School plan forum set

A public forum on alternative recommendations for the Master Plan for Vocational and Career Education will be held in Hartford Public High School Thursday.

The first session will begin at 4 p.m. and recess at 6 p.m. The second session will run from 7:30 to 9 p.m. Preparation of a five-year Master Plan for Vocational and Career Education was ordered by the 1975 session of the General Assembly.

The ceremonies will take place in the second floor foyer, followed by refreshments served in the adjacent Hearing Room.

Just 31 shares of stocks were traded on the New York Stock Exchange on March 17, 1830, the slowest day in the history of the Exchange.

Checking articles for Christmas sale

Handmade articles, which will be featured Friday at the annual Christmas sale at the Zion Evangelical Lutheran Church parish house, Cooper and High Sts., are being checked by Mrs. Donald Long, left, of Boston Hill Rd., Andover, and Mrs. Jack Soares of 528 Wetherell St. The sale, sponsored by the Ladies Aid Society of the church, will start at 6 p.m. A spaghetti supper will be served from 5 to 6 in the church basement. Coffee and cake will be available during the sale. (Herald photo by Dunn)

Highway 'trade offs' discussed at conservation agency session

Two highway experts Monday night told the Conservation Commission about possible "trade offs" in the building and rebuilding of I-84 and I-86 near the East Hartford line.

The first allowed for entry from Spencer St. onto the westbound lanes. But its lanes cut deeply into the pond area.

Another trade is two lanes of travel for two bus and car pool lanes. Gubala praised the idea of the bus connection to the Putnam Bridge in Glastonbury area.

Employee leaves granted

The Manchester Board of Education has approved three school employee requests for leaves of absence and has made two appointments to fill teacher vacancies in the school system.

A maternity leave of absence for Mrs. Carolyn Bellingham, a third-grade teacher at Robertson School. The leave, due to personal reasons, is from Oct. 31 to Jan. 2.

A maternity leave of absence, starting Jan. 5, 1976, for Mrs. Mary Ann Steinkecker, a fourth grade teacher at Waddell School.

A new environmental impact study is being done on the proposals discussed Monday night. The study will also discuss other means of transport such as trains, they said.

Everything is under reconsideration," said Altobelli.

There are about $40 million in federal funds for smoothing out transportation here, they said. If it goes all into the highways and plans are worked out soon, it could be done by the early to mid 1980s.

The commission put Hilliard Pond on its agenda for January. Miss Kathi Taylor of Manchester will talk about the possible uses of the pond were it saved for open space land.

Opinion

'Alice' day strikes unexpected chords

That nationwide strike by women was at the risk of being accused of sexism — pretty much of a bust. In fact, "Alice Doesn't Day," during which women were encouraged to withhold a variety of services in order to demonstrate their indispensable role in society, actually seems to have been more of an inspiration to counterfeminist reaction among women than the consciousness-raising event it was supposed to be.

Five female members of the Arizona state legislature, for example, condemning the "destructive and negative attitude of the women's libbers," urged women to continue "performing the jobs and responsibilities that we have freely chosen." Women in Newport, R.I., staged a "Male Appreciation Day." Wives served their husbands breakfast in bed and secretaries, girlfriends and even mothers-in-law treated men to dinners in restaurants.

The strike, of course, was intended to be more symbolic than real. It is doubtful if even its sponsor, the National Organization for Women, expected anything more than scattered, token support of the boycott. But NOW may have accomplished more than it realizes, and have raised a lot of feminine consciousnesses in ways very different from what it had in mind.

As the antistrike activities suggest, the feminist leaders succeeded, at least for one day, in hardening the battle lines over the question of women's liberation — not between women and men but among women themselves. They succeeded in demonstrating that the feminist movement, in its more radical aspects, is totally out of touch with the real needs and desires of the majority of American women.

One can dismiss the arguments of those antifeminists who warn that the drive for sexual equality will remove women from the privileged pedestal on which men have traditionally placed them, just as one can dismiss the silly claim that the extreme that there are no differences between men and women, except that the latter can bear children.

Most women today support the idea of equal rights, responsibilities and opportunities under the law regardless of sex, and whatever credit for this belongs to the feminist movement should be acknowledged. But at the same time they realize that there are, always have been and always will be fundamental physical, emotional and socially beneficial differences between the sexes.

Rather than being rivals and competitors with men, as the radical feminists seem to want them to be, most women consider themselves partners with men. They believe that the sexes are two complementary halves of one greater whole, and that it is in union of male and female in the fullest meaning of the word that both sexes find the richest and most satisfying expression of their individual identities.

Grey flannel nostalgia

I saw this sign last week in the window of a Main St. men's store and I got this warm and comfortable feeling all over. "Grey Flannel is back," is all it said, but the four words made an expert of me, and a man of style too. It meant I could forget about those double-knits and those Italian silks. It meant also that I could dig out that grey flannel suit I had hidden in the back of the closet and provide I took off a few pounds (quite a few!) I could re-live that day, several years ago, when I felt myself on the way to making the "Top 10 Best-Dressed Men" list.

Mobile homes: tin ghettos on wheels

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. — Shortly after World War II, the United States was energetically plunged into one of the darker efforts of its aesthetic history, the overnight proliferation of crackerbox housing. Homes For the Heroes, they were called, and millions of returning veterans were housed in equal numbers of $14,500 frame squares on 60 by 90-foot lots where the walls were constructed so poorly residents could hear their neighbors snore in the night.

New York figures pinpoint problem

ANDREW TULLY

WASHINGTON — I suppose Rep. Charles E. Grassley, R-Iowa, represents the anti-New York City attitude so prevalent throughout the country. That is to say, Grassley is opposed to rewarding New York for its prodigality. The gentleman from Iowa, where folks still tend to count their money carefully, got figures from the Congressional Budget Office the other day to support his stand against bailing out the Republic's most notorious city. Although some of his data has been published, Grassley's homework is worth noting because he wraps it up so neatly. Moreover, Grassley's source is Congress' own budgetary watchdog.

Thus packaged, the figures are revealing. In fiscal year 1973, per capita expenditures by the city government were 50 per cent higher than the next closest city analyzed in that way — Boston. Government employment per 100,000 population in New York was 517 in 1974. Only one other city, Baltimore, topped the 400 level.

