News summary

Compiled from United Press International

State

RIDGEFIELD — Dr. Alice Paul, 90, who helped draft the first proposed equal rights amendment in 1922, was disappointed today with the rejection of the current proposal by New York and New Jersey. She has worked for the proposal most of her adult life until illness forced her to move into a rest home.

FARMINGTON — The Connecticut Red Cross Blood Center says it has hired 15 persons to work in the place of 50 nurses, technicians and drivers on strike since Oct. 14.

Regional

BOSTON — Gov. Michael S. Dukakis is considering vetoing or sending back with amendments pending legislation to reform auto insurance laws in Massachusetts. The bill would reduce by 30-60 per cent the industry's request for a $244 million rate increase next year. Auto insurers have threatened to leave the state if laws are not reformed and a substantial rate increase is enacted.

BOSTON — Massachusetts Supreme Court Justice Herbert P. Wilkins has taken under advisement a Republican challenge to the state's new regional primary law. The GOP seeks a restraining order to block the law until the full Supreme Court takes up the suit next month.

National

SAN FRANCISCO — Court-appointed psychiatrists disagree on whether Patricia Hearst is competent to stand trial immediately, but a federal judge will decide the question by Friday.

WASHINGTON — Sen. Barry Goldwater says Nelson Rockefeller's decision not to seek the vice presidency next year is probably causing Ronald Reagan to reconsider his presidential ambitions but Reagan campaign officials deny it.

SACRAMENTO, Calif. — Lynette Fromme has fired her second defense attorney and tried unsuccessfully to plead no contest to a charge of attempting to kill President Ford. The selection of prospective jurors was scheduled to continue today.

MINEOLA, N.Y. — Authorities are investigating the death of a terminally ill teenage girl to determine if someone pulled the plug on her life-sustaining respirator Sunday in her hospital room. Maryjane Dahl, 18, of Selden, N.Y., died one week after she was admitted for treatment of meningitis, complicated by Hodgkins disease and uremia. She was in a coma.

WASHINGTON — Secretary of State Henry Kissinger is resisting possible downgrading of his White House influence by President Ford and is trying to get State Department intelligence chief William Hyland named to deputy to Lt. Gen. Brent Scowcroft, Ford's new assistant for national security affairs.

International

Spain has ordered troops manning its desert defense line in dispute Spanish-Saraha to throw back this week's "suicidal" march by 350,000 Moroccan volunteers. The unarmed Moroccans tentatively are scheduled to begin the march Thursday.

MADRID — Generalissimo Francisco Franco showed signs of kidney failure today and a communique said his medical team is preparing for a crisis that could be the last of his 19-day fight to survive.

Town Democrats make clean sweep

By SOL R. COHEN

Manchester Democrats completely swept the municipal election Tuesday, retaining control of all offices available to them under majority representation, returning all of their 17 incumbents to office, and making history by their unprecedented third consecutive election victory.

In the process, they successfully backed the lone referendum question on the machines — a $2,373,000 conditional appropriation for additions and renovations to Bentley and Washington Schools and for replacing the West Side Rec with a new building. The proposal carried by a comfortable 5,805 to 4,636 margin. The Democrats had endorsed the question. The Republicans voted not to take a stand, pro or con.

A surprise to many Democrats (although many claimed they saw it coming) was the news that Democrat Matt Moriarty Jr. was the top vote-getter for the Board of Directors, beating out Mayor John Thompson, who was second-high, by 356 votes — 8,742 to 8,386.

Moriarty is expected to be named Manchester mayor Nov. 17, when the new board is sworn in. Thompson has indicated he will accept the post of deputy mayor, if it is offered to him.

Pascal Prignano, presently deputy mayor, was third high with 8,130 votes and is expected to be named board secretary. Phyllis Jackson, presently secretary, was fourth high with 7,984. Then came Robert Price with 7,440 and Jack Goldberg with 7,430.

All four incumbent Democrats were re-elected — Clarence Foley, Paul Phillips, Joseph Macri and William Desmond. Incumbent Republicans Sedrick Straghan and Joseph Swenson Sr. also were re-elected. The third Republican elected constable is Marion Mercer. Losing out was Republican Henry (Bud) Michalak with 204 fewer votes than Mrs. Mercer.

Mrs. Mercer, who is believed to be the first woman constable in Manchester history, succeeds Republican Robert Meek, who ran for selectman and lost.

Incumbent Democrat Irene Pinesh and Chester Byeholosi and incumbent Republican Mildred Schaller were re-elected to the Board of Selectmen. Mrs. Schaller received 218 more votes than Meek.

A disappointing 54 per cent of eligible voters were checked out at the polls — 14,867 of the 26,302 on the voter lists. The count included 413 absentee ballots. Estimates had ranged from a low of 50 per cent to a high of about 67 per cent.

The turnout was 75.3 per cent in 1974 and a low 54 per cent in 1973. It was 87.4 per cent in 1972 and 86.1 per cent in 1970.

Voters favor referendum for schools

By DOUG BEVINS

Manchester voters decided Tuesday, by a 5,805 to 4,636 referendum vote, to spend up to $1.4 million of town money on renovations and additions to Bentley School and Washington School and to replace the West Side Rec building.

The approved referendum question — the only one on the machines Tuesday — calls for an appropriation of $2,373,000 for the projects. The construction is contingent on state aid and the town's share is limited to $1.4 million.

The school issue won in nine out of ten voting districts. In the 10th District, it lost by just two votes (382 to 380).

A resolution by the town Board of Directors Sept. 29 made the projects contingent on state aid. The directors took the action because of uncertainties of forthcoming state aid.

When directors voted in August to place the question on the voting machines, it was expected that the state would contribute nearly $1 million toward the construction costs. After that decision, state officials disclosed that funds were depleted for school construction grants, that new funds depend on action by the 1976 General Assembly, and that there was no assurance the existing state aid formula would continue.

Manchester School Supt. James Kennedy, pleased with voters' action Tuesday, said today there's little that can be done until the state legislature considers local school construction grants next year.

Kennedy said he'll suggest that the Town Building Committee begin the architect selection process despite the financial uncertainties.

After the disclosure by state officials about the condition of the grant funds, Kennedy said he wasn't sure the projects would be approved by Manchester voters.

But numerous talks given by school officials in October showed that townspeople recognized the need for the project, Kennedy said. "That was encouraging," he said.

Here is a district-by-district tally of the vote on the referendum question:

| District | Yes | No |
|----------|------|------|
| 1 | 518 | 438 |

Democrats score wins in state's big cities

By United Press International

Democrats were in control of Connecticut's major cities today as already weak Republicans managed only one big-city victory in Tuesday's statewide municipal elections.

The Republicans, dealt a resounding defeat only a year ago when swept from the State Capitol and the legislature by Democratic Gov. Ella T. Grasso, made some gains in the smaller communities. But their only major win occurred in Stamford and that was an upset over the incumbent Democrat who may have lost the margin of victory to a third candidate.

Democratic mayors were elected in Hartford, New Haven, New Britain, and Waterbury while turning out Republicans in Bridgeport and Meriden.

In Stamford, Republican challenger Louis Clapes won over incumbent Democrat Fred Lenz with an unofficial tally of 13,401 to 12,268. Lenz undoubtedly suffered from the candidacy of independent Lillian Pilardo, who had sought the Democratic nomination. She polled an unofficial 5,422 votes.

Former New Britain Republican Mayor Paul J. Manafort lost a return bid. He was defeated by Democrat Matthew Abtable.

New Haven Democratic Alderman Frank Logue, a liberal, won a close election. An unofficial tally showed Logue 21,006 to 18,653 over John

Winners have some apprehensive moments

By SOL R. COHEN

They began arriving early at Manchester Democrat headquarters election night—the candidates, their families, their campaign workers, the party faithful and the well-wishers—joining those party workers who had been at their tasks since daybreak.

And, they didn't stop coming until after 10 p.m., when the results, slow coming in at first, came rushing in and indicating the conclusive fact—a Democratic sweep and a history-making third consecutive term of municipal government control.

Before it was all over—the results, the speeches, the liquid refreshments, the cold cuts and the potato chips, pretzels and cheese—over 200 people were milling around, speculating, listening to the returns and being apprehensive.

Apprehension appeared to be the key word. Although confidence prevailed, it was a troubled confidence. Many of the candidates and other top Democrats were uneasy about the effect on the voters of what they labeled a "smear" campaign by some Republicans. They were apprehensive (there's that word again) about the effect of what they insisted were last-minute "scurrilous" newspaper ads.

When the first results were announced (from District 9, Keenev St. School), showing Democrats the winners there right down the line, cheers went up. However, louder yet was the roar that went up when Edward Wilson, GOP candidate for the Board of Directors, was declared a loser.

The roars continued each time results were read. There was cheering and great applause when

Differences brushed aside

By SOL R. COHEN

Campaign differences are brushed aside for the moment as Democratic chairman Ted Cummings laughs uproariously at a remark by Republican chairman Nathan Agostinelli.

When directors voted in August to place the question on the voting machines, it was expected that the state would contribute nearly $1 million toward the construction costs. After that decision, state officials disclosed that funds were depleted for school construction grants, that new funds depend on action by the 1976 General Assembly, and that there was no assurance the existing state aid formula would continue.

Manchester School Supt. James Kennedy, pleased with voters' action Tuesday, said today there's little that can be done until the state legislature considers local school construction grants next year.

After the disclosure by state officials about the condition of the grant funds, Kennedy said he wasn't sure the projects would be approved by Manchester voters.

But numerous talks given by school officials in October showed that townspeople recognized the need for the project, Kennedy said. "That was encouraging," he said.

Here is a district-by-district tally of the vote on the referendum question:

| District | Yes | No |
|----------|------|------|
| 1 | 518 | 438 |
| 2 | 703 | 519 |
| 3 | 512 | 370 |

| 9 | 500 | 354 |
| 10 | 380 | 382 |
| Total | 5805 | 4636 |

the announcement came that Wilson had run 12th among the 12 candidates and had lost. Most of the Democrats present pinpointed Wilson as the source for what they insisted was a "smear" campaign.

It was a surprise to many (but not to his energetic and hard-working campaign committee) when the returns showed Matt Moriarty Jr. the high vote-getter for the Board of Directors, with John Thompson, second, Pascal Prignano third and Phyllis Jackson fourth.

Moriarty is expected to succeed Thompson as mayor when the new board is sworn in Nov. 17. Thompson is expected to be named deputy mayor and Prignano secretary.

Roger Negro, who led the ticket (he had 354 more votes than even Moriarty) and who was elected to his third consecutive term, drew waves of cheers when he tried, and succeeded, to get on a chair for a short, short speech.

Negro thanked his wife and all his campaign workers, and there were many, for the victory. "Without them I'd never have made it," he said, adding, "The message to the Republicans is loud and clear. They labeled us 'Thompson Democrats,' and we were proud to run that way."

At precisely 9:15, GOP chairman Nathan Agostinelli arrived to offer his congratulations to the winners.

(PEOPLE SAY BANKING IS CONFUSING.) ANNOUNCING JET BANKING PHASE II

The Jet Banking Account.
It's more than a checking account.

Up until now, most banks tried to make their checking accounts different by offering lots of different colors and styles.

Now, CBT's Jet Banking gives you a checking account that is different.

With a CBT Jet Banking Account, you can transfer money from your savings account to your checking account (or vice-versa) by just picking up the phone. Any time of day. Any day of the week. Just come in and sign up.

And, if you write a check bigger than your balance, you can cover the overdrawn amount with your CBT Master Charge Plan.

The Jet Banking Account also lets you save money automatically. You can even pay CBT loan installments and your insurance premiums automatically.

Another nice extra is your Jet Banking Combined Statement. It gives you a monthly summary of all your checking and savings activity.

The nicest thing about your CBT Jet Banking Account is what it costs you. Nothing.

One incendiary vote

There was mechanical trouble with old voting machines at Robertson School all day Tuesday, District 2 Moderator Mary Jayne Crandall said after the polls closed. Several times during the day, the machines—which are to be replaced soon—jammed, trapping voters and requiring close attention by election workers. As the 14 hours of voting neared an end, the payoff came, Mrs. Crandall said. An unidentified man entered a machine with his son to cast his ballot, he voted, and the machine jammed. It took some time to clear the machine, Mrs. Crandall said, but the man was patient. Then came a warning from the man's son: "Hey, Dad, you're on fire." Mrs. Crandall related that the electrical light fixture, close to the man's back, was too hot for his jacket and it began smoldering. By the time the machine was cleared and the man freed, there was a two-inch-wide hole in his jacket. He left the polling place quickly, declining to reveal his name.

