State

RIDGEFIELD — Actor Godfrey Cambridge's dispute with town officials who want him to take down a fence is going into court and Cambridge says that, as a black man, he is not welcome in Ridgefield. Court appearance has been set for Jan. 8.

NEW HAVEN — Industrialist Charles D. Moeller, one of nine persons accused of conspiracy in the firebombing of the Sponge Rubber Products Co., which his manufacturing empire owns, began his defense Monday. The trial is in its tenth week and the prosecution alleges the firebombing was done in order to collect $62 million in insurance.

Regional

PROVIDENCE, R.I. — The Democratic party will be able to forge a "very reasonable" platform, according to Gov. Philip W. Noel, the chairman of the party's platform committee, who is basing this hope on emerging party unity.

National

SAN FRANCISCO — Lawyers say they will use insanity as a defense for Sara Jane Moore, accused of trying to kill President Ford.

PHILADELPHIA — The personal life of slain millionaire newspaper heir John S. Knight has become the focus of one of the city's most intensive murder investigations. Knight was killed in an attempted robbery in his apartment early Sunday.

PROSPECT, S.C. — Authorities have charged two more men with murder and continue searching a swamp area where six bodies have been found.

WASHINGTON — Congress is working on legislation to make it possible for big cities to go bankrupt — just in case the forthcoming $2.3 billion in federal loans fail to save New York City from financial collapse.

WASHINGTON — North Vietnamese officials have promised an accounting of Americans missing in action in Indochina and are seeking reconstruction aid and the lifting of the U.S. trade embargo.

WASHINGTON — The hearings on confirmation of John Paul Stevens as a justice on the Supreme Court continued today. Monday he said justices must avoid broad constitutional rulings on difficult social issues and confine themselves to the narrow facts of a particular case.

International

LONDON — Police said today they fear that Britain's most wanted man has escaped a trap and was not one of the Irish Republican Army gunmen holding a middle-aged couple hostage in their small living room.

BEIRUT, Lebanon — Army commandos consolidate positions in downtown Beirut, driving a wedge between warring Christian and Moslem militias.

AMSTERDAM, The Netherlands — Gunmen holding the Indonesian embassy released four children in exchange for talks between a mediator and an Indonesian diplomat.

Federal spending ceiling urged

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Treasury Secretary William E. Simon today urged the Senate Finance Committee to "turn the tide of fiscal irresponsibility" by adopting President Ford's $396 billion spending ceiling. Ford has threatened to veto the proposed tax cut package if Congress fails to approve the spending lid.

The finance committee is expected to ignore both Ford and Simon and approve a brief extension of 1975's tax cuts without a spending ceiling. Simon's prepared statement did not mention the veto threat and instead consisted merely of a comparison of the President's tax proposals and those in a bill passed last week by the House. He concluded, however, with a plea for the ceiling on fiscal 1977 spending.

"We have the unique opportunity to turn the tide of fiscal irresponsibility which has been engulfing our nation for at least 15 years," Simon said. "Please do not miss this opportunity. Each year that we fail to stem the tide, the task becomes more difficult."

If the committee decides to approve the short-term tax cut extension, the "reform" sections of the House-passed bill would be laid aside until next year.

Theoretically, this would leave time before Congress' Christmas vacation for final congressional passage, a Ford veto, and a vote on whether to override that veto. But White House Press Secretary Ron Nessen said Ford was considering calling Congress back into session or keeping it in session if necessary to pass a bill to his liking.

Ford outlined his plans at a meeting with top economic advisers, and Nessen said they assured the President that if the tax cut were to expire for "a short period of time, it would have no material effect on the economy."

Nessen said Ford "truly believes" in his proposal to set a $396 billion ceiling on spending during the fiscal year starting next Oct. 1, and recent polls indicate a majority of Americans support Ford's position. He said Ford told Simon to emphasize "the President will veto any extension of a tax reduction unless it has a ceiling on spending."

But Democrats are determined not to deal with a spending ceiling on a budget they have not seen. They also say Ford's plans are poor economics because the tax cuts would boost economic activity before the November election and the spending ceiling would then slam on the brakes after the election.

Bidwell St. bridge opened

Manchester's Bidwell St. Bridge, washed out Sept. 26 during a torrential rainfall, has been replaced and was opened to traffic Monday. Here Mayor Matt Moriarty Jr. congratulates Andrew Ansaldi Jr., whose local construction company rebuilt the structure, as Director of Public Works Jay Giles looks on. The estimated cost of the new bridge is about $35,000. The culverts were furnished by Leonard Concrete of Hamden and the railings by Frank's Ornamental Iron Shop of Manchester. A new water main was placed under the culvert by town personnel. (Herald photo by Barlow)

Offset by state grants and tuition

Regional center budget cost estimated at $130,000 yearly

By DOUG BEVINS
Herald Reporter

Fall 1976 opening of Manchester's Regional Occupational Training Center will mean a school budget increase of up to $130,000, but the increase will be offset by state grants for special education and tuition payments from other towns.

Manchester School Supt. James Kennedy, presenting preliminary estimates to the Board of Education Monday night, said the predicted budget increase is within a one-year-old estimate prepared before the project was approved by townspeople.

In October 1974, just before a town referendum on building the $1.4 million, state-funded project, officials estimated that the center will call for a budget increase of $134,700.

When the school board finalizes its 1976-1977 operating budget, the Regional Occupational Training Center is anticipated to call for allocation of $177,000, Kennedy said. The $47,000 difference is made up by transfer of existing personnel to the training center program, Kennedy said.

The training center, designed for up to 100 mentally and physically handicapped adolescents from Manchester and 15 surrounding towns, is being built at Hillstown Rd. and Wetherell St. under a 100 per cent state grant for construction and equipment.

First-year enrollment at the training center is estimated at about 70 students, half from Manchester and half from surrounding towns. If surrounding towns actually produce 35 students for the center—and officials say they probably will—those towns will pay just over $2,400 in tuition per student, resulting in total tuition payments to Manchester of nearly $85,000.

Special Education Director Norman Fendell, who spearheaded the drive for the training center, said there's tremendous out-of-town interest in the Manchester program and there's no question there are enough potential students for the training center.

Fendell admitted, though, that budget problems encountered by school boards in other towns could easily affect regional enrollment in the training center program.

Kennedy said operating costs won't be as high if out-of-town school districts don't send enough students to the training center. There would be a slight operating cost increase to Manchester if the center doesn't operate with the anticipated 70 students, he said.

Reporting on progress at the training center site, Fendell said exterior walls are about 90 per cent finished and interior walls are about 60 per cent finished. Structural steel for the roof is due at the site this week, and heating-ventilation equipment has been received.

The Lawrence Associates of Manchester, architects for the project say construction is on or ahead of schedule, with final completion set for June 1976.

Equipment needs for the center's varied academic and vocational programs are being studied, Fendell said, and lists of items are being prepared to go out to public bid in January.

Fendell said his department has prepared brochures on the training center for distribution in area towns, and University of Connecticut graduate students are compiling a comprehensive course catalog for the center's curriculum.

At Security Council

Resolution condemning air attacks vetoed

By United Press International — Israel expressed satisfaction today for the United States veto of the proposed U.N. Security Council resolution condemning Israeli air strikes against Palestinian targets in Lebanon.

The United States cast the veto Monday night after the council meeting in U.N. headquarters in New York refused to add a U.S.-sponsored amendment condemning all violence in the Middle East.

"Israel expresses satisfaction on the position taken by the United States in last night's Security Council debate which has foiled the acceptance of yet another one-sided resolution by which the Security Council of the United Nations would have again ignored the crimes of the terrorist organizations," a Foreign Ministry communique said.

A government official, however, said Israeli leaders were still disappointed at U.S. support of a Security Council resolution last week that called for a general debate on the Middle East, including the Palestinian question, next month.

The official said Washington's explanations for last week's vote was "only partly satisfactory." He did not elaborate.

"We worked strenuously for a balanced resolution," U.S. Ambassador Daniel Moynihan told the Council. "We have reluctantly had to veto a resolution which we made clear from the beginning we did not consider balanced."

Highway trust bill opposed

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Senator Lowell Weicker, R-Conn., and Senator Edward M. Kennedy, D-

Mass., are opposing a proposed two-year extension of the Highway Trust Fund, now scheduled to expire on Oct. 1, 1977.

The senators Tuesday called for authorization of trust fund money only for 1977. The Senate Public Works Committee has asked current highway programs be continued through 1978.

They also propose federal highway funds be opened to flexible use by local and state governments to meet transportation needs.

