These trees on New State Road were knocked down by the high winds which struck the entire New England area Sunday night and early today. In Manchester, several trees and electrical wires were down, causing some power outages. The opening of school was delayed by one hour in all Manchester public and parochial schools. ## Unusual storm brings trouble

An unusual winter storm led to trees falling and power failing in the Manchester area, an air raid siren malfunctioning in Hartford and hand holding in Boston. High winds, heavy rain and unseasonably warm temperatures combined to create a variety of problems throughout New England. The Hartford Electric Light Co. reported that 1,023 Manchester customers lost service but almost all service had been restored this morning. Power outages also were reported in parts of Coventry, South Windsor and Vernon. Trees and branches were knocked down in many areas by the high winds. Ken Irish of the Manchester

Park Department reported that three trees—one each on Bidwell Street, Horace Street and New State Road—were felled during the storm. The trees and falling limbs and branches knocked down some power lines and caused hazards for drivers. Trash barrels in many places were blown into the street by the high winds. Some cable television customers also reported loss of service. Manchester Police said that they began receiving calls about power outages at 10:22 p.m. The loss of power also set off alarms in many businesses and stores, police said. The front window of the S & H Green Stamp store on Main Street was blown in early today. The Bolton Fire Department was called at 3:23 a.m. to fight a transformer fire at the intersection of Route 44-A and Lakeside Circle. Timothy O'Sullivan, Manchester's highway superintendent, reported that the storm caused a sidewalk on Elm Street to cave in and a road depression on Lilac Street. Some schools were closed today because of storm-related problems. Others opened late. One of the most unusual problems occurred in Hartford, where heavy rain apparently short circuited the city's air raid system. The siren started to sound erratically shortly after midnight.

The Hartford Fire Department was flooded with calls about the problem and managed to repair the system an hour and 15 minutes after the problem started. High winds belted the entire New England area. Winds were so strong in Boston during the morning rush hour that pedestrians at many intersections had to join hands to cross the street. In Fall River, Mass., officials said that wind gusts on the Braga Bridge over the Taunton River pushed some cars sideways across two or three lanes. A flash flood warning was issued for all of Massachusetts except Cape Cod. Heavy seas pounded beaches and seawalls along the entire New England coast. The 230-foot transmission tower of WRIB in East Providence was knocked down by high winds. Across the country, other weather problems developed. Tornadoes were reported in central and south Florida Sunday. At least one death has been reported. In California, a high surf endangered expensive oceanfront homes in Malibu. Ohio received up to 14 inches of snow and had drifting problems because of the wind. Up to seven inches of snow was reported in parts of Virginia. Alabama and Georgia also received snow. A sharp temperature drop is expected sometime today in Connecticut. It will be much colder tonight and Tuesday with a chance of flurries, according to weather forecasts. Flash flood watches and gale warnings are in effect in some parts of the state and region.

Shah backs Sadat plan

CAIRO, Egypt (UPI) — The shah of Iran today endorsed President Anwar Sadat's Middle East peace initiative, clouded by a new Egyptian-Israeli quarrel over Jewish settlements in occupied Arab lands. To the booms of a 21-gun salute, Shah Mohammed Reza Pahlavi landed at the airport in the southern winter resort town of Aswan, the same spot where President Carter stopped for 80 minutes last Wednesday to confer with Sadat. Sadat embraced and kissed the shah, who has given Egypt more than $1 billion in aid since the 1973 Middle East War. Asked what he thought of Sadat's conditions for peace, the shah was quoted by the Egyptian Middle East News Agency as saying, "Yes, we would like to see Egypt reach such an agreement. I believe Egypt is following the right path." The shah's visit began as Sadat and Israeli Prime Minister Menahem Begin appeared locked in a dispute over Jewish settlements in the Sinai desert just two days before the scheduled start of peace talks in Jerusalem. Carter visited Tehran Dec. 31-Jan. 1 on a six-nation tour. He and the shah had talks with Jordan's King Hussein who was visiting Iran at the same time. Carter stopped in Aswan for 80 minutes Jan. 4 on his way from Saudi Arabia to France and talked with Sadat. The officials said they knew of no plan for the shah and Sadat to be joined in Aswan by Hussein and Moroccan King Hassan as some Iranian newspapers reported. Begin said Sunday in Tel Aviv that Israel has no intention of dismantling its settlements in the Sinai, and his cabinet voted to strengthen and expand existing settlements in two areas of the desert peninsula. "With friendship and respect, I suggest that Israel and Egypt agree to leave the monopoly on burning cities to Nero, emperor of Rome," Begin told a political meeting. "Israelis don't burn settlements, they build and maintain them." But Sadat, on a visit to the Sudan, told a news conference in Khartoum Sunday. "We shall not agree to the presence of any Israeli soldier or civilian after a comprehensive agreement is signed."

