Plans to lease court space near final
Plans for leasing the former Administration Building to the State of Connecticut for use as the Common Pleas Court are in the final stages.

State and judicial department representatives have said only minor changes will make the building suitable.

The court is now using office space in the People's Bank building owned by the town. Court is conducted in the Memorial Building next door.

The Administration Building will provide both a courtroom and office for the court, plus space for a family relations office and offices for the probation officers. Former mayor Frank McCoy said it is also adequate for both male and female prisoners.

The council room in the building has, in past years, housed the former circuit court sessions. Plans are to remove the railing from that room and have the judge's dias moved from the Memorial Building and installed and to remove a non-weight van in what was the planning and engineering office.

He said there may be other things necessary such as carpeting, painting and other small items before the court moves in.

The rental and length of term of the lease will have to be negotiated and will be subject to approval of the Town Council.

The town presently receives $14,952 from the state for the lease of the court room in the Memorial Building.

Bald eagle over Rham Hebron
A Rham High School junior, Jeff Bombard, spotted a rarely seen bald eagle soaring about 600 feet in the sky during an outdoor meteorology class Thursday.

His science teacher, Mark Veldamanni, quickly set up a six-inch reflecting telescope outside and identified the reddish-brown bird with a white head and tail.

According to Robert Moeller, director of the Sharon Audubon Center, early November is the prime time in Connecticut for eagle migration.

Ornithologist Nobel Proctor of Branford, who keeps extensive bird-sighting records, said more eagles have been seen this fall near New Haven than in previous years.

"So far this fall we've had three bald eagles and three golden eagles sighted in the New Haven area," he said.

MARK SKEHAN

East Catholic High Class A cross country champions

East Catholic stunned the experts Friday as it swept to an easy Class B cross country title in CIAC action at Timberline Golf Course in Berlin. Picked to finish at best fifth, the Eagles packed five runners into the top 20 to score an impressive total of 70 points, one of the lowest team scores in recent years. The overwhelming pre-meet favorite, Bethel, performed well with 93 points but it wasn't enough to stop East's team effort.

Estate Coach Dave Kelley wore a wide "I told you so" grin after the meet. When asked about the "upset" he replied, "It was only an upset in other people's minds. The team believed that it would win since last year's finals."

Fortunately for East, it saved its best performance of the year for last. Every runner on the squad had his finest race. Co-Captain Mark Skehan, who was lost to the team for nearly a month earlier this season to injury, ran superbly to finish eighth. Steady junior ace Luke O'Connor finished the victory with excellent 17th and 20th place finishes. Senior Joe Burinskas, who missed the first part of the year with a broken foot, provided insurance for the Eagles taking 32nd place. John Flynn rounded out East's effort.

11th while Co-Captain Joe Stamp put together the best race of his career to take 14th position. The junior duo of Steve Colbert and Eric Lecko sealed

For Kelley, it was a classic case of a team effort. "Everyone on John Flynn to Mark Skehan made it possible. Their mutual encouragement and genuine like and concern for one another made the hard times bearable and the good times great." East started the season with great promise but had few good performances until the past several weeks.

In last Monday's sectionals, East only took third with 106 points while Bethel was destroying the Western Sectional with an amazing low 28 points. Considering that the best runners from three sections competed yesterday, it would've taken an upset with a high fever or a coach with several "secrets" to predict the outcome.

East's "secrets" were not so mysterious but the team insisted that they made the difference to their success. First the team ran the race in spikes after having used them in practice the last three weeks. The runners felt they gave them a decided advantage in footing over the rest of the field which didn't use them. In addition, the team pointed towards their attitude about the sectional meet as a key to their victory.

The sectional was only construed to be a ticket earner to get to the finals and not an end in itself. Because of this the team trained rigorously right up to the sectionals and has basically rested since.

An interesting aspect to East's victory was that the team went the entire season without finishing first in any race which seems to prove that teams win, not individuals. In the finals, the Eagles finished five runners in the top 20 against 24 runners from the other teams.

East's next competition is Friday at the State Open Meet at the Cromwell golf course.

With just under five minutes left in the half, BU's Bruce Rich boosted a 38 yard field goal for the Terrie's final score of the night.

Massachusetts' cheer up 328 yards rushing and completed only one pass in the lopsided verdict.

UConn scored first on a 44 yard field goal by Gerhard Mayer at 1:31 of the first quarter. UConn quarter back Bernie Palmer used the Huskies lead to 10-0 with a touchdown before BU scored early in the second quarter.