The population of New York City decreased by 300,000 persons from 1961 to 1974; city government employment meanwhile went up by 100,000 bodies. The central cities of Baltimore and Chicago are in deep trouble, yet both ran a budget surplus in fiscal 1975. City pensions in New York are based on earnings during the worker's last year of service, when his pay usually is at its peak and only recently by declaring that New York's problems should be equated with those of underdeveloped foreign nations.

Not one cent of foreign aid to Zaire (formerly the Congo), said the feisty congressman from Minnesota, unless Congress votes to go to New York's financial rescue. It is true, of course, that New York City sometimes behaves like a foreign country, but legally it is part of the United States. That means we don't have to bribe New York not to sign a mutual assistance treaty with Poland or persuade the city by various means to reject a package of nuclear missiles from the Soviet Union. Zaire does not always behave as we might wish, but it has avoided the clutches of the Communists and that makes it eligible for a handout.

Nothing else to do, but to steal candy

To the editor, This Halloween my friend and I went trick or treating in the condominiums on Lydall St. We are both 11. When we were about 200 yards from my friend's house, five teenage boys wearing black masks came and grabbed my bag of candy. My friend hit one (of the boys) over the head and they all ran away. Isn't there anything for the big kids to do on Halloween when they are too big for trick or treating? I guess these young people who committed the crime had no choice of things to do, they stole candy.

On 2nd Thought

Welcome back Emily Post!

Yesterday I read in the paper that Emily Post's daughter-in-law has just published a new revised up-to-the-minute edition of the old Emily Post Etiquette. The new Emily Post is going to have the same eminent position in my kitchen.

Last night at supper when I told John that Emily Post would roll over in her grave if she could see him, lunge for the bread, he said, "Who's Emily Post?"

"WHO IS EMILY POST? Well I'll tell you, young man, very shortly you're going to know exactly who she is because Emily Post is going to be the boss around here!"

My teen-age daughter didn't seem very upset by the announcement.

"You know Ma," she said grinning at me across the table. "This etiquette bit is going to work both ways. Just for starters, what do you think Emily Post will have to say about a middle-aged mother who wears paint-covered blue jeans to the supermarket and who goes jogging around the neighborhood in short shorts?"

The major projects for the year are cooking, woodworking and community service at a local rest home.

ABOUT TOWN

Mrs. Phyllis Saturday at Trinity Covenant Church on Nelson is the fair's other co-chairman.

Lead screening program planned

A voluntary screening program to uncover possible lead poisoning in preschool-age children is planned to begin in Manchester in mid-January, the Board of Education learned Monday night. School officials said they hope to screen up to 3,000 children. Dr. Alice Turek, the town's health director, said officials anticipate that five to 10 per cent of the children screened will show lead poisoning levels high enough to affect their health. Explaining the program to the school board, school administrator Allan Chesterton said reports of lead poisoning have been associated with core areas of large cities, where children are exposed more to sources of lead such as old, peeling interior paint. But indoor paint peelings aren't the only source of lead which, when ingested by children in large amounts, has been linked to learning disabilities, hyperactivity and other problems, Chesterton said. Indoor paint is still the biggest problem, Dr. Turek said. "It's a problem. Lead is sweet, so paint chips taste good," Dr. Turek said. The screening program, to be funded through the Community Renewal Team of Hartford, will involve technicians taking blood samples by pin-pricking children's fingers. The samples are sent to state Health Department laboratories, analyzed, and returned to Manchester. If the results show a child has an elevated level of lead, it probably won't require treatment, but town officials must inspect the child's home to find the source of the lead. There won't be any cost to Manchester for the screening program, officials said, except for the time of housing inspectors sent to check lead sources. If a child shows a high level of lead there will be follow-up checks every six months, Chesterton said.

The Walk-In Day.

At the Cuckoo's Nest we believe that being... is most important. Our haircuts express this... up in this in mind we came up with something we call a "Walk-In Day." Perhaps we should call it a "Happening Day," for it was designed for people who feel an impulse to do something and like to do it when they feel it. This is your special day. We don't accept appointments at all on this special day because it's just for you "Do-It-Now" individuals, a sort of weekly celebration that expresses the spontaneous attitude we all experience at some time.

Rinse your static cling troubles away and save 20¢ in the bargain. With Downy.*

Now that cold weather's with us, so is static cling. Socks are hiding. Pants are twisting. Clothes are clinging like crazy. But Downy helps stop static cling before it even starts. At the very same time Downy rinses in softness and April Freshness, it helps rinse out static cling. Which is really a sensible way to keep clothes from clinging to each other. And clinging to your family.

Downy. A noticeable improvement.

Stolen furniture recovered

More than $1,000 worth of furniture stolen last weekend from Manchester's Second Congregational Church has been recovered, police said today.

Police said the furniture was found, neatly stacked and covered by a sheet, inside a barn just 30 yards from the church at 365 N. Main St.

An arrest in the case is expected soon, police detectives said today.

The burglary was discovered Sunday morning. The church office was ransacked and obscenities were scrawled on a desk.

In burglary and vandalism cases reported to police Tuesday:

- Seven juveniles — six boys and one girl — were caught stealing auto parts from an automobile junkyard on Parker St. Tuesday afternoon. The junkyard operator apprehended them on their way out, got their names, and released them. He later discovered $80 worth of vandalism to car windows.

Organist to present concert Friday

Clarence Waters, organist and leading authority on modern French organ music, will present an organ concert Friday at 8:15 p.m. in the Trinity College Chapel, Hartford.

The performance is free and open to the public.

Waters, who is music professor emeritus and honorary Trinity College organist, worked as a consultant on the Trinity organ which was inaugurated in 1972 with a concert by him.

Waters has given concerts throughout the United States, Canada and Europe and has made many recordings. He was a student of Marcel Dupre in organ and improvisation.

In the early 1930s, he was a leader in the revival of the authentic style of performance of the works of J.S. Bach, and subsequently became the leading authority on French organ music from Franck to Dupre.