"Since the trust fund began 19 years ago, our highway program has been allowed to operate on automatic pilot. The result has been great highways but little else," Weicker said.

"The sentiment for abolishing or modifying the trust fund is growing," he said.

Weicker said an extension of the trust fund would be "a major setback for a reasonable and balanced transportation system in the United States."

In another matter, Weicker filed an amendment Tuesday to ban the supersonic transport aircraft from landing in the United States, except in an emergency.

Bradley International Airport in Windsor Locks has been mentioned as an alternate site for landings of the SST aircraft, the Concorde.

The two airports now under consideration for Concorde landings are Kennedy International in New York, and Dulles International near Washington.

Public hearings scheduled at board meeting tonight

By SOL R. COHEN

Indications are they will nominate Edward Wilson again. Wilson who was the Democrats' chief antagonist during the recent election campaign, finished last in a bid for a seat on the board.

On Nov. 25, he lost also in a bid for a seat on the Human Relations Commission. The vote then was 5 to 4, with Mayor Matt Moriarty Jr., a Democrat, joining the three Republican directors in their vote for confirmation.

CNA Unit to represent MMH part-time nurses

Part-time registered nurses at Manchester Memorial Hospital have voted to be represented in collective bargaining by the Connecticut Nurses' Association, Unit 25.

About town

The Marine Corps League Auxiliary will meet Wednesday at 8 p.m. at the Marine Home, Parker St.

Members of the Manchester Lodge of Elks are reminded that reservations for Scandinavian Night should be made promptly.

The other 5 Democrats voted to reject, contending Wilson doesn't belong on the commission. The Republicans contend that, traditionally and historically, nominations by the minority party have been accepted by the majority.

Under unfinished business tonight, the Republicans are expected to nominate a member to the Human Relations Commission, to fill a vacancy.

Area UConn students participating in concert tour

Two area students at University of Connecticut are touring the state this month with the fifth edition of the perennially popular Elizabethan Christmas Dinner Concert.

The following area appearances are scheduled: Friday at 6:30 p.m. at St. Mary Margaret Church in South Windsor.

Other arrests made by Manchester Police included:

East Hartford man charged with theft

Eugene J. Russell, 25, of East Hartford was charged Monday night with third-degree larceny in connection with alleged shoplifting earlier in the day at King's Department Store, Manchester Shopping Parkade, police reported.

Police said Russell was apprehended in Hartford at about 11 p.m. after local authorities telephoned descriptions of a vehicle and man involved in theft of women's coats from King's at about 7 p.m.

A car driven by Barrette went off the road near Woodridge St. and struck a utility pole, police said. The accident occurred at about 9 a.m.

Diane S. Jurtsema, 22, of 216 Hilliard St., charged Monday afternoon with fourth-degree larceny (shoplifting) at Sears Roebuck & Co., Manchester Shopping Parkade. Court date is Dec. 29.

Harvey R. Barrette, 75, of 39 Lawton Rd., was listed in satisfactory condition at Manchester Memorial Hospital with injuries he suffered in a one-car accident Monday on E. Center St.

Burglaries reported to police Monday included breaks into a Main St. home, in which prescription drugs were stolen, and into a Pearl St. home, in which $40 in federal Food Stamps were taken.

Bolton man arrested on several charges

Manchester Police have arrested one man and expected to charge two others in a Saturday night armed robbery of a Windsor man in Manchester's North End.

John A. Falconer Jr., 49, of 300 Lake St., Bolton, turned himself in to police Monday night and was charged with first-degree kidnaping, first-degree robbery and third-degree larceny.

Lloyd E. Roy, 58, of 35 Scott Dr., Manchester, has been sentenced to a one-year federal prison term on a charge of failing to file federal income tax returns.

Roy, who conducted an income tax preparation business in the Manchester area, was sentenced Monday by U.S. District Court Judge Robert C. Zampano in New Haven.

The victim was robbed at knife-point and forced to remove all his clothes. The victim was left standing naked near a sandpile on the west side of Parker St.

The two Chicopee suspects, not identified by police, allegedly had some of the Manchester victim's identification with them when they were arrested.

Roy pleaded guilty to the charge of failing to file federal income tax returns. He was sentenced to a one-year federal prison term on a charge of failing to file federal income tax returns.

Roy, who conducted an income tax preparation business in the Manchester area, was sentenced Monday by U.S. District Court Judge Robert C. Zampano in New Haven.

Police said the charges stem from a 6:30 p.m. incident Saturday in which a pedestrian accepted a ride at N. Main and Oakland Sts. The pedestrian was robbed at knife-point and forced to remove all his clothes.

The case is still under investigation, police said. Authorities are checking into the possible involvement of two men apprehended in Chicopee, Mass., Sunday in connection with burglary of a gun shop there.

Because of the no contest plea on one count, the other two counts Monday by U.S. District Court Judge Robert C. Zampano in New Haven. The prison term is to be served at the Danbury Correctional Institution.

The sentence was imposed after Roy pleaded guilty to the charge of failing to file federal income tax returns.

Young Clinton Flagg too busy for college

There are still a few kids left that know what they want to do. — Clinton Flagg, 17-year-old entrepreneur.

By JUNE ANDERSON PUTNAM (UPI) — Two years ago, Clinton Flagg built a greenhouse with a $1,000 government loan. Now, he's 17, his net worth is $12,000 and he says he's too busy to go to college.

Flagg Greenhouses are on a hilly, country road near the Quinebaug River in this mill town of 3,700 in northeastern Connecticut.

The enterprise, which began with a loan from the Federal Home Administration, consists of two greenhouses and a shop with potted plants, terrariums, glassware, hanging pots and a wood-burning stove.

The owner, the second oldest of eight children, is a high school senior at Killingly Voc-Ag Center in Danielson, who attributes his love of plants to his grandmother, Florence Erickson, 71, of Putnam.

"I started out with no capital at all. I used the loan to build the greenhouse but I didn't have any plants so I started from cuttings from two of my three plants my grandmother had," Clinton said.

"My net worth jumped from zero to $12,000 in a year and a half. That was in June. Now it would probably be more than that," he said.

Clinton attributes his success to hard work and his parents, Ruth and Richard Flagg. His father works in an upholstery mill.

"My parents have been very helpful. They co-signed for my loan and my father went with me as moral support when I had to get a variance in the town zoning laws for my greenhouse," he said.

Clinton built his greenhouses next to his parent's white clapboard house and painted the sign in front. "Flagg Greenhouses," with a large green, philodendron leaf.

"People thought it was a pipe dream. I had to do some convincing but I won and we got the greenhouses and that's all that really matters."

"I was thinking about college but I'm so busy here," he said. "I've done a lot of reading and I think that's a good substitute for the schooling."

"As soon as I get out of school I want to set up a different type of nursery where you can get anything you need in the way of plants, ranging from your trees to your cut flowers," he said.

Clinton thinks his grandmother is overwhelmed at the success of what she started.

"She's always wanted a greenhouse and whenever she comes over, she likes it so much, she starts taking it over."

"There's an awful lot about the greenhouse business but I enjoy having them," he said.

"I like the goal of having to do what I've set for myself and I'm going to drive home from college."

"The old people should know there are still a few kids left that know what they want to do," he said.

Videodisc venture a leisure revolution

What one electronics manufacturer calls "the most important market development since the introduction of color television" will be bidding for the consumer dollar in late 1976.

This is the videodisc, the television counterpart of the long-playing phonograph record. If anything, claims about its expected impact on the home entertainment field may be understated.

Played through a special unit that is simply attached to the antenna terminals of an ordinary black and white or color television set, videodiscs will enable viewers to play, at their leisure or any other kind of audiovisual material. Because videodiscs will not fall under the jurisdiction of the Federal Communications Commission, X-rated films and other non-standard fare will presumably be made available on discs eventually for those so inclined.

low-power laser beam that reads information under the surface of the disc and is thus said to be scratch-proof, dirt-proof and virtually wear-proof. This player also has the capacity of freeze-frame, picture-by-picture and reverse viewing, as well as a random access feature. The company says it is possible to put an entire mail-order catalogue on a single disc, which could then be "read" page by page through a TV set.

Price of the Philips-MCA videodisc player, which will be marketed in the fall of 1976, is targeted at $600, with 30-minute discs costing $10. Teldec, which is already available in Germany, will cost about $100 less. RCA does not as yet have any firm marketing plans.

"Revolution" is a word that is bandied about a lot these days, and not always in a political context. However, it is difficult not to use it when thinking about videodiscs, especially when added to the possibility of large-screen wall television in another few years.