Miner killed in Kentucky coal strike

United Press International

The United Mine Workers strike reached the end of its fifth week today with its first coalfield death and the single worst outbreak of violence since the walkout by 188,000 miners began Dec. 6. Funeral services for Mack Lewis, 65, a UAW member from Stanville, Ky., who was shot at least five times Friday near a picket station, were scheduled today at Ivel, Ky. The retired miner's death was the first of the walkout, but UMW President Arnold Miller warned it may not be the last unless agreement on a new contract is reached soon with the Bituminous Coal Operators Association. State police patrolled coal operations in two Indiana communities after a weekend outbreak of violence resulted in nearly 200 arrests and caused $1.3 million worth of damage. Indiana state police said 194 persons, believed to be UMW members, were arrested Saturday night when about 500 persons stormed the non-UAW Rockport Dock Co. at Rockport, Ind., on the Ohio River, shooting and setting off explosions that resulted in $800,000 damage. All 194 arrested were charged with criminal contempt of court for violating a restraining order. Some also were charged with disorderly conduct and about a half dozen were accused of possessing concealed weapons. Arraignments were scheduled today. In Boonville, Ind., a firebomb was believed responsible for a Saturday night blaze that caused $500,000 to two non-UMW coal-hauling truck companies. No suspects were arrested in that incident. Kentucky state police arrested and jailed a mine security guard, Ralph Anderson, 50, of Prater Creek, Ky., in Lewis' death. During the weekend, family and friends paid their last respects to Lewis. "This senseless act of violence is further evidence of the need for the coal operators to return to the bargaining table in a meaningful effort," Miller said. There were indications talks between the UMW and BCOA, which broke off Dec. 30, may resume this week in Washington. In other weekend developments:

- Federal agents in West Virginia arrested five miners, including two UMW local officers, on conspiracy charges in the dynamiting of railroad tracks heavily used for hauling coal near Bluefield, W.Va., last Tuesday night.
- New Jersey Energy Commissioner Joel R. Jacobson warned that a prolonged coal strike would affect utility stockpiles and lead to sharp reduction in the use of coal.

Gunshots heard in Vernon strike

Gunshots were reported early this morning at LaPointe Industries in Rockville where workers have been on strike since Dec. 22.

Vernon Police received a report of the shots shortly after midnight. Bullet holes were found in windows at the plant on West Main Street, a police spokesman said.

He said that the shots appeared to have been fired from a passing vehicle. There were no injuries, he said. Police also made an unrelated arrest at the plant shortly after 7 a.m. today.

Eugene A. LeDuc, 28, of 344 Jobs Hill Road, Vernon, was charged with third-degree criminal mischief, the police spokesman said. The arrest was made because a car at the site was scratched, the spokesman said. Court date is Feb. 8.

Union employees at LaPointe went on strike Dec. 22. They are seeking an 18 percent raise for the first year of a new contract and a 13 percent raise for the second year. The company offered five percent increases for both years.

LaPointe has been in business in Rockville for about 27 years. It makes air and ground communication systems, a variety of electronic components and aluminum tubing. Today's incidents were the first signs of serious violence since the strike began. The shooting is still being investigated by police and no arrests have been made.

Farmers trying to boost prices

United Press International

Striking farmers plan to buy their own grain to drive up market prices while informed sources say the Carter administration proposes to strengthen crop prices by attempting to expand foreign sales.

A congressional source in Washington said President Carter's budget proposals for the fiscal year beginning Oct. 1 will include a 44 percent boost in federal funds for overseas farm market development programs. That would amount to $6 million more than this fiscal year's federal contribution of about $13.6 million to the cooperative government-industry program.

Farm strike organizer Lon Kerr, at American Agriculture headquarters in Springfield, Colo., said farmers can buy their crops through the Chicago and Kansas City trade boards for less than the cost of production. He said many farmers decided to plow their fields under and instead purchase the grain from the markets at the going price. "Thing is, they don't have enough grain to cover the increased demand and you can bet the price is going to rise when we all demand delivery," he said. "The boards say they have a lot of new customers suddenly and are getting worried."

