MIDDLETOWN — "New York's heart is bigger than its head," according to Sen. William J. Proxmire, D-Wis., who may have a say in the city's financial future. "Pensions for garbage collectors that are the size of a congressman's are nice," he said Friday. "Nothing wrong with it except it can't afford the added expense."

WETHERSFIELD — The state Motor Vehicle Department today apologized to 4,200 car owners who were mistakenly issued notices of overdue car taxes. Commissioner Stanley J. Pac said persons who received the notices can determine whether they really owe taxes by looking for a mark on a slot in their registration renewal form marked "DLTAX."

In a bill completed Friday, parents who must pay expenses for child care or care of an incapacitated relative in order to work can subtract 20 per cent of these payments from tax bills.

DES MOINES, Iowa — Farmers have begun piling grain on the ground because of the heavy harvest and a shortage of rail cars. Elevators are clogged and weather has been perfect for harvesting creating the problem, a farm spokesman said.

The tract lease sale has been set for Dec. 9 on 1.25 million acres in the Santa Barbara channel. The Atlantic drilling tests will be off Cape Cod and in the Baltimore Canyon.

MADRID, Spain — Generalissimo Francisco Franco's successor, Prince Juan Carlos, will not inherit the major powers held by the dying Caudillo, among them the right to draft, sign, and enact laws and decrees without prior consultation or control. He will have to submit for approval all emergency legislation to his cabinet or the Council of the Realm, the nation's highest advisory body.

PORT SAID, Egypt — A Greek freighter bound for Israel was forced to postpone its historic journey through the Suez Canal today because it lacked immediate funds to pay its toll. A spokesman for the ship's agent in Port Said confirmed that the Olympos had missed the deadline for today's convoy formation and would have to wait at least 24 hours.

The 'Hunchback' of Waddell

The Waddell School Halloween party Friday evening featured among other things a costume contest. Bob McMahon with his "Hunchback" get-up won the sixth grade division. From appearances, he and the other contestants would have no trouble extracting treats later in the evening. (Herald photo by Dunn)

Halloween pranksters keep firemen, policemen busy

Halloween pranksters were out in great numbers Friday night keeping police and fire fighters busy.

Arrests for Halloween-related incidents included:

- Francisco Mollet, 19, of 76 Oak St., trespassing on public lands with a motor vehicle on the Eighth Utilities District property off Hilliard St.

- Ronald G. Gankowski, 20, of 362 Gardner St., breach of peace Friday at 10:46 p.m. at Buckland Center. The charge relates to the lighting of a tire fire.

- Larry M. Lokatsy, 17, of 55 Fairfield St., breach of peace Friday at 9:12 p.m. along the railroad tracks west of Stock Pl.

- Donald Giguere, 17, of 32 Trebbe Dr., breach of peace Friday at 9:48 p.m. by the Georgia Pacific warehouse off N. Main St.

- William Pelletier, 17, and Craig M. Bukowy, 17, both of East Hartford, and Glen A. Griswold, 17, of 912 Tolland Tpk., breach of peace Friday at 10:36 p.m. on the Balf Construction Co. driveway. A tire fire was going near them, police said.

- Kenneth J. Krewalk, 17, of 18 Liberty St., Gary E. Pointer, 17, of 109 Buckland St., and Kenneth P. Wollenberg, 17, of 154 Hilliard St., breach of peace and reckless endangerment today at 12:29 a.m. at Buckland Corners.

Police stopped the trio in possession of old tires and gasoline, police said.

Vandalism

Tirefires and other fires were common in the North End of town despite extra police coverage. The "Fire Calls" in today's Herald lists many of them.

Many homes were hit by vandals. Reports of eggs thrown at houses came from Spring St., Myrtle St., Parker St., Arcelia Dr., and Tolland Tpk.

Eggs also struck the Mary Cheney and Whiton Memorial Libraries.

A car drove over the lawn of a Carriage Dr. residence. A window was broken on Sycamore Lane. A car was badly scratched where it was parked at Willie's Steak House on Center St.

Police suspect more vandalism occurred which has not yet been reported or which may not be reported.

Police stopped many groups of youths to get their identities and disperse them.

A crowd of about 35 ran from police by the Georgia Pacific warehouse off N. Main St. Many of the young people were females, police said. In past years, almost all roaming in the area on Halloween had been male.

A Pine St. parent discovered a pin stuck in candy corn given his child while trick or treating. No harm was done. Police are attempting to locate

Hates Halloween

DENVER (UPI) — Despite what you may think, Frankenstein hates Halloween.

Roz Frankenstein, 25, says children call her up all night with the kinds of questions you'd expect if your name was the same as the fictional monster maker.

"They call up and ask if Dr. Frankenstein is there or if the monster is there," said Miss Frankenstein Friday. "Sometimes they ask for Dracula."

"They call any time of the day or night, in the winter, spring, summer or fall," she said. "It can be very annoying."

Murdered girl last seen by Ethel Kennedy's nephew

GREENWICH (UPI) — A 15-year-old girl whose bludgeoned body was found Friday in her back yard was last seen alive at the home of a nephew of Ethel Kennedy.

The body of Martha Moxley was found about noon beneath a pine tree in her back yard about 200 feet from her house. It was the same area police had searched eight hours earlier and found nothing.

Police were alerted about 3:45 a.m. Friday by Martha's mother, Mrs. J. David Moxley, when the girl failed to return from the neighboring home of Tom Skakel, a sophomore at Greenwich High School. Skakel's father is Mrs. Kennedy's brother.

The girl, dressed in blue jeans and a parka, was apparently hit on the head with an undetermined object and then dragged under the pine tree, said police who would not comment on whether she was sexually assaulted.

Police declined to speculate whether they missed the body in their initial search, or if it was dragged to the tree after they left.

Mrs. Moxley and her husband, David, moved into the posh Bellehaven section of this New York City suburb about a year ago.

Police said they had no leads or suspects in the case.

Beirut Christians battle encirclement

BEIRUT, Lebanon (UPI) — Christian gunmen held onto a shrinking defense perimeter in Beirut's extensive hotel district today, in a last ditch battle against becoming totally surrounded by Moslem militia.

Premier Rashid Karami called a new cease-fire Friday night — the 11th in seven weeks — but like the others it immediately collapsed.

Christian and Moslem militias fought into the early morning hours with rockets, mortars, and machine guns.

At least 30 persons were killed and about 70 wounded Friday, raising the toll in seven weeks of city-wide warfare to over 1,000 dead and 2,500 wounded.

Christian militiamen of the right-wing Phalangist party made a last stand defense against Moslem leftists advancing from two sides on their embattled positions inside the St. George Hotel and the Holiday Inn in the resort area.

Fierce rocket, mortar, and machine gun clashes also raged through the city's devastated eastern outskirts.

Leftists pushed the Christians out of the streets north of the main uptown shopping center and advanced eastward within 100 yards of the Holiday Inn, where they traded machine gun and rocket fire with Phalangists holed up inside.

The Phalangists were fighting desperately to retain the hotel, the streets in back of it, and the port road that is the only access route left to them to their headquarters downtown.

