Colby outlines views on CIA role

WASHINGTON (UPI) — CIA Director William Colby said today U.S. intelligence should do more than gather information and under some conditions should try quietly to influence situations in other countries.

Colby gave his views on how American intelligence should be kept "responsible" in the future in a speech to the "Pacem in Terris" (Peace on Earth) foreign policy conference. CIA critic Sen. Frank Church, D-Idaho, also was addressing the conference today.

Academia cautious with student comments

By Patricia McCormack
United Press International
Patients who need doctors helped bring on the malpractice insurance crisis and made the practice of medicine more expensive and more cautious.

A parallel situation may be developing in academia. A trend, at last, points to more cautious attitudes among teachers — especially when writing comments that stay through life in a student's official record. The school people don't want to be sued.

On the college front, meanwhile, there's concern over consumer suits filed by students who claim "I was gypped."

This trend is making officials look more closely at what's promised in college catalogues — and what's practiced in the lecture hall and laboratory.

The Buckley Amendment is the reason school people are writing non-committal comments and very bland college recommendations for students these days.

The amendment is the reason for caution when school persons, from kindergarten through college, put anything in an official student file.

The Buckley Amendment, named for its sponsor Sen. James Buckley of New York, has been law since January. It gives students and/or their parents the right to view official records kept by a school.

It further stipulates that if information found in the previously confidential files is viewed as either inaccurate or biased, students or their parents have the right to put their own comments in the file.

The first significant proof of caution the amendment is engineering along the academic trail came in a survey by the Nation's Schools Report, an educational newsletter published by McGraw-Hill.

HARTFORD (UPI) — A state representative says he's disappointed that Louis Rabinow, chancellor for the State Commission on Higher Education, is taking a $4,000 pay increase.

Rep. Thomas F. Sweeney, D-Norwich, said Wednesday that Rabinow's annual salary, including the raise, will be $44,000.

Sweeney said he wrote Rabinow urging him to decline the raise, but Rabinow replied in a letter, "I regret that conditions preclude rejecting the increase."

"That's the most bureaucratic response imaginable. It's infuriating to hear that type of talk in these times," Sweeney said.

Sweeney said that state employees should not be asked to work longer hours or take a pay cut when semi-autonomous state agencies are giving substantial raises.

"We can't have special state agencies writing their own tickets on salaries and fringe benefits," Sweeney said.

He said Rabinow's raise "underscores the need to review pension, housing and related matters for special groups of state officials if we're going to have the savings that are needed."

Some teachers and administrators who refuse to write recommendations unless students sign a waiver giving up the right to see the letter at some future date.

Souvenirs laying claim to Bicentennial billions

By JOHN S. LANGDON
HARRISBURG, Pa. (UPI) — Because they not only crowd cupboards and attics but serve as reminders of vacations past, souvenirs are staking a major claim on the nation's Bicentennial billions.

Wilton Brass Co.'s Bicentennial souvenirs combine a 12-year-old, pewter-like metals mixture with the world's second oldest form of molding — sand casting.

George, North Carolina and Virginia among the original 13 colonies, plus Florida, Indiana, Alabama, Kentucky, Louisiana, the District of Columbia and New York City.

A 5 per cent royalty on sales paid to the Pennsylvania Bicentennial Commission by Wilton and one other Pennsylvania firm already is nearing $300,000.

Appropriately, one of the manufacturers of official souvenirs for the Bicentennial 1976 is a family-owned Columbia, Pa., firm with roots in Pennsylvania's early iron-mining industry.

Independent Man may wind up in court

PROVIDENCE, R.I. (UPI) — The Independent Man, Rhode Island's glittering symbol of freedom, may have to stand up in court for his rights.

The 14-foot statue, weatherbeaten after 76 years atop the State House's white marble dome, was taken down recently for repairs and protective coat of gold leaf.

He is on public display at a

Warwick shopping mall through Dec. 13 to give state residents a close-up look at the statue before it returns to the dome, 223 feet above the ground, on Dec. 14.

Merchants from Cranston, Newport and Woonsocket filed suit in state Superior Court asking that he be removed from the shopping center. They contend they are losing potential holiday shoppers lured to Warwick mall by the statue.

"The poor old guy. He gets struck by a bolt of legal lightning. He's deaf and dumb and can't defend himself... What a come down from such a high position," said Judge John P. Bourcier. He was to hold a hearing Thursday on the suit.

The suit said the bronze statue is owned by the entire state and should not be used to benefit one commercial group.

Dugan said the complaining merchants did not offer their facilities for display of the statue. Those facilities are not conducive to its display because the statue would have to be placed outdoors or in one particular store, he said.

Rate hike requested

HARTFORD (UPI) — Electricity bills may increase for 49,000 electric company customers in six communities if a Northeast Utilities request for higher rates is approved.

Northeast has asked the Federal Power Commission to approve hikes in the basic rates and fuel adjustments which its subsidiary, Connecticut Light and Power Co., charges some municipal electric companies and one private utility.

If the FPC approves the request, the increase of $2 million in basic rates and $1 million in higher fuel adjustments could eventually be passed on to customers.

The firms affected are municipal companies serving Norwich, Groton, Wallingford, Jewett City and part of Norwich, and the private Bazzrah Light and Power Co. A Northeast spokesman said his firm is asking for the increase in basic rates because of inflation and fast depreciation of equipment.

Outlook bleak for Soviet consumer

MOSCOW (UPI) — Ivan Ivanov, the Soviet Union's archetypal consumer, may find life a little harder next year.

Consumer goods may be just as scarce as in previous years and food may be even harder to buy.

The gloomy predictions are based on figures for the 1976 state budget released to the Soviet Union's nominal parliament.

The meeting is expected to last several more days.

Planning chief Nikolai K. Baibakov said overall industrial production will increase by only 4.3 per cent in 1976, down from 7.5 per cent this year and one of the smallest planned increases since World War II.

Baibakov said light industry — the consumer supplier — will increase output by only 2.7 per cent. Heavy industry is slated for a 4.9 per cent increase.

The figures announced by Baibakov at the Supreme Soviet session are not cutbacks, but a reduction in planning goals for the coming year.

To a certain extent, Baibakov said, they reflect a government desire to change the emphasis from quantity output to quality output, a move that would be applauded by wary Soviet shoppers.

'Stun gun' ban under study

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Consumer Product Safety Commission is investigating whether it should ban an electric "stun gun" that shocks its victims with current-carrying darts.

The gun has been promoted as a self-defense weapon for warding off and immobilizing attackers without seriously hurting them. It has also been used in at least one robbery and has been banned in Nassau County, N.Y.

The commission was petitioned for a ban or other control by Michael A. Lubin of Washington, D.C., who said the weapon is a "hazardous product because no testable consumer product safety standard would adequately protect the public from the unreasonable risk of injury associated with it."

The specific product is called the "Taser F1" or the "Taser Public Defender," manufactured by Taser Systems of Los Angeles.

Efforts to reach company officials for comment were unsuccessful.

The gun resembles and functions as a flashlight unless the user pushes a release bar. When that happens, Lubin told the commission, the device discharges "two small barbed contacts connected to five wires which conduct a 50,000-volt charge."

Mother's milk turns babies into potential alcoholics

By JANE ANDERSON
NEW CANAAN (UPI) — Mother's milk may be sweet but it is turning many babies into potential alcoholics, says William Martin of the Connecticut Association of Alcohol Councils.