Sullivan appointed to post in child and family services

Roger J. Sullivan of Middletown has been appointed to the newly created post of director of development and public affairs of Child and Family Services of Connecticut which maintains a regional office in Manchester. He assumes responsibility for all fund-raising and external relations programs for the 166-year-old child and family welfare organization. He has held previous development positions at Wesleyan University, Wheaton College (Mass.) and Casenovia College (N.Y.). At Child and Family Services, Sullivan will be involved with federal and state funding programs, promotion of deferred giving, approaches to major foundations and corporations, and expansion of the Children's Village facility in Hartford. The oldest known child welfare organization in the country, Child and Family Services is voluntarily supported.

Food pantry replenished

The Emergency Food Pantry gained 3,570 cans of food in the recent drive to replenish the Emergency Food Pantry kept at the Center Congregational Church. The Collegiate Civitan Club of Manchester Community College and the Manchester Conference of Churches joined forces to refill the pantry. The pantry is a food bank for Manchester residents in need. The drive's goal was 3,000. The pantry has served hundreds of Manchester needy during the past year. The elderly on fixed incomes found it most helpful. Students of Iling Junior High School are conducting another food drive to collect more protein foods. Members of Temple Beth Shalom will collect food items at services.

Truck driver bound over for trial

Bruce Stephens, 38, of West Concord, Mass., the truck driver charged in connection with the Aug. 27 traffic death of off-duty Manchester Policeman Kenneth Barker, has been bound over to Superior Court from Common Pleas Court in Hartford. Stephens, free on a $1,000 bond, is charged with misconduct with a motor vehicle. Police say Stephens was the driver of a flatbed truck which crashed into a convertible on an I-91-to-I-84 exit ramp in Hartford Aug. 27. Barker, a passenger in the convertible, was dead at the scene. Barker had been a member of the Manchester Police Department for 23 years.

Area nurses taking course

Registered nurses from Manchester Memorial Hospital, the Manchester Public Health Nurses Association and other health service agencies in Manchester are taking a six-week course at the University of Connecticut Health Center to improve their care of cancer patients. The course is being conducted by the Capital Area Health Consortium, a group of eight hospitals including the health center's John Dempsey Hospital. It is for nurses working in consortium hospitals and with visiting nurse and health service agencies in the consortium area. Objectives include developing a better understanding of the disease, its signs and preventative measures, and to recognize its impact on the patient, the family and the community. Besides working with physicians specializing in cancer, the nurses are studying treatment programs, nursing care plans, radiation therapy methods, and reactions to drugs used in treating cancer patients. The workshop, conducted by the consortium under a sub-contract with the state Health Department, with funds from the National Cancer Institute, is serving as a model for identifying and organizing persons who would be involved in future community-based cancer control programs.

Opinion

Right-turn law seems to favor status quo

One of the disappointments of the past month is the slowness with which the law permitting a right turn at a red light after a stop is being implemented.

We hear all kinds of excuses ranging from the legitimate safety considerations which rule out some intersections, to costs of converting lights which we just don't understand, to defense of the status quo, which the law, because of the way it is written, encourages.

The idea behind the law is to improve traffic flow by permitting right turns at red lights whenever a driver, after having made a full stop, sees he can do so safely. It does not permit him to cut in front of oncoming traffic without liability. It has worked in other states and has been implemented in other states without costly adjustments to traffic signals.

We believe it can be used in many intersections in Manchester and we understand the police department is considering one or two such intersections now.

But it is the law itself that is less than ideal for instead of doing, as was done in many other states, making a right turn at a red light after stopping permissible except where prohibited; in Connecticut such turns are prohibited except where permitted.

Thus state and local traffic officials have to go to the red tape of studies, etc. to implement the law intersection by intersection instead of being Scene from here Everything from apathy to...

Speaking of apathy, whether it's on "Women's Strike Day," or Election Day, or whatever day, we'll have to admit it's all around us, and the media is well aware of it.

Down in Albany, Ga. last week, Radio Station WALG decided to do something about it.

It scheduled a four-hour discussion on public apathy on its morning talk show.

Wouldn't you know it? It got only two calls in those four hours. People apparently were too apathetic to get involved. Let's stay in Georgia with this next one — this time in

Less mayhem costs more

Whether it's because of the 55-mile-per-hour speed limit, less driving because of the high cost of gasoline, or because safety campaigns are beginning to sink in... or maybe a combination of these and other factors... Americans have been making tremendous progress in reducing the slaughter and mayhem on the highways.

Accidents in 1974 were down 7.4 per cent from 1973, or from 25,649,000 to 23,744,000.

There was a 10.7 per cent cutback in auto deaths, from 55,511 to 46,200... the lowest total since 1964.

Even so, the monetary cost of traffic accidents in the United States in 1974 reached a new high of more than $30.4 billion... the equivalent of $145 for every man, woman and child in the country.

The reason, according to the 1975 edition of Insurance Facts, published by the Insurance Information Institute, was inflation. Double-digit inflation. That, combined with inadequate rate levels for many insurance lines and intense price competition among some companies for commercial business, produced a net underwriting loss of some $2.66 billion, says the fact book.

While the Consumer Price Index reflected an average increase of less than 1 per cent in auto insurance premiums during 1974, the cost of semiprivate hospital room went up 16.4 per cent, physician's fees 13.6 per cent and auto repair costs 14.5 per cent.

George A. Saden for President?

WASHINGTON — George A. Saden for President? Probably not. He'd hurt too many people's feelings. But it is a pleasure to give added circulation to the remarks delivered by this Superior Court judge in Bridgeport, Conn., to 300 newly admitted lawyers.

For His Honor is an old-fashioned man. He uses a word like "responsibility," without self-consciousness, and he had much to say about the state of a nation which seems to have abandoned virtues he obviously reveres.

Saden took some lusty swings at almost everybody, including the media for its preoccupation with "news of conflict." But his remarks on illegal strikes by public school teachers were particularly compelling because they touched on the fundamental task of training the young—a duty ignored by so many of today's teachers.

The judge recalled that James B. Conant, then president of Harvard, said in 1963 that the purpose of education was the cultivation in our future citizens of an appreciation of both the responsibilities and benefits which come to them because they are Americans and are free. "If this is the objective of education," said Saden, "I think it has in substantial degree failed miserably."

Saden noted "the conduct of Plains (population 700), the hometown of Democratic presidential hopeful Jimmy Carter.

It's no secret down there that two Secret Service men made the news.

Assigned to protect the former Georgia governor, they figured they stood out like sore thumbs in their double-knit business suits, sun glasses and Yankee accents.

So, they visited the general store and came away with bib overalls. They were disappointed there weren't any wide-brimmed straw hats in stock.

SOL R. COHEN

The thing is, they weren't ordinary overalls but were Liberty overalls — the kind Junior Samples (of TV's "Hee Haw") wears.

Someone stuck a pair of guitars in their hands and asked them to whistle "Dixie." One more time for Georgia, where police last week broke up (not to be confused with washed up) a bath tub ring.

They charged three men with stealing $200,000 worth of bath tubs from the Vacuum Form factory in Sycamore and transporting them to Tennessee to be sold.

When the ring was collared, it admitted to operating for over a year and a half.

Let's move on to Austin, Tex., where lanky John Poole (he stands 6-3 and weighs 190 pounds) bettered his own world record for spaghetti eating and defended his crown for the third time in four weeks.

In the world of spaghetti eaters, he's a distance man and not a sprinter.

"I'm not a fast eater," he explained. "You see those guys eating a pound of spaghetti in 40 or 50 seconds and it turns me off."

Poole's steady habits paid off. He ate 8 pounds 5 ounces of spaghetti in three hours, consuming nearly three pounds more than the runner-up, 114-pound Polly Torrance.

How did he train for the match? He ate seven pounds of spaghetti for supper the night before and two dozen eggs, six slices of bacon, toast and coffee for breakfast.

After Poole's record-setting performance, one Steve Weldon won the speed-eating contest. He downed a pound of spaghetti in 48 seconds — fast, but not fast enough. The world record is 42 seconds.

Those spaghetti-eating contests were without meatballs, of course.

Speaking of Texas, two weeks ago we told you about the argument raging over the world championship Chili Cookoff Contest, with folks in the ghost town of Terlingua insisting their contest was the only true one and a group in Tropico, Cal. insisting just as loudly theirs was the one.

Well, each held a contest. Susie Watson, a self-proclaimed "libber" from Houston won the Texas version and Joe Defrates of Illinois won in California.

Defrates, former owner of the "Chili Man" canning plant in Springfield, Ill., is a former world champion in the Terlingua contest. He beat out 26 opponents and won a small black chili pot mounted on a pot belly stove as his trophy.

Ms. Watson, carried off the coveted chili pepper trophy as her prize. She outcooked 27 opponents, including "Allegian Jani" Schofield, last year's champ, who won then with her patented "Hot Pants Chili."

What do you say we get off the pot and move on to one Hikosaburo Kawanato of Tokyo, a 69-year-old building guard.

He didn't make a speech, or buy anything, or steal anything, or eat anything, or even cook anything. What he did was win a contest for the most beautiful bald head in Japan.

He defeated 15 other hairless finalists in a competition sponsored by the Tokyo Bald Headed Men's Association — AMHTB spelled backward.

Contestants were judged partly on the luster of their scalps and the ability of their bald heads to reflect light. Early in the contest, three were disqualified for lubricating their skulls with machine oil.

Said Kawanato when it was all over, "I felt very sad when I began losing my hair in my late 20s. When I was about 45, I stopped worrying about it. Now that I'm in my prime, I feel fine all the time."

Telly Savalas, they'd love you in Japan. How you'd light up the Ginza.

teachers' unions striking in defiance of the law, in the face of judicial injunction, and parading in picket lines where the world and their own students can observe them defying the law." In Saden's view, such actions "destroyed the basis for the respect of the children they teach, the community and the nation."

The principal victims, of course, are the children. God knows there are parents who ship little barbarians off the school, but over the years teachers with dedication and a mixture of affection and firmness have civilized these animals, making them fit for polite society. As Saden said, "The conduct of all of us to some degree reflects the kind of teaching and discipline we have had in our earlier years."

But, he added, "The tide of irresponsibility that is presently a flood stage and going higher all the time" is partially a result of the "inadequacies of the teaching profession." Teachers, he said, have failed to erect the disciplinary barriers to restrain such inundation that should have been created in the early years of youths of all ages. Rights and responsibilities go hand in hand, and if teachers themselves have not learned this simple truth, they certainly can never teach them.

Albert E. Wiggam had something to say about education back in 1923: "Education appears to be the thing that enables a man to get along without use of his intelligence." Striking teachers, said Saden sadly, made it clear they didn't understand what Conant said and thus were classic examples of what Wiggam said.

The parents set the example, hopefully a good one, but whether good or bad that doesn't necessarily say the teen-ager is going to follow the example set for him. By the time the teen-ager arrives at high school it's a little late to clamp down on him.

I don't see where a closed campus is the answer to learning self discipline which is needed for good scholastic achievement. Putting groups of young people in quiet study halls during their free periods isn't going to get every one of them to open a book and learn any more than it is going to get all of them to be quiet.

It's unfortunate the public is so aware of the fact that the open campus policy at the high school is abused. But, more important is the sad fact that not enough is written and/or spoken about all the fine young men and women who attend Manchester High School who achieve and mature under the guidance of their parents and an outstanding group of teachers, counselors, and coaches.

Today, adults seem to expect the schools to do the parent's job of raising children. I feel that it is the parent's responsibility to see to it their children know how to behave in school, out of school, at home, in church, and in public places, with adults and with their peers and this is a process that starts at birth and continues through high school.

Sincerely,
 Mrs. Anita Cunningham

By United Press International Today is Wednesday, Nov. 5, the 309th day of 1975 with 56 to follow. The moon is between its new phase and first quarter. The morning stars are Mercury, Venus, Mars and Saturn. The evening star is Jupiter. Those born on this date are under the sign of Scorpio. American historian William Durant was born Nov. 5, 1885. On this day in history: In 1793, German-born publisher John Peter Zenger began printing the newspaper "The New York Weekly Journal."

In 1911, Galbraith Rogers completed the first transcontinental flight. It took him 49 days to fly from New York City to Pasadena, California, with frequent stops. In 1940, President Franklin D. Roosevelt was re-elected to an unprecedented third term. In 1974, the Democrats won a sweeping victory in congressional and gubernatorial elections. A thought for the day: British writer William McFee said, "Responsibility's like a string that we can see only the middle of. Both ends are out of sight."

