Two sentences are compared

WASHINGTON — Stockbroking has always been a "right" profession acceptable to the Social Register, probably because the job involves the handling of money, the commodity that remains the cornerstone of what passes for the aristocracy in America.

ANDREW TULLY

But whether a stockbroker calls himself an investment counselor or a banker, he's still a gambler — no different except in dress, speech and educational background from the high rollers at Las Vegas. I do not thus demean the profession, but seek only to describe, realistically, its function. I know lots of stockbrokers who are as honest as Harry the Horse.

Waddell PTA backs referendum

To the editor,
At a recent meeting of the executive board of the Waddell School PTA, we voted to support the referendum for additions and renovations to Bentley School and Washington School and replacement of the West Side Recreation building.

to me one of the most humane and considerate of Manchester's citizens. He is friendly, pleasant and enthusiastic, but above all he has that thoughtfulness that gives him time to be kind and fair to all who surround him.

Open campus favored

To the editor:
I know too, this isn't the first time a letter that appeared in the Open Forum saying that he was for an open campus at Manchester High School and that he'd like to have other people's opinions. Well, Mike, here's mine:

you want to serve on your Board of Directors?
I know too, this isn't the first time she has come to someone's aid. She has always worked for the citizens in Manchester and will continue to give her time and talents. I know this woman who was helped that day will want to vote for Vivian Ferguson on Nov. 4. I urge everyone who reads this to give his support and vote to re-elect her as a member of the Board of Directors.

Favor women candidates

To the editor:
Although we are registered Republicans, we are voting for Phyllis Jackson because of the total commitments she has to the people of Manchester. Through the year we have seen Phyllis go against her own party on some issues because they did not serve the best interests of the people of Manchester.

Endorses Zinsser

To the editor:
For years Carl Zinsser has been concerned with the large issues of Manchester's town government. He has worked tirelessly for efficient administration at the lowest cost to the taxpayer. He has worked, studied, researched and, most importantly spoken out in the interests of our citizens.

Urges support for Reinhorn

To the editor:
I would like to urge the voters of Manchester to put Republican Harry Reinhorn on the Board of Directors on Nov. 4. Many things qualify him for this position — his long experience as a manager in business, as a member and officer of MPOA and most of all as a resident of Manchester.

Answers editorial

Dear editor:
May I respond to your editorial of Oct. 11, 1975 by reaffirming the support of our Board of Directors of the improvements recommended for the Bentley and Washington Schools.

Favors Cronin

To the editor:
Some of the qualities essential for a town treasurer are a good business background, dedication, honesty and sincerity. Louise Cronin possesses all these qualities and deserves to be elected on Nov. 4. She has my vote. How about yours?

Likes Goldberg

To the editor:
I write to urge the citizens of Manchester to elect Jack Goldberg to the Board of Directors. His past experience qualifies him for just the kind of duties for which town directors are responsible. As a construction contractor, he has to learn to direct and coordinate the activities of a variety of specialized workers toward a common goal.

Likes Vivian

To the editor:
I would like to relate an incident pertaining to Vivian Ferguson most people do not know. My husband and I had a dinner engagement with Tom and Vivian one weekend. We received a call from Tom asking us if we could delay the time we were to meet. It seems Vivian had received a phone call from a woman in town saying she was desperate as her house was infested with rats and she didn't know what to do.

Carroll-Rogers

Mary Ellen Rogers and Kerry Michael Carroll, both of Manchester, were married Oct. 11 at the Church of the Assumption in Manchester. The bride is the daughter of Mrs.

Donald Kusha of 41 Morse Rd. and Sgt. I.C. William E. Rogers of Manchester. The bridegroom is the son of Mrs. James A. Carroll of 57 Morse Rd.

The Rev. Paul Triquie celebrated the nuptial Mass and performed the double-ring ceremony. Mrs. Carol Joensuu of South Windsor was organist and soloist. Miss Patricia Dankel of South Windsor was flutist. The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore an ivory delustered gown accented with bead embroidery. Her cathedral-length veil was trimmed with matching lace and seed pearls. She carried a bouquet of white roses, baby's breath and stephanotis.

From Your Neighbor's Kitchen

By Vivian Ferguson

Its early name was pompon. Some call it punkin! Some want it for pie. Others roast the pumpkin seeds. Most people buy a pumpkin for decorative purposes or to make a jack-o'-lantern at Halloween.

The pumpkin was here from the early settlers of New England. The Indians grew the cucumber between rows of maize, or corn, which we still practice today. This is why we so often combine corn stalks with the golden gourd.

The carving of grotesque faces on pumpkins is an old custom for which we find several meanings. Probably, the most believable reason is that ancient peoples believed in evil spirits. The Druids celebrated "All Soul's Day" on Oct. 31. The ugly faces of the jack-o'-lantern may have been used to frighten away the evil ones.

The pumpkin was and is a symbol of the harvest. Its color is reminiscent of the sun which brought warmth to the earth and brought forth the fruits of the harvest from the earth.

With proper care, a pumpkin can be preserved until spring if it is gathered from the field just before it is fully ripe. Kept in a dry, cool place, protected from frost, it will last if placed on a shelf. For more than one pumpkin, be sure they do not touch each other and do not stack. Oh yes, they must be wiped off once in awhile with a dry cloth.

I am compelled to admonish as I do each year. If you're using a fresh pumpkin for cooking, be sure it's a sugar pumpkin. The other variety is the field pumpkin. They're both edible but you won't like the field variety. Leave that for the cattle to eat or buy canned pumpkin.

I thought you might like to peruse a few "different" recipes. The first one is an old recipe which I am told comes from Canada.

School
Cafeteria menus which will be served next week at Manchester Public Schools are as follows:
Pumpkin Custard
2/3 cup cooked, mashed pumpkin (or canned pumpkin)
1 1/2 cups milk
2 tablespoons honey
1/4 teaspoon ground nutmeg
1/4 teaspoon ground cloves
2 eggs, well beaten
Put pumpkin, milk, honey and spices in electric blender and blend just to mix, or use a hand beater. Blend or beat in the beaten eggs just to mix. Place in six individual buttered custard cups. Set cups into a shallow pan of hot water and bake at 325 degrees about 20 minutes, or until custard is set and lightly browned. Serve at room temperature.

