomb was found outside the Standard Oil Building and was disarmed by the bomb and arson unit.

In New York, the first blast was reported at 1:43 a.m. EST at the National Westminster Bank on Wall Street. It blew out five windows.

Moments later, a bomb exploded outside the First National City Bank on Wall Street, damaging the building's marble exterior and blowing out windows at the Chase Manhattan Bank across the street.

"These were definitely both explosive devices," acting deputy fire chief Lawrence Sarat said of the Wall Street blasts. "Just what they were, we don't know yet."

At about the same time, explosions were reported at the Chase Manhattan bank and the First National City Bank, both on East 57th Street, and at the U.S. Mission to the U.N., all in midtown Manhattan.

Damage to the two midtown banks and the U.N. mission was generally confined to broken glass.

Danny Mizeko, a security guard for First National City Bank on East 57th Street, said he heard a noise outside while he was on the 13th floor.

"We went down to see what it was. A milkman outside told me he heard the explosion down the street and we were glad that it wasn't in the building. So we were just walking back inside the building and the bomb went off. A few seconds later and we would have been right by it. Glass panes started falling all around and we ran across the street."

Mizeko's partner, James Staton, who went with him to investigate the first noise said, "Man we heard that first explosion and then the second one and 'whee-oooh.' We was scared."

The explosion at the State Department, across the street from the new Federal Reserve Board headquarters building, was heard in Arlington County across the Potomac River.

President pays homage to nation's veterans

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A silent President Ford placed a huge red, white and blue wreath at the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier in Arlington Cemetery today to pay tribute to the dead from all the nation's wars.

A 21-gun salute boomed out as Ford's motorcade arrived under gray skies at the cemetery across the Potomac River, and an honor guard stood erect at the amphitheatre where the Veterans Day ceremony was held.

Ford, wearing a dark suit, spent only six minutes at the ceremony and did not speak.

In comments taped in advance, however, he asked "all Americans to pause today in tribute to the priceless contribution of all veterans and, in particular, those who gave their lives so this nation might live."

After placing the wreath, the President paused and put his hand on his chest. The Star Spangled Banner was played and, after Taps, Ford departed.

The President returned to the White House to greet Anwar Sadat, the first Egyptian president ever to visit the United States.

But first, he met briefly with Sen. John Tower, R-Tex., to discuss the issue of school busing for racial integration.

The south White House grounds were landscaped for the Sadat visit, and a bunting draped platform was set up for the welcoming ceremony.

With a lingering cough remaining from his week-long bout with a cold, Ford welcomed Sadat on the South Lawn of the White House and then conferred with him today and Tuesday. There will be a White House state dinner for Sadat tonight.

There was some speculation Ford might meet with Sadat again this week when the Egyptian leader visits Jacksonville, Fla. But with Sadat returning to Washington for a speech to Congress next week, there may be no need for the Florida meeting.

Sadat, whose country no longer depends on the Soviet Union for weapons, said before his arrival he will ask Ford for military aid.

Grasso pledges to uncover truth in Bridgeport jai alai scandal

HARTFORD (UPI) — Gov. Ella T. Grasso says Connecticut's legal system will be put to its full use to uncover the truth of allegations in Bridgeport's jai alai payoff scandal.

Mrs. Grasso, in weekend remarks to the state's legal and judicial leaders, declared the jai alai incident, which has involved the name of her former mentor, the late Democratic party chief John M. Bailey, "will be decided under the laws of our state and nowhere else."

"These allegations will be considered by a grand jury and appropriate legal action will be undertaken," Mrs. Grasso told the gala ball Saturday of the 100th meeting of the Connecticut Bar Association.

A one-man grand jury probe of the case by Superior Court Judge Harold M. Mulvey began today, and the state gaming commission has scheduled hearings into the matter to begin Nov. 6.

The ball concluded a three-day gathering of more than 2,000 persons who also heard U.S. Supreme Court Chief Justice Warren E. Burger and Lawrence E. Walsh, president of the American Bar Association.

Walsh, who opposed former Connecticut Gov. Thomas J. Meskill's nomination to the federal bench, told a news conference Saturday Meskill's work so far shows promise.

Mrs. Grasso said legal procedures should be used to settle the allegations against the jai alai operation, including an alleged $200,000 cash payment to Bailey in return for help in getting a gambling permit.

The governor, dressed in a striped black and white gown, officially opened the black-tie ball by dancing with Connecticut Chief Justice Charles S. House.

After exchanging some jokes with outgoing CBA head William K. Cole, Mrs. Grasso spoke about the strength she said the nation had gained from its system of law.

"The diligence and commitment of attorneys working within the framework of our laws in behalf of their clients — the devotion and respect for our laws evinced by our judiciary — these are the qualities so essential to the sound execution of our laws," she said.

Walsh told newsmen that Meskill appeared to be working out well since his delayed, hard-fought nomination as a 2nd U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals judge was finally approved by the Senate Judiciary Committee.

"He is hard working and thoroughly dedicated to his office," he said. "It gives good promise in the future."

Walsh, who said it would not be ethical for him to pass judgement on Meskill's work, had opposed the former governor's bench appointment because of Meskill's lack of courtroom experience.

Meskill's nomination, confirmed early this year, was proposed and strongly backed by Sen. Lowell P. Weicker, R-Conn.

Asked what role the ABA should have in judge selection, Walsh said, "I believe the role as we played it in that (Meskill's) nomination is the proper role."

Carmine R. Lavieri, a Winsted attorney, was installed as president of the 4,800-member state bar association, and attorney George F. Lowman of Stamford took office as president-elect.

Deliver gift to New Hope Manor

A bathtub trailer and an old pickup truck here help the New England Street Rodders to deliver a full set of camping gear to New Hope Manor on Hartford Rd. Saturday. Joanne Kamarowski, New Hope's acting assistant director, and Bob Berman, its director standing by her side, welcome the gift and the club members. They are Club Chairman Bill Donahue, center, and Bob "Tiny" Arnold. Donahue said a "street rod" is an automobile built before 1949 which has been modified for more reliable driving. They often draw attention on the road. (Herald photo by Dunn)

Two East Hartford persons killed in auto accidents

Two East Hartford persons were killed Sunday in separate automobile accidents — one in Manchester and the other in South Windsor.

Kathleen Brown, 17, of 139 Christine Dr., East Hartford, died at Manchester Memorial Hospital after a 12:45 a.m. accident on E. Center St. near Munro St. in Manchester.

Richard Vacek, 19, of 810 Tolland St., East Hartford, died at the Manchester hospital at 4:40 p.m., two hours after an accident on Clark Rd. in South Windsor.

Police said Miss Brown was a passenger in a car driven by Glenn M. Demello, 16, of 211 Arbutus St., East Hartford. The car, headed east on E. Center St., apparently went out of control and struck a utility pole.

Demello was treated at Manchester Memorial Hospital, then transferred to St. Francis Hospital in Hartford. Suffering head injuries, he was listed in good condition today.

Another passenger in Demello's car — Lucille Vignone, 15, of 39 Christine Dr., East Hartford — suffered a fractured leg, lacerations, and chest and internal injuries. She was listed in critical condition today at Manchester Memorial Hospital.

In the South Windsor accident, a car driven by Richard Vacek was headed south on Clark Rd. when its right wheels went off the road. The car then crossed the road diagonally, went onto a lawn in front of 500 Clark St., and struck a tree, police said.

Both Richard Vacek and his brother, Roger Vacek, 22, were pinned in the car temporarily. They were removed from the vehicle by South Windsor Police and transported to the Manchester hospital, where Richard Vacek died.

Roger Vacek was listed in fair condition today at the hospital.

Elsewhere in Connecticut, at least three other persons died in weekend highway accidents.

Paul T. Cyr, 18, of Bristol was killed Saturday morning when his motorcycle crashed and burned in Bristol. A passenger on the cycle suffered cuts and bruises. Neither wore a helmet.

Craig A. Stevens, 19, of Ft. Dodge, Iowa, stationed at the U.S. Submarine Base in New London, was injured fatally in a one-car accident in Salem.