When things look blackest, it is within my power to brighten them with the light of understanding and gratitude. I realize how much depends on my point of view; my own wrong habits of thinking and acting must be corrected and only I can do that. Let me not expect easy solutions to my problems. Make me realize that many of my difficulties were created by me, by my own reactions to the happenings in my daily life. I ask only to be guided to a better way.

Jai alai promoter faces jail for refusal to answer queries

HARTFORD (UPI) — David Friend, head of the beleaguered Bridgeport Jai Alai, faces possible jailing for contempt after his refusal to answer several questions put to him by a one-man grand jury investigating his firm.

The Hollywood, Fla. promoter was charged Tuesday with contempt of the grand jury. Details of the questions he didn't answer were locked away at the request of his lawyer because they revealed the name of a "prominent" person.

Friend was freed on a verbal promise to appear whenever asked before Superior Court Judge Thomas O'Sullivan, who will rule on the contempt charge against Friend filed by the grand jury probing alleged wrongdoings in the jai alai operation. Friend may not be summoned until after hearings by the state gaming commission that begin Thursday. Those hearings will decide whether the fronton's license should be revoked because of the allegations.

The commission last month said Friend admitted making a $200,000 payment to former National Democratic Chairman John M. Bailey in return for his help in getting a gambling license.

O'Sullivan said he would establish procedural rules today for Friend's appeal, which his attorney indicated could be lengthy. He also was to rule on a bid by Quinton Hinton, of New Britain, to quash a subpoena to testify before Superior Court Judge Harold Mulvey's grand jury.

A rotund man who dresses nattily, Friend, 38, is head of Connecticut Sports Enterprises, which owns the $14 million fronton. He recently quit as president of a bank in Hollywood, Fla., where he lives.

Friend declined to answer several of Mulvey's questions, but he apparently answered enough to name the "prominent" person, identified only as from out of state, in the 18-page transcript of his testimony.

"There is a name mentioned in the transcript that's never been mentioned before. It involves a prominent person from out of state," Friend's lawyer said when he asked O'Sullivan to keep the transcript secret.

Deputy Chief State's Attorney John Mulcahy, asked afterwards if newsmen would recognize the person involved, said, "Yes." But other persons connected with the case declined to reveal even the gender of the person.

State prosecutors said Friend told them he paid $200,000 to Bailey on or about April 9, 1974. But Friend has since denied making the statement. Bailey, national chairman under Presidents John F. Kennedy and Lyndon B. Johnson, was state Democratic chairman until his death April 10.

Hinton, a representative for the International Union of Operating Engineers, is said to have helped Friend meet Bailey and the Republican state chairman at the time, J. Brian Gaffney, of New Britain.

Committee completes work on tax revision

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The House Ways and Means Committee has completed action on tax revision legislation with decidedly less bite for some special interests than was in the bill a few days ago.

The measure includes income tax provisions which could affect wage earner pay checks as early as Jan. 1. The bill may touch off sharp floor debate after its expected narrow approval in a final formal committee vote Thursday.

Republicans were disenchanted because the measure does not include the $395-billion budget ceiling demanded by President Ford. Liberals were dissatisfied because the committee at the last minute bucked away from some reform proposals that would have snared more revenues from special interest groups.

A continuation of tax cuts for both individuals and businesses are in the bill. If no action is taken before Jan. 1, existing antirecession tax reduction legislation will expire and almost everyone's withholding rates will increase. Ford has said he would veto any tax cut not accompanied by a spending ceiling.

The Senate Finance Committee is expected to vote to introduce a special provision in individual taxes that resulted in payments of up to $400 this year to the working poor, and this provision is expected to survive in any final bill.

Local issues dominate area elections

Local issues and local people were the decisive factors in elections in seven towns in the Manchester region.

Democrats won in five - Vernon, South Windsor, East Hartford, Tolland and Hebron.

Republicans won in three - Coventry, Ellington, and Glastonbury.

Vernon
Democrat Thomas Benoit took the mayor's seat from incumbent Republican Frank McCoy by less than 100 votes. The Democrats also won eight of the 12 seats in the Vernon Town Council.

The victory gave Democrats control of Vernon for the first time in eight years.

Coventry
In a contest between mostly newcomers, Coventry Republicans edged out the Democrats for control of the Town Council, taking five of the seven seats.

Democrats controlled the council for the past four years in Coventry. Evidence of the tight race showed in the high and low tallies in the council race. Jesse Brainard, leading Republican, had 1,134. Sandra Marotte, trailing Democrat, had 886.

South Windsor
Democrats maintained control of South Windsor's Town Council by a six to three margin.

Democrat Sandra Bender was the top vote-getter for the council. She will apparently become South Windsor's new mayor, replacing the retiring Robert J. Smith.

The Democrats also took three of the five spots open on the South Windsor Board of Education.

Ellington
After one term of Democratic rule in traditionally Republican Ellington, the town swung back to Republican control in a tight race.

Everett Paluszka, for many years the Republican Town Committee chairman, won the first selectman's seat from Mrs. Janet Batt, 1,558 to 1,534.

Paluszka won his seat, but the three-member Board of Selectmen has two Democrats on it. Hassan Salley led all four selectmen candidates with 1,587. Mrs. Batt stays on the board by virtue of having a higher vote total than Robert Pagan, Republican candidate for the board with 1,489.

All four Ellington races were clearly in favor of the Republicans.

East Hartford
With apparent ease, Richard Blackstone kept the mayor's seat in East Hartford by a margin of about 3,000 votes over Anthony Donatelli, Republican challenger for the second time.

The mayor went into the election with stains on several Democrat members of the East Hartford Housing Authority. They were allegedly using federal funds for the agency for personal use.

Hebron
The incumbent Democrat First Selectman Aaron Reid kept control of Hebron by a wide margin, 838 to Republican Michael Biskupiak's 654.

Reid led the Democrats in an otherwise tight race. A sign of the vote splitting done in Hebron was the victory by Marion Foote, Republican, over Democrat James Lynch 827 to 665 for the treasurer's job.

Glastonbury, a Republican stronghold, remained so.

Tolland, a Democrat stronghold, remained so. Democrats kept control of the Board of Selectmen, Planning and Zoning Commission and the Zoning Board of Appeals.

Tolland's Republicans did win control of the Board of Education.

GOP has little to cheer about

HARTFORD (UPI) — Connecticut Republicans had little to cheer about after Tuesday's municipal elections as they saw the gains they made in urban areas in recent years wiped out.

Party leaders said they are worried about how the GOP will fare in the Biennial elections of 1976 in a state where Republicans are outnumbered by the Democrats 3 to 2.

The Democrats recaptured Bridgeport, which has been under GOP rule for four years, and held on to Connecticut's major urban areas with the exception of Stamford.

Meriden slipped out of the GOP column and New Britain, the hometown of former Gov. Thomas J. Meskill, a Republican, stayed Democratic.

Hartford, New Haven, Waterbury, Middletown and Bristol stayed in the Democratic column.

Sen. Lowell P. Weicker, R-Conn., who faces re-election next year, said his party is still too bogged down in philosophy to win elections.

"You've got to get the best men and women you can," Weicker commented in a broadcast interview on station WPOP as the returns came in.

"The platform, the philosophies — that's no longer relevant. People are really going to focus in on the individual," Weicker said.

"The Republican party, I still think, is bogged down in philosophy," he said.

Republican State Chairman Frederick K. Biebel said the results of the elections were disappointing.

"We're the 'other party,' we're second best," Biebel said.

"The elections, although decided generally on the basis of local issues and local personalities, indicate a desperate need for the Republican party to bolster both its voter registration list and its year-round campaign effectiveness," Biebel said.

"We suffered local defeats today," he said. "Our sights are now set on 1976."

There was some good news for the Republicans in the small towns as the party regained lost ground. The GOP upset Democratic incumbents in Ellington, Deep River and Portland.

Connecticut's burgeoning Bridgeport jai alai scandal apparently played a part in dashing the hopes of Republican Paul J. Manafort in the New Britain mayoral race. He lost to Matthew Abatiable, a Democrat.

In Stamford, the one major bright spot for the GOP, challenger Louis Clapes upset incumbent Democratic Mayor Fred Lenz. A third-party candidate, Linda Filardo, who wanted the Democratic nomination, drew votes that might have gone to Lenz.

Speaker pessimistic about voluntary health care's future

By JUNE TOMPKINS

Herald Reporter

The future of the voluntary hospital system with its traditional private practice of medicine looks bleak, particularly when its future success lies in the possibility of national health insurance.

David Rhinelander, a member of the editorial staff of The Hartford Courant, told members of the Auxiliary of the Manchester Memorial Hospital this week, "I think the present system is heading for extinction."

Rhinelander was guest speaker at the quarterly meeting of the auxiliary held at Willie's Steak House.

Covering the medicine and science beat for his newspaper, Rhinelander has a background for the startling information he gave the members present.

He foresees a federally controlled, centralized system of care which, he says, is going to come for two fundamental reasons, "politics and economics."

He said we are reaching the point at which the American economy will not be able to pay for all the modern technical miracles that hospitals and doctors can provide.

Commenting on the auxiliary's successful outreach program which helps Manchester cope with alcoholism, venereal disease, geriatrics, child abuse and the generation gap, he said these are the kind of things that big city hospitals don't tackle because there is so little holding up passage of a national health insurance program.

"Universal health insurance has become a political question, not one of science or medicine," he said.

It makes sense to Rhinelander that in some health insurance plans, people who don't take care of themselves and don't come in for regular medical and dental checkups are penalized.

"The issues of quality care, scope of services, rationing, saying 'no,' are basic questions that the federal government and the state and Washington politicians will have to tackle, according to Rhinelander.

"The truth of it all is that death is the ultimate economy in medicine. It's the ever-expanding ability to postpone death that is driving up costs," Rhinelander said.

He said the federal government now pays almost half of the total health industry's annual bill. It's fear of the impending bankruptcy that is holding up passage of a national health insurance program.

"Universal health insurance has become a political question, not one of science or medicine," he said.

In spite of all the past programs begun in Washington which have failed, Congress hasn't given up, said Rhinelander.

A major new project called the National Health Planning and Resource Development Act of 1974, known as Public Law 93-641, may possibly have the answer.

Under the act, Connecticut has been subdivided into five health service areas, each of which will have its own locally selected health service agency with its own board and staff.

Rhinelander explained that the Health Service Agencies (HSAs) will be a blend of provider and consumer interests. They are supposed to set regional health priorities and then make local resources fulfill those needs.

There will also be a new statewide agency under Public Act 93-641 that will draft a statewide plan, coordinate the five regional activities and projects and take over the present duties of the state hospital commission.

Again, Rhinelander was pessimistic. He doubts the success of the new act because he fears it will "perpetuate the political rather than the rational process of making technical decisions, and that it is ill-equipped to solve the economic problems that the industry faces."

But he thinks the law can force many decisions, can stir reforms and can even convince people that they must take better care of themselves.

He praised the Capitol Area Health Consortium and its drive for unified staffing, unified services, shared programs and responsibilities, cooperative care of alcoholics and the drug addicts, and for more patient education and outreach services.

In spite of the consortium's aims, Rhinelander doubts the consortium will be able to slow down cost increases very much.

"Isolated successes here in this state won't stop the feds and the Congress from pushing for their reforms, reforms that will be based on the lowest common denominator theory," he said.

And that's why he said he's afraid that the life of the independent system of medical care in the United States is in serious trouble and headed for national health insurance

Sandra Bender tops in South Windsor

By JUDY KUEHNEL
644-1364

Democrats continued to hold their 6-3 Town Council majority here for the third consecutive term, setting a record for South Windsor politics.

Mrs. Sandra Bender working on her boat. (Herald photo by Pinto)

Deputy Mayor Sandra Bender was the town's highest vote-getter, making her the new mayor.

Democrat Robert Myette, just completing his freshman term on the council, was the second-highest vote-getter.

The Democratic upset also brought about a Republican surprise when Howard "Happy" Fitts, a veteran councilman and one-time mayor to South Windsor, was defeated placing last among the 12 council candidates.

With 2,116 votes, Mrs. Bender led her closest Republican competitor by almost 500 votes. He is John J. Mitchell, a one-time councilman who dropped out of politics two years ago and decided to run again this year.

Mitchell scored 2,676.

Myette was a close second to Mrs. Bender with 2,863. The second is usually named the deputy mayor.

Of the three Republicans on the council, only one is an incumbent—Leonard J. Sorosiak. With Fitts out, the only other incumbent was Joel C. Cohan who scored 11th in the 13-man race. The nine highest vote-getters comprise the council.

The question raised by the GOP situation is who will serve as minority leader to the council. Mitchell had the highest number of votes, 2,676. But Sorosiak with 2,451 votes is an incumbent.