At Trinity, Waters was head of the music department from 1932 to 1967. He was organist at Center Church, Congregational, in Hartford for Marcel Dupre in organ and improvisation.

For his concert at Trinity Waters will include works by Bach, Handel, Franck, Dupre and Widor.

Driver cited after accident

Stewart A. Clemson, 23, of 118 Main St., was charged today with driving while under the influence of liquor and evading responsibility after a minor accident on Bissell St., Manchester Police said.

Police said Clemson's car hit a sign on Bissell St. and the motorist didn't stop until he reached Main and Center Sts. Court date is Dec. 2.

Grand Canyon film to be shown at Keenev School

Due to heavy response, the meeting place for the Manchester Land Conservation Trust Thursday showing of the film, "Grand Canyon By Dory," has been moved to the auditorium of the Keenev St. School, said Dr. Douglas Smith of the trust.

Martin Litton will narrate his color film which includes running rapids in a dory. The film begins at 7:30 p.m.

The trust offers the film free in order to encourage conservation and membership in the trust. The trust was set up to receive donations of big and small parcels of open space land in town. It preserves the lands in the natural state.

Trust members will serve refreshments.

News for Senior Citizens

Hi folks, just a quickie to tell you that we still have 29 seats left on bus number three for our trip to Restland Farms for our Christmas Party. In order to take the third bus we must fill it, and so we are asking you who have been hesitating about going to drop around and sign up, you'll enjoy the day I'm sure, and from all reports the food is excellent. We'll be signing up for the rest of this week.

Tomorrow we will hold our pinocle and setback classes from 10 o'clock until 11:30 in the morning, here at the center. So far we have had a large turnout for these classes, and before long we will have them ready to join in our regular games. After a hot meal of baked fresh haddock with cheese sauce, rice pilaf, glazed fresh carrots, rolls and butter, sherbet and a beverage the action will move upstairs where we will have as our guest speaker, Sid Bauld. Bauld will show some slides and devices on precautionary and protective measures in securing your home and apartment. This should be a most interesting topic especially now with all the homes being broken into lately. The afternoon will end with our horse racing games, card playing and shuffleboard. Let's see the action here starts with 60 players of our Friday afternoon set-back games with the following winners: John Gottschalk, 132; Harvey Barrette, 130; Han Frederickson, 129; Peter Frey, 128; Roy Durey, 127; Louis Weber and Rene Maire, 126; Ernestine Donnelly, 125; Esther Anderson, 124; Audrey

Sommers named to college board

John Sommers, president of Allied Printing Services Inc. of Manchester, has been appointed to the board of trustees at Nichols College, Dudley, Mass. Sommers is a member of the advisory board of the Hartford National Bank and Trust Co., a trustee of Manchester Memorial Hospital and a trustee and executive board member of Cushing Academy in Ashburnham, Mass. He is also a member of the Greater Manchester Chamber of Commerce, the Manchester Kiwanis Club, and the Printing Association of Connecticut and Massachusetts. He is an Air Force veteran of World War II. Sommers, his wife, Bette, and three children reside at Trout Stream Dr. in Vernon.

Engineers club to see gliders

The Hartford Engineers Club meet at Willie's Steak House in Manchester next Thursday, Nov. 20. Following the 7 p.m. dinner, Russel F. Lord, president of the Connecticut Hang Glider Association, will give a film presentation on hang gliders. In addition, a full-size glider will be displayed.

Attorney withdraws

NEW HAVEN (UPI) — A Connecticut attorney has withdrawn from the defense of the Rev. David N. Bubar of Memphis, Tenn., charged with conspiring to firebomb a rubber factory. U.S. District Court Judge Jon O. Newman granted the request Tuesday by Richard Mehan of Bridgeport to quit the trial. Mehan filed a sealed affidavit listing his reasons for withdrawing. Codefendant Charles D. Moeller, president of the Ohio firm that owned Sponge Rubber Products Co., objected to Mehan's withdrawal and asked the court to order a psychiatric examination for Bubar. The rubber factory was burned to the ground March 1 in a fire that was said to have been predicted by Bubar, a self-styled psychic. A key witness who has admitted helping set the blaze said Bubar was in the factory with the arsonists the day it burned down. U.S. Attorney Peter C. Dorsey also objected to the withdrawal, which leaves Bubar with only one attorney, Rudolf Lion Zolowitz of Hackensack, N.J. Dorsey said if the issue of inadequate counsel were raised in the future, Bubar would get a "second chance," even if found guilty.

Arrowhead Ridge complex to get extended hearing

Coventry The Planning and Zoning Commission (PZC) hearing on the proposed 340 unit Arrowhead Ridge apartment complex has been continued to next Monday at 8 p.m. in town hall. The bulk of the more than three hours of proceedings Monday night were taken up by talks of consultants of Barak Homes, Inc., the developers. A hydrant arrangement and early warning sensory system is proposed for fire protection. The hydrants are to be run from a 300-million-gallon capacity pond to be constructed along the Hop River. Further comments will be solicited from specialists, town officials and residents at next Monday's continuation of the hearing.

An earth filled dam is proposed with a culvert and overflow arrangement and fish ladder. Atty. Leonard Jacobs of Manchester explained developers have exceeded minimum requirements set by the PZC in many instances. Among these are providing only 3.5 dwelling units per acre, a total of 90 acres for the site, a minimum of 710 square feet per apartment and allowing seven per cent of the area for buildings.

Town regulations call for at least 50 acres for an apartment site, he said, as well as a density of no more than five dwelling units per acre, a minimum of 500 square feet of apartment space and no more than 15 per cent of the land for building purposes, Jacob said. Jacobs estimated $300,000 would be added to the town's taxable income with the complex and the assessments gained from renter's vehicles. Monthly rents would range from $250-$300, Jacobs said. The site abuts Rt. 6 with a 930-foot frontage on the highway. An access road would cross the Hop River. Provisions call for tennis courts, a pool, bathhouse and storage facilities.

Seaver wins third Cy Young Award

NEW YORK (UPI) — Tom Seaver, whose league-leading 22 victories and record-setting streakout performance in 1975 erased the stigma of his worst season ever, was named today the winner of the National League's Cy Young award for the third time.