Carrie Dennerlein, 16, of Brookfield died Saturday night after she accidentally walked into the path of an approaching car.

Franco condition remains grave

MADRID (UPI) — Generalissimo Francisco Franco is suffering from continuing heart failure and his condition remains grave, his doctors said today. The 11-man team of doctors treating him was increased to 14 today.

The 82-year-old Franco has battled weakly for life after a series of near-fatal heart attacks which began last Tuesday and a dangerous stomach hemorrhage Sunday night.

A medical bulletin timed at (8 a.m. EST) and signed by the 14 doctors — the fifth bulletin of the day — said the Caudillo spent a quiet morning and remains conscious.

For the first time it spoke of "slight blood congestion," but it said the troubles with the rhythm of his heartbeat reported Sunday had not recurred.

However, it said there are continuing signs of heart failure and that his condition remains grave.

It said the stomach hemorrhage, which caused a crisis late Sunday, has not recurred.

The bulletin said: "He has spent a quiet and lucid morning. There is slight blood congestion. Normal arterial tensions have been maintained and there have been no troubles again with the cardiac rhythm. Signs of heart failure persist. The gastric hemorrhage at the present moment is being controlled. The condition remains grave."

Government leaders, politicians and church figures continued to stream to El Pardo palace where the aged leader is lying ill to inquire about his condition and to pay their last respects.

Prime Minister Carlos Arias Navarro spent some time there and then returned to his downtown office.

The first two bulletins issued this morning by the team of doctors treating Franco said he was resting quietly and receiving little new medication after rallying slightly from Sunday's internal bleeding.

The report came six hours after doctors said a stomach hemorrhage and heart beat irregularities had left the 82-year-old generalissimo in critical condition.

"He has spent the night resting quietly, treatment has almost totally stopped the gastric hemorrhage and the disturbances in the heart rhythm, improving the cardiorespiratory condition," doctors said this morning.

Accidents cause injuries, damage

A number of automobile accidents in Manchester over the weekend resulted in substantial damage to several vehicles and hospital treatment of at least half a dozen persons. The accidents, as reported by Manchester Police, included:
• A Sunday afternoon, two-car collision at E. Center and Goodwin Sts. with substantial damage listed to a car driven by Wayne B. Retelle, 28, of Chicopee, Mass. He was charged with driving without a license and speeding; court date is Nov. 12.
• A Saturday morning crash on Woodbridge St. in which a car driven by Michael D. Chell, 20, of 231 West St., Bolton, struck a tree. He was charged with speeding; court date is Nov. 12.

• A one-car accident Saturday morning in which a car skid of wet pavement and struck a utility pole off Mather St. A passenger in the car, Patricia Hovey, 17, of 95 St. John St., was treated at Manchester Memorial Hospital.
• Another one-car crash, Sunday morning at Lydall and Parker Sts., in which a car driven by Alan L. Fawcett, 17, of 96 Summit St. slid off the road into a tree. He was treated at Manchester Memorial Hospital in which a driver and three passengers in his car received hospital treatment. Police said Lester O. Schriver, 21, of Wetherfield was driving on a dirt road off Spencer St. when his vehicle ran into a four-foot-deep ditch.

• A Saturday night accident on Woodbridge St. which required hospital treatment for driver Mark A. Melley, 18, of 329 Ferguson Rd. Police said his car hit a tree.

Two police officers begin duties

Two graduates of Connecticut's Municipal Police Training Academy began duty today with the Manchester Police Department, filling two of seven vacancies on the local force.
The two new patrol officers are Robert Ricci, 26, of Vernon and Ruth Murray, 36, of Glastonbury. Ricci and Mrs. Murray were sworn in Aug. 29 and have just completed an eight-week course at the training academy in Meriden. They'll be assigned to local field training for two weeks and then will assume regular duties. Ricci, formerly employed by Pratt & Whitney Aircraft in East Hartford, holds an associate degree in science and is working for a bachelor's degree in psychology at the University of Hartford. He is a Navy veteran. Mrs. Murray, the second woman to join the local police department as a patrol officer, is a registered nurse and has completed Emergency Medical Training at Manchester Community College.

Police Chief Robert Laman said today the appointment of two new officers still leaves five positions unfilled in the department. Laman said it's unlikely the vacancies will be filled because of a limited police budget.

The candidates speak

Harry Reinhorn

Republican Board of Director candidate Harry Reinhorn criticized the Democrat Board of Directors for what he termed "lack of initiative in remedying unsafe buildings existing in town."
"The Republican Party has brought to the public eye the dangerous conditions existing in the burned-out bulk of the Bon Ami plant in the north end, boarded-up buildings on Main St. (near Memorial Store) and on Oakland St. and the building on Main St. where Grant's was formerly located.
"it is gross negligence for the Democrats to have refused to use available powers to correct these health and safety hazards. The town is authorized specifically by its charter to remove and demolish unsafe buildings which are nuisances at the expense of the owners of the buildings. Correction of the problems can be accomplished at no cost to the town, yet nothing is done. Is the Board of Directors waiting for a tragic accident to occur before it takes action? I don't believe that this is the leadership Manchester citizens expect from its elected officials.
"if I am elected, I plan to take immediate action to remedy these eyesores and health hazards."

Carl Zinsner

Republican Director Carl Zinsner said today, "Recently Mayor John Thompson, in a press release, stated that the Democratic majority directors can campaign on a record of responsible and responsive government.
"I find these words a contradiction of what has taken place over the past two years. For example, in February 1975, some 1,100 citizens of the Town of Manchester presented a petition to the Board of Directors for the board to reconsider their vote to install parking spaces in front of Lincoln Center. But this petition produced a charge from the Democratic majority that the petition was politically motivated and that the signers should find better things to do with their time. In my opinion, is a direct violation of the people's right to petition their elected representatives. Is this responsible and responsive government?
"at our May 7, 1975 meeting to adopt the town budget for '75-'76, the Board of Directors learned that the Democratic majority had once again given into the manager. At a secret meeting, the majority had increased the pay for department heads from 4 per cent to 5 per cent. This at a time when they were crying poverty. Is this responsible and responsive government?

"During much of 1975, seeing that nothing was being done by the Democratic majority to collect the $34,000 in back taxes owned by Abraham Druckman of New York City on his property at 81-82 Main Street I have kept pressure on the administration to collect the taxes or foreclose the property. In an effort to mislead the public, someone in the administration stated that the town, back in August, had already begun to foreclose on the Druckman property. But when I questioned the administration on this point they admitted that no foreclosure action had been started. Finally, two weeks before the election we have started a foreclosure action. Is this responsible and responsive government?
"I leave it up to you, the voters of Manchester, to choose if you wish to continue with the present Democratic controlled board or do you desire a majority that will truly listen to the people and act in the best interests of the town of Manchester. If you prefer the latter, then I urge you to support the entire Republican team."

The TRANSCENDENTAL MEDITATION program
WHAT IS IT?
Transcendental Meditation, or TM, is a simple, easily learned technique for gaining deep rest and relaxation. The TM program is not a philosophy or religion and involves no change in life style.
WHAT DOES IT DO?
The relaxation gained during TM relieves stress, strain and tension. Research at the Harvard Medical School has found that the level of rest gained during TM is twice as deep as the deepest part of a whole night's sleep.
WHAT ARE THE BENEFITS?
TM gives increased calmness and energy throughout the day. Health improves. High blood pressure is reduced (10% of the people who start TM are recommended to the program by their doctor).
TM increases mental clarity and psychological well-being. Family and social relationships also improve from the TM program.
HOW MUCH TIME DOES IT TAKE?
TM is practiced twice a day (once in the morning and once in the evening) for just 15-20 minutes.
HOW DO I KNOW IT WORKS?
The benefits of the TM program have been verified by scientific research at over 200 universities and research centers. TM studies and sources available at the TM center.
If you know a meditator, then you know it works.
CAN ANYONE LEARN?
Yes. The technique of TM is so natural and the course is so complete that anyone is able to learn in a few short sessions over four days.
HOW DO I LEARN?
The first step to finding out more about the Transcendental Meditation program is to attend a free introductory lecture on TM.

