

Suburban kids have the edge over the inner city poor kids

By PATRICIA MC CORMACK

United Press International

Students with no need to worry about peeling paint, the next meal, a roof over their heads and clothes on their backs make the best showing in school achievement tests.

In practically every area — from math to science — affluent suburban kids do better than students from the inner city, mostly poor boys and girls with day-to-day concerns over life's material needs.

This pattern of apparent educational advantage for the suburban students shows up in an analysis of achievement tests given nationally over the past six years.

The tests in every major subject, ranging from math to reading, were given as part of the continuing National Assessment of Educational Progress.

That is a research project of the Education Commission of the States based in Denver, Colo., and funded by the National Center for Educational Statistics, U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

The findings confirm that in almost every one of eight learning areas surveyed, young persons from the affluent suburbs perform far above those from the inner city communities — where a high proportion of adults are not regularly employed or are on welfare.

The idea that size and type of community can influence the quality and equality of educational opportunities for the young has touched off court battles. At issue in these suits is this question:

Do disparities in the financing of school districts with diverse levels of wealth result in disparities of educational opportunity?

The data from the National Assessment confirm that community inequalities exist across the nation. These inequalities show up consistently over the six years of assessment.

Education today:

Here's a capsule version of the test results, by subject:

— Reading: Inner-city perform up to nearly 30 per cent points below the level of suburban school-age children.

— Math: On almost all National Assessment exercises, affluent suburban respondents are above the material needs.

The Vietnams settling down

By NEA/LONDON Economic News Service

LONDON — (LENS) — Less than two months ago North and South Vietnam were demanding two separate states in the United Nations; today they are working out plans for turning their two countries into one.

A 25-man delegation from North Vietnam, headed by Truong Chinh, a politburo member and president of the national assembly, spent two weeks in Saigon last month attending a conference on reunification. The conference decided to push rapidly ahead: a single national assembly will be elected, by universal suffrage, during the first half of next year. The assembly will then draft a new constitution for a unified country.

On current population estimates the north would have 250 deputies to 200 from the south each representing, the meeting decided, 100,000 people. But the south will carry out a census first.

As an initial concrete step toward unification, repair work has begun on the Hanoi-Saigon railway, particularly the 500-mile section in the North Vietnamese panhandle that was almost totally destroyed by American bombing.

Production and distribution are still largely in private hands, religion is still rampant and the cities remain crowded in spite of the "relocation" of some 240,000 former officials and soldiers to the countryside.

In fact, the new administration seems remarkably similar to the old. What has changed is that it is controlled by military committees and these committees are controlled by Hanoi.

In science and literature nearly identical patterns emerge. However, in citizenship, the inner city students show a greater knowledge of local government than suburban students do. In knowledge of the workings of the federal government, however, suburban students outdistanced the city ones.

Commenting on patterns showing achievement differences between suburban affluent youths and inner city ones, Roy H. Forbes, director of National Assessment, said: "... so long as there are data ... which clearly indicate alarming disparities in national achievements, how can we presume that equal educational opportunity is being realized?"

Compiled from United Press International

State

HARTFORD — Connecticut air has more smog-producing hydrocarbons than any other place in the country except Los Angeles, according to Kenneth L. Johnson deputy Environmental Protection Agency administrator for New England. He suggests a mandatory auto inspection program to monitor exhaust emissions.

STAFFORD SPRINGS

The family of Barry Brunelle, 17, of Staffordville, is going to challenge the State Gaming Commission's refusal to pay Barry a $10,000 prize in the state lottery because state law prohibits anyone under 18 from buying lottery tickets. A court suit is planned.

HARTFORD

Attorneys for Ronald Piskorski came to his defense in the Donna Lee Bakery killings with an effort to discredit the testimony of a man who said Piskorski confessed to the six slayings.

Regional

BOSTON — The anti-busing group ROAR has declared today a "Day of Mourning" to protest U. S. District Judge W. Arthur Garrity Jr.'s order to place South Boston High School in federal receivership.

National

WASHINGTON — Brushing aside suggestions for a token cut, House-Senate conferees agreed on a bill Thursday providing the full $2.3 billion loan for New York City.

PHILADELPHIA — Police have launched a hunt for three Philadelphia men identified as the slayers of millionaire newspaper heir John S. Knight III.

SAN FRANCISCO — Attorneys say Patricia Hearst participated in a Symbionese Liberation bank holdup because she feared for her life.

DETROIT — The FBI has found the body of a kidnapped bank executive in Ohio and announced the arrest of a woman suspect. Three men were arrested earlier. The body of James J. Crawford Jr., 25, was found Thursday.

WASHINGTON — Elliot Richardson will be sworn in as Commerce secretary within a few days, making him the only American to hold four Cabinet posts. The Senate confirmed him for the job Thursday without debate or dissenting vote. He was previously served as secretary of health, education and welfare; defense; and was attorney general.

SAN FRANCISCO — San Franciscans have picked George Moscone, a Democratic state senator who had the backing of the city's civil servants, to succeed outgoing Mayor Joseph Alioto.

International

BRUSSELS, Belgium — Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger said today the United States "will try to prevent" the Soviet Union from becoming dominant in Angola through massive arms shipments there. He said Soviet arms shipments to the Popular Movement for Liberation of Angola threaten to upset detente.

BEIRUT, Lebanon — Leftist troops attacking from three sides trapped desperate fighting forces in the Holiday Inn today, setting the building ablaze and blocking the only escape route from the last Christian stronghold. The fighting continued despite the start of a Muslim holiday and the announcement of the 15th ceasefire since September.

State worker layoffs facing court challenge from union

HARTFORD (UPI) — A union of state employees today said it was going to court to challenge the layoffs ordered by Gov. Ella T. Grasso to trim state spending.

The 500 pink slips handed out today and Thursday are not legal because they were not negotiated under the state's new Collective Bargaining Law, said Council 16, American Federation of State County and Municipal Employees.

A requirement that employees being laid off be selected on seniority "is being violated and circumvented for political friends," Local 16 director Michael Ferrucci said in a written statement.

He is not available for comment on who were the "political friends." The 500 employees are to stop working on Jan. 2.

"Services" departments such as Health, State Police and Labor seem to have been spared the brunt of the layoffs, ordered by Mrs. Grasso to trim $8 million from a predicted $80 million budget deficit.

Agency heads were ordered by Mrs. Grasso to notify personally each of the workers to be dismissed, but officials said the delay in getting the bad news to the 150 workers apparently was due to paperwork snags.

A deputy commissioner in the Planning and Energy Policy Department was told he had been laid off but Finance Commissioner Jay O. Tenney said the bulk were low-and middle-level staffers.

Agency heads were ordered to target the dismissals on the basis of seniority and the least important sections of their agency, Tenney said. But they were told not to cut too deeply into areas with large numbers of minorities and women, he said, because Mrs. Grasso didn't want to erase the state's recent gains in employment of minorities and women.

U.N. Assembly dubbed 'theater of the absurd'

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (UPI) — U.S. Ambassador Daniel Patrick Moynihan called the U.N. General Assembly "a theater of the absurd," and says he is beginning to feel that "increasing contempt" for the world body is "increasingly deserved."

Moynihan, a frequent critic of the United Nations, made the remarks Thursday night in a speech opposing a report by the U.N. Decolonization Committee.

The report charged the United States maintained Virgin Islands bases as a threat against Caribbean and Latin American countries.

Moynihan said, "We pretend seriousness to an audience that realizes that is all pretense. I begin to feel that the world's increasing contempt is increasingly deserved."

Asked if Washington had written off the effectiveness of the United Nations, he replied, "If we had no interest in this place, we wouldn't have made that charge."

He told the Assembly the U.S. Coast Guard navigation and life-saving station with one shotgun, a Coast Guard administrative office with one pistol and an 82-foot search-

NATO takes initiative in East-West arms cut

BRUSSELS, Belgium (UPI) — The 15 NATO nations agreed today to tell the Russians the United States will withdraw 1,000 of its tactical nuclear warheads from Western Europe if the Soviets pull back 1,700 tanks from Eastern Europe, alliance officials said.