Kerr said the resulting demand and lack of supply will force grain prices up until they hit 100 percent parity, or the amount it costs farmers to grow the crops. "And then it will be worthwhile to grow again, instead of harvesting this paper crop," he said. "You can't even break even now when it costs you more than $5 to grow a bushel and they will only pay you $2.45 or so."

Livestock sales in southwestern Michigan could slow to a halt today if striking farmers carry out their plan to block four exchanges in the area. Farmers planned the action in anger at Gov. William Milliken's failure to meet with federal officials on farm issues.

The threatened shutdown of four livestock markets led to a drop in hog prices as producers rushed to get their animals to market.

In Texas, organizers said meetings were planned today in the lower Rio Grande Valley to spread the movement into South Texas where farmers in the vegetable-citrus growing valley have ignored the movement.

Rep. Robert Krueger, D-Texas, met with striking farmers Sunday and announced he would be willing to reconsider target prices and loan support prices contained in the 1977 farm bill.

South Carolina farmers said they would picket food warehouses and distribution centers in Columbia to keep pressure on President Carter and Congress.

Help on taxes

Don't use last year's income tax form as a guide this year. There is a whole new set of rules and the form is drastically changed.

Ray DeCrane explains the new rules in his series, "Cut Your Own Taxes and Save." The 14-part series begins today on The Herald's editorial page.

Today's news summary

HONOLULU (UPI) — A Coast Guard cutter, searching for the 69 persons who abandoned a sinking Indian freighter, plowed through rough North Pacific waters today toward the area where planes sighted an empty life raft, a partially submerged lifeboat and lifejackets.

A Coast Guard spokesman in Honolulu said the sightings were made 200 miles east of the location, from which the 627-foot Chandra Gupta broadcast its SOS on Thursday. He said the planes did not sight any survivors and could not tell whether the debris was from the missing vessel.

ROCKFORD, Ill. (UPI) — Unemployment, impending divorce, too many mouths to feed, too much liquor — the neighbors had all the answers.

Visitors Sunday were hard put to find a person who had nothing to say about charges that Simon Nelson butchered his six children and family dog.

The job placement executive, arrested in Milwaukee, was to be arraigned today on murder charges in Winnebago County Circuit Court. He could receive the death penalty if convicted.

Police Chief Delbert Peterson termed the killings "the worst mass murder in the history" of Rockford, a city of 148,000 northwest of Chicago.

WEST CHESTER, Pa. (UPI) — A Chester County prosecutor says she may again arrest a Methodist minister who had been charged with raping an elderly member of his congregation.

Assistant District Attorney Dolores Troiani said Friday night she would announce sometime today if she will refile charges against the Rev. Kenneth T. Williams, 44, of Radnor, Pa.

Williams, pastor of the Radnor United Methodist Church, was arrested Dec. 23 for the alleged Oct. 24 attack on an East Goshen Township woman. But Malvern District Justice John R. Blackburn, after hearing three hours of legal arguments at a preliminary hearing, ruled Friday night there was insufficient evidence for trial and dismissed the charges.

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (UPI) — Some 4,500 fans marked the 43rd anniversary of Elvis Presley's birth Sunday, ignoring plunging temperatures and biting winds to visit the famed entertainer's simple grave at his Graceland mansion estate.

Others attended Presley film festivals or browsed through Elvis souvenirs displayed by dozens of exhibitors. However, expected large turnouts at the shows and exhibits never materialized.

WASHINGTON (UPI) — With the administration conceding it will be difficult to pass an energy bill quickly, President Carter told world leaders he would impose his own restrictions if needed to keep the U.S. energy demand from destroying the dollar.

Energy Secretary James Schlesinger, who departs today for the Middle East, met with Carter Sunday and said afterward it would be very difficult to see final action on energy in Congress before March.

ATLANTA (UPI) — A top national Center for Disease Control virologist will gather information on the Russian flu at a World Health Organization meeting in Geneva today to help American health officials decide whether to recommend manufacture of a new vaccine against the virus.

The fast-moving Russian flu strain, the same type that caused worldwide epidemics in 1945-47, already has swept the Soviet Union and shown up in Hong Kong, Taiwan and Finland.

It has not hit the United States yet, but health officials expect it will appear either this winter and spring or next winter.

SEOUL, South Korea (UPI) — A five-member U.S. Justice Department team has arrived in Seoul to question South Korean businessman Tongsun Park, who is accused of influence buying on Capitol Hill.

Assistant Attorney General Benjamin Civiletti said his team plans to stay in Korea for two weeks. Three more officials are arriving Wednesday.