The area just south of the Holiday Inn, one of the wealthiest Christian areas of Beirut, was patrolled today by Moslem gunmen who assured the few remaining residents they had nothing to fear because the area had been "liberated."

Ford taping testimony on Fromme incident

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Ford will be before the television cameras today but only a few lawyers, court officers and possibly a jury will see the program.

In an unprecedented arrangement,

Ford agreed to comply with a judge's order that he give sworn testimony on videotape in the criminal case of Lynette Alice "Squeaky" Fromme, who is charged with attempting to assassinate him in Sacramento, Calif. Sept. 5.

Library of Congress researchers said no incumbent president has every had to testify in a criminal proceeding.

Ford agreed to submit to questioning under oath before the cameras by Miss Fromme's attorney, John Virga, in a third floor conference room of the Executive Office Building.

U.S. District Judge Thomas McBride of Sacramento, Calif., who order the session, flew to Washington to preside over it. Scheduled to attend for the prosecution were U.S. Attorney Dwayne Keyes and Assistant Attorney General Richard Thornburgh, chief of the criminal division of the Justice Department.

The sworn deposition was requested by Miss Fromme's lawyers. The tape will be shown to the jury in her trial beginning Tuesday in Sacramento if the defense so requests.

Ford already has submitted a written statement for use in the trial. In it he said he recalled little of what happened when she allegedly pointed a loaded .45-caliber pistol at him as he walked toward the capitol in Sacramento.

McBride ruled Oct. 21 that Ford would have to submit to videotaped defense questioning in addition to his written statement.

Food stamp enrollment drops during September

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Enrollment in the government's food stamp program fell to 18.5 million persons in September, the lowest figure since the beginning of this year, according to the Agriculture Department.

Officials said part of the decline in recent months is due to normal seasonal factors, and some increase is expected in stamp applications during the winter months.

The stamp program is expected to cost the government about $5.8 billion for the 1975-76 fiscal year which runs through June 1976, officials said. This is about $1 billion below some early forecasts, but $800 million above the previous fiscal year.

Stamp program enrollment reached record levels of 19.4 million, partly due to the recession, in March and April of this year. Since then, enrollment has declined gradually to 19.3 million in May, 19.2 million in June and 18.8 million in July and August.

The preliminary September figure was the lowest since the 18.0 million enrollment level of last January.

Federal grand jury to probe Bridgeport jai alai fronton

HARTFORD (UPI) — A federal grand jury will begin Nov. 12 to look at possible violations of federal laws and regulations in connection with the Bridgeport jai alai scandal.

The grand jury joins a large crowd investigating the $14 million facility. A one-man state grand jury, the state gaming commission and state and federal organized crime investigators already are holding their own inquiries into allegations.

The federal grand jury will be concerned with violations such as avoiding of income taxes and filing of false statements to lending firms guaranteed by the federal government, sources in the U.S. District Attorney's office said.

It also will determine if a federal statute prohibiting racketeers from taking over legitimate businesses has been violated, the Hartford Courant said today.

Meantime, the state one-man grand jury, Superior Court Judge Harold Mulvey, heard testimony Friday from a nephew of a former high state official, who at first had refused to cooperate, and a union official.

Frank Manafort, 33, of New Britain, whose uncle is former state Public Works Commissioner Paul J. Manafort, spend so long on the witness stand that an appearance by his sister, Angela, was postponed until Monday.

Angela and Frank Manafort had balked at testifying before Mulvey but they agreed to cooperate when threatened with contempt of court citations.

Also testifying Friday was Quentin Hinton, of New Britain, business agent for the Hamden, Conn., based International Union of Operating Engineers, whose president is Elwood "Sonny" Metz.

Expected to be called Monday is Lidizio Renzulli, executive director of the firm which operates Bridgeport Jai Alai, Connecticut

Sports Enterprises, Inc. The state gaming commission has said he has been spotted talking to known organized crime figures.

The grand jury is expected to take a break Nov. 6 when the gaming commission begins a two-day hearing at the Newington Town Hall to determine whether the jai alai's gambling license should be lifted.

Area's foster grandparents honored

Several foster grandparents from the Manchester area were honored recently at Moberg Community College in Norwich at a special service of recognition.

The event was in recognition of the services offered by foster grandparents and senior companions of eastern Connecticut.

Foster grandparents from the Manchester area who were presented awards and given special recognition for their years of service in the program were:

Eight years — Muriel Davis and Christine Phillips; six years — Mildred Hayes, Mabel Kuster, Rosemary Lamott, Gertrude Phillips, Leslie Robinson and Anna Vinci; five years — Lena Bauer, Sophie Johnston, Edith Menard, Ethel Sandberg and Mildred Whaples; four years — Abbie Cashion, Sadie Flavell and Lillian Wilson; three years — Edith Maxwell.

Roses, gold pins and certificates were awarded for faithful service in the program.

The Foster Grandparent/Senior Companion program provides opportunity for older persons to maintain a meaningful role utilizing their talents and wisdom. Foster grandparents in northeast Connecticut work with retarded children located at Mansfield Training School, Seaside Regional Center and Uncas-on-the-Thames Component of the Seaside Regional Center.

Senior companions work with community based residents such as those in group homes, convalescent and nursing homes, workshops, activity programs and with families who have a retarded child or adult.

Responsible Gentlemen... Ethan Allen

Ethan Allen captures Ticonderoga

By Dr. Francis G. Waleit

Worcester State College

American Antiquarian Society

On the evening of May 9, 1775, about 300 Green Mountain Boys gathered at Hand's Cove on the eastern shore of Lake Champlain.

Across the lake stood Fort

Ticonderoga like a giant sentinel guarding the southern end of this important waterway. Ethan Allen and Benedict Arnold — quarrelling command of the venture — planned to attack the British fort and to capture the heavy guns located there.

That night about 80 men were ferried across the lake to the New York shore by daybreak. It was too late to wait for more men so Allen led the party along the shore beneath the walls of the great fort and headed for the east entrance. A sentry aimed directly at him and snapped his firelock. Luckily for Allen the gun misfired. As the soldier fled into the fort, the Americans rushed into the courtyard.

Allen sent another sentry sprawling with a blow from the flat of his sword. The Vermont ruffian led the second story of the barracks.

With Arnold beside him, Allen rushed up the stairs. "Come out, you darned old rat," he roared, and an officer with his breeches in his hand appeared. It was Lt. Jocelyn Peck-haman, who tried to stall for time, hoping that the garrison would get ready to resist the attack. This was wishful thinking because the Green

PRESS AND REVOLUTION

Mountain Boys had already overpowered the 42-man garrison and started looting the place.

When Capt. William Delaplace, commander of the fort, appeared he demanding to know by what authority the intruders were acting. As Allen later wrote, he answered, "In the name of the Great Jehovah and the Continental Congress." The

Britisher, faced by Allen with poised sword, had to surrender.

Without bloodshed the Americans had taken a fortress sometimes called "A Key to a Continent."

Shortly a detachment under Seth

Warner took Fort Crown Point a few miles north of Ticonderoga. Here were found more cannon than British had left behind when they evacuated the fort. With a few days Benedict

Arnold sailed an armed schooner to the northern end of the lake and captured Fort St. John on the Richelieu

River. These victories gave the Americans complete control of Lake

Champlain.