Currently, three companies are the leading competitors in the videodisc race — Teldec (a combination of Germany's Telefunken and Britain's Deca), RCA and North American Philips in partnership with MCA.

Each company's system is different, each is incomparable with the others and each has its advantages.

Both the Teldec and RCA systems use discs that resemble LPs, except that they contain 100 times more information necessary for a complete video signal. Both employ a stylus that makes mechanical contact with minute grooves in the disc. Teldec's videodisc has a playing time of 10 minutes, that of RCA 30 minutes on each side.

Rather than stylus, the Philips-MCA system utilizes a

Yet people have shown an amazing capacity to absorb other revolutions in communications — radio, talking pictures, television itself or the printing press, for that matter. No doubt we will quickly come to accept as a matter of course the ability to see and hear a symphony orchestra perform at any time of our choosing, or to build an inexpensive private library of classic motion pictures.

But what effect the videodisc revolution will have on commercial television, not to mention cable TV and the local movie theater, is anybody's guess.

Gene McCarthy is running again

WASHINGTON — I see by the papers that Gene McCarthy is running for President again. The former Democratic Senator from Minnesota is in the race as a liberal independent. Forgive me if the name of his new party, if it has a name, escapes me.

McCarthy has never been my particular cup of tea, mostly because I don't think he's strong enough to be a good President. But his candidacy should be good for the country. He already has shown that it is possible to offer the voters glimpses of honesty and candor.

There is a dreadful risk in such a departure from the norm, especially among the bloc voters, because people don't want honesty unless it offers them something. They prefer a candidate who speaks their language, that is to say one who agrees with them and endorses their aspirations, not to say greed. A naysayer fills the voter with a resentful unease.

ANDREW TULLY

But McCarthy has always broken the rules and, oddly, survived. He's never come close to even a serious run for the White House, but he has preserved his individuality. Some of us would call that a victory and break out the champagne.

In Gene McCarthy we also have a kind of Adlai Stevenson with brass knuckles. McCarthy is every bit as erudite as Stevenson was — good night, the man writes poetry — without Adlai's distaste for the peasantry en masse, and he has a wicked left jab.

For example, a rather prominent labor leader plied Gene the other day and said he'd be glad to lend a hand to the McCarthy campaign. This is a guy any Presidential candidate would snatch at, but he felt the

Columnist criticized

An open letter to Len Auster:
 After reading your column regarding the Windham-Manchester football game in the Dec. 1 Evening Herald, we as parents of 2 son who plays football for MHS cannot remain silent any longer.

Week after week, we have read your cynical, supposedly "unbiased" accounts of the Saturday games, but found Monday night's column a bit overbearing, and hitting below the belt.

You certainly have done your "homework" in reporting the records set by the football team, in more than one of your columns, which we think was a little bit uncalculated.

Those boys gave their all everyday at practice and every Saturday on the field, and how nice it kind would have been to have at least one kind word written about them.

I'm sure that both Larry Olsen and Jack Holick could find part-time jobs to compensate them better financially. (Besides, being less time consuming), then coaching football at

LVW thanks supporters

Citizens of Manchester:
 As the election oratory disappears with the leaves of fall, the League of Women Voters would like to thank all of the people and groups who helped us provide the public with information in candidates and issues in recent election. Providing a cable television series, a public meeting and the information for a tabloid section in The Herald are large projects for a volunteer organization. We really appreciate all the efforts made to aid us in our tasks.

We would like to express our thanks to the party chairmen, the three papers that cover Manchester news, the people involved in the cable consortium, our liaison from town hall, the Junior Women's Club, Girl Scout Troop 688 and Watkins.

To the candidates we say thank you for your cooperation and, of greater importance, thank you for serving your town.

Sincerely,
 Ellen Stern

Our memory questioned

To the editor,
 In your opinion of Dec. 2, 1975 you mention "We remember too well the ill-fated compromise..." I believe that your memory does not serve you well.

1) The proposed deferral of the pension fund was not accepted.

2) What was accepted was a change of the date which annual increments would be effective (they were delayed three months).

3) If you are not aware of what an annual increment is you should be. As a condition of employment with the state the salary is to be within a range, an increase annually, usually from Step 1 to Step 7 within a given pay group.

4) You failed to mention that this was a condition of employment that was changed.

Also as a condition of employment is a 35-hour work week for a certain pay or an hourly pay rate. It is pretty widely recognized that for a com-

LEE RODERICK

Herald Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON — Members of Congress, who often are criticized for being too free with the taxpayers' money, cannot be accused of having the same problem with their own — at least not when it comes to shelling out for charity.

With the federal government's annual Combined Federal Campaign (CFC) charity drive soon to end, local organizers are beginning to tally the take. Out of approximately 140 federal units in the Washington area, guess which two have done the worst job of meeting their goals? That's right — the House is No. 139, followed by the Senate, coming in dead last at 140.

The CFC is Uncle Sam's version of the United Way ("Thanks to you it's working"). Last year, the CFC carried the nation raised more than $60 million from federal workers — an impressive figure, even given the fact that Uncle Sam is America's largest employer. The bulk of this money remained at the local level — assist widows, orphans, crippled children and other needy individuals.

In the area of the nation's capital, 75 per cent of the funds raised by the CFC go to the United Way to be dispersed among local charities. The balance of the funds are divided between 11 national health agencies such as the American Heart Assn. and American Cancer Society; and several international service agencies including Project Hope, Care and Planned Parenthood.

But back to Capitol Hill: members of Congress and their staffs have turned in abysmal performances for charity in the past. However, hope springing eternal as it does, two high-powered members were ordained to lead the CFC drives on their respective sides of Capitol Hill, were given a pep talk by the President, and were sent forth to turn around Congress' poor track record. The two hapless charity geni'ers without armies are Senate Majority Leader Mike Mansfield, D-Mont., and House Republican Conference Chairman John B. Anderson, R-Ill.

"In fairness to Mansfield and Anderson, it should be pointed out that they have tried to improve on the past," said Robert Bannon, local director of the CFC under the general chairmanship of Frank Zarb, head of the Federal Energy Administration.

"In fact, even though the Senate is in last place in meeting its goal, it has already doubled what it raised last year. But it still amounts to nothing," he added.

Bannon said goals for the various federal agencies are based on the average salary of their employees. The 15,000 workers on Capitol Hill — including 535 members of the House and Senate — were asked to donate a total $40,000 in the drive that began in mid-October. To date, the House has only managed to raise 1.5 per cent of its goal of $258,000, while the Senate has given or pledged only 1 per cent of its $145,000 goal.

One key problem in queuing contributions out of Congress is the fact that many Senators and Representatives plead immunity, on the basis that they donate to charities at home. In some cases, of course, this is no doubt true. But the fact remains that they live here most of the year and have a responsibility to help improve the condition of the seat of the U.S. government. In addition, with salaries of $44,600 plus generous fringes, it is exceedingly difficult to sympathize with their reluctance to donate locally.

The case of the remaining 14,500 employees of Capitol Hill is even less defensible. A great majority of them are relatively permanent residents of the capital area and thus lack their bosses' excuse of donating in the district. But the poor example set by their employers is deadly and, as Bannon points out, "when they see their Congressman or Senator unwilling to donate, they figure why should they?"

Despite the uncharitable response from Capitol Hill, the local CFC drive has yet to have a happy ending. Several agencies already have exceeded their goals. And a number of perennially dedicated directors, such as Mary Walsh of the Department of HEW, again are turning in stellar performances. If Santa does make it to the needy residents of the nation's capital this year, though, he needn't bother to thank Congress.

Thought

The family is the focal point of any proper celebration of Christmas; Joseph and Mary, Mary's pregnancy and the birth of Jesus in the manger. The faithful of Joseph to Mary at this time when her pregnancy was unexplained to the community at large furnishes a beautiful example of family solidarity based on a mutual faith in each other. The strength of the family must be within itself, not based on supportive people outside the union. Such an inner strength is the only proper means of providing such family strength and will provide a child the love and care he will need.

Righteous living
 Righteous living, ever helping,
 May it be our joy through life,
 Ever guarding one another
 From the ills of harmful strife.
 Silent talking with the Savior
 Of the Strength He doth bestow;
 Counting all our blessings daily
 Amid the hours that come and go.
 While at work or when we're playing,
 When we're gay or when in grief,
 May His presence flood our being,
 Like a wave rolls o'er a reef.
 For He hath love and He hath mercy,
 And we all must take His hand,
 Then our burden will grow lighter
 As we near the promised land.
 Banish hatred toward thy brother,
 Love thy neighbor, hold no grudge;
 God alone doth know our failing;
 Judge not; then ye are not judged.
 Then when life on earth has ended
 And we cross the waters deep,
 Will our record bear reviewing?
 As we've sown, so shall we reap.

