Alleano body found in river

The body of Donald Alleano, 17, was recovered from the Connecticut River following a three-day search and has been identified by his parents, according to police.

A police spokesman Monday said the body was found inside the 1968 station wagon the youth was driving Friday night when it plunged off a 12-foot embankment on Newberry Rd. and into the river.

Scuba divers, a helicopter and a 20-foot fishing boat equipped with sonar were used to help find the submerged car.

Zoning board approves site for food catering

Manchester's Zoning Board of Appeals (ZBA) has given its permission for James J. Moriconi, owner of Mama Mia's and La Strada West restaurants, to use the premises at 748 Tolland Tpk. in a rural residence zone, to conduct a catering business with consumption of food on and off the premises.

The ZBA voted Monday night to approve a variance sought by Moriconi. The ZBA's 4 to 1 vote came after a public hearing in which residents of the area opposed the application.

Moriconi plans to renovate an existing building inside and out and improve parking facilities. In presenting Moriconi's case to the ZBA, Atty. Vincent Diana described the history of the property. He said the building that was erected there originally was built for public use as a dance hall in the 1880s and known as Miller's Dance Hall.

At one time, Diana said the property was owned by Victor Pagan and food was served on the premises. The building was also used at one time as an auction gallery.

Moriconi, who has been in the restaurant business for the past 25 years, said he plans to do the whole building over and "give it some class." He plans to install parking areas at the front and rear of the building. Its present capacity is for about 300 people.

Opponents of the variance cited parking problems along the street, noise, and busy traffic as reasons for not granting the variance. One opponent was concerned for the types of affairs that would be held on the premises and if there would be liquor served.

Other petitions scheduled were withdrawn and continued until January.

Moriconi said he was not allowed to serve liquor and won't. He also said the building will not be used as a dance hall, but just for food.

The one ZBA member voting against the application was Bernard Johnson, chairman, who said there should be more thought given to the application.

Other petitions scheduled were withdrawn and continued until January.

Democrats push bill to aid New York City

WASHINGTON (UPI) — House Democratic leaders are pushing ahead with their bill to save New York City from bankruptcy. But they say they will gladly modify it if President Ford tells them what he will accept instead.

Ford promised a statement today but not necessarily agreeing to any federal aid to keep the city solvent. In Albany, state legislators waited for a signal that Washington would offer financial help if they enacted Gov. Hugh Carey's program to increase taxes in the nation's most heavily taxed state.

But Ford told Republican members of Congress from New York Tuesday he wanted to see action in Albany and an ironclad plan for a balanced budget in New York City before he made any commitments.

"It's a which-came-first, the chicken-or-the egg situation," said Rep. Hamilton Fish Jr., after the meeting with Ford.

New York Mayor Abraham Beame proposed the state legislature raise commuter and resident income taxes rather than imposing a sales tax increase the assembly Republicans want.

Country club lease changes turned down

With little discussion Tuesday night, the Manchester Board of Directors rejected proposed changes in the Manchester Country Club lease.

The changes were recommended by the country club. The lease is with the town in an ordinance and changes may be made only by amending the ordinance.

The club had requested that membership fees be set solely by membership, without amending the ordinance; and that greens fees be set by the club's Board of Governors,

90 New Haven teachers jailed

Principal suspended for closing school

NEW HAVEN (UPI) — New Haven school teachers today voted unanimously to suspend their strike for two days so that their leaders may carry on negotiations with city officials.

Shortly before the vote, a principal who had closed his school for "safety reasons" in the bitter teachers' strike was suspended by the school board.

Robert Schreck said he personally decided to keep Lee High School closed after he found the school's doors locked and without heat. This brought further custodians and other non-teaching school board employees stayed away from their jobs today in sympathy over Tuesday's jailing of 90 teachers.

Schreck said he kept the school closed "for safety reasons." The school board called an emergency meeting over the development and suspended him because of what they called "an arbitrary decision."

Schreck said he would appeal the suspension. The board also decided to close schools Thursday and Friday at the suggestion of Mayor Bartholomew Guida.

An estimated 1,000 members of unions in the 30,000 member council will meet Friday night to discuss the matter. Saden imposed $250 daily fines on each teacher and said any jailed teachers would be released only after purging themselves and returning to work. About 25 teachers brought before Saden Tuesday decided to obey his order and were released on their promise to return to work.

A crowd of nearly 500 persons cheered the teachers as the buses drove off.

Program begins to make town aware of hunger

More than 30 people were on hand for the opening of the Hunger Awareness Center at 283 W. Middle Tpk. Tuesday night.

The program for the evening, "Hunger: What Is It," included slides, music and a discussion. Today the center is observing "School Day" and students and teachers will visit the center, where resource materials, teaching aids, films and books will be available. The center is also open to the public tonight from 8 to 9.

Thursday's program from 7 to 9 p.m. deals with nutrition, and a nutritious meal will be at the center. Friday's program will discuss junk food and what goes into Manchester meals.

"Self Help Projects" will be discussed Friday from 7 to 9 explaining what is being done around the world to help people help themselves.

Saturday from noon to 2 p.m., an international luncheon will be served. Proceeds will go to world hunger.

On Monday, the National Day of Fasting, the council asks Manchester residents to "join us in a celebration of fasting for the world and bring money or canned food to the center as an offering. The Rev. Ronald J. Fournier, council chairman, said.

Kelley would welcome oversight of FBI

WASHINGTON (UPI) — FBI Director Clarence Kelley said today he would welcome more congressional oversight of the bureau to avoid the charges of "dirty and dangerous" tactics used against Americans in the past.

He said one of his missions was to "restore any breach of credibility that has occurred" as a result of FBI activities.

A Senate committee Tuesday heard evidence that the FBI compiled a half-million dossiers on directors for the world and bring money or canned food to the center as an offering. The Rev. Ronald J. Fournier, council chairman, said.

Kelley did not address those issues during a television interview today, saying that his representatives would be testifying before the committee later.

He did say he would not have any hesitation to allow total access to his files. "The only thing I'd withhold would be names of informers."

"One of the most important things is that the Congress select a man for director in whom they have trust, then set up regulations and guidelines and then have good oversight," he said.

He began his coaching career in 1951 at Middle Tennessee State and moved to Trinity (Tex.) in 1953 for five seasons. A native of Tennessee, Shipp also coached at Florida State, Tulsa, South Carolina and Miami (Fla.) and spent two years with Montreal of the Canadian Football League.

Agreement in principle reached on band shell

An agreement between the Town of Manchester and Manchester Community College governing rules for a band shell on MCC campus was approved "in principle" Tuesday night by the Board of Directors.

The board instructed the town council to draft a formal agreement and scheduled a public hearing for Dec. 9, with board action expected Dec. 16.

The proposal was explained Tuesday night by State Rep. and former mayor Francis Mahoney, co-chairman of Manchester's Bicentennial Committee. Dr. Ronald Denison, president of MCC; Mary Giblin, chairman of the sites committee; Ralph Maccaroni, chairman of the band shell design committee; and John Sullivan, chairman of the finance committee.

Mahoney told the directors the band shell will be at no cost to the town. He said the estimated $40,000 needed will be raised by public subscription. Sullivan assured the directors, "We'll get it all." He said part of it already is in.

Maccaroni explained that the original plan was for a $100,000 "Hollywood Bowl" type band shell, then modified to a simpler design at an estimated $40,000 cost.

Miss Giblin told of the search for a site and the problems involved. She said the one on the MCC campus fits all requirements.

And Dr. Denison assured the directors it will be "A People's Bandshell," with the Town of Manchester having priority for its use and "with MCC standing in line like everyone else for using it." He said good relations between the town and college is advisable and beneficial for all concerned.

Charlie Winner fired by Jets

HEMPSTEAD, N.Y. (UPI) — Charlie Winner, a defensive specialist whose team has surrendered the most points in the National Football League this season, today was fired as head coach of the New York Jets and replaced on an interim basis by offensive coordinator Ken Shipp.

Winner, a controversial selection since he succeeded his father-in-law, Weeb Ewbank, two years ago, saw his club lose six straight games and seven of nine overall and allow 293 points in the process. He was in the second year of a three-year contract.

The 46-year-old Shipp joined the Jets in 1973 after spending two years as offensive coach in New Orleans. He was originally hired by Winner at St. Louis in 1968 and coached the Cardinals through 1970.