Community College x-country champs

One point was the barrier that separated Manchester

Community College and Mattatuck Community College as the Cougars clinched first place in the Fourth annual CCCAA cross country championships yesterday at Northwestern Community College in Winsted. MCC scored 18 team points to Mattatuck's 19.

Collecting the gold medal was Mattatuck's John Scott who traveled the four mile course in 22:04 breaking the 22:43 course record set by MCC's Brian Collins and Bruce Caldwell.

Picking up the silver medal was Collins who led periodically but fell back at the end finishing with a 22:34 mark, 20 seconds behind Scott. Former Stafford High and now Cougar standout, Bud DeChamplain took the bronze prize as he edged teammate Caldwell for third.

Mattatuck gained the next three spots with Art Williams, Bob Boucier and Don Stuart taking fifth, sixth and seventh respectively.

Finishing eighth was Mike Naughton for Tunxis. Tunxis scored 55 points to collected third edging out the host team by 12 points.

The deciding point came when MCC's Edward DeCarli nipped Quinib's Jim Hearn in the last 150 yards for the ninth spot. DeCarli replaced injured runner Jim Wilkie in the fourth position. Wilkie, who injured his jaw in an auto accident Nov. 12, was presented with the team trophy.

Rounding out the scoring for Manchester were Kevin Busque who finished 13th and Peter Smith showing a fine effort coping 21st.

"This was an all out effort and a perfect ending for a superb season," commented first year coach Dick Williams. Williams, track coach at Manchester High, compiled an impressive 17.5 record.

Results: 1. John Scott (M) 22:04 course record, 2. Collins (MCC), 3. DeChamplain (MCC), 4. Caldwell (MCC), 5. Williams (M), 6. Boucier (M), 7. Stuart (M), 8. Naughton (T), 9. DeCarli (MCC), 10. Hearn (Q).

Perhaps all the New England Whalers need to snap out of their losing ways was the return of veteran Don Blackburn to the roster. The 37-year-old former National League rejoined the Whalers and his two assists helped propel the squad to a 8-3 win over Cincinnati. Blackburn will be on the line with Wayne Carlton and Tommy Earl tonight when the Whalers host the Phoenix Roadrunners at 7:30 at the Hartford Civic Center. Kevin Walsh, whaler tub-thumper, reports plenty of good seats are still available. Manchester Police are expected to arrest a member of the Manchester Chapter of Approved Baseball Umpires for mishandling nearly $1,800 in payment for services by members who worked baseball games in the Northern Connecticut Big League last summer. Dolores Paganetti of East Hartford and Chet Wincez of Vernon have been named the most improved female and male golfers in the Ellington Country Club membership for the 1975 season. Wally Cichon, head pro, made the announcement. The most valuable lineman and most valuable back in the Manchester Midget Football League program will be announced Wednesday night at the annual dinner. The Jim Horvath Sportsmanship Award will also be given. Ed Madsen reports.

Scott due with Celtics

Super star Charlie Scott will make his regular NBA season debut with the Boston Celtics Tuesday night at the Hartford Civic Center against the Atlanta Hawks. Scott has been impressive to date with the Celtics. Connie Hawkins, Lou Hudson and Tom Van Arsdale head the Hawks. George Mitchell notes that tickets are available with tap-off time 7:30. Two Squirt Division and two Peeewe Division hockey players from the Manchester league will appear in the between period one-on-one competition during New England Whaler home games later this season. Connie McCurry, former Manchester High performer, has won a starting berth as a halfback with Keene State College this fall. McCurry, hampered by an early season leg injury, leads the New Hampshire school halfbacks in scoring. Keene is currently ranked No. 11 in ew England collegiate circles with a 10-32 record. Surprise of surprise was the major hockey trade yesterday which sent Phil Esposito and Carol Vadnais of the Boston Bruins to the New York Rangers for Brad Park and Jean Ratelle. The Rangers apparently are undergoing a complete rebuilding program. The Bruins' defense has been one of the best in the NHL since the arrival of Bobby Orr. The Bruins' offense was storming through the BU defense, the Connecticut defense stiffen. The Bruins' defense sat BU's quarterback nine times.

The Oilers' front three — Elvin Bethea, Curley Culp and Tody Smith has Bubba Smith ready on the sidelines.