Betty's Notebook

By Betty Ryder

Remember when you were kids and your mother used to say "Now, eat your spinach, it will put hair on your chest" — well, kids, even if you don't eat it, when you grow up you can still have hair on your chest.

A Cleveland area barber shop is offering an instant hairpiece for your chest for only $80. It's imported from the Orient (the hairpiece not the chest).

The picture I saw looked like a small, shaggy rug, but certainly covered the chest.

I wonder if there's a discount if you only want a couple of wisps?

Old-house products

Came across an account of a new directory called "The Old-House Journal," just published, which tells where to buy authentic products for restoring and decorating old houses.

According to the editor "People now know that you don't make a home look Early American merely by installing a few simulated wrought iron do-dads. And fake vinyl barn-boards is not the way to bring warmth to an 18th Queen Anne Victorian."

"Old-house owners are becoming more demanding about what they buy for their homes. They're looking for appropriate items — both new and recycled — that fit the period and style of their houses," she reports.

Evidently, there are hundreds of companies selling traditionally designed products that are especially suited for pre-1914 houses, but the problem is that most of the companies are small and hard to find.

The Old-House Journal is supposed to alleviate that problem with a listing of some 290 companies.

Don't know if it's on the market yet, but it sounds as though it would be interesting to read.

Etiquette

I found out that the Elizabeth Post I referred to in last week's column is indeed the granddaughter-in-law of Emily Post, and the author of the New Emily Post's Etiquette.

Some resident sent me a little clipping from the Good Housekeeping Magazine in which Elizabeth writes a column entitled "Etiquette for Everyday."

The clipping came unsigned, so many thanks to whoever sent it along.

Growing old

Growing old is only a state of mind — brought on by gray hairs, false teeth, wrinkles, a big stomach, short breath and an alover feeling of being totally pooped." (P.S. I stole that chuckle)

Rare gifts

Just keep reading about unusual gifts for Christmas, the oddest being a pet rock.

It seems you just get a rock, put it into a cage-like box and give it to a friend. When the puzzled expression appears on his (or her) face, you just say "It's a pet rock, requires little care, and no feeding at all."

Now if I can get out and collect a few rocks before the snow falls, I may just complete my Christmas shopping.

Other unusual gifts are gloves that massage while you drive, a peanut-butter-making machine, and graphite racquets for indoor tennis.

Merchants report the "zany" gifts accomplish two things: They draw customers to the stores to buy them, and they expose these customers to other, more basic, Christmas gifts that may carry higher price tags.

Oh, I knew there was a method in their madness.

Vacation

Next week I'll be on vacation — and for the first time in a long time — I'm staying home.

Just seems like fun to plan to get my Christmas decorations up, trim the tree, prepare a few goodies for the holidays and just collapse when ever I want to.

Who knows I may just get my Christmas shopping done before Christmas Eve. I'm usually the shopper pounding on the store door just as the poor merchant is trying to lock up for the night, pleading that "I just need one more item."

This year (I hope) it will be different.

Dear heart

"The hours I spent with thee, dear heart, are as a string of pearls to me; I count them over, every one apart, my rosary, my rosary." Robert Cameron Rogers (1862-1912)

Deborah Anne Harris of South Glastonbury and Thomas Anthony Makulis of Manchester, were married Nov. 29 at St. Bridget Church in Manchester.

The bride is the daughter of Charles E. Harris of Glastonbury and Mrs. Florence Lindsay of 45 E. Middle Tpke. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Anthony F. Makulis of 22 Sherwood Circle.

The Rev. William Stack of St. Bridget Church officiated at the double-ring ceremony.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of delustrated satin and imported Chantilly lace, designed with fitted bodice, high neckline, Edwardian sleeves, ruffled hemline with Chantilly lace border. Her chapel-length mantilla of imported silk illusion was attached to a Camelot headpiece. She carried a colonial bouquet of white roses and carnations.

Miss Linda Harris of Manchester was her sister's maid of honor. Bridesmaid was Miss Janet Makulis of Manchester, the bridegroom's sister.

Karl Nickse of Hebron served as best man. Robert Harris of Manchester, the bride's brother, was usher.

A reception was held at the Marco Polo Restaurant in East Hartford, after which the couple left on a trip to Vermont and New Hampshire. They are residing in South Glastonbury.

Martha Circle of Emanuel Lutheran Church will have a luncheon Thursday at 12:30 p.m. at Willie's Steak House.

Orders being accepted for Bicentennial coins

Orders are now being accepted for the Manchester Bicentennial Medal, which is scheduled to be available on a first come first serve basis within the next two weeks.

The face of the medal portrays the four signers of the Declaration of Independence from Connecticut — Samuel Huntington, William Williams, Roger Sherman and Oliver Wolcott — their signatures and authentic writing implements of that era.

The obverse side of the medal pictures some contributions Manchester has made during the 200 years of our independence. There is a Minuteman pouring gunpowder into his musket, the first Cheney silk mill, a Pioneer parachute, the Pitkin Glassworks, and a horn of plenty containing tobacco, apples, potatoes and other products available in Manchester then and now.

Encircling the coin is the joining of hands of Orford Parish (Manchester's name prior to the town's incorporation in 1823) and Manchester, Connecticut.

The coins will be in a clear plastic removable display stand. They will be distributed through local banks.

An order form is provided below for those wishing to order medals in advance. Coins will be set aside, and the place where pre-ordered coins may be picked up will appear in The Herald when the coins are available. A check or money order must accompany each order.

Town union agrees to accept result of Dec. 18 hearing

Union members of Manchester's public works department agreed Monday to accept whatever ruling comes out of a Dec. 18 arbitration hearing over a dispute it has with the town over snowplow operations. In addition, it approved a recommendation to drop any plans for a job action and to abide by the town's policy until the Dec. 18 ruling is released. The dispute is over the number of men riding snowplows during overtime hours. The union contends a July 29 ruling by the arbitration board provides for two men on a truck, provided enough volunteer for the duty. The town is questioning the interpretation, contending that only employees of the highway department, and no others, may volunteer for the overtime duty. The administration also said it will accept the Dec. 18 ruling.

The decision to "wait and see what the Dec. 18 ruling will be" was on a recommendation by Robert Fuller, president of town Local 991, State, County and Municipal Employees, AFL-CIO.

Fuller said he doesn't think the public should suffer or be harassed because of a dispute between the union and town.

Town counsel sets Wednesday session

In order to be available on a regular basis for consultation with the Board of Directors, department heads and other town officials, Manchester Town Counsel Victor Moses has announced a new policy for his office.

Beginning Jan. 7, he will hold regular office hours every Wednesday from 1:30 to 3:30 p.m. The sessions, he explained, will be in addition to his daily "in and out" duties.

He said he has determined that personnel contact can cut down on written memos and can expedite the work and research required in the town counsel's office. Moses said also that he's in the process of choosing an assistant town counsel and will announce his choice soon.

School board adopts rules governing media coverage

By DOUG BEVINS
Herald Reporter

The Manchester Board of Education has adopted a policy setting ground rules for news media coverage of board meetings, restricting certain types of news gathering to personnel employed by a newspaper, radio or television broadcast station.

The policy, adopted unanimously Monday night, complies with provisions of the state's Freedom of Information Act, School Supt. James Kennedy said.

The police requires at least three days notice to the school superintendent by news media personnel intending to photograph for broadcast, broadcast, or record for broadcast any board meeting.

The superintendent or board chairman is allowed to waive the three-day rule if they deem it necessary.

Only news media personnel employed by a newspaper, radio broadcasting company or television broadcasting company will be permitted to photograph, photograph for broadcast, record for broadcast or broadcast a meeting.

The policy also requires that such news gathering be as inconspicuous as possible so it won't disturb the meeting. If such news gathering becomes disruptive, news media access to the meeting could be limited under the policy.

Kennedy said the intent of the new board policy is for the board to be prepared for more-than-usual news coverage of board meetings and for the board to know who is photographing or recording a meeting.

The policy was proposed apparently to give the board control over broadcast media coverage in case it ever occurs. There have been no problems in the past, Kennedy said. School board meetings usually are covered only by newspaper personnel.

In other business Monday night, the Board of Education:

• Heard a report by Project Concern Director William Paradis of Hartford, who said the 10-year-old integration program is working well in Manchester and several other Greater Hartford communities.