Shipp's main responsibility with the Jets has been working with quarterback Joe Namath and his talented receiving corps.

He began his coaching career in 1951 at Middle Tennessee State and moved to Trinity (Tex.) in 1953 for five seasons. A native of Tennessee, Shipp also coached at Florida State, Tulsa, South Carolina and Miami (Fla.) and spent two years with Montreal of the Canadian Football League.

Opinion

Halloween massacre: Trick or treat?

They immediately dubbed it the "Halloween massacre" — President Ford's firing of Defense Secretary James R. Schlesinger and CIA Director William E. Colby.

But about the only thing in common between this sudden cabinet shakeup and President Nixon's dumping of Watergate Special Prosecutor Archibald Cox, among others, two years ago was that it occurred on a weekend.

By ordering the famous "Saturday night massacre" Richard M. Nixon sealed his own eventual doom. It is extremely doubtful if Gerald Ford's reshuffling of one cabinet and two advisory posts, the other being Henry Kissinger's seat on the National Security Council, will even be remembered by many Americans when they go to the polls next year, much less influence their voting.

Congressional Democrats continue to try to make the most of the matter, however, most notably Sen. Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash., like Schlesinger one of the capital's leading advocates of a strong and national defense and of a tough stand against Moscow and thus a skeptical critic of the detente politics of Secretary of State Kissinger.

Colby's going had been expected, although not quite so soon, and was probably inevitable because of a continuing string of embarrassing and damaging revelations about the U.S. intelligence gathering establishment.

But it is Jackson's view, shared by an unknown number of others, that Kissinger was really behind the firing of Schlesinger because of the latter's refusal to fall in line on such matters as strategic arms limitation talks with the Russians. Kissinger's relinquishing his post as White House national security advisor is said to be meaningless since his place will soon be taken by his own close deputy.

Air Force Lt. Gen. Bruce Scowcroft.

"The last vestige of dissent may be wiped out," Jackson said. "Dissent to Dr. Kissinger, I mean."

What the senator is saying in effect, is that President Ford and everyone in his administration are little more than yes men to Henry Kissinger — an allegation which, if true, Americans would certainly want to weigh very heavily in the election scales next year.

There are numerous other indications, however, that Kissinger is hardly the power behind anybody's throne, if he ever was. Newsweek magazine quotes "sources close to the President" as saying the warmth has gone out of the relationship between the President and the secretary and that, although he has no intention of doing so, the President would not hesitate to get rid of Kissinger if he decided he needed it.

It is inevitable too, that after a year in office, Gerald Ford is feeling more independent of Kissinger and more sure of himself in foreign affairs, which has been almost the personal province of every chief executive since F. D. Roosevelt.

The President may simply believe that the Kissinger approach to relations with the Soviet Union is the correct one and that the Schlesinger hard-line approach had not only been overtaken by events but was hampering his relations with Congress. Schlesinger's recent passionate denunciation of the "deep and savage cuts" the House proposed making in the defense budget was not exactly the kind likely to win friends and influence legislators on Capitol Hill.

History may have to decide in the end who was right — Schlesinger or Kissinger. But President Ford has made it abundantly clear which philosophy he, at least, believes history will vindicate.

A suspenseful vigil

NEW YORK CITY — The suspenseful vigil to see who will be Justice Douglas' successor on the Supreme Court attests to the long-range power the judges have over our collective destiny.

Douglas was not only the longest in tenure in the court's history. He was also one of the most militant and controversial of the judges. This is what makes the conventional canons of the search for a new justice so ironic.

Consider the hard facts of court history. Marshall was a Federalist politician, who lined up with John Adams against the Jeffersonians. Taney was a States-rights Jacksonian who was attacked for being soft on slavery.

Black was a radical New Deal senator who — as it turned out — had been a member of the Ku Klux Klan. Frankfurter had one notoriety in the

MAX LERNER

Sacco-Vanzetti case, and — as a Harvard law professor — was the fount from which the waters the Roosevelt brain trust flowed into Washington. Jackson was close to Roosevelt and, as attorney general, had cut close to the legal bone in his opinion on the destroyer-for-bases deal with Britain.

The only two of the group who would clearly have passed muster by the ABA's standards, at least on the surface, were Holmes and Stone, and possibly Warren. Yet all of them made Supreme Court history, and therefore American history.

In recent Supreme Court history the four most embattled judges were — aside from Warren himself — the creatives ones. They were Black and Douglas on one side of the barricades and Frankfurter and Jackson on the other.

The nation will be lucky if it gets someone in Douglas' place who, whatever his credentials, will prove an independent and creative interpreter of the law.

Private schools and private clubs

WASHINGTON — Names of prestigious learning factories come to mind as one ponders the Supreme Court's agreement to decide whether private schools may refuse admission to black children because of their race.

There must be stirrings in the ivory towers of Exeter, Andover and Croton at the possibility that the highest bench will rule they must open their doors to more than a token quota of blacks.

It is not all that farfetched. If the state can strike down racial discrimination in private institutions it has no choice but to prohibit discrimination based on religion.

Anyhow, this is the situation: Earlier this year the United States Court of Appeals decided by a vote of 4 to 3 that the law "prohibits the rejection of a black applicant when his qualifications meet all other requirements, and race is the only basis for his rejection."

Undergraduate loan programs are failing, and proof of this is the fact that defaults on federally guaranteed loans to college students now total some $386 million.

Such is the blunt assessment of Boston University president, John R. Silber, who testified recently before a Senate appropriations subcommittee.

The loan concept "is an increasingly unsatisfactory and socially disruptive mechanism," he charges, "which will send students who left poverty for college back to poverty, and strand even some of the more affluent on its margin."

Congress, he warns, through existing loan programs, is inadvertently pointing the way toward a new coming of age — "a financial bar mitzvah in which young Americans will declare bankruptcy at about 25 and thus be freed of all debts incurred in obtaining their education."

Even if this does not become a morally acceptable practice, says Silber, many students face the prospect of beginning their working lives deeply in debt.

were refused admission.

At issue is whether the 1866 civil rights act prohibits private schools from denying blacks equal power with whites to make and enforce personal contracts, such as enrollment in a private school.

The appeals court, however, went one controversial step further. It claimed that: "Though certain intimate and private affairs of men and women are protected from governmental interference, the schoolhouse is far from the realm of protection."

Health agency hearings set

Three public hearings have been scheduled in the Manchester area concerning the establishment of Health Systems Agencies in Connecticut.

The scheduled meetings are: Thursday at 7:30 p.m. in conference room C at Manchester Memorial Hospital; Nov. 25 at 7:30 p.m., Ellington Town Hall in Ellington; Dec. 10 at 7:30 p.m., conference room C at Manchester Memorial Hospital.

What may be considered as the most important piece of federal health legislation since Medicare and Medicaid is being implemented in Connecticut under the National Health Planning & Resource Development Act of 1973, Public Act 93-941.

One provision of this law mandates the establishment of five Health Systems Agencies in the state.

In north central Connecticut (Region 14) the board of directors of the reorganized Health Planning Council voted to submit application for HSA designation. The public meetings are part of the designation process arranged to inform the public about the basic provisions of the legislation and to provide an opportunity for community input and response to the application for Health Systems Agency designation in north central Connecticut.

Safety while smoking

A cigarette can be a death dealing weapon...Like little children, when left alone have a way of getting into trouble.

Never smoke in bed; it's suicide.

Never smoke or light a match near gasoline pumps.

Never leave a cigarette unattended.

Never throw cigarette butts in a wastebasket.

Ashtrays should be deep dish and designed so cigarettes fall into it, not out of it.

Even homes where residents do not smoke should have ashtrays — servicemen, plumbers, and handymen may smoke, finding no ashtrays, they may lay their cigarettes on counters, floors, or in wastebaskets and forget them.

News for Senior Citizens

Hello everybody, I guess the big news is that this past Monday our center was part of history for the Town of Manchester. History, because the Democrat-controlled director and school boards were sworn into office for the third straight election which is the first time the Democrats won control three elections in a row.

It's a short but interesting ceremony, and was highlighted by a few inspiring words from Chief Justice Charles House Jr. It was good to see among the many spectators a large turnout of Girl Scouts which I believe was another first.