The officials said the proposal, which was devised and strongly backed by the United States, will be presented to the Soviets next Tuesday at the East-West force cut talks in Vienna.

The talks recess on Dec. 18, giving the Russians the Christmas and New Year's holiday to prepare a reply.

The Vienna talks resume Jan. 26. But there was speculation that the Soviet response will come in February, when Soviet Communist Party General Secretary Leonid I. Brezhnev addresses the party congress in Moscow.

The American proposal was submitted to NATO a year ago and has been shaped and refined at alliance headquarters since then. It finally was approved Friday by foreign ministers of the 15 nations in their annual winter meeting.

Colchester dog track reconsideration denied

The state gaming commission indicated informally Thursday, it isn't interested at present in reconsidering an application from three Manchester men for a greyhound racing facility in Colchester.

The three are Richard P. Hayes, real estate broker and land developer; Stephen J. Cavanaugh, owner of Cavey's Restaurant; and Raymond F. Damato, building contractor and developer. Their proposed venture is the Colchester Kennel Club.

Their proposed greyhound track was approved by Colchester voters in a July 1974 referendum and they are interested in going ahead with the Colchester proposal and requesting reconsideration of their application for a license.

The commission members, in indicating they aren't interested in reconsidering, said nothing has changed to make them reverse their November 1974 decision.

The Plainfield track, originally scheduled to open weeks ago, has been beset with many problems and now tentatively is scheduled to open Jan. 2.

The state gaming commission will apply to the gaming commission for a license in September 1974. Their application was denied in November 1974, immediately after the commission had approved a dog-racing facility for Plainfield. The denial was because of the proximity (20-22 miles) of their proposed site to the Plainfield track.

On Wednesday, the three Manchester men sent letters to all

Dedication set for Sunday

Manchester Salvation Army Corps will dedicate its new organ Sunday at a special service at 4 p.m. at the Citadel on Main St.

Miss Karen Krinjak, organ soloist at the dedication service, plays some of the selections planned for the service on the new organ as Mrs. Lillian Perret, vocal director and chairman of the Citadel Organ fund, and Capt. Arthur Carlson, commanding officer of the Manchester Corps, watch. The Citadel Band and Songsters will also participate in the service of musical praise and thanksgiving. (Herald photo by Dunn)

Local man accused of burglary attempt

Christopher M. Page, 18, of 87G Rachel Rd. was arrested by Manchester Police Thursday night on a charge of attempted third-degree burglary.

Police said the charge was lodged after Patrolman Philip Robertson saw someone trying to break into the Modern Tailor Shop, 39 Purnell Pl., at about 11 p.m.

Robertson reported he was on routine patrol when he saw a figure near the shop's rear door. Robertson turned on his cruiser's spotlight, and the man dropped an object and fled. Robertson began pursuit of the would-be burglar, chasing him around several downtown area businesses before apprehending him.

After Page was in custody, police found the tailor shop rear door had a broken window. The object dropped by the burglar was a rock.

Page was being held today on $1,000 bond. Court date is Dec. 29.

Other arrests made by Manchester Police included:

- Michael J. Cavasino, 18, of 94 Green Rd., and David R. Calligan, 16, of 211 Swamp Rd., Coventry, charged early today with breach of peace.
- Police said the charges stem from an incident in which two persons in a car followed a car of girls from Amston to Manchester Police headquarters. Court date is Jan. 5.
- Viola C. Plourde, 40, of East Hartford, and a 15-year-old girl accompanying her, charged Thursday afternoon with fourth-degree larceny (shoplifting) at Sears Roebuck & Co., Manchester Shopping Park. Court date for Mrs. Plourde is Dec. 29. The girl was referred to juvenile authorities and released to her parents.
- Barbara D. Dumais, 44, of Windsor Locks, charged Thursday with fourth-degree larceny (shoplifting) at Sears at the Parkade. Court date is Jan. 5.

Police said today they're continuing to investigate a break into the Manchester High School student store discovered Thursday morning. Items worth nearly $240 — mostly jewelry — were stolen, police reported today.

Other thefts reported to police Thursday included:

- Four cases of beer, valued at $36, taken in an afternoon burglary at the Other Horse Cafe, 10 E. Center St.
- Twenty-seven cases of anti-freeze, worth about $600, taken in a burglary at K-Mart Department Store, Spencer St.

Unions to picket Jackson fete

HARTFORD (UPI) — A coalition of state employee unions battling Gov. Ella T. Grasso's orders for 1,000 layoffs says it will picket a $100-a-plate Democratic fund-raiser Saturday.

The governor has pushed us out into the streets, so it is from the streets that we will fight back," said Michael Ferrucci, director of Council 16, American Federation of State County and Municipal Employees.

Mrs. Grasso said the fund-raising, which could reach $5,000, will trim some $8 million from an $80 million budget deficit predicted for June.

Teachers Retirement Fund, 1. Planning and Energy Agency, 1.

Ferrucci, speaking Thursday for the seven unions of state workers that joined forces to oppose the layoffs, said workers want Democrats to boycott the dinner.

That includes Democratic presidential hopeful Sen. Henry Jackson, D-Wash., who bought a ticket to the affair at the Hartford Hilton, Ferrucci said.

"It is irresponsible of the governor to force state employees into the unemployment lines, when the jobless rate in Connecticut is over 11 per cent," he said.

"It is a disservice to all residents of Connecticut to have their taxes

Opinion
We need to face reality on national debt too

Though no one has paid any mind, the nation has recorded another economic superlative. Three times this year Congress has raised the temporary ceiling on the public debt, for a total of more than $100 billion, the largest annual increase in the nation's history, no less, and by way of comparison twice as much as the total debt itself of 35 years ago.

Surely, some public note should be taken. A toast, perhaps, to solvency: "The covetous man never has money, the prodigal will have none soon." For in registering this milestone — the first nation to vote $100 billion into the red in a single annum — America solidifies its claim as the world's most impossibly indebted society.

And apparently we haven't seen anything yet. It took the United States 165 years to compile its first $200 billion in deficits, only 28 years to double that, and at the present rate perhaps as few as four more to double it again. The obligation sum is now $565 billion, growing at about $300 million a day; if the trend continues the liability will total about $800 billion by 1978, and a trillion by the decade's end.

It is, on second thought, not surprising that such figures are easily excluded from the public gossip. Americans stopped counting these pennies during World War II when it was estimated that the U.S. debt was growing larger than that of all other free nations combined. Besides this, back then, government leaders began a campaign to dispell the old notion that national debt is bad. The new line, which millions of citizens happily accepted, was that debt was good, and, furthermore, heavy debt was even gooder — after all, said the leaders, "all it is money that we owe ourselves."

Since then the selling of the debt has continued energetically, although sophistications have been added. Now the idea is to say it's good if your party is in power, but bad if it isn't. Richard Nixon, who taught us so much about flexibility, said while campaigning for office that the debt rolled up by Lyndon Johnson "has plunged the free world monetary system into a profound crisis." Johnson added $57 billion to the debt; Nixon, it turned out, a third again as much.

There is, of course, at least one other reason why the public ignores its phenomenal debt: Nobody understands it. The government, for example, claims it is "money we owe ourselves," but that is not necessarily true. Foreign governments hold notes on $68 billion of it. So what happens when an Arab prince wants his due? The government borrows from somebody else to make good. That kind of business makes sense only to bookies.

"It's all very complicated," says a Treasury Department official; in other words, he doesn't know either.

What is known about the public debt, however, for those who are honest about it, is that it is reaching proportions where even its advocates are beginning to worry. Congress, for instance, flatly refused recently when it was asked to raise the debt ceiling by $20 billion, and held the line valiantly at only 18. "History," said Rep. Chalmers Wylie at the time, grimly, "is littered with the bones of governments that would not or could not face fiscal reality."