The Steelers have won five in a row and Houston, under first-year coach Bum Phillips, has won four straight since its only loss, a two-point tie to the Oilers last season. Houston's defense held Pittsburgh to 84 yards in the Steelers' final loss of the year.

To test the defenses, Steeler quarterback Terry Bradshaw ranks No. 2 in the AFC in rushing. Franco Harris is third in rushing with 502 yards and Lynn Swann is tied for third in receiving. Rookie fullback Don Hardeman of Houston ranks fifth in rushing with 455 yards. Dan Pastorini has been having a fine season at quarterback for the Oilers and Billy "White Shoes" Johnson has been a gamebreaker with punt and kickoff returns.

In other games Sunday, Atlanta is at Minnesota, Cincinnati at Denver, San Francisco at Los Angeles, Washington at the New York Giants, the New York Jets at Miami, Baltimore at Buffalo, New Orleans at Oakland, St. Louis at Philadelphia, Cleveland at Detroit, New England at San Diego and Green Bay at Chicago. On Monday night, Kansas City is at Dallas.

Luzinski signs
PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — Outfielder Greg Luzinski, who led the major leagues in runs-batted-in this past season with 129, has signed his 1976 contract with the Philadelphia Phillies.

Luzinski had an even .300 batting average with 34 home runs and 153 RBIs. There were 179 runners entered.

Xavier won the team title with 79 points with Torrington second with 188 points and Waterford third with 191.

Undeclared Bennet eleven closes beating Iling, 36-12

Taking the mythical town football title yesterday was undefeated Bennet Junior High with a 36-12 romp over crossstown Iling at Mt. Nebo.

Bennet got off to a flying start on the first play for a 14-0 lead as Bob Walsh rambled 72 yards for a touchdown. Walsh added the extra point. The next time the Bears got the pigskin Walsh dashed 66 yards for another touchdown.

Iling got on the scoreboard on a 46-yard pass play to Gary Burby. Shortly after, Walsh intercepted a pass and returned it 33 yards for his third touchdown of the afternoon.

The Bears struck again on a 36-yard pass play from quarterback Gary Marinace to John Oritelli. Marinace later tossed his second TD aerial, this one going to Moose Tyson. Iling closed out the scoring with a touchdown pass from Doug Ogden to Burby.

Bennet wound up the campaign with a 5-0 mark while Iling went winless in six starts.

Defensive standouts were Brian Daigle and Paul Croteau for the winners.

Tribe thinclands 13th in a Meet

Finishing its 1975 cross country season yesterday was Manchester High. The Indian thinclands placed 13th in a 24-team field at the Class A Meet at Timberline Golf Course in Berlin and missed qualifying for the Open Meet.

Sophomore Wes Fedorchak placed third in the individual standings and missed qualifying for the Open by three places. Junior Captain Glenn Floriof was 58th, George Triant 78th, Bruce Bayles 89th and Eric Knoffel 153rd. There were 179 runners entered.

Jets win finale

Closing out the 21st season of Manchester Midget Football last night were the Jets and Giants at Mt. Nebo with the Jets winning by a 20-6 margin. The Jets wind up with a 2-2 record and the Giants, who won the league championship a year ago, finish 6-5.

The Jets scored in the opening minutes on a 15-yard run by Bob Burke. The Giants came back after the kickoff with Mark Kelley dashing 55 yards for the TD on a draw play.

After the halftime break, the Jets scored midway through the third stanza on a Ted Lingard run behind good line blocking by the B Team. Lingard's touchdown run was good for 82 yards. Vernal Armum added the two-point conversion for a 14-6 edge.

With less than a minute left, Jeff Dolin led the verdict with a three-yard jump. Best for the Jets were Shawn Spers, Berdat, Dolin and Jim Garner. Best for the Giants were Pat Shaw and Kelley.

UConn cruised through the second half, scoring once in the third quarter and three times in the fourth to ice the victory.

While the Huskies' offense was storming through the BU defense, the Connecticut defense stiffen. The Bruins' defense sat BU's quarterback nine times.

The Oilers' front three — Elvin Bethea, Curley Culp and Tody Smith has Bubba Smith ready on the sidelines.

Mason's kickoff returned came on a rushing and completed only one pass in the lopsided verdict.

Houston, Steelers featured

OAKLAND (UPI) — Phil Esposito was not a very good start. I was nervous in my first game in a new uniform. Coming to a new team is a little difficult once the season has started. I was kind of lost out there, but some of the other players helped me. It's a different style that they play in New York.