"A mother definitely should limit herself to no more than one cocktail or two glasses of sherry a day for three months before she has her baby and the entire time she's breast-feeding the baby," says Martin, association president.

through the bloodstream in pregnant mothers to the fetus and can create a need for alcohol in the baby's system.

Petitioners request stiff handgun ban

BOSTON (UPI) — An extensive petition drive aimed at banning private use and possession of handguns in Massachusetts culminated Wednesday with the filing of more than 90,000 petition signatures with the secretary of state.

He admitted enforcement of the ban would be difficult, saying "this has to be voluntary. We're not going to be knocking on doors to confiscate weapons."

"Possibly many, many children have been very badly impaired because of damage through their mother's drinking," he says.

'Couragio'

HARTFORD (UPI) — GAY, Ella T. Grasso Wednesday shouted "courage" in Italian to the legislator in charge of enacting her unpopular plan to erase a predicted $80.1 million state budget deficit.

"Couragio," she said to Appropriations Committee Chairman John Gropo, D-Winsted, as they entered a meeting of the state Finance Advisory Committee.

"This is a victory for life," Middlesex County Sheriff John Buckley told a news conference called by the coalition of groups heading up the drive.

"Too many people don't realize that alcohol is a drug because it's legal. They raise such hell about marijuana and yet the drug alcohol is probably the most vicious drug of all," he says.

"Saturday night specials" before the state legislature.

"It's not been covered up by the hospitals but it hasn't come out because the word, 'alcohol,' is still a stigma. The baby doctors aren't going to say anything about it," he says.

Dr. Norman Zimberg of the Harvard Medical School faculty blames it on recent cultural changes in American society.

Buckley said even if the ban were imposed, it could not dent organized crime's use of handguns. But he said with 72 per cent of all homicides stemming from domestic spats, "this could go a long way to cutting the murder rate."

"The Communist party is shown every sign of being a psychologically shattered party. They have watched an equal assault from the non-Communists but they have not taken any steps to correct their main military supporters being jailed and their infrastructure in the mass media purged without a murmur.

Buckley said the effort does not intend to ban the manufacture of handguns, noting 20 per cent of all handguns made in the United States are manufactured in Massachusetts.

His comment came amid newspaper speculation about rising tension within the party's central committee and a frontal attack against the party by the Socialists.

The crux of the Communist dilemma was its failure to take a clear stance when disgruntled parliamentarians occupied five major air bases in an ill-organized far left attempt to overthrow the government last week.

The lighter side

Something is lost in the translation

By DICK WEST

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The big news on the first day of President Ford's visit to China was Acting Premier Teng Hsiao-ping's toast at the welcoming banquet.

Banquet toasts, I believe the record will show, have rarely been regarded as the stuff of which history is made.

But diplomatic analysts accompanying the President were so eager to do their number they seized upon Teng's toast with alacrity, generally construing it as a harsh attack on U.S.-Soviet relations.

These weighty interpretations may have resulted in part from the way the toast was translated. When an ideographic language such as Chinese is rendered into English, there is always a chance that certain nuances and subtleties will be lost.

Seeking further clarification of Teng's toast, I obtained a Chinese transcript and took it to Wor Rin Har Dim, manager of the Bamboo Kimono, a carry-out restaurant that specializes in southern Chinese cuisine, such as Moo Goo Gai Grits.

First I showed him the place where Teng arose in the Great Hall of the People, raised his glass of Mao Tai toward Ford and said, "Rhetoric about detente cannot cover up the stark reality of the growing danger of war."

Wor said he believed Teng was speaking idiomatically. He said that portion of the toast probably could be more meaningfully translated as "Here's mine in your eye."

Next I showed him the passage that had been translated as follows:

"The contention for world hegemony is intensifying, and, strategically, Europe is the focus for this contention. Such continued contention is bound to lead to a new world war."

Here again, Wor read the text a bit differently. According to his translation, what Teng actually said was:

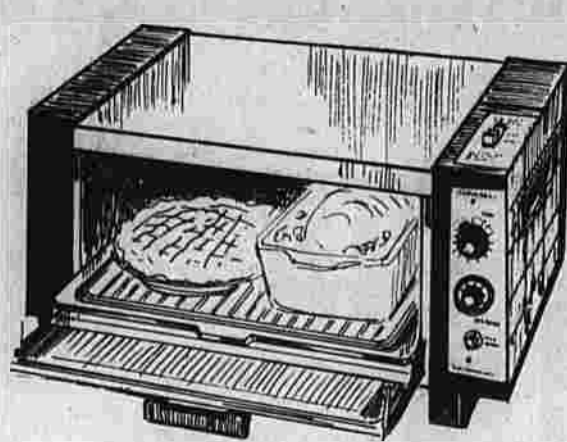

"Here's looking at you, kid."

Wor also found another meaning in the place where Teng ostensibly said "there is great disorder under heaven."

As Wor saw it, the thought Teng was trying to express was "Down the hatch."

We asked Wor what significance he would attach to Teng's toast. He said he thought the main message the Chinese leader sought to convey was that he wished to drink to the health of his American guest.

But he said that sentiment was difficult to convey in Chinese ideographs owing to the lack of a character or symbol that corresponds to the word "cheers."

New antiabortion strategy emerging

By DAVID E. ANDERSON

WASHINGTON (UPI) — While abortion has not been a solely Roman Catholic issue, there is no doubt the Catholic community, in particular the nation's bishops, has been in the forefront of the drive for restrictive, anti-abortion legislation.

Because of that role, and the organizational and financial resources commanded by the church, the strategy adopted by the bishops in the antiabortion struggle is important.

Following the Supreme Court's 1973 decision which liberalized access to legal abortions and overturned most states' restrictive laws, antiabortion forces began a concentrated drive for passage of a constitutional amendment that would guarantee "the right to life" of the unborn.

That drive included a rare appearance by four cardinals of the church before a Senate Judiciary subcommittee holding what turned out to be 18 months of hearings on a variety of proposed constitutional amendments banning abortion.

But the cardinals' plea turned out to be in vain for in September the subcommittee, headed by presidential aspirant Sen. Birch Bayh, D-Ind., rejected all of the proposals before it, effectively ending any hope of action during this session of Congress.

At the time, some of the pro-choice leaders said they believed one of the reasons for their victory was the inability of the antiabortion people to come together on a single, specific amendment to push in the subcommittee.

The Catholic leadership, for example, refused to endorse any of the specific proposals before the subcommittee. Archbishop Joseph L. Bernardin, president of the National Conference of Catholic Bishops, says that will continue to be the posture of the bishops — that at this time it will not endorse any specific constitutional amendment.

But the bishops made it clear in their annual fall meeting that they intend to continue to work for a right to life amendment.

The bishops adopted an ambitious plan to set up tightly organized pro-life groups in each congressional district whose aim is essentially to elect an antiabortion Congress.

Although the bishops insist the groups will be independent, bipartisan, nonsectarian and not agencies of the church, the plan was formulated and released with little or no consultation with other antiabortion groups.

The Christian Action Council, a Washington-based group of Protestants who oppose abortion and have been working to establish a broad-based front of Protestants to fight for a pro-life constitutional amendment, even expressed some irritation that the bishops had not informed them of the plan.

Initial contact with the Protestant group could have saved the bishops some trouble — in the short range by lending credibility to the claim that the new political groups would truly be independent and not instruments of the church, and in the long range by helping to prove that antiabortion is not "just a Catholic issue."