• Learned of construction progress at the Regional Occupational Training Center and received preliminary budget estimates for operation of the center, scheduled to open in fall 1976.

• Heard a report on townwide school activities planned in conjunction with the American Revolution Bicentennial. Leo Diana, principal of Nathan Hale School and coordinator of Bicentennial projects, said there will be strong emphasis on activities to recognize the nation's birthday.

The Bicentennial theme may even be overdone in some instances, he said.

• Considered and acted on two personnel matters. A one-year, sabbatical-like leave of absence and a teaching appointment were approved.

• Approved plans for an extended field trip for the Bennet Junior High School Ski Club. The club plans a three-day trip in January to Ludlow, Vt., involving 40 students and five chaperones.

• Learned from Kennedy that he anticipates a state grant of about $60,000, representing the maximum amount possible under the state's recent "Instant Lottery" to support local education.

• Canceled the board's meeting scheduled for Dec. 22.

Pro basketball losing venture

Do you know that 24 of the 58 professional basketball franchises in the NBA and ABA last season lost money? It's obvious that the ABA cannot survive and several current NBA franchises are treading on thin ice.

Tribe, Tech home tonight

Getting their 1975-76 basketball seasons under way tonight are Manchester High and Cheney Tech while the third local entry, East Catholic, is off until Friday.

Manchester entertains CCIL foe Fermi High of Enfield at Clarke Arena while Cheney is also home, hosting COC rival East Hampton High. Varsity action starts around 8.

Manchester Community College, 2-3 thus far, visits the University of Hartford jayvees while on the distaff side, Manchester's girls travel to Enfield to test Fermi.

Four area games are also on tap. South Windsor, 0-1, treks to West Hartford to face Northwest Catholic. Rockville, 0-1, visits St. Thomas Aquinas in New Britain. In the Charter Oak Conference, Coventry, 1-0, hosts Rham High and Bolton makes its debut hosting 1-0 Portland High.

College basketball poll

Indiana choice as top quintet

NEW YORK (UPI) — It's amazing what a 20-point victory over UCLA can do. Following Indiana's 94-74 romp over the Bruins, the Hoosiers were the unanimous choice of the United Press International Board of Coaches as the nation's No. 1 basketball team.

All 42 coaches cast their first-place ballots for the Hoosiers following their impressive victory. The Hoosiers, who did not lose a game until a 92-90 upset by Kentucky in the Midwest Regional final last season, lost only forward Steve Green from that club's starting lineup and Tom Abernethy has done an excellent job in his place.

Indiana, after holding only a narrow 11-point margin over the UCLA for the top spot in the preseason rankings, sent the Bruins down to fifth place with 201 points and a 2-1 record.

Marquette, third in the preseason rankings, look advantage of UCLA's loss to climb to second, with 303 points. The Warriors are 2-0, beating St. Joseph's (Ind.) and Northern Michigan.

Maryland, fifth in the preseason ratings, jumped past Atlantic Coast Conference rival North Carolina for the third spot. Both schools are 3-0, but the Terrapins outscored their first three opponents by a total of 127 points. The Tar Heels remained fourth.

Tennessee advanced two places to sixth on the strength of a 3-0 record, which includes a one-point decision over Michigan, while Louisville and Notre Dame crashed into the top 10 as seventh and eighth teams, respectively. The Cardinals are 2-0 and the Irish 3-0.

Notre Dame, 104-101. And Alabama clinched four places on the strength of a 3-0 record, which includes a victory over Providence, to round out the Top 10.

Amid flurries of trade rumors, the winter baseball meetings officially got underway Monday but at day's end there was only one transaction and that one was conditional.

The Cardinals filled their need for a left-handed starter with Falcone, one of San Francisco's "kiddie corps" of young pitchers while in Reitz, the Giants were able to close a long-standing hole at third base.

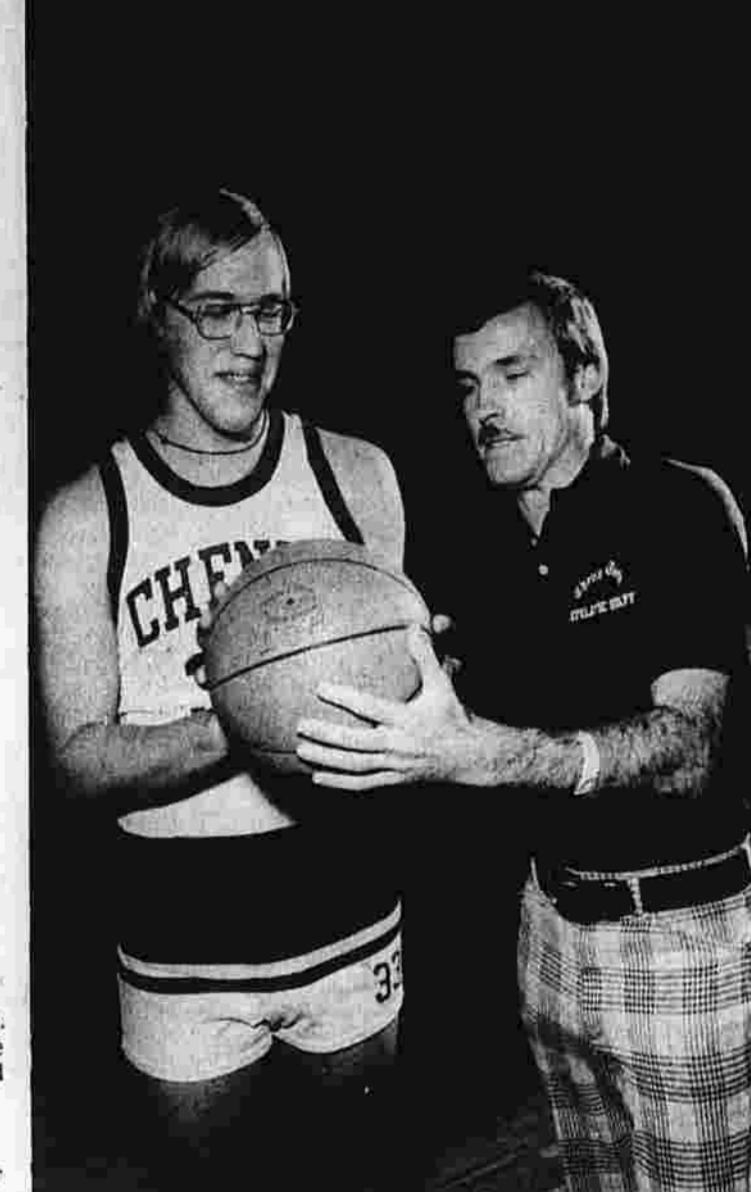

"Outside of John Curtis, we had no other left-handed pitchers," said Cardinal General Manager Bing Devine, "so, it's obvious why we felt this deal was necessary."

Chicago, and later played one season with Atlanta.

O'Brien, a 1970 Boston College graduate, had been playing for Utah until the Stars ceased operations last week.

The Celtics were to decide after today's workout whether to activate one of the three for Wednesday night's home game against Milwaukee. Boston also could activate third-round draft choice Jerome Anderson, a guard from West Virginia who was the last player cut before this season.

Giants get Reitz in baseball trade

HOLLYWOOD, Fla. (UPI) — The San Francisco Giants, despite rumors of their sale being only hours away, have moved to solve one of their more pressing on-the-field problems by acquiring third baseman Ken Reitz from the St. Louis Cardinals for 21-year-old southpaw Pete Falcone.

Amid flurries of trade rumors, the winter baseball meetings officially got underway Monday but at day's end there was only one transaction and that one was conditional.

East grid campaign fell short of hopes

By LEN AUSTER
Herald Sportswriter
"The season was disappointing relative to our expectations," summed up East Catholic football Coach John LaFontana. The Eagles with high hopes before the 1975 campaign sported a final aggregate ledger of 5-4, 14 in the Hartford County Conference.

"I can say we are proud to have won five games we expected to. We just couldn't win some close ones and we ran into clubs better than we expected they'd be," LaFontana continued. The Eagles tabulated some interesting statistics. They rushed for a net 1,512 yards down from 2,110 gained a year ago. Opponents attempted 86 more rushing plays yet were outgained, 1,512 to 1,385. Foes added more yardage via the air lanes to hold an overall edge, 2,149 to 2,105. Opponents ran off 566 offensive plays compared to 467 for East, almost 10 more per game. East foes totaled more first downs, 327-274, and outscored the Eagles, 220-141. One statistic East did lead in penalties. The Eagles were penalized 63 times for 590 yards compared to 42 infractions and 320 yards for the opponents.