But it was the large number of cannon at Ticonderoga and Crown Point that had first drawn the attention of the Patriots. Colonial forces that had gathered about Boston after the battle of Lexington and Concord were in sore need of artillery if they were ever going to drive the British from the town. Thoughts had quickly turned to the heavy guns at the poorly-defended British forts on Lake

Champlain. The idea of seizing these cannon had occurred at about the same time to several Americans —

Ethan Allen, Benedict

Arnold of New Haven, Connecticut,

Maj. John Brown of Pittsfield,

Mass., and probably others.

Considering the attempts of Patriots to win eternal fame for themselves, we will probably never know exactly what was said that morning. Nor does it really matter.

History and legend have given Ethan

Allen the largest role in this adventure, and no doubt rightly so.

The importance of the capture of the British fort was great. Control of Lake Champlain was in itself a significant advantage for the Americans and one that they should not lose. The Pennsylvania Packet,

May 22, 1775 reported that Maj. John Brown had hurried to Philadelphia to tell the Continental Congress the good news. He urged Congress to take immediate steps to strengthen Ticonderoga with men and provisions.

Of utmost importance was the seizure of over 100 heavy guns at the Champlain forts. Gen. Washington sent Henry Knox, a young Boston bookseller who had studied military science and engineering, to fetch this invaluable treasure. During the next winter Col. Knox supervised the herculean task of sledging the cannon overland to Cambridge.

Washington's placement of the artillery on Dorchester Heights just south of Boston forced the British general Sir William Howe to evacuate the city in March 1776.

Thus the heroics of Ethan Allen and Green Mountain Boys at Ticonderoga enabled the Continental

Army to lift the siege of Boston.

Campaign hurtled down stretch

Manchester's election campaign hurtled down the home stretch this week with an unusual development — an occurrence which would have been praised two months ago, but was damned instead because it happened six days before Election

Day.

On Wednesday, Town Manager

Robert Weiss exhibited a check for $26,864 he had received the day before in New York City, while there on other town business. He had visited Abraham Druckman, owner of the vacant building at 815-821 Main St., and had come away with the sum — payment of three years' delinquent taxes.

Wednesday afternoon, local businessman Kenneth Burkamp revealed he too was in New York City

Tuesday and he too visited Druckman. He said he spent close to four hours with the elderly man and nothing but a big rally for the recreation director. The only issue on the agenda of this meeting was about the use of the senior citizen center and anyone who wished to talk about anything other than the recreation director was shouted down. This meeting should never have been allowed to continue on the subject that was not an issue on the agenda.

While the petition was being circulated, a lot of vicious tongues started wagging, spreading stories about getting rid of the recreation director and his secretary, putting the Golden Age group out, and that all the trips would be lost — all vicious lies. Not knowing what tactics were used, the person or persons who organized the people for this meeting did quite a job — why not do this for the taxpayers of the town

the next time a budget meeting is held.

I urge anyone who has any concern for the senior citizens to do what they can to get the center turned over to them. The senior citizens do not need any advisory board or any go-between — they are old enough to know how to handle it.

With their own officers, if any questionable issues arise, they could be brought to the Town Council for a decision.

Everyone will be a senior citizen, so let's give the center to them and not to the Recreation Department.

THE WEEK IN REVIEW

that he too came away with something — an agreement to purchase the Main St. property.

Burkamp said he gave Druckman an undisclosed sum of money as a deposit and that he expects to take it by Dec. 15.

The Republicans, who had complaining the Democrats were dragging their feet in collecting

Druckman's delinquent taxes, now cried "foul" and made the incident a campaign issue. They insisted the taxes were collected six days before

Election Day to make the Democrats look good.

Other developments in the election process also occurred Wednesday.

This night, the Democratic Town

Committee voted unanimously to reinstate the $2,373,000 school and rebuilding question and recommended its passage. At about the same hour,

the Republican Town Committee voted unanimously not to take a stand — pro or con.

Also Wednesday night, State GOP

Chairman Frederick Bebel was the deposed speaker before the Republican Town Committee. He brought it some good news and some bad news. First the good news — that the GOP state organization's annual meeting in the big tent at Manchester was a success. Then the bad news — that registration figures for the Republicans were bleak, with the Democratic lead still increasing.

Manchester's up-to-date registration figures bore him out, with

Democrats boasting a 2,252 lead over the Republicans. The 26,359 recorded total is 815 less than a year ago.

Current figures show 10,510

Democrats, 8,258 Republicans and 7-

591 unaffiliated.

It became apparent this week that the special meeting Eighth District voters will attend Friday (at 7:30 p.m. in Bentley School) will be a technical session — to be adjourned to a later date, possibly Nov. 17 or 18.

The Nov. 7 meeting is to consider action on a petition from Buckland area property owners — requesting expansion of district lines into Buckland.

A 200-signature petition, meanwhile, asks that the district action (to consider expansion) be by referendum, on voting machines.

If scheduled for referendum, the vote would be from noon to 8 p.m. in the Eighth District Firehouse.

Wings of evening: Thoughts on 'other creatures'

Occasionally I am asked what would happen to the Christian faith if it turned out that there were actually

"other creatures" on another planet.

The assumption behind this question seems to be that "God so loved the world" that He sent His Son to it, but that He could not love the whole universe and any other creatures who might inhabit it.

To me, the obvious Christian answer is that I would make no difference in our faith. We claim that Jesus came to visit this small planet, but we have no way of knowing whether He made a journey to another part of the universe — which is also God's creation. The possibility of "other creatures" in no way diminishes our faith that "Jesus Christ is Lord."

"No other creature —"

Our "fishbone" for the week is in Romans 8, one of the most often quoted sections of the New Testament. Verses 35-39 are frequently used as words of comfort at funeral services:

"Who shall separate us from the love of Christ? Shall tribulation, or distress, or persecution, or famine, or nakedness, or peril, or sword?

... Nay, in all these things we are more than conquerors through

Him that loved us. For I am persuaded that neither death, nor life, nor angels, nor principalities, nor powers, nor things present, nor

Area towns' tax rise kept below 10 per cent

Manchester, Vernon and several other area towns are among 163 of the 169 towns and cities in the state that raised their tax rates during the 1974-1975 fiscal year but were among the 67 per cent holding the increase below 10 per cent.

The information is contained in the "Grand Lists and Tax Rates," bulletin compiled by the Institute of Public Service of the University of Connecticut.

In Manchester the net Grand List for 1974 was $288,803,890, the tax increase was 2.7 per cent and the mill rate increased from 49.3 to 50.65.

Also listed in the same population category is Vernon and that town's mill rate increased the past year from 49.5 mills to 51.5 mills or 4.0 per cent increase. The net Grand List for 1974 was $166,483,904. Its last property revaluation was in 1970.

The report also shows that among the state's six largest cities, only two, Stamford and Hartford, reported decrease in their grand levy.

Senior citizens news

Hi everyone. This is your pal Gloria Benson writing the column for Wally who is at Brown's with 180 seniors. It was really busy here Wednesday morning seeing everyone off. What a beautiful day they had for traveling. They should have arrived about 3 p.m. and then the rest of the time will be nothing but fun.