The Protestants will, no doubt, in the areas where they can, join with the Catholics in the congressional effort. The new strategy is to bring the issue to the grass roots level of each representative. The groups will seek to convince legislators that the abortion issue will not go away, that a constitutional amendment is the necessary first step toward restricting abortion, to elect members of their own group "to specific posts in all local party organizations" and to keep a close eye on pro-life position of every elected official and potential candidate.

Such a grass roots effort has worked in the past on some issues. November 1976 will be its real test.

Hoop season arrives

Friday marks the top off of the 1975-76 scholastic basketball season on the local front with East Catholic doing the honors. The Eagles, 12-10 a year ago, host Windsor High in what they hope will be a very rewarding campaign.

A year ago East Coach Stan Ogronik was forced by circumstance to go with youth and the over-all inexperience was a telling factor in the tough Hartford County Conference. By viewing the league the past two years, the impression here is no matter how talented the youngsters are the veterans will emerge superior.

What was youth a year ago for the Eagles is now seasoned. The sophomores who didn't fulfill what they hoped to do are now juniors and these veterans are ready to prove themselves. The junior class at East is a unique one when speaking about basketball. It was a winner, going 19-1 as freshmen and 17-1 with the Jayvees. The aim now is to carry this over to the varsity level.

Last Tuesday afternoon, East scrimmaged Norwich Free Academy, a Double A Division school, and showed very well. It moved the ball around and the indication of a year ago was all but gone. The strength of East lies in its front-court where juniors 6-5 Jeff Heim, 6-4 Gary Carlson and 6-4 Jon Lindberg man posts with the only senior, 6-5 Co-Captain John Lusa. It's a big front and seemingly a very talented one.

The backcourt has returned Peter Thompson, who started as a sophomore, heading the list. The Eagles definitely will be hurt by the loss of 6-2 senior Co-Captain Bill Moffett for maybe half the season or even longer but Mark Dumais and Scott Holland, both whom saw considerable time on the jayvees a year ago, seem capable of stepping in.

Ogronik appears optimistic about the upcoming season. As he stated two days ago, 1000's are more definite and what's been most helpful is a very, very good attitude. The Eagles should do well. Without Moffett they will be a good club. When he returns the Eagles will be even better. East has not been on the top of the HCC standings at season end for four years after a long reign. This could be the year when it returns to what had been an accustomed perch.

Pearson sees good future

Manchester High hoop-coach Doug Pearson also seems ready and anxious for the start of the campaign. Although he lost seven seniors, the second-year coach feels talent-wise this edition might be better. Heading the Indian for the 6-4 senior Captain Mike Quesnel, who averaged 14 points a game last year.

Quesnel, however, doesn't represent the only big man for the Silk Towners. In the forefront, Pearson can call upon 6-3 Bruce Ballard, 6-3 Scott Hyde, 6-5 Jeff Kiernan and 6-4 Steve McKenzie. For any scholastic school, that's good height. Manchester should do well and the two engagements with cross-town East on Dec. 30 at Clarke Arena and Jan. 20 at the Eagles' Nest should be very, very close contests.

Without a preview look at Cheney Tech, it appears Beaver Coach Gerry Blanchard won't be able to duplicate the season he had in 1974-75 when a 12-9 record was logged. Blanchard has to find five new starters and that for any coach seems to be an impossible task. What Blanchard does have is a fine group of freshmen but that goes in the category of long range planning.

Bits and pieces

At least six former East Catholic basketball players will dot the lineups of area teams. Juniors Mike Fortin and Len Whitlock will be performing for South Windsor High. Tim Berger, Tom Burke and Phil Poletti are at Rockville High and Mark Dishaw is on the Ellington High roster. Stan Ogronik's 100th career victory as East coach came against Northwest Catholic during the 1973-74 season. Earlier reports had it coming against Weaver but a closer check of the records proved that false.

Love good enough to pace Bull win

BOSTON (UPI) — For Bob Love, hitting 41 per cent of his field goals, the attempts was a marked improvement and, for the struggling Chicago Bulls, the marksmanship was good enough.

Love converted 12 of 28 field goal attempts and finished with 35 points Wednesday night to lead the Bulls past the Boston Celtics, 109-106. Chicago has won just five games in 18 outings, but two of them have been against Boston.

In the latest victory, Love netted a pair of jump shots in the final minute of play after the Celtics tied the game at 109-109.

"I forced a lot of shots but I hit the key ones. It was one of my better games," said Love who carried a .366 shooting percentage into the game. "It hasn't been a good year so far."

Thus far, this has not been a good year for the Bulls, who were winning for the second time in 13 games since beating the Celtics Nov. 1. They were again without Jerry Sloan, sidelined by fluid on both knees, but got 20 points from second-year guard Bob Wilson. They also outthrust the inconsistent Celtics, who were led by Jo Jo White's 31 points and Dave Cowens' 26.

"We came up with the loose balls and extra rebounds when it counted," said Chicago coach Dick Motta. "And we got many open shots. If you stay with Boston in the first quarter, they can be beaten."

Chicago kept within three points of Boston, 26-25, after one period and led 57-52 at the half. The Celtics scored the first two points of the third quarter but the Bulls ran off a 26-8 burst to gain a 77-60 edge. Love scored seven and Wilson six in that stretch.

White and Cowens brought Boston back to a tie with 2:30 remaining but that's when Love hit his game-breaking jumpers. Jack Marin — who haunts the Celtics wherever he plays for the Bullets, Braves or Bulls — added a pair of free throws with three seconds remaining to freeze out the Celtics.

"Boston's different without (Don) Chaney," said Motta of the defensive star now with St. Louis of the American Basketball Association. "They press isn't as good as it used to be and they're not as good defensively overall. But their offense is better, even though it didn't get going tonight."

UConn easy victor dumping Canisius

By EARL YOST

Sports Editor

Perhaps the least said about last night's home basketball opener of the University of Connecticut against Canisius the better.

The Huskies, upping their record to 2-1, had an unusual laughter against the New Yorkers, winning 83-69.

Saturday night it may be a different story with Yale moving in to Storrs with a new coach, Ray Carazo, and a new outlook on the game. Carazo was on hand last night to get a look at the Huskies.

Fans started walking out at halftime and a goodly number of the less than capacity 3,043 filed out the exits before the final whistle.

The final score in no way showed the decisiveness that Coach Dee Rowe's charges enjoyed.

Canisius has practically nothing — no speed, quickness, height or rebounding. It's hardly likely that the winners will have such an easy cakewalk the rest of the campaign.

Connecticut's starters were in complete command after rolling up an early 10-0 lead. The margin spread to 17 points after 15 minutes, 25 after 14 and 52-28 at halftime.

Four of the five starters hit twin figures — Tony Hanson leading with 28 and Joe Whelton, Larry Kelly and Jeff Carr each added 18 points while John Thomas had to content with only 11, he hauled down 17 rebounds, five more than the elongated Carr. The latter was particularly impressive as well as his sharpshooter Nick DeMarco broke the single game scoring record with 39 points to lead Manchester Community College to an easy 79-60 victory over Northwestern Community College last night at East Catholic in a CCCAA basketball clash.

DeMarco hit on 19 of 24 field goal attempts in a dazzling performance. The 6-0 freshman had 18 points in the first half and 21 in the second half.

The Cougars led all the way, jumping out to a 22-11 bulge at the 10-minute mark of the first half. DeMarco had 10 markers in that span.