The third Republican is Raymond P. Dankel, a first-term candidate who scored 2,415 votes, placing him ninth in the nine-man ladder.

The new council, by highest votes, consists of: Mrs. Bender, 3,116; Myette, 2,863; Michael Enes (a freshman candidate and son of Town Clerk Charles Enes), 2,830; Edward Havens a veteran councilman, 2,787; Mitchell, 2,676; Cecil Robert Myette, second in votes.

Decker, formerly chairman of the Board of Education, 2,572; Sorosiak, 2,451; David E. Cohen, formerly a member of the school board, 2,436; Dankel, 2,415.

Blackstone tops again

East Hartford
By SHEILA TULLER
289-4283

East Hartford's voters, for the fourth time in as many elections, swept Richard H. Blackstone and his Democratic team into office Tuesday.

According to Democratic Town Chairman Jim Fitzgerald, about 55 per cent of East Hartford's 27,101 voters turned out to vote in the town's nine districts.

In every district except the seventh, the Democrats beat their Republican opponents handily. For the first time in the history of the 7th District, the mayoral candidates tied each receiving 909 votes.

In a district that is usually rough on the Democrats, this was as good as a win.

In the nine voting districts, Blackstone received 8,096 votes to Anthony Donatelli's 6,338, winning by a plurality of over 1,700 votes.

The third mayoral candidate, Gene C. Dinsmore, totaled little more than 100 votes for mayor and a few more for a council seat.

Blackstone's running mate for Town Treasurer, William F. Dwyer, won over Republican Pearl Totten 8,486 to 5,871 votes.

All six Democratic candidates for the Town Council won seats. As in the last election, Council Chairman George A. Dagon led the ticket with 8,546 votes.

William B. Dailey, a newcomer to the ticket, followed closely with 8,413 votes. Henry Gonga also running for the first time polled 8,069 votes.

Council veteran Odessa C. Terry received 8,283 votes. Joseph Dentamaro, who was filling a vacancy, won his first full term with 8,000 votes. Richard Torpey, also chairman of the first district, was a winner with 8,300 votes.

Minority leader Esther B. Clarke was again the top Republican vote getter with 6,356 votes.

Winning with Mrs. Clarke were James Marshall and John Finnegan. Corrier, a June graduate of the University of Connecticut, polled 6,003 votes in his first attempt to win political office.

Finnegan, who has been active in local government serving on the Zoning Board of Appeals and the Emergency Medical Services Commission, won the third Republican seat with 5,898 votes.

The four incumbent Democratic Board of Education members were re-elected. Eleanore Kepler, Joyce Ruggles, Lawrence DePonte won four years terms. Richard Daley will fill the two year seat on the board.

Dr. Richard Veltri, Republican incumbent, will also fill a two-year term.

Kenneth Carrier was the only Republican incumbent that lost his bid for re-election. Carrier lost his board seat to Emory Daly by only 34 votes.

Richard Bolash, a write-in candidate for the board who had sought Republican endorsement, received 20 votes.

Democrats Roland Bernier and Edward FitzGerald were re-elected selectmen as was Republican J. Roger Pelletier.

Democrats Joseph Curran, Fred Cyr, Steven Hudak, and Thomas Kelly retained their positions as constables.

Republicans Charles Clarke, John Lancaster, and Peter MacDonald were also re-elected as constables.

Sen. Brooke posed as running mate

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. Lowell Weicker, R-Conn., says the President should pick Sen. Edward W. Brooke, R-Mass., as his vice presidential running mate for 1976.

Weicker said Tuesday Vice President Nelson Rockefeller's decision not to run with Ford gives the GOP a chance to select "a new face," who represents "the politics of the present and future, not the past."

Today...As Always...Better U.S. Choice Meats at PINEHURST...

We have a retired part-time meat cutter, who, in his spare time, visits many area stores. He confirms that Packer's selections have been telling us...that there has been much changing of standards of quality in many stores and that U.S. Choice quality is the exception rather than the rule.

Our meat manager, Frank Toros, wants you to know that when you shop Pinehurst, you get only special selection of U.S. Choice Beef and that Steaks and Oven Beef Roasts are properly aged before being placed on sale.

We could go on, and on...but the proof is in the eating. At Pinehurst buy U.S. Choice Beef, Yellow Tagged Roasting Chickens and parts, Lamb, Tobin's 1st Prize Hams, fleur-de-lis Buffet Hams or light corn fed Pork Loins and get more really fine meat for your dollar.

Buy these cuts the "Whole Way" or packer cut...our meat men will cut it your way...and freezer wrap whole or part, if you wish.

Ritchie's mark anniversary

On 2nd Thought

By Jan Warren

I want to have a smash!

Mr. and Mrs. William T. Ritchie Sr. of 16 Anderson St. celebrated their golden wedding anniversary recently at a party given by their family at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William T. Ritchie Jr. of 50 Redwood Rd.

Also hosting the party were Mr. and Mrs. E. Roger Ritchie of Manchester and Mr. and Mrs. Robert I. Ritchie of East Hampton.

More than 50 friends and relatives attended and presented the couple with gifts.

The couple was married on Oct. 21, 1925 in the Church of the Nazarene with the Rev. Chester Austin officiating.

Mrs. Ritchie, a native of County Armagh, Northern Ireland, was employed by Cheney Bros. and the Aldon Spinning Mill, before her retirement.

Mr. Ritchie, a native of Uddingston, Scotland, was a general foreman at the Pratt & Whitney Machine Tool Co. of West Hartford and retired in 1960. He is a 32nd degree Scottish Rite Mason, a Shriner, and a member of the Loyal Orange Lodge 117. He is a lifetime member of the Manchester Pipe Band which he rejoined in 1926. He is also an honorary member of the British-American Pipe Band.

In tennis the overhead smash is the stroke that separates the men from the boys and the women from the girls. I've decided to make mastering that stroke my goal for the year.

For those of you who aren't tennis players, the overhead smash is what you're supposed to do to any ball lobbed above your head. It's the killer stroke in tennis, the one that makes spectators go "ahhh!" in amazement.

Billie Jean King, Jimmy Connors, and Rod Laver have intimidated overhead smashes. So I'm distressed to report to do a large number of the people I play tennis with.

Up till now I've managed to get by without an overhead. In doubles when a ball goes above my head, I yell "yours!" to my partner and turn the problem over to her. In singles I watch the ball roar out of sight and then say "great shot!" to my opponent.

Last week, when I was sure none of my friends would be around, I took a private lesson in overhead smashes. My teacher was all business.

"There are three basic rules to remember," he said. "First, stand sideways to the net. Second, get your racket way back. Third, point your finger at the ball."

"I didn't know you were supposed to point your finger," I said moving into position and raising my arm. "Do you mean like this... it's a bird, it's a plane, it's Superman!"

"Yes," said my teacher patiently. "I never thought of it that way, but you're right."

For the next half hour he drilled me. "Stand sideways, racket back, point to Superman!"

I smashed the ball with abandon; into the net, into the next court, and once right into the drinking fountain. Each time the ball hit my racket it made a satisfying crack. And thanks the beauty of an overhead, even when you completely miss a shot, you sound good.

After the lesson, the teacher leaned over the net and said in a low confidential voice. "Here's a tactical tip. When you're warming up before a game ask your opponent to hit you some overheads."

"Shouldn't I wait till I'm better?" I asked tentatively.

"Nonsense," he said with a wink. "It doesn't matter whether you hit them in or out. The very fact that you ask for them will unnerve her. It's always worth a few points."

Benoit edges out McCoy

Vernon
By BARBARA RICHMOND
Herald Reporter

For the first time in six years Vernon Democrats tasted sweet victory, even though by a very narrow margin, with their candidate Thomas Benoit defeating incumbent Republican Frank McCoy by a scant 91 votes.

Democratic headquarters on Rt. 83 was the typical smokelined room as Democrats by the hundreds rallied round to wait to hear the results coming in from the five polling places. Benoit was the strongest candidate in the four elections against McCoy and he received 4,161 votes against McCoy's 4,070.

High vote-getter among all of the candidates, Democrats and Republicans, was Democrat Marie Herbst who won a seat on the Town Council with 4,556 votes. Mrs. Herbst served for several years on the Board of Education.

The council, for the first time in the six years has a Democratic majority, 8-4. It has been the reverse since McCoy was first elected. Since the town governments were consolidated 10 years ago there has only been one Democratic Mayor and that was the first, Thomas McCusker. McCusker was followed by Republican John Grant and Grant was followed by McCoy.

McCoy was high vote-getter on the Republican ticket and next was David Woolwich, Board of Education candidate with 4,057 votes.

Besides Mrs. Herbst the other Democrats on the council, and the number of votes they received are: Gerald Allen, 4,193; Thomas Dooley, 4,805; George Furbush, 4,112; Stanley Gill, 4,138; Peter Humphry, 4,367; Glen Roberts, 4,158; Paul Roskha, 4,024; Humphry, Dooley, and Gill are incumbents. Benoit was the fourth Democrat on the council.

Republican councilmen winning were: Morgan Campbell, 3,709; John Guiletti, 3,914; Richard MacDonald, 3,731; and Robert Wehrli, 3,771, all incumbents. Defeated Republicans were: Donald Edzes, 3,588; Gretchen Mason, 3,566; and G. Richard Owens, 3,611.

Democrats elected to the Board of Education were: Edward Meyers, 4,282; Robert Schwartz, 3,561; and Devra Baum, 4,257.

Republicans elected were: Daniel Woolwich, 4,057; and Joanne

Paluska takes Ellington

By BARBARA RICHMOND
Herald Reporter

Ellington voters elected a Republican first selectman but voted in two Democrats to work with him. Janet Batt, incumbent Democratic first selectman for the past two years, lost to Everett Paluska by 1,558-1,534.

Hassan Salley was again elected second selectman and Mrs. Batt, third. Salley with 1,587 votes was top vote-getter of the three selectmen and top vote-getter on his ticket.

Mrs. Barbara Paluska, elected to the post of tax collector, was high vote-getter on the Republican ticket with 1,741. Her opponent, Michael Malloy, received 1,311.

Republican candidate for selectman, Herbert Paganis, had 1,489. Paluska served as Republican town chairman for 23 years, resigning that post about a year ago. In 1971 he was appointed deputy state tax collector. Paluska was Ellington's tax collector for 13 1/2 years. Mrs. Paluska was then elected to that position.

Edna Edwards, who has been town clerk since 1959, and assistant town clerk before that, was automatically elected yesterday as she was endorsed by both political parties.

With the exception of three or four elections, Mrs. Edwards has been endorsed each time by both groups. A little better than 70 per cent of the town's 4,400 voters turned out in one of the largest turnouts in recent elections. But it was the absentee ballots that swung it for Paluska.

When all of the machine votes were counted Mrs. Batt was ahead by two votes. In the absentee ballots Paluska received 57 votes to her 31 and thus went ahead to win.

Unless Mrs. Batt files a written statement waiving it, there will be an automatic recount according to state statutes.

Other Republicans elected were: Rosemary Malatesta to the posts of town treasurer and agent of the town deposit fund. She defeated Democrat Bessie Howe 1,620 to 1,403 and, for the agent position, 1,530 to 1,388.

John Clapp, Republican, was elected to the Board of Finance over Mary Miller.

Elected to the Board of Education were Republicans Arnold Cook, 1,377; Catherine MacDuff, 1,542; and Ronald Petterrossi, 1,549. Democrats defeated were: Mark Swerdloff, 1,428; Edward Graziani, 1,302; and Kyle Mabin, 1,349.

In a 1,006 to 702 vote the townspeople passed a new town charter which will be implemented in the 1977 election.

Basically the charter will change the number of members on the Board of Selectmen. Voters will vote for one candidate from each party for one selectman and then elect six other board members.

The charter also calls for the appointment of a fiscal administrator to the first selectman. The salary for this position will be about $12,000.

It will also change some positions, now elective, to appointive. This would include the tax collector, town clerk, assessors, and constables.

The newly elected officials will take office on Nov. 18.

expression from broad smiles to an occasional frown as he watched the close voting figures come in. Standing by, and finding it difficult to contain himself, was present town chairman Lester Baum.

And then it was over, the count was final. Benoit had eked through by a narrow margin of 91 votes and a few minutes later McCoy came into Benoit headquarters to congratulate him. McCoy said he had no comment other than the fact he had wished Benoit good luck and that it was a good race.

Benoit, who will assume office at the next council meeting, a week from Monday, said he started his campaign prior to July 1. He said it was hard-fought and strenuous. Sometimes he was upset with his opponent.

He said the backing and confidence bestowed on him kept him going. He said the campaign was issued oriented.