Shortly after the trade was announced earlier in the day, Esposito, five-time winner of the NHL scoring title and holder of the season scoring record of 76 goals and 152 points in 78 games, was downcast.

"I was crushed," he said when he learned he had been sent packing for the second time in his career.

But after hitting the ice Friday night, he was philosophical.

"Trades are part of the game," he said. "You have to accept it. I was shocked and I'm sure Ratelle, Park and Vadnais were, too. But there's no bitterness."

However, he suggested the NHL consider a trade clause in contracts protecting veteran players.

"I think there should be a rule where after you've been with a team for five or seven years you have some say on trades," he said. "But right now, my goal is to help New York make the playoffs. I never considered turning down the trade. I might have if I could afford to quit, but I can't."

In Vancouver, Ratelle said, "I knew they (the Rangers) wanted younger players and were looking for economic cuts, but it's hard to see why they'd trade two guys like me and Brad. I'm 35, but I was working well, playing well. I'll play in Vancouver but then I've got to sit down and think it over."

After all those other trades (earlier New York traded away three veterans) I thought they might leave us alone," said Park. "I thought they might let us try to prove ourselves and not bother us until we succeeded or failed. I'm just in shock."

In New York, Ranger General Manager Emile Francis, 61, engineered the trade, said, "General Motors and Ford continue to come out with new models and that's what we have set to do. It is time for us to put out a new model."

It left the Rangers with only seven players remaining from the 21-man roster that completed the 1973-74 season.

Boston's Harry Sinden said, "It was the toughest decision I've ever had to make in hockey. However, we felt in the best interest of the Boston Bruins' hockey club for now and the future that this must be done."

In Vancouver, Ratelle said, "I knew they (the Rangers) wanted younger players and were looking for economic cuts, but it's hard to see why they'd trade two guys like me and Brad. I'm 35, but I was working well, playing well. I'll play in Vancouver but then I've got to sit down and think it over."

After all those other trades (earlier New York traded away three veterans) I thought they might leave us alone," said Park. "I thought they might let us try to prove ourselves and not bother us until we succeeded or failed. I'm just in shock."

In New York, Ranger General Manager Emile Francis, 61, engineered the trade, said, "General Motors and Ford continue to come out with new models and that's what we have set to do. It is time for us to put out a new model."

It left the Rangers with only seven players remaining from the 21-man roster that completed the 1973-74 season.

Boston's Harry Sinden said, "It was the toughest decision I've ever had to make in hockey. However, we felt in the best interest of the Boston Bruins' hockey club for now and the future that this must be done."

Rangers deadlocked for cellar position

NEW YORK (UPI) — The New York Rangers got the kind of performance they hoped for from Phil Esposito Friday night—but it wasn't enough.

Esposito who came to the Rangers in a five-player swap with the Boston Bruins earlier in the day, scored two goals and an assist against the California Golden Seals in his debut with his new teammates. But Gary Sabourin had a club record four goals to help the Seals sink the Rangers 7-5.

The loss left the Rangers 5-8-1 and tied for last place in the Patrick Division.

"It was not a very good start," said Esposito, hockey's most prolific scorer who came to the Rangers with the Bruins earlier in the day, scored two goals and an assist against the California Golden Seals in his debut with his new teammates. But Gary Sabourin had a club record four goals to help the Seals sink the Rangers 7-5.

Manchester week in review Town focused on election

Manchester's municipal election Tuesday eclipsed all other news this week with the Democrats sweeping all 17 offices available to them under the minority representation rule and in the process, returning all 17 Democratic incumbents to office.

The Board of Directors will have the same 6 to 3 Democratic control and Republican minority and lineup as before. The incumbent six Democrats and incumbent 3 Republicans all were returned to office.

However, there will be changes. Matt Moriarty Jr., the high voter, is expected to succeed John Thompson as mayor. Thompson is expected to be named deputy mayor and Pascal Prignano, the incumbent deputy mayor, is expected to be named secretary. Phyllis Jackson, the incumbent secretary, finished fourth among the six winning Democrats. Robert Price and Jack Goldberg complete the majority. The board's organizational meeting is Nov. 17.

On the Republican side, Vivian Ferguson was that party's top vote-

Environmental priorities urged

About 350 science education directors, teachers and students from throughout Connecticut were given facts to ponder on the earth's environmental situation at a recent conference at Manchester High School.

Dr. Richard Goodwin, professor of botany and director of the Program in Human Ecology at Connecticut College, New London, spoke on environmental priorities.