The Pioneers started in a 1-3-1 zone but quickly switched to a man defense to contain DeMarco. The Cougars adjusted by going inside to center John Conley, who finished with 12 points.

Northwestern closed to within eight, 28-20, with 4:40 remaining in the half but MCC outscored the Winsted club 8-4 the rest of the way to lead 36-24 at the half.

Tim Murphy led the visitors as they outscored the Cougars, 10-4, to move within six, 40-34, in the first five minutes of the second half. Murphy tallied three buckets including an offensive put.

The Pioneers closed to within three, 47-44, on a George Janda hoop before MCC sealed the verdict. DeMarco scored at 10:30 to increase the margin and after a foul shot by Stan Mishico, Conley dumped in a hoop which started an 18-2 MCC surge. The rest was academic.

But the real story was DeMarco. In breaking the old mark of 38 points set by Don Chafin in 1969, DeMarco hit on his first five shots and 10 of his first 11. The record-breaking hoopster came on a foul line jumper with three seconds left.

In the scoring column for Northwestern, Murphy had 20 points, the lone scorer among the Cougars. Smith added 12 points to the Cougar cause.

MCC evened its over-all record to 2-2 and CCCAA mark to 1-1 with the win. The Cougars face a stern test Saturday night at 8 at East Catholic against highly touted CCCAA foe Norwalk Community College.

East basketball starting five to come from this group

Cagers open Friday night

East Catholic ready to go without guard Bill Moffett

By LEN AUSTER

Herald Sports Writer

Most of the important parts will be ready to go when East Catholic taps off the 1975-76 basketball season. One vital cog, however, will be on the sideline when the Eagles debut at home Friday night against Windsor High.

Senior Co-Captain Bill Moffett, a 6-2 guard, suffered a hairline fracture before practice began. The first practice after Thanksgiving when he was okayed for service, the bone in Moffett's left ankle gave way completely and he is now out until mid-January at the earliest.

"It is a severe setback for us and for Bill," cited Coach Stan Ogronik, beginning his eighth year in the controls. "This was the season he was looking forward to. We had offenses designed for him, you can do a lot with a 6-2 guard, and he is our best defensive player by far. Bill might be the best defensive player the school has ever had. His loss can't be overestimated."

According to doctor's reports, the earliest the cast will come off is Jan. 1. By then, he will have missed six games and probably more. His absence will hurt but it seems the Eagles have the talent to offset this blow. Nine juniors and one senior will carry the load for East, which posted a 12-10 mark a year ago, its worst season ever. Some schools would be happy with a record like that but the Eagles are used to being on the top.

"I don't know if this team wants to make amends for last year. This team is hungry on its own. It's extremely hungry and they have done absolutely everything I've asked of them. I couldn't be more pleased with the attitude and spirit," remarked Ogronik.

Others will have to take up the slack without Moffett but the Eagles know that. If and when he returns he will be a "bonus." It will make us a stronger team." Without him, East still appears to have the horses down well. It has never missed the State Tournament in 12 years of varsity basketball and that string should remain intact. Eagle squads have been finalists seven times, winning three selected were starters.

Two clubs tops

COLUMBUS, Ohio (UPI) — Ohio University and Eastern Michigan, with five players each on the 23-man squad, dominate the Mid-American Conference All-Academic team announced today.

To be eligible, a player must have lettered this football season and also carry at least a B or 3.0 grade average. Twenty-one of those selected were starters.

Firsts for Scouts besting Montreal

NEW YORK (UPI) — They had a couple of hockey "firsts" in Kansas City Wednesday night.
Walt Palmentieri scored his first National Hockey League hat trick, providing the edge the second-year Kansas City Scouts needed to win their first victory over the Montreal Canadiens 6-5.
Palmentieri's first goal gave the Scouts a 3-0 lead at 8:07 of the first period and he came back with almost an identical shot at 18:10 of the second period. His third goal came at 11:59 of the final period. It was the first meeting among the Canadiens this year for the Scouts, who were 0-4 against Montreal last season.
Palmentieri, the second player picked in the 1974 free agent draft, scored 26 goals as a rookie last season.
Elsewhere in NHL action Wednesday night, Minnesota topped Toronto 3-1, Buffalo and Washington tied 4-4, Chicago tied Pittsburgh 3-3, Vancouver defeated Detroit 9-1 and Los Angeles edged California 5-2. In World Hockey Association games, it was Cincinnati over Cleveland 5-3 and Toronto over Calgary 4-3.
Black Hawks 3, Penguins 3
Dick Redmond's second goal of the game at 11:38 left to play gave Chicago a 3-2 tie with Pittsburgh and extended the Black Hawks unbeaten streak to 15 games. It was also the fifth straight tie for Chicago and the eighth in its last nine games.
North Stars 3, Maple Leafs 1
Jerry Korab's goal at 5:53 of the final period gave Buffalo its tie with the Caps. Washington, last in the Norris Division with the worst record in the NHL, scored four second period goals to take a 4-3 lead over Buffalo, leader in the Adams Division.
North Stars 3, Maple Leafs 1
Bill Goldsworthy scored a pair of third period goals to beat the Maple Leafs. Toronto's Dave Dunn, attempting to push the puck away from the crease, accidentally put Goldsworthy's first goal into the net, tying the score. Red Barrett then scored the game-winner at 2:03 of the last period.
North Stars 3, Maple Leafs 1
Vancouver, winless on a three-game road tour last week, came home and bombed Detroit goalie Ed Giacomin for nine goals, including two by Dennis Verweegert. The Wings started a brawl in the third period resulting in game misconducts to four players.
Kings 3, Seals 2
Tommy Williams slapped a 60-foot shot into the net with just 86 seconds left to play to push Los Angeles over California. Williams took a pass from

Mike Murphy and appeared to surprise goalie Gilles Meloche with the long shot.
WHA
Rookie Claude Larose scored his second game-winning goal of the season to lead expansionist Cincinnati over Cleveland. Frank Mahovlich's second goal of the game at 18:57 of the third period provided the winning edge for Toronto over Calgary. Mahovlich has 14 goals this season.

Patriots lose three players

FOXBORO, Mass. (UPI) — The New England Patriots, beset by injuries through their disappointing season, have lost three more players for the final three games of the year.
The latest casualties — defensive linemen Julius Adams and Craig Haneman and center Bill Lenkaitis — all were injured in Monday night's 20-7 loss to Miami. Adams broke the same bone in his right foot that sidelined him at the start of the season while Haneman suffered a compound fracture of the left ankle. Lenkaitis tore ligaments in his right knee in the last minute of play in the game New England lost, 20-7.
Doug Dumble, who snaps the ball on punts and placekicks, will start at center and Marty Imhoff most likely will play in Adams' starting defensive end position Sunday when the Patriots host the New York Jets.
Patriots' Coach Chuck Fairbanks said Wednesday in making the announcement he has not made a decision on whether to place the three players on the already overstocked injured reserve list or whether to play the final three games with 40 players on the roster. The Patriots are 3-8 this season.