Elderly
The following menus will be served Nov. 37 at Mayfair Gardens and West Hill Gardens for all Manchester residents over 60. Menu is subject to change.
Monday: Browned beef stew, vegetables, potatoes and sauce, cottage cheese on lettuce salad, fresh banana, vanilla cookie, bread, margarine, and milk.
Tuesday: Spanish-style chicken, vegetables and sauce on rice, raw vegetable health salad with dressing, bread, cranberry sauce, bread, margarine and milk.
Wednesday: Roast beef, natural gravy, fresh whole boiled potato, buttered collard greens, spice cake with vanilla glaze, bread, margarine, milk.
Thursday: Pan fried liver, gravy, mashed potatoes (instant milk), sauted onion slices, coleslaw with

Eight towns to seek development powers

NEW HAVEN (UPI) — Eight Connecticut cities have referendum on their Nov. 4 ballots that if approved will let them use the powers provided by the controversial City and Town Development Act. The Connecticut Conference of Municipalities said Wednesday that a survey of its members showed overwhelming support for the act, giving towns widespread powers to bond for development projects. The act was approved last July by the legislature after Gov. Ella T. Grasso vetoed an earlier version because it contained no safeguards against abuses by unscrupulous politicians.

Joel Cogen, executive head of CCM, said the version of the act approved by the legislature has sufficient provisions to safeguard against abuses. He said public hearings are required before municipalities avail themselves of the act's powers, and that bonds sold under the act may not exceed 5 per cent of a town's grand list. The cities having referenda on the act next week are Hartford, Bridgeport, Waterbury, New Haven, New Britain, New London, Norwich and West Haven.

Costs compared

To the editor:
 In my line of business, I am deeply involved in cost estimates and feel qualified to submit the following cost analysis for the new Buckland Fire Station:
 Cost of land, building, etc. $299,000
 Cost of interest on bonds — 6.5 per cent yearly average for 20 years ... $14,750
 Cost of firemen direct wage: (This is arrived by figuring two men on duty 24 hours per day, seven days per week equals 336 man hours per week. Divided by an average work week of 42 hours equals 8 men plus an additional one-half man to cover when other men are out sick or on vacation, ect.) Starting wage $11,158 8.5 men ... $94,843
 Cost of full fringe benefits $1,000 per man x 8.5 ... $8,500 (This is my guess, it may be low)
 Cost to maintain the firehouse, utilities, etc. ... $5,000
 Loss of taxes on property purchased by town ... $500 (approx.)

Total Yearly Cost .... $133,343
 This cost is presently covered under contract to the Eight Utilities for approximately $11,250 per year. The cost, when this new fire station is operational, will be $133,343. Fortunately, the fire engines and equipment are coming from our other stations.

If we already have the personnel to maintain this station, then we have overestimated these past years. I do know that the town presently lists six openings for firemen. I do know it will take 85 men to man this station.

Our town manager, Robert Weiss, has said the station would be needed if Red Rock, Buckland Commons and Georgia Pacific, were constructed. To date, only the smallest unit, Georgia Pacific, has been constructed. Red Rock was turned down by zoning and Buckland Commons is in litigation. I believe, to build this station at this time was a hasty, unwise decision. I contend that Manchester could save $100,000 for each year this fire station could be postponed.

If you feel the way I do about this important matter, vote in a new

To the editor:
 As election day draws near we are bombarded with promises, allegations, and empty challenges as candidates underestimate the political knowledge and awareness of the voter. This year's local election is no different.

It is suggested that an Edward Wilson is running for a town directorship but his ads are an endorsement for his anti-income tax position, and he has said little concerning local problems.

Another ad, showing the Lincoln Center before completion, stated that the board doesn't listen. Voters knew from the start that the entire petition fiasco was a desperate attempt to discredit a real improvement for the town and its services.

Charges that town payrolls have increased fail to include the fact that much of the increased salaries are paid for by federal grants. It is a remarkable achievement if we could increase spending 75 per cent and keep our taxes down as we have over the past few years.

The Town of Manchester has been moving forward and making great progress at minimal cost, and few towns in this area can state this fact. Cooper Hill is operational, Lincoln Center is not an eyesore, the town has greatly expanded its open space land, the handicapped have finally been recognized as citizens, etc.

The Republican members of the board should start recognizing this progress, and be proud to be a part of it. The taxpayers would be in a much better position if Republican candidates were running to serve the residents of Manchester, not the party they are affiliated with.

Sincerely,
 Stephen T. Cassano

Scientists on alert for new flu strain

ATLANTA (UPI) — Epidemiologists are watching closely for any evidence in this country of a new strain of influenza that has claimed 602 lives in New Guinea, the National Center for Disease Control said Wednesday.

The virus, A-Victoria, is being circulating in the Far East since June, but has not been detected in the United States, where the flu season has not yet begun, according to Dr.

Walter Dowdle, chief of the NCDC's Virology branch. "We may have sporadic cases this year" of the new variant of Asian flu, Dowdle said.

There is no specific protection against A-Victoria, but Dowdle said the current flu vaccine may be sufficient since tests have shown "considerable cross-reaction" between the new strain and the older strains in the vaccine.

himself to the campaign. Most of the candidates were at coffee hours or had previous commitments and couldn't attend the town committee meeting.

Noting that it was "National Strike Day" for women, he said, "I'm glad none of you women (members of the town committee) went out on strike tonight. I'm glad you showed up for this meeting. You are dedicated workers and we couldn't proceed without you."

Cummings said of the Republicans, "They have no campaign issues. All they're doing is to try to pull down all the good things we've done. In fact, they're running newspaper ads that try to pull down the town itself."

He charged, "It's the most negative campaign by them in my memory. The sad part of it is that they're doing it willfully. They've done damage to good sense and they've eroded the democratic process almost beyond repair. They know dirty tricks that weren't known even before Segretti got out of diapers."

Cummings predicted victory for the Democrats next Tuesday. "That victory," he said, "will be history-making. It will set a new Manchester tradition — victory for the Democrats in three successive elections. It's never been done before. We'll do it Tuesday."

Mildred Schaller, member of Manchester's Republican Town Committee, listens intently to talk by GOP State Chairman Fred Biebel Wednesday night in Manchester. Mrs. Schaller, was honored by Biebel and the local committee for her years of service.

His left hand still in a cast, Republican State Chairman Fred Biebel relates his story of the Oct. 14 accident in Hartford when President Ford's limousine was struck by another vehicle. Biebel, a passenger in the limousine, suffered a broken hand. (Herald photos by Dunn)

Biebel says GOP recovering

When Fred Biebel became Republican state chairman in July, Biebel told Manchester Republicans Wednesday night, he assumed control of a splintered, losing, bankrupt organization.