He urged his audience to establish their own environmental priorities regarding the methods needed for increasing the survival time of people on earth.

He said that one of the spin-offs from the space ship trip to the moon was the moonshot perspective that developed when people watched on their television screens the planet earth receding into vast black space and viewed the untidy terrain of the surface of the moon.

"They then realized that they can't think of moving off to another planet when the earth gets 'tired,' said Dr. Goodwin.

He questioned whether we are showing as much concern about the survival of four billion people on "space ship earth" as we did for the survival of the several specimens who traveled to the moon.

Dr. Goodwin explained that energy from sunlight runs the living world through food production by plants and that, therefore, anything that man does to reduce the plant cover reduces the carrying capacity of space ship earth.

"Man has been reducing plant cover through his increasing air and water pollution, his building activities and his misuse of land," he said.

"Man may also be reducing plant cover through his release of billions of pounds of freon into the upper atmosphere through his use of aerosol propellants. Freon initiates a series of chemical reactions which result in a decrease in the upper atmosphere of ozone which screens out excess ultra-violet radiation from the earth."

Dr. Goodwin suggested that conference participants consider setting an example for the younger generation to follow in deciding how to increase survival time on earth.

Power Loss Cause Sought
Several towns in the Colchester area including Hebron, Andover, Coventry and East Hampton lost their power today at 6:44 a.m.
State police in the Colchester barracks were working on auxiliary power as late as 10 a.m.
But no one knew why.
Trucks of the Connecticut Light and Power Co. were tracking down the problem without luck during morning rains.

Deputy Chief James R. McKay, center, directs fire fighters as they complete the soaking of smoldering paper in a railroad box car Friday night. (Herald photo by Dunn)

Suspect fire destroys box car, paper rolls

Fire destroyed a box car and its load of 145,000 pounds of rolled paper Friday night where it was parked on rails below the Park St. bridge.
"It wasn't accidental by any stretch of the imagination," said Deputy Chief James McKay today.
Police reported at 6:47 p.m. discovering the box car seals on the doors broken. No one was around at the time and no damage had been done.
At about 8:44 p.m., a Manchester man reported a tire iron was thrown at his car as he drove over the Park St. bridge. He stopped his car, got out, and saw the box car on fire. he told police.
The fire was well under way when fire fighters arrived.
The box car appears to be owned by the Bangor and Aroostook Railroad. Neither police nor the fire fighters could determine right away who owned the paper.
A police officer suggested it belonged to the Kage Co. of 91 Elm St. Ext.
McKay said it looked like the kind of paper used to print telephone books.
In any case, it appears to be useless as of Friday night's fire.

News for Senior Citizens

Hi, I guess the first bit of news is that on Monday morning we will be signing up for a Christmas Party at the Restland Farms for seniors. The party is scheduled for Dec. 11, however, we must register at this time to be assured a reservation. The whole package of $10 will include a full course dinner, entertainment, snacks upon arrival, busfare and what should be a real good fun day. This will be a warm-up for our own regular Christmas Party at the center later on the month.

So, if you are hot to go for another exciting day we'll see you Monday morning as registration starts at 8 o'clock on a first come basis. By the way, we have reservations for two bus loads, but we may be able to take three if we can fill them.

Well, the big election is now history, and time for us to congratulate the winners. It looks like the only change from last month's Board of Directors will be its mayor. Matt Moriarty Jr. came out as the top vote-getter among the candidates running for the board, and we here at the center wish him and all the directors a successful next two years with harmony among the ranks as their key.

Let's see, the action here at the center starts with our Senior Bowling League at the Parkade Lanes with the following winners: In the men's class A group, Andy Lamoureux won both the high triple with 553; and the high single with a 195. In the Class B group, James Ratcliffe won both the high triple and the high single with 425 as high triple and 178 as high single.

In the women's Class A group, Esther Hogan won the high triple with a 451, and for the high single, Esther Hogan and Marie Bolis tied with a 165. In the Class B group, Peggy Strauss won the high triple with a 325, and the high single was won by Fred Buckler with a 124.

On Wednesday morning we had 12 tables for pinochle with the lucky winners being: John Gally, 621; Emma Russell, 609; Joseph Windsor, 599; Wesley Frost, 585; Grace Windsor and Jennie Fogarty, 579; Wilbur Messier, 566; Al Gates, 561; Lyla Steele, 555; Mary Thrall, 544; Lillian Lewis, 540 and Paul Schuetz, 535.