The fiscal reality here seems plain enough. Just the interest on the current debt — $36 billion this year — is the third largest single appropriation in the federal budget. And to pay it the government must naturally tax the citizenry. How much? Roughly $400 on each of the returns that will be filed this year. More next year. More the year after that, ad infinitum. The bottom line is that Americans spend more annually on public debt interest than on veterans benefits, medicare assistance and aid to the blind, deaf and the halt.

Still, the debt grows in a vacuum of public disinterest, to nearly $3,000 for every man, woman and child in the nation. Two billion in 1900, $24 billion in 1920, $42 billion in 1940, $286 billion in 1960, and an estimated $640 billion in 1976. Where does it end? Money makes a good servant, it is written, but a lousy master. The only thing we really owe ourselves is the resolve to get out of this mess.

Bird counters praised from warm perch

ANDREW TULLY

WASHINGTON — Something very nice will get under way throughout the country Dec. 20. On that day, some 12,000 to 15,000 hardy souls will embark on the National Audubon Society's annual bird census, a project that will keep them out in the fresh air through New Year's Day.

"This is the kind of operation I wish someone would call to the attention of those advocates of a far-out approach to our national problems who inveigh against the materialistic tone of the American society. It is evidence that Americans — usually pictured as manufacturing hangovers or quarrelling with shopkeepers — have a gentler side. I confess at the outset that the mere thought of engaging in such a chilly venture as the bird census is enough to cause me to order up another diagon of hot buttered rum and turn up the thermostat. Happily, the country is not entirely populated with such craven sit-by-the-fires. The Audubon Society is delightfully families undoubtedly included children who had been subjected at the diaper stage to a system of loving discipline which put gentle stress on values outside the realm of the television industry.

The argument could be made that as an indoors man I lack the credentials for moralizing. Not at all. It seems to me that a salute to the Audubon Society from one who admits its bird counters are better people comes close to the ultimate tribute. Applause from the individual who regularly subjects himself to 10-mile hikes is merely predictable.

I like birds fine. Some of them steal cherries, but they look cute spending the day in a pool hall and then blithely announcing that he had counted 149 robins and 23 godfrey-throated bobolinks.

These good people deserve medals and all the hot meals they can get. For my part, I will count the next bird I see — from my window, of course.

The prospect of spending "a minimum of seven hours in the field," and covering "a circular area 15 miles in diameter" in the dead of winter gives me cold feet. I have seen Eastern swamplands and frigid Midwestern prairies. Neither is comfortable for a human being unless he is under a house.

But the counters are a harder breed, and far more trustworthy than I might be. Each counter is placed on his honor to report only the birds he actually sees and identifies, and no one's word has yet been found perjured in the more than 50 years the project has survived. A bird watcher obviously would not think of spending the day in a pool hall and then blithely announcing that he had counted 149 robins and 23 godfrey-throated bobolinks.

These good people deserve medals and all the hot meals they can get. For my part, I will count the next bird I see — from my window, of course.

Fitzgerald election urged

To the editor:

Since we haven't lived in the Eighth Utilities District for some time, we can't get out and vote for Ed Fitzgerald for Eighth Utilities District clerk. We wish we could!

What we can do is urge all of the people who do live in Ed's district to get out and vote for him. Ed Fitzgerald will serve you with dedication because he cares about people and their needs. If Ed wins, so will you!

We have had the honor of knowing Ed for several years and have developed the highest esteem for him based on his quiet, unassuming, and sincere respect for everyone he meets. He is a man people trust.

You who live in the Eighth District can vote for Ed Fitzgerald for clerk of the Eighth District Utilities.

All we can do is hope Ed gets elected. If Ed wins, so will you!

Cites papal view on Communion

To the editor:

Recently there have been news articles concerning the practice in some Roman Catholic churches of receiving Holy Communion in your hand.

In October 1975 at a public appearance in St. Peter's Square, Rome, Pope Paul VI warned the 75,000 people there to "never, never accept Holy Communion in your hand."

Aren't we still Roman Catholic? If we are, this means the Pope is infallible and the Vicar of Christ. His word is God's word. Anyone who does not want to listen to Pope Paul VI is not truly a Roman Catholic.

Jesus Christ, Himself, said to Peter, "upon this rock you build my church, whatever you bind on Earth is bound in Heaven, and whatever

Federal Reserve System blamed

To the editor:

The trouble with the debt-ridden state of Connecticut as well as with the monetary fiscal affairs of our national government is due primarily to the lack of moral preception on the part of the electorate.

As a nation we have allowed our elected officials to substitute the Laws of God for god of Mammon. We are now reaping the economic whirlwind of discord. The debt-ridden state of our whole economy was brought about by the rape of our constitutional peremptory of the coinage and control of money delegated to the Congress by the United States Constitution.

Congressmen became outlaws when they joined hands with international bankers by vesting in them the control and issue of money in a profit-making private banking corporation. They called it the Federal Reserve System. It is the most corrupt institution the world has ever known.

The task ahead is to sever the ties that bind our national economy in an economic straight-jacket of a mismanaged currency inflation. The power to create and counterfeit money and thereupon to issue it at interest and control its rate of circulation is the greatest power on earth. By it our nation is held in the state of human-bondage.

The Constitution under the Laws of nature and of Nature's God demand the lifting of this economic yoke of inequality. It was in the Congress where this gigantic crime began. It is in the Congress where this criminal conspiracy must now be brought to

Reagan leads Ford in poll

UNITED PRESS INTERNATIONAL
A new Gallup poll shows Ronald Reagan has moved ahead of President Ford as the choice of Republicans and independent voters for the GOP presidential nomination.

The poll showed Reagan was favored by 40 per cent of Republicans questioned in late November, Ford by 32 per cent. That was a sharp reversal from the Gallup figures in mid-October, which showed Ford leading Reagan 48-25.

Among independents, 27 per cent favored Reagan and 25 per cent favored Ford in late November, compared with mid-October when Ford led 26-20.

The poll coincided with the formal opening of the presidential primary season Thursday. Four candidates were entered in New Hampshire and 23 names were put up for the ballot in Massachusetts, though some immediately wanted off.

A committee supporting Sen. Frank Church, D-Idaho, for the Democratic presidential nomination, was registering today with the Federal Election Committee. The filing is a legal step permitting the Church group to raise funds prior to his formal announcement, which may come before the end of the year.

The shift in support between Ford and Reagan was the biggest and most sudden recorded by Gallup since 1963, when Nelson Rockefeller's remarriage plunged him below Barry Goldwater in the race for the 1964 GOP nomination. But the White House discounted the latest results.

Rep. Paul Simon, D-Ill., has begun an effort to draft Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, D-Minn., for the Democratic presidential nomination. Humphrey has said he would accept the nomination, but has no plans to campaign for it.

Four candidates formally entered the New Hampshire primary on the first date for filing of the nation's first presidential contest Feb. 24; Reagan and three Democrats — former Gov. Jimmy Carter of Georgia, former Sen. Fred Harris of Oklahoma and an Oklahoma lawyer named Rick Loewenburr.

The Massachusetts secretary of state released a list of 23 names of individuals he considers candidates in the state's March 2 primary — including Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, Rockefeller, and Ralph Nader. Kennedy, Rockefeller and Humphrey all indicated they would write letters to have their names removed.

Dining Out

with BETTY RYDER

American cuisine of yesteryear

By BETTY RYDER
Family/Travel Editor

When John and Dorothy Bowen formerly of Manchester purchased the 200-year-old General Lyon Inn in Eastford on Rt. 198 in June, they were fulfilling a dream of long-standing.

Dorothy, who taught English at Manchester Community College, and John, who was employed in the engineering department at Pratt & Whitney Division of United Technologies Corp in East Hartford, decided to become proprietors of the 14-room inn, and continue to serve the American cuisine for which it has long been famous.

Both John and Dorothy share an interest in antiques, so the General Lyon Inn, which houses one of the most unique collections in the area, was the ideal spot.