Four Sooners selected to UPI All-America team

NEW YORK (UPI) — The University of Oklahoma Wednesday led the parade of college football talent named to the United Press International All-America team, picking four players on the 23-man squad.
The third-ranked Sooners, losers only once in 11 games this season, had on the first team offensive guard Terry Webb, defensive end Jimbo Elroy and the Selmon brothers, defensive tackle Leroy and middle guard Dewey.
Elroy marked the first time that two brothers were named to the All-America team in the same year. Another brother, Lucious, was a first team All-America selection as a middle guard two years ago.
Top-ranked Ohio State, second-ranked Alabama, eighth-ranked Penn State, California and Notre Dame each had two players on the team who played the final three games of the season.
The defensive line is made up of Elroy and Leroy Cook of Alabama and Steve Niehaus and Leroy Selmon at tackles and Dewey Selmon at middle guard. Ed Simolin of Texas A&M, Greg Buttle of Penn State and Woodrow Lowe of Alabama are the linebackers and Chad Moeller of Navy, Tim Fox of Ohio State and Pat Thomas of Texas A&M comprise the deep backs.
MacAfee, Bell and Johnson are the only underclassmen on the team and Lowe joins Griffin as the lone receiver from last year's team.
The offensive line are wide receiver Steve Rivera of California, tight end Ken MacAfee of Notre Dame, tackles Bob Simmons of Texas and Dennis Lick of Wisconsin, guards Webb and Randy Johnson of Georgia and center Rik Bonnets of Nebraska. Chris Blair of Penn State, with 18 field goals, is the placekicker.

New England coaches' poll

Burnham tabbed top player
BOSTON (UPI) — Sophomore Bill Burnham, whose clutch running brought the University of New Hampshire and in a post-season playoff, has been voted the outstanding major college football player in New England in a coaches' poll.
The 20-year-old tailback from South Boston set six Wildcat records while playing in nine of 10 regular season games. The 6-foot, 200-pounder gained 937 yards and scored 16 touchdowns. His other records were: most points in a season, 96; most carries in a game, 36; most yards rushing in a game, 232 against Boston University; and most carries in a season, 303.
"Bill sure is a positive factor on our club and he gives us the running threat to go with our passing attack," said New Hampshire Coach Bill Bowers.
Burnham, a graduate of Boston Latin School, returned to New Hampshire after staying out of school for a year. He returned with a vengeance, finishing third among the nation's NCAA Division II schools in rushing.
"Is he the best back in New England?" asked Dick MacPherson, a Massachusetts coach whose team was beaten, 14-11, by the Wildcats for the Yankee Conference crown. "In the game against us we held him very well for three quarters, then in the final period we had a punting situation which we couldn't pin them deep and give us a chance to get the ball in good field position."

Georgia, Wisconsin, Nebraska, Navy and Texas each placed one.
The team was selected by balloting of sports writers and sportscasters from across the nation.
The first team backfield are running backs Archie Griffin of Ohio State, Ricky Bell of Southern California and Chuck Muncie of California and quarterback Gene Swick of Toledo. Griffin was named to the team for the third straight year, making him the first player since Doak Walker (1947-49) to do it three times.
On the offensive line are wide receiver Steve Rivera of California, tight end Ken MacAfee of Notre Dame, tackles Bob Simmons of Texas and Dennis Lick of Wisconsin, guards Webb and Randy Johnson of Georgia and center Rik Bonnets of Nebraska. Chris Blair of Penn State, with 18 field goals, is the placekicker.
The defensive line is made up of

Steve Sheppard, with 17 points, led six Terrapins in double figures. Lawrence Boston had 16 rebounds along with his 16 points for Maryland. Cincinnati, ranked 10th, rolled to its third straight win over Wright State, another college division team, 118-70. The Bearcats were paced by Gary Yoder and Bob Miller, who had 23 points apiece.
Alabama didn't take any chances either. The 14th-ranked Crimson Tide, played LaSalle and ripped the Explorers 78-57 behind 19 points from All-America hopeful Leon Douglas. Arizona didn't keep its 107-point average but playing at home, the Wildcats (7th) beat Idaho 88-62, sparked by Gilbert Myler's 19 points.
Sixteenth-ranked Auburn went on the road to Calumet, N.C., and had little trouble with Western Carolina 88-76. Mike Mitchell had 25 points and Eddie Johnson 24 for Auburn.
Tennessee also traveled but, unlike other nationally-rated teams, nearly paid dearly for it. The eighth-ranked Vols escaped with an 88-80 victory at Duke, largely due to the efforts of Bernard King and Mike Jackson, who combined for 38 points. In other games Wednesday night, South Carolina trounced Toledo 84-

Clinton (UPI) — School officials will meet next week to decide whether to allow Clinton's Morgan High football team to keep the Shoreline Conference title it won Saturday in a game that included two illegal plays.
The plays occurred when a Morgan player sprinted from the bench onto the field to intercept and tackle ball carriers for Madison's Hand High School team. Game officials and Madison players didn't see the illegal tackles, one of which stopped what could have been the opening touchdown of the game.
Clinton Coach Robert Brigockas missed the first tackle, but the second and failed to report it to game officials. It wasn't until Sunday, when Madison Coach Larry Clout was viewing video tapes of the game, that the move was detected.
Clinton has apologized to Madison for the behavior of the player, who said he was heavily "psyched" for the game, the biggest clash of the year.
Madison school officials want the game declared "no contest" and the title vacated for the 1975 season. Members of the Shoreline Principals Association will decide on the action.

White Sox in limbo

Veek has week to raise money

CLEVELAND (UPI) — Wheeler-dealer Bill Veeck has one week to come up with another $1.2 million or his deal to purchase the Chicago White Sox is off.
The American League owners rejected his original bid to buy the franchise Wednesday by a vote of 8-3 with one abstention. Later the owners voted 10-0, two having left the meeting, in favor of giving Veeck and his group until Dec. 10 to raise the extra capital.
"It's possible, and we're going to try," Veeck said. "That's our estimation at this time."
Veeck said his attorney estimated Veeck has about a 25 per cent chance of raising the money.
"Obviously I'm not happy. I thought we had a viable deal, a reasonable deal, and suddenly I find I did not have a reasonable deal," Veeck said following a meeting with league owners at a hotel near Cleveland Hopkins International Airport.
Veeck's problem with the owners stemmed from his method of financing principally through debentures. His original offer was $4.0 million in total money, most of it in debentures in a deal of about $10 million. MacPhail indicated the owners want $6 million in cash and stock.
"The basic proposal was too much debt and not enough equity," MacPhail said. "Whenever we've had difficulties with some of our franchisees, in each instance it's been with teams that were under-financed."
Veeck's group includes former Cincinnati Reds' owner William O. DeWitt, former Detroit Tigers' star Hank Greenberg, and former Baltimore Orioles' general manager Paul Richards.

Top college cagers win verdicts easily

NEW YORK (UPI) — The reason there are so few college basketball upsets before the Christmas tournaments is that most college powers—UCLA and Indiana excluded this year—usually schedule willing patates to pad their records and provide a tuneup for the "real" season beginning about Dec. 26.
There were six nationally-ranked collegiate teams playing Wednesday night and, not surprisingly, all of them won comfortably.
Fifth-ranked Maryland, having thrashed East Carolina in its season opener last week, invited DePaul—not even a university division school—down to College Park and proceeded to annihilate the Tigers 99-42.
Steve Sheppard, with 17 points, led six Terrapins in double figures. Lawrence Boston had 16 rebounds along with his 16 points for Maryland. Cincinnati, ranked 10th, rolled to its third straight win over Wright State, another college division team, 118-70. The Bearcats were paced by Gary Yoder and Bob Miller, who had 23 points apiece.