Less than four months later, Connecticut's Republican party has $175,000 in the bank and is working hard to recover, Biebel said.

But the party still isn't in good shape, he said — state GOP registration is down about 10,000 while Democratic registration has increased slightly, and Republican State Headquarters needs another $100,000 in the bank to begin a new approach to political party services.

In his first visit to Manchester since he became state chairman, Biebel told the local GOP town committee he intends to run the state party like a business organization. The organization's stockholders are the voters, he said.

Biebel said he wants to make Republican State Headquarters a service agency to provide municipalities with the tools to help win elections.

In other comments, Biebel gave an account of the Oct. 14 automobile accident in Hartford in which President Ford's limousine was struck by another car, and he said he hadn't yet endorsed Ford's candidacy for president in 1976.

With his hand still in a cast from the Presidential accident, Biebel related that despite treatment by Ford's personal physician and Air Force doctors, his hand had to be rebroken and reset by Biebel's own physician.

Biebel said he wasn't ready to endorse Ford although he'll open a President Ford headquarters in Connecticut. Commenting on potential strength of contender Ronald Reagan in Connecticut, particular in Fairfield County, Biebel said he'd also open a Reagan headquarters if asked to do so.

At the end of his talk, Biebel helped local Republicans honor Mildred Schaller, an active Manchester Republican for many years. Mrs. Schaller, seeking re-election to the Board of Selectmen, was given a shawl and a framed arrangement of photographs of her with Republican town chairmen she has served with through the years.

Half of Wednesday night's town committee meeting was devoted to brief comments from major GOP candidates in next Tuesday's election. Town Chairman Nathan Agostinelli, criticizing Democratic claims and alleging poor performance in the last four years of Democratic control in Manchester, forecast overwhelming Republican victory next week.

Board of Directors candidates speaking included incumbent Carl Zinsser, who complained of Democrat-sponsored shenanigans in town government; newcomer Edward Wilson, who again attacked local Democrats for accepting contributions from the developer of the proposed Buckland Commons; and incumbent Vivian Ferguson, who said the major issue in the local campaign is accountability.

LOOKS AT THE SCHOOL BOND QUESTION

BENTLEY AND WASHINGTON SCHOOLS AND THE WEST SIDE REC HAVE NEEDS

IT'S UP TO YOU TO DECIDE IF THE PROPOSED REFERENDUM PROPERLY FULFILLS THOSE NEEDS.

Consider these points

1. Why did the Bd. of Education and Rec Dept. Insist on a package deal when 36% of the Citizens Advisory Comm. voted against the combined facility at Washington?
2. Do the actual improvements justify the price?
3. Why are the school buildings, which are older, in better state of maintenance than the Rec?
4. Is it really necessary to tear down a structurally sound building?
5. Could town employees renovate the Rec at substantial savings as they have done at other town facilities?
6. Would a future Board of Directors reverse the resolution not to build without state funding?

Thoughts ApLEnty

By Len Auster

Revenge prominent motive

Matters have not gone well for Manchester High in the 1975 football season. After taking one of their first two outings, the Indians have lost five straight and even victories in the four remaining contests would leave the Silk Towners with a losing record. Manchester has played well enough to win three but the ball hasn't been bouncing right for them. Teams have been known to do strange things on emotion and this week might be a perfect example. The opponent is Fermi High of Enfield and those 405 fans who were at Memorial Field last year must still have some recollection what the Falcons did to the locals. To refresh the memories of the majority, Fermi lambasted the Indians, 59-0—that score representing the biggest setback ever handed a Manchester club. What few will recall is that Fermi Coach Joe Nucio called a timeout one second before the final gun. Why? To attempt a 27-yard field goal by Mike Rook because they "practiced field goals but never tried one before in a game." That incident nearly touched off a full-scale riot with fans and then assistant coach Steve Lindberg verbally berating Nucio. The consternation was great and even midweek coach Larry Olsen reached a boiling point. Looking at performances this season, what happened before might recur. Bob Francoeur was the big star for the Falcons in 1974 and Charles Pilkington has been more than an adequate replacement. Included in his credit has been a 95-yard touchdown run against Penney and he has broken other long gallops against others.

Big scoring club

Fermi has posted a 3-3 record to date including relatively easy wins over Wethersfield and Penney, two clubs which have tacked losses on Manchester. The Falcons have a potent scoring machine having tallied 206 points in six games. In comparison, the locals have put 71 points on the scoreboard in seven games. On the defensive side, the Indians have yielded 136 points while in one less encounter, Fermi has given up 172. Hall High, ranked fifth in the latest state polls, totaled 55 points against the Falcons for the largest one-game amount. There are many players back from last year's fiasco and one certain fact is that Olsen won't let them forget it. It can be imagined the fans won't either. Based on all the black and white facts it could be another walkover for Fermi. But the intangibles is what must be considered. If anything, Manchester will be mentally "up" for this contest more so than others and this could lead them to greater heights and accomplishments than ever conceived.

Bits and pieces

East Catholic and Manchester High basketball teams will don new uniforms for the 1975-76 seasons. The Eagles, coached by Stan Ogdnick, are scheduled to play three games at the Hartford Civic Center next campaign. In two Hartford County Conference doubleheaders last year, over 9,000 fans went through the turnstiles at the Civic Center...The UConn basketball team has a 6-2 guard waiting in the wings for the 1976-77 season. Dennis Wolf out of Holy Cross High in Flushing, N.Y., has transferred from Louisiana State University to the state school. Wolf started all games as a freshman for LSU a year ago.

Griffin would welcome trade Red Sox player tells Masons

By EARL YOST

Sports Editor

Questions from the near-capacity audience and answers from Boston Red Sox players Doug Griffin and Tim Blackwell highlighted last night's 17th annual highly successful Manchester Lodge No. 73, A.F. & A.M. Sports Night at the Masonic Temple. The guests fielded nearly 50 questions from the diners, men, women and children and their answers were straight and true and neither erred. "I would like to be traded," Griffin said in a frank tone, "although the guys on the club, the front office and the fans have been just great to me. I just don't see eye to eye with the manager."