Seaver, the New York Mets' ace right-hander who won the award in 1969 and 1973, outpaced southpaw Randy Jones of the San Diego Padres 98-80. Before this year, only Sandy Koufax of the Los Angeles Dodgers had ever won three Cy Youngs, awarded annually to the leagues' best pitchers.

Today's Sports Parade

NEW YORK (UPI) — The third time is supposed to be a charm, but whether that's only a fable or not, this year's Cy Young Award meant something special to Tom Seaver, something extra special, you could say.

Brown gridders set for Harvard

BOSTON (UPI) — The sports fans of Providence, R.I., are in a frenzy four months early. Why the college basketball season hasn't even begun and they're so worked up over one would think Providence College and the University of Rhode Island were in the NCAA finals.

COACHES' CORNER

Saturday's game was another grim lesson in the importance of the kicking game in the game of football.

We were able to hold a very good Gastonbury running game to but 139 yards but due to mistakes in the punting game and poor runbacks and coverage on kickoffs they had the field position all day that enabled them to score and keep us away from the goal line.

Former Rangers haunt old team

NEW YORK (UPI) — St. Louis has become the great dumping ground for the New York Rangers and Tuesday night it came back to haunt the Rangers as they lost to the Blues 5-3.

Chuck Letley scored two goals for the Blues, the first on an assist from Sanderson as the Blues were skating as a man disadvantage. Letley's second goal tied the game at 3-3 in the third period.

Expanded athlete rights supported

NEW YORK (UPI) — Billie Jean King and Howard Cosell both supported expanded rights for amateur athletes Tuesday, attacking the present structure as too confining.

Cosell, a commentator with the ABC television network, opted for the idea of a federal commission to oversee all amateur sports, placed above the U.S. Olympic Committee and the National Collegiate BOSTON (UPI) — A group named POP-UP says Fenway Park's new electronic scoreboard is a foul ball.

Among 20 persons, calling themselves People Opposing Petracious and Unnecessary Progress, picketed the Boston Red Sox' 63-year-old home Tuesday as construction continued inside on the wide-screen picture board.

Tough job

BOSTON (UPI) — When Don Chery was pulled from upstate New York to coach the Boston Bruins, he said he was awestruck at the chance to meet Bobby Orr and Phil Esposito.

"It was the toughest thing I've had to do in my career to date," the former minor league defenseman said Tuesday in a telephone interview from his Suga home. "It wasn't a very happy occasion but it had to be done."

Jaycee Fair biggest yet

Vernon
The second annual Greater Vernons Jaycee Arts and Crafts Fair is Saturday and Sunday at the Vernon Center Middle School.

The fair opens at 11 a.m. Saturday and 10 a.m. Sunday.

Dennis Liberatore, chairman, said he has craftsmen coming from as far away as Pennsylvania and New York as well as from Connecticut including the tri-town area.

New England clam chowder will be sold along with other foods.

All money raised by the fair goes back into the community. Money raised during last year's fair purchased a new stretcher for Rockville General Hospital; a Reusi-ami for the Vernon Ambulance Corps and funded such programs as youth football and the senior citizens' Christmas party.

Bolton High shrinking

DONNA HOLLAND 646-0375
Attempts are being made to encourage college and non-college students to attend Bolton High School.

In the BHS newspaper, The Bolton

High Times, student Ann Bates asked why the population of the high school is decreasing.

Joseph Fleming, principal, said the main reason is course selection. He said BHS, being a small school, cannot offer a great deal. He said kids who decide not to go to high school are probably looking for courses it is not able to offer.

In an attempt to attract these and future students back to the school, Fleming and the faculty are trying to make it a place students will want to attend.

Dan Roser honored

Bolton
Don Roser will be honored at a party Thursday from 8:30 until 7:30 p.m. at Herrick Memorial Park.

Roser was the soccer coach for Bolton children in Grades 4 to 8 from August until October.

Parents of the players are asked to be at the park at 7:30 to give their suggestions, comments and ideas on the program.

One of the things being done is the addition of courses such as sociology and college credit courses offered at night. There are also non-credit courses offered at night.

Fleming hopes the efforts will help to humanize the school and bring back the students.

The present high school enrollment is 255 students.

Tower to be repaired

Vernon
The tower on the Talcottville School will be restored by the Talcottville Village Bicentennial Committee.

The Board of Education granted permission for the work. The committee will pay all costs.

The school is a regional school for special education and is the oldest school building in town. The Rev. Kenneth Knox of the Talcottville Congregational Church who heads the committee said the tower needs spring and painting.

Dr. Raymond Ramsdell said the work will not disrupt classes as it will probably be done next summer.

The school on Main St. in Talcottville was a gift of the Talcott brothers, operators of the Talcott mills. It was dedicated Aug. 27, 1880.

Board views TV show value

South Windsor
JUDY KUEHNEL
The South Windsor Board of Education will meet tonight at 7:30 at the Orchard Hill School.

On the agenda is a discussion of the TV program "Inside-Outside."

The program was the source of some arguing at the last board meeting. One parent claimed it encouraged the "prying into family lives."

"Inside-Outside" is a TV program. It lasts 15 minutes and is followed by 15 minutes of class discussion.

Also on the agenda is the acceptance of student disciplinary changes, information regarding proposed laws for the coming year and the goals of the superintendent for this school year.

The board meeting will be the first for newly elected board members Maryann Morrisette and John Giordano.

South Windsor Boy Scouts have recycled 317,000 pounds of paper. They made about $900.

Scouts are working with Reynolds Aluminum about recycling aluminum products. The scouts have a trailer at the Sullivan Avenue Shopping Plaza where residents can bring paper.

Town's waste to go to plant in Berlin

South Windsor
JUDY KUEHNEL
The South Windsor Town Council approved a contract with the Connecticut Resources Recovery Authority (CRRA) for the disposal of solid waste. The contract should save a long standing problem for the town, officials said.

A regional disposal facility is to be built in Berlin.

According to the agreement, South Windsor will have its own transfer station to be used by residents and commercial haulers. The transfer station will be built by the town. The CRRA is expected to buy it from the town when the Berlin plant is completed.

A clause in the town's contract says CRRA must void for the construction of the disposal plant by March 1 or the agreement with the town is void.