Senior tailback Cephus Nolen despite missing three games led the Eagles in rushing and scoring. Nolen rushed for 655 yards on 98 carries to bring his career total to 1,831 yards, a school record. Nolen also led in scoring, putting 58 points on the scoreboard on nine touchdowns and one, two-point conversion. This brings his career total to 124 markers. Nolen also returned three kickoffs for TDs, a single season mark.

Senior Kevin Shorey, who started the season at fullback and wound up at quarterback, rushed for 486 yards on 91 carries and scored 20 points. Junior Tom Gerbo rushed for 253 yards averaging 4.9 per try and tallied 22 points. In the passing department, East completed 42 of 136 attempts for 593 yards, four TDs and had 14 tosses intercepted. Senior Gary Loomis led all receivers grabbing 19 passes for 340 yards and three scores.

The offensive backfield will have to be reshaped with the departure of Nolen, Shorey and Brian Foley. Gerbo, Mark Bergeron, Mike Furlong, Arnie Carter and Ken Brass should be leading candidates for spots. Brass is a freshman who potentially could take over at quarterback.

"The Eagles will be hit hard by graduation, losing 18 seniors, 15 who held starting jobs. Eight offensive and seven defensive first stringers depart. Heading the list of 13 lettermen who will return are all-HCC selections Frank Fitzgerald at linebacker and Ed Sadloki at defensive end. East's defensive backfield will be wiped out by graduation while in the five-man front, Sadloki, Tom Landers and Greg Egazarian, who moved in late in the season, will be back.

"It will be a total rebuilding next year but we do have a nucleus to start with. The sophomore class has some good ones who could move in," LaFontana remarked. "What we'll be looking for are ball players with enthusiasm next year. We're not going to have natural athletes but I feel next year we'll be working with kids who have a lot of desire who are used to working hard and willing to give that extra."

Joe DiMaggio recalls biggest baseball thrills

HOLLYWOOD, Fla. (UPI) — Joe DiMaggio was still playing ball and had the day off, so whaddya think he did?

He went to see a ball game. He went incognito so to speak, not as Joe DiMaggio, star center-fielder for the New York Yankees, but as DiMaggio, just plain fan.

One reason he remembers it so well is because he never got too many days off when he was playing ball and in all the time he did, he went to only two games, both over in the National League.

The other reason it comes to his mind has to do with a rather intriguing piece of pronounism major league baseball is involved with at the moment.

Branchchild of Joe Reichler, who wrote baseball so well for many years and now serves as Bowie Kuhn's good right hand in public relations, the concept of the promotion calls for fans to choose what they consider baseball's most memorable moment.

Fans are free to vote for a particular accomplishment by a player, an event or a performance over a period of time.

Baseball brought some of the early winners here to the winter meetings Monday, fellows like Johnny Vander Meer, Ernie Banks, Frank Robinson and Jim Bunning.

On had to be my first try to spring training with the Yankees," he said. "Tony Lazzeri, Frank Crosetti and I drove cross-country from San Francisco to St. Petersburg, Florida."

Equally memorable, DiMaggio said, was that ball game he went to see between the Giants and Dodgers in New York's old Polo Grounds at the tail-end of the 1951 season.

"I was up in the press box and I recall the Dodgers brought in Ralph Branca from the bullpen in the ninth inning," he said. "Next thing you know Bobby Thomson hit one with two on. It happened so sudden, your whole body just tightened up and all you could say is 'there it goes.'"

Howe set down two games for attack on ref

HOUSTON (UPI) — Gordie Howe, ejected from a pro hockey game for the first time in his career and fined $1,000 for bumping a referee, is barred from tonight's Houston Aeros' game.

Aeros' goalie Ron Grahame, ejected from the same game, will return to the ice against the Cincinnati Sluggers tonight.

He received fines of $50 for misconduct and $150 for game misconduct penalties as he became violently upset with referee Ron Asseltine during the Aeros' game against Winnipeg last Friday.

Grahame, however, was restrained from getting at Asseltine.

"That's the difference right there," Howe said. "Someone stopped him. Nobody stopped me."

Grahame's fine and one-game suspension — he served it against Phoenix Saturday — was light compared to that of Howe, a superstar of the NHL and now the World Hockey Association.

Soon after Grahame was ejected from the game, Asseltine made another call against the Aeros, and Howe rushed him, bumping into him at least twice.

"No I don't like it, but then, I don't like a $4 parking ticket, either," Howe said of the fine.

Howe, who was also suspended for two games, did not dispute the penalties.

"I was trying to get his attention. I'd asked him to take a look at the replay, but he refused. If he'd looked, he could have seen that Lesuk was holding onto my stick," said Howe.

"There's no way you should be allowed to put your hands on a referee."

Asseltine left the ice for 15-minute period during the contest but later returned to finish the match. He handed in his resignation to the league after the game.

Florida State learns how to beat Indiana

NEW YORK (UPI) — Florida State Coach Hugh Durham says it takes to beat Indiana and says it can be done.

"First, you need a strong rebounding team," Durham said. "The Terps now need second and third shots and you must run on Indiana."

That's exactly what Florida State was able to do against the top-ranked Hoosiers Monday night in Chapel Hill for a 90-77 over 16th-ranked Kentucky.

That hardly qualified as a surprise ending for Durham, who predicted before the game the Hoosiers would win their second game of the season by 70.

But Durham is not willing to classify the Hoosiers as invincible. "There are a lot of good teams; UCLA, on a given night, could beat Indiana," Durham said without mentioning the Bruins' 84-84 loss to the Hoosiers in the season opener.

All-America forward Adrian Dantley scored 27 points and grabbed 12 rebounds to lead K-State to its third victory in five games. Arizona won 74-64 over Kansas at Lawrence. Norm Cook was top scorer for the Jayhawks with 19 points.

Ninth-ranked Arizona suffered its first loss in five games at Manhattan as it was upset by 20th-ranked Kansas State, 74-61. Guard Mike Evans scored 25 points to lead K-State to its third victory in five games. Arizona won 74-64 over Kansas at Lawrence. Norm Cook was top scorer for the Jayhawks with 19 points.

Teneth-ranked Alabama defeated Middle Tennessee, 76-62, led by Leon Douglas' 18 points and 13 rebounds. Freshman forward Keith McCorker scored 24 points with Joe Glatter pumped 24 for B.A. Club with Mark Kravonka Kevin Kravonka.

Jim Johns tossed in 38 points for Sportmart with Tom Staigatis adding 24 markers. Don Storms paced Johns with 26 points with Joe Glatter adding 10. Mark Schardt (25), Rich Raimondo (22), Mike Geoffrey (12) and Jim Patulak (11) hit double figures for Congo. Kevin Kravonka added five points for the winners while Scott Holmes and Matt Corey paced the losers with six points apiece.

Washington (UPI) — The Senate has approved and sent to the House a three-year extension of legislation prohibiting local television blackouts of sold out professional football, baseball, basketball, and hockey games.

The 72-hour rule remains in effect for the regular season games in all sports and for the football playoffs. The measure, which was approved in the Senate Monday by voice vote, would change the present law to provide that no blackout can be imposed on post-season series and championship basketball, baseball, and hockey games if all seats are sold 24 hours in advance instead of the present 72 hours.

BUSINESSMEN

With Joe Palombio and Don Copen each popping in 22 points, Three As downed Westwood Pharmacy, 84-56, last night at the Community Y. Jim Flaherty added 17 markers to the winning total while Graig Phillips and Walt Bogar paced the losers with 21 and 13 points respectively.

In other league action, Army & Navy outscored the Buzzards, 108-101. Charles Stetson netted 26 points for the Servicemen with Tom Malin (20), John Driscoll (18) and Charles Wynn (16) also hitting double figures. Jim Katin led the Buzzards with 24 points with Ron Sirois and Bill Boucher chipping in 23 and 21 markers respectively.

Action at Illing Junior High last night saw Sportmart whip Fred's Athletic Club, 87-72, and Second Congo nip B.A. Club, 78-77.

Bill Johns tossed in 38 points for Sportmart with Tom Staigatis adding 24 markers. Don Storms paced Johns with 26 points with Joe Glatter adding 10. Blasingame seeking talent for Japan league

HOLLYWOOD, Fla. (UPI) — Don Blasingame is no different from anyone else at the winter baseball meetings. He's looking around for a good ball player.

Only unusual thing about that is he has come halfway around the world to find one.