After the ceremonies all present were treated to sandwiches, dessert, and a beverage made and served by our own senior members, Helen Flavel, Antonina Poesch, Theresa Negro, Ann Thompson, Dorothy Brass, Sue Schiebschping, Marge Hall, Bernadette Noel, Ann Rouhan, Denise Piantanida, George Vallone, Ernest Erwin and Philip Brass.

The hall was appropriately decorated with red, white and blue streamers, thanks to Gloria and our all around handyman Tom Edwards. I want to thank wholeheartedly all these hard workers, and others who weren't able to make it, but did donate food.

Once again, on behalf of the staff, seniors, and myself we congratulate the Board of Directors, the new Mayor Mathew Moriarty Jr., and the members of the Board of Education. We wish them a most successful and harmonious term.

Meanwhile back at the center the programs start with the happenings on Friday. After another fine turnout for our morning kitchen social games, we had 58 players for setback with the following: Bob Gardner, 131; Alice Shorette, 127; Edward Scott, 128; Ann Ferras, 123; Alfreda Hallin, Vivian Laquerre, 122; Edward Shensie, Esther Anderson, 120; Mabel Loomis, Roy Durey, and Helen Silver, 119; Cecile Benson, 117; Grace Windsor, 116; Marjorie Reed, 115; Audrey Durey and Marjorie Hall, 114.

We send our sincere condolences to Ann Young and Margaret Thierren who in the course of a few days lost a sister and a niece. We also send them to Georgina Vince on the loss of her niece, and to Ella Brimble on the loss of her daughter who passed away recently.

Our good friend Karl White is feeling somewhat better these days, but still must stay close to home. If you happen to be in his neighborhood, 210 Carver Lane stop in for a short visit. If not, send him a card to cheer him, we know he would love to hear from you. We hope it won't be too long before he'll be back with us.

Another good friend, Margaret Descyis hospitalized at the local hospital, and is expected to be in for sometime. She can have visitors now, so stop by and say hello, if not send her some encouragement with cards.

Next bit of news is that we have filled the third bus for the Restland Farm Christmas Party, so we ask that all of you who sign up for the third bus should come in as soon as possible to pay for this trip.

Monday morning we had 88 players for our kitchen social games, and in the afternoon we had 18 tables for pinocle with the following winners: George Last, 746; Ernestine Donnelly, 733; Beatrice Cormier, 695; Robert Schubert and Gertrude Herrmann, 688; Edward Shensie, 682; Josephine Schuetz, 681; Grace Windsor, 673; Leon Fallot, 672; Beatrice Mader, 666; Ann Fisher, 654; Lyla Steele, 652; Bertha Durbin, 648; Joseph Windsor, 647; Robina Carroll, 646; and Felix Jesanis, 644.

Tomorrow should be an exciting day. In the morning we will have our classes in both pinocle and setback. These classes are advanced to where we cannot take any more. Classes are from 10 o'clock until eleven-thirty. After a delicious meal of roast turkey with all the trimmings, the meal will move upstairs for our Fun-Day. Today we will be pleasantly entertained by members of the "Sunshiners" and there will be an added surprise in store for you. We understand that Melvis is in the neighborhood so we tried to get him to drop in for a quickie. If he can't make it, Melvis senior will take his place.

Sounds like an enjoyable fun and lighter afternoon, so stay in. Join us for the hot meal and then stay for the entertainment.

By the way, next week is Thanksgiving and therefore our building will be closed both Thursday and Friday. This Friday, and next Monday will be our last chance to drop off your canned goods, or donation so that we may contribute to the needy families in town.

Another reminder that our craft fair is just around the corner. We're looking for a lot of your good homemade cooking and baking for our food sale. It's one of our big deals of the season, and everyone here is working hard to make this our best fair yet. Your help is needed, and appreciated. For further information give our office a call and ask for Gloria.

Mrs. Schuets prepares for holiday fair

By JUNE TOMPKINS
Staff Reporter

She's a whiz at cards. She can play a polka or a Viennese waltz on the piano. She knits and crochets intricate designs with fine thread and instruments. She has done wood carvings, paintings and sculpture.

Throughout her life, Mrs. Josephine Schuets of 15 Thomas Dr. has wanted to be a creative artist. Her interest began as a child in her native Vienna where she first learned to knit and crochet in school at the age of six. She continued in her creative desires after she came to the United States when she was ten. She attributes some of her talent to her father, the late Louis Resel, who was employed as a cabinet maker at Watkins Bros.

In a box in her closet is a collection of treasured designs saved from magazines and newspapers from which she recreates her own fancy work articles just by studying the pictures.

She tells how a paper doll in a bakery shop caught her attention once with its intricate lace border design. She asked for and was given one to take home when she transformed the pattern to a lovely crocheted border for a handkerchief. In 1934 she was the only outsider in a series of special art classes provided by the Cheney family for Manchester school teachers. In these classes she learned wood carving, painting and clay modeling.

One of her prized accomplishments is Snow White and Seven Dwarfs which she carved from wood using her potato peeler and painted in bright colors.

"I always wanted to make things," she says. She has made paper flowers before they became available in the stores. She used to make hats for her family and friends. The costumes she made for herself for masquerades at Cheney Hall always won prizes, she says.

Always a lover of music, she still plays her piano and occasionally entertains the Senior Citizens with the Clarinet Polka or a Viennese waltz. She used to play for movies in the old Circle Theater on Oak St. Almost 87 (her birthday is in January), she says she will continue to create her fancy articles as long as she can see and hold a crochet hook, or a pair of needles.

Some of her items will be available for sale at the Senior Citizens fair on Dec. 4 at the Senior Citizens Center.

Monopoly is for the mean at heart

I have a deep dark desire to beat my 12-year-old son, just once, in a game of Monopoly. Since you don't win at Monopoly by being softhearted, the only way I'm going to do it, is to forget that I'm his mother and be a mean, tough business woman.

During the first few minutes of the game the dice decide everything, it's pure luck. But, when all the property is sold, and hotels and houses are sprouting up on every lot, shrewdness is the quality that counts.

The other night I had my chance to totally bankrupt John and muffed it. I owned three quarters of the property, including the coveted Boardwalk and Park Place. Rent money was coming in by the bundles and my son was sitting across from me in big trouble. He had no money on the table, he was mortgaged to the hilt, and he owed me $50 in back rent.

That was my moment. It was a buyer's market and I could have bought all his mortgaged property for next nothing. But do you know what I did? I felt sorry for him. After all, he is my son and he was in a terrible spot, so, I did what any mother would have done. I offered him $1,000 for St. Charles Place (he had paid $140 for it not 20 minutes before).

That $1,000 changed the game. First of all, John had been holding out on me. When I handed him his money, he reached up his sleeve, pulled out a $500 bill, and plunked it on the table.

"I've been saving it for a rainy day," he said with a sly grin.

Then he paid me my rent, paid off all his mortgages, and with a few lucky rolls of the dice went on to win the game.

"Tough luck, ma," he said as he counted his winnings.

I couldn't believe it! After all I did for that boy, he just wiped me out and smiled as he did it. Someday he's going to sit in a swivel chair and smoke 55 cigars!

But I've learned a lesson and I'm not going to be caught with my motherhood showing again. Not in Monopoly! I'll just grit my teeth and be really mean for a few minutes.

Then I'll shrug off my victory with a "Tough luck, John. Tough luck!"

Town to review grant priorities

Manchester's Community Development Advisory Committee (CDAC) will conduct public hearings Dec. 1 and 2 to determine whether priorities established last year for use of federal block grants are still the same.

Alan Mason, coordinator of the local community development program, said the public hearings will be Dec. 1 at Nathan Hale School and Dec. 2 at Whiton Library. Both meetings are scheduled for 7:30 p.m.

The public hearings are to be held soon, Mason said, because of recently enacted state legislation which sets a waiting period before the town can file its community development application with federal officials.

The town's application for second-year grants in the federal program must be approved by the Board of Directors by Jan. 1. The deadline for the final application to the federal Department of Housing and Urban Development is in mid-May, Mason said.

Manchester anticipates a $301,000 block grant for the second year of the five-year program. The town's application for $301,000 in the current year was approved, although not all of the money has been received.

Already spent by the town: $116,000 for buying land off Spencer St. for an elderly housing project, $32,000 for administration of the program, and $15,000 for housing code enforcement.

Other first-year projects not yet started include ramping of public buildings, a neighborhood multi-service center for the handicapped, and downtown sewer improvements.

Mason said the handicapped center and sewer work won't be done until the second year of the program, when more funds will be assigned for those projects.