Push-up champ Lyle not bad sort

By MILT RICHMAN NEW YORK (UPI) — He wasn't what you'd call a bad sort. He was polite, cooperative and considerate, the kind of guy who always helped blind men and little old ladies cross the street.

Lyle and managed to stop every day never missing a single day.
Finding he still had some time on his hands, he'd throw in 1,000 sit-ups each day as well. Why not? No extra charge.
Lyle was paroled after doing 7 1/2 years but nearly wound up in the cooler again earlier this year when he pegged a shot at his wife. Fortunately for her, and for him as well, he missed and all he drew from the incident was six months probation.

Foreman has been having his own troubles since being knocked out by Muhammad Ali and losing the heavyweight crown to him 14 months ago in Zaire. When he beat Joe Frazier to win the title in Jamaica, Foreman looked like the greatest puncher of all time. After his loss to Ali, he looked more like Little Bo Peep.
To make it worse, he began managing himself and that made him look like a lawyer who has himself for a client. There was that unforgettable burlesque in Toronto where Foreman made a fool of himself seeing how many hamburgers he could chomp up at one time. Then he went into a shell, becoming a modern day Greta Garbo. He wanted to be alone. The awful part about that

Wesleyan topped in season debut

MIDDLETOWN, (UPI) — Ken Kaufman made a successful debut as head basketball coach at Worcester Polytechnic Institute Wednesday night as his Engineers scored a 79-71 victory over Wesleyan University in the season opener for both teams.
WPI senior Pete Krupinsky scored a game-high 33 points before fouling out with five minutes left in the contest. Two other Engineers also committed five mistakes before the final buzzer, but WPI managed to hold off the persistent Cardinals who saw a last-second desperation shot from the opposite end of the court bounce off the WPI back board.
Wesleyan took a 39-37 halftime lead on the strength of 12 points by junior Earl Phillips.
The host Cardinals jumped out to a six-point advantage at the start of the second period but Krupinsky tied the game on an outside shot with 12 minutes remaining.
The lead changed hands repeatedly until WPI guard Rick Wheeler tied the score at 71-71 on a field goal with 3:40 left, and then gave the team the lead permanently 42 seconds later with a pair of free throws.
Krupinsky made 14 of 17 field goal attempts during the evening.
Wesleyan Co-captains Steve Malinowski and Frank Adamek paced the Cardinal attack with 22 and 16 points respectively.

Cougar women drop second

Despite a 12-point performance by Ginny Peterson, the Manchester Community College women's basketball team dropped a 44-30 decision to Trinity College yesterday at East Catholic.
Trinity scored the opening hoop at the 17:27 mark with Sue Levin hitting the two-pointer. After an exchange of scores, Beth Bonright hit two jumpers in a row for Trinity giving it a 12-6 advantage. Nancy McDermond netted six of her team-high 11 points for Trinity before the half giving the visitors a 29-14 halftime bulge.

Marcotte returns to Bruins' lineup

BOSTON (UPI) — The Boston Bruins will have added firepower tonight when they shoot to extend their unbeaten streak to 12 games against the Washington Capitals.
Left wing Don Marcotte, out 22 games with a hyperextension of the right knee, Wednesday received medical clearance to return to the Bruins lineup. Marcotte, who had 31 goals and 34 assists and was a regular penalty-killer last season, was injured in the second game of the season against the New York Islanders when he slid into a goalpost.
He visited orthopedic surgeon Dr. Carter Rowe Wednesday and was declared healthy. Marcotte, who has been skating with the Bruins the past week, is expected to see some action in tonight's home game.
"The return of Marcotte will help us a great deal, to be sure, although I don't know yet how much ice time he'll get at the start," said Coach Don Cherry.
"He's the kind of guy many people — and I'm not one of them, incidentally — don't miss until he's not with the club."
The effect of Marcotte's return has been sentent recently by the solid play of winger Dave Forbes in penalty-killing situations.

Kings next Celtic foe in Hartford

The Kansas City Kings, picked by many experts to win the NBA Midwest Division, will be the Boston Celtics next opponent at the Hartford Civic Center on Wednesday, Dec. 17.

Last year under Coach-of-the-Year Phil Johnson, the Kings made it to the winners' circle for the first time since 1965-66, and to the playoffs for the first time since 1966-67. Furthermore, they finished only three games out of first place in the division.

Leading the Kings will be Nate Archibald who had a 26.5 average last year and was again among the leaders with his 6.8 assist average. Other top performers include former Providence All-American Jimmy Walker, who complemented Archibald perfectly in the backcourt with a fine 16.7 mark, Scott Wedman, the 6-7 stragman forward, made the all-rookie team and is a fierce competitor with his all out hustle, promising 6-9 Larry McNeill (8.1), and Sam Lacey 6-10 the most underrated center in the National Basketball Association. Lacey merely led the league's center's in assists and was No. 1 in defensive rebounding while posting a solid 11.5 scoring average.

Individual tickets may be purchased at the Civic Center, or by writing to the Boston Celtics, Hartford Civic Center, One Civic Center Plaza, Hartford, Conn.

Fine balance of talent among rookies in AFC

NEW YORK — When the time comes to sort out the 1975 AFC rookie crop for honors, the selectors will find a fine balance of talent with outstanding newcomers at almost every position.

Neal Colzie, Oakland's No. 1 draft pick from Ohio State, appears on the way to breaking the NFL record for punt return yardage. Colzie has run back 41 punts for 579 yards in 11 games, only 33 short of the record of 612 set by Roger Bird, another Raider, in 1967. The record was approached last year by Pittsburgh's Lynn Swann with 577 yards.

The Raiders don't start Colzie, a defensive back, except when Willie Brown is out of action but he has four interceptions and is regarded as a sure fire regular for years to come.

Pittsburgh's Super Bowl IX champs don't have much room for rookies so they use Dave Brown of Michigan, their No. 1 draftee, primarily as a kick return specialist while he awaits an opening in the defensive backfield. The Steelers 14th pick, Mike Collier of Morgan State, has 419 yards in kick-off returns, including a 94-yarder for a touchdown, and is seeing more action as a runner.

Houston pops its buttons about Robert Brazile, the 6-4, 235-pound outside linebacker from Jackson State, and running back Don Hardeman who has rushed for 536 yards and three touchdowns, adding the much-needed big back to the Oiler attack.

New England's Steve Grogan is the only rookie quarterback starting regularly, getting a chance because of Jim Plunkett's injuries. The young man from Kansas State has become a big favorite with Patriot fans, to say nothing of the folks back home in Ottawa, Kan. Russ Francis, the No. 1 pick from Oregon, is among the top tight ends in receptions. Mike Patrick, a free agent, is the punter. Oscar Rouen, the Browns' No. 3 from Southern Methodist, beat Milt Morin out of the starting light end job and continues to impress with his 36 catches and three touchdowns. The Browns also start Dick Ambrose at middle linebacker, Mack Mitchell at defensive end and Tony Peters at cornerback.

Stan Fritts has become a Bengals' standout, a running back with 283 yards and six touchdowns who also has completed two of three passes. Rick Upchurch, Denver's speedy receiver, has 1,643 total yards on rushes, catches and returns, including a 90-yard TD on a Charley Johnson pass. Jack Dolin, another wide receiver with 20 catches and 3 TDs, cornerback Louis Wright and defensive end Rubin Carter have impressed.

Roosevelt Leaks has been a helpful runner with 175 yards for Baltimore. Buffalo starts Ed Jones, Frank Oliver and Steve Freeman in the defensive backfield. The Jets start Richard Wood at linebacker and Ed Taylor at cornerback.