Along with that we had our regular nice turnout for our crewel embroidery class. In the afternoon in the main hall we held our bridge games with 20 players and these are the winners: Marjorie McLain, 5-290; George Last, 4,480; Jack Owen, 4,400; Irene Foisy, 4,060, and Ivy Suddell, 3,910.

Meanwhile downstairs the arts and crafts class of some 20 members were busy making many lovely items for our up and coming craft fair on Dec. 4.

Thursday morning we started our pinochle classes with 30 members participating. We want to thank our volunteer instructors, Ann Thompson, Marjorie McLain, Harold and Ann Lehmann, Anna Haupt, Emma Russell, Agnes Halpryn, Gloria and yours truly.

In the afternoon we had delicious stuffed cabbage dinner, and after this we went upstairs to hear Mrs. Sandra Reich speak about the Senior Citizens' Project. She told the seniors what services were available to them and answered the questions asked. We closed with card playing and shuffleboard.

Back to arts and crafts for a minute. Next Wednesday in addition to our regular crafts we'll be making some more of those popular outdoor mats.

Jumping back to Tuesday, we want to remind you that our square dance class is held in the morning starting at 9 o'clock, and there are a few openings. If you would like to join, drop by Tuesday. Not next Tuesday because it is a holiday and the building will be closed for Veteran's Day.

The menus for the week are: Monday, spaghetti and meat sauce, tossed salad, homemade cookies, and a beverage. Wednesday, Old-fashioned cabbage soup, grilled ham and cheese, chilled pudding with whipped cream, and a beverage. Thursday, baked fresh haddock with a cheese sauce, rice pilaf, glazed fresh carrots, rolls and butter, sherbert, and a beverage. Friday, French onion soup with croutons, grilled hamburger, chilled jello with whipped cream and a beverage.

Sen. Jackson critical of Ford appointments

SPRINGFIELD, Mass. (UPI) — Sen. Henry Jackson, D-Wash., says President Ford has put control of the nation's defense in the hands of politicians.
"For the first time a president wants us to have our national security institutions run by men whose paramount concerns are their own political futures — and his," Jackson said Friday, referring to President Ford's administration shakeup.

Ford named George Bush, former Republican National Chairman and envoy to the People's Republic of China, to replace William Colby as head of the Central Intelligence Agency. He tapped Donald Rumsfeld, a presidential aide, as defense secretary in place of James Schlesinger.

Jackson, a declared candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination, said he was unsure he could vote to confirm Ford's most recent choices.

"On the basis of my present knowledge, I am not at all sure I can support the confirmation of both, or either," he told the New England Society of Newspaper Editors, who only hours before had met with Ford.
"Let us be honest about it," Jackson continued. "Don Rumsfeld and George Bush cannot hold a candle to James Schlesinger and Bill Colby in terms of judgment, knowledge or intellectual ability."

"He (Ford) silenced within our own government, officials who raised the tough questions and who were not content with shallow rhetoric for the answer," Jackson said.

He charged Ford, in Bush and Rumsfeld, had picked men with their own political ambitions.

"But dangling the prospect of the vice presidency before both Mr. Rumsfeld and Mr. Bush, President Ford is trying to insure neither one of them will speak his mind," Jackson said.

Melvin Lumpkin, music teacher, leads the junior high school chorus during a class session in the carpeted platformed choral room in the Cheney Building.

Laminated butcher-block on top of student work cabinet provide plenty of space for working ceramic projects in the new art area at Bennet.

A new look at Bennet

Students work on art projects in the newly equipped art area in the Cheney Building.

The new look at Bennet Junior High School is completed after more than a year of renovating and new building.

Perhaps the biggest facelifting job was achieved in the old trade building on School St., now called the Cheney Building.

The building that once housed power machines and tools for trade training now has carpeted floors, ample lighting, colorful decor and an air of freshness.

Adding to the Bennet complex is a brand new building, as yet unnamed, that provides a gym and library besides study and classroom areas.

Two open houses within the past year have permitted the public and alumni of the junior high school and former Manchester High School to visit their old alma mater with its new look.

A class is in progress in one of the new double classrooms in the new building at Bennet. A folding partition allows two classes to watch a film at the same time, or enjoy a joint classroom activity. (Herald photos by Pinto)

Stamps and coins

By Russ MacKendrick

More International Women's Year stamps — eight names drawn from a very British hat by the crown colony of Seychelles. Only Joan of Arc and Eleanor Roosevelt came from elsewhere.