Formerly owned by Mrs. Beatrice E. Kennedy, the inn's owner since 1918, the Bowsens are carrying on the traditions for hospitality and excellent cuisine.

First known as the Eastford House, the General Lyon Inn was built about 1776, at the crossroads on the stage coach route from Hartford to Boston. Eastford is in the northeastern corner of Connecticut and is called the Village of 6 Corners.

In 1840, the name of the Inn was changed to Temperance Tavern and renamed the General Lyon Inn when the remains of the general, who was mortally wounded in the Battle of Wilson's Creek during the Civil War, were returned to Eastford, the place of his birth.

In 1918, Temperance Tavern was purchased by Walter B. Kennedy, and they renamed it the General Lyon Inn.

"I've always enjoyed using herbs in cooking," Dorothy said, "and the Inn provides the ideal place." The true spirit of Americana is displayed authentically throughout the Inn, which boasts seven fireplaces and two beehive ovens.

The decor itself is well worth a visit and one can browse through the various rooms viewing the desk that George Washington used when he stayed at the Dyer Clark Hotel in Ashford, or an early 1700 Queen Anne candle stand. Cut glass, pewter, brass and a multitude of tables and chairs from yesteryear fill the old Inn. A grandfather's clock, original Currier & Ives prints, a wall full of trivets collected over 65 years by Mrs. Kennedy, are but a few of the treats in store.

The Bowsens who have their own herb garden, which they hope to cultivate in the spring, have continued to use recipes some of which date back to the 1800s.

Luncheon may consist of an appetizer with an entree such as Yankee pot roast with brown gravy, roast lamb with mint jelly, baked ham with raisin sauce, corned beef and cabbage, or breaded chopped veal cutlet with English ham and dill sauce.

Vegetables are all fresh, and the garden salad has the special Inn dressing.

Desserts include hot deep dish apple pie a la mode, Indian pudding a la mode, custard pudding, sherbert, or ice cream, and steaming hot coffee.

The cost for such a sumptuous luncheon is $3.50.

Dinners range in price from $5.50 to $6.50 and one can make selections similar to those offered at luncheon or perhaps a specialty such as baked stuffed (fresh) flounder filets with lobster-clam stuffing and newburg sauce; roast beef and Yorkshire pudding with natural gravy; or lobster newburg on toast.

On Saturday night, each table receives a pot of baked beans made from an early 1800 recipe.

Dorothy likes to research authentic American recipes and so the menu, and the sauces, may vary according to her findings.

The Inn which accommodates approximately 80 at one time in its dining area, is warm and colorful, with wide floor boards and bright, white curtains.

On the weekends, waitresses at the Inn don red and white dotted Swiss gowns designed with white bib bodices embroidered with colorful coruopia.

Guests are invited to bring their own alcoholic beverages which will be chilled and served at their table.

In keeping with their interest in herbs, the Bowsens also conduct an Herb Luncheon and Lecture series at the Inn. The next one is slated for Wednesday at 1 p.m. when a gourmet luncheon is served, followed by the lecture. Reservations must be made by Monday.

All of the foods served are made on the premises for authentic recipes.

The Bowsens, along with their children, reside upstairs in the Inn, and a team effort keeps things running smoothly.

"On Thanksgiving, we had about 185 guests for dinner, and the children pitched in washing dishes, and resetting tables," Dorothy said.

John and Dorothy, avid antique collectors themselves, said the residents of Eastford consider the Inn somewhat of a museum. We bought the Inn completely furnished, and have tried to keep it just as it has been over the many years.

To the rear of the Inn, guests are invited to visit the Antique Shop (at the Sign of the Silver Stag). The Inn is open Tuesday through Sunday.

A fascinating place, the General Lyon Inn could not be in the hands of a more interested family.

It's a challenge, a new venture for the Bowsens, but one in which they are already excelling.

In keeping with the spirit of the Bicentennial year, you will be giving your family an extra special treat to visit, browse, and especially dine as our forefathers before us at the General Lyon Inn.

Musket over the mantle of one of the seven fireplaces in the Inn was found under the eaves of the house by Mrs. Beatrice Kennedy who operated the Inn for 65 years.

Whitehead-Marta

Christine Lynne Marta of Easton and Robert A. Whitehead Jr. of Manchester were married Nov. 8 at the Trinity College Chapel in Hartford.

The bride is the daughter of the late Rev. and Mrs. Joseph Marta of Clifton, N.J. and is the niece of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Bronk and Miss Elizabeth Marta of Easton. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert A. Whitehead Sr. of 89 Richard Rd., Chaplain Alan C. Tull performed the double-ring ceremony.

The bride, given in marriage by her uncle Clarence Bronk, was attended by her sister Mrs. Suzette M. Fletcher of East Norwalk.

Noah Starkey of Hartford served as best man. Alfred Garofolo was usher.

A reception was held in Hamlin Hall at the college.

Mrs. Whitehead, a graduate of the University of Connecticut Law School, is employed as a legislative legal advisor with the Legislative Management Committee of the State of Connecticut. Mr. Whitehead is a staff attorney with the Connecticut Prison Association. He was recently awarded a fellowship in the doctoral program at the School of Criminal Justice, Albany, N.Y.

About town

The Professional Women's Club will have its annual Christmas party Saturday at 2:30 p.m. at the home of Mrs. Ellen Lingard, 35 Hudson St. Hostesses are Mrs. Lingard, Mrs. Wirth Velle and Mrs. May White. Members are asked to bring wrapped gifts for patients at a local convalescent home. There also will be a grab bag for members.

The Youth Fellowship of South United Methodist Church will meet tonight at 7:30 in the youth lounge of the church.

Emanuel Lutheran Church is planning a bus trip to Hartford Dec. 18 to view the Christmas lights. The bus will leave the church at 6 p.m. Members interested in going may call the church office and leave their names. The first 44 signed up will be able to go.

Members of the Church of the Assumption in Manchester is inviting everyone to take part in the Christmas carol sing, Sunday, beginning at 5 p.m. at Manchester Manor, and then on to the Meadows Convalescent Home. Participants are asked to bring a candle.

Basic precautions protect Christmas gifts, homes

Not everyone you see at Christmas time scurrying around on rooftops with a sack over his back is playing Santa Claus.

"Burglars frequently have just as long a gift list as anybody else and their attitude is that it is better to take than to give," says Thomas Snyder of CNA Insurance's loss prevention department.

"In fact," he states, "if you're not careful, all those gifts you've hidden so carefully from the kids may be found before Christmas - by professional thieves."

December is one of the favorite months for burglars, as any experienced detective on the burglary detail can tell you, and a variety of other criminal types find Christmas a year-end bonanza. Burglars are attracted not only by homes loaded with gifts, but also by the added hours of darkness when they can work unnoticed.

With heavy deliveries of mail and packages from stores, there are always increased numbers of strangers in neighborhoods or apartment buildings, and the people who live there are more accustomed to seeing an unfamiliar face.

Snyder offers these tips for "burglar-proofing" your home: Make sure all doors - especially those leading into the house from enclosed patios - are well lighted after dark and locked at all times.

When you go out, leave a light on inside. Make sure you lock all windows and doors, including the garage door. An open garage door is a sure sign that no one is home. Also, don't close your draperies completely; they make a good screen for a burglar's activities.

Make sure the locks on your doors are the jimmy-proof, dead-bolt type. Have a chain latch - and use it - every time you open any door for an unknown caller.

When you put your car in a parking lot that requires you to leave the car keys, leave only the ignition key - not your trunk and house keys. Don't carry a miniature license plate tag on the key ring with your house keys.

If you should lose such a key ring, a burglar could find where you live through your license registration. Also, don't leave a key under the doormat, or in any other "secret" place. Thieves are likely to look in just these spots.

And finally, be sure that the contents of your home are adequately protected by insurance. Most homeowners policies provide coverage against loss by burglary or theft up to 50 percent of the total policy amount.