Also by March 1, an agreement must be made between the CRRA and a utility to use some of the dried waste for fuel.

Dams approved

South Windsor
JUDY KUEHNEL 644-1364
The Town Council recently approved the construction of two earthen dams for Avery Brook, ending one of the major problems facing the town for the past five years.

The vote approved the United State Department of Agriculture Soil Conservation Service Avery Brook Watershed Flood Control Project.

The three-quarter million-dollar project will probably begin in 20 months, according to town officials.

The Avery Brook Hooding has plagued residents of that area for some time, with many persons appearing before the council seeking relief at regular intervals.

Following the defeat of the Watershed Project in a referendum last year, the Town Council turned the matter over to the state. The state recommended the construction of the two dams.

Philip Welles — a resident who stood to lose his home if the dams were constructed — will remain, and simply sell easement rights to the state.

Another flooding problem facing the council, now that Avery Brook appears to be settled, is the one existing on Foster St. Ext. — a road connecting Ellington Rd. to Miller Rd.

The council has approved an appropriation of $3,000 to install a 36-inch culvert, which is expected to alleviate the problems encountered by residents in that area.

During the last major rainstorm, some residents both on Foster Street Ext. and Miller Rd. experienced severe flooding problems.

Both the Paul Ferris and Ralph Kennedy families on Miller Rd. experienced major flooding problems created by the problems existing on Foster St. Ext.

Bingo Friday
The Avery School PTA will sponsor a family bingo Friday at 7:30 p.m. in the school cafeteria. Admission for adults will be 75 cents and children 50 cents. This includes two bingo cards. Refreshments will be sold.

Fund-raising dance

South Windsor
The South Windsor Youth Hockey Association will hold its annual fund-raising dance Saturday, Nov. 29 at St. Francis of Assisi Church Hall, Ellington Rd. from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m.

The Blue Horizon band will play.

Tickets are $12 per couple. Setups and a buffet will be provided.

To learn more, call Alex Consalves, 644-2735 or Skip Sayer, 528-0367.

Bolton board to meet

DONNA HOLLAND
The Board of Education will meet Thursday at 8 p.m. in the Bolton Center School library.

The board will hear a report on the gifted program by Mrs. Doherty and Joseph Fleming, discuss policies on medication, and the AV building and system coordinator job description.

It will discuss controls at the Center School and computerization of payroll.

Other items are: An exchange student request, approval of two more bus drivers, a GABE regional meeting, an ACASE report by Joseph Halobardo and a survey by the educational management development commission.

Mrs. Susan Quaglia of 93-D Sycamore Lane, a hairdresser at the Creative School of Hairdressing in Manchester, has received a master certificate of achievement in creative haircoloring from Claicol Inc. of New York City.

Mrs. Quaglia completed the special educational course created for experienced haircolorists to keep up-to-date with industry techniques and ideas. Classes included participation in haircolor workshops and seminars under the supervision of Claicol haircolor experts and guest appearances by well-known colorists.

Mrs. Quaglia is vice president and director of the bank. He is president and treasurer of Moriarty Bros. He has served on many civic committees in Manchester and was the recipient of the Greater Manchester Chamber of Commerce "M" Award in 1964.

He is a co-founder of Manchester Community College and is a former president of the Connecticut Association of Public Community Colleges.

Moriarty was designated a Knight of St. Gregory in 1963. He lives with his wife at 75 Forest St.

Manchester's cable television system, Greater Hartford CATV Inc., strives to put the customer on top.

CATV stands for Community Antenna Television. Thus, at the system's new "head end" site at 901 Parker St., a large antenna picks up the signals in the air (long distance signals must be microwaved in), processes them and then retransmits them via a cable system on utility poles.

A converter box, installed in the customer's home, enables the customer to receive 15 clear channels, including New York stations and a 24-hour news, financial report and weather service. Service is available 24 hours a day.

Here's why we pay so much for gasoline

NEW YORK (UPI)—The motorist "has a legitimate concern" about the rising price of gasoline, the American Petroleum Institute says.

The price of a gallon of regular goes — a procedure it notes is difficult to do with any precision.

Bearing all this in mind, it offers the following: Out of a hypothetical gallon of regular gasoline costing 58.7 cents at the pump, the API said, the oil company makes an average of 2 cents profit, also hypothetical, but at what price: refinery efficiency; transportation and marketing factors among others.

In fact, said the API, federal and state governments take six times as much in taxes as the companies earn in profits.

The largest single piece of the pie is the 21 cents that goes to cover the cost of crude oil at the wellhead, according to the API.

The next largest chunk is the 12 cents for state and federal taxes. The federal excise tax is 4 cents per gallon. While state taxes vary, after the Arab oil boycott and the 400 per cent increase in the cost of foreign crude.

Liability for lift mishaps

By WILL BERNARD
Tardy for a dental appointment, Alvin rushed up to the automatic elevator just as the outer doors were closing. Quickly he slipped one hand into the gap, expecting the doors to reopen. Instead, they closed upon his hand.

Alvin did manage to yank himself free, but in doing so he injured his fingers. Seeking compensation, he filed a damage suit against the owner of the building.

In a court hearing, the owner insisted that the elevator was in good order even though — for some unknown reason — it may not have worked on this particular occasion.

Emhart buying firm

BOSTON (UPI) — The Emhart Corp. of Connecticut said Tuesday it would complete a stock purchase giving it control of the USM Corp. of Boston.

USM, primarily a maker of shoe-manufacturing equipment, had gone to court to stop the takeover move. A temporary restraining order blocking the stock purchase was granted Oct. 15, but was overturned Monday.

Social Security questions and answers

Q I'll be 65 in December, but since I'm planning to work for several more years I figure that I should start in filing for Social Security yet. My next-door neighbor says I should go ahead and apply anyway? Is she right?

A Even though you continue to work, you should file an application about three months before you reach 65 to establish your eligibility for Social Security retirement benefits and Medicare. This way, your benefits can start as soon as you stop working. You may be entitled to some payments, depending on the amount of your earnings. You don't have to stop working if you have Medicare, so your protection can start as soon as your reach 65.