Reporting on first-year progress, Mason said town officials are drafting a revision of the town housing code; possible programs of the handicapped center are being studied; and a second-year priority, a revolving loan fund for housing rehabilitation, is being explored further.

Mark Solomon named trustee of college

Mark I. Solomon, son of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel J. Solomon of 19 Robert Rd., has been named a trustee of Spring Garden College, Chestnut Hill, Pa. "in recognition of his efforts to grant scholarships to students of Philadelphia ghetto areas who otherwise would not attend college."

A nationally known authority on business insurance and author of seven nationally published articles on taxes, fringe benefits and insurance, Solomon is president of the CMS Companies, Philadelphia.

He is a 1956 graduate of Manchester High School, is a graduate of Wharton School of Finance, University of Pennsylvania, and a guest lecturer in insurance at the Wharton School. He has spoken in 42 states, 4 foreign countries and several times has addressed the annual meeting of the Association of Advanced Life Underwriters.

In June 1970, Solomon received a Distinguished Service Award from the Simon Gratz High School of Philadelphia, in making it possible for 15 to 20 students of the high school to receive educational grants to Spring Garden College.

Solomon was commended at the time by Marcus A. Foster, principal of the high school. In 1973, when he was superintendent of schools in Oakland, Calif., Mr. Foster was murdered on a street corner in that city.

Three weeks ago, Mark Solomon established the Emanuel L. Solomon Scholarship at Spring Garden College, in honor of his late uncle, who died June 7, 1973 in Manchester. The scholarship, he said, "is because of Uncle Manny's dedicated interest in the young people of Manchester."

Second Awareness program planned

Crossroads first Adult Awareness Program, which ended Nov. 10, has been considered so successful that the counseling and drug information center is planning to repeat the program in January.

Jim Breitenfeld, director of Crossroads, said 15 adults attended the series of three two-hour sessions. Due to the favorable response and continuing interest, Crossroads will repeat the program, he said.

The Drug Awareness Program was designed to offer drug education to adults in the community, many of whom have had no training in this area. With the abuse of drugs and alcohol still very much a part of the world, our world, the need for open accurate discussions between parents and their youngsters is critical, Breitenfeld said.

In order to have this type of interaction, he said, it is necessary for both parties to possess an objective factual knowledge of the subject. Drug education programs for school students have been in effect for a number of years, and the Crossroads program was aimed at giving parents an equal footing, Breitenfeld said.

The Town Council accepted several commission resignations last night. They included three newly appointed councilmen.

William Dailey resigned as a member of the Planning and Zoning Commission and Henry Genga from the Insurance Committee.

Republican councilman John Finnegan had served on the Emergency Medical Service Commission since its inception and also on the Zoning Board of Appeals.

Two members of the Human Rights Commission also resigned. Both were original commissioners appointed this past summer.

Charles F. Hass is moving out of state and Woodrow W. Gaitor found conflicts with his job serving on the commission.

Pay raise

Municipal employees, Public Works and Park Department employees as well as non-union employees were granted a five per cent raise on the recommendation of Mayor Richard Blackstone.

Republican leader Esther B. Clarke wanted to table the matter as she wanted more information. Newly elected Republican James Cordier abstained as he felt both sides presented good arguments.

The council voted 5 to 2 for the pay increases for about 250 town employees. According to the mayor, the raises will cost $135,000 which will be taken from the town's contingency fund.

Senior citizens in conflict over control of seniors' center

Vernon

Mrs. Joyce Taylor, member of the recreation commission, told the Town Council Monday night not all the senior citizens want to run the Lottie Fisk center themselves.
Many want the recreation department to continue running it, she said.
The commission met with a large number of the senior citizens to allow them to air their views on a petition presented several weeks ago to the council.

The petition, signed by a number of senior citizens, asked that they be able to run their own center. Mrs. Taylor said the commission feels it would be impractical for the seniors to take over.
She said one of the items the commission was overwhelmingly against was the seniors taking over the maintenance of the center.
There was no opposition to the ordinance from anyone at the hearing but several town officials spoke in favor of it.

L. Edwin Carlson of the Vernon Police Department, speaking for Chief Herman Fritz, read a memo from the chief which, stated his staunch approval.
He expressed his deep concern about firemen being hindered by vehicles blocking fire lanes. He said the ordinance will greatly increase pedestrian safety also.
Robert Tedoldi, president of the building is not open nights for the senior citizens, or holidays.

He said some of the senior citizens aren't speaking to each other because of the petition and noted, "We're old enough to run it ourselves."
Lester Bartlett, another senior citizen, said they could run the center themselves and then come to the council if any problems arise.

He also complained of the small amount of space they have in the Senior Citizen Center on Park Place. He said the Common Pleas Court has offices there and the recreation department has moved its offices there from the Lottie Fisk Building in Henry Park.

Council adopts fire lanes

Vernon

Rockville Area Chamber of Commerce, said the chamber supports the ordinance.
He cautioned the council, however, that fire lanes now exist in most of the town's larger shopping centers but they are ignored.
He therefore called for the vigorous and continued execution of the law and the penalties involved.
"We feel a tough policy is the only position," he said.
Vernon Fire Chief William Johnson and Rockville Chief Donald Maguda noted occasions when it was impossible to get equipment through to fires. Maguda cited the redevelopment shopping area.
George Graff, a Rockville resident, said he was concerned with the way the parking lot there is used as a throughway to Brooklyn St.

A fire lane is a designated, unobstructed passageway sufficient in size to permit free passage of fire and other emergency equipment from a public highway to all private or public property.
The fire marshal will place the law and the penalties involved. They will have 15 days to object.
Signs will be set up by the public works department. Penalties will be inflicted on anyone parking a car in these areas. Picking up or dropping off passengers will be allowed as long as someone stays in the driver's seat. Fines are $25. If late the fine will be $100.

McAdoo wins shoot-out with Jabbar

NEW YORK (UPI) — Kareem Abdul-Jabbar said Bob McAdoo "played his usual game" against the Los Angeles Lakers. But, he added, "his usual game is very excellent." It was indeed excellent Tuesday night as McAdoo outscored Jabbar 38 to 35 in the shoot-out of all-star centers and led the Buffalo Braves to a 120-106 National Basketball Association win over Los Angeles. The win enabled the Braves to move a half-game ahead of second place Philadelphia in the NBA Atlantic Division, while the Lakers dropped 1 1/2 games behind front-running Golden State in the Pacific. McAdoo, the league's leading scorer, led the Braves to a 120-106 win, scoring 38 points in the final period, scoring 11 points as Buffalo turned a one-point lead into a 74-62 cushion.

McAdoo had a lot of help from Gar Heard, who scored nine points and pulled down nine rebounds in the third period. But Heard credited his rebounds to McAdoo's work on Abdul-Jabbar. "I was trying to help Mac out with Jabbar and I didn't realize I had that many rebounds. Mac was busy trying to keep Jabbar away from the boards and if he keeps his man away, I can get the ball," Heard said. Elsewhere in the NBA, New York won 120-106, Golden State put away New Orleans 112-104 and Houston topped Cleveland 95-91. In the only American Basketball Association game, Indiana vanquished Kentucky 106-92. Knicks 101, Trailblazers 92. The Knicks, led by Walt Frazier

Sabres continue mastery over Islanders in NHL

NEW YORK (UPI) — Someday the Buffalo Sabres may lose a game to the New York Islanders. That day hasn't yet arrived. Tuesday night the Sabres continued their mastery, whipping New York 3-1. Buffalo, the only National Hockey League club the Islanders have never beaten, is now 11-9-5 versus the Long Island club. It was the Islanders' fifth loss in their last six games while the Sabres picked up their third straight victory and fifth in their last six games. "It's the same way with Philadelphia and Buffalo," said French Connection right wing Rene Robert, who scored the game's first goal only 29 seconds after the initial faceoff. "We never beat Philadelphia. We're just lucky against the Islanders. We always seem to get them when they're due for a bad game. After a West Coast trip like they just completed, it takes a few games to get back in the swing. The Islanders had been on the brink of becoming the third ABA franchise to fold this season. "It's a great day for area sports," Squire General Manager Jack Ankers, son said in announcing the club will stay afloat. "Now we can get down a sound Islander game. Our style is very similar to Philadelphia's and they have no trouble against the Islanders." Robert opened the scoring, firing a low bullet past Glenn Resch after taking a pass from Gil Perreault. It was Perreault's 25th NHL assist. After a scoreless second period, red-hot sophomore Danny Gare scored his 13th goal. Ed Westfall scored his eighth goal 5 1/2 minutes later to cut the margin to 2-1. Peter McNab's seventh goal put the game out of reach. Elsewhere in the NHL, Vancouver tied Atlanta 2-2, Toronto beat Washington 4-2, California defeated Edmonton 6-3 and San Diego drubbed Calgary 6-2. Canucks 2, Flames 2. In the World Hockey Association, Quebec beat Cincinnati 6-4, Houston edged Winnipeg 3-2, Denver dined on St. Louis 5-1. MVP Morgan proves point that size doesn't count