If someone in your home gets an expensive Christmas present, it's a good time to review your insurance and make sure that it's adequate. Items such as milk coats and diamonds are covered by ordinary insurance policies up to a combined total of $50; if worth more, they should be covered by a "floater" - a policy that provides protection against nearly all risks for particularly valuable items.

"If you don't watch your pockets and purses, you may find yourself footing the bill for somebody else's shopping spree," Snyder advises.

A purse with one handle and a snap-closure is a cinch for a pickpocket, particularly if it's slung over someone's elbow and her arms are full of view-blocking packages. And never put your purse inside a shopping bag. This is an open invitation to thieves.

"It's a good idea to limit what you carry," Snyder comments. "The more overloaded your shopping bag, the more likely a loss. And, the more you carry, the more difficult it is to keep track of everything. Have the large packages delivered to your home."

A long package sticking out of a shopping bag as you push through crowded department stores and streets might just wind up under somebody else's tree!

"Following these simple tips can help insure that your stocking isn't empty on Christmas morning because someone else has misbehaved," Snyder concludes.

Vacation & Travel Ideas

BETTY RYDER, TRAVEL EDITOR

How to know it's Christmas in Bermuda

Oddly enough, Bermuda's first real yuletide harbinger is a green-hulled Canadian freighter.

The pace quickens along Front Street as the ship, its bow plates buckled and bent by North Atlantic winter seas, eases into its quiet berth at No. 1 dock.

The greasy, black iron hatch covers clatter open with a clamor that can be heard for blocks. After that, it's only a matter of minutes. Shoppers react with twitching nostrils trying to identify an alien aroma.

The Christmas tree ship has arrived! Let the celebrations begin! The strong aroma doesn't really betray a secret, however. The freighter's movements have been traced by local media ever since it left its frigid northern port loaded to the bulwarks with the firs and pines which decorate Bermudian homes and which signal the real beginning of the Bermudian Christmas season.

In a nation so tiny and so dependent upon goods from outside it is no wonder that many parts of the local Christmas must be imported, but the imports blended with local tradition, make for a cosmopolitan Christmas season as varied as the December traveler is likely to find anywhere.

American visitors say they sense a strong English influence in Bermuda Christmas; the English say the opposite. What they really see is an amalgamation of both with some customs born wholly of the island chain and its people.

For those accustomed to colder climates, even recognizing Christmas in Bermuda is not the easiest task. The longshoremen unloading the trees do so in their shirtsleeves — three-inch bits of fir bough decorating their woven woolen caps. Visitors continue to use the beaches and golfers bless the spring-like weather and curse the sand. After the lighting of the casuarina pines along Front Street, or the arrival of Santa Claus by boat, Christmas might outwardly go unnoticed.

Ask a Bermudian about the holiday season and the first thing he's likely to mention is cassava pie.

This traditional dish is a rich meat pie brimming with generous helpings of chicken, pork, beef and spices all bedded and baked in a thick crust of ground cassava — a starchy root once grown profusely on the island. For those who try the delicacy in private homes or hotels, a hint — cassava pie tastes even better heated up a day or two after Christmas.

Christmas may actually begin with a Christmas Eve midnight church service. Those with English backgrounds often follow the religious service with a breakfast of sausage or bacon and eggs or perhaps mince pies and tea. All that is followed by an early-morning gift opening.

Christmas dinner is likely to be an electric affair. Those of Portuguese descent in Bermuda — about a fifth of the population — may choose rabbit, either barbecued or en casserole, and certainly chorizo, a spicy Portuguese sausage. Cassava pie is a must and turkey — a Christmas gift from the Americans, is probably the favorite meat course.

Although Christmas Day itself is reserved for family gatherings, Bermudians throw their houses open on Boxing Day, Dec. 26. It's potluck from house to house and you're likely to find a whole turkey or ham on the sideboard.

Boxing Day, of English origin, also brings out Bermuda's gombey dancers.

Dressed in feathered, sequined and mirrored costumes partly of African and partly of American Indian origin, adolescent dancers gyrate through the streets to the insistent beat of snare drums with a police whistle carrying the only "melody."

Bermudians at Christmas also are fortunate in that the island continues to bloom with color, and a widely-recognized symbol of the season, the poinsettia, grows wild. It isn't a rare sight to see a 20-foot tall poinsettia taking over someone's front yard with brilliant red or white leaves. The potted plants are almost universal in local homes and offices.

And this Christmas should be no different, providing, of course, the Christmas tree ship arrives in time to start things rolling.

Winter schedule at Mystic Seaport

Winter activities and rates began Dec. 1 at Mystic Seaport. The new schedules and reduced fees will be in effect through April 9, 1976.

Adult fees for the winter will be $3.75 per person. Children ages 6-15 will be admitted for $1.50. Senior citizen rates, in effect on weekdays through the winter, will be $3.25. Children under six are admitted free. Group rates and information about special winter gallery tours programs for groups are also available by contacting Ruth Greenberg, Public Affairs Department.

For the winter the gates will open at 10 a.m. and close at 4 p.m. The grounds will close one hour later. All exhibits will be open daily, and the daily schedules will include an orientation program, whaling and ship restoration lectures and the planetarium show. On weekends only there will be walking tours of the waterfront and special demonstrations in the Noyes Fisheries exhibit.

The annual Christmas Carol sing will be held on Dec. 21 around the familiar outdoor Christmas tree with its 19th-Century trimming, in the circle in front of the Mallory and Stillman Buildings. Throughout that day the Seaport will be open to the public admission-free. Other Christmas decorations will include trees in the tallest masts along the waterfront, in the Greenman and Edwards houses and in the Children's Museum.

For further information write or call (203) 536-2631.

Eastern plans extra holiday flights

To meet the heavy demand for seats during the upcoming Christmas/New Year's holiday travel period, Eastern Airlines is scheduling more than 200 extra flights between major northeast cities and vacation destinations in Florida and the Caribbean.

According to the airline, confirmed reservations are running heavier than last year at this time for travel during the holiday period.

"People seem to have made up their minds that they are going to spend the holidays in the sun and are making their reservations earlier than last year," commented Russell L. Ray Jr., Eastern's senior vice president-marketing.

During the holiday period, Eastern has scheduled more than 175 extra flights between major northeast cities and various Florida vacation destinations.

New England Bicentennial events

Among the New England Regional events scheduled to salute the Bicentennial year is a major exposition dramatizing the industrial inventions that sharply altered American lifestyles in the late 1800s.

Entitled "Victorian Boston," the exhibit is open from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. daily and located in The Castle, Arlington and Stuart Sts., Boston.

Through use of photos, models and original artifacts, visitors can experience the excitement of the era by viewing and operating some of its technological innovations.

For example, one can observe how the invention of the safety razor changed men's grooming styles and how Victorian sideburns, moustaches and mutton chops modified a man's appearance.

Bicycles of all shapes and sizes are displayed, and brave visitors can mount an old boneshaker and experience pedaling across cobblestone streets from a four and a half foot perch. Boston's growth from a Puritan port to a cosmopolitan center is shown through maps and panoramas. Huge murals honor persons who composed Boston society through industry, literature, art, labor, music, education and politics. The ongoing exhibit by the Gillette Co. and Boston 200 is housed in the Castle, the old Commonwealth Armory built by William Preston in 1891.

Also in keeping with the Bicentennial, the Stowe (Vt.) Winter Carnival will be conducted Jan. 16-25.

The entire town hosts events ranging from ski races to fiddling contests during Stowe's 10-day festival.

The picturesque New England village, nestled in the Green Mountains, whirls with action with coronation ceremonies Friday night, Jan. 16. A panoply of events includes the Men and Women's Freestyle Mogul Championships, sled dog races and hang gliding exhibitions from 4,400-foot Mt. Mansfield. The Colgate Women's Freestyle Ballet Championships gives spectators an appreciation of the grace and beauty of skiing.

Free ice skating at the Village Ice Rink, a film festival and a freestyle clinic at Spruce peak provide entertainment for youngsters.