Q I recently requested and received a statement of the earnings credited to my Social Security record. I believe there's an error in my record. Can I get it corrected?

A A person's Social Security earnings record can be corrected any time up to three years, three months and 15 days after the year in which the wages were paid or self-employment income was earned. Under certain conditions, your earnings record can be corrected even if this time limit has passed. You should get in touch with a Social Security office right away. The people there will help you get your record corrected.

Q Sometimes when I send in a Medicare medical insurance claim, I receive a letter asking what a particular bill was for or why I went to the doctor. I thought the bills I send with my claim give all the necessary information, but apparently they don't. What exactly should the bills show?

A If your doctor doesn't complete Part II of the "Request for Medicare Payment" for you, ask him to give you an itemized bill to send with it. An itemized bill must show the date you received the services, the place where you received the services, a description of the services, the nature of your illness or injury (diagnosis), the charge for each service, and your name and health insurance claim number exactly as it's shown on your Medicare card.

Q My husband has been unable to work since he was severely injured in an auto accident about two months ago. Our family doctor suggested he apply for Social Security disability benefits. Will he have to have any special medical tests or examinations to get payments?

A Probably not. Medical reports will be requested from his doctors and from hospitals, clinics, or institutions where he's been treated. If additional information is needed he may be asked to undergo special medical examinations or tests. The government will pay for any such examinations.

Business and the consumer

Complaints stem from mail order

By State Department of Consumer Protection

A study of consumer complaints shows that mail order problems are a large complaint area. The state Consumer Protection Department has initiated investigations over the years against several companies who have used the mails to cheat consumers, but the agency has been chiefly in charge of seeing to it that consumers are not defrauded through the mail is the U.S. Postal Inspection Service.

The Postal Inspection Service is an agency under the jurisdiction of the postmaster general and carries out investigations of alleged mail fraud.

According to one inspector, many millions of dollars are lost each year through various mail fraud schemes, such as work-at-home and correspondence school schemes, charity schemes, fake health cures, chain letters, lotteries, phony merchandise offers and "missing heirs."

Consumers who think that they have been caught up in one of these rackets should contact their local postmaster or, if they live close to a large city, the postal inspector at the nearby post office.

They should include in their complaint the full details of their transactions plus a copy of the ad to which they responded. Also include information as to which magazine or newspaper the ad appeared in, a copy of all correspondence with the company, and a copy of any canceled checks.

The complaint is ordinarily forwarded to the postal inspector in charge where the company is located and there it is checked to see whether it is an isolated complaint or one of a series against the company.

If it is a single complaint, an effort may be made to contact the company to mediate differences between company and consumer. If the complaint is one of many, a postal inspector is assigned to investigate. If he finds strong evidence of fraud, the facts are presented to the U.S. attorney's office for possible prosecution.

The Postal Service also has the power to issue "mail-stop orders" when there is evidence a company is defrauding consumers through the mail. This order can be issued even before sufficient evidence has been gathered for a full-scale prosecution in the courts. When a "mail-stop order" is issued, the postmaster at the post office where the mail arrives is directed to return all mail addressed to the company back to the sender. In this way the company is prevented from swindling more consumers.

The Postal Inspection Service depends to a large extent on consumer complaints to inform it of possible mail fraud. Consumers are urged to complain any time they encounter difficulties with companies doing business through the mail.

Phillips resigns
Alvah Phillips Jr. resigned as chairman of the Democratic Town Committee at its Tuesday meeting. Phillips did not state any reason for leaving the post. But he later said he had considered stepping down for over a year.

Last week's Democratic defeat at the polls may have played a part in his decision. But major factors were the time and expense devoted by him to the position, he said.

Committee members accepted Phillips' resignation with "deep regret" and scheduled a special vote for a new chairman at their Dec. 9 meeting.

Phillips said he will remain an active member on the committee. He has served about six years as chairman.

The Vernon principal's power defined by school board

The principals of the Vernon public schools are responsible for the conduct of their pupils while on school grounds, during school activities of the grounds, and while on school buses.

The Board of Education adopted a revised policy Monday night on recommendation of the suspension policy committee headed by Middle School Principal David Parker.

The policy calls for the principals to establish the role of the teacher in pupil discipline; to assist the teacher with class control when needed; to set up rules on pupil conduct; to call parents for any serious or repeated infractions; and to promptly report any cases of suspension to the superintendent.

The power to suspend is delegated to the principal or his assistant using discretion with due regard for the gravity of the offense, the offender, and the preventive as well as the punitive value of the punishment.

Because aggravating or mitigating circumstances may exist in each case, the principal is in the best position to judge. Therefore the policy allows him to set the length of the suspension up to five days.

Reasons for suspension include: intentional defiance of the rules; dangering the health and safety of the student himself or others; passing fire arms, knives, or other dangerous objects, possessing or using or transmitting any narcotic drug, hallucinogenic drug, a pharmaceutical, barbiturate, marijuana, or alcoholic beverages or being under the influence of any of these items.

Also: Causing damage to school property; stealing school property; causing damage to private property.

The principals are to consult the superintendent with regard to cases of "incorrigibly bad conduct," and he may then prepare for expulsion of the pupil on approval of the Board of Education.

The rules also apply to school buses.

Children travel into past

The nine juried members of the league are: M. Margaret Ackor, Dorothy Bardin, Doris Baumann, Mark Cashman, Dorothy Chorney, Lorraine Power, Dan Lyman Russell, Randall Smith, Alma Widell, all of East Hartford.

The three artist-teachers are: Robert Guzman, Forbes of New Britain, pastel; Layne Marthol of East Hartford, watercolor; and Roberta Shetrin of Avon, sculpture.

The exhibit will continue through Nov. 26. The public is invited.

Bolton Tigers turn in gear

All members of the Bolton Tigers C squad are asked to return for their football equipment Thursday at 6 p.m. at Herrick Memorial Park.

Hot chocolate and donuts will be served.

Lengthy agenda Thursday

Hebron
EVELYN CROSTON
228-9561

The Board of Education will tackle a lengthy agenda at its meeting Thursday at 8 p.m. in the library at Gilead Hill School.