Some unfamiliar ones — Gladys Aylward, missionary, on the 15-cent value; next, Elizabeth Fry, prison reformer; Emmeline Pankhurst, an early suffragette; Florence Nightingale we all know, and on the one-rupee, Amy Johnson, obviously an aviatrix.

If you have already tracked down Diego Garcia on the globe because of the recent brouhaha, then Seychelles is easy — just two inches to the left, in the direction of Madagascar. It is made up of 92 islands, plus coral reefs, and 60,000 inhabitants.

The principal exports are copra and cinamon products. They have at least two flora-and-fauna claims-to-fame: The giant land tortoises on the island of Aldabra (up to 600 pounds, rivaling the Galapagos living tanks) and also the exotic coco-de-mer.

This last, the sea-coconut, was so called because for many centuries it was seen only when washed up on the beaches of Ceylon and India. It is the largest tree-grown fruit, 40-50 pounds, and takes seven years to ripen. The famous English general, Chinese Gordon, thought that one of the islands, Praslin, once contained the Garden of Eden and the coco-de-mer was the forbidden fruit. He made up a coat of arms that is still used, with a design of the Aldabra tortoise and the coco-de-mer palm tree.

Seychellians have issued more than 300 stamps, starting in 1890. But unless you crave 114 tiny profiles of Queen Victoria, son and grandson, you might as well start your collection with the Silver Jubilees of 1935. In 1938-41 there was a colorful set of 24 with many appearances of the coco palm and the tortoise. Still later stamps show more native wildlife — the flying fox (really a bat) and a rare black parrot that is found only on Praslin island. There was a souvenir map-sheet pinpointing the Seychelles in 1971 and very recently they dashed off four overprints to mark the visit of the cruise ship, the QE II — a rare occasion.

Epic work ready

Described as an epic work, the "Coin World Almanac" is hot off the press. It was ten years and thousands of person-hours in the making. It opens with a review of numismatic news-breaks since 1970, then the story of the Bicent coinage, a listing of the Bi-bi medals, numismatic laws and bills, a history of the U.S. Mint, and a world coin chronology. It seeks to cover the whole schmeer of coin-dom in its 834 pages. Cost — plenty, for a paperback — $10.

Waltz offered

Did you ever hear, or hear of, The Philatelic Waltz? There is a Robert Stolz recording of it that is to be a throw-in along with any order for 50 FDC's with stamps from the controversial flag sheet. (Ernwood Philatelics, Salem, N.H.)

For Methodists

There is even a Methodist Philatelic Society. Info on membership per recent Linn's obtainable from Les Hebditch, 27 Kingsmead Close, Arle, Cheltenham, Glos. GL51 0AW, England. (Luv that address!)

Bay State show

WALPEX '75 starts on the 14th at Regis College, Weston, Mass. right after the first-day ceremonies there for the 24-cent Old North Church regular issue stamp. It is to be a three-day show (Waltham club) — daring to conflict with our MANPHIL '75 on the 16th.

Local meeting

The Manchester Philatelic Society meets Tuesday the 11th, at Mott's Community Hall, 7 to 10 p.m. Program pending. Everybody welcome.

Ask Kleiner
By Dick Kleiner

DEAR DICK: Who decides the rating of the shows? I am a member of the American Association of University Women and a member of the Delta Kappa Gamma Society (an honorary association of key teachers). Neither of these groups has ever been asked to rate the programs. Why? — SARAH-LOUISE DEEMING, DeLand, Fla.

Each of the rating services has a closely-guarded sample of the American public that they gather viewing information from. Their samples are designed to be a true cross-section of the public. You have to take their word for it, because they'll never tell exactly whom they poll. Chances are you and your friends will never be asked; you sound too intelligent.

DEAR DICK: Anything you could tell me about actor Oliver Reed would be very much appreciated. Something strangely mystical happens to me when I have the good fortune to look upon him. Does he reside in England? And, getting down to the nitty-gritty, is he married? Happily? (You could tactfully avoid answering the above two questions if you felt the answers might wound a young woman's heart.) — ANNE MACLEOD, Summerside, P.E.I., Can.

The answers may not wound your heart, only slightly damage it. Reed isn't married, although he does have a girl friend at the moment. He lives in England, in an old Victorian manor which was once a monastery. For fun, he breeds jumping horses and currently has 15 in his stable. He just finished his first American film, "Burnt Offerings," and is now making a movie in England. In December, he's due in Mexico for yet another role.