Kansas City uses Walter White, a speedy tight end, as a third wide receiver. He has a long of 69 yards and 16 catches for 473 yards and three touchdowns.

Rams' offensive line lauded by backfield

NEW YORK — "I have so much confidence in them that sometimes I take too much time picking out a receiver." — Los Angeles quarterback James Harris on the excellent pass protection provided by the Rams' offensive line.

"Every back wants to gain a 1,000 yards every season, and if I do it again this year, I'll know a big reason is the job those guys up front do week after week." — Los Angeles running back Lawrence McCutchen on the efficiency of the Rams' veteran blocking unit.

"I've never found a quarterback or running back who didn't show appreciation for what an offensive lineman does for him," remarks guard Joe Scibelli, who like tackle Charlie Cowan, has led 15 years under the horn-decorated Rams' helmet. "Ha, I don't think they'd stay around very long if they weren't appreciative."

Across the front for Los Angeles, NFC Western Division champions are, Cowan (6-4, 285, age 37), guard

Tom Mack (6-3, 250, 31), center Rich Saul (6-4, 235, 27), guard Scibelli (6-0, 255, 30) and tackle John Williams (6-3, 256, 29).

"The learning isn't confined to the playing field. Once each week, the Rams' linemen are given a written examination. "The quizzes are a great thing," Proshaska claims, "because it makes them memorize all the blocking assignments, not just their own. I give them a blank form with defenses on it. They must diagram all five blocking assignments. Each man has to know what the other is going to do on a given play."

Mack agrees that sharp execution by the unit is what makes an offense go, but says each lineman must concentrate on his individual job. "You're detached from what's going on back there (in the backfield). Very much so. You gear yourself for a game, everything predicated on how you do against the guy across from you. It used to be even more clear cut before there began to be defensive variations the last few years."

Big first year

Dick Williams in his first season as cross country coach at Manchester Community College this fall guided the Cougars to a winning season. The squad also won the Connecticut Community College Athletic Association crown.

How to keep board meetings short

East Hartford SHEILA TULLER 289-4283. To streamline Board of Education meetings, members voted at a recent meeting to adjourn meetings at 10:30 p.m. Last week the board, which meets on the first, second, and third Mondays of the month, finished their business minutes before the 10:30 deadline. This past Monday night, the board adjourned shortly before 9 p.m. after running through an extremely light agenda for a regular meeting. The board often was in session for long hours before deciding to streamline. Smoking issue. The smoking issue on this week's agenda by high school leaders from East Hartford and Penney was rescheduled for Jan. 19 at the request of the students. Angela Camarce, Penney High's speaking as a parent, said she opposes smoking in the high schools and cited health reasons as her main concern. Sport space limits. Frank DeGregorio, director of parks and recreation, also appeared before the board. He discussed the use of school facilities for recreational activities. Because of greater demands on the Park Department for programs and an increase in athletic teams at the high school level due to the recent addition of girls' teams, there is a problem in gym scheduling. DeGregorio wants a task force to study scheduling and how to best use space. Chairman Kepler declined to name a board member to such a task force until she knows the actual purpose of the rescheduling of the smoking issue, appeared to give her views to the board. Ice rink in limbo

Vernon Dale Martin, a member of the Vernons Rink Study Committee told the Town Council Monday night they still want to have a proposed ice rink be self-supporting. Discussion Monday night was limited as council members did not have firm figures on the rink. George Knight, a senior associate in the firm of Booz, Allen & Hamilton which has completed a study on the rink, said revenue estimates went on several assumptions of town policy. He said these decisions depend on whether the proposed facility will be built on town-owned land, the fees to be charged and such. Plans are to have the facility include tennis courts. It was noted the town has never charged for use of any of its courts.

Councilman Thomas Dooley questioned Knight as to whether clarification of these assumptions would result in the consulting firm's determining the facility would be feasible. The last study showed it would not be self-supporting. "It's possible," Knight said.

Councilman Richard MacDonald asked if the negative aspect was the pure and simple fact the market is not here to support this facility. Knight said, "That's a reasonable assumption." The council then approved a motion to table the matter for further study figures.

Knigh said he could not commit a great deal of time and energy to another study. But he will work with Martin and the committee to try and answer some of the questions which he said, "are going to be thorny."

Ellington Board seeking ZBA member

The Board of Selectmen will meet Dec. 16 at 7:30 p.m. in the town hall. The board is seeking persons to serve on the Zoning Board of Appeals. A vacancy was created by the resignation of William Osgood.

Anyone interested should contact either of the town committee chairmen, Republican Gerald O'Connell or Democrat Fred Kemp, or the office of the selectmen prior to the Dec. 16 meeting.

BICENTENNIAL FACTS
 In the 17th and 18th centuries the use of the word "amuse" was "to divert the attention of" or "to mislead." When a politician of the period of the Revolutionary War sent out a force to amuse the enemy, his intentions were no more humorous than those of today's commander who plans a diversion. The World Almanac notes.

Abandoned land for auction

South Windsor
JUDY KUEHNEL
 644-1364

A 4.8 acre parcel of land off Pleasant Valley Rd. known simply as the Grimshaw property is expected to go up for auction, according to South Windsor town officials.

The land, as well as a log cabin with a stone fireplace, was abandoned by a family by the name of Grimshaw.

As the years passed, taxes and liens against the property mounted up. The property became laden with debris and clutter. Animals and rodents became the sole occupants of the cabin.

The home was recently torn down by the town, following fruitless attempts by officials to locate the former owners of the property.

The council has reportedly been considering buying the property to be used as a future date as open space or recreation. However it was recently decided it would be sold to the highest bidder.

At present, the tax lien against the land amounts to over $12,000.

Most burglaries in northwest area

Vernon
 A retrawing of patrol boundary lines, continuing of the records' analysts and possible shift changes, are recommendations made in the first-phas study of the Vernon Police Department.

The lengthy report, presented to the Town Council Monday night, was prepared by the criminal justice planning staff of the Capital Region Council of Governments.

The report reveals more burglaries and acts of vandalism occur in the northwest section of town bounded by Ellington, South Windsor, West St., Dart Hill, and Regan Rds. than in any other.

The report also shows most domestic quarrels and disputes occur in the northeast corner of town which is bounded by Ellington, Tolland, and South West Streets.

This first phase and a second phase are being funded by Federal Law Enforcement Assistance Administration (LEAA) grants to determine how to deploy police manpower based upon the times and locations of the crimes.

The report states that the police patrol district covering most of the western half of the town is the busiest of the three patrol districts.

District 11 bounded on the north by Ellington, the west by South Windsor, the east by Rt. 30, and the south by West St., includes the town's biggest commercial area on Rt. 83 and Vernon Circle.

The report states 50 per cent of the burglaries and 40.9 per cent of the vandalism is occurring in residential areas.

For its survey the committee used a sample of 3,500 criminal and non-criminal complaints from June 1972 to June 1974.

A preliminary finding showed that 29.4 per cent of all violent crimes occurred on Saturdays, more than on any other day and 17.3 per cent of the entire week's demands for police services occur on Fridays, making it the busiest day of the week.

Service calls such as checks of vacant houses and complaints of noise and disturbances accounted for 42 per cent of the police workload.

The police report some shift changes have already been made to comply with the actual demands for service based upon the findings of the report.