This is the same Don Blasingame who used to play second base for St. Louis, Cincinnati, Washington and San Francisco, the same one the Reds traded to make way for Pete Rose.

Blasingame is with the Nankai Hawks in the Japanese Central League now. He has been in Japan the past nine years, ever since he quit playing here in the United States and although he still looks in shape to go out there and make the double play at 43, he is no longer doing. The Japanese employ what they call a head coach who works with the manager. That's what Blasingame is, and he's looking for a first baseman and an outfielder to take back with him to Japan.

"I like it over there," he said to Frank Lane, the California Angels' super scout. "I have a lot of what you'd call Japanese. They're easy to coach. They listen to what you say and they work hard. The one thing I admire most about that is he's patient."

Lane has been in many parts of the world since he first came as a commander in the Navy and later beating the bushes for ballplayers in places like Cuba, Venezuela, Puerto Rico and Mexico. He was Blasingame's first major league general manager when the little Mississippi-bred second baseman came up to the Cardinals in 1956.

Blasingame is married a one-time Miss Missouri, the former Sara Cooper, daughter of Walker Cooper, who used to catch the Cardinals and Giants.

Cooper was a player-coach with the Cards when Blasingame first came up and he started dating his daughter.

"Why don't you buy this book?" she said to him. "What for?" he replied. "There are only two people in your care about, your father and myself. By the way let me see your dad's record."

"I saw where he hit .285 in 18 years in the big leagues," he said. Blasingame. "He had over 800 RBI, more than 170 homers and I knew the fans people are going to say I'm his son-in-law. I'm married, but regardless of that I just don't seem right he never gets any mention. You know the type he is."

Raiders won as usual, sympathy for Broncos

OAKLAND (UPI) — The Oakland Raiders won the game, as expected, but everyone wound up feeling sorry for the Denver Broncos—even some Raider fans.

How could you not feel sorry for the Broncos, the most injured team in the NFL this year? It was bad enough they had to play the playoff-bound Raiders Monday night with half a dozen starters, including quarterback Charlie Johnson and running back Otis Armstrong, out and injured, but along the way they lost two more players—tight end Boyd Brown and guard Cal Schaukovich—to broken legs.

Schaukovich was set his leg so serious they had to set his leg on the field before they could carry him off. In some ways, it was the most exciting struggle the Raiders finally won, 17-

10, for their seventh straight victory and 10th overall compared to two losses.

"Oh, we'll finish out the year," said Broncos Coach John Ralston. "Despite our physical problems, we had a chance to tie or win it near the end but that Raider defense took us right out. It simply wasn't our night. Everything seemed to go wrong, but there are going to be game like that."

The Raider defense had perhaps their finest game of the season, sacking quarterbacks John Huftagel and Steve Ramsey a total of 10 times in addition to picking off four of their passes.

"It was a game for our defense," said Raiders' Coach John Madden in the understatement of the night.

"Really, it doesn't make much difference how many points you score, just so long as you score enough to win. I'll take it any way I can."

Harold Hart and Pete Banazak scored the Oakland touchdowns—on runs of two and one yard respectively—and George Blanda added an 18-yard field goal in the closing minutes. An 18-yard field goal by Jim Turner in the first quarter and a five yard run by Fran Lynch in the third period accounted for the Denver points.

The Denver defense played a fair game, holding the Oakland running game to 100 yards and quarterback Ken Stabler to seven completions and 78 yards. The Broncos had a total offense of 254 yards.

"It was a game for our defense," said Raiders' Coach John Madden in the understatement of the night.

"Really, it doesn't make much difference how many points you score, just so long as you score enough to win. I'll take it any way I can."

Explosion closes school

Coventry
MONICA SHEA

One of the boilers of the George Hersey Robertson Grammar School in south Coventry received minor damage last night when the furnace failed to ignite and an oversupply of oil was let into the furnace.

When the furnace did ignite, the oil exploded.

The damage was confined to the fire box of the furnace and the building sustained no water damage.

Fire Chief Roger Bellard of the South Coventry Volunteer Fire Department said, "The came came in at 8:48 p.m. and by 8:52 p.m. we had laid 2000 feet of four inch hose from the school to the state boat launching area on Lake St.

"If it was necessary, North Coventry and Eagleville Fire Departments were prepared to lay the same amount of line."

About 70 men from North and South Coventry Fire Departments and Eagleville Fire Department were on the scene.

Andover Fire Department came in to stand by at South Coventry fire station and had a truck on the scene with an air compressor to fill the Scott Air Packs the men needed to get into the building.

Robert Breault, a member of the South Coventry Fire Department and head custodian at the Robertson School said, "The school was full of smoke and there was oil all over the floor. All you need was one little spark and it would have all gone up."

Richard Galinat, maintenance supervisor for the Coventry school system and town fire marshal, looks at the damaged fire box of the boiler in the Robertson Grammar School Monday night. (Herald photo by Shea)

Dr. Arnold Eilman, superintendent of schools, said, "This problem has nothing to do with the heating conversion being done at the school. This job did not entail any changes with the firing mechanisms.

"What happened is that a relay did not shut off the oil feed when the spark didn't ignite. This allowed an excess of oil to accumulate. When the boiler did fire, it caused the large pool of smoke. At no time was there any burning outside to the boiler.

"I have talked with heating personnel this morning from the W. C. Mason Co. They informed me that at no time was there danger of fire as long as the fire didn't leave the furnace.

"We will have personnel from the Hartford Steam Boiler or State Fire Marshall's office check the boiler today and certify it for use. The boiler will be out until the fire box can be rebuilt. But we expect that to be done today.

"We expect the school to be open tomorrow (Wednesday) and there is every indication that it could have been open today but we elected to keep it closed in the interest of having a safety check. We want to be absolutely certain that there is no safety hazard.

"We also found out from the W. C. Mason Company that this problem was not avoidable by normal maintenance. This happen in the same way as sometimes the starter on your car just goes. Technically what happened was not an explosion but just a backfire."

Members of the Women's Auxiliary of the South Coventry Fire Department provided coffee for the men at the scene.

Marcham surprises Houle at meeting

Vernon
 A "speechless and completely surprised" William Houle, Republican, was re-elected chairman of the Vernon Board of Education last night.

Two weeks ago the board ended in a tie when the names of Republican Daniel Woolwich and Democrat Stephen Marcham were placed in nomination. One Republican, William Boettcher was chairman and action was deferred to the Dec. 8 meeting on agreement of the board.

Last night Woolwich was nominated by Houle and Houle was then taken by surprise when Marcham placed Houle's name in nomination. The vote ended 5 for Houle and 4 for Woolwich.

Woolwich was then elected vice chairman a position he has held for two years; Democrat Devra Baum was elected secretary; Republican Elizabeth Steele, treasurer; and Marcham, assistant treasurer.

Voting was by paper ballot on motion of Mrs. Baum.

The new chairman will appoint his own committee members.

Selectmen hold first meeting

Hebron
EVELYN CROSTON

The Board of Selectmen at its Thursday night meeting, the first official meeting since the November election, appointed a commission representative, tabled an appointment and read correspondence.

The board appointed Selectman Arthur Pinney to the Recreation Commission.

The appointment of a representative to the Executive Board of the Volunteer Fire Department was tabled. Both Pinney and Selectman Cynthia Wilson expressed interest in the position.

The board had scheduled the night meeting to enable residents to attend however, there was no one present except the three selectmen and members of the news media.

The board will meet the first Thursday of each month at 7 p.m. and at 3 p.m. on the other Thursdays.

Club builds bin

First Selectman Aaron Reid said the salt bin at the town yard had been completed at no cost the taxpayers. It was constructed with proceeds from the Hebron Ecology Club glass recycling project.

In a letter to the board,

Earl Gledhill requested acceptance of Karlwood Rd. off West St. in the Gledhill subdivision.

Reid said he had looked at the road and both the road and curbing are good. The matter should be placed on the Planning and Zoning Commission agenda for their decision and then go to town meeting.

Town clerk charged with campaign abuses

South Windsor
JUDY KUEHNEL
644-1364

South Windsor Town Clerk Charles Enes said today he still "nows no more" about charges filed against him with the State Elections Commission.

While the commission has confirmed some complaints have been filed, Enes has not been told who filed them or what the alleged charges are about.

Enes was told about the charges while he was in New Orleans last week on business. He said "I know nothing about them. It's like being tried without being told what the charges are about."

It is reported Enes' son Michael, recently elected to the Town Council, as well as other town officials, have also been the subject of some of the complaints.

Enes guessed some of the charges against his son may stem from the distribution of campaign brochures on election day.