Some of the campaign signs for Benoit, not his official signs, said, "Elect Benoit and dump Schwebel." Schwebel has been town attorney under McCoy.

Benoit said he has a list of attorneys he is working on but "it will not be Abbot Schwebel," he added. Benoit has served two terms on the Town Council. He is co-owner of Steve and Tom's Pizzeria on Rt. 83.

Town Republicans lose but 'not crying yet'

By DOUG BEVINS
Herald Reporter

As Manchester Republicans vacated their Center St. headquarters just before 8 p.m. Tuesday to go to their "win, lose or draw" party at the American Legion Hall, one party worker said, "We're not crying yet."

More than four hours later—despite another Democratic sweep in the municipal elections—they still weren't crying. Many Republicans were disappointed, but that didn't stop them from having a party.

When the results from the first machine at Waddell School came to the GOP at 8:12 p.m., it didn't look good for the Republicans, who have been out of power since 1971.

"We're getting beat there," Republican Town Chairman Nate

Agostinelli said. "But it's not overwhelming."

By 8:30 p.m., when the first results were posted on the Republican tally board, the Democratic sweep still wasn't overwhelming.

When it was all over, the results were far from overwhelming, the Republicans repeated. The final tallies were much closer than those of the Democratic sweep in 1973.

Throughout the evening, Republicans were hardly surprised at the results. Agostinelli conceded a Democratic victory at about 8:45, and at 9, with results from two districts still not in, he and GOP Vice Chairman Elsie Swenson left for Democratic Headquarters to congratulate the winners.

Most of the disappointment at the Legion Hall seemed to come from

HERE'S THE INSTANT LOTTERY'S FIRST MILLIONAIRE.

Louise Torvinen's good fortune started on October 6 at Pelti's Supermarket in Bristol.

She bought an Instant Match ticket, rubbed off the six spots, and became a $2.00 winner. On the spot. But that's not all. Her ticket was automatically entered in the drawing on October 25. And Louise took home the grand prize. A cool million. ($50,000 a year for 20 years.)

You could be our second Millionaire.

Instant Match is still going strong. But the game only lasts as long as the tickets do. And at the rate they're selling, that won't be long. (Last official day of sales will be November 15.)

Missouri upset at ABC

COLUMBIA, Mo. (UPI) — University of Missouri officials, student leaders and football fans complain ABC Television Sports falsely portrayed Old Missouri as a party school where students think only of drinking and football.
ABC says it presented a true picture of the football fever at Missouri's largest college.
What made Missouri supporters angry was a short feature story telecast during the halftime of the Nebraska-Missouri football game last Saturday. The report included extensive films of students drinking at a local bar.
ABC sports announcer Jim Lampley asked a coed, "What do you do out here, 150 miles from nowhere, when the football season is over?"
She replied: "We just live for football, nothing else is important, no classes or anything else. We just live for Friday when we start to party and get ready for the game."
Asked what coeds do after football season, she said, "We date the football players."
Robert Kren, director of the school's office of public information, objected to ABC Sports Producer Chuck Howard.
"I expressed our concern. There's a view by the network that they're putting on a football show. They were not aware of our sensitivities," Kren said.
Carrie Francke, president of the Students Association, protested in a telegram to Howard, and the daily newspaper in Jefferson City, the Missouri capital 30 miles from Columbia, denounced the film feature in an editorial.
Howard, replying to Ms. Francke in a telegram, said ABC did not insult the school.

Cheney booters winless in first COC warfare

By LEN AUSTER
Herald Sportswriter
Seasoned sophomores will lead the way when Cheney Tech takes to the soccer field for the 1976 season.
The Beavers under third-year Coach Manny Goncalves completed the recent campaign with an over-all 4-10 mark, a disappointing 0-9 in their first attempt in the Charter Oak Conference.
"I would say we were much improved over last year," noted Goncalves. "Our biggest problem was that we had a very young club. We had a lot of close games in the COC which could have gone either way. For example, we lost to Portland 3-1 but I think we outplayed them for three quarters. We had other squeakers also. Last year we weren't competitive against some COC clubs we played but this year I think we were."
Freshman Lewis LaBrec paced the Techmen in the scoring department with seven goals. LaBrec also had time to score six more for the jayvees which compiled a 4-3-2 mark, a sign which bodes well for the future. Goncalves used LaBrec and other freshmen in both varsity and jayvee games to give them game experience which the talented but young booters needed.
Al Costa, another freshman, scored five goals on the jayvee level and tallied one with the varsity. Freshmen Doug Landry and Ben Hennigan were solid performers this season and are penciled in at center halfback and center fullback for the '76 campaign. Another freshman, John Dzito, was a varsity starter before breaking a leg in a jayvee game and can be expected to return in line for a starting job on the forward line next year.
Among those whom Goncalves will lose via graduation are Lance Schors, Joe Tessier and Don Ritchie, who played well in the backfield. Kevin Carpenter who scored three goals and Rob Caron, who also graduated.
One promising sign for the Beavers is that they improved their goal production this year to 21 compared to 13 in 1974 and decreased their goals against total to 41 compared to 47 the year before. Goncalves looks for continued improvement in this

Five underdogs score wins in night of upsets in NBA

NEW YORK (UPI) — Philadelphia, a 6½-point underdog, beat the Buffalo Braves on their own court 121-114. Similarly, four other underdogs—Phoenix, Milwaukee, Atlanta and Kansas City—won their games Tuesday night.
"We're just trying to become a good team," said Philadelphia Coach Gene Shue. "In time we're going to be a very good team. I don't know when or how long it will take."
Steve Mix came off the bench to score 22 points for the '7ers, who also had 26 points and 15 rebounds from George McGinnis and 30 points from Doug Collins. Bob McAdoo had 41 points for Buffalo while Jim McMillian and Randy Smith added 22 each.
"We would try to set a screen to the weak side and try to get the ball to Mix," Shue said. "He had the open shot and he made the open shot."
With the game tied 99-99 at 8:57 remaining, Mix scored eight of the '7ers' 12 straight points to give them a 111-99 lead.
"They just had a great shooting game," Braves coach Jack Ramsay said. "For us to win we can't give up that many points."
Atlanta nipped Portland 98-97, Kansas City beat Los Angeles 116-98, Milwaukee edged Detroit 105-101, Phoenix whipped Chicago 96-80, Washington ripped Cleveland 113-96 and Houston beat New York 119-106.
In the ABA, St. Louis topped Utah 115-110.
Kings 116, Lakers 98
Nate Archibald had 24 points and 13 assists, Scott Wedman added 23 points and Jimmy Walker 21 but Kansas City got its big boost from center Sam Lacey, who triggered a fourth quarter rally with a pair of long jumpers. Lacey also had 13 rebounds.
Bucks 103, Pistons 101
Bob Dandridge stole an inbounds pass with the score tied and just 10 seconds left, then made two free throws with six seconds left to give Milwaukee its first win of the season. Brian Winters led the Bucks with 34 points and Dandridge finished with 26.
Suns 96, Bulls 80
Rookie Alvan Adams scored 18 points to lead Phoenix, which held Chicago to 18 points in the final period.
Bullets 113, Cavs 96
Elvin Hayes notched 23 points and Mike Rurdan a season-high 21 to help Washington beat Cleveland. Rockets 119, Knicks 106
Calvin Murphy hit 21 of his 33 points in the first half and Rudy Tomjanovich scored 15 of his 21 points in the second half to pace Houston over New York for its second victory in a row after three losses.
Spirits 115, Stars 110
Marvin Barnes and Freddie Lewis combined for 36 second half points to lead St. Louis to its fifth straight victory. Barnes scored 20 of his 22 points in the second half and Lewis 16 of his 27.

Celtics receive Braves

BOSTON (UPI) — The rivalry has built steadily over five years to the point where the Buffalo Braves are the Boston Celtics' chief stumbling block.
The two evenly matched teams meet tonight at Boston Garden in the first of their seven regular-season confrontations.
Boston had won 22 straight over Buffalo from the time the Braves entered the National Basketball Association in 1970 through the fifth meeting of the 1973-74 season. But the Braves, bolstered by Bob McAdoo and Ernie DiGregorio, won the final two games that season and took four of nine games last season.
This season, Buffalo is off to a 4-1 start and lead the Celtics by a half game in the Atlantic Division.
DiGregorio, out most of last season with a knee injury, is back to his playmaking tricks — averaging eight assists a game. McAdoo, scoring 29.8 points per game, has increased his rebounding average to 14.2.
The new look from the bench is former Celtic Steve Kuberski, the Braves' top reserve forward. Kuberski played five seasons with Boston before going to New Orleans in the 1974 expansion draft. He was traded quickly to Milwaukee and was picked up by the Braves this season.
For their part, the Celtics will work on restoring an effective running game that will end in smart shots.
"We didn't have any patience on offense against Chicago," coach Tom Heinsohn said of Boston's lone loss last weekend in Chicago. "We forced a lot of shots off the fast break instead of looking for options. We had guys cutting and going into their favorite spots but they weren't getting the ball."
"I was the leading scorer and (second) leading rebounder at South Carolina, but I just couldn't fit into their system," said the 22-year-old cornerman, who averaged 16.5 points with a .536 shooting percentage for the Gamecocks. "I don't think I would have gotten better if I stayed."
Boswell, who played one season at South Carolina State before transferring, said he was unhappy with the slowdown offense and zone defense used by the Gamecocks.
"It's not that I didn't like Coach (Frank) McGuire or had troubles with the administration. It's just that I wasn't suited to their style and I didn't like playing center."
Everything is different now that he's in the pros, said Boswell. "The Celtics are a fast break team and that's what I like to play. And I wouldn't mind playing center here as a backup to Dave Cowens. When you fast break you get a chance to use all of your abilities and if you can run, that's an advantage.
The 6-foot-9 native of Montgomery, Ala., is a good runner but so far is just the fastest player on the bench. In the first four games, Boswell played a total of nine minutes — in keeping with the Celtic tradition of training rookies by making them viewers instead of players

Ellington booters advance

Two out of three area schools involved in State Soccer Tournament competition yesterday hit the sidelines with setbacks while only Ellington High prevailed.
With Rich Gagne scoring the only goal, third-ranked Ellington High advanced to Saturday's quarterfinals with a 1-0 win over 18th-ranked Avon High in Class B play. Also in Class B, eighth-ranked Rham High advanced to 12th-ranked Valley Regional of Deep River, 2-0. In a Class C Division first round contest, seventh-ranked Hale-Bury of Moodus downed 11th-ranked Coventry High in overtime, 2-1.
Ellington, now 11-1-3, will face seventh-ranked Vinal Tech of Middletown Saturday at a site and time to be determined. Rham bows out with a 4-4-3 record and Coventry finishes at 7-6-1.

Cy Young Award no surprise for Jim Palmer

NEW YORK (UPI) — It was no surprise to Jim Palmer that he won the American League's Cy Young Award. What was surprising, and discouraging, to the Baltimore Oriole right-hander was that he didn't have an even better season.
Palmer, 30, Tuesday named winner of the AL's most coveted pitching prize for the second time in three years, was an easy winner over Jim "Catfish" Hunter of the New York Yankees, who won it in 1974 with Oakland, in a balloting by 24 members of the Baseball Writers Association of America.
He won the award in 1973 with a 22-9 record. This year he had a 23-11 record with 10 shutouts and a 2.09 earned run average. It was a turnaround from 1974 when, with arm trouble, he had a dismal 7-12 record.
Palmer, 30, the only pitcher named on all 24 ballots, received 15 first place votes and 98 points while Hunter got seven first place votes and 75 points. Relief ace Rolfe Fingers of the Oakland A's was a distant third with two first place votes and 25 points.
In the most diversified voting in the award's history, five other pitchers also were named. Frank Tanana of California and Jim Kaat of Chicago each received seven points. Vida Blue of Oakland and reliever Rich Gossage of Chicago got two points apiece and Rick Wise of Boston got one.
"It's very pleasant. I felt I was going to win all the time but I suppose you can't always tell when your competitor is an athlete from New York," said Palmer. "Frankly, I felt I had a better season than Hunter."
He thought he could have had a better year had his team supported him offensively.
Palmer is the second pitcher in AL history to win the Award twice. Detroit's Denny McLain won it back-to-back in 1968-69, sharing it with Baltimore's Mike Cuellar in 1969. Three National Leaguers have won the award more than once—Tom Seaver of New York (1967-73), Sandy Gibson of St. Louis (1968-70) and Sandy Koufax of Los Angeles (1963-65-66).
Beginning in 1970, Palmer had a string of four consecutive 20-win seasons.