Getting back to the column, it begins on Tuesday. In the morning we had our oil painting class and our ceramic class. In the afternoon the seniors were at the Parkade Lanes and the top scorers were in the men's Class A group. Ted Chambers won the high triple with 821 and Ivar Johnson won the high triple with a 204 in the Class B group. Joe Chavez won the high triple with a 421 and George Swanson won the high triple with a 182. In the women's Class A group, Mary Chavez won the high triple with a 451 and high single with a 163. In the Class B group, Peg Strauss won the high triple with a 343 and Ida Cormier won the high single with a 122.

Wednesday morning was hectic with so many seniors going to Brown's so the Pinocchio group had to meet downstairs. We had 92 tables with the following winners: Ben Moonan, 598; Trace Windsor, 571; George Last, 565; Clara Hemmingway, 564; Alfreda Hallin, 558; Gladys Seelert, 553; Ella Lehmann, 547; Rene Marie, 546; Anna Thompson, 545; Robina Carroll, 541 and Frances Pike, 541.

In the afternoon we had 18 in our Arts and Crafts class who started make plastic candleholders for the fair. Being short handed with Wally and Joe at Browns, I sent out my smoke signals and must thank the following people for helping out: Helen Miller, Lyla Steele and Betty Jesanis were helping with the cards and things, and Tom Fouech and Annie Rouhan who helped with the craft class. It's nice to know we can count on you good people when we need you.

Wednesday afternoon our Bridge group was meeting and the top scores were: Nadine Malcolm, 4-29; Louella Horton, 3-99; Marge Reed, 3-870; Marge Kayser, 3-860.

By the way, next Tuesday is Election Day and I urge all seniors to get out and vote!

Open season on firing announcers

Apparently, as in the baseball manager picture in the major leagues, it's open season, too, on firing established baseball announcers. Bob Prince, voice of the Pittsburgh Pirates for more than 20 years, was the latest to get the ax. Milo Hamilton in Atlanta was also given a pink slip. Ned Martin also appears out in Boston due to a change in stations which will carry the Red Sox games next season and Harry Caray was fired in Chicago. Former Pittsburgh Pirate pitcher Steve Blass is said to have an inside track on getting the No. 2 job in the Pittsburgh radio and teevee booth next season. Dick Stockton, who handled World Series games this year, is said to be Prince's replacement. Brodie Mountain in New Ashford, Mass. with cold weather forecast, opened for skiing yesterday. Snowmaking machines started Thursday night. Mike Mistretta, a senior, 6-5 and 210, has again won a berth with the Trinity College varsity basketball team. The former Manchester High player grabbed 126 rebounds last season as a spot performer.

Year makes big difference

What a difference a year makes in the Manchester Midget Football League. The Giants sailed through an undefeated campaign last fall and this time around the team didn't win once in five outings. Barry Smith guided the Eagles to the title this season while posting a perfect 6-0 win-loss record. The first hockey uniforms for East Catholic High's team arrived this week at Nassiff Arms. The Eagles are slated to play an informal schedule this fall against area jayvee high school teams. On the other hand, Manchester High, also supplied with game uniforms by Nassiff's, will play a full regular schedule in its first endeavor.

Cherrie Dow Neipsis champion

Sensational Cherrie Dow, 14-year-old junior high student, has won the women's singles title at the Neipsis Tennis Club. She defeated Betty Ann Capshaw in the finals, 6-0, 6-0. The team of Dzintra Bailey and Hilary Demarest, both teaching pros, won the women's doubles by trimming Millie Lucek and Marti Parلمان, 6-0, 6-2. Stafford Speedway promoter Jack Arute has renewed to run NASCAR sanctioned shoes at his track next season. The track will wind up Nov. 29 with a Turkey Gobbler special. Three times Pat Mistretta, director of athletics at Manchester Community College, scheduled a free soccer clinic for Manchester youngsters before a varsity game and three times the weatherman failed to cooperate. Dates were finally exhausted and the clinic will be put off until next season. Manchester Youth Hockey Association will participate in one-on-one shooting exhibitions along with 16 other towns during period breaks at home games of the New England Whalers. Four youngsters a night, two shooters and two goalies, will compete for a grand prize offered by Connecticut General Insurance. Boston's sensational freshman baseball stars, Fred Lynn and Jim Rice will appear at the International Auto Show Nov. 20-23 at the Hartford Civic Center. Domestic and imported 1976 models will be on display. If you are planning on taking in the rodeo today or Sunday at the Hartford Civic Center, bundle up. It was cool to cold for last night's opening performance before a crowd of 5,000. Have a nice weekend.

Pro football roundup

Giants favorites against Chargers

NEW YORK (UPI)—The New York Giants, with only two victories in six games, find themselves in the unfamiliar role of 10-point favorites today. The reason is the opposition, the winless San Diego Chargers.

The Giants pulled off a stunning upset two weeks ago, defeating then unbeaten Buffalo 17-14 and put a big scare into today's favored St. Louis last week. Today it's the Giants who must be wary of the young Chargers, who list 12 of their 22 starters today as rookies or first-year men.

The Chargers are a team with problems. They have scored only four touchdowns this season and have produced only 37 points, by far the lowest total in the National Football League. They have averaged only six points and 181 yards total offense and two weeks ago suffered a major blow when running back Don Woods, the AFC Rookie of the Year last season, was knocked out for the year with a knee injury.

The only bright spot for Charger Coach Tommy Prothro has been his young defense, which has allowed 126 points in its six losses.

The Giants, meanwhile, have been playing well lately after a rocky start but their offense still hasn't moved into high gear. Coach Bill Arnsparger is hopeful.

"We still haven't accomplished anything back-to-back," Arnsparger said, "but we still believe in our system. We plan to keep working on things we believe in and the people we believe in. You don't give up on people with talent."

"We're very proud of our defense but defense alone can't win games for you. I'm convinced it takes at least two of the three phases—offense, defense and special teams—to win. One isn't enough. A really big victory takes all three phases. But very seldom can a solid performance from just one of the phases overcome the other two."

McAdoo in mid-season form leading Braves over 76ers

NEW YORK (UPI)—Buffalo's Bob McAdoo figures it will take him another week to get back in "tip-top" shape, but the Philadelphia 76ers don't believe it.

McAdoo looked in mid-season form Friday night. He scored 23 points and hauled down 15 rebounds to lead the Braves to a 92-87 win over the Sixers. "I've had a couple injuries," said McAdoo, who has suffered chronic tendinitis in his right knee, "but I should be back in tip-top shape in about a week."

It was McAdoo's jump shot with 51 seconds left that snapped an 85-85 tie. Ernie DiGregorio hit a jumper with 13 seconds left to make it 89-85 and after Steve Mix hit two free throws for Philadelphia with six seconds left, DiGregorio added three foul shots to clinch Buffalo's third straight win.

Doug Collins then scored three field goals and George McGinnis one as the Sixers rallied for eight straight points and an 85-85 tie with 1:23 left. McAdoo and DiGregorio then came through for the Braves.