Arts brighten an evening

By ANNE FLYNN

MACC NEWS

Joining in the beautiful "America." Our gratitude and appreciation is extended to all the members of these groups who contributed so much to this evening. Our gratitude also to the many patrons who are helping to support the MACC programs through their contributions.
No show is possible without the behind-the-scenes crew: all these people were cooperative, helpful and shared their particular talent — Roger Hall coordinating the sound, Peter Gaudreau and Lance Tatro operating the lights, Dave Golinik and Todd Custer handling the curtains, Jennifer Carr coordinating the usherers, Elizabeth and Jon Marx handling tickets and photography, Clinton Hendrickson designing the cover.
Special thanks to Nancy Carr who worked with me on publicity and in handling many details. Also our gratitude to Prestige Printing for their generous cooperation in all our dealings with them.

I have very positive feelings about the Evening of the Performing Arts — its preparation, the performance itself, the results of it, and all that went into it. This second annual Evening of the Performing Arts was very successful and an event of which our community should be proud.

Return of King Richard

The United States has no royal class. The Constitution, indeed, forbids the granting of titles of nobility.

As a consequence of this prejudice of the Founding Fathers, we are forced to make do as best we can by conferring unofficial royalty on movie stars and other celebrities, on at least one president's widow and now, it would seem, on at least one ex-president.

In a recent issue, Newsweek magazine ran a lengthy cover story on the return of Richard Nixon to the public eye after more than a year of self-imposed exile. We can expect more of the same in the future — how he fills his days, how his health is, how his memoirs are coming along, etc. With the Nixons in retirement, the U.S. may have its equivalent of the Duke and Duchesses of Windsor, two likable people who led essentially useless lives except they provided regular copy for those interested in their doings.

Like the ex-king, the ex-president is a man fallen from a high pinnacle and hence a semitragic and, no doubt to some, a romantic figure. And although like the abdicated king, the abdicated president has no chance of ever regaining a position of power or influence in his country's affairs, he will always be news. The only difference is that he has no title.

Tax deductible culture

Corporate contributions to the arts, which reached an estimated $144 million last year, are expected to duplicate or better that figure in 1975.

According to Goldwin A. McLellan, president of the Business Committee for Arts, a survey made by his organization showed that despite the continuing economic uncertainty, four out of five companies plan to maintain their level of support for the next three years.

Although large corporations made up only 3 per cent of the companies polled, they accounted for 42 per cent of the dollar support of the arts. Museums and symphony orchestras benefitted the most, collecting almost half the money.

Major corporations such as Texaco, Atlantic Richfield, Ford, RCA, AT&T, American Airlines and R.J. Reynolds Industries contributed hundreds of thousands of dollars to cultural institutions ranging from the New York Public Library to the San Francisco Opera.

It can be argued that this corporate largesse represents only a small fraction of corporate profits and that behind the altruism lies the very practical fact that such gifts are tax deductible. But so are gifts from individuals deductible. If public support of cultural activities in America was proportionately as great and as sustained as that of business, the arts in this country would be in very good shape, indeed.

U.S. nuts about bolts

Nuts and bolts have held this nation together for 200 years — though sometimes, reading the news from Washington, one gets the impression that the former are much more prevalent than the latter.

A patriotic Bicentennial release from the Trans Union Fastener Group, which distributes more than 30,000 kinds of mechanical fasteners, points out that pins and screws not only held American muskets together in the fight for independence but are vital in everything from household appliances to outer space communications.

For example, it was the failure of a screw to remain tight that apparently caused the breakdown of a $78,000 television camera intended to broadcast in color from the moon in 1969.

In 1840, when Micah Rugg and Martin Barnes formed a partnership in Connecticut to establish the nut and bolt branch of the industry, their six employees produced a total of 500 carriage bolts a day.

Today, 600 plants employing 67,000 people produce more fasteners in one minute than Rugg and Barnes could produce in seven years. In 1975, U.S. industry will use more than 200 billion nuts, rivets and screws and the metal fastener business will top $2.7 billion.

Think about it.

Theodore Roosevelt, 26th President of the United States, was born Oct. 27, 1858.

On this day in history: In 1871, the political chief of New York's Tammany Hall — Boss Tweed — was arrested on charges of defrauding the city.

In 1904, the first practical subway began operating in New York City, from the Brooklyn Bridge to 145th Street in Manhattan.

In 1961, the United Nations adopted a resolution protesting Russian detonation of a 50-megaton atomic bomb.

A thought for the day: President Theodore "Teddy" Roosevelt said, "We demand that big business give the people a square deal; in return we must insist that when anyone engaged in big business honestly endeavors to do right he shall himself be given a square deal."

For Decker

To the editor: Cle Decker has proven herself to be one of the most effective members of local government. She has long been dedicated to the well being of many segments of our community. She assumes the responsibilities with which she is charged. She is a conscientious person, capable of fulfilling new responsibilities.

We will all benefit from her efforts as a member of the South Windsor Town Council. She assumes the responsibilities with which she is charged. She is a conscientious person, capable of fulfilling new responsibilities.

Likes Thompson

To the editor: Local, state and national governments are in great need of leaders. Manchester has been fortunate to have Jack Thompson as their leader the past four years.

I have seen Jack Thompson perform in many diverse situations and have been impressed by his coolness and efficiency. During the ice storm two years ago Jack worked continuously, without rest, in a calm, competent manner. His decisions were made in this crisis without any fanfare for political gain. In all his endeavors Jack has not been a flamboyant politician but a just, quiet leader.

We all look for conscientious, intelligent leadership in our elected officials. Jack has shown compassion for all segments of Manchester society. His concern for the aged, the youth, the poor and the affluent has been shown in his many actions as mayor. When a problem is presented to Jack, he weighs all the options carefully and then makes a fair decision, not based on hope of political gain.

If the people of Manchester want their leaders to have compassion, integrity, intelligence, and strength, they should elect Jack Thompson and his Democratic colleagues.

Thank you, Walter M. Schardt, M.D. 191 Main St. Manchester

Sorosiak, Caffyn backed

To the editor: This year South Windsor voters have an opportunity to elect two very dedicated men to the Town Council. The two men I speak of are Len Sorosiak and Allan Caffyn.

Sorosiak has served on the Town Council for three years. Len Sorosiak has been the voice on the Council who has spoken up for the citizen. He does not get carried away with the idea of erecting large and unneeded buildings in town.

Without a doubt Len Sorosiak is the most responsible and responsive person presently on the Town Council.

Allan Caffyn has long been known in South Windsor as a man who speaks out on issues that will have a direct and sometimes devastating effect upon the taxpayers. If elected, Mr. Caffyn will be an asset for the citizens of South Windsor.

Pension costs heavy

WASHINGTON — Beginning this month, former District of Columbia Police Chief Jerry V. Wilson's pension benefits will rise from $28,000 to $30,500 a year, thanks to Congressional action raising the salary ceiling for top city officials from $36,000 to $39,000 a year.

Wilson is only 47 years old — and, incidentally, working full time for American University. If he lives for another 30 years to the age of 77, he will have collected at least $1-million in retirement benefits from the District government. That's because he's assured of getting the same percentage increase in his pension as full-time police and firemen get in pay boosts.

Indeed, within the next decade, Wilson reasonably can expect to start collecting more money in retirement benefits than the $36,000 maximum annual salary he earned as police chief in 1974.

There is no intent here to pick on Jerry Wilson. He was the best police chief this wretched community ever had. Moreover, he didn't write the law that gave him his present pension after 25 years on the police force, four years in the military and nearly a full year of unused sick leave. But Wilson's case represents a major problem faced by every big city, and many small communities, in the country — notably near-bankrupt New York.

Thus, the District's problem tells us all a lot about why so many other cities are having trouble paying the bills. In D.C., a uniformed police or fire employee can retire at the age of 41 after 20 years of service. City laws permit retired police, firemen and teachers to take other full-time jobs with no decrease in retirement benefits.

As a result, there are many more earlier retirements than in past years. A city study made in 1973 showed that the average policeman served 21 years on the force before retirement. During the last fiscal year, the average retiring policeman had served only 17.9 years before he retired. The average fireman is retiring after 21.5 years, compared with 23 years in 1973.