Under personnel there will be the appointment of a Title I teacher, a report of student teachers, a custodial appointment and a personnel matter for executive session.

Reports will be given on an elementary and Grade 7 curriculum workshop set for Dec. 11 at Hebron Elementary School and on an elementary school districtwide workshop on standardized testing conducted last month.

Other agenda items include a report on gasoline use by the town and school buses and reports on fund raising activities including an African violet sale at Hebron Elementary and a library fund raising project at Gilead Hill.

Also to be discussed is an instrumental music program for 1975-76.

Field trips involving parental transportation, a maintenance report on the leaching fields at Gilead Hill School and the Gilead Hill School Bicentennial programs.

The meeting is open to the public.

Horse talk

A program about the Appaloosa horse was presented to students at Gilead Hill School last week by Jacquelyn Smakula, a Grade 2 teacher and youth advisor for Connecticut Appaloosa Association (CAA), and Wendy Aregood, president of the youth group of CAA.

A film on the history of the Appaloosa and a live presentation were included in the program.

Oil sticks to East Hartford

HARTFORD (UPI) — A Hartford company has admitted responsibility for spilling thousands of gallons of heavy industrial oil into the Connecticut River.

While pollution cleaners go after the oil, lying six to eight inches thick, on the water's surface in some places, the Connecticut River has been closed to navigation between Hartford and East Haddam.

The Coast Guard said Hartford Steam Service Co. Monday told officials a line from its oil storage tank at its plant broke last Thursday, leaking an undetermined amount of No. 6 oil into storm drains that empty into the river.

The company agreed to pay the cleanup bill, estimated at about $50,000, officials said.

The Coast Guard said the leak was repaired Friday but the total amount spilled could possibly go as high as 10,000 gallons.

The Coast Guard closed the drawbridge at East Haddam Monday, blocking traffic from down river until the oil is mopped up, which officials believe will take five days.

The largest section of the spill apparently was in East Hartford, where officials said at least 4,000 gallons of oil was accounted for. The spill was reported Sunday morning by a boatyard owner in Portland, who told authorities the oil was clinging to hulls of pleasure boats moored at his docks.

MANCHESTER, CONN., THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 13, 1975 - VOL. XCV, No. 38

Manchester Evening Herald

Manchester—A City of Village Charm TWENTY-FOUR PAGES — TWO SECTIONS PRICE: FIFTEEN CENTS

News summary

Compiled from United Press International

State

HARTFORD—City Manager Edward M. Curtin Jr., 58, has resigned effective Dec. 12, saying he has no immediate plans. He took the post in 1971. He had been a fireman since 1941 and fire chief since 1965.

Regional

BOSTON—Couples could obtain a divorce when they agree an irrevocable breakdown has occurred, under legislation expected to be signed by Gov. Michael S. Dukakis. The bill passed Wednesday.

PROVIDENCE, R. I.—Nearly half of the Rhode Island consumers and wage earners who responded to a poll feel they are in worse personal financial situations this year than last. The state-sponsored poll indicates conservative buying trends will continue into 1976.

National

WASHINGTON—Since the chairman already is calling him "Mr. Secretary" today's Senate Armed Services Committee vote to confirm Donald H. Rumsfeld as defense secretary is likely to be overwhelming.

DETROIT—Kidnappers of the son of a General Motors executive Robert C. Stempel released 13-year-old Timothy at a hospital Wednesday night in return for a $150,000 ransom. The boy was uninjured.

WASHINGTON—Betty Ford has pledged to talk to the President about the appointment of a woman to the U.S. Supreme Court created by the retirement Wednesday of Associate Justice William O. Douglas.

WASHINGTON—The House has voted to slap a $373.8 billion cap on spending for the fiscal year now under way. That amount of spending will result in a deficit of $73 billion. The Wednesday vote was 225 to 191.

Save New York

NEW YORK (UPI)—Gov. Hugh Carey has a new plan, said to have high-level support in Washington, to save the nation's largest city, the state's fourth largest city and four state agencies from imminent bankruptcy.

Carey called a special session of the state legislature today to unveil a $6 billion plan, which he said has strong backing in Washington. It involves federal guarantees to avert default by New York City, the City of Yonkers and four state agencies.

Without federal help, Carey said Yonkers would go into default today. Default in New York City and the four state agencies could occur by the end of the month.

At a news conference Wednesday, Carey said that based on a series of telephone conversations with Treasury Secretary William E. Simon, he was confident the plan would get some form of federal assistance. His plan calls for federal guarantees of as much as $3 billion in city bonds.

President Ford consistently has opposed federal guarantees of city notes. In Washington, presidential news secretary Ron Nessen said Wednesday. "There is no change in the President's position on New York."

However, Carey said. "I understand the plan as presented to the highest federal officials was described as 'interesting' by Arthur Burns, chairman of the Federal Reserve. And I talked with Secretary Simon and he believes the plan now should be worked further to make it more binding."

Three men sought in London bombing

LONDON (UPI)—Scotland Yard detectives searched today for the three men who ran from the scene of a bomb blast at a fashionable London restaurant. One person was killed and 15 injured.

The terrorists tossed the bomb through a window of Scott's restaurant in the exclusive Mayfair district Wednesday night as 70 people were eating dinner.

The blast shattered windows and touched off a fire at the seafood restaurant, but the manager said special, splinter-proof glass saved many of the diners from injury or death.

No one was hurt

A cloud of thick black smoke rises from the broken fuselage of an Overseas Airways DC-10 jetliner at New York's John F. Kennedy Airport Thursday afternoon after the flight was aborted when an engine broke into flames during takeoff. Officials said the accident was caused when a flock of birds was sucked into the rightwing jet engine. All 139 persons aboard the plane were evacuated safely. The plane was en route to Saudi Arabia. James Egan, Hartford lawyer, shot to death

HARTFORD (UPI)—James Egan, 58, a prominent Hartford criminal lawyer was found shot to death in an apartment building early today, police said.

Egan, a Rhodes Scholar and Harvard Law School alumnus, was for many years a partner in a law firm, and was active in civic and social work.

A preliminary investigation did not disclose whether a homicide was involved, police said. "All we know is that he was shot to death," a detective said. Egan, a jovial six-footer, in 1956 won $48,000 in the television show "The $64,000 Question."