The American officials' visit was made possible by a South Korean-U.S. statement calling for Park to return to the United States to testify before criminal courts trying cases resulting from the Korean influence buying scandal.

Park, 41, a millionaire rice buyer, is under indictment in Washington on charges of conspiracy, serving as a foreign agent and bribing U.S. officials.

HARTFORD (UPI) — Morton Denerstein says he told the state gaming commission in 1976 about allegations of game-fixing at the Hartford jai al front.

But Denerstein, the gaming panel's former security chief, says apparently he's going to be the "snook" who takes the rap for not investigating the charges.

Denerstein became the center of controversy recently when state police disclosed they had discovered two tape recordings in his old desk.

A male voice on one of the tapes, which were mailed to the Hartford front in the fall of 1976, claimed players were intentionally throwing games to help professional gamblers win thousands of dollars.

HARTFORD (UPI) — As promised, Rep. Ronald A. Sarasin, R-Conn., has added his name to a growing list of Connecticut Republicans who are out to unseat incumbent Democratic Gov. Ella T. Grasso in next fall's elections.

As a hand blared and 600 supporters applauded and waved signs, the 43-year-old Beacon Falls congressman announced his candidacy Saturday at the Hartford Sheraton following a caravan from his hometown of Beacon Falls.

Sarasin, considered the frontrunner in the GOP's early gubernatorial race, immediately came out swinging at the current Democratic administration, but did not mention Mr. Grasso by name.

"We must first restore leadership in the governor's office" before economic vitality can be restored to the state, the Republican said.

The Manchester Area Conference of Churches has hired nine people to organize and expand its human service programs. The full time staff positions, operating under the title "Project Service," are being funded by the City of Hartford under a one-year CETA Title V contract.

The Emergency Food Bank and nutrition coordinator, Garry King, will operate the conference's food pantry and will expand that program to include education and counseling on nutrition, food values, and preparation and planning of menus for low income families and the elderly. Joanne Mikoliet, human needs coordinator, will be responsible for the Human Needs Fund, which provides emergency aid to people who have exhausted all other avenues of assistance.

Two staff members are establishing new programs. A Used Furniture and Clothing Bank is being organized by Joseph Blette, The Housing Authority of the Town of Manchester, recently agreed to provide storage space for that project at Mayfair Gardens. Joseph Blette, project-reentry coordinator, will establish a program to aid people returning to the community after having been in treatment or correctional institutions.

The project secretary, Lorraine Kinghorn, runs the Project Service office. Martha Stinger, project administrator, is responsible for supervision and training of the staff, and for the over-all functioning of the project.

The Project Service office is located at 1045 Main Street in the Manchester State Bank building. Please feel free to drop in, meet the staff, join in the planning and the programming. We'll be looking for you!

Good buddy is cagey

What's happened to the citizen band radio craze? It's still here. More than 12 million truckers, housewives, former First Ladies, teenagers and just average everyday drivers are presently CBers...

Two years ago, CB had the look of a go-go industry to end all go-go industries. Everybody and his buddy wanted to be good buddies, and buyers were snapping up equipment faster than manufacturers could keep retailers supplied...

And then the FCC converted a goldmine into a bonanza, or so it appeared. Accommodating the burgeoning public interest it added another 17 channels to the existing 23 allocated to the citizen band...

But it hasn't worked out quite that way. There has not been a rush to stock up on 40-channel radios. On the contrary, recognizing a good deal when they see one, CBers continued to buy the 23-channel models which suppliers discounted to clear inventories and of which they discovered they

Fewer computations in new tax forms

By Ray DeCrane (First in a Series)
Changed, simpler, complicated, error-prone.

Contradictory as they appear to be, all of those words accurately describe the new tax forms that 98 million Americans will be wrestling with this year.

The drastic redesign of the forms introduced many changes. Internal Revenue Service felt that something had to be done because of all the errors made last year.

West, a Shrine museum. Shriners began arrive Thursday, and most of them on Friday for the Saturday game.

No, we were not among the 105,000 who saw the Rose Bowl game. We did that in 1965, and chose not to struggle with that crowd; instead, we were "smelling the roses."

Those Shriners in the west throw out the red carpet treatment for their visitors; when we departed and went to the baggage checking area, we saw a red car that said Islam Temple, transportation committee; the Shriner wearing it was looking for us.

It wasn't all Shrine business; we did tour the city, and took a 10-hour bus trip to visit Monterey and Carmel, and saw Pebble Beach, the 17-mile drive, and the golf course that plays such an important part in the Bing Crosby Golf Tournament.