Collins and McGinnis each scored 21 points to pace the 76ers.

Elsewhere, Boston whipped Portland 112-94, Detroit beat Houston

131-127, New Orleans ripped Milwaukee 100-85 and Los Angeles walloped Seattle 120-104.

Kareem Abdul-Jabbar scored 27 points, grabbed 24 rebounds and blocked seven shots to pace Los Angeles over Seattle. Four Lakers scored 20 or more points, with Cazzie Russell and Don Freeman hitting 25 and Lucius Allen 20. The Lakers also got some good news when Gail Goodrich ended his 37-day holdout and said he would play in Sunday's final period and take a 118-109 lead with 3:30 left. Rowe and Bob Lanier led Detroit with 24 points apiece while Trapp had 20, Rudy Tomjanovich backed Murphy with 21 for Houston.

Jazz 100, Bucks 85

New Orleans put six players in double figures, including Pete Maravich and Aaron James with 16 apiece, to defeat winless Milwaukee. The Bucks were led by Dave Meyers, a rookie from UCLA, who had 28 points and 14 rebounds. Brian Winters of the Bucks had 24 points.

Celtics not at their best but stop Trail Blazers

BOSTON (UPI)—The Boston Celtics looked like they won with mirrors.

They didn't seem to play all that well — no one player scored a bundle of points — yet they managed to stomp the winless Portland Trail Blazers 112-94 Friday night at Boston Garden. The victory pushed Boston's record to 3-0 and left Portland at 0-4.

"Winning this game was like pulling teeth," said Celtics Coach Tom Heinsohn. "A 12 point lead with three minutes to play isn't what I would call cracking it open. I get very tired after a win like that."

Heinsohn, who has a flair for the melodramatic, really couldn't have been too concerned about the outcome. Six of his players finished in double figures, led by Jo Jo White with 22. Dave Cowens with 21 and Don Nelson with 19. Paul Silas added 13 and a game-high 19 rebounds for Boston, which was in control after taking the lead permanently on a pair of Charlie Scott baskets late in the first quarter.

The Celtics, who trailed by four points early in the game, built a 27-23 lead after one period, opened it to 51-43 after two, widened to 79-67 after three quarters and went ahead by 17 midway through the final period.

"I don't know what we did tonight but it just seemed like we were getting downcourt-fast and were getting easier shots," said White.

Silas' board work helped the Celtics to a 55-37 rebounding edge, which was part of the difference.

Spirits big rally overcomes Nets

NEW YORK (UPI)—Freddie Lewis is one of the five original ABA players still in uniform since the league began nine years ago.

If Kevin Loughery, coach of the New York Nets had his way, Lewis would have joined the 90 players who have already retired.

Lewis scored nine of the Spirits' last 11 points in overtime Friday night to give St. Louis a 120-116 win over the Nets. Lewis, who was 32 on July 1 and has played on three Indiana Pacers championship teams, eliminated the Nets in last year's fifth game at the Nassau Coliseum with a key three-point field goal and a jump shot at the buzzer to win the game.

He did virtually the same thing Friday night. With St. Louis trailing 116-113 in overtime, Lewis hit a three-pointer from his favorite spot on the floor, in the corner. He hit again from the side, another jumper, this time from only 10 feet, to win the game.

Both coaches felt that Lewis is the guy to take the shot in a clutch situation.

"We were playing great defense on that play," said Loughery, "but Lewis just hit a great shot and that three pointer killed us."

"One of the great clutch shooters in the game," said St. Louis Coach Rod Thorn, last year's assistant Nets coach.

When asked about the lying three-pointer, Thorn said, "Freddie came to me five seconds earlier and said 'how about a three pointer?' I said 'sure, if you get one take it'."

Pacers 111, Nuggets 99

Rookie Dan Roundfield and Billy Knight hit 29 points each to lead Indiana. The Pacers took a 55-49 halftime lead after 17 lead changes in the first two periods and stayed in front the rest of the way. Denver got it down to 40 at 63-59 but couldn't get any closer than six in the final period at 98-92. Dan Issel hit 26 points to lead the Nuggets.

Ron Boone scored 37 points and Randy Denton added 24 give Utah its first win of the year. Ticky Burden, a star last year at the University of Utah, led Virginia with 24, followed by former Star Willie Wise with 23.

Seven persons arrested for taunting Gary Player

SYDNEY (UPI)—Seven persons were arrested by police today as they shouted anti-apartheid slogans at South African golfer Gary Player during the third round of the Australian Open Golf Championships.

A police spokesman said four men and a woman were arrested on the fourth green shouting "go home racist" as Player bent over a birdie putt from 20 feet. Another two men were arrested on the next fairway as one of them tried to leap the marshalling line as Player prepared to putt.

The arrested demonstrators were bundled into a police wagon which had been following the gallery around the greens.

More than 100 uniformed and plainclothes police mingled with the gallery and six officers were no more than 10 yards from Player throughout the day's play.

Earlier today, Jim Holland, an organizer of the Campaign Against Racial Extremists (CARE) was escorted from the Kensington golf course by two Special Branch detectives.

Police late today, charged six men and two women at a suburban police station with "offensive behavior" following the incidents at the golf course.

"We felt we had just as much right going out for the team as the boys. Most of the kids thought it was a good idea," the pretty and soft-spoken Bono stated. "At first the boys on the team gave us a hard time but now they respect us."

Kuehl reaches big time as manager

MONTREAL (UPI)—Karl Kuehl, who has been a baseball manager since the age of 22, has finally reached the big time as manager of the Montreal Expos.

"It's the thrill of my life," Kuehl said Friday after Expos' President John McHale made the announcement at a news conference.

Kuehl, 38, replaces Gene Mauch, who guided the team since it entered the league as an expansion franchise in 1969. Mauch and his entire coaching staff were fired Oct. 1.

In taking over the Expos, Kuehl faces the challenge of building a winning ball club after seven seasons without an above .500 record.

"The name of the game is to be successful and winning in the major leagues is most important," said the new pilot, who managed the Expos' Memphis Blue Brite A farm club the past two seasons.

While at Memphis, Kuehl compiled a 152-130 record, winning the South Division title in 1974.

Kuehl began his baseball career as manager of the minor league class A club in Salem, Ore., in 1959 when he was 22 years old. He continued his career as a scout for the Houston Astros and Seattle and Milwaukee American League teams before taking over the reins of the Expos' minor league team in Quebec City.

During his tenure in the Expos' organization, he has managed many of the young ball players who became the nucleus of the squad that finished last season mired in a tie for fifth place in the National League East with a 75-87 record.

But the new manager is optimistic his young talent will mature next season.

"I have an awful lot of young talent," Kuehl said. "It's vital that they continue to improve. They're young ball players and there's no reason why they shouldn't continue to get better—in the field and at the plate."

He added: "I've managed them, and I know they're going to improve. As a manager, I don't know where they'll stop or how high we'll go in the standings."

Kuehl said his first priority was to put together a coaching staff, "people that can help, give advice, are observant and aren't afraid to give me ideas that are contrary to my own."