Griffin, 28, and injury prone, and a five-year veteran with Boston, lost his regular second baseman job to Denny Doyle in mid-season although he still managed to get into 100 games. The Californian, now living in Peabody, Mass., feels that he could

'Hugged everyone'

Head table at last night's Masonic Sports Night was graced by two beautiful women, Nancy Griffin and Jane Blackwell, wives of Red Sox players Doug Griffin and Tim Blackwell. What was the reaction of the wives during the recent World Series? "I have never been so excited in all my life," Mrs. Griffin told the audience when asked to come from and center. "I hugged everyone," she added. This brought a quick response from her husband who asked, "Who did you hug?" The Griffins have two children, Natalie, 6, and Chad, 1.

help a number of clubs and be in the lineup every day. "We all felt a little letdown after losing the World Series," Blackwell said. "But we gave the superior National League and that Big Red Machine something to think about. Cincinnati didn't come right in and run over us like everyone said they would."

Both players, who arrived an hour late, were made to feel at home with a warm reception from an appreciative audience in Red Sox country. Blackwell, who was the backup catcher to Carlton Fisk, admitted to "catch Luis Tiant blindfolded because he always throws strikes. He's the easiest pitcher on the club to catch. Answers from the guests went like this:

Controversial play in Cincinnati involving Fisk and Ed Armbrister. "It was interference. I saw it in person (from the bench). I saw it on replay and in slow motion. He (Armbrister) stopped, backed up and the umpire missed the play. All six umpires missed the play," said Griffin. "Jimmy Rice will hit more home runs than any player in the league in another year or two. Today, Reggie Jackson of Oakland has perhaps the best power," Griffin said. "The biggest needs for the Red Sox... Pitching, a team can always use better pitching," Griffin said, adding, "the club needs a backup shortstop." To the same question, Blackwell said, "The Red Sox have a good backup shortstop in Bob Howe. What the club needs is pitching (front line) and a stronger bullpen. The turning point towards the division title came in the sweep of the Yankees in New York in September. Both guests agreed on that point. "When we beat the Yankees, things started to come together," Griffin said. "It was a big lift beating the Yankees."

Doug Griffin, Tim Blackwell 'sign in'

Brothers Wayne, left, and Billy Bray collect autographs. Jimmy Rice and Freddy Lynn are both gifted players," Griffin told his baseballs which were distributed to attentive audience. "Lynn is a youngsters present. Dinner was served by Eastern Star members. Don Wells was general chairman. Earl Robertson, master of Manchester Lodge, spoke briefly. The ball players spent 30 minutes penning their signatures to an assort-

Celtics' fast break led by Charlie Scott

BOSTON (UPI) — The Boston Celtics' old fast break, with a new face, did it again.

The Celtics defeated the National Basketball Association defending champion Golden State Warriors 115-106 Wednesday night. The two teams were playing fairly even until a fourth-quarter burst put Boston in a commanding lead. The Warriors led at the half (35-55) and the three-quarters mark (83-92), but were outscored 33-23 in the last period. "We fast broke three, four, five times, came up the floor fast," Boston coach Tom Heinsohn said, and the Warriors "ran out of gas." Charlie Scott, who came to the Celtics in a trade during the off-season, added 25 points to the score. He showed a lot of speed and kept the ball moving, fitting right into the Celtics' fast-break style. Scott said he likes to take advantage of an opponent's defensive mistakes. "You know, I'm mostly a finesse ball player, all my movement is geared toward any defensive mistake that is made," Scott said. "If the guy makes a mistake, I know I have a second to take advantage and then I try to use my speed."

Golden State coach Al Attles noted his team had played four games in five nights. "I don't want to kid around this time," said Montefusco, who during the season made such outrageous predictions as that he would strike out Johnny Bench four times in a game or shut out a given team. "I was looking forward to it. This caps the whole season for me."

Montefusco, whose predictions were greeted by teammates with the same tolerance of those of Dean with the St. Louis Cardinals, had a 15-9 record and 215 strikeouts. Montefusco pitched 244 innings, had a 2.88 earned run average which was seventh best in the league and pitched four shutouts.

Separate DH paths

DORADO P.R. (UPI) — The National and American Leagues stayed on their separate paths on the designated hitter rule.

Wednesday, the last day of a three-day meeting of the general managers from both leagues, the American League, which has been using the designated hitter for the last three seasons, voted to stay with it while the National League said it would stay with the traditional role of pitchers batting for themselves. Kuhn took a neutral position on the issue but did urge the leagues to adopt the same practice. Jim Toomey, the vice-president of the St. Louis Cardinals who served as spokesman for the gathering, said that the general managers were all agreed that it would be better to have the same rule apply to both leagues, but neither league appeared ready to give in.

Toomey said that much of the three-day meeting was devoted to discussing possible recommendations to be made at the major leagues' winter meetings at Hollywood, Fla., in December. Toomey, however, declined to reveal the contents of the recommendations, which must first be taken up with the league presidents and other officials.

Toomey said one subject which was discussed, but not given a formal recommendation, was the possibility of extending the league playoffs from the current best-of-five series to a best-of-seven.

Pro basketball roundup

Detroit fast break makes Jabbar chaser

NEW YORK (UPI) — The plan was to make Kareem Abdul-Jabbar chase Bob Lanier for a change. It worked. Lanier and the Pistons, their fast-break offense working like an alternating current, jolted Abdul-Jabbar and the Los Angeles Lakers, 112-99, Wednesday night in Detroit's season-opener at home. Lanier put in a whopping 41 points against Abdul-Jabbar's 30 and both had 16 rebounds. "That's about the best I've seen Lanier play," Laker Coach Bill Sharman said. "They changed ends (went from offense to defense) well and their fast-break was good. They didn't look so good at setting the ball up."

Detroit used its fast-break to rattle off 12 successive points in a 2-49 stretch of the first quarter, opening a 15-14 edge into a 27-14 lead that it pretty much maintained the rest of the way. The Boston Celtics defeated the Golden State Warriors 115-106 and the Seattle SuperSonics beat the Kansas City Kings 92-91 in other National Basketball Association games.

Sonics 92, Kings 91
Rookie Bruce Seals' layup in the final two seconds enabled the SuperSonics to beat the Kings at Kansas City. Seals, who came off the bench late in the first period, led a third-quarter spurt with 16 points. Nate Archibald scored 25 points for the Kings. Nuggets 122, Stars 117. Dan Issel had six points, two steals and three rebounds in the final three minutes as the Nuggets pulled out the victory in a game played by a record 83 personal fouls. Officials Jack Madden and Mark Schlafman also called six technicals on the Denver coaching staff. Issel finished with 24 points and 12 rebounds while rookie David Thompson had 28 points.