Supposedly, some voters placed the material in pockets and thus "carried them into election booths" which is against election laws. No campaign literature is to enter the booths, he said.

None of the speculations, however, have been confirmed including the allegation that Enes' son Michael was Council candidate Allan Caffyn was among those filing charges.

Caffyn's wife, Nancy, and Board of Education member Joan Cushman recently filed charges against former Mayor Robert Smith, alleging he took down political signs from private property election day morning.

The Abe E. Miller Unit 133 American Legion Auxiliary of South Windsor will hold their regular meeting at the home of Ruth Stewart, 49 Oakland Rd., Wednesday at 7 p.m.

A potluck supper will precede the meeting with the exchange of Christmas gifts and social to follow.

Change called part of revenge

South Windsor
JUDY KUEHNEL

Former South Windsor Mayor Robert Smith will go to court Dec. 23 to answer charges on two counts of criminal mischief in the third degree, resulting from the alleged removal of political signs Election Day morning.

Members of both parties have expressed anger over what some term a "quest for revenge."

Charges against Smith were brought by Joan Cushman, Republican member of the Board of Education and Nancy Caffyn, wife of unsuccessful Republican candidate Allan Caffyn.

In a statement by Audrey Wasik, vice-chairman of the Democratic Town Committee and a member of the group organized to set up the Campaign Practices Committee. Mrs. Wasik criticized Mrs. Cushman and Mrs. Caffyn for their manner of handling the situation.

"Political activists Joan Cushman and Nancy Caffyn have refused to accept recognized procedure for handling unfair campaign practices," said Mrs. Wasik.

"The Fair Campaign Practices Commission is akin to a quasi-judicial body and was formed to deal with local misconduct on the part of either political party. This committee was organized with the authority to reprimand and thereby publicly embarrass a party and indirectly cause it to act in any manner deemed unfair or unjust to opponents."

"To pursue formal court procedures without first taking matters before the Fair Campaign Committee is construed by me as vindictive and unfair recompense. Further it establishes a precedent with local misconduct on the part of either political party. This committee was organized with the authority to reprimand and thereby publicly embarrass a party and indirectly cause it to act in any manner deemed unfair or unjust to opponents."

Ramsdell details costs of addition

The Enfield Chamber of Commerce alerted the Rockville area Chamber of Commerce about counterfeit money Monday.

The First National Bank of Enfield first spotted the phony money.

Merchants are cautioned to watch out for phony $10 bills. The serial number is E28154267-A. It is a 1969A series printed in Richmond, Va., code number five.

In the lower, back right-hand corner there is the number 49.

John Thrall, secretary at the Rockville Chamber office, urged merchants or others to call the police as soon as they notice such a $10 bill.

$253,559 has been spent. The $11,440 left is to be spent on cabinets, appliances and various kitchen equipment in the new economics wing as well as more tables for the cafeteria.

For extra time for the computer operator to reschedule the students it will cost some $114 plus $1,000 for disc packs. The board, several weeks ago, appropriated $300 to the Thrall Bus Co. to reschedule the buses.

Utilities will cost $38,373. The cost some $24,000 for electricity and $15,700 for fuel, $400 for gas, $300 for water, and $536 for monthly telephone bills.

The cost of five custodians at $7,500 a year prorated over the February to June period, would cost $15,750.

Another $4,000 will be needed for maintenance of building and grounds. This would include the purchase of extra vacuum cleaners, rug shampooers, mops and such.

There would be a net savings of about $18,461 in connection with the transportation costs. The savings was originally $20,321 but there will be another charge of $4,860 in layover time.

The balancing of the heating system, expected to cost about $22,209, is the highest item on the priorities list. This is the existing system between the existing building and the new addition.

Dr. Ramsdell listed several items which will be needed about the first of June. He suggested they could be ordered for delivery at that time and included in the 1976-77 budget when the building committee comes up with more funds.

Because the board did not expect the addition to be ready for the February change, no money was allotted in the current budget for equipment.

The additional funds estimated to be needed by June 1 amount to $27,340. Of this $10,310 would be for library security. The doors between the library and science room and the library and the audio-visual room have no locks on the library side. The building committee feels there should be key locks for both sides.

The other $17,030 will be for the purchase of maintenance equipment such as a gang mower, snow blower, and a buffing and stripping machine.

Another $107,825 will be needed prior to the September opening, Dr. Ramsdell said. He said the priority items on this list would be graphics arts equipment for the industrial arts department, $45,000.

Police charged David warrants issued by Common Pleas Court 19 charging them with third-degree burglary and second-degree larceny.

Mrs. Jean Burgess, 42 of 41 Spring St., was also arrested on a warrant charging her with third-degree larceny in connection with the possession of stolen goods.

Police said Hannan called the police station stating he was being done about a complaint he made to police last week concerning speeding traffic.

Police said they tried to explain the area was being surveyed for radar but the police had more serious duties to attend to. Police said Hannan became abusive and used profane language.

An officer was then sent to Hannan's home to further explain the situation and it was then Hannan was arrested when he again became abusive, police said.

Hannan was released on his promise to appear in Common Pleas Court 19, Rockville, Dec. 24.

Dear Abby By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I am writing to you out of desperation. After nine years of marriage that I thought was good, I have to face the fact that my husband is a "popping Tom."

Three years ago he watched my sister take a taxi. She caught him. There was an accident, etc. - and he really seemed sorry for having done it. I finally got over it.

Well, last night he did it again. This time it was another sister. He knew she would be trying on some clothes, so he arranged the curtains for a peep hole, then sneaked outside to watch. He hadn't planned on my needing him for something at that time. When I couldn't find him in the house, I went outside and caught him looking in the window at my sister. I didn't want anyone to know what was going on, so I didn't make a scene.

Abby, I am heartick! I love him so much, and he is such a good man in every other way. I've never said no to any of his sexual demands, yet I feel that it must be my fault. Could he become dangerous? I don't know how many of his other windows he's looked into. Please help me.

DEAR HEARTSICK: The chances for your husband being "dangerous" are very small. Most voyeurs (the people who like to look) are usually harmless, but on the chance that he is not, talk to him about it and insist that he phone the local Mental Health Association for an appointment to discuss his problem with a professional. He can overcome it if he wants to.

DEAR ABBY: My mother and I are having a disagreement. I am 19 and was engaged for six months. I recently broke up with my boyfriend and can't decide what to do with my beautiful (and quite expensive) engagement ring.

I think I should keep it because it was given to me as a gift. My mother and my boyfriend think I should give it back because the ring was given as a promise of marriage, and since I broke that promise, I should return it.

I don't care what the etiquette books or the lawyers say. I want to know how you feel about it.

DEAR KEEPS: I think that when an engagement is broken - regardless of who broke it - the ring should be returned.

DEAR ABBY: There are a lot of dogs in my neighborhood, and I will tell you right now that I am no dog lover. I don't like their yapping when I'm trying to sleep, but worse yet, I don't like what they do to my lawn and bushes.

There must be something a tax-paying citizen can do about this problem. Whom should I call? And where can I go?

DEAR HATES: You don't say where you live, but you can call your police or sheriff. If you can't decide what to do, I'd suggest you call your local health department.

Win at Bridge Debut of forcing two bid chance and he did when the unfortunate East player reopened with two clubs. Young Jacoby simply jumped to seven hearts.

The bid was spectacular and quite unusual, but it succeeded because North held four hearts and two spades. North actually held the heart queen, but all he needed was four hearts.

Experts used it for about 20 years and then started to get away from it because of two weaknesses. The first was that you used four bids to cover the few hands that warranted an opening force.

The second, but the negative two notrup response tended to make the wrong hand declarer at notrup.

In the next articles we will show how the experts have found ways to limit forcing opening bids in better manner.

By Oswald & James Jacoby

The forcing two bid with the two notrup response was invented by Theodore Lightner, Waldemar von Zedlitz and Oswald Jacoby back in 1929. Here is a hand that led us to that invention.

WEST: 1♣ 2♦ 3♥ 4♠ 5♣ 6♦ 7♥ 8♠ 9♣ 10♦ 11♥ 12♠

EAST: 1♠ 2♥ 3♦ 4♣ 5♠ 6♥ 7♣ 8♦ 9♠ 10♥ 11♣ 12♠

South opens 1♣. North responds 1♥. South rebids 2♣. North bids 2♦. South bids 3♥. North bids 4♠. South bids 5♣. North bids 6♦. South bids 7♥. North bids 8♠. South bids 9♣. North bids 10♦. South bids 11♥. North bids 12♠.