Next week, we'll "smell the roses."

Estrogen should help

DEAR DR. LAMB - I am 52 years of age and have been having hot flashes for two years. Rather than take estrogen I decided to tolerate them, but after two years I'm wondering if they will ever cease.

You are right about going to bed. That will just make you more tired. I'd suggest some organized group physical activity for you. Exercise is useful in helping to regain your energy and helps to combat simple "blah" depressive reactions that are commonplace in life situations.

DEAR DR. LAMB - How about a little advice to those of us who have a problem getting pregnant? My husband and I have been married for four years. I have been off the pill for over two of these years. I'm 24, and he is 28.

I have been pregnant before (another man) when I was 18. I had a legal abortion. My doctor says I am perfectly healthy and should get pregnant. The year I was off the pill, he said it would take time; now he says there is nothing wrong.

When we last saw the East-West game on Jan. 2, 1965, in old Kezar Stadium on a cold, muddy, rainy afternoon, the opposing quarterbacks will be the same ones you will see in the Super Bowl Jan. 15. Craig Morton of the Denver Broncos quarterbacked the West and Roger Staubach of the Dallas Cowboys ran the East offense.

Sunday morning, New Year's Day, we were at the airport checking in for our trip to Los Angeles. In the next line was Gregg Robinson of Dartmouth, a defensive lineman for the East. He was coming back to Bradley. We chatted briefly about the game, and talked about our own game here in the northeast.

On Aug. 12 this year, the Maple Sugar Bowl game will celebrate its 25th year, for the benefit of the "Greatest Philanthropy in the World," Shriners Hospitals for Crippled and Bared Children.

Of consumer concern

Automobile rust-proofing

Rust is the oxidation of metal due to exposure to air and moisture. The process is hastened and aggravated by corrosive substances in the air or on the highway when it is concerned with your car.

Any car can rust; however, rust is a problem that can be prevented by proper preventive measures and periodic maintenance.

In connection with this problem, the car rust-proofing business is becoming increasingly popular. As a consumer, thinking about such service, you need to evaluate for yourself whether such a process, with the cost involved, is a wise purchase.

First, any warranty you are offered should show in writing just what is being promised, such as repair of damaged areas or a refund if rust occurs.

Second, consider your own care of your new car. Is it kept in a garage? Is it washed regularly, particularly in the winter when the effects of weather conditions and road salt are particularly harmful to the metal?

What Price Children? The average family of four requires 40 percent more money than a childless couple to maintain the same standard of living. The Conference Board says the cost of meeting a child's needs increases as he or she grows up. Middle-income parents with a child under 16 require about $1,500 more than a childless couple with a similar budget.

Auxiliary to hear psychologist

Richard Goldwasser, a school psychologist for the Town of Manchester and an instructor in psychology at Manchester Community College, will be the guest speaker at the meeting of the Manchester Memorial Hospital Auxiliary Monday, Jan. 16.

The annual mid-winter meeting will be held at Concordia Lutheran Church, 40 Pitkin St. The program and demonstration will begin at 10 a.m. with coffee and registration at 9:15 a.m.

Dr. Goldwasser will discuss the use of biofeedback in treating migraine and tension headaches, hypertension and various maladjustments caused by prolonged periods of stress and tension.

A demonstration of biofeedback control will be a part of the morning's lecture.

For the past two years, Dr. Goldwasser has been conducting research and training individuals in biofeedback. He will explain how a person through his own volition can consciously control many internal processes to hear his psychologist with biofeedback; that is, immediate biological information on what is going on within the body.

This information is obtained through sensitive electronic equipment which amplifies bodily signals so that they can be heard or seen and instantly feeds this information back to the person so that control of the bodily function being monitored can be learned.

Dr. Goldwasser is a graduate of Hunter College and received his master's degree from City College of New York.

He lives in Glastonbury with his wife and daughter.

The meeting is free and open to the public. There will be a representative from the membership committee available to assist persons interested in learning more about or joining the auxiliary.

Reservations are necessary and can be made by calling Mrs. Laura Myers, 643-1864, or Mrs. Barbara Norris, 646-7166, by Wednesday, Jan. 11.

PZC has four hearings

The Manchester Planning and Zoning Commission will conduct four public hearings and may consider a couple of pending matters when it meets tonight at 7:30 in the Municipal Building Hearing Room.