The cost is heavy. Actuarial projections show that the average age of death for a retired policeman is 75; for a fireman, just under 77.

The District of Columbia is now paying retired police and firemen 50 per cent for every $1 it pays active police and firemen, according to a study made by the Washington Star. Unfortunately, the District has no special fund collecting interest to help finance these pension programs; the money comes directly out of the city's operating budget and thus produces higher taxes.

Most retirements by both police and firemen are for disability. There are now 3,344 retirees from both departments. Those retired on disability total 2,802, or 85 per cent of the total. In other words, four of every five retired city police and fire employees are on some form of disability. In nearby Montgomery County, Md., the figure is less than one in five.

This is not to say that all disability retirements are the result of "crippling" injuries suffered in service. Under city law, for example, a police officer can claim he aggravated an old football injury by twisting an ankle while walking his beat. A fireman can claim he aggravated an old back injury in a fall on his way to work.

If taxpayers in San Francisco and Kalamazoo dismiss the D.C. problem as none of their affair, they guess wrong. Despite limited home rule in Hell City, 30,000 city government employees are still eligible for the federal government's civil service pension plan. That means taxpayers from Maine to Hawaii are paying the bill for federal pension benefits now received by 4,500 city government retirees.

And a happy October to all

TODAY'S THOUGHT

God's great love

A very well known scripture comes to mind that I think most everyone can quote, "For God so loved the world that He gave His only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in Him should not perish, but have everlasting life." It is a beautiful thought to meditate on, that a God so big and powerful, who has all wisdom and knowledge, cares enough for us human beings that He gave His only Son to save a lost and dying humanity. God, in all His vast knowledge knew that He would be rejected and tortured, and still, because of His love for the creature He had himself created, He allowed His only Son to be spared His Son by just speaking the word and doing away with sinful man, but the Love of God is so great that He wanted no one to perish so He sent us Jesus, that through Him we could find a peace and joy that everyone longs for. We could lay our head on our pillow at night without fear of what the morrow will bring forth. We no longer have to be depressed, nervous, or sick — we can call on the only begotten Son of God and He will bring peace to our soul, and contentment to our mind. Jesus said in Matthew 11:28, "Come unto me all ye that labor and are heavy laden and I will give you rest." What greater thing could be offered to you, than that for your soul and body?

Read this little thought over again and ask yourself, Do I have the rest and peace, are my thoughts good and wholesome or are they wrapped up in the things that are coming upon our country? If so, seek the Lord and you will find Him and He will give you rest and contentment and you will have thoughts of joy and peace, and a blessed rest shall come to you.

School board change favored

To the editor: This Nov. 4, the South Windsor voters will have the opportunity to vote for three Board of Education candidates. The board members you select will determine the leadership and direction of the South Windsor Board of Education over the next two years. I urge you to carefully consider your candidates.

As a board member who will continue to serve you for the next two years, I would welcome candidates who will support the public's right to hearings on decisions which lack general agreement or reflect changes in the course of thoughtful decision-making, and who will call for a renewed emphasis towards the "basic expectations of public education" and will carefully examine "fads" who will not subscribe to the philosophies of "what is new must be better," and "experts understand our children's needs better than parents."

By electing Fred De Giacomo, Frank Devney, and Ed Kenway you will change the leadership and the direction of the South Windsor Board of Education.

These gentlemen are knowledgeable, courteous, attentive, inquiring and responsive. They will take their positions as your elected representatives seriously, and will provide an atmosphere at board meetings which welcomes and encourages public participation as the most necessary ingredient in reflecting the desires of our community.

A blow for vacillation...

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Having recently voted to abolish several types of income tax deductions, the House Ways and Means Committee has more recently voted to retain them.

When I asked a member why the committee changed its mind, he said it was largely due to sympathy for the construction industry.

"The building business is still in a slump caused by the recession," he said. "So we decided this was not a good time to curtail the market for prefabricated tax shelters."

I said, "Then the turnaround wasn't a matter of committee members fearing that eliminating the deductions might cost them votes in next year's elections?"

"Good heavens, no," the congressman exclaimed. "Political considerations were the farthest things from our minds. You know and I know that members of Congress are utterly fearless when it comes to standing up to special interest groups."

"But this time the national interest was involved. We simply couldn't risk causing additional unemployment in a field as important to the national economy as the construction industry."

"Apart from that, there's an emotional element to consider. A man's tax shelter is his castle. Along with a strong national defense, an impregnable tax shelter gives us a reassuring sense of security."

I thanked the gentleman for clearing up that point and put in a call to the National Loophole Association, whose spokesman explained the committee's switchback from a different angle.

"When Congress starts restricting anything as fundamental as the right to use tax loopholes, we will be losing a precious part of our national heritage," he said.

"Many citizens, for example, are loophole collectors. To them, a beautifully designed and finely tuned loophole is a work of art. For many others, loopholes arouse their sporting instincts. They deeply enjoy stalking through tangled, overgrown tax manuals on the hunt for rare exemptions."

I said, "What about the argument that the country is being flooded with loopholes, many of which wind up in the wrong hands?"

The association spokesman sighed a weary sigh. "I assume you are referring to the so-called 'April 15th Specials.' As we have repeated time and again, we don't deny that cheaply made and readily available loopholes frequently are used to rob Uncle Sam of revenue."

"But you aren't going to stop tax fraud by abolishing loopholes. You are only going to deprive honest folks of refunds and insure that chiselers get all the rebates."

"Loopholes don't cheat the IRS — people cheat the IRS. Far and away the majority of taxpayers use their loopholes for legitimate deductions." You can now, I'm sure, understand why the committee had second thoughts about tax reform. What I can't understand is how it ever had the first thoughts.

Enjoy your vegetables all winter long

After winning the summer long battle for your vegetables against a wide array of insects and soil deficiencies, you discover your vegetable harvest outnumbers the appetites of family members 10 to 1.

What do you do now? To solve this problem easily you could give all your excess to friends or better yet you could enjoy your vegetables all winter by storing them. The attic, garage, basement, and the cellar are great places to store vegetables, according to Donald S. Francis, county agent and coordinator of the University of Connecticut's Cooperative Extension Service field office in Brooklyn.

These four areas have ideal atmospheric conditions for preservation. Francis says that temperature, humidity and ventilation are three main factors to consider when storing vegetables. These conditions exist in the aforementioned storage areas in the home.

The attic is an ideal storage place if there is a little ventilation.

Temperatures ranging from 45 degrees to 60 degrees are excellent for storage of vine crops such as squash. Store them on wooden or metal shelves, being careful not to let them touch each other so air will circulate. Bruises and scratches lead to decay so handle the vegetable carefully.

Onions and garlic can also be stored in the attic if the temperature stays between 32 degrees and 40 degrees. When storing onions, harvest them with their tops on. This prevents "bleeding" of vital juices. Then either place them in trays near the ceiling where the air is dry or braid the tops and hang in bunches from the ceiling.

By checking the garage with a psychrometer, vegetables can be stored there if its cool and moist enough. Insulate a covered wooden box with bags of leaves or straw. Fill with root vegetables packed in sand. If packing vegetables together, keep them away from other fruits so odors won't be absorbed.

For storing root vegetables, cabbage, and hard fruits, the basement, the old fashioned "root cellar" is perfect. It would be worthwhile to build a cellar outside if you store a lot of vegetables every year.

When storing in the basement, partition off a room using cement blocks or double walls of boards and building paper with insulation space between. Line the walls with shelves and be sure to put a tight-fitting door in. A three-inch layer of gravel on the floor will help maintain humidity. When the humidity falls too low, just sprinkle the floor with water.

Hang cabbages with roots up from the ceiling. Pack other vegetables in boxes or baskets alternating with layers of sand. Place the root crops on the bottom where the air is very moist. Apples, pears, and cauliflower are best stored closer to the ceiling. When storing vegetables in the cellar, hang a polyethylene sheet to separate the cellarway from the basement and furnace heat. In the fall pile bags of potatoes on the top shelves. As winter gets colder transfer the sacks to lower shelves.