NEW YORK (UPI) — Joe Morgan, the Cincinnati Reds' pint-sized second baseman who has been telling people since he was a teen-ager that size doesn't count in baseball, feels today he has proved his point. For evidence, he is the winner of the National League's Most Valuable Player Award by a landslide margin. The 32-year old native of Bonham, Tex., received 321 1/2 points in voting by 24 members of the Baseball Writers Association of America to win the award by a wide margin over musician Greg Luzinski of the Philadelphia Phillies who had 154 points. Dave Parker of the Pittsburgh Pirates was third with 120 points followed by Johnny Bench and

Pete Rose of the Reds with 117 and 114 points respectively. Morgan received 21 1/2 first-place votes with Rose getting the other 2 1/2. Morgan's 167 1/2 point plurality is the largest in the history of the voting in either league and he is the first second baseman to gain NL MVP honors since Jackie Robinson of the Brooklyn Dodgers in 1949. Morgan, who signed into the Houston Astros' organization in 1963 because their scout was the only one of several who didn't warn him about his lack of size, emphasized his all-around skills in acknowledging receipt of the award. "To me, there is more to baseball than just hitting and running," he said. "But winning the award this year over guys who hit more homers or drove in more runs — that proved the man who can play well in every phase of the game still is appreciated. I'm happiest about that."

JOE MORGAN

Morgan didn't forget little man who helped

NEW YORK (UPI) — The calls were coming so fast, Joe Morgan hardly had a chance to answer them all. He was being swamped. Friends, team mates, sportswriters, everybody was calling to congratulate the little Cincinnati second baseman on being named the National League's MVP. Finally, after handling an un-interrupted string of calls for nearly an hour, Morgan placed the receiver back in its cradle momentarily, then picked it up again to make a call of his own.

When I win an award such as this, my thoughts go back to the people who helped me in the very beginning, the ones responsible for my becoming the player I am now," said Morgan, explaining one of the reasons behind his second call to Fox. "In my first couple of years with Houston after coming up from the minors, Fox and Bob Lillis were coaches there and they worked with me a great deal. You don't forget things like that especially when they happen to you just coming up the way I was. One thing I always remember Fox saying to me: 'When you're not hitting, you gotta do something else.' He'd sit and talk to me and help me that one thing. He'd tell me I couldn't

Landry against instant replays to aid officials in decisions

DALLAS (UPI) — Since almost every game the Dallas Cowboys have played this season has been close, every official's call can be critical to the playoff hopes of the club.

But Coach Tom Landry said Tuesday he thought humans — not machines — should make the officiating decisions.

The furor touched off by the Jim Hart-to-Mel Gray touchdown pass which helped St. Louis beat Washington last Sunday has revived the oft-mentioned possibility of using instant replays to decide controversial plays.

"We have talked about that for years in the league meetings," said Landry, whose Cowboys have defeated St. Louis and lost to Washington in overtime games this season.

"And when you have a controversial decision made that affects the outcome of a division race or a championship game it would seem to justify the need for using cameras."

"But I don't think we should do that. I think the officials on the field should stay in charge."

Red Hadden Day

Members of the Manchester Board of Directors at their meeting last night unanimously designated Saturday, Nov. 22 as Red Hadden Day in Manchester.

Hadden, general chairman for the Five Mile Road Race Thanksgiving morning, will be honored Saturday night at a testimonial dinner at the Masonic Temple which notes the Tall Cedars' 25th anniversary of sponsorship.

"Teams play good games and bad games, too, but that is part of football."

Landry said he thought Washington would be able to bounce back from the difficult loss to St. Louis better than most teams.

"It is always a disappointment when you lose a game that you think you have won," Landry said. "It takes something out of you for a while. But Washington with its experience should come back."

ABA in plenty of trouble, crowds off, paychecks high

By MILTON RICHMAN
UPI Sports Editor

NEW YORK (UPI) — The next question is obvious: Will the ABA be the next league to fold?

Dave DeBusschere says no, but keep in mind he's a friendly witness. He's the ABA commissioner. Whaddya expect him to say, the whole league is gonna fall apart? Commissioners don't talk that way.

Other people do, though, and what many of them are saying is that the ABA's troubles aren't necessarily over simply because San Diego and Baltimore both found they couldn't hack it anymore and went out of business inside the past three weeks.

The ABA is down to eight teams now. It could be reduced to six before long because the Spirits of St. Louis and Virginia Squires are playing their home games virtually in private. They're drawing, as the saying goes, flies, and when you're paying some of your players like Marvin Barnes $300,000, Maurice Lucas $200,000 and Don Chaney also $200,000, the way St. Louis, and people aren't even showing up to see them, the only course left to you suddenly grows clearer and clearer.

Remember the WFL? In case you've forgotten, it used to be a football league and had trouble drawing people also. Now it's only a memory.

"We're not like the WFL," says Dave DeBusschere. "We have strong franchises. Naturally, I can't be excited with the position the league is in now compared with the one it was in last August, but I think we've come out of all this with a positive attitude. We can have eight of the best teams in basketball."

That's nice optimistic talk, but it doesn't solve the serious problems in St. Louis and Virginia.

Last Friday, Harry Weltman, president of the St. Louis club which lost more than a million dollars a year, said he was considering moving the team to Cincinnati because it wasn't drawing at home. The announcement shook up St. Louis basketball fans so much, I.H.I. then broke down the doors to see the Spirits beat San Diego in the losers' final game ever.

Ex-Providence hoopster testifies in his trial

PROVIDENCE, R.I. (UPI) — Former Providence College basketball player Lawrence Kervitris has testified in U.S. District Court that he would have become the team's starting center if Marvin Barnes had been suspended from school.

Kervitris is suing Barnes, who now plays professional basketball with the Spirits of St. Louis, for $1.5 million. Kervitris claims that on Oct. 19, 1972 Barnes assaulted him with a tire iron. The incident allegedly took place on the PC campus.

Under cross examination Tuesday, Kervitris said he would have considered dropping criminal charges against Barnes if Barnes had been suspended from school after the alleged incident.

Kervitris testified that during a practice session he unintentionally hit Barnes in the mouth with his elbow while going after a loose ball. Afterward, he testified, Barnes asked to see him outside where he was allegedly struck from behind.

Kervitris said he did not actually see the weapon he was struck with, but that when Barnes followed him back to the school cafeteria Barnes was holding a tire iron.

Kervitris says the alleged blow has caused him severe and permanent injuries.

The jury trial resumed today.

Indian jayvee gridders triumph

Taking a 16-12 verdict yesterday was the Manchester High jayvee football team over Newton High at Memorial Field.

After a scoreless first quarter in which the defenses dominated, the young Indians began a drive deep in their own territory in the second quarter to only to see the march halted at the Newton-five as the clock ran out. The big play in the aborted drive was a 50-yard pass play from Craig Ostrostr to Bob Ruggerio.

The third quarter belonged to the locals with Tom Prignano's 20-yard touchdown run capping off a 72-yard sustained drive. Mike Linsenbieger's two-point conversion upped the lead to 8-0. In the closing minutes following a penalty, Newtonton scored to make it 8-6 as the conversion failed.

Manchester upped its edge in the final stanza on a 60-yard scoring toss from Craig Ostrostr to older brother Wayne Ostrostr. Prignano added the two-point conversion. Newtonton scored on a seven-yard run with 20 seconds left to make the final tally close.

Defensively, Prignano had an interception and Rich Lenhardt and Scott Carpenter recovered fumbles. The offensive output was over 250 yards.

The lighter side: The kind of love you just hate

By DICK WEST
WASHINGTON (UPI) — During the past few years we have witnessed what amounts to a tennis explosion in this country, with millions of people taking up the game.