Two items on tonight's agenda that might be considered are the proposed Wesley Retirement Center and a zoning regulation amendment that would limit the power of the Zoning Board of Appeals.

Both proposals have drawn strong reaction at previous public hearings. The retirement center is a 100-unit housing for the elderly project that is planned for the South United Methodist Church's Hartford Road campus. It has been opposed by some who feel that the location is not a good one and that the center is not a proper use for the church property. Supporters have said that the center could help solve the town's shortage of housing for the elderly.

The matter has been clouded by an error in the application for the project. The applicants are attempting to purchase a strip of land from the state that it had shown as part of the project site.

This change is expected to require a second public hearing on the proposal, but the PZC may discuss the matter tonight.

The proposed change to limit the powers of the ZBA would prohibit that board from granting use variances. The proposal was opposed by several attorneys and members of the ZBA who attended the public hearing on the matter.

The four public hearings scheduled for tonight's meeting are as follows:

- An application from the Unitarian Universalist Society East Church for a special exception to build a church on West Vernon Street near the Vernon town line.
- An application from Raymond Luce to permit the outside storage of motor vehicles on Shelton Road.
- An application from Harold Basser for a resubdivision on Spencer Street.
- An application from Hayden Griswold for a four-lot subdivision on Spring Street.

The PZC also is expected to elect officers tonight. The commission also will receive a draft of a proposed zoning regulation amendment that would permit carnivals or circuses for some organizations.

Such activities now are prohibited in Manchester. The proposal, however, would permit carnivals or circuses for "civic, fraternal, religious, educational, charitable or similar nonprofit organizations."

The proposal permits such organizations to hold such activities for not more than seven days in one calendar year. The ZBA would have to grant a special exception for the sponsor.

Two held after shooting

Hilda B. Wright, 45, and her husband, Willie Wright Jr., 42, both of 25 Carpenter Road, were stopped by Manchester Police Sunday morning on Hamilton Drive following a shooting incident in East Hartford.

Mrs. Wright was charged with carrying a pistol or revolver without a permit. Police said a .38 caliber revolver was found in the front floor of the car and a .22 caliber automatic revolver was found in the woman's handbag.

Wright was injured with a shotgun wound in the hand. He was taken to Manchester Memorial Hospital where he was treated for a puncture wound and discharged. He was then turned over to East Hartford police who charged him with first-degree reckless endangerment, breach of peace and threatening in connection with an incident on Burnside Avenue about 11:21 a.m. Sunday.

East Hartford Police said Thessalonía B. Prince, 48, of 61 Cannon Road East Hartford, was charged with first-degree assault, carrying a pistol without a permit, first-degree reckless endangerment and unlawful discharge of a firearm in connection with the shooting of Wright. Police said Wright had a gun but did not use it. Prince was held on $15,000 surety bond for court today.

Wright was released on $500 surety bond for court Feb. 2.

Myette wants landfill to be open on Sunday

Deputy Mayor Robert J. Myette is expected to ask the South Windsor Town Council, meeting in work session tonight, to consider the opening of the sanitary landfill on Sunday.

Many citizens have complained of inconvenience since the landfill was closed to residents on Sunday. The former council defeated a resolution to reopen the dump area by a 5-4 vote.

Numerous councilmen have said they have received calls requesting the landfill be opened at some time on Sundays. Myette said many residents have asked the proposal to be considered by the new council.

The proposal is expected to be on the Jan. 16 regular council meeting agenda.

The council is also expected to

Subdivision hearing tonight

The Coventry Planning and Zoning Commission (PZC) will continue a hearing tonight on an 18-lot subdivision proposed for Stonehouse Road and Old Eagleville Road. The applicant is Orin Miles Jr.

Another public hearing scheduled for this evening involves a permit for a barn to be constructed on the property of Norman LeBlanc on Marrow Road. A river/acquirer zone permit must be obtained before construction begins.

The commission also is expected to discuss the release of a $3,000 bond to use Coventry Development Corporation. The bond was posted until the leveled and graded land at the corporation's industrial park had been stabilized. President Jim Ladd claims this has been done and that there is no reason for the PZC to hold the bond.

Area police report

South Windsor
A 17-year-old South Windsor resident is in stable condition at Hartford Hospital following a one-car accident Sunday morning.

Frank Interlandi, 17, of 50 Palmer Drive was injured in the accident, which occurred on Sand Hill Road, police said.

Two passengers—Salvatore Gardalob, 14, also of 50 Palmer Drive, and David Hill, 17, of 65 Oakwood Drive—were treated at Manchester Memorial Hospital and released, police said.