Sex slides get board's okay

South Windsor
JUDY KUEHNEL
644-1364

The South Windsor Board of Education unanimously approved materials selected for use in the Health Education and Human Development program.

The board's approval of the materials came only after the showing of 80 slides depicting human reproduction.

Board member Fred DeGiacomo requested the showing of the slides, which will be used in Grade 6, because of the close vote of the committee approving the material.

"I'd like to see why so many were not in favor of the slides," said DeGiacomo.

Some members of the board resented time being taken to review the material, which was available for viewing previously.

Finally, Marge Hutensky, a board member in favor of the human development program, said, "Show the slides."

"I refuse to sit on this issue one more time. If it takes the showing of 80 slides, then show the slides."

The Human Development and Health Education program has been the subject of much controversy, primarily because of the sex education and personality development segments included.

The program is slated for use Feb. 1 barring no further snags in the curriculum's rocky road to the classroom.

Dental Clinic
The South Windsor Public Health Nursing Association Inc. is sponsoring a dental health clinic for pre-school children ages three through kindergarten in the nurse's office at the Town Hall.

The clinic will be Jan. 19-30. Appointments may be made by calling the South Windsor Community Service Council office, 644-2509.

This is a free service which includes cleaning, prophylactic examination and fluoride application.

Ships, planes search ocean for crewmen

MANCHESTER EVENING HERALD, Manchester, Conn., Fri., Dec. 12, 1975 — PAGE ELEVEN

CAPE HATTERAS, N.C. (UPI) — Coast Guard and Navy ships and planes searched an area 90 miles southeast of here in the Atlantic Ocean today for 10 missing crewmen of the sunken vessel Drosia.

Fourteen crewmen have been rescued, 13 on a raft and one on a small boat. The duty officer at the Elizabeth City, N.C. Coast Guard Air Station said the Drosia sank four minutes after a hatch ruptured early Thursday.

Christmas music Sunday

Hebron
EVELYN CROSTON

Nancy H. Eaton, organist and choir director at the First Congregational Church, will present a recital of Christmas organ music at the church Sunday at 4 p.m.

This is the third in a series of eight musical programs planned by the Music Committee to benefit the organ fund.

Mrs. Eaton is presently a member of the Asylum Hill Oratorio Choir and the Connecticut Conference U.C.C. Music and Worship Committee.

There will be an informal reception in the church Narthex after the recital.

Tickets will be at the door.

Carol sing
Residents are invited to a "carol sing" Monday at 7:30 p.m. at the town Christmas tree located on the green in front of First Congregational Church.

Members of the Rham Band will play. The Burritt Mutual Savings Bank is providing carol books.

Persons attending may park in the church parking lot. The event is being sponsored by the Recreation Committee.

Firemen invite seniors to dinner

Residents of Manchester's Mayfair Gardens elderly housing complex have been invited to a Saturday night dinner sponsored by the Eighth District Fire Department.

The annual event is scheduled for 6:30 p.m. at the Mayfair Gardens Hall. The menu includes turkey and all the trimmings.

Food is being donated by stores in the North End. It's being prepared by the fire department's ladies' auxiliary and is being served by volunteer firemen.

Preschoolers pick Yule tree

Preschoolers at the Chestnut Hill Preschool participated in a colonial Christmas custom recently when they went to a forest, selected a tree, and brought it back to their school.

This week, the preschoolers visited the Stanley Tree Farm in Andover and selected a tree which was chopped down for them. The children helped to trim some of the lower branches before the tree was loaded in a car and brought back to the school located in the basement of the Emanuel Lutheran Church in Manchester.

Making their tree farm visit complete were refreshments of Christmas cookies and hot chocolate served the children by the Stanleys.

Other December activities for the youngsters included making dreidels and latkes for Hanukkah and a pinata for their Christmas party.

Manchester stars gain all-CCIL spots

Members of Manchester High fall sports teams have received all-CCIL honors as voted by league coaches at their recent meeting announced Dick Danielson, league secretary.

Senior Captain Bruce Ballard was named to the all-CCIL soccer team at a fallback slot. Ballard was joined on the squad by senior forward Tony Stimauc who garnered second team honors.

Wethersfield, CCIL champ and State Class AA Division I title by virtue of a win over Manchester, placed eight players on the first two squads.

Two members of the successful 10-3 cross country team received league notices. Junior Captain Glenn Florsdorf and sophomore Wes Fedorchak were picked to the squad by the coaches. Simsbury headed the all-CCIL cross country squad with four selections.

Junior Linda Lemieux was the lone Silk Towner selected to the all-league girls' cross country team. Deb Ganley and Kim Rideout were dubbed to the league volleyball team while Karen Carpenter was the lone Manchester representative on the all-CCIL girls' field hockey team.

George McGinnis difference Between winning and losing

NEW YORK (UPI) - George McGinnis is the difference between this year's first-place Philadelphia 76ers and one of the worst teams in the National Basketball Association of the last three years.

Philadelphia, whose 17-4 record is the best in the NBA, was led again by McGinnis Thursday night as the 6-foot-8, 220-pound strongman scored 28 points, including seven of the 76ers' last 10, to defeat the Phoenix Suns 110-106.

McGinnis, who may very well be the strongest player in pro basketball, is probably only rivaled in the NBA by Kareem Abdul-Jabbar and Bob McAdoo as the most dominant player in a game situation.

McGinnis came to Philadelphia this year after sharing MVP honors with Julius Erving last year in the ABA and was expected to lead the 76ers out of the Atlantic Division cellar and into a playoff spot.

But the pressure will really be on McGinnis the rest of the way with Thursday night the pressure was on McGinnis as the Suns, trailing 97-84 with 71/2 minutes left, fought back to take a 102-101 lead with 1:55 left.

McGinnis then scored five points to put Philadelphia up by four points and after a basket by Phoenix' Nate Hawthorne with 17 seconds left, converted two free throws to clinch the victory.

Schoolboy basketball schedule heavy tonight

By LEN AUSTER
Herald Sports Editor

Going after their second victory in the young basketball season tonight are Manchester High and East Catholic while Cheney Tech will try to rebound from an opening setback.

Manchester, 1-0, travels to Willimantic to face CCIL foe Windham High, 0-1. East Catholic, 1-0, journeys to Hartford to engage non-league opponent 0-2 Prince Tech.

Elsewhere, 0-2 Rockville High is at 2-0 Bloomfield High in a CVC clash. South Windsor, 0-2, enters 1-1 Glastonbury in its opening CVC test.

East Catholic gets back into action after being idle one week following its 82-77 rout of Windsor. If comparative scores can be used as a guide, then Prince should prove no problem for the Eagles.

Manchester tapped off the campaign with a 73-51 win over Fernald displaying a well balanced attack with Coach Doug Pearson going to his bench early and often.

Cougars blow big lead, lose in final seconds

By CHRIS BLAKE
Correspondent

Last year, Manchester Community College's basketball team lost eight games by three points or less.

The Cougars led 17-15 at the 10-minute mark and 41-35 at intermission.

For Eastern, 2-2, Faulkner's effort was supported by Ladd, who chipped in 14 points, and Prete, who had 12 points.

MCC's high scorer was DeMarco, with 20 points, followed by Hewey (19) and Freeman (12). Reserve George Smith was in double figures with 10 points.

The Cougars, 2-5, visit Junior College Saturday night in Waterbury.

After a missed foul shot on a one-and-one for the Cougars, Tim Ladd tied it up at 71-71.

The Cougars had a chance to go ahead when the Warriors fouled Lamont Freeman, but he missed the one-and-one try and Eastern had the ball back.

The Warriors did not get a shot off until three seconds remained. Ladd's short jump shot was blocked out of bounds by Jefferson before Faulkner got the crucial hoop.

MCC led the entire first half as Nick DeMarco and Rick Hewey collected 12 and 11 points respectively.

Nick DeMarco fires away Sharpshooter scores scored 20 points for locals

NEW YORK (UPI) - Quinn Buckner, the team leader all game but nearly the goal with two missed free throws in the final seconds, saved Indiana from falling right on its number one ranking against Notre Dame Thursday night.