"Once we've done that we're on the road to success," McHale, who said that he was "happy to promote a well-qualified man from within our organization" to the managerial position, also announced that General Manager Jim Fanning would retain most of his duties as vice president in charge of player personnel in an organization shakeup that has abolished the GM post.

He also said Danny Mendez, assistant general manager last season, would become director of scouting.

Three girls contributing to Illing JV soccer program

By LEN AUSTER
Herald Sports-writer

Soccer in many parts of the country is growing by leaps and bounds in popularity among the younger set. This past summer, for example, over 600 youngsters took part in the Manchester Rec program. The increased interest in the sport is not unusual.

What was different this season at Illing Junior High was the presence of three girls. Sue Brown, Linn Bono and Heather Plagge, on the previously all-boys eighth grade team. Most importantly, they weren't there to just prove a point but because the game is fun and one they enjoy immensely.

"I wanted to go out for the team because I enjoy playing soccer. I've played it in gym classes before but this was the first time on a team," Susan Brown, a cute 5-5 strawberry blonde stated. "One thing which we did want to do is let all girls know it's okay to go out for sports like soccer. Many thought we wanted to be with the boys but that just isn't true."

For Tom Russo, coach of the team, it was the first time having girls on the team and his initial reaction was an almost common one. "I was going to be a kind hearted soul and let them come out and then cut them. I didn't think they had the stuff to compete against the boys. They just didn't look like athletes. They're very feminine looking."

But after watching two practices I couldn't cut them. They honestly and absolutely beat out boys for their positions. And no one in the school wanted me on the subject. I didn't want any publicity because at other schools girls come out just to break the ice. But these girls are serious soccer players," Russo commented.

Brown, in fact, led the team which completed its season with an 8-1 record with eight goals from her left wing post and had the game-winning goal in the first encounter against Benet. Linn Bono, an attractive stringy-long haired brunette, started several games at fullback and Heather Plagge also saw plenty of action.

"We felt we had just as much right going out for the team as the boys. Most of the kids thought it was a good idea," the pretty and soft-spoken Bono stated. "At first the boys on the team gave us a hard time but now they respect us."

Will they continue to play? "The game is a lot of fun and we beat out a lot of boys but I think in a few years it will be ridiculous to play them (the boys). We'll be too old," perky Susan Kosciuszko it was "look at the girls, bigger than the boys but in a few years the boys we'll be much bigger than us," Heather added.

Fellow teammates? "I don't mind the girls," Rich Bidwell said. "I thought it was strange at first but they're pretty good."

In the first time around for Russo there haven't been any problems. "The girls play strict boys' rules. The reaction by their teammates at the first was cautious and ridicule until they found out when you bump into them they (the boys) fall down."

"When we start our warm up exercises the girls are out in front. They're pretty much the fastest on the team. Before a game against Kosciuszko it was 'look at the girls, look at the girls'. We fell behind 2-0 and Sue set up four quick goals. Then it was 'watch out for the girls, watch out for the girls' but the net minder got a lot of help from Carriere and his mates on defense as shown by the fact that California got only 17 shots, including just seven in the final two periods.

California, which has been especially weak in the first period, fired 10 shots in the first stanza and played well but then seemed to lose its spark."

Atlanta got going in the second period when Carl Bennett hit his seventh goal. Tim Eccleston got his third goal of the season eight minutes into the final period.

Coach Jack Evans of the Seals said "to lose at home is discouraging. We want to play better on the road than we do here. We couldn't get free.

McKay to leave USC for Tampa NFL entry

BERKELEY, Calif. (UPI)—John McKay heaved a sigh.

He had it coming after trying to keep his signing with the new Tampa club in the National Football League a secret for too long.

McKay and Buccaneers' Owner Hugh Culverhouse reached agreement on a five-year contract a few weeks ago but at McKay's insistence they decided to hold off on an announcement until the end of the 1975 collegiate season.

Secrets like that are hard to hide these days and every time McKay picked up a newspaper, there was another story speculating he was going to quit as athletic director and football coach at the University of Southern California and take over in Tampa.

"The pressure seemed to get bigger with each passing week," McKay said Friday after formal announcement finally was made of his Tampa signing. "I got to the point where we had to make the announcement to take the pressure off myself. The kids seemed to sense something was going to happen and I didn't think it was fair to keep them in the dark."

So Friday morning, before boarding a plane for the Bay Area for Saturday's game against the University of California, McKay gathered his 17 trojans, who are 7-0 this year and fighting for another Pacific 8 Conference championship, and told them what he had done.

"It was quite an emotional thing," McKay said. "I don't think it came as a surprise to anyone. To be perfectly honest, I'm glad I finally told them. I think they had a right to know."

After McKay talked to his team, Culverhouse made the formal announcement in Tampa.

"I went after the man I thought could do the job better than anyone else," Culverhouse said, and then added McKay was the only man he really sought, although the Tampa club talked previously with Ara Parseghian, who quit his job at Notre Dame last year, and Hank Stram, fired by the Kansas City Chiefs in 1974.

Culverhouse and McKay remained mum on terms of their arrangement, although McKay said it was fair to assume he got a good contract.

"Still, the money wasn't everything," McKay said. "After 27 years as a college coach I came to the point where I felt I had to do something else. My family is grown (only one son remains at home) and I thought I might enjoy the challenge of doing something different. You always, in the back of your mind, feel there is one more thing to do. I guess I've reached that stage in my career."

At 52 McKay is stepping down from one of the better jobs in the college ranks. As AD and head football coach he could pretty much do as he pleased at USC but in recent years he had become bored with the endless meetings (as AD) and the continuous traveling to make side money as a lecturer.

"You get where you feel a lot better sitting home than going off somewhere. In the pros, all I'll have to worry about is the team, nothing else. In many ways, that will be a luxury."

Most of the speculation—in Tampa area newspapers—is that McKay signed a pact calling for $750,000 over five years plus paid up insurance policies for himself and his wife, a home, three cars and a radio and television show.

"Don't believe it," McKay said. "They make it sound like I was Wilt Chamberlain. I think I'll get enough, but it won't be as much as newsmen have speculated. Not by a long shot. But as I said, I didn't take the job solely for the money."

In his 4 years at USC McKay wrote a success story that may be hard to match. His teams won four national titles, went undefeated three different seasons, played in the Rose Bowl eight times and won five.

McKay said that he, has recommended long time assistant Dave Levy to succeed him as head football coach at USC and Craig Fertig to replace him as athletic director.

"Both are very able men," said McKay, "and this way they could continue in the USC tradition."

As for his job with Tampa, McKay said he "pretty much knows" who he will ask to serve as his assistants and that he is in no hurry to name them.

"I'll do it at the proper time," he said, meaning after the end of the collegiate season. "What I'm interested in even more is who will be my players. You know I'm experienced at coaching winners. I may not know what to do with losers."

Flames now red hot after ice-cold start

NEW YORK (UPI)—After a dreadful start, the Atlanta Flames turned things around. The Flames lost their first four games but now have a 4-5-1 record after shutting out the California Seals 2-0 in Friday night's lone National Hockey League game.

Coach Fred Creighton says the key to the Flames surge has been the addition of defenseman Larry Carriere from Buffalo.