Volleyballers win in finale
Victorious in its final match of the season yesterday was the Manchester Community College women's volleyball team by scores of 15-1, 15-7 and 15-10 over Eastern Connecticut State College.
Best for the Cougars were Betsy Mayshar, Pat Dyson, Linda Brody, Sally Lentocha, Marianne Pemberton, Diane Fleury and Sheryl Kane.
Indian jayvee gridders lose
Downed Monday in jayvee football action was Manchester High by Fermi High of Enfield, 96-6.
The young Falcons scored four times in the first half to take a 20-0 half-time edge. The Indians scored a third quarter touchdown on a nine-yard run by Wayne Ostrout. Immediately after, Manchester blocked a punt and had an opportunity to score but Fermi held and added 20 more points to its total.
Playing well for the Silk Towners were Scott and Mike Linsenbiger, Frank Scalise and Bob Ruggerio.

Social Security questions and answers

Q. I get Social Security disability checks and I've been thinking of taking a part-time job to see if I can work. My next-door neighbor offered me a job in his business. If I take it, would my disability payments stop as soon as I start to work?

A. Not necessarily. If you return to work while you are still disabled, you may be eligible for a trial work period. This means disability benefits will continue while you test your ability to work for up to nine months. If it is determined that you are able to engage in substantial gainful work, your benefits will continue for three additional months before being stopped. Be sure to notify a Social Security office if you do go to work.

Q. I plan to work from Dec. 1 until about mid-January. I've never had a Social Security number; how do I get one?

A. You can get information about applying for a Social Security number by calling or writing any Social Security office. Since you've never had a number before, you may be asked to prove your age, identity, and citizenship. You should apply for a number several weeks before you actually need it.

Q. Since my wife and I both will reach 65 early in 1976, we plan to apply for retirement benefits next month. What papers should we take with us to the Social Security office?

A. You should take your Social Security card or a record of your Social Security number, proof of your age and your wife's age (preferably a birth or baptismal certificate made at or shortly after birth), and your marriage certificate. If your wife is applying for benefits on her own work record, she should take her Social Security number, too.

A. My husband, who's 57, has kidney failure. He's going to a Social Security office next week to apply for Medicare. If he's eligible, will our children and I also be eligible?

A. No. Not unless you, too, have permanent kidney failure. Under the kidney disease provision of the law, only the person with permanent kidney failure is eligible for Medicare.

Q. I have Medicare coverage under the kidney disease provision of the law, and it's really been a big help with the expenses of my treatment. But I don't have any other health insurance and it's hard for me to pay for the things that Medicare doesn't cover. Is there some place I can get financial help?

A. In some states, there are agencies that, under certain conditions, help with some of the medical expenses that Medicare does not cover. Some states have kidney commissions that help people who need assistance in meeting expenses of kidney dialysis and transplant services. Every state has a Medicaid program that helps pay medical expenses in cases of financial need.

Top execs visit UConn students

Business students at the University of Connecticut are getting a chance this fall to reap the benefits of person-to-person contact with some of the state's business and industrial leaders.

The UConn School of Business Administration, in cooperation with the Connecticut Business and Industry Association (CBIA), has launched an exchange program which brings top executives from some of Connecticut's leading firms to campus for a week of discussions.

Under terms of the program, according to Dean Ronald Patten of the School of Business Administration, the visiting leader meets not only with business students, but with faculty members and business, marketing and finance clubs as well. They conduct seminars and meet informally with students.

Keynote speaker William M. Ellinghaus, president of the New York Telephone Co. and immediate past chairman of the Municipal Assistance Corp., will be the keynote speaker at the annual banquet of the Greater Hartford Chamber of Commerce Friday night at the Hartford Civic Center.

Area firm sells rights to 3-M Co.

James McClintock, 3-M Printing Products Division vice president, and Howard Fromson, president of Ano-Coil Corp., have announced signing of a licensing agreement giving 3-M the rights to make, use and sell Fromson's patented anodized aluminum lithographic printing plates.

3-M is the largest producer of pre-sensitized lithographic plates in the U.S. and is a major producer in the worldwide printing plate market.

Since its introduction, Fromson's patented process for anodized aluminum printing plates has rapidly expanded throughout the world in the field of commercial printing.

The Fromson plate, which had been exclusively produced by his Rockville-based firm, Ano-Coil, provides a new and improved photographic printing plate that is highly resistant to abrasion, corrosion, and processes copy with extreme fidelity.

Fromson, who holds more than 100 U.S. and foreign patents, said other licensees and customers of Ano-Coil include S.D. Warren Division of Scott Paper; Fuji Photo Film L.L. of Tokyo, Japan; E.I. DuPont, and Rogers Corp. He said he is negotiating licensing agreements for the process with companies in other parts of the world.

Ano-Coil, established by Fromson in 1959, is the largest single independent source of anodized lithographic printing plate base in the U.S., supplying many millions of square feet per year.

Caldor reports record quarter

Caldor Inc. of Norwalk has reported a 19.5 per cent increase in third quarter sales, with a record $55,423,000 for the 13 weeks ended Oct. 25 as compared with $46,374,000 a year ago.

Sales for the 39 weeks were up 20 per cent to $154,936,000 against last year's $129,151,000. Caldor has opened its 35th store—a 90,000 square-foot unit in Yonkers, New York. It is the third store to be opened this year by the discount department store chain.

Caldor, Inc., listed on the American Stock Exchange, operates nine stores in New York, 20 in Connecticut and six in Massachusetts.

Xerox plans 500 layoffs

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (UPI)—The Xerox Corp. will dismiss 500 salaried employees by the end of the month, including 370 from its Rochester-area payroll.

Xerox officials said the cuts were part of an effort to bolster sagging profits. Hourly workers, sales and service representatives were not affected by the cutbacks.

The other 130 employees will be dismissed from 11 other Xerox locations throughout the country.

Xerox has now dismissed more than 3,000 workers in Monroe County since last December, reducing its total area employment to about 13,700. It has about 53,000 workers nationwide.

Ten Hardee's to be closed

ROCKY MOUNT, N.C. (UPI)—Five Hardee's restaurants in Detroit and five others in northeastern states will be closed, Hardee's Food Systems Inc. has announced.

Nine of the units scheduled to be closed are owned by the firm and the 10th is owned by a partnership, a company spokesman said.

Firms use photos for office decor

NEW YORK (UPI)—Photography as an art form instead of a promotional tool is starting to make headway in office decoration.

Mobil Oil Corp. has included in several of its offices in various cities art photographs having nothing in particular to do with the oil business. Squibb International and some other firms also have used non-promotional art photographs for decoration.

In the past, business usually turned to the painter and the sculptor for purely artistic decoration and continued to do so. It is done for reasons of prestige, because of the personal artistic interests of the corporation's head and, sometimes, as in the case of David Rockefeller and New York's Chase Manhattan Bank, as a sophisticated program of investing in works likely to appreciate greatly in value.

Although more mural photography than painting is used in offices, in the past no matter how much of an artist the photographer was, he was more or less restricted to the commercial approach—pictures designed to sell products or improve the company's image.

"Now suddenly the door is opening to the camera artist for decorating buildings," says Evelyn Silbergeld, a photographer who has formed a firm called Art Placement Services, Ltd., to take advantage of the trend.

She has obtained a contract to provide permanent art photography instead of paintings to hang all over the Medical Center at Portsmouth, N.H., and another to decorate the large offices of Peat, Marwick & Mitchell, the accounting firm, at Hartford, Conn. "We have some other deals in the works and currently are holding an exposition. Photography for Environments, to display our works and philosophy," she said.

Denis Lambert, master councilor

Ellington
Denis Lambert, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles O. Lambert of 8 Hemlock Dr., Vernon, was installed as master councilor of the Masonic Temple, Ellington.

Lambert is a state steward of Connecticut State Chapter Order of DeMolay. He is an Eagle Scout in Troop 57 of East Hartford where he is a junior assistant scout master and a member of the Order of the Arrow.

He is a high honors student in the junior class at Rockville High School where he is a participant in the Research and Independent Study Program. He has a scholarship to study trombone at the Hartford Conservatory, is a member of the Greater Hartford Youth Orchestra and has been a member of the Hartford Civic Orchestra for four years.

For two years he has been a member of the All Connecticut High School Band and the All New England High School Band. During this year he was a member of the All Eastern Band of the National Music Educators' Association in Philadelphia. He is a student of trumpet and trombone and piano.

At the high school he is a member of the Concert, marching and dance bands. Master of ceremonies for the installation service was Richard W. Pohnert, past master councilor and chevalier. The ceremony of the lights was performed by Dwight Dewey, governor of area "F" of Connecticut State DeMolay and the installing suite consisted of officers of the Connecticut chapter led by Christopher J. Earle.

Other officers installed were: Steven Booth, senior councilor; Gregory Taft, junior councilor; Robert Schaefer, scribe; treasurer; George Hawes, senior deacon; Robert Lloyd, junior deacon; Richard J. Lynch, senior steward; Bruce Laughlin, junior steward; Charles H. Kinneer, chaplain; Peter LaValley, marshal.

Rockville club gives scholarships

Also: Francis Lively, standard bearer; Peter Johnson, first preceptor; Kurt Ehrhardt, second preceptor; Ralph DeFeo, third preceptor; Ronald Griffith, fifth preceptor; Chris Graf, sixth preceptor; David Sweeney, seventh preceptor; Robert Klukas, sentinel.

The Polish American Citizens' Club of Rockville awarded $100 scholarships to Karen S. Kolanko and Lynn Anne Orlovski.

The scholarships, given in cooperation with the club's auxiliary, date from 1961. To date, 35 have been awarded to sons or daughters of club members.

Awards are given on the basis of scholastic achievement, leadership and need.

Miss Kolanko is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Kolanko of 34 Fox Hill Dr., Rockville. She is a 1972 graduate of Rockville High School where she was a high honor student, editor of the yearbook, member of the Leaders Club, Student Government Club and the Girls' Athletic Association.

She is now a senior at the University of Wisconsin majoring in Environmental Sciences and Regional Planning. She has been on the dean's list for the past three years and this past summer she received a National Science Foundation grant to work on a soils project dealing with erosion problems in urbanized areas.

She is presently assisting in the writing of an environmental impact study for a road construction project in Green Bay, Wisconsin. After graduation she hopes to pursue a career in planning or to attend graduate school in the field of landscape architecture.

Miss Orlovski is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Orlovski of 67 Keeney St., Manchester. She attended Keeney St. School, Assumption Junior High and was a 1973 graduate of East Catholic High.

She received the Betty Crocker Homemakers' Award while in high school as well as a scholarship from the Manchester Scholarship Association.

She is a recent graduate, with high honors, from Westbrook College, Portland, Maine. She was on the dean's list for four semesters, is a registered dental hygienist and is now a junior at the University of Rhode Island working toward a BA degree in dental hygiene. She is a member of the university's sailing club and team.

Reid again takes Hebron

By EVELYN CROSTON

Democratic First Selectman Aaron "Steve" Reid won an easy victory over Republican Michael Biskupiak Tuesday, running ahead by 181 votes.

Reid polled 635 to Biskupiak's 654 to win a fourth term.

Democrat Cynthia G. Wilson polled 752 votes to become the first woman to serve on the Board of Selectmen.

Republican Arthur Pinney Jr. received 738 votes. He will be the third board member.

On a warm fall day 62.5 per cent, 1,489, of the eligible 2,450 voters turned out.

Independent Marion Celio, endorsed by both parties, polled a total of 1,493 votes for town clerk. There were 788 on the Democratic ticket and 765 on the Republican ticket.

Republican Marion Foote, incumbent town treasurer, polled 827 votes to defeat Democrat James Lynch with 656. Mrs. Foote received 812 votes to win the position of agent of town deposit fund.

Democrat Joan M. Rowley with 833 votes defeated Republican Marjorie H. Clifford with 642 for tax collector.

On the Board of Finance, Democrats, incumbent Carlman Frankel with 765 votes and Edward Williams Jr. with 754 votes won over Joseph Beaugard with 671 and Sandra Kalam with 746.

Two Republicans will be seated on the Board of Finance and ran unopposed. They are Jeffrey Odell and Roger Terranova. Odell fills a two-year vacancy and Terranova a two-year vacancy.

One Democrat and two Republicans will begin six-year terms on the Board of Education. Democrat Barbara Stanchfield polled 731 votes and Republicans incumbent Charles Barraso received 762 and Joseph Pelletier, 724. Defeated for a seat on the board was incumbent Democrat Robert Owens who polled 710.

Independent incumbent Caroline Murphy, endorsed by the Republicans, received 804 votes to fill a four-year vacancy on the Board of Education. She was unopposed.