Coventry GOP favors review of charter, personnel

MONICA SHEA 742-9495

The Town Charter should be revised, say Republican candidates. They urge a hard look at the positions and personnel in the Town Hall and Coventry departments.

Their opinions followed a recent meeting of Republicans. The candidates support the position of retaining a full-time planner for the town. They give strong support for the present planner, Frank Connolly.

Jim Ladd, campaign chairman and a candidate for the Board of Tax Review, said, "We have to straighten out the Town Hall."

"We have to bring in competent people and get rid of the incompetents. This should be done in all town departments, not just the town hall. We should review all positions."

Jesse Brainard, seeking re-election to the Town Council, said, "One of the problems at the Town Hall is the human problem. And we have a human problem up there."

"Before you can presume you are going to have a general house cleaning at the Town Hall, you have to look at each position."

to the council, and Olmstead said they would like to see more study of sewers.

While council candidates Doug Whipple, Leonard Gilglio, and Brainard said the town needed sewers to help correct the pollution problems and to encourage commercial growth.

All of the candidates said they want apartments built, one and two bedrooms, to provide housing for the elderly and Coventry's young people. Brainard said the cost of sewers is no longer a valid argument.

"The new bonding information leads me to believe we can afford a sewer system."

"The fears raised that Coventry would be taking care of UConn and Mansfield Training School are no longer valid."

"Growth generated by the sewers could be controlled by the Planning and Zoning Commission."

Manchester quarterback Craig Ostrout skirts wide

Nottingham fills shoes

NEW YORK (UPI) — When Pete Rozelle ruled late last week no National Football League team could sign any players away from the large pool of unemployed World Football League talent, there was a gnashing of teeth in Miami.

The ruling meant Larry Csonka, the game's most punishing ball carrier, would not be able to play for the Dolphins this year even if Don Shula and his band of legal advisers could talk John Bassett into relinquishing a personal services contract he has with the big fullback.

With Csonka out of the picture, Miami was forced to live or die on its inside running game with 5-foot-10, 210-pound Don Nottingham — a nice little parcel to have in one's backfield but certainly no Csonka.

No Csonka, that is, until he has to be — then Nottingham does a pretty good impersonation, as was the case Sunday when he punched through the Buffalo defense for three touchdowns to give Miami first blood in their two-game series and first place in the AFC East.

Nottingham scored on short bursts of one, three and one yards to provide Miami a 35-30 victory over Buffalo and a one game lead in the East over the Bills, who have now dropped two games after winning four straight at the start of the season. Miami is now 5-1.

It was the 11th straight time Miami has beaten Buffalo and the Dolphins were successful because of their ability to shut down O.J. Simpson, holding him under 100 yards for the first time this season. He gained 88 yards in 19 carries.

In other games, Baltimore crushed the New York Jets 45-28, Kansas City 20-13, and Cincinnati 20-13.

McConville's goal decisive for MCC

A goal that barely eluded the grasp of Worcester Junior College goalie John McConville proved decisive as Manchester Community College gained a 2-1 soccer win over the Massachusetts school Saturday at Cougar Field.

Tim McConville scored the goal 22 seconds before the end of the first half booting a low bouncer past McConville, who stopped just about everything else the Cougars kicked at him.

Tim Cyr gave the Collegians a 1-0 lead, scoring his 12th goal of the season on a header with an assist going to McConville.

Reserve quarterback sparks for Patriots

FOXBORO, Mass. (UPI) — Steve Grogan, who might have been one of the quietest guys in the New England Patriots locker room, wound up talking a great game in his team's second victory of the season.

The rookie quarterback from Kansas State possibly cost the Patriots three points by fumbling a field goal snap late in the first period. But when Jim Plunkett reinjured a separated shoulder, it was Grogan who threw two touchdown passes to pace the Patriots to a 24-16 win over the San Francisco 49ers.

The 6-foot-4 kid from Pomona, Kan., knew when he took over in the second period that he would have to produce or live with some unkind remarks from his coaches.

"After I dropped that field goal snap and John (Smith) missed the kick, I figured I'd better do something or else I'd get my tail chewed off," said the fifth-round draft pick.

With the help of second-year running back Andy Johnson — who was an off-the-bench hero in last Sunday's win over Baltimore — Grogan led the Patriots to a 17-0 halftime advantage. First, he moved the Patriots 46 yards with San Cunningham covering the final 11 on a pitchout, then he turned a blocked punt recovery into another touchdown by hitting Johnson from 11 yards out.

The rookie also combined with Randy Valaha for a seven-yard touchdown in the final period after the 49ers had closed to 14-10.

"Grogan did a great job; he kept his poise," said Valaha who caught seven passes for 70 yards and had a 40-yard reception called back by a penalty. "I think he has a real strong arm and a good sense of where to throw."

Grogan's good sense — and the Patriots coaches who called most of the plays — told him to throw away from 15-year veteran cornerback Jimmy Johnson and work on Nate Allen.

His prudence paid off in 10 completions in 20 attempts for 128 yards and no interceptions.

In contrast, 15-year veteran Norm Snead had two passes picked off, although he did complete 21 of 40 for 200 yards and two touchdowns.

"We're still making crucial mistakes though," said Snead, now with his fifth NFL team. "We get to a point where we were executing well and playing well, then I don't know what happened, but it all breaks down."

The Patriots started breaking the 49ers early as Plunkett marched them 48 yards before Smith kicked a 44-yard field goal at 6:41 of the opening period.

Plunkett was reinjured in the final minute of the first quarter and it took Grogan two possessions to exploit the 49er defense. He ran Cunningham up the middle, and Johnson through the guards for substantial gains, and threw to Johnson for a 15-yard gain to tie the game.

Johnson's score after the big fullback juggled the pitch, was the game and that's when they just outplayed us," Steve King recovered it, Grogan struck again. This time he hit Johnson, who finished with 108 yards rushing in 21 carries and 27 yards on three pass receptions. Johnson, in his second week as a replacement for Mack Herron, has gained more than 100 yards in each.

"Grogan played real well and credit that offensive line," said Johnson. "(John) Hannah and (Sam) Adams opened up the holes for me and all I had to do was sit back and watch."

All distraught San Francisco Coach Dick Nolan could do was sit and watch, too. And he did not appreciate what he saw, even though Ralph McGill played well on defense and ran a fumble recovery 14 yards for a score and even though Snead hit Mike Holmes with a 24-yard touchdown pass with 50 seconds to play.

After the game he sat in a room away from his players, squeezing his throbbing head with his hands. He looked as a couple of reporters came in and said, "The first half was the game and that's when they just outplayed us."

Nolan said little else. Both teams are now 2-4.

Week after week it seems, opponents come marching into Memorial Field and put on display that one superior back who by himself can turn a game around while Manchester High doesn't have a countering force.

Saturday, with rainy conditions prevailing, 5-10, 175-pound senior halfback Rogers was on a man wrecking crew in leading Enfield High to a 29-12 CCIL victory over the locals. Rogers carried the ball 20 times for 145 yards, scored two touchdowns on runs of 56 and 5 yards and tossed for another, a 46-yarder to Steve Lamond which put the Indians securely in the hole.

The rain and fortunes of war kept the crowd down to a total of 575, of which 190 paid there way in.

The Raiders' victory improved their CCIL and over-all ledger to 2-3 while Manchester has now lost five in a row and sport an 0-5 league mark and 1-6 aggregate docket.

"Our corner play hurt us. We were getting physically beat. Our secondary was hanging back too long and that quick dives went right by people. It was our worst defensive game of the year," cited Tribe Coach Larry Olsen. "The significant part was that we couldn't move the ball and had breakdowns offensively. In the first half we called pass plays and sometimes our people ran the wrong patterns and sometimes didn't even run any."

Two key plays could've turned it around for the Silk Turners. Enfield broke on top 2:32 into the first quarter on its first possession with Rogers bolting 55 yards on a delayed drop up the middle. After two punt exchanges, the Raiders took over in good field position and with Rogers doing the brunt of the work, marched 69 yards with Rogers going over from five yards out and latching onto a pass from quarterback Tim Kelley for a 15-lead with 1:07 gone in the second stanza.