Spirits 101, Squires 100
The Spirits broke out of a 52-92 tie at the end of regulation time as Rudy Lockett and Gus Gerardi scored four points each in overtime to down the Squires at Hampton, Va. Powers 105, Sails 100.

Billy Keller sank three three-point goals and Don Buse added two more and made four steals in the Pacers' triumph over the Sails. Keller and Billy Knight finished with 25 points each for the winners while Caldwell Jones had 25 for the Sails. Nets 112, Spurs 99.

Julius Erving scored 39 points leading the Nets over the Spurs. The Nets took the lead for good at 6:20 of the first period and led six at the half and 14 at the end of three periods. Larry Kenon had 24 points for San Antonio.

Today's sport parade

By MILT RICHMAN

NEW YORK (UPI) — Bill Mallory's job is his life and that's not uncommon among football coaches. Bill Mallory has been coaching for 18 years, ever since coming out of high school and for the last two years he has been head coach of the University of Colorado Buffaloes.

If you ask him what he believes in most, Bill Mallory, a rugged-looking, 39-year-old Gendale, W. Va., native who spent most of his coaching career in Ohio, will tell you "my young men."

Bill Mallory will tell you that despite what happened to him Wednesday when the mother of one of his former players filed a $45,000 lawsuit against Mallory for accusing her of "babysitting" her son and keeping him tied to her "apron strings."

The lady making the charge is Mrs. Marietta Stevens, and she says it all happened when she and her husband, Robert, met with Bill Mallory June 3 to discuss why their son, Steven Griffin, a middle guard, had been dismissed from the team the week before.

When Bill Mallory spoke with me from his office in Boulder, Colo., Wednesday, he didn't try to overwhelm me with facts supporting his side of the story. On the contrary, he provided me with me both sides, and after talking with him, I came away feeling Mallory hadn't crowded Steven Griffin at all, but had given him an ample portion of the field to operate on.

"No one has any more interest in his young men than I do," said Bill Mallory, "but at the same time I expect them to abide and apply by certain things. I want them to go to class and work toward an education, a degree. On the field, I expect them to play hard, but clean. Off the field I expect them to conduct themselves like gentlemen. Don't get me wrong, I'm not trying to run a prison. That's not my way of doing things. I've got a lot of fine young men I'd crawl miles for, and whom I think the world of, but I don't think I should have to spend all my time babysitting them.

"In this young man's case, I simply got tired of chasing him around. He was on the team last year and we had some problems. Was he a baby?" Well, I don't care to get into that. Maybe somewhere else someone else might condone the things he did, but every morning when I get up, I have to look at myself in the mirror and there would be no way I could anymore if I had simply let things go the way they had been."

Question: Had Bill Mallory given the Griffin boy any specific reason for his dismissal from the team?
The Colorado coach laughed. "He got a lotta reasons," said Bill Mallory.

In her suit, the player's mother charged she and her husband were "physically and verbally intimidated" by Bill Mallory, but he denied that.

"I was firm," Bill Mallory said. "I told her the way I felt and didn't mince words, but at no time was there any vulgarly or any physical actions involved."

Many athletes, professional as well as amateur, show obvious signs of being babied, even being spoiled unbearably, by their parents during their formative years, and then what do you think happens? Their coaches or managers inherit the problem, and next thing you know you hear the athlete calling his coach or manager some kind of monster or tyrant. Rarely is the athlete aware of it, but the person he's actually reacting to is his mother or father.

No wonder Bill Mallory is tired of "babysitting" for other people's kids. He isn't the only one by any means. My mother and father never believed in baby sitters. They always said with me themselves, "What do you figure out why all other fathers and mothers didn't do the same thing."

Tallon's empty-net goal boosts Chicago

NEW YORK (UPI) — It hasn't happened too often, but the Chicago Black Hawks won a hockey game Wednesday night on an empty-net goal.

The Black Hawks' Dale Talton wasn't trying to score when he got the winning goal that gave the Hawks their first win over the Montreal Canadiens in two seasons—2-1.

Tallon's goal, which gave Chicago a 2-0 lead, came into an empty net with 1:06 to play Wednesday night.

Chicago's goal was scored by Mickey Redmond and Walt McKechnie had two goals apiece against the Montreal goalie Ken Dryden had been hit in order to get another attacker on the ice and Montreal was pressing to tie the game. "I hit it over to Dale," Pit Martin said, and Talton added "it came to me in mid-air and fell at my feet. All I was trying to do was to get it out of our zone just far enough so there'd be no icing."

But the Talton goal turned out to be the game-winner when Guy Lapointe scored the Canadiens' only goal with only 33 seconds to play.

Cliff Koroll got Chicago's first goal with a wrist shot with 11:01 remaining in the game.

Over in the W.I.A. Coligny stopped Cleveland 3-1. Cincinnati defeated Minnesota 6-4 and New England bested Quebec 4-2.

Rangers 3, Blues 1

Goals by Pat Hickey, Brad Park and Hal Gill helped the Rangers get back on the winning side after being outscored 2-4 in their previous three losing outings. The Ranger defense also perked up as goaltender John Davidson had only 18 shots fired at him.

Two Climie goals give Whalers win

HARTFORD (UPI) — Ron Climie was philosophical about his two third-period goals that gave the New England Whalers a 4-2 World Hockey Association win over Quebec Wednesday night.

The left wing said of his latest feat, "It seems I get the same type of opportunities season after season but some years they go in and some years they don't."

Climie's goals applied the clincher but it was center Wayne Carleton's goal, his third of the season, with 23 seconds left in the second period that sparked the Whalers to a 2-1 lead.

Also scoring for New England was Tom Webster, whose fourth goal of the season came at 1:57 of the opening period.

Quebec's Real Cloutier hit the net at 9:20 of the second period and Michel Parizeau scored the Nordiques' second goal at 7:49 of the third period.

Rozelle tells Congress TV blackout ban costly

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Commissioner Pete Rozelle told Congress today the ban on television blackouts has cost football team owners over $9 million in the past two seasons and threatens to erode fan and financial support in the future.

Rozelle, in a prepared statement for a House Commerce subcommittee hearing said that National Football League season ticket sales are down over $8 million for the 1974 and 1975 seasons. "Together with the losses in game program sales and ... radio rights, the member clubs have sustained losses of more than $9 million."

Rozelle was waging an uphill fight against a bill proposed by Rep. Torbert MacDonald, D-Mass., chairman of the subcommittee, to make permanent the ban on any pro sports league prohibiting local showing of a game sold out in advance.