Until recently, nobody had offered a satisfactory explanation for the tremendous upsurge in the sport's popularity. But now I think we may have the answer.

During a debate in Nashville, Tenn. the other day, a Vanderbilt University professor set forth the argument that tennis is a good bit like sex.

Actually, I believe he turned the comparison around, contending that good sex is equivalent to a good tennis game. But it adds up to the same thing.

The professor, Dr. Robert Egan, made this point in defending casual sex relations. He said it made no more sense to go through life with one sex partner than it did always to play tennis with the same person.

I don't have the expertise to challenge Egan's reasoning with respect to sexual promiscuity. I am, however, in a position to say a few words in behalf of monogamy.

It so happens that I've been playing tennis with, or more precisely, playing against the same person ever since I took up the game. And I must say I've never had cause to regret the arrangement.

This is not to say that over the years neither of us has never played with anyone else. This is, after all, the 20th Century. If my regular opponent is out of town, or sidelined with a case of tennis elbow, I'm not going to sit at home twiddling my thumbs.

I'm going to get out my little black book and start calling around for a match.

There's no pretending, however, that these casual court encounters are anywhere near as meaningful as a match with someone you play against on a regular basis.

In a casual match, except on rare occasions, you have tennis without passion. For if a player is to derive the utmost satisfaction from the game, there must be total hostility.

Only when you have played against someone day in and day out for an extended period do you acquire the intense enmity that makes victory ecstasy and defeat agony.

Only a lasting rivalry between two fairly well matched players puts you on the emotional roller-coaster that gives life its zest.

Show me a tennis player who flits about from one opponent to the next and I'll show you a player who has never known the fulfillment of complete animosity. Tennis promiscuity is seldom more than passing pipie.

First title bout handled by local ref

UConn soccer goalie built like cage star

STORRS (UPI) — At 6-foot-6, Ted McSherry could easily be mistaken for a member of the University of Connecticut basketball team. Actually, McSherry is goalie for the UConn soccer team, ranked No. 1 in New England and seventh nationally.

Allowing just under 20 goals per game, the Storrs senior attributes his success to his teammates.

"The defense has made me look good on a number of occasions," Ted says. "When you made only seven saves a game you know you're getting help."

Holding the New England record for most career shutouts with 19, McSherry tallied eight this season. NCAA tournament which could catapult UConn into the limelight. "I'd be interested in playing pro some day. Right now, with the tournament coming up and being ranked No. 1 in New England, I'm just glad to be a part of it," Morrone says.

Zanussi playing regularly in new uniform of Bruins

DETROIT (UPI) — Two weeks ago Joe Zanussi was a minor league hockey player who felt snubbed by the New York Rangers.

Tonight, he is one of the Boston Bruins defensemen — playing alongside Bobby Orr or Brad Park, as the new look Bruins seek their fifth straight victory.

Zanussi was the extra player in the superstar swap between the Bruins and the Rangers and he quickly has become a favorite of new coach Don Cherry.

"The guy's got good hockey sense," said Cherry of the 5-foot-9 Zanussi, who was the American Hockey League's leading scorer while with the Providence Reds before the trade. "It's beyond me why the Rangers didn't give him a shot when they could have."

"I guess they wanted to give their young guys a chance. But, hell, he's only 28 and he can play with these big guys. He might be little but he goes 190 (pounds). He's solid. I would really like to find out why they didn't give him a chance."

Cherry particularly enjoys Zanussi's tough defensive style and the way he works with Park on penalty-killing situations.

The addition of the two defensemen from the Rangers has helped Boston goalie Gilles Gilbert, who has won the past four games and given up just eight goals in that span.

Since the trade, which sent Phil Esposito and Carol Vadnais for the defensemen and center Jean Ratelle, the Bruins as a team have played tighter, more controlled hockey.

Researchers absolve cyclamates

CHICAGO (UPI) — A Johns Hopkins University researcher says the banned artificial sweeteners calcium cyclamate and saccharin do not cause bladder cancer in humans as once feared.
Dr. Irvin I. Kessler said different results have been obtained through studies on humans than those received through testing on rats that led to the banning of the low-calorie sweeteners, once widely used by the soft drink industry.

Kessler said he based his findings on examinations of 762 cancer patients. He told at meeting of the American Public Health Association Monday there was no significant difference in use of the artificial sweeteners among those who had bladder cancer and those who had other forms of the disease.
"The nonnutritive sweeteners saccharin and cyclamate were not associated with the risk of human bladder cancer in a controlled investigation," Kessler said.

"On the basis of apparent carcinogenic effects in several animal trials," Kessler said, cyclamates were banned in 1969 by the Department of Health, Education and Welfare.
In early 1972, saccharin was also proscribed and limits put on its use following similar tests on animals.

Douglas: Liberal or conservative?

By GEORGE J. MARDER
WASHINGTON (UPI) — Most people think of retiring Justice William Douglas as the liberal on the Supreme Court.
To some, however, he is the strict constructionist, insisting on interpreting the constitution not only to the letter, but to the spirit of the law.

Example:
Douglas insisted that the First Amendment's prohibition against abridgement of freedom of the speech meant just that. To the point Douglas would have done away with all libel and slander laws as abridgements. Well-meaning, but abridgements nevertheless.

Douglas argued that the answer to libel and slander was the truth.
Similarly, Douglas argued for a strict interpretation of the Fifth Amendment's protection against self-incrimination. To him, that meant confessions to crimes must be voluntary to be constitutional.

The confessions must not be obtained by coercion, trickery or ignorance of a defendant's constitutional rights. Only when freely given with full knowledge of all constitutional rights could a confession meet the test of the Fifth Amendment, in Douglas' view.

In the field of civil rights, he again made strict interpretations so that there could be no inequality under law. Racial separation to Douglas meant inequality in violation of the Constitution if brought on by law or community action.

One strain of philosophy shows through Douglas' long career on the court: he insisted that "government get off the backs of the people."

Whenever there was a conflict between the right of the government to protect itself and the right of the people to speak freely or to assemble or the right of the people to face of government accusations, whenever the rights of government clashed with the rights of individuals, he sided with the individual.

Nevertheless, Douglas endorsed strong regulation of business and corporate enterprise. Douglas was an effective chairman of the Securities and Exchange Commission before he went to the court. He guided the court in a series of rulings upholding regulation of business.

How did Douglas reconcile "getting government off the backs of the people" and strong government regulation of business?
These were the justifications:
Douglas did not equate property rights with individual rights. Neither did the Constitution.

Individual rights were guaranteed in clear language: There shall be no abridgement of the right of the people to speak freely. But property rights were protected primarily by the due process clause — property could not be taken away without due process of law.

And the Constitution, Douglas pointed out, specifically gave Congress the power to regulate commerce within the states. Frequently, he felt that power was not exercised in a manner to prevent social and economic injustice.

ABOUT TOWN
The Organization of The Handicapped (OHI) will meet Monday from 7:30 to 9 p.m. at the Mayfair Garden Social Hall on Main and N. Main St. All people who are handicapped and live on the east side of the river under age 65, are invited. For directions, call either 646-5015 or 646-7786.

Kapsia low bidder
Frank Kapsia & Son of Glastonbury, with a price of $9,946, is the apparent low bidder for installing sanitary sewers to service seven properties on the north side of E. Middle Tpke. (No. 685 to No. 719) from Plaza Dr. to Ludlow Rd. The sewers will go through the parking lot behind the properties.

Other bidders for the project are A. Dzen Construction Co. of Manchester, $10,873; Ayotte Bros. of Suffield, $11,636; Disenza Construction Co. of West Hartford, $14,655; and Central Paving Co. of South Windsor, $14,878.

All of the bids came in below estimates. On Sept. 9, the Board of Directors had allocated $18,000 for the work.

Agostinelli named to committee
Manchester GOP chairman Nathan Agostinelli has been named to a 24-member committee to coordinate Connecticut's program in nationwide efforts to give more voters a chance to participate in Republican party affairs.

"Our objective," said Republican state chairman Frederick Biebel, in announcing his appointments, "is to make it easier for all Republicans to participate actively in party affairs, particularly as delegates to Republican National Conventions. We want to make sure that all Republicans — women, young people, labor, minority and heritage groups and senior citizens — have equal opportunities in the Republican party nominating and decision making processes."