Manchester came right back with junior speedster Steve Dawson making a brilliant 65-yard kickoff return cutting the deficit to 15-6. Both sides exhibited strong defenses until near the end of the half when Greg Franklin intercepted a Craig Ostrout pass and returned to his own 39. Enfield then took to the air with 24 seconds showing on the clock. A Kelley to Lamond pass ate up 36 yards and a pass interference call put the ball on the hole 6. Two plays later, Kelley hit a diving Peter Handley over the middle for the TD with one second left in the half.

The Indians, as they did the week before, took the second half kickoff and sustained a long drive to score. The 60-yard march consumed 15 minutes and left the Raiders with only one second left in the half.

Early in the fourth quarter Manchester forced the visitors into a third-and-22 situation but Rogers got exactly that amount and on the ensuing play Rogers on a halfback option pass and Lamond all alone over the middle for a 46-yard score and the one which sealed Manchester's fate.

"If we could have stopped them on that play (third-and-22) we probably would've had the ball around midfield and down only two scores but that play put us back," Olsen stated.

State college grid roundup

Cadets on streak, big tilts Saturday

HARTFORD (UPI) — All state teams except Connecticut turned in winning games Saturday including the Coast Guard, which goes after its sixth straight victory this weekend against Trinity.

Elsewhere, Yale hosts Dartmouth, 20-13, in a game that is expected to be in contention for the Ivy League title, and struggling UConn, with only one win in six games, hosts another toughie, Rutgers.

Rounding out the schedule, Southern Connecticut heads for Maine, Central Connecticut travels to undefeated AIC and Western Connecticut plays at New Haven.

Westleyan, since last season, turned in a 197 victory over Amherst to win their first Little Three game since 1970. The Cardinals, 3-3-1, will rest up for their homecoming encounter the following week with Williams.

The Coast Guard whipped WPI, 21-9, setting a school record of holding the offense to minus six yards. Also, Cadet Tom Vorholt set a school record of four interceptions.

Two teams came off with identical 21-20 wins — Central Connecticut topping Glassboro and Trinity edging Middlebury.

Central battled their opponents to a scoreless fourth quarter and held Glassboro on the one yard line for three plays.

Halfback John Wholley led an explosive second half Trinity team, scoring two touchdowns in the final period over Middlebury. The Bantams, 3-1-1, have won their last 10 of 12 games over the past two seasons.

Yale quarterback Stone Phillips raced 32 yards for a fourth quarter touchdown that spelled the difference for Yale's 20-14 win over Cornell.

Yale's Gary Fenick returned the game-opening kickoff 65 yards but the underdog visitors buckled down and put Yale to the test through most of the game.

Anderson rehired

CINCINNATI (UPI) — Sparky Anderson, who managed the Cincinnati Reds to their first world championship in 35 years in 1975, has signed to manage the world champions through the 1977 season.

The 41-year old Anderson, who signed a two-year contract Saturday, has compiled a .603 winning percentage and led the Reds to three National League pennants in the last six years.

Robinson home

CLEVELAND (UPI) — Manager Frank Robinson of the Cleveland Indians, who underwent surgery a week ago to repair a torn cartilage and for removal of spurs in his left shoulder, was released Sunday from Lutheran Medical Center.

East runners finish third

Defending champion East Catholic had to settle for third place and relinquish its title to Xavier High at the Hartford County Conference cross country meet Saturday at Hartford's Goodwin Park.

The Falcons led by Dave Boraks' winning performance totaled 26 points with Northwest Catholic next in line with 68 points and East had 90 points.

St. Bernard was fourth with 82 points. St. Paul had 165 and St. Thomas Aquinas 177. South Catholic did not place five men and did not figure in the scoring.

East's best performance was turned in by junior Luke O'Connor who garnered ninth place. Eric Lecko was 16th, Joe Stamp 17th, Joe Burkins 20th, and Mark Skehan 22nd. In the jayvee race, junior Jim Stamp scored a stunning six-yard victory for Coach Dave Kelley's trainees.

Results: 1. Boraks (X), 2. Cobb (NW), 3. Carbone (X), 4. Wilson (X), 5. Olsen (B), 6. Molloy (NW), 7. Mulcahy (B), 8. Virgadula (X), 9. O'Connor (EC), 10. Krupke (X).

Eagle booters bow to Saints

Despite playing its finest game of the season, the East Catholic soccer team dropped a 1-0 verdict to St. Thomas Aquinas Saturday in New Britain.

A penalty kick by John Daglin in the third quarter proved to be the difference as the Eagles saw their record fall to 0-1-1 with a 2-2 draw against Coventry at Cougar Field on the slate.

East outshot Aquinas, 37-20, hitting the post twice and missing on a direct free kick from about three yards out. The Eagles apparently had a goal just before the end of a quarter but it was disallowed as time had expired.

Playing well for East were Geoff Blackwell, Tim Moriarty, Chip Sander, Bill Traynor, Jack Neiswanger, Kevin Williams and Don Martin in an all out effort.

Remain undefeated

Remaining undefeated last Friday was the Bennet Junior High soccer team with a 2-0 win over Kosciusko of Fairfield.

Steve Fitzsimmons scored the Bears' first goal with an assist from Jim Glushovsky. Jeff Lombardo scored the other goal with an assist from Joey Lovell. Goalie Ron Apter, Rich Koepsel, Jon Keller and Matt Glushovsky played well for Bennet.

Fight ignites Whalers

HARTFORD (UPI) — New England coach Jack Kelley credited a second-period fight with providing the spark that ignited the Whalers to a 3-1 win over the Calgary Cowboys Sunday night.

The World Hockey Association victory was the second in a row for the Whalers while the Cowboys slipped to a 1-5 mark.

Kelley noted his team seemed to "come alive" following a fight at 1:12 of the second period between Whaler Nick Fotu and the Cowboys' Rick Jodzio.

"The fight seemed to get us started," remarked Kelley, who also handles the general manager duties.

Bobby Hull back in lineup

NEW YORK (UPI) — Bobby Hull's protest against the violent world of hockey didn't last long enough for some people.

After sitting out one game in disgust over the brutally around him, Hull returned to the Winnipeg lineup Sunday night and scored what proved to be the second period to move into undisputed possession of first place in the Canadian Division.

There were only two other games played in the WHA Sunday night with the Indianapolis Racers edging the Edmonton Oilers, 4-3, and the New England Whalers beating the Calgary Cowboys, 3-1.

Racers 4, Oilers 3. Bob Scisinski scored his first goal of the season with only 4:03 left to play in the third period to lift Indianapolis to victory. Bob McAneeley scored two goals for the Oilers.

Knicks caught by steal and suffer loss to Jazz

NEW YORK (UPI) — Pete Maravich took the New York Knicks' John Gianelli by surprise, then gift-wrapped the New Orleans Jazz' double-overtime victory with some superb clutch shooting.

Maravich's steal of the Knicks' in-game pass with 26 seconds left in regulation play and his basket that followed helped put the game in overtime Sunday night.

"I hid behind Gianelli and stole it," said Maravich, not realizing how hard it is to hide behind the pencil-thin Knicker. "He never saw me and his face showed it. He never thought the play could be made."

But his heroics weren't over yet. He forced a second overtime by hitting two consecutive shots and then scoring eight points in the final over-time to boost the Jazz to a 125-114 NBA win over the Knicks.

"This is a case of a team that has poise and one that lost its poise," said Maravich.

"We were out of it completely twice (before his steal from Gianelli and before the Knicks' committed a 24-second violation in the first overtime) and came back to win."

Maravich, who had 45 points for the night, tied the game up at the end of regulation play with a free throw, 97-97.

With the Knicks leading 97-96, Earl Monroe fouled Maravich with four seconds remaining in regulation play and gave him the chance to knot the score. Maravich missed the first of two foul shots, but made the second.