Federal jai al grand jury to question ex-Teamster boss

By ED BUTLER and JAMES V. HILLON

HARTFORD (UPI)—A federal grand jury investigating a Teamsters Union-financed jai alai front in Bridgeport plans to subpoena Anthony "Tony Pro" Provenzano, a prominent figure questioned in the mysterious disappearance of Teamsters boss James R. Hoffa.

The grand jury will question Provenzano, former New Jersey Teamster chief, about allegations he took a $150,000 cash payment in connection with the jai alai front.

The federal grand jury will investigate allegations linking Provenzano, imprisoned for extortion in 1966, to an estimated $260,000 construction loan from the Teamsters Union Central States pension fund, UPI learned.

Stockholders said they gave the money in good faith to corporate officials.

The grand jury, which began hearing secret evidence Wednesday in Hartford, will also subpoena an unidentified Connecticut politician suspected of taking a separate $50,000 payment in connection with the front, UPI learned.

The front nearing completion in Bridgeport, 60 miles from New York City, the world's largest and most luxurious $14 million facility, if allowed to open, will feature parimutuel betting on the fast-paced game, a Spanish version of handball.

Justice Douglas retires

WASHINGTON (UPI)—William Orville Douglas, his 77-year-old body drained by "incessant and demanding pain" with little prospect for recovery, has retired from the Supreme Court, where he served President Truman and helped design the nation's policy in space exploration and atomic energy will be buried today in the state he came to in 1917 to regain his health. He died of a stroke Monday at 80 years old.

Although he had hoped to carry on his work for a 37th term after suffering a stroke last New Year's Eve, Douglas wrote that he realized "it would be inadvisable for me to carry on the duties required of a member of the court."

In his letter he indicated he had little hope of recovering.

"I have been bothered with incessant and demanding pain which depletes my energy to the extent that I have been unable to shoulder my full share of the burden," he wrote.

Therefore, I hereby retire at the close of this day from regular active service as an Associate Justice of the Supreme Court of the United States.

He noted he had been forced "to leave the bench several times" during recent court arguments. He said, "I shall continue to seek relief from this unabated pain, but there is no bright prospect in view."

The President accepted the retirement "with profound personal sympathy for the sad circumstances" which caused Douglas to leave.

He declined Wednesday to rule out a woman. Prominent female jurists include Judge Shirley M. Huston, 59, the state court judge of the history of the court. Your contributions to the law, both as scholar and jurist, and your service... as a member and chairman of the Securities and Exchange Commission constitute a lifetime of dedicated public service matched by few Americans."

Douglas was appointed by President Franklin D. Roosevelt after serving as the second chairman of the SEC. He took his seat April 17, 1939, succeeding one of his legal idols, Louis D. Brandeis. At 40, he was one of the youngest men to sit on the court.

The retirement leaves the court dominated by conservative thinkers appointed by Richard M. Nixon.

A White House spokesman said Ford had not decided whom he would nominate to fill Douglas' seat. As House minority leader in 1969 Ford attempted to impeach Douglas. Many observers had thought Douglas would keep his seat at all costs until next fall, on the chance Ford might be replaced.

Possible nominees could include Attorney General Edward H. Levi, 64, a respected legal scholar with little courtroom experience.

Auto insurers drop Bay State policies

BOSTON (UPI)—At least 11 companies representing about half the Massachusetts auto insurance market have sent agents notices telling them their customers' policies will not be renewed next year, it was learned today.

Word of the mailing of the hundreds of thousands of intent not to renew notices came as the Legislature prepared to debate a bill to reduce by 60 per cent the insurance industry's request for a $244 million auto rate increase next year.

The bill won initial Senate approval Wednesday. A second Senate vote and House action was set for later today.

A UPI survey today revealed that the following companies have sent out non-renewal notices: The Travelers Insurance Companies, Aetna Life and Casualty Co., Kemper Insurance Co., Commercial Union Assurance Companies, Fireman's Fund American, Royal Globe, Home Indemnity, the New Hampshire Group, the Aetna Insurance Co., Maryland Casualty Co. and the Hartford Group.

U.N. accused of 'selective morality'

UNITED NATIONS (UPI)—The United States, in a strike against the "selective morality" of the United Nations, is campaigning for a U.N. resolution demanding the release of all political prisoners.

U.S. Ambassador Daniel Moynihan, accusing the totalitarian countries of missing the issue of human rights, introduced the resolution Wednesday in the General Assembly's Social, Humanitarian and Cultural Committee.

"Our suspicions are that there could be a design to use the issue of human rights to undermine the legitimacy of precisely those nations which still observe human rights, imperfect as that observance may be," he said.

Some diplomatic observers viewed the U.S. resolution as a move to counter the Arab-inspired anti-Zionist motion approved by the assembly last Monday.

"The selective morality of the United Nations in matters of human rights treats the integrity not merely of the United Nations but of human rights themselves," Moynihan said.

He said 23 of the 60 sponsors of a resolution condemning South Africa and 16 of the 33 sponsors of a motion against Chile had political prisoners of their own.

"Even as South Africa and Chile are obliged by certain standards concerning prisoners, for example, so equally are other members of the Electric Boat strike end believed near

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Sen. Abraham A. Ribicoff, D-Conn., says there are indications the end of the four-month Electric Boat strike is not far off.

Ribicoff said Wednesday the long and turbulent negotiations have entered a "critical stage," with possible agreement near on the issue of wages, the last big block to settlement.

Ribicoff met Wednesday with chief federal mediator W.J. Usery to discuss progress in the strike that has crippled the Groton submarine yards. Some 10,000 skilled workers walked off their jobs July 1.

"The time is now to reach agreement and settle this strike," Ribicoff said after the closed door meeting with the negotiator.

Usery planned to hold meetings in Boston starting today with two managers each from the management and labor negotiating teams.

Usery said all meetings will begin in Groton soon after the Boston talks. He said he wants to "avoid compulsion" to end the strike but has also said he isn't ruling out possible use of a Taft-Hartley injunction to put the workers back on their jobs for a period of time. That, he said, would be a last resort.