The three-year tryout of the law ends Dec. 31. Before it went on the books, the NFL barred showing any game into a home team's area.

Rozelle opposed even a temporary extension of the law as suggested by pro hockey and basketball spokesmen Wednesday.

Rozelle said 1975 has had the fewest sold out games since 1970 and that before the law was passed "the

Plunkett probable

PAALO ALTO, Calif. (UPI) — No fooling, Jim Plunkett may be able to resume his job as quarterback of the New England Patriots by next week.

That's the word from Dr. Fred Behling, who removed a plastic screw from Plunkett's left shoulder Wednesday and then said "Jim conceivably could play the week after next."

By that, Dr. Behling meant Sunday, Nov. 9.

That's a lot sooner than either Plunkett or the Patriots had expected after Jim reinjured his shoulder last Sunday against the San Francisco 49ers on a foolish running play sent in from the bench.

Civic Orchestra to offer varied program

The program to be presented by the Manchester Civic Orchestra Sunday will include works by two American composers, a Czechoslovakian composer who visited America, and an Austrian composer.

The orchestra will perform in Bailey Auditorium, Manchester High School at 7:30 p.m. Tickets will be available at the door.

The program will begin with a piece by William Billings, who died in 1800, and is also credited with being the first to use a pitch pipe in church music.

Chadwick, a native of Lowell, Mass., gave 50 years of service on the staff of the New England Conservatory of Music 33 years ago.

For 17 years he was church organist at the South Congregational Church in Boston before the turn of the century. He also directed the music festivals in Springfield, Mass., and Worcester, Mass., for many years.

Chadwick died in 1931.

The Symphony No. 4 in D Major by Joseph Haydn was written about the same time the framers of our Declaration of Independence sat in Philadelphia in the year 1776.

Rounding out this Bicentennial oriented concert is Antonin Dvorak's Symphony No. 5 in E Minor, more familiarly known as "From The New World Symphony."

Although published as his fifth symphony, it was actually his ninth.

Born in New York City while Dvorak was fulfilling an appointment as director of the National Conservatory in New York, the work was finished in the summer of 1893 in a Czech colony in Spillville, Iowa, where the composer escaped to cure an intense case of homesickness for his native Czechoslovakia.

The "New World" was first played in Carnegie Hall in 1893.

of upcoming Jaycee projects, including a UConn football outing for underprivileged children, Santa visits to local mentally retarded children, and a health clinic during Jaycee Week in January.

Chairman of the sale is Ronald Tuttle of 39 Edgerton St., a Jaycee since March. He is a self-employed wholesale distributor for the Larson Baking Co. of Brooklyn, N.Y.

The light bulbs being sold, made by a major manufacturer, are in 60-, 75- and 100-watt sizes. Six bulbs are in each package, which sells for $2.50. Three-way bulbs will be sold individually for $1.

United States hopes to sign oil pact soon

WASHINGTON (UPI) - The United States hopes to conclude in the next two months an agreement for importing 10 million metric tons of oil a year from the Soviet Union on beneficial, but as yet, undecided terms.

Under the projected deal, the United States would have the option to import 200,000 barrels a day of Soviet crude and other petroleum products. This amounts to about 3 per cent of total U.S. daily imports of 6 million barrels.

Charles W. Robinson, undersecretary of state for economic affairs, suggested that the proposed accord might eventually affect world oil prices.

He said this could happen if the United States imports oil and exports to Russia the technology for extracting oil from the ground.

"If we care to move ahead in that direction, it could have a significant impact on the world petroleum product supply and demand," Robinson told the House International Relations Committee. Presumably that would mean pushing world oil prices lower than they otherwise would be.

Both parties receive reprimands

SOUTH WINDSOR
JUDY KUEHNEL
644-1364
Campaign tactics in South Windsor came under fire this week as the Fair Campaign Practices Committee met to hear charges and counter-charges regarding a recent tax issue.
Republicans and Democrats alike met with criticism following recent changes by Republicans that Democratic Town Council candidate David Cohen had not paid his taxes.
The charged turned out to be false, due to a computer error. However Republicans, claiming the tax check was fair and routine, cried out against the Democrats calling the situation "smacking of Watergate."
The Fair Practices Committee listened to both sides of the complaint. It is the first to come before the group since its inception a few years ago. They decided the investigation of property tax records was not illegal.

They did however say that it was "undesirable" for the GOP to make the alleged unpaid problem public before it was brought before the Democrats.
The committee reprimanded both parties, and promised to keep a close watch on campaign practices during the final days before election.
Members of the Campaign Practices Committee include: Richard Erikson and Janice Arnold, Democrats; Gaylord Paime and Betty Szanski, Republicans; and Henry Demarsia, Independent.

Hartford police conducting strike authorization vote

HARTFORD (UPI) — Hartford police union president Jerome L. Martin says he expects policemen, disgruntled with failure by the city to approve a contract and growing armed attacks on the street, to vote today to authorize a strike.
Martin predicted members of Local 308, International Brotherhood of Police Officers, would vote to strike but could not say when the walkout would begin.
"We're not going to kid anybody, that seems to be the tactic that's being used around the country and it's quite effective," Martin said at a news conference Wednesday.
The policemen have been working without a contract since early this year. The union called for the removal of City Manager Edward Curtin and criticized Police Chief Hugo Masini for alleged failure to take adequate steps against the attacks.
Martin said many policemen would use firepower to protect themselves against increasing assaults. He said in some areas, policemen were shot at regularly.
"We're not about to lose our lives, as a police officer, he believed it was time for drastic action," he said.
He said the news media was negligent in failing to report adequately a recent shooting of a policeman.
Also, he said 50 per cent of the department's cruisers are unit for service.
The call for Curtin's removal came from the local's executive committee which said the city manager was professional-ly unqualified to run the city and was no more than a "political pawn" of the city's Democratic leadership, headed by City Councilman Nicholas R. Carbone.

The union reportedly wants an 8 per cent increase retroactive to July 1. The city was said to have offered a 2 per cent hike for the same period and another 2 per cent to be paid starting July 1, 1976, but retroactive to last July 1.

Two appointed to state judgeships

HARTFORD (UPI) — Attestaries Frances Allen of Glastonbury and Nicholas A. Gioffi of Norwalk have been appointed as Common Pleas Court judges by Gov. Ella T. Grasso.
Miss Allen, a Democrat, succeeds Amalia M. Toro of Wethersfield, who resigned a few weeks after her appointment because she faced a reduced state pension benefits if she stepped as a judge.
Miss Toro served for many years in the Elections Division of the office of the secretary of state and before her appointment was elevated to the Superior Court.