"He has pulled our team together and given us a good checker," Creighton said after the victory. "We played a sound game. We are toned out for defense and showed tonight that we can't do anything."

The Seals emerged with a 3-6-2 record.

There were no other NHL games scheduled. In the World Hockey Association, Cleveland drubbed Quebec 6-2 and Edmonton tied New England 2-2.

Crossader 6, Nordiques 2

Richie Leduc scored a three-goal hat trick to lead Cleveland to just Quebec and into a tie for third place in the WHA West. Two of Leduc's goals came in a minute span of the second period and he also assisted on one of two goals by Al McDonough.

Others 2, Whalers 2

Barry Long and Bruce MacGregor scored for Edmonton and Ron Climie and Dan Arndt hit for New England in the tie. New England went ahead 2-1 early in the final period on Climie's power play goal but MacGregor tied the score 25 seconds later when he banged home a rebound.

Grid future at stake for several mentors

NEW YORK (UPI)—'Tis the weekend that college football coaches begin casting wary eyes and ears on the immediate future.

Some like George Welch of Navy, Joe Paterno of Penn State, Jerry Claiborne of Maryland, Tom Osborne of Nebraska, Al Onofrio of Missouri and Doug Dickey of Florida have anxious eyes on a bowl bid.

Others like LSU's Charlie McClendon, Boston College's Joe Yukica, and Notre Dame's Dan Devine may soon be hearing louder, more serious alumni chants for their coaching scalps if their seasons don't turn around quickly.

Three games in particular which may clarify the bowl picture are Penn State-Maryland, Nebraska-Missouri and Notre Dame-Navy.

At South Bend, Ind., where Devine is finding the criticism not more severe than what he endured at Green Bay as a pro coach, Notre Dame is currently in the throes of a highly uncommon two-game losing streak at home. Coupled with that is the arrival of Welch's Navy outfit, hoping for a big upset, and more importantly, their first bowl bid since 1963.

The Midlands, 5-2, are 14-point underdogs but a victory or 14-point showing could go a long way in enhancing their chances for a Liberty Bowl bid.

Andover principal outlines his goals

David Kravet, Andover Elementary School principal, has outlined goals for the 1975-1976 school year.

The administrative goals include encouraging teaming of all kinds, fostering a better understanding of the Rham High School program by the faculty and community, coordinating maintenance services, maintaining good press coverage for every facet of school activity, having the school community communicate effectively with the Andover community, encouraging Andover residents to visit the school, involving team members in curriculum and special committees, involving the committees in the decision-making process and stressing safety in every aspect of school activity.

Academic goals include the children making one month's growth per month of school attendance, team members reviewing and re-emphasizing the basic change of the school - reading and math instruction - team members taking full advantage of testing results, using language arts skills sequence as a means of record-keeping and reporting, organizing a kindergarten team to systemize the academic areas of the program.

Also standardizing the use of the math text by pinpointing the essential units which should be covered first, organizing a program of creative writing and expression and stressing the skills for correct writing and expression, establishing and implementing a program for the teaching of library skills and beginning library research in Grade 2, having students in Grades 4-6 prepare a major research project, presenting and revising and refining the language arts skill sequence.

Human relations include creating climate for the growth of a positive staff self image and encouraging team members to share their experience.

Personal goals for the principal include being able to name every student in school by November, commending staff and students for a job well done when deserved, becoming a partner with the teachers in the planning and programming for 50 percent of the students, demonstrating an interest in the problems and concerns of each member of the school community, doing more demonstration lessons and classroom instruction and spending one to one and a half hours a day in the classrooms.

Sadrozinski urges Vernon keep McCoy

Donald Sadrozinski, chairman of the Vernon Republican Town Committee, today expressed confidence that the voters of Vernon will return Mayor Frank McCoy and his entire Republican team to office on Nov. 4.

"The McCoy administration has accomplished much over the past six years. Because of the Republican team's efforts the Town of Vernon has not been faced with the problems that plague many of the surrounding communities," Sadrozinski said.

"We in Vernon have not had to curtail services, lay off teachers or other municipal employees and most importantly taxes here are the most stable in the area. This does not just happen: this is the result of hard work, dedication and a concern for the people as taxpayers."

"The McCoy team has kept faith with the community over the past six years and has pledged to continue to serve the best interest of the community when re-elected. The only promises that have been made are that they will continue to strive to keep good, honest government in Vernon," the chairman said.

He expressed appreciation to those who have worked during the campaign on behalf of the McCoy team and said, "It is now up to the voters of Vernon to do their part by re-electing Mayor Frank J. McCoy and the entire Republican team."

Benoit lists accomplishments

The Vernon citizen has noted the inaccessibility of the mayor and the deterioration of business establishments along Rt. 83 and in Rockville," he said.

He added that he in turn has made concrete proposals in the areas of comprehensive planning for the town to get downtown Rockville back on its feet, to open council meetings to the public, and to avoid the annual budgetary fiasco which has been prevalent in Vernon.

Benoit is running against incumbent Mayor Frank McCoy who is completing a third term.

He said he has kept this promise over the past two months. He talked with many residents and listened to their concerns about the direction of the town and the lack of planning and leadership

Experts say Ford wrong about quake

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — President Ford erred in his reference to San Francisco history, according to several experts on the 1906 Earthquake.

In an address here Thursday, Ford noted that next year marked the 70th anniversary of the disaster.

In remarks supporting his refusal to aid New York City avoid default, he said "San Francisco passed the ultimate test of the recuperative power of an American city. Local courage and local determination prevailed. The reconstruction of San Francisco was not a federal bailout."

William Bronson, author of "The Earth Shook, The Sky Burned," Friday termed Ford's remark "baloney."

"The federal government provided $2.5 million for emergency services right after the earthquake, mostly at the urging of (President) Teddy Roosevelt."

Court to hear appeal to delay Moore's case

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The U.S. Court of Appeals will hear an appeal for a delay of court proceedings against Sara Jane Moore until there is a ruling on her mental competency, the court decided Friday.

Miss Moore, accused of trying to assassinate President Ford here Sept. 22, was arraigned Tuesday after the judge entered a plea of not guilty for her. Her attorney, public defender James Hewitt, argued that the arraignment, plea and trial preparation should not begin until Miss Moore's competency to understand the proceedings is determined.

Appellate Judges Anthony Kennedy and Joseph T. Sneed Friday directed U.S. District Judge Samuel Conti to file an answer to Hewitt's petition by Nov. 5. Then the court will schedule a hearing for the matter, allowing Hewitt to make any response by Nov. 7.

Miss Moore, 45, has undergone psychiatric testing at the Metropolitan Correctional Facility in San Diego.

Judge Conti scheduled a competency hearing for Nov. 17 and trial for Dec. 15.

Man can't lure wife away from UFO cult

OAKLAND, Calif. (UPI) — A Vail, Colo., physician met briefly with his wife of 34 years but was unable to lure her away from a cult which promises salvation through UFOs.

"I told her the door is always open to her," Dr. C.A. Leonard said of the meeting Friday.

Leonard met with his wife, Jackie, for about a half hour during the cult's recruiting session in the Oakland Hills. It was attended by about 40 converts to Human Individual Metamorphosis and 150 spectators.