Police said the vehicle, which was operated by Interlandi, was westbound on Sand Hill Road when the operator lost control. The vehicle struck a pole, police said.

Interlandi was charged with reckless driving. Court date is Jan. 24.

A South Windsor woman was charged with making an improper turn following a three-car accident Saturday at 7:30 p.m., police said. The accident occurred on Sullivan Avenue.

Linda Ruskak, 31, of 499 King St. was charged by police. Her court date is Jan. 20. There were no injuries, police said.

Police charged Ronald E. St. Cyr, 30, of 630 Pleasant Valley Road with disorderly conduct. The arrest was made Saturday afternoon following a dispute with a neighbor, police said. Court date is Feb. 24.

Police charged Catherine P. Reed, 51, of 515 Graham Road with following to clear after an accident Saturday at the intersection of Ayers Road and Sullivan Avenue. There were no injuries in the two-car accident, police said. Court date is Jan. 20.

Coventry council considers changing rules on drainage

The Coventry Town Council may ask the Planning and Zoning Commission (PZC) to stop requiring developers to do drainage work and road widening in the town right of way.

At a joint workshop between the two groups Thursday night, Council Chairman Jack Myette said he would ask the council whether it wants to consider such application for a subdivision requiring road improvements or to simply issue a blanket denial to such requests.

Myette contended that the town becomes liable for maintaining the road improvements after the developer has put them in and sold off the lots. As an example, he pointed to a $65,000 drainage project on Flinders Road which was recently completed.

Myette said an alternative to requiring improvements in the town right of way is to have the developer provide on-site drainage within the property. And if a road owned by the town would not be safe with an increased traffic load, the PZC could simply deny the subdivision request, he suggested.

Town Attorney Abbot Schwelb, who participated in the workshop, advised that a blanket denial of private road improvements on town roads would necessitate substantial revision of local zoning regulations. He said he was awaiting the outcome of a precedent-setting case in Killingly in which the plaintiff claims that a developer cannot be required to improve roads.

Myette speculated that if the court upholds the plaintiff, the problem in Coventry would be resolved since the PZC would no longer be able to require road work. In the past, the commission had bypassed the council on applications by receiving input directly from the town manager, Frank Connelly, who is a former town planner.

This procedure was used under the town's permit manual, which allows the council to use the manager as its designated agent. However, the issue came to light last fall when Town Planner Greg Padick obtained clarification how the commission claims council approval for road improvements.

Myette said that work on town roads was the council's responsibility before the town is made aware of the problem. But PZC Chairperson Marilyn Richardson said that the commission has mandatory deadlines to meet in making its decisions and that matters would be delayed if the council had to come to its own decision in every case.

Padick had worked out a tentative agreement with the previous council which gave the PZC permission to go ahead without council approval in cases where there was no substantial expense to the town. Myette has now asked that staff input on pertinent applications be given to the council before the Planning and Zoning Commission receives it so the council can make a recommendation to the commission.

Former Council Chairman Jesse Brainard said he saw no basic differences of opinion between the council and the commission. Both are "trying to find a basis for operations," he stated, recommending that the council verify the permit manual as possibly delegating too much authority.

The council reluctantly approved a subdivision on Talcott Hill Road recently because it was advised that court action would be taken against the town if the council disapproved. The PZC had already approved the application, which required road work, subject to the council's acceptance. Schwelb said once the PZC had given approval, there could be legal consequences to the town if the council disapproved. Padick noted that the situation may be repeated in a pending application. Isadore Case has applied for a subdivision on North River Road, and the PZC has closed the public hearing. Although road work is required, the council legality may not give input to the PZC once the hearing has been closed.

Upset by what measure

Call it an upset if you want but the Birmingham Bulls' 5-4 WHA win over the New England Whalers yesterday afternoon at the Hartford Civic Center was no fluke.

One of the descriptions of the word upset in the dictionary is "to defeat unexpectedly."

From start to finish the lowly Bulls in the standings outplayed the Whalers and as a result left the ice with their first win in seven tries against the pace-setters.

One had to remember that some teams, like the Bulls, who got off to a poor start, are improving while the chances are slim that the Whalers will get any better than their whirlwind start.

Winnipeg has gradually cut into the Whalers once comfortable first-place margin and are now only six points back and coming fast.

Four games in five days took a little out of the Whalers, especially Gordie Howe on his 46-year-old legs. Plus the fact two regulars, Rick Ley and Larry Pleau were last minute scratches due to illness.