Steve Reid

Two candidates won election to fill two-year vacancies on the Board of Education, Democrat Robert Nickels with 783 votes and Republican Patricia Mulligan with 675 votes.

Republican incumbent Roy W. Wirth with 772 votes was re-elected to the Planning and Zoning Commission for five-year term beginning this month. He defeated Ramon D. Campbell who polled 696.

For five-year term on the PZC beginning November of 1976, Democrat John Hibbard Jr. polled 828 votes to defeat his Republican opponent Monty Champagne with 637.

Democrat Robert Croston with 773 votes defeated Republican Andrew Johnson III with 688 for a seat on the Zoning Board of Appeals beginning this month. For a term on the board incumbent Democrat Robert Owens who polled 710.

The eight communities were the only ones in the state where it was on the ballot.

The legislation is aimed at helping municipalities attract new industry by providing subsidies through local revenue bonds. Critics said it would give taxpayers' money to businessmen who will not be risking their own capital.

Republican opponents David Mar-nicki with 704 and Mark Wetherell with 713.

White's term begins this year and Mortrud's term begins in November, 1976.

Five communities okay development bond referenda

HARTFORD (UPI) — The City and Town Development Act was approved in five of eight cities that carried referenda on the controversial proposal in Tuesday's elections.

Hartford, New Haven, New Britain, Waterbury and Bridgeport approved the act while New London, Norwich and West Haven turned it down.

The eight communities were the only ones in the state where it was on the ballot.

The legislation is aimed at helping municipalities attract new industry by providing subsidies through local revenue bonds. Critics said it would give taxpayers' money to businessmen who will not be risking their own capital.

Hebron seniors meet

EVELYN CROSTON
228-9561

The Commission on the Aging invites all senior citizens to a "10 cents a dip" luncheon Thursday at 12:30 p.m. at the parish hall of the Glend Congregational Church.

Proceeds from the luncheon will aid the senior citizens programs.

The commission wants the senior citizens ideas. What do they need? How can the commission help them? How can they help the community?

Senior citizen gold cards will be at the luncheon.

After the luncheon there will be an exhibit and demonstration of minerals and semi-precious stones.

Appointment

Gov. Ella Grasso announced John E. Hibbard of Hebron is one of 12 recent appointments to the state Solid Waste Management Advisory Council.

News for senior citizens
By WALLY FORTIN

Hello there, it's that time again. Our gang had a wonderful time at Brown's Hotel last week. The weather was nice, the food excellent, and there was more than enough action. The rooms were very large, and with all that how could one help but enjoy themselves. If anyone didn't I would say it was their own fault. Already there is talk about a return trip, and our tentative plans will call for around the week following Labor Day. Many of the members still like good old Wildwood, New Jersey, and we go there around the first of June, so come Labor Day we should be ready to go again.

While we were away, the action here at the center went on as usual, and things start with what happened last Friday. The mini-bus had to go in for a check up a couple of days, but it's back and running again. In the morning it was kitchen social games with a nice turnout. In the afternoon it was set-back games, and we had 14 tables with the following winners: Dorothy Andry, 147; Wilbrod Messier, 132; Edward Shensie, 130; Clara Hemingway, 127; Gertrude Herrmann and Ann Lehmann, 125; John Gally and Nadine Malcom, 123; Paul Schuetz, Louis Weber, Frances Fike, Alice Morrisette and John Phillips, 122; John Gottschalk, 121 and Bessie Coste, 119.

Speaking of cards, tomorrow morning (Thursday) we will be starting our pinocchio and set-back classes. Sessions start at 10 o'clock in the morning, and will last until 11:30. Speaking of Thursday, after our regular hot meal of stuffed cabbage and all the trimmings, our Fun-Day upstairs will be featuring Attorney Sandra Reich who will speak on Senior Citizens Projects of the Neighborhood Legal Services, Inc.

On Monday we had 88 playing our kitchen social games, and with this being the first of the month we had our new volunteers in action. Ernest Irwin and Anna Haupt were the new bingo callers. Elias Hirsch and Ann Rice passed out the bingo cards. In the kitchen, Celi Wandt, Ann Thompson, Agnes Halpryn and Peggy Thierren will be passing out the refreshments.

After lunch we moved upstairs for pinocchio, and we had sixty three players, and the lucky winners were: Lee Steinmeyer, 690; Fritz Wilkinson, 681; Marie Hebestreit, 680; Louise Kohls, 669; Leon Fallot, 665; Bess Moonan, 652; Ann Thompson, 650; Wilbur Messier, 649; Violet Dion, 648; Edward Shensie and Lyla Steele, 647; Peter Frey, 642; Gertrude Herrmann, 638; Ann Fisher and Ann Lehmann, 635 and Grace Moore, 634.

By the way, we haven't been signing up for any trips for awhile, so we can't let that go any longer. We think we have a nice one day trip for you.

The trip will be for Dec. 11 to Restland Farms. It will be a Christmas Party for seniors. You will have a complete sit-down dinner with a choice of roast sirloin of beef, or baked boneless breast of chicken with champagne sauce. Santa Claus will be there. You will drink eggnog, eat candy canes, and sing and dance plus watch entertainment. All of this for $10.00. Registration is this coming Wednesday.

Foreign tourists increase

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Many more foreign tourists are coming to the see the United States this year than last, the Commerce Department reported.

Commerce reported that for the first eight months of 1975, the United States had 11.3 million foreign visitors, up 13.7 per cent from the same period in 1974.

New computer may slow down regional business outflow

BOSTON (UPI) — The annual $2.6 billion business flow out of New England may be slowed by a new computer service which could create 8,000 to 10,000 new jobs, according to a senior vice president of the First National Bank of Boston.

Working primarily with the metalworking, woodworking and plastics industries, the England Manufacturers Exchange uses the computer service to match up buyers and suppliers and "has already retained $1.5 million worth of business which would have gone outside the region," said Dr. James M. Howell.

"When a potential buyer needs a specific product or service, he contacts NEMEX, which queries the computer file," said NEMEX Project Manager Charles H. Khuen. "An engineer reviews the resulting printout and recommends appropriate suppliers to the buyer."

"The service is completely free to the buyers," said David A. Rich of NEMEX. "But, within the next 60 days we're going to have to start charging the suppliers, probably a yearly listing of $500."

NEMEX, which has a computer data bank of more than 1,000 suppliers "eventually hopes to have 5,000 corporations taking advantage of its services," Khuen said.

"In most cases, within 24 hours, the buyer will receive a list of qualified New England suppliers," said Khuen, who noted "we will also be actively pursuing buyers outside New England."

If a supplier is a member of the exchange, "it makes him a little more 'bankable' because it means he has a steadier flow of business," said Howell whose bank helped set up the exchange.

Republicans win Coventry

By MONICA SHEA 742-9495

Yesterday's election gives Coventry its first five-two Town Council with the Republicans in control. The five-two split became possible during the passage of a charter revision during the last municipal election in 1973.

Republican Town Council winners are Jesse Brainard with 1134 votes, Robert Olmstead with 1089, Robert Keller with 1083, Leonard Giglio with 1050, and Douglas Whipple with 974. Democratic Town Council winners are Jack Myles with 1044, and William McEwen with 970.

The only Democratic incumbent seeking re-election was Al Carilli who lost by 19 votes with a total of 951 votes. Democratic Town Council candidates Daniel Manley with 878 and Sandra Marrotte with 868 were also losers.

Board of Education All four members of the Board of Education seeking re-election were automatically elected. Votes were Joan Lewis with 1035, Jacob Wisenall with 1027, Sue Brainard with 1042, and Tom Gillung with 939.

The Board of Tax Review will retain control of the Board of Education with four Democratic and three Republicans.

The Board of Tax Review will go to the Republicans with winners James Ladd, 1069; Mildred Hittgreen, 1108; and minority representation provided by George Bolduc with 985. Other Board of Tax Review candidates Roland Green had 1008 votes and John Cagnello, 947.

Zoning Board of Appeals The Zoning Board of Appeals will also be Republican controlled and the winners are Republicans Francis Perrotti, 1041; Donald Smith, 1156; David Knight, 1092; and Democrats George Coon, 1127; and Charles Raich, 976.

Zoning Board of Appeals candidates Volney "Sam" Blodgett had 889 votes and Robert Visney, 1063. Zoning Board of Appeals alternate positions will go to Republicans Fredrick White, 1055 and Robert Ford, 1114 and Democrat John Ryan, 966.

Losing ZBA alternate candidates were Gary Doppsalf with 1041 and Sandra Bastarache with 915.

Write-ins Write-in votes for the town council included Margaret Jacobson, Frank Funk, Libby Couch, Henry Grabowski and Claire Connelly.

Board of Education write-in votes were two for Roslyn Kornfeld and George Ross, and one each for Vincent Moriety and Richard Breault.

The largest write-in vote was 13 for Doty Thissal for the Zoning Board of Appeals.

The Republicans won the election even though the Republican Town Committee has been without a chairman for some months.

Vote turnout Voter turnout throughout the day was very light with only 23 per cent of eligible voters voting by 3 p.m. At 6 p.m. that level had reached 37 per cent and at poll closing only 52 per cent, or 2116 persons.

Brainard's plan Jesse Brainard, high vote getter and the next chairman of the Town Council said, "We ran our campaign on certain issues."

"It seems to me that an early order of business will be to review the position of the town manager. I see no immediate changes in the position of town manager."

"Another early item of business will be charter revision. The new Town Council will meet tonight at 7:30 elected officers for the next two years."

Volunteer workers needed

The South Windsor Community Thrift Shop on Sullivan Avenue needs help. Volunteers are asked to donate three hours a week. Proceeds benefit community projects.

"FACTS YOU SHOULD KNOW ABOUT PERMANENT WAVES"

Q. Is there a difference in permanent wave lotions?

A. Yes, there are new innovations in lotions that have quite recently changed the whole technique of permanent waving.

Q. Will a perm ruin my hair?

A. First of all we must emphasize before getting a perm, hair should be in good condition. It would be compounding problems to start with hair in poor health. However the new non-alkaline heat wave we can assure that your hair will be left in as good condition after the perm as it was before it. A good professional would also recommend a follow up of conditioning treatments and proper shampoos to be used at home to maintain the curl and condition of your hair.

Q. What make a good perm?

A. The professional people behind it. When you buy a perm you are not buying a box off the shelf as you would in the drug store. What you are buying is the knowledge of the professionals behind the perm.

WHATEVER KIND OF CURL YOU'RE LOOKING FOR... BODY SUPPORT OR CURLY... WE HAVE THE PROFESSIONALS TO CARE FOR YOUR HAIR!

SPECIAL NOTICE TOWN OF MANCHESTER DEPARTMENT OF PUBLIC WORKS SPECIAL NOTICE OF LEAF PICKUP SPECIAL NOTICE

Because of inclement weather the following streets have been rescheduled for leaf collection on the days listed below. In the event of heavy rain on any scheduled collection day, pickup on remaining routes will be postponed one working day. Home owners, on the streets listed below, who wish to have yard leaves collected are requested to rake leaves into the gutter so as to form a windrow the length of the property and confining the leaves in the gutter as much as possible. THIS SHOULD BE DONE ON THE DAY PRIOR to scheduled leaf collection. Property owners are requested to make certain that no foreign objects such as stones, branches, cans or any other material other than leaves or grass are placed in the windrows.

Table with 4 columns: Date, Route, Street List, and Date. Lists streets for leaf pickup on November 24, 25, 26, December 1, and 2.

Dear Abby By Abigail Van Buren DEAR ABBY: I am a 30-year-old bachelor. For the last year I've been going with a very pretty, 28-year-old school teacher...

DEAR ABBY: With Christmas approaching, my in-laws have already started to buy presents for our son (his only grandchild), which presents a problem.

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I are senior citizens. We live in the suburbs and do not drive. My husband says we shouldn't deprive them of this pleasure. I disagree.

DEAR ABBY: I vote with you. If your parents want to indulge the child, suggest that they buy him one gift and start a savings account for him.

Win at Bridge A kingdom for a spade suit A two-spade call would be dangerous. However, if you aren't willing to take chances you shouldn't play bridge.

Win at Bridge A kingdom for a spade suit If East goes back in with two spades he will get a shock. West will take him right to four spades. The shock will be one temporary. One look at the box was one of the many players who let South play to two hearts. South would have no trouble at that contract. He would be sure of eight tricks and probably come home with nine, because at that contract, West would win the first two tricks with the king and queen of clubs. East would go to four with his ace and South make an overtrick.