In overtime, the Knicks jumped ahead by four, 107-103, with 51 seconds remaining. But Maravich hit

Flyers, Sabres start fast in bid to repeat

NEW YORK (UPI) — Along about the end of last May, when they were winding up their Stanley Cup championship, members of the Philadelphia Flyers and Buffalo Sabres were talking about the length of the season.

Apparently it was all talk. From the way each team has started off the new campaign, neither has any intention of cutting until the last puck is dropped, even if the next National Hockey League playoffs should extend till July.

The Flyers and Sabres, hoping for a repeat matchup in the finals, both are off to their best starts ever. Philadelphia, although playing without Bernie Parent in goal for the first three weeks, stretched its record to 6-1-2 by routing the New York Rangers, 7-2, Sunday night, while unbeaten Buffalo ran up its eighth consecutive success by a surprisingly close 3-2 margin over the California Golden Seals.

At the other end of the spectrum, the NHL had its number of winless teams reduced to one as the Washington Capitals surprised the Black Hawks, 7-5, in Chicago. However, Detroit suffered its seventh loss against three ties by dropping a 7-3 decision at Boston.

The line of Bill Barber-Bobby Clarke-Reg Leach accounted for 11 points, with Barber netting the second hat trick of his career. Steve Ykers scored both goals on tip-ins for the Rangers, who have been outscored 23-4 while losing their last

"I was pleased with the way our players came back in the final two periods to take charge."

"We were lucky to come out of the first period with a 1-1 tie because Calgary was forcing us into mistakes with an aggressive brand of hockey."

Recollections on our Diamond Anniversary

It happened in 1937
Everyone was reading "Ol' Mice and Men". The Pittsburgh Steelers were champs of the National Football League. And Amelia Earhart was the first woman to fly around the globe. 1937 was the year Michaels introduced a collection of fine silver, china and crystal, a development that would lead some 20 years later, to the establishment of the first Michaels Brides Room. Today, young ladies engaged to be married can "register" their preferences for such world-renowned names as Lenox, Wedgwood, Tiffany and Waterford. And you, as a guest to the wedding, can express your best wishes with wanted gifts that will be cherished throughout the years.

Business today: People mover is a real footsaver

DETROIT (UPI) — If you've ever had to lug an armful of packages from one end of a shopping center to the other while trying to hang on to a two-year-old, you'd probably appreciate a people mover.

Not some train, minibus or horizontal escalator that needs a massive installation or a lot of room, it's just a small vehicle moving slowly along a predetermined path without a human driver. You just hop on as it passes and off when you reach your destination.

There's no standing in line at fixed stops and it's programmed to stop if someone is walking too slowly in front of it. There's no fixed rail to stumble over as the people mover winds its way slowly along its path.

At the Michigan Mall in downtown Battle Creek, Mich., a single people mover designed to accommodate 12 persons at a time was tested for four days in late August.

Mrs. Ann Huff tried it and said it "was really great for Christen (age 4) whose little legs just give out after we try to do much shopping." And Mrs. Dolores Stout added she wished "they had experimented when I was running back and forth along the mall trying to get my children outfitted for school."

The "Electric Pedestrian Mover" was guided by a harmless signal wire which makes the route relatively easy to install with no heavy construction or private right-of-way. It moved at 2.2 miles per hour, permitting shoppers to get on and off at will.

The electronically guided people mover is the outgrowth of driverless vehicle research by the Control Engineering Division of the Jervis B. Webb Co.

The idea of moving materials through factories without human guidance is not new. Webb's driverless tractors have been in operation in a number of factories and its Mini-Carts are winding their way through the halls of a number of hospitals.

Some are even programmed to call elevators so they're not stuck on a single floor in a multi-story building.

The largest hospital system is that of Detroit's Harper Hospital which has 80 vehicles moving laundry, trays of medicine and hot meals to patients. The heart of the system is a wire embedded in the floor or pavement. A magnetic coil in the robot vehicle detects the magnetic field produced by the wire and steers automatically along the magnetic path, stops on signal and is so precisely guided that it won't veer by more than a quarter-inch.

The beauty of such a system, its developers say, is that it's easy to change the path — simply install a new wire in the floor if the needs change within a building or shopping mall.

Under the terms of separation, effective Aug. 1, 1975, the former offices of The Barrows and Wallace Co. in West Hartford and East Hartford will become part of The Wallace Co. An office in Avon, which will serve the rapidly expanding Farmington Valley market, is planned for the near future.

Wallace said his new company will permit him to provide a unique and more highly personalized service to his clients.

Wallace has had wide experience in Connecticut real estate affairs. In 1958 he left the old Granville Shattuck Co. to start The Barrows and Wallace Co. with Robert W. Barrows. Subsequently, Barrows and Wallace became the largest residential real estate firm in Connecticut with 17 branch offices and a staff of approximately 150 sales associates and brokers. Barrows left the firm in 1969 to form The Barrows Co.

A native of West Hartford, Wallace attended Hall High School and Trinity College. He entered the real estate field after serving eight years in sales management with The Singer Co. He is a vice president of the West Hartford Chamber of Commerce, director of the Rotary Club of West Hartford and a member of the board of managers of the Central YMCA.

South Windsor leaf pickup begins today

JUDY KUHNEL
644-1364

The Department of Public Works has announced its leaf collection program for this year which will include only mechanized vacuum pick-up by town crews rather than plastic bag pick-up.

No plastic bags will be distributed or picked up.

During the six-week period, the collection schedule will be as follows:

Monday, the area bounded by the Vernon Town Line and Avery St.

Tuesdays, the area bounded by Avery St. and Ellington Rd.

Wednesdays, the area bounded by Ellington Rd. and Rt. 5.

Thursdays, the area bounded by Rt. 5 and Main St.

Friday, a make-up day for areas with heavier leaf quantities or for make up of lost days due to rain.

By scheduling six collections in each neighborhood, the department is hoping to provide homeowners with greater flexibility in scheduling their own raking. The schedule should allow homeowners to rake more than once during the leaf-fall season.

In the later weeks of the program, department crews are prepared to use heavy loading equipment to remove leaves which may be covered

Robbing tombstones in Bolton

Debbie Nielsen, left, and Chris Richardson of the Bolton Center School do a rubbing of a grave stone's angel face, also called moon face, at the Bolton cemetery on Boston Tpke. Mrs. Christine Smith, their teacher, now offers a mini-course on rubbings in conjunction with the nation's Bicentennial. Her students got the top rubbed. When they go back this week, they will get the epitaph. The rubbings will become accurate records of Bolton's founding fathers. Her students will also analyze the poetry in the epitaphs. Find the principal and win a sundae

ANDOVER
By DONNA HOLLAND
646-0375

Do you know the character of principal David Kravet? If you do, you might find yourself being his guest for an ice cream sundae.

Kravet, principal of Andover Elementary School, will be in costume Thursday for the school's traditional costume parade.

He said any teacher, student or parent who guesses his costume will be his guest for an ice cream sundae.

His only clue, "Some will say that I'm very much in character. Others will not."

Those attempting to win an ice cream sundae should put their guess and name on a piece of paper and turn it in to the school by noon Tuesday.

Mr. Kravet said, "What will you do if 100 people guess correctly?"

The parade will begin Thursday at 1 p.m. The entire community is invited to attend and may dress in costume in their wish.

Refreshments will be served for everyone in the school's all purpose room after the parade.

Kindergarten students will attend school during their regular hours and have their own party and parade.

HARTFORD - Most witnesses called a 1974 law providing a $5 fine for persons who smoke in public buildings where smoking is banned inadequate at hearing Monday conducted by health officials. They urge stronger laws to protect nonsmokers in public places such as segregating smokers and nonsmokers in restaurants.

DARREN - Sen. Lowell P. Weicker, R-Conn., says he is not interested in seeking the Republican vice presidential nomination. He predicts Vice President Nelson Rockefeller will beat former California Gov. Ronald Reagan in a race for the nomination, but would prefer to see a new face on the ticket.

Moslems attack hotels in war-torn Beirut

BEIRUT, Lebanon (UPI) - The United States began evacuating embassy employees from war-ravaged Beirut today in the face of a fierce Moslem attack on the capital's hotel district and sniper fire on the American embassy.