DEAR DICK: I hear John Denver will film his first feature this fall. Can you tell me more about it? Also, has he a new album and, if so, what is the name of it? — CINDY WILSON, Bay Minette, Ala.

There are two Denver films planned, but so far, he can't find the time to do them. One is a remake of "Mr. Smith Goes to Washington," the second is a musical version of "Johnny Appleseed." But it will be a while, if ever, before they are made — John just isn't available at the moment. He has a new RCA album out, "Windsong," and a Christmas album, "Rocky Mountain Christmas," is due soon.

DEAR DICK: I think John Denver is the greatest! Can you tell me the name of the first song that he wrote? Also how old is he? — MRS. BARBARA COCOLA, Stockton, Ca.

John started out writing songs for the Chad Mitchell Trio, but his first memorable hit was done for Peter, Paul and Mary — "Travelling on a Jet Plane." He's in his early 30s.

DEAR DICK: I watch The Six Million Dollar Man all the time and wonder — is it possible for the government to make a bionic man? Is there actually an operation where a man could have bionic arms, legs, eyes or any part of the body? Do you think in several years from now it would be just a minor operation? — CECILIA QUEENER, Robertsdale, Ala.

Someday, maybe. Not now. They're getting there, with the ability to transplant organs and replace chopped-off fingers and such. But, no, there's no way science can today make a bionic man.

DEAR DICK: I was wondering about The Six Million Dollar Man. In the show, he was planning on getting married. Can you tell me if he is still going to get married? — TERRY SPIEGEL, Killeen, Tex.

Good old bionic Steve Austin and his bionic girl friend (two episodes last year, two episodes this year) called it quits when she lost her memory and couldn't recall their big romance. The fade-out left her with a crush on her doctor (Richard Lenz). But the door was left open for the romance between Steve (Lee Majors) and Jamie (Lindsay Wagner) to be resumed. Problem is that Miss Wagner is anxious to play movie roles and is not interested in playing Jamie any more.

DEAR DICK: Could you please tell me who played Lana Turner's maid's daughter in the movie, "Imitation of Life." My friend says it was Natalie Wood. I say it was someone else. — DOROTHY CALUB, Metairie, La.

You win this round. The part was played by Susan Kohner.

DEAR DICK: Could you please tell me who sings the song on The Family Holvak, and if it's the same person who sang the song for the show, Sierra? — JERRY BRINK, Brush Valley, Pa.

Denny Brooks is the voice who sings The Family Holvak's theme, "Look How Far We've Come." And, yes, Brooks also sang the Sierra theme. Since both shows did poorly, maybe poor Denny will become known as "The Voice of Death."

Gift to art museum

The oil-on-canvas triptych, "Punch and Judy," by Gerrit Hondius, has been donated to the William Benton Museum of Art at the University of Connecticut by the artist's widow. The center panel features the title subjects, with a hanged puppet in the right panel and male and female puppets seated at a table in the left panel. The painting is one of six important works, five of them by Hondius, recently given to the museum.

Art school faculty shows large variety

Heroes in American film come in two distinctly different categories: The typical hero, championing virtue and a rightful cause; and the anti-hero as seen in gangsters, spies and rebels, with or without a cause.

The anti-hero is the subject of "The Great Gangsters (Film Noir)," the current film program in the Wadsworth Atheneum's series "The American Cinema: A Survey 1896-1976," being screened this month.

Two classics of American cinema will be seen tonight at 7:30 at the Atheneum Theatre in Hartford. Edward G. Robinson typecast himself for years to come with his stunning portrait of "Little Caesar," made in 1931. Humphrey Bogart and Mary Astor have an unforgettable encounter in "The Maltese Falcon," directed by John Huston in 1941.

"The Great Gangsters" will continue through November with such outstanding films as "Public Enemy" with James Cagney and Humphrey Bogart, "Double Indemnity" with Barbara Stanwyck and Fred MacMurray, "The Godfather" with Marlon Brando and Al Pacino, and "Bonnie and Clyde" with Faye Dunaway and Warren Beatty.

Tickets may be obtained at the Atheneum Theatre box office shortly before each performance. The Atheneum's Bicentennial film program will continue through June with a different series each month and is supported by a grant from the National Endowment for the Arts.

Anti-heroes of film in Atheneum series