News summary

Compiled from United Press International

State

HARTFORD — Legislative leaders have decided to postpone a renewed probe of the state's leasing practices by the legislature's Management Committee because they believe leasing reform legislation passed earlier this year is adequate to correct abuses uncovered in prior investigations.

BRIDGEPORT — A federal court has been asked to order desegregation of Bridgeport's public school system to reflect the racial makeup of the community. The suit was filed Wednesday by a group of black and Spanish-speaking residents and the local NAACP chapter.

Regional

PROVIDENCE, R.I. — Vice President Nelson A. Rockefeller might come under consideration for the presidency of Ivy League Brown University, according to Vernon R. Alden, chairman of the presidential search committee. Rockefeller's father was an 1887 Brown graduate and a heavy contributor to the school.

CONCORD, N.H. — President Ford is considering passing up Colorado to spend his Christmas ski holiday at the Loom Mountain resort built and run by Sherman Adams, former New Hampshire governor and top aide in the Eisenhower administration.

National

WASHINGTON — CIA Director William Colby resumed his shuttle to Capitol Hill today on a business-as-usual basis after President Ford asked him to carry on with "full authority" until his successor, Ambassador to Red China George Buz, is confirmed.

NEW YORK — Robert Sarroff, in a surprise move, has resigned as chairman and chief executive officer of the RCA Corp., ending more than a half century of Sarroff family involvement in the firm. The resignation takes effect Dec. 31.

WASHINGTON — Little has been done to rid America's cities of dangerous air pollution and unless major changes are made, Deputy Environmental Protection Agency chief John Quaresima believes the problem may never be brought under control. He says clean air deadlines this year were not met because of dependence on the automobile did not slacken.

NEW YORK — Nurses at Bellevue Hospital began a "sickout" job action today, apparently in protest against staff cutbacks, hospital officials said. The hospital is not accepting emergency cases and it canceled its operating room schedule.

International

GENEVA — The United States, disenchanted with the way the International Labor Organization works, today notified the United Nations agency it intends to withdraw. Two years advance notice is required. The ILO depends on the United States for one-fourth of its budget which is $60 million this year. AFL-CIO president George Meany is credited with pressuring the U.S. action.

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina — Ailing President Isabel Peron says she won't resign despite demands from critics that she stand aside.

MADRID, Spain — Generalissimo Francisco Franco's doctors admitted today that he was unable to stem the kidney failure, uremic poisoning and blood clots pushing him closer to death. Franco was placed on a kidney machine but his condition remained grave.

Jai alai scandal hearing opened by gaming agency

NEWINGTON (UPI) — A public hearing expected to unveil details of one of Connecticut's worst scandals opened today with Bridgeport jai alai fronton operator David Friend expected to take the stand.

The Connecticut Commission on Special Revenues is holding the hearing to determine whether it should lift the gambling license it granted to Friend, a Hollywood, Fla., banker. The fronton had been held at the hotel in February and March 1974.

State police say Friend told investigators that a $200,000 payment was made to John M. Bailey, the late Democratic state chairman, in Hartford in April of 1974.

Silvergield rejected eight motions by Friend's attorneys and ordered the hearing to proceed. The first witness was Thomas McGinnis, general manager of the Hartford Hilton, who testified that Friend and two other individuals involved in the fronton operation stayed at the hotel in February and March 1974.

Friend, owner of the $14 million facility, was scheduled to take the stand after the preliminary matters were taken care of. Chief State's Attorney Joseph T. Gormley, representing the commission, said Wednesday he expects that witnesses who balk at a questioning will be granted immunity and will be forced to testify.

Gormley said the immunity would not prevent him from prosecuting convicted criminals, since he gathered what he considered sufficient evidence for conviction before the hearings started.

About 25 persons were subpoenaed to the hearing but Gormley said he expected to hear today only from Friend, William Moy, a Hollywood, Fla., restaurateur, and officials of Hartford's Hilton and Sonesta hotels. A grand jury investigation, held in closed sessions, will recess for the duration of the commission hearings on the gambling license, expected to last two weeks.

Among the charges against Bridgeport Jai Alai — any one of which would be sufficient grounds for lifting its license — are making false statements to the commission and a existence of an owner's contact with two known organized crime figures. Gormley said he planned to produce records from four Connecticut banks relating to the jai alai operation. They were Connecticut National Bank, Connecticut Bank and Trust, Lafayette Bank of Bridgeport,

Washington (UPI) — Increases in the costs of steel and new cars drove up overall wholesale prices by 1.8 per cent in October, the biggest monthly increase in a year, the Labor Department said today. The increase in government's Wholesale Price Index, which translates into a double-digit annual rate of 21.6 per cent, soon will be felt by consumers in the retail prices they pay for goods and services.

For the past three months combined, prices have increased at a compounded annual rate of 13.5 per cent. The increase last month was the biggest since October, 1974, when wholesale prices jumped 2.9 per cent. The prices of industrial commodities, which make up 70 per cent of all the items measured, were up a substantial 1.2 per cent — also the biggest increase in a year. This was caused primarily by price increases for steel and other metals, textile goods and the 1976 model automobiles.

Although prices paid to farmers fell in October, the costs of farm products and foods jumped 1.7 per cent, led by increases in the prices of leaf tobacco, fluid milk, live poultry and vegetables, the department said.

Health insurance plan endorsed by labor chief

WASHINGTON (UPI) — AFL-CIO President George Meany said today a $100 billion bill to provide health insurance for everyone would cost no more than is being spent to buy health care for only some people.

Meany endorsed a national health security bill that would provide universal coverage without excluding any services or requiring individuals to make additional payments. It would be financed out of payroll taxes matched by general government revenues.

The labor leader acknowledged that a $100 billion price tag on the bill tends to frighten people. But he said the price tag "is both its biggest drawback and the major source of the program's strength."

"If health security were enacted tomorrow, its cost would not be $100 billion in addition to the $100 billion now being spent — as some of its opponents would like you to believe," Meany said. "Its cost would be the same $100 billion that is now being spent."

Health security would take the same money that is being spent today for health care for some individuals, and use it to purchase health care for everyone. Under any program — even one priced at $2 billion and the administration plan to spend $8 billion — the nation will still be spending $100 billion for health care, Meany said. "The difference between all national health insurance proposals is how that pie is divided up."

Under the health security bill, he said, the total cost will be "clearly visible," it will be used to the benefit of everyone and future costs can be controlled under a single budget.

Contest for deputy mayor erupts

JUDY KUEHNEL 644-1364 South Windsor Democratic councilmen met Wednesday night for five and a half hours at a closed meeting in an attempt to resolve the battle over the deputy mayor's spot on the Town Council.

Mrs. Sandra Bender, the highest vote getter in Tuesday's election, will serve as mayor. But the second highest vote getter, Robert Myette, was battling for the position he says, "The people voted me into."

Wholesale prices up

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Increases in the costs of steel and new cars drove up overall wholesale prices by 1.8 per cent in October, the biggest monthly increase in a year, the Labor Department said today.

For the past three months combined, prices have increased at a compounded annual rate of 13.5 per cent. The increase last month was the biggest since October, 1974, when wholesale prices jumped 2.9 per cent.

Although prices paid to farmers fell in October, the costs of farm products and foods jumped 1.7 per cent, led by increases in the prices of leaf tobacco, fluid milk, live poultry and vegetables, the department said.

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Vice President Nelson A. Rockefeller said today he decided not to be President Ford's running-mate in 1976 because he had come to Washington "to serve the country I love... I didn't come down to be caught up in party squabbles."

Rockefeller said he came to Washington "to serve the country I love and to help in solving the problems that we face. But I didn't come down to be caught up in party squabbles that make it more difficult for the President at a time when the problems of the country require" his closest attention.

Rockefeller said the differences of opinion he had with Ford over federal aid to financially strapped New York City had nothing to do with his decision. He said Ford had not written off New York state in 1976 by his refusal to help New York.

MMH auxiliary auction Saturday

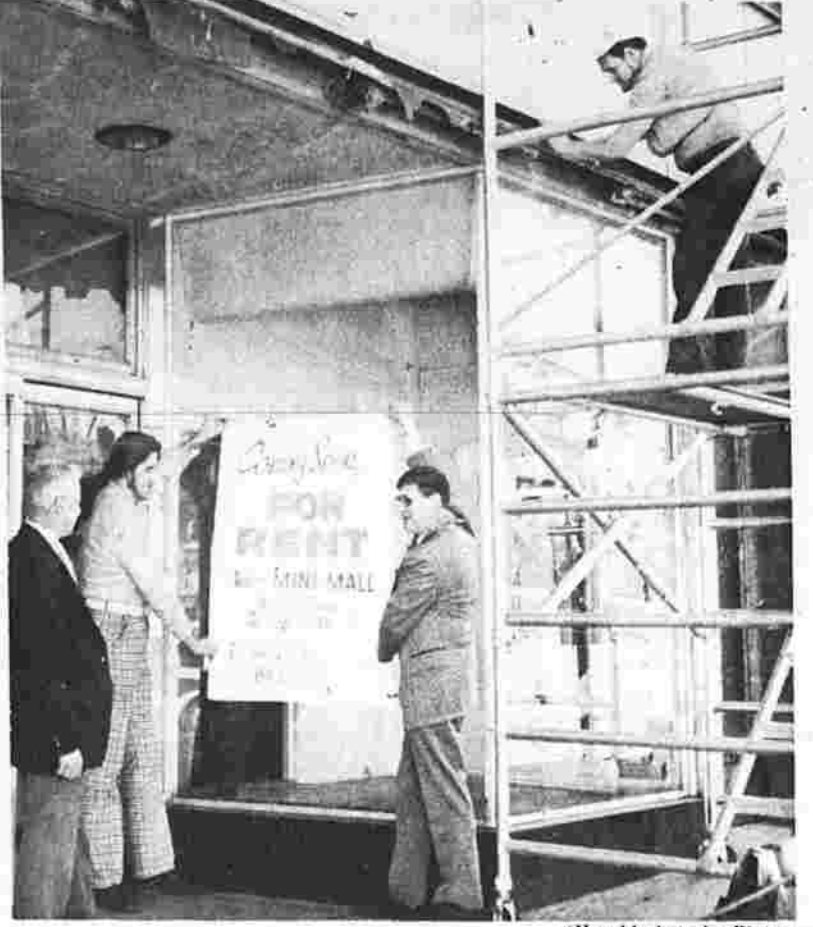

The contents of about 50 rooms in eight houses will be sold at public auction Nov. 8 by the Auxiliary of Manchester Memorial Hospital. The auction will begin at 10 a.m. in the National Guard Armory on Main St., with a preview showing at 9.

The houses the items come from belong to the hospital. Proceeds from the auction will benefit the hospital. Formerly occupied by interns, the houses are no longer needed for that purpose since the intern program has ceased. The houses will be renovated to provide rental income to the hospital.

Mr. Abraham Kilbanoff, chairman of the auction, reminds those attending to bring their own chairs. Sales will be cash only. Refreshments will be available. Other committee chairmen are: Mrs. Herbert Snyder, maintenance; Mrs. Leo Charendoff, security; Mrs. William Roscoe, telephone; and Mrs. Arthur Stewart, promotion.

Building getting refurbished

Buckland petition meeting set for Friday evening

A special meeting of Eighth District voters is scheduled for Friday at 7:30 p.m. in Bentley School, Hollister St., to consider a petition on a petition to extend district boundaries into the Buckland area for fire service.

Although Friday night's meeting is expected to be adjourned to Nov. 17, so that voting on the proposal could be by referendum on voting machines, those district voters who wish to discuss the pros and cons of the controversial issue are being urged by district officials to attend Friday night and voice their opinions.

Rockefeller bowed out to avoid party squabbles

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Vice President Nelson A. Rockefeller said today he decided not to be President Ford's running-mate in 1976 because he had come to Washington "to serve the country I love... I didn't come down to be caught up in party squabbles."

Rockefeller said he came to Washington "to serve the country I love and to help in solving the problems that we face. But I didn't come down to be caught up in party squabbles that make it more difficult for the President at a time when the problems of the country require" his closest attention.

Rockefeller said the differences of opinion he had with Ford over federal aid to financially strapped New York City had nothing to do with his decision. He said Ford had not written off New York state in 1976 by his refusal to help New York.

Taking an inventory of the contents of houses owned by Manchester Memorial Hospital for an auction is Mrs. Eillian Hunter as Bob Fluckiger, auctioneer, assists. The items will be auctioned Nov. 8 to the public in the National Guard Armory on Main St. Mrs. Hunter will be a coordinator for the runners at the auction. (Herald photo by Dunn) the best early american dining in town can be right at home

What could be more enjoyable than a good old New England dinner served up by Mom and shared by the family and friends?