Sewer breaks

South Windsor
JUDY KUEHNEL
 644-1364

Further breaks in the Pine Tree sewer line in South Windsor brought questions among town officials if the planned "reinforcement" of the line will solve the problem.

According to Town Manager Terry V. Sprekel, the most recent major break in the force line at Benedict Dr. and Pine Tree Lane may indicate the installation of clamps on weak joints is not enough.

In October, Town Atty. Thomas Dennis was authorized to contract with Roncari Industries of East Granby to reinforce about 1,000 feet of the line where about 30 breaks had occurred.

The most recent break is reported to have been "farther down the line" than were the original breaks, thus indicating more extensive repair work is needed.

According to the Sprekel, payment in full to Roncari Industries has "not been authorized, pending a satisfactory solution to the problem."

Free apple wood

South Windsor
JUDY KUEHNEL
 Superintendent of Parks and Grounds, William Shuteran said, town residents may use some of the apple trees at Pero's Orchard off Foster St. for firewood.

The area is located in back of the Orchard Hill School.

Shuteran said, however, before residents may enter town property for the purpose of cutting trees, they must contact him at the town garage, 644-2531. He will set up an appointment for wood choppers to sign a waiver holding the town harmless against claims resulting from injury.

Shuteran will give the exact location of trees to be cut at the time of the waiver signing.

Library lights cost too much

Bolton
DONNA HOLLAND
 646-0375

The Public Building Commission is concerned about the high electric bills at Bentley Memorial Library.

It will send a protest letter to Hartford Electric Light Company (HELCO) protesting the demand rate schedule as it encourages unwarranted use of electricity and places a burden on the taxpayers.

In a letter to the Board of Education the PBC explained, "The old library was on a rate 21 which doesn't carry a demand meter. HELCO's present policy is to only allow a rate 22 requiring a demand meter."

Alan Wiedie, architect, requested the project engineer explore the possibility of dispensing with the demand meter and going to a single phase source of power with HELCO.

Bolton building volume too much for inspector

DONNA HOLLAND
644-0375

In a verbal report to the Board of Selectmen Calvin Hutchinson said more and more of his burden of work is in the area of inspecting to the detriment of his assessing work. He needs more help, he said. Hutchinson is the town building inspector and assessor.

Hutchinson told the selectmen although he has the problem, he does not have the answer.

The selectmen didn't feel a second inspector, even part-time, could be justified at this time. Hutchinson said he finds it difficult to see how a part-time person would help.

He said the whole scope of work is interrelated and felt one individual had to be in on the entire thing.

Hutchinson said the entire increased work load is a combination of many things including more building in Bolton, the 1968 state health code requirements and their update and the many septic systems in town which must be brought up to code.

He said in the past four years Bolton has averaged 10 to 12 new houses annually. But at the present time, there are about 26 houses in various stages of construction with more being contemplated.

Hutchinson said at this time of year his assessing duties are the heaviest. But he has to spend 70 to 80 per cent of his time working on the planning and inspection of septic systems.

He said the selectmen may not be fully aware of the amount of time the jobs require.

He said some sites must be inspected up to five times. He said there is a lot of conferring with potential owners, lawyers, realtors and engineers.

One alternative suggested was to have the present clerk, Elma Dimock, increase her hours. She presently spends about 15 to 20 hours weekly working for Hutchinson.

The selectmen plan to consider the matter further.

Firehouse hearing to be set

Bolton

The Board of Selectmen agreed unanimously to hold a public hearing concerning the purchase of land and construction of a new firehouse before any requests for funding go to a Town Meeting.

The request for a public hearing came from the Democratic Town Committee.

Norman Preuss, selectman, said although the selectmen held an executive session on Nov. 17 to discuss a land purchase, no action was taken and he felt townpeople should be made aware of it.

He said the selectmen have asked the fire commissioners to submit more information.

No date for the public hearing has been set.

East Hartford woman found in Andover

An East Hartford woman was the subject of a search, last night, in a wooded area off Shoddy Mill and Wales Roads in Andover.

State Police said Mrs. Constance Zarnichiel of Main St. went to the area to some property she owns where she was to meet some surveyors. While she was waiting she was for a walk in the woods and became lost.

Her husband found her car locked and called in police who were assisted by volunteer firemen from area towns. The search involved about 186 persons, police said. Mrs. Zarnichiel was found unharmed by men from the Columbia and Andover fire departments.

South Windsor Police are investigating the complaint of Michael Bentley, 17, of 61 Brian Rd., South Windsor, who said his AM/FM radio was taken from his unlocked car parked at the high school.

South Windsor Police recovered a car, reported stolen out of Wallingford, partly submerged in the Connecticut River, Wednesday. The area where it was found was at the end of Biebert Rd.

Kenneth J. Arnold III, of 32 Prospect St., Rockville, was charged Wednesday with first-degree larceny and third-degree burglary.

Does Vernon want a bigger I-86?

BARBARA RICHMOND
Herald Reporter

The Department of Transportation (DOT) is working on a modified highway expansion for the Vernon area.

But some Vernon residents said Wednesday night it is not wanted or needed.

Some 80 residents appeared in an informational meeting on the proposed highway expansion. The meeting was sponsored by the Vernon League of Women Voters.

John Gastler, head of DOT's Surveyance and Compliance Unit, said design studies are being worked now to include a "priority lane" in the expansion plan.

One of DOT's jobs is to prepare a consistency statement concerning air quality as an air pollution permit has to be granted before construction starts. His department also has to consider the Inlands-Wetlands act and its impact on that before an inland wetlands permit is granted.

He said on Aug. 14 DEP found that the project could be consistent with air quality but has not decided whether the permit will be awarded.

The Conservation Commission in Vernon oversees the town's Inland-Wetlands regulations. A hearing on that permit will be conducted Jan. 7 at 7:30 p.m.

The mayor meets press

Vernon

BARBARA RICHMOND
Herald Reporter

It was a month ago today former councilman Thomas Benoit, a Democrat, was elected mayor of Vernon.

Today he held his first press conference.

The mayor was asked several questions about his future plans. One of these was what will be done about purchasing needed equipment for the fire departments. An appropriation request was defeated at a referendum several months ago.

The mayor said he hopes to have information on this within the next four to six weeks. He said he has a plan in mind but is not in a position to divulge it at this time.

WHOLESALE PRICES UNCHANGED

WASHINGTON (UPI) - The Wholesale Price Index for November remained at the same level as October because of a drop in food prices, the Labor Department said today.

The zero change in wholesale prices was the best inflation news in six months. Wholesale prices declined 0.1 per cent in June, but surged up steadily until peaking at 1.8 per cent in October.

Prices received by farmers had dropped for two straight months, but wholesale food prices continued to rise. In November, they dropped 1.2 per cent.

The Bureau of Labor Statistics said that unusually large declines in prices for vegetables, oil seeds and hogs led the drop. Grain prices, reflecting a record harvest, also continued to decrease.

There also was good news in the more important index that measures industrial commodities, including metals, petroleum and raw materials for industry.

The industrial commodities index increased 0.6 per cent, exactly one-half the rate in October.

BLS said "sharp increases" in prices for cars, steel, lumber and wood which drove up the October inflation rate were virtually unchanged in November.

DEAR ABBY: What do you think of men who run ads in the classified section of a newspaper, reading "Lonely get usually much younger for companionship, marriage or...?"

DEAR CURIOUS: I think such men must be desperately lonely as well as very creepy characters. And the same goes for women who would answer such ads.