Agostinelli is a former state comptroller and former Manchester mayor.

Puerto Rican festival set
"Noche Boricua," a festival of Puerto Rican culture, will be held at 7:30 p.m. at Greater Hartford Community College, 61 Woodland St. in Hartford, Friday, Nov. 21.

"Noche Boricua" will feature each of the three dominant heritages in Puerto Rican life: Spanish, Indian (Borican), and African. Music and dance of an African carnival, of the Jibaro, contemporary protest music, and music from the Puerto Rican coasts will be presented.

"Impacto Boricua," a Hartford-based group of teaching professionals will share some of the cultural richness of Puerto Rico through music and dance. Some of the island's favorite refreshments will be served after the program. "Noche Boricua" is open to the public; admission is free.

Malaria makes a comeback

WASHINGTON (UPI) — This was to be the year when a 15-year war against malaria in Pakistan was to be victorious. Instead, one of every six people in the nation has the debilitating disease.

The malaria eradication effort made great strides in the 1960s and reduced the number of cases from 7 million in 1961 to only 9,500 in 1967. Then something happened. The mosquito-borne disease rebounded and today malaria has reached epidemic proportions again, affecting an estimated 10 million people. If unchecked, health authorities say malaria might afflict as many as 23 million by 1979.

Thousands of people are believed to have died of malaria last year and the economic cost to the developing nation is enormous in terms of lost production and costs of treatment.

According to a recent AID report, the malaria resurgence was the result of a combination of technical, management and financial problems. The India-Pakistan war in 1971 contributed to the spread of malaria and so did disastrous floods in 1973. In an effort to curb malaria before it gets completely out of control, the U.S. Agency for International Development is giving the government of Pakistan $25.3 million and loaning it $35 million to help finance the new $96 million attack on the disease.

Health officials no longer talk about eradicating malaria in Pakistan. The plan is to attempt to control it, reducing the number of active cases to about 400,000 in 1980 when the country's population will be over 80 million.

It's a matter of pride!

Regional crime rate increased

BOSTON (UPI) — Crime in New England in 1974 increased faster than the national average, according to FBI figures.

The FBI said crime in the six-state region jumped 19.2 per cent, while the national rate jumped 18 per cent.

Rhode Island was the only state not to register significant increases, according to the statistic compiled in the annual FBI Uniform Crime Reports.

New Hampshire experienced the biggest jump with a 37.9 per cent increase in crime, followed by a 29 per cent increase in Maine, a 20.7 per cent increase in Connecticut, a 19.2 per cent rise in Massachusetts and a 18.6 per cent increase in Vermont.

In Rhode Island, crime increased by 5.3 per cent, while the state's population decreased.

Rhode Island registered a 3.6 per cent decrease in the number of violent crimes, including murder, manslaughter and rape.

Over-all crime figures jumped 25.2 per cent in Boston, largely due to an increase in property crimes such as robbery and assault. Boston experienced only a fractional increase in the number of violent crimes.

Cardiovascular System

The body's circulatory system — also called the cardiovascular system — is made up of the heart and the arteries, capillaries, and veins. The heart contracts about 70 times each minute, pumping oxygen and food-rich blood into all regions of the body to nourish the muscles and tissues, according to the National Institutes of Health.

Social Security questions and answers

Q. Because I work and get Social Security retirement payments, I had to give Social Security an estimate of my 1975 earnings. Now it looks like my earnings will change. Do I have to report this?

A. Yes. You should. If your earnings are less than your originally estimated you may get additional benefits during 1975 if you report the change. If you don't report the change, however, and you earn more than you originally estimated, you may get payments not due you and have to pay back some money at the end of the year.

Q. I get Social Security retirement payments, but I also work. Exactly how do my earnings affect my benefits this year? I'm 65.

A. If you earn $2,520 or less for 1975, your benefits will not be affected. If you earn more, your payments are reduced $1 for each $2 earned over $2,520. No matter how much you earn for this year, however, you can get your full Social Security payment for any month in which you neither earn over $210 nor perform any substantial work in your own business.

Q. I was recently in the hospital for a week. Now, my doctor has ordered part-time nursing care for me at home. Will my Medicare help pay for this care?

A. It may. Medicare can help pay for home health care — part-time skilled nursing care, physical and speech therapy, and other services — if certain conditions are met. You can find detailed information about home health care in your Medicare Handbook, the blue-covered booklet sent to people who have Medicare. If your copy is lost, call or write any Social Security office.

Q. Both my husband and I work full time. And because we also have two children I'd like to know more about Social Security protection for my family. Is there a booklet I can get?

A. Yes. Call any Social Security office and ask for a free copy of "Social Security Information for Young Families." It explains the Social Security and Medicare protection you are earning for your family.

Q. I'm a junior in college, and I'm going to work for the first time this winter. I've never had a Social Security number so I want to apply for one. Do I need to take any papers to the Social Security office?

A. People applying for a Social Security number for the first time may be asked to prove their age, identity, and citizenship. Your birth certificate and driver's license or something similar bearing your signature will generally serve as proof. If you don't have those, call or write any Social Security office for information about other papers that may be used.

Homeowners should read their meters

WALTHAM, Mass. (UPI) - An energy researcher says homeowners should become aware of how much fuel they are using. "Fuel dealers have monitored energy use by homeowners for inventory purposes for years. If they would indicate on bills how long it takes to use how much, homeowners could monitor their own consumption and adjust their use of energy."

Family lawyer

Martin summoned a local veterinarian to check his ailing filly. After an examination the veterinarian decided to perform a minor surgical procedure. But within hours the horse was dead. Did Martin have a good claim for damages? In a court suit he argued that the surgical procedure "must have" caused the horse's death.

Sending farmers to school

By Lee Roderick
Herald Washington
Correspondent

WASHINGTON — What is happening here is that the people in this House are telling the farmers, who are a success — and this House has some question about its own success — that they have got to take a course given by some bureaucrat as to how to farm.

The source of Rep. Richard Kelly's R-Fla., is recently in a House debate was an amendment to a bill extending for one year the Federal Insecticide, Fungicide, and Rodenticide Act. The amendment, which subsequently was included in the full bill passed by the House, specifies that farmers must complete training programs before using certain pesticides.

Heinz III of Pennsylvania, for example, labels the provision a "bureaucrat's delight." Speaking at the annual convention of the Pennsylvania Farmers Assn., Heinz quipped that, "It's clear that not all the pests you have to deal with are in your fields."

Rep. William Wampler, R-Va., during the House debate, said the training provision "adds another needless layer of bureaucracy to American agriculture...a potential applicator could be required to attend a prescribed course of instruction, and he perhaps could sleep through the entire course, and as long as he could certify that he had attended the requisite number of sessions, he could be certified as an applicator."

Among congressmen opposing the latter approach was Rep. Matthew F. McHugh, D-N.Y. "...Farmers are no different than any other class of people," said McHugh during the debate. "There are some who are un-informed, and there are some who have not yet concerned themselves with the dangers involved with certain restricted pesticides."

McHugh added that, "Uninformedly there is a measure of inconvenience involved for farmers who are asked to learn something about restricted pesticides. Arranged against that certain measure of inconvenience, however, are the dangers to the environment and human health imposed by restricted pesticides that are improperly used."

Making holiday decorations

This group of senior citizens is volunteering their time and service for a community project. From left, Mrs. Bernice Martin, Mrs. Ceina Scranton, Mrs. Mary Stewart and Mrs. Anna Haupt, residents at Mayfair Gardens, work on holiday decorations to the YWCA. The ladies, members of the Retired Senior Volunteer Program, (RSVP), meet weekly to work on various service projects. Men and women over 60 years of age who are interested in giving their time in volunteer work as an individual or group member may contact Nancy Peters, RSV representative at Manchester Community College by calling 649-3004 or 633-6127. Volunteers are needed to serve as library assistants, teacher aides, office workers, and craft instructors. (Herald photo by Larson)

Expert feels new tests won't answer question

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — The bullet that killed Robert Kennedy most likely came from Sirhan's gun and father, a ballistic expert says.

Ballistic tests would not help resolve the so-called "second gun" debate, a forensic expert says. Stanton O. Berg, member of a panel of seven independent experts who refired Sirhan's gun and examined bullet fragments taken from Kennedy's body and wound bystanders came from Sirhan's gun.