PLEASE READ THIS IMPORTANT STATEMENT

The cost of operating your town government has increased less than 5% in four years of our Democratic administration. We have prudently increased services while expanding our tax base and substantially improving our investment performance. Manchester is a good place to live. We deplore political efforts to downgrade the quality of life in Manchester. A quality we have obtained through the cooperative efforts of private citizens, community organizations and dedicated public employees. We hope our performance merits your continued support. We will continue to seek full community participation in our government.

Please vote DEMOCRATIC on November 4, 1975.

framework of fiscal responsibility.

Cummings, who is an attorney, said he felt that his legal background is valuable to the board. "A member of our society is a quality education," he said.

Meyers said he felt the purpose of education is to improve the quality of life and living in general. He said he feels the board has made exceptional attempts to provide a quality education but he feels it has been lacking support.

Woolwich, who has served on the board for four years, said he feels the board is affording an excellent education and that it is a non-political question as to how to improve the quality of the education of the students.

He cited many accomplishments of the board including institution of new programs.

Schwartz said he feels quality education calls for high teacher morale in an atmosphere of trust. "I feel there is some polarization and wariness between teachers, administrators and the general public," he said.

He said to accomplish the atmosphere of trust he would seek to obtain information from other than the administration in making policies.

Mrs. Worthen, who was appointed to fill a vacancy last July, said her first task this fall was to familiarize Woolwich said he also feels the school should revert to single sessions as soon as possible but added he would have an open mind about reconstituting as the students asked.

Cummings reminded those present that the board's vote to change in mid-year was unanimous. "As a board member I want to get back to single session framework as soon as possible. I don't feel the decision was a mistake," he said.

Meyers said while he realizes the mid-year change will cause confusion he is basically in favor of the change as soon as possible.

Schwartz, too, said he would be in favor of returning to the single sessions as soon as possible.

Party planned for children

All Bolton children are invited to a Halloween party Friday from 7 until 9 p.m. at Bolton Elementary School.

From 7 until 8 p.m. there will be games in the school's all-purpose room. The games include apple bobbing, bean bag throwing, pin the stem on the pumpkin, pin the tail on the donkey and animal twister.

From 8 until 8:30 p.m. there will be a costume parade. Prizes will be awarded in three categories: Pre-school through Grade 1; Grades 2 and 3; Grade 4 and over.

Prizes will be awarded for the scariest, most original, prettiest and funniest costume.

At 8:30 p.m. all those at the party will follow a trick or treat trail (classroom to classroom) out the door.

The entire event was coordinated by Norman Carpenter, chairman of the public affairs committee of the Bolton Women's Club.

She asks all those who volunteered to help to be at the school at 6:45 p.m.

Mrs. Carpenter said the party itself will be named and operated by 20 Bolton High School senior class members. There will be 20 BWC members and one Parent-Teacher Organization volunteer manning the classrooms.

Two clowns and a wandering skeleton will mix with the young guests. The clowns are Andy Pinto, (husband of a BWC member) and Karen McCoo, youth activities coordinator. The skeleton is Grade 9 student Mary Ann Cefro.

This past Tuesday Bonnie Legg and April Dean of the BWC attended an assembly at the elementary school and explained the UNICEF program to students.

They explained the history of UNICEF and what the money the students will be collecting is used for.

Students who took UNICEF boxes will be collecting Wednesday and Thursday afternoon and all day Friday. Boxes will be turned in at the party Friday evening.

Students are reminded to color the pumpkin and bring it to the party Friday.

All party supplies and prizes were purchased with money donated by many of the town's businesses.

Parents are asked to pick their children up promptly at 9 p.m. Friday.

All preschool children must be accompanied by a parent. All other children accompany their children if they wish.

CAMP PENDLETON, Calif. — Marines struck the last tents today and shut down the refugee camp through which 50,000 homeless Southeast Asians passed since the fall of Vietnam six months ago.

World

BEIRUT, Lebanon — Security forces supported by armored cars moved into the battle-scarred seaside hotel district today, enforcing a cease-fire that has given a brief respite to seven weeks of civil war.

Morocco, Mauritania and Spain have suspended talks in Madrid aimed at finding a solution to the dispute over Spanish Sahara, but officials have hinted that Morocco's planned march by 300,000 volunteers may be curtailed.

A Greek ship bearing the first cargo bound for Israel through the Suez Canal in 16 years arrived at the northern entrance of the waterway today. The vessel was delayed for unexplained reasons.

About 1,250 Americans have contacted the U.S. government to say they're interested in serving on the 200-man task force that will monitor Israel and Egyptian military movements in the Sinai.

Prize-winning jack-o-lanterns. Looking like an ad for toothpaste, a prize-winning jack-o-lantern with a very toothy smile is being admired by its creator, Gayle Trabit, whose father just happens to be a dentist. Sandro Squarrito looks eye-to-eye with the top pumpkin in his prize-winning jack-o-lantern sculpture. The pumpkin contest was held Thursday for students at Green School.

Restless spirits to rise

NEW HAVEN (UPI) — A restless spirit is said to rise at midnight from a great pink granite gravestone in a local cemetery. They call her Midnight Mary. And on this Halloween night it is thought she may join the other spirits for a stroll amid the shadows of a rare disease...

Another recalls a young man who stood midnight vigil by the tomb. His body, the tale goes, was found the next day rigid in fear — his clothes snuggled in bushes. But the most ghastly legend of all tells of the death of Mary herself. The story goes that she fell unconscious, victim of a rare disease that left its victims in a death-like state of suspended animation. She was buried on that October day, but she revived in her coffin. Her aunt, who lived across the street from the cemetery, awoke during the night in horror. She saw a vision of her niece clawing at the lid of her coffin. The coffin was opened the next day and Mary was dead, but the grotesque and cramped body gave the appearance of agonizing struggle. The keepers of the Evergreen Cemetery say they know nothing of this but admit that no one is now alive who remember back to 1872.