The Moslems attacked two of Beirut's largest hotels, the Holiday Inn and the Phoenix, with mortars, rockets and machine guns, ripping out a section of the south wall of the Holiday Inn.

Terror-stricken guests were trapped in the basement of the Phoenix Hotel, where employees and guests put out a fire when fighting prevented firemen from reaching them.

The U.S. embassy, closed Monday, remained shut today after it came under sniper attack.

U.S. Marines in combat fatigues guarded the lobby while Lebanese security forces took up positions outside.

A convoy of embassy employees and children sped through the war-littered streets and reached the airport, diplomats said, but they could not immediately say how many were in the first evacuation flight.

Heavy fighting raged through the sea-front hotel area as Christian and Moslem militias ignored a cease-fire call and carried their battle into its seventh week.

The current round of fighting has left about 650 dead and more than 2,100 wounded.

Moslems advanced on the coast from two sides toward the 24-story Holiday Inn, raking its walls with machine gun fire, and hard-pressed Christians fired back from street corners and sandbagged positions.

The Christians took over a third hotel, the St. George, setting up a big, reckless rifle in expectation of an attack.

The bodyguard of Pierre Gemayel, leader of the predominantly Christian Phalangist party, was killed.

Heavy fighting also raged through downtown Beirut where parliament buildings were full and could not accept more patients.

Hospitals all over town reported they were full and could not accept more patients.

Witnesses said deputies huddled to the floor as machine gun fire fanned the building.

NEWPORT, R.I. - Some women in the United States plan to go on strike Wednesday to show the system how much it needs them, but it will be "Male Appreciation Day" (MAD) in Newport. Mayor Humphrey J. Donnelly III said many women urged him to sign a "MAD Day" proclamation and they "will exercise their day by being more kind to their men."

Rockville students voice double session support

Rockville High School students presented their case Monday night. The Board of Education listened but decided it would not rush to reverse a decision to put the high school on single sessions in February.

The board, earlier this month, voted to go on single sessions in February if the high school addition is completed as expected. This vote was against the recommendation of Dr. Raymond Ramsdell, superintendent who advised continuance of the double sessions until next fall.

The plan the board approved calls for complete rescheduling for the morning and afternoon sessions using a seven period day.

A third proposal considered would utilize the morning and afternoon sessions, changing in February, but starting both groups at the same time. A seventh period would be added at the end of the day for extra curricular activities. This would not involve a massive re-scheduling mid-year.

Three seniors, designated to speak, outlined their fears concerning changing in the middle of the year. Speaking were James Hahn, president of the senior class; Scott Price, president of Student Council; and John Leary, student representative on the school board.

They expressed concern about seniors and juniors who have afternoon jobs (seniors and juniors attend the morning session) and the fact they need the money for college and said they are not opposed to going off to the conflicts of making the change in mid-year.

Price said the Student Council is going to work up a questionnaire to go to students, faculty and taxpayers.

He explained books are swapped around during the school year so most English courses use several different texts. He said if students are completely shuffled for the second semester, any book a teacher offers will have been studied during the first semester by many of his students.

"Worse yet, few will have the same background of experiences," he added.

One father of two students, Walter VonHone, urged the board to go along with Dr. Ramsdell. Double sessions are the lesser of two evils.

Robert Callahan, another parent, took the opposite stand saying he felt double sessions have caused up-heavals in many families.

"There's no reason why we should procrastinate and wait until next September," he said.

Several other students made impromptu speeches for the bench.

Price said the Student Council is going to work up a questionnaire to go to students, faculty and taxpayers.

Aid plan would require bank, union sacrifices

WASHINGTON (UPI) - Sen. Adlai E. Stevenson, D-Ill., today asked Congress to approve a plan requiring New York City's banks and union members to make some sacrifices in return for federal help to avert default.

Stevenson proposed the plan to the Senate Banking Committee as an alternative to a plan advanced by Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., the panel chairman. Proxmire's bill called for making $5 billion in federally guaranteed loans available to the city and did not contain the new conditions.

Sen. James L. Buckley, CR-N.Y., arranged to bring a delegation of 11 New York labor leaders to meet with Ford at the White House for a half hour this afternoon.

planned to start drafting its own save-New York legislation Wednesday.

There was no explanation for Simon's action. But some committee staff aides said they understood that President Ford was about to issue a new statement on the administration's position toward the possible default of New York City.

Ford has opposed federal intervention to prevent default despite the misgivings in the financial world of the potential consequences of so severe a financial shock.

Jai alai investigation begins

HARTFORD (UPI) - A Superior Court room was sealed tight today as a one-man grand jury began review of allegations against the promoters of the Bridgeport Jai Alai front.

Superior Court Judge Harold Mulvey, appointed as the grand juror at the request of the state's attorney, may start today to question witnesses in connection with the mushrooming scandal at the $14 million facility.

Mulvey, who opened the investigation Monday by doing only preliminary paperwork, also was to study a letter he received from the family of the late John M. Bailey. It contains a $200,000 cash payment in return for helping the jai alai get a gambling permit.

Mulvey told newsmen gathered outside his court room that he was appointed state attorney general in 1963, when Bailey was Democratic State Chairman, but he was never close to Bailey, who died last April.

Mulvey won re-election in 1966 on the Democratic ticket and left the following year for the bench.

The only persons observed entering the room were Chief State's Attorney Joseph T. Gormley and an unidentified bank employee who apparently was on hand to present bank statements and files needed in the case.

While Mulvey's inquiry is to establish possible criminality in the scandal, a Nov. 6 hearing scheduled by the Special Revenue Commission will determine whether the fronting's gambling permit should be revoked. The commission last week released a list of 40 persons who may be called to testify before Mulvey. The list includes former state Republican Chairman J. Brian Gaffney.

Meantime, State Police Commissioner Edward Leonard said he had assigned six additional troopers to the Statewide Organized Crime Investigative Task Force, which is probing the jai alai scandal.

Leonard said the troopers will join SOCTIP "for the specific purpose" of helping to acquire into possible wrongdoings by Bridgeport jai alai promoters.

Leonard said that since his appointment as commissioner in May, he has placed organized crime at the top of his priority list by making administrative changes within SOCTIP and adding more manpower.

Shelton teachers on strike

SHELTON (UPI) - Teachers went on strike today and School Supt. Edward Finn ordered schools closed.

About 350 teachers decided early today to carry out their strike threat. Picket lines were set up at the high school and the Shelton Education Association.

The teachers met Sunday night and overwhelmingly authorized a strike but, at a meeting early Monday, they decided to postpone the actual walkout.

The committee's 11 schools opened for a half-day session Monday.

The vote Sunday was taken to consider ways of protesting against city officials who had rejected a proposed contract between the school board and the Shelton Education Association.

The contract, giving the teachers a 7.5 per cent pay hike, had been endorsed by the Board of Education but was rejected by the aldermen.

Manchester's Planning and Zoning Commission (PZC) has rejected an Industrial Zone to allow a junkyard off Tolland Tpk. and it has approved an Industrial Zone off Parker St. for unspecified uses.

Voting on rezoning applications Monday night, the PZC also approved a Residence AA Zone application off Birch Mt. Rd.

Birch Mt. Rd.

The PZC's vote to deny the Tolland Tpk. application, filed by Henry Glode et al and Stephen Chuck et al, was unanimous. Glode and Chuck sought a change from Rural Residence to Industrial Zone for about 78 acres of land near the East Hartford town line.

Plans for an automobile junkyard to be developed by Frank Pandolfo of Hartford were disclosed at an Aug. 11 public hearing. There was considerable opposition to rezoning. Among the opponents were several property owners whose land was included in the rezoning site.

The PZC's reason for denial was that there was "insufficient reason to change the zone."

The PZC also voted unanimously in approving a Rural Residence-to-Residence AA change for 13 acres of land on the west side of Birch Mt. Rd.

The applicant, Natmeg Homes Inc., is planning a 10-lot subdivision at the site. The PZC was told at an Oct. 6 public hearing.

Objections to rezoning voiced at the hearing - primarily traffic and drainage problems - could be resolved when the developer files subdivision plans. PZC members said.