The Irish trailed 51-37 in the second half but staged a late comeback and trailed 61-58 with 30 seconds left. Notre Dame's Bruce Flowers intentionally fouled Buckner, who has the worst free shooting percentage on Indiana, hoping he would miss.

Buckner did. Dave Batton's two free throws put the Irish within one at 61-60 and again Notre Dame fouled Buckner. But this time he made both shots to provide the Hoosiers with the victory.

"We survived because we got a kid named Buckner," said Indiana Coach Bobby Knight. "Without him, we're not even in the game. He's the sole reason we won."

Indiana led 29-24 at the half and looked as though it would blow the game open in the second half.

Phil Esposito 'greeted' in Boston. Joe Zanusso helped stop ex-teammate short.

Esposito treated well on return to Boston

BOSTON (UPI) — This was not one of those games in which the former hero came back to find he had turned into the enemy. Instead, Phil Esposito was treated warmly by the fans and kindly by his old teammates Thursday night in his first visit to Boston Garden as a New York Ranger.

Bill Veeck active in trade market

HOLLYWOOD, Fla. (UPI) — Only a manager showman like Bill Veeck could find a way to upstage the New York Yankees' trading of Bobby Bonds.

Dillon goals snap Bruin win streak

NEW YORK (UPI) — Wayne Dillon, signed by the Rangers during the season after two high-scoring years in the World Hockey Association, scored two goals in New York's 5-1 win over Boston Thursday night, snapping the Bruins' 14-game unbeaten string.

Griffin wants national grid title

NEW YORK (UPI) — Archie Griffin, the only man ever to win the Heisman Trophy twice, would gladly swap it for a national championship.

Celtics add pair to roster

BOSTON (UPI) — The One position had been open Boston Celtics will have on the roster since the two new teammates or a waiting couple of newly injured last month. The other was players tonight when they made Thursday when they for their fourth straight Boston victory against the forward Ed Seaver.

BeeBee property presents problems

Coventry
MONICA SHEA
 742-9495

The Planning and Zoning Commission will give its decision on the application for a eight lot subdivision on BeeBee Camp Road at its next meeting.

PZC chairman Sandra Stave told Atty. Robert Gordon, who represented the homeowners, the PZC would need time to review it.

Gordon told the commission its decision on the application would be just one step towards untangling a difficult legal problem.

The 12 acres of land was deeded to nine of the BeeBee heirs in 1930. It was to be built on the land with the permission of all the heirs.

Now, there are seven houses on the 12 acres and the owners are looking for an eight-lot subdivision to allow for the seven houses and one large lot without a house.

Gordon said that without the subdivision, the homeowners cannot sell their homes or get mortgages. Almost $20,000 in taxes is owed on the land and buildings.

Gordon also said he is aware the lots are nonconforming to present zoning. But he will need a PZC denial before he can go before the Zoning Board of Appeals and seek its variances.

Ernest Wheeler, zoning agent, advised the PZC to turn down the application and list the reasons for doing so. Then an application can be made to the ZBA for the variances.

He also said the homes on the eight lots are listed as year round homes.

Some of the problems with the subdivision are: the lack of front and side yards, some houses do not front on approved private or town roads, and some of the lots are not the required size.

At the annual meeting of the Bolton Athletic Association an election of officers took place.

Elected were Henry Post, president, John Whitham, treasurer, Ray Vine, secretary.

The directors thanked the out-going officers for their leadership during the past year. Outgoing officers are Mike Giglio, president and Gary Mortensen, secretary.

Whitham was both thanked for his past service and re-elected.

The recent canvass reached 82 per cent of its goal.

Board faces cost increases

Tolland
BARBARA RICHMOND
 Herald reporter

The Tolland Board of Education's program budget for 1976-77 will have to contend with cost increases of seven per cent during the first half and of some 13 per cent the second half therefore the board will be using a 10 per cent cost increase factor to enable it to evaluate the program budget that can be implemented.

Budget information was presented to the board Wednesday night by David Hopewell, business manager.

He noted that the biggest chunk of the budget is comprised of salaries and benefits, representing 77 per cent of the total budget.

Due to the uncertainty of estimating the cost and the certainty of having to pay this non-discretionary account once salaries are set this may be the year to consider the feasibility of a supplemented budget approach for salary increases," Hopewell said.

En route to court

Delage arraigned in Vernon; mental examination resumed

Richard T. Delage, 31, today resumed mental tests after being arraigned Thursday in the 1969 killing of Page Weatherley, a graduate student at the University of Connecticut where Delage majored in psychology.

Delage, an unemployed engineer from Thompson and 1971 graduate of UConn, was ordered held in $250,000 bond on a murder charge and his case was continued to Jan. 6.

When Vernon Superior Court Judge Jay E. Rubinow asked Delage if he understood his rights, he replied only "yes." After the court appearance, Delage was returned to Whiting Forensic Institute in Middletown where he was taken for observation Wednesday.

Judge Rubinow consolidated the murder charge hearing in the Weatherley case and a hearing on charges of kidnapping and threatening, stemming from an Oct. 5 attempted assault on a woman hitchhiker in Mansfield.

Delage, accompanied by his attorney, Nicholas G. Sarantopoulos, of Danielson, was brought to the court after being first taken to state police headquarters in Hartford from the Middletown institute.

Delage was in custody for the Mansfield incident when state police announced Wednesday the lodging of the murder charge against him.

State police said the woman hitchhiker gave them a description of a motorist who allegedly threatened her with a pistol, drove her to a lonely road and told her he would kill her unless she submitted to him.

Police traced Delage within four hours to the Norwich State Hospital where his wife, a Thompson school teacher, had taken him for admission.

After Delage was arrested in that case, an investigation led police to suspect Delage in connection with the death of Miss Weatherley, 23, who was last seen Nov. 13, 1969 hitchhiking from a restaurant near the Storrs campus to her apartment in Willington.

Her body, clad in a two-tone, green-striped blouse and navy blue slacks, was found three days later in a culvert off Rte. 44A in Bolton. She had been shot three times in the chest.

State police in Poughkeepsie, N.Y., Wednesday said they found a murder warrant against Delage for the killing of Carol Segretta, 23, a school teacher. She was found shot to death July 29, 1969, in a parked car near the Taconic Parkway in Yorktown, N.Y.

Maj. Philip G. Enden, commander of Troop K in Poughkeepsie, said Delage "admitted certain facts about the death of the school teacher" when questioned by Connecticut State Police.

Pennsylvania State Police Lt. Ray Mitrowski said he intends to question Delage in the Nov. 4, 1970 shooting deaths of the case.

June Penny Eberlin and Mary Lenihan, two hitchhikers from Queens College in New York, whose bodies were found next to Interstate 70 in Fulton County, Pa., Connecticut State Police Commissioner Edward Leonard praised policewoman Patricia Libby, Sgt. James J. Smith and trooper George Lawrence for their work on the case.

SLC staffers attend meet in Boston

Several staff members of the Singer Learning Center attended a kindergarten conference in Boston recently.

Those attending were Tom Bowman and Vikk Bowman, primary level teachers; Carl Russo, preschool language arts teacher and Kyle McCarthy, director.

The conference was sponsored by the Lesley College Graduate School of Education in Cambridge, Mass.

The conference dealt with the basic and special needs of kindergarten programs with emphasis in schools as a way of learning academics; bilingual and multi-cultural education; play as an important way of learning and the use of the behavioral approach at the kindergarten level.

Two face charges for auto racing

Two Manchester men were charged with reckless driving after an alleged race on Broad St. Thursday night, police reported today.

Issued summonses were Ross H. Easton, 19, of 42 Strong St. and Ronald R. Girardin, 18, of 147 Brookfield St. Court date is Dec. 30.