District referendum likely

By SOL R. COHEN Herald Reporter It appears likely that the Nov. 7 special meeting of Eighth District voters will turn out to be only a technical session and today adjourned to Nov. 17 or 18 — for a formal referendum on voting machines. The Nov. 7 meeting (at 7:30 p.m. in Bentley School) is to consider action on a petition from Buckland area property owners — requesting extension of Eighth District boundaries into Buckland for fire protection purposes. On July 31, by a voice vote, District electors considered a similar petition and approved the expansion. Subsequently, however, District Councilman John LaBelle declared the petition invalid and said the July 31 action was a "nullity." A new petition was presented and the Nov. 7 date special meeting was scheduled. In the interim, a petition was circulated for a formal referendum on the proposal to expand. J. Edward McKeever, a former district director and a leader of the petition drive, said today the required 200 signatures will be on the petitions before the end of this week and that the papers then will be presented to John Flynn, acting district clerk (he's also a district director), for validation. The petition then will be presented for action by those attending the Nov. 7 special meeting. (A quorum of 15 or more district electors must be present.) The Nov. 7 special meeting then will be adjourned to a referendum date, which must be not less than 7 nor more than 14 days after Nov. 7. The dates of Nov. 17 and 18 appear to be favored. The referendum would be from noon to 8 p.m. in the District Firehouse, Main and Hilliard Sts. with two to four voting machines utilized. McKeever said he's taking no position — pro or con — on the request for expanding district boundaries. "I believe this way, by placing the question on the machines, is the only fair way and the only right way to decide the issue," he said. "Let the legal voters of the district decide one and for all. The eight hours of voting would give every one a chance to vote, and not just a few. "It's the same procedure we used several years ago, when we held the referendum on the proposal to make town purchase of the Manchester Water Co. contingent on consolidation of the town and district sanitary sewer system. The electors voted against it because they had a chance to express their opinion."

Agency offers medical aid

The situation is a familiar one of the many services available through MPHNA, a non-profit community agency that provides home health care for all ages with extra funding from United Way. The answer is the Well Child Conference conducted by the Manchester Public Health Nursing Association (MPHNA). Here, not only will these children be given the immunization required, but also will receive physical examinations, child development screening and nutritional counseling. The mother will also be referred to other social service agencies for help with the financial aspects of other care. Well Child Conferences for preschool children who are not under the care of a private physician are also available. Patients under a doctor's care may request care for themselves or may be referred by family members, physicians, hospitals, clinics, other agencies or friends. These services are available to all at any income level. Fees are based on actual cost and will be adjusted to the patient's ability to pay. The nurse gives nursing care and teaches how to care for a patient between visits as ordered by the doctor. She will assist with the rehabilitation of all persons regardless of age, help the mentally ill patient and the family, and provide information about other health and social services. She also recommends and supervises Home Health Aides who perform personal care and light homemaking services in the patient's home. All MPHNA staff nurses are graduates of accredited hospitals or schools of nursing and are registered to practice in Connecticut. The agency receives financial support not only from patient fees but also through bequests, donations, the Town of Manchester, and the Manchester chapter of United Way. Good health is our most valuable personal asset. Public health nursing is one of our most valuable community assets. Thanks to you, it's working.

$79,000 goal reached

For the first time in many years, Manchester has reached its United Way goal of $79,000, William Hale, director of the local fund drive, announced today. Final figures won't be known until all the pledges are received, Hale said. When all the money is in, he said, Manchester could well go over the goal. Hale commended local contributors for doing "a super job." He said Manchester may have been the only town in the Hartford area to reach its goal. Final figures won't be known until all the pledges are received, Hale said. When all the money is in, he said, Manchester could well go over the top.

Prince meets with cabinet

MADRID (UPI) — Prince Juan Carlos de Borbon met for four hours with his cabinet today in his first official act since he took over as acting chief of state from gravely ill Generalissimo Francisco Franco.

Although Juan Carlos' assumption of power is regarded as the end of 36 years of right-wing dictatorial rule by the 82-year-old Caudillo he still cannot become king until Franco dies.

The latest bulletin on Franco's health, timed at 1:30 p.m. (7:30 a.m. EST) said there has been no change in his general condition, that he has no fever and that he retains consciousness.

But it said the accumulation of fluid in the abdomen continues and that the examination of the fluid obtained by puncturing the abdomen showed inflammation of the peritoneum — the membrane enveloping the internal organs. This shows a weakening of the intestines because of deterioration of the arteries, the bulletin said.

Today was only the third time the 37-year-old prince has presided over the Spanish cabinet. He did so twice in the summer of 1974 when Franco fell dangerously ill from phlebitis and Juan Carlos took over temporarily.

The meeting was called at his Zarzuela palace residence to deal with problems that have accumulated during the past 11 days in which Spain has been virtually without leadership. Among these was the appearance of agonizing struggle. The keepers of the Evergreen Cemetery say they know nothing of this but admit that no one is now alive who remember back to 1872. The legend on the great pink stone remains to remind the wary with these words: "At high noon, just from and about to renew her daily work in her full strength of body and mind, Mary E. Hart, having fallen prostrate remained unconscious until she died at midnight, October 15, 1872. Born December 16, 1824. But what has chilled the many visitors to the tomb are the steeply raised words over that legend which says: "The people shall be troubled at midnight and pass away."

Police strike threat strong in Hartford

HARTFORD (UPI) — The threat of a strike by city police loomed large today as disgruntled policemen cast ballots in a vote of confidence poll for union leaders.

Policemen voted through the night after a call Thursday for a vote of confidence for the Executive Committee of Local 308 of the International Brotherhood of Police Officers.

Local President Jerome L. Martin said the Executive Committee hoped for a vote of confidence from 85 per cent of the membership to allow a strike to be called without a further vote from the members.

He planned a news conference today to announce the results of the vote and possibly what action the union will take.

Martin on Wednesday predicted that policemen, disgusted over delayed contract talks and growing violence against them on Hartford streets, would vote to strike.

Martin acknowledged that such authorization to call a strike could make the union officers open for arrest in the event of a policeman's strike, that would be illegal.

Martin said the union has alternatives to a walkout which he declined to name but said, "We're willing to go to jail." The union, which has been negotiating with the city to replace a contract that expired June 30, has called for the removal of City Manager Edward Curtin as unable to handle his job.

Martin criticized Police Chief Hugo Masini for alleged failure to take steps to combat growing armed attacks on policemen and said officers should be given more firepower.

Masini in turn accused the union leader of inflaming the issue with his remarks that policemen should get tough and "do a little damage" in the troubled neighborhoods.

The chief said Martin's comments were a "crude insult" which "jeopardizes relationships between the responsible community and its police officers.

The union reportedly seeks an 8 per cent wage hike retroactive to July 1 while the city has offered only 2 per cent retroactive to the same period and another 2 per cent effective Jan. 1 but not payable until June 30, 1976.