Because of the questions raised by the second conclusion, County Judge Robert Wenke asked seven experts to return to explain their findings. Berg said that because of the conditions of the bullets it could be said unquestionably that they came from Sirhan's gun.

"But I do not feel that additional tests will disclose anything we don't know or will change our findings," he added. "They would not produce anything meaningful or helpful."

Expert feels new tests won't answer question

at the Ambassador Hotel in 1968. In its unanimous opinion report last month, the panel reached two principal findings: — There was no substantial evidence to support the theory that a "second gun" was fired. — At the same time, there was not sufficient evidence to say positively the bullets taken from Kennedy's body and wound bystanders came from Sirhan's gun.

Because of the questions raised by the second conclusion, County Judge Robert Wenke asked seven experts to return to explain their findings. Berg said that because of the conditions of the bullets it could be said unquestionably that they came from Sirhan's gun.

State Police said they were called by a resident of Old Post Rd., Tolland, who noticed the three acting suspiciously and then saw them enter a home nearby. Police said an investigation led to the solving of several other house breaks. A quantity of jewelry and other items was recovered.

Michael Ashlaw, 17, of 118 Brook St., South Windsor, was charged Tuesday with second-degree larceny. He was arrested on a Common Pleas Court warrant. Ashlaw was released on a $500 non-surety bond for court in Rockville, Dec. 17.

Newsgram replaces letters

Bolton
In order to keep parents informed about important school news, Raymond Allen, superintendent, issued the first "newsgram" in October.

The newsgram will take the place of last year's newsletter entitled "info." Allen said he is interested in small group coffee klatches to listen to parents' concerns and comments and to answer their questions about Bolton schools.

Anyone who wishes to have such a session in his home is asked to call the superintendent's office.

Allen reports to the board

Bolton
DONNA HOLLAND
646-0375
In his report to the Board of Education Raymond Allen, superintendent, said specifications for busing bids have been sent to John Mahon, town counsel, for his review.

The board expects to go out to bid early part of December. Allen also told the board: • Draft of a school philosophy has been distributed for staff reaction. • He is exploring the possibility of a first aid course. • A change in music teacher's time schedule has been approved for the first semester to provide a better program for students and more efficient use of the teacher's time. • Dr. W. Ames LePan, school doctor, and Ruth Homan, school nurse, are reviewing the schools' health policies.

An inventory of all furniture and equipment in the school system has begun under the supervision of Douglas Ramsdell. A metal tag is being placed on each item. • Theresa Hoffman, Bolton Center School secretary, resigned for personal reasons recently. She was a school employe for eight years. • Changes in bus pickups went into effect the first of October so a number of high school students will not have to cross major thoroughfares to board buses. • The busing program is working well. Allen said the only real problem has been the Cheney bus. Recent suspension of four students should prove helpful, he said. • Information he received shows most staff members are making serious efforts to communicate fully with parents.

Art group holds 29th annual show

The Tolland County Art Association, at its 29th annual art exhibit, presented awards last week exhibiting their work at the Rockville Public Library.

Judging the works was Professor Gerard E. Doudera of the University of Connecticut. The exhibit will continue in the Edith Peck Room.

Helen D. Rice won the "best of show" award for a painting of a basket of flowers. The Walter Klar award for the most realistic work went to Ernest Garrott for his oil of "The House by the Side of the Road."

In oils Mildred Lisk took first prize for "Nasturtiums"; Priscilla Souder, second for "Dishes and Jugs"; and William Schneider, third for "Dancing Shadow."

In acrylic: Henry Novgrad first for "The Judge and Jury"; Jeanne Pehoviak, second, "Winter Abstraction No. 2"; and Laurie King, third, "Somebody's Shelter."

Watercolor: Sue Niederwerfer, first, "Pickling"; Emma Batz, "At the Edge of the Swamp"; Barbara Orlovski, "The Cottages."

Sculpture: Sharon Merton, "The Watch"; Ruth Albert, "Brother Andre"; Doris Delaripa, "Inner Space."

In miscellaneous which included pastel, mixed media, and pen and ink, prizes went to: Barbara Nison, "The Onion"; Trudy Lee, "Grandma's Pitcher"; and Marilyn Williams, "Tamara."

Honorable mentions went to: June Linton, "The Artist"; Florine Luginbuhl, "Ellington"; and Pat Cook, "Majestic Old Bar."

There were 44 entries in the show. Prizes were donated by several area merchants.

Persons who came during the week to look at the art work were asked to vote for the painting that appealed most to them. The one chosen was "The House by the Side of the Road," by Ernest Garrott. He was also awarded the prize for the "most realistic" with the same painting.

Benoit keeps promise

Barbara Richmond
Herald Reporter

Mayor Thomas Benoit kept a campaign promise Monday night when rules of order for the Town Council meetings were amended to include a citizens' forum.

George Furbish, one of the newly elected Democrats, proposed the existing rules of order be adopted with the amendment. The vote of approval was unanimous.

The amendment provides for the forum at the start of each council meeting. It cannot be longer than 15 minutes unless extended by a majority vote of the council.

During his campaign Benoit promised, if elected, he would give townspeople a chance to speak on any problems they might have or any questions they wanted to put to the mayor or council.

The meeting rules carry a curfew time of 10:30 p.m. unless extended by a vote of two-thirds of the members present.

Roberts Rules of Order are used except where a conflict with the charter is involved.

Burke is new counsel

Vernon

Barbara Richmond
Herald Reporter

There was only one dissenting voice when Mayor Thomas Benoit recommended Atty. Martin Burke be town attorney at the council meeting Monday night.

Republican Councilman F. Richard MacDonald, noting it was painful to say he was opposed because of his friendship with Burke, said he feels there would be a conflict of interests because Burke is an elected member of the state legislature.

However, the seven Democrats present and the other three Republicans, all voted in favor of the appointment.

Burke then took his seat at the council table. During the course of the meeting he was asked to look into several matters and report back to the council.

Burke has been serving as town attorney for Ellington and has resigned that position.

At the start of the meeting Benoit, who is the first Democratic mayor to serve in six years, said, "I am hopeful that during our term of office we can work together toward the betterment of our town in a spirit of cooperation and mutual trust."

He cited as one of the projects to be accomplished, the revitalization of downtown Rockville.

Other areas he said that need attention include: Workable programs for the youth and elderly; continuation of sewer programs; the needs of town employees; mass transportation; social services; and public safety needs.

Council history told at Gottier home

By BARBARA RICHMOND
Herald Reporter

People meeting the needs of people is what the Hockanum Valley Community Council is all about, Michael MacIlduff, director of the council said Thursday night.

MacIlduff retold the history of the council at a meeting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Warren Gottier in Talcottville.

He said the movement to start such an umbrella service was started by a group of interested persons in 1968.

"People who were willing to donate time and money," he said.

It took three years to finally get the project off the ground. In 1972 offices were opened in the professional building on Rt. 30. Recently it has moved to larger quarters in the professional building in the center of Rockville.

MacIlduff said the moving force was the recognition there are people who cannot meet their problems on their own.

The idea of the umbrella service was to have a center where people who needed help could call and then be directed to the proper place to be served.

He said in 1972-73 the cases averaged about 20 a month and now the average is 80 families served a month. He said it was not the wish of the council to create new agencies but rather to use existing facilities wherever possible.

Groups helping include: Big Brothers Inc., Child and Family Services, Inc., Community Child Guidance Clinic, Inc.,

Consultation Center for Marriage and Family, DIAL, Division of Vocational Rehabilitation Mansfield Training School, Manchester Memorial and Rockville General Hospitals, Mayor's Committee to Combat Drug Abuse, and Rockville Public Health Nursing Association.

The council deals with problems of the teen-ager, the senior citizen, relating to alcohol and drugs, of the child and family, and marital problems.

MacIlduff said Child and Family Services had donated services one day a week. Now it gives three days.

The council was also the moving force in getting the Hockanum Valley Day Care Center started. The center takes care of 30 children, its maximum.

MacIlduff said another need has been identified, that of some day care for kindergartners through third-graders. He hopes his program can be started by July.

He said with the help of the Rockville Area Chamber of Commerce, various services for the elderly are now being taken care of. After the chamber had the ball rolling this was turned over to the council.

He said there are 26 projects in the works.

Funding comes from several sources, other than private donations. They are: The State Department of Mental Health; Law Enforcement Assistance Agency (LEAA); United Way, Hartford Foundation For Public Giving, and membership dues.