Easton and Girardin accounted for two of 43 alleged traffic violations reported for Thursday. The others included:

- Paul M. McSweeney, 27, of 117C Tudor Lane, charged with driving while under the influence of liquor, on N. Main St. Court date is Jan. 6.
- Barry J. Cole, 32, of 187 E. Center St., charged with driving while his license was suspended, on Broad St. Court date is Jan. 5.
- Several summonses for stop sign and traffic signal violations, issued by patrol officers throughout Manchester.
- Several speeding-related charges lodged by officers in the department's Traffic Bureau.

Correction

The agreement between Town Manager Robert Weiss and the Municipal Employees Group (MEG) for a day off Friday, Dec. 26, in lieu of Feb. 12, Lincoln's Birthday is only with that Manchester union. Members of Local 991, State, County and Municipal Employees, will have Christmas off but will work Friday, Jan. 2, the day after New Year's Day.

12, Lincoln's Birthday, also as provided in their labor contract. MEG members are, for the most part, clerical employees in the various departments. Local 991 members are, for the most part, employes of public works departments. Members of both unions will work Friday, Jan. 2, the day after New Year's Day.

Union St. A&P building may see new life as post office

Vernon
Plans for renovation of the former A & P building on Union St., Rockville, for use as a post office, are in the works.
Stanley Roessler, director of administration, said he spoke to officials in the postal department's real estate office Wednesday and was told the office is working on the renovation plans.
The actual move will probably be sometime next summer, he said.
The postal department originally considered putting up a new building near Vernon Center but the proposal was met with much opposition from Rockville residents.

The department wanted to purchase town-owned land but the town refused to sell it due to this opposition.
When the A & P moved out, it was considered an ideal location as it is still in the Rockville section and there is plenty of parking.
This will mean the post office now on Park St. will be moved to that building. There is also a post office building on Rt. 30 in Vernon and one on Main St. in Talcottville.

Commission to count dollars for 1976 sports

ANDOVER
DONNA HOLLAND
646-0375
The Recreation Commission will meet Tuesday at 7:30 in the Town Office Building.
The main business will be a discussion of the commission's 1976-77 budget.
Anyone having suggestions for recreation programs they wish to have considered is asked to present their ideas at the above meeting.
Report available
The report of the temporary regional school committee to consider withdrawal of Grades 7 and 8 from the Regional School District 8 has been completed.
It is on file in the town clerk's office and available for public inspection.

Teachers are easier to hire

TOLLAND
BARBARA RICHMOND
Herald Reporter
The Tolland Board of Education voted Wednesday night to change its policy concerning the hiring of teachers.
The policy which has been followed since back many years when teacher candidates were hard to find. This policy gave the superintendent of schools the authority to hire teachers and have them sign contracts.
The new policy calls for the superintendent to nominate teacher candidates and then have the board confirm the nomination before the contract is signed.
Dr. Kenneth MacKenzie, superintendent of schools, said years ago when teachers were scarce the superintendent was allowed to hire on the spot because it was a delay the teachers were apt to take a job in another system.
The policy change will not effect the policy concerning the hiring of administrative personnel as the superintendent's role in that area is merely to nominate candidates for the board's approval.
Married students
A policy concerning married students was presented to the board for its consideration and will be acted on at the next meeting.
Area police report
Vernon
David White, 21, of 1 Esther Ave., Ellington, was charged Thursday with operating under the influence of liquor or drugs. He was involved in a two-car accident on Rt. 83 in Vernon.
The driver of the other car was Gary Treaty, 41, of New York, White was released on a $100 non-surety bond for appearance in Common Pleas Court 19, Rockville, Jan. 7.
James R. Yost, 39, of 69 High St., Rockville, was arrested Thursday on a Common Pleas Court warrant charging him with third-degree larceny.
Police said the arrest involved the theft of money from a wallet belonging to David Stracks of Prospect St., Rockville. Yost is to appear in court in Rockville, Dec. 31.

Soccer goes into winter

Debris stops the postman

COVENTRY
Mail carriers in rural Connecticut may get through to their homes with the mail despite rain, hail, ice and snow.
But you will not get your mail if you put debris in front of your mail box.
Postal regulations on rural boxes require the approach to the box to be cleared of glass, sharp objects, and even snow and ice. This permits the carrier to drive up to the box to leave the mail without leaving his vehicle.
The approach to the box should be cleared on days to allow him to drive on through, advised Victor Lombardo, postmaster in Coventry.
If you have trouble clearing a path for the carrier, call Lombardo, he said.

Hine tells his practices for trash, snow, and leaves

VERNON
Ronald Hine, director of public works, set forth guidelines this week for winter trash pickups, distribution of sand and salt for the roads, and leaf collections.
Hine said brush will be picked up by refuse crews only if it is tied in bundles not larger than three feet in length and placed at the curb on regular collection days. Anyone having large quantities of brush, trimmings or any kind of building material should make other arrangements to have it removed Hine said.
As in the past, the department will pick up brush in emergency situations such as limbs falling from ice storms or other storm related conditions.
He said the department has been receiving a number of calls requesting pick up of brush or large items and it cannot handle these calls.
He said most of the town equipment is being used for leaf collections while some has been converted with sand and salt spreaders for winter storm and leaf collection days. Since weather conditions haven't curbed leaf collections crews are now well into the second round of pickups, Hine said.
He also said the crews are working on Reservoir, Brandy Hill, Bolton, and Hatch Hill Rds. to correct roadside drainage problems that create icy conditions. In these sections drainage pipes and ditching areas are being installed.

Vernon wins okay for course

The Vernon School system is one of the first systems in Connecticut to receive state approval for an in-service course for teachers.
The approval has been granted under an act passed by the last session of the state legislature. It allows teachers to apply credits received in approved in-service courses toward permanent certification.
According to former laws, a masters degree from a college or university was required. Under the new legislation in-service credits will be accepted only for courses approved by a joint committee of the State Board of Education.
Emphasis in the course is on recent research and new trends in the teaching of mathematics. Among the topics being considered are: pupil readiness; evaluation of pupil progress; development of mathematical concepts and skills; problem solving; and new methods of teaching particular units. Modifications of "modern math" are considered with each topic.
Emphasis has been placed on the metric system and its influence on math.
Teachers enrolled in the course, along with several other local teachers, participated in a metric workshop in October under the direction of Dr. Lynn Anderson, supervisor of mathematics in the Vernon system, and Mrs. Joan Delphia, a math teacher at Sykes School.
The metric system will be introduced at all grade levels in Vernon during the current school year.
Although this is the first course to be offered for certification credit, the Vernon Board of Education has previously approved in-service courses for local credits. Under that plan, math courses were provided in 1970 and 1972.

Dear Abby

By Abigail Van Buren. DEAR ABBY: Cathy is my best friend. We are both 16. Cathy spends a lot of time at my house. When my father is home, he has the habit of kissing Cathy on the lips whenever she arrives and goes home. Do you consider this proper behavior for a 16-year-old man?

Also, my father is always trying to get Cathy to sit on his lap. Sometimes she does and sometimes she doesn't. I don't know if this is embarrassing to Cathy or not. As a daughter it doesn't bother me, but I sure wouldn't want Cathy's father kissing me on the lips or asking me to come sit on his lap.

What is your opinion? DADDY'S DAUGHTER. DEAR DAUGHTER: I think Cathy is a little too OLD to be kissed on the lips by your father. And your father is much too YOUNG to have a 15-year-old girl on his lap.

DEAR ABBY: Allen and I have been married for four years and have a darling baby girl who is nearly 3. Allen is an excellent provider, and I am content to stay at home and be a full-time wife and mother.

My problem? I feel that woman was put on earth to serve her husband and bear children, but every time I mention having another baby, Allen explodes. He says, "One is enough and that is final!"

Abby, I've always wanted six children, but I'd settle for just one more. To me a large family means everything. I have literally begged him, but he says no. He will divorce me. I want on the lips by your father. Allen doesn't know I stopped, and he's hit the roof if he did.

If I do get pregnant, what is my next move? I hate being underhanded, but it was my last resort! Please help me. WANTS A LARGER BAY.

DEAR WANTS: You say