He had not seen her since she ran off with the group 2 1/2 months ago.

UFO cult converts talked among themselves of "Him" and "Her," who call themselves "The Two" and advertise as being at least the equals of Jesus Christ.

Several younger converts argued about the timing, significance, resurrection and subsequent arrival of the promised UFOs.

The doctor, 50, said he hoped the cult for which his wife left home in August would dissolve before long and that she would return home.

Stamps and coins

By Russ MacKendrick

Although the mashed-potato accents are still there, upon revisiting London after a decade a New Englander will miss the old thruppence, two-bob, 'arf crown and haypenny coinage.

Here is what Britishers carry in their pockets nowadays. Everything is in the new pence (abbreviated "P" and not "d" as before). So the pound sterling is divided into 100 pence. What was once a shilling is now the five-pence coin as shown. The shillings still circulate but they are the same size as the five-pences so there is no confusion.

The last three are copper pieces. The farthing was phased out long ago and the lowest denomination they have is this tiny half-pence — still worth more than twice one of our cents. The nice seven-sided 50-pence coin with the circlet of clasped hands, is, of course, half of a pound sterling and it is deceptively easy to spend. You hurry from a bus and pick up a small bunch of grapes from a street vendor — they can spot a Yank — "Fifty pence." Later in the hotel room you realize that you have paid about $1.10 and not half a buck.

The Seventh U.S. International Philatelic Exhibition will be held at Philadelphia next May 29 through June 6, and the design for a 13-cent INTERPHIL stamp is being shown here and there. What seems to be scraps from an exploded band-saw is really an artistic stab at making a coil of stamps say "76."

Dedicated coin people will be headed toward Boston this month for the 31st Annual Conference and Convention of the New England Numismatic Association. It will be held at the Copley-Plaza on the 7th, 8th and 9th.

There will be exhibits in 10 classes, NENA medals as always, historic tours, gabsfests, and a mammoth auction.

"Coin World" printed an eight-page pull-out section describing the 829 lots — from Colonial paper and coinage through large size and fractional currency, error coinage, foreign minors and crowns, ancient, U.S. of all types, and pioneer gold.

There is much in the public prints today about stamp collecting and savvy philatelists enjoy catching some of the goofs. A member of the local club brought in an article from an engineering magazine that pictured and described issues like the Boulder Dam, Robert Fulton, Edison's light bulb, and so forth. The giggler is a drawing of the Mississippi River Bridge stamp — high value of the 1898 Omaha set — shown as two cents instead of two dollars!

The Minkus catalogs have given up trying to do the whole world over every year. Their Volume I for 1975-76 is being announced together with a continued offering of the old Volume II, 1974-75.

However, they are still worthy of support, not only to head off a monopoly, but also because they illustrate and price many issues that Scott overlooks. Then again they try to make the valuations more nearly approximate actual current retail. And don't forget their 1976 New American Catalog, Bicentennial edition: It will be sketchy compared with Scott's Specialized, but it is here sooner and has some useful features all its own.

Vote early next Tuesday and be ready for the coin meeting. The CCClub will be in session at the KofC Hall, Main St. from 7:30 p.m. Visitors always welcome.

Can anyone capture the real Fields?

By DICK KLEINER

W. C. Fields

Rod Steiger as Fields.

HOLLYWOOD — (NEA) — Hollywood continues to find material for films in its own past. Movies are now being planned which will tell the stories of Valentino and Bogart and around town these days they are shooting "Gable and Lombard" and "W.C. Fields and Me."

It's a continuation of the nostalgia theme which has brought hefty box office receipts to movies such as "Americian Grafitti," "The Summer of '42," "Bonnie and Clyde" and many more. What could be more nostalgic than a look at the greats of Hollywood's past, who were all part of the American dream.

They were shooting "W.C. Fields and Me" in and around a Pasadena mansion.

"Howja do?" said Rod Steiger, who is playing Bill Fields. He said it with Fields famous inflection. He says everything these days with Fields' famous inflection. He's the kind of actor who lives his part, for the duration of the time he's working in a film.

So, currently, he's Bill Fields when he's working and stays in character when he's not working.

The house, doubling for the home in which Fields lived with his Carlotta, who is being played by Valerie Perrine, is on Berkshire Ave. in Pasadena. Director Arthur Hiller took me around.

Hiller was bundled up in a turtle-neck sweater under his leather jacket. California can get cold in the summer and Hiller was working outside the house this day.

The house has been completely done over by the studio's set designers. Hiller wanted a special look.

"Everything is just a bit off," Hiller said. "Notice that it all doesn't quite match. Isn't it wonderful?"

The scene they were shooting, on the front porch, had Fields and Carlotta having an argument about this drinking. He accused her of watering down the gin in his Thermos, which he took to the studio every day. And she admitted that she had done it because she hated it when he got drunk.

They rehearsed the scene several times, then Steiger went to have his make-up retouched.

They were ready to shoot the scene, which was heavy and dramatic. Before Hiller called for "ACTION," Steiger would pace up and down, shake his arm, fiddle with his hat. He was like a pitcher, getting ready to make a delivery.

It was long and tedious work. Many takes were required before everyone was satisfied. If Hiller liked it, Steiger didn't. If both of them were happy, Valerie Perrine was unhappy.

Producer Jay Weston, watching the work, kept marveling over Steiger's work and his dedication.

"He's an incredible man," Weston said. "He is living this part. His wife tells me that Rod talks like Fields at home, constantly. He got into the part by listening to recordings of Fields."

"I gave him a set of records and a print of Fields' movie, 'Tha Bank Dick.' Out of that, Steiger has developed two distinct voices — Fields' vaudeville voice and Fields' personal voice."

"I watched an old Fields' movie recently — and I don't think Fields is as good as Steiger. Rod is just perfect, and he's worked so hard. He spent a month on the voices before we began shooting."

"And he has an encyclopedic knowledge of Fields."

Steiger says his interest in the comedian pre-dates his casting for the film. He says he was an admirer of Fields long before the movie was ever mentioned.

"It's just a happy coincidence that I'm doing this part," he says.

He sat down on a chair on the lawn, after the scene was finally in the can. He looks, with his make-up, amazingly like Fields.

"I like the script," he says. "They took some dramatic license, of course, but the script does show both sides of the man — he could be both very mean and very nice, when he wanted to be."

Winston came over and began retouching the make-up on Steiger's hands.

"Somebody just gave me a record of Fields and Carlotta at home," Steiger said. "I'm not sure if I should play it or not. I've developed my own idea of what Fields sounded like in his private voice, and, if I found out I was way off, it would be very upsetting. I don't think I'll play it. It would be terrible if I was wrong."

He says the part is a fascinating challenge. And he likes being challenged.

"A man should be every once in a while attempt something big," he says, "and have a big dream. People who say they have never tried anything haven't really lived."

Steiger, over the years has probably tried more big dreams than any other actor. Playing Fields is merely one more extralarge dream.

"Fields was a tragic figure," he says. "He drank himself to death. But he wasn't unique — so many great men, so many geniuses, wasted their bodies."