Goalie Al Smith did not have a good game and when he was the target for the boo birds after the first period with the Bulls leading 4-1, Coach Harry Neale was irked and said so after the game.

The Bulls, resorting to sound hockey instead of rough house play which characterized their previous games, had all they could do to hold on after the Whalers came within one goal, 5-4, with 12 minutes left.

Howe's assist marked the ninth straight game in which he figured in the scoring with 14 points, half goals, to tie a season mark set earlier by Mike Rogers and Dave Keon.

14-goal scorers
Daddy during the afternoon was the fact three players notched their 14th goals, Paul Henderson and Peter Marini for the winners and Rogers for the Whalers.

The winning goal was scored by former Whaler Dale Hoganson, his first of the season just 27 seconds before the second period ended and this gave the Bulls a 5-3 edge.

Former NHL great Frank Mahovlich tallied the other Bull goal with Keon and Mike Antonovitch counting for the losers. The Keon line had three of the four scores.

The Bulls lost 10 of their first dozen games but are now 16-19-3 and headed a playoff berth.

The win was no upset.
Wednesday night the Russian Nationals face the Whalers at Hartford in an exhibition and Edmonton and Houston visit Friday and Saturday night's before the all-star game break.

End of the line
Goalie Vinnie White and shooter Aaron Buzek, representing the Manchester Youth Hockey Association, advanced in their first test in Pee Wee Division action yesterday in the Connecticut General-Little Aetna competition at the Hartford Civic Center. The Silk Towners eliminated Avon, 4-2 in play between the Whalers' period break.

Channel 3 didn't win any friends among tennis players when it decided not to hold yesterday's Grand Prix finals between Jimmy Connors and Bjorn Borg from Madison Square Garden although the station had a number of spot announcements that the station would carry the telecast.

Martina Navratilova defeated Betty Stove to win the $100,000 Women's Pro Tennis Tournament yesterday and collected $20,000. Navratilova and Billie Jean King teamed to whip Steve and Wendy Turnbull for the doubles title. Sunday's Super Bowl kickoff is listed at 8 o'clock so housewives should be alert. One sure bet is that many diners will be at either 5 o'clock - before the game - or 9 o'clock - after the game.

John Flach tallied eight points in Clark's 9-6 loss to Yale Saturday night. Clark blew an 11-point lead in the final 10 minutes.

Connors gains No. 1 spot after win against Borg

NEW YORK (UPI) — Jimmy Connors had every right to crow, shout to the world "I'm No. 1" and take to task all those who had doubted him.

But Connors has mellowed or matured a bit at 25, and when given the chance to twist the knife after his spectacular 6-4, 1-6, 6-4 triumph over Bjorn Borg Sunday in the $400,000 derby of tennis matching the top eight players in the world for five straight days. Connors routed Eddie Dibbs to open the tournament, lost a magnificent three-set thriller to Vilas, blasted Manuel Orantes and outlasted Brian Gottfried before stopping Borg.

"I played a great match against Vilas and lost," Connors said, appraising himself rather than merely bragging. "If I lost out there today, I'd still have played a great match. This is the best tennis I have ever played."

That's it, Connors wants it now. He wanted this victory, not only for the $100,000 first prize but for the deep satisfaction of being back on top.

Regardless of who is number one for the year, the week or the month, Connors, Borg, Vilas and the Masters tennis championship, he backed off.

"This tournament didn't settle anything," he said. "We're gonna have to play it again because (Guillermo) Vilas beat me, Borg beat him and I beat Borg."

After losing to Borg at Wimbledon and Vilas at the U.S. Open, Connors came back with a vengeance in the Masters — a round-robin demolition derby of tennis matching the top eight players in the world for five straight days.

Indeed they did. Connors and Vilas, playing for pride, reached new heights of tennis artistry in their three-hour duel last week. Connors and Borg renewed a great rivalry with savage desire and cracked the wit with the electricity of their performance in the final set.

"It's a good thing I had a 6-3 in the opening round," Watson said. "Otherwise, I might not have had a chance to win."

Watkins was a picture of dejection. Had he played the final hole a little closer — and made that 18-foot putt — he might have forced a playoff and had a chance for $40,000 and his first tournament win ever.

"I played as well as I could," said Watkins, who had a 71 for par 71. "I'm tickled to death to have finished second by myself but I'm disappointed I didn't win."

Watkins did get a check for $22,800, his biggest pay day in four years on the tour, and now goes down the road, along with Watson, to the $200,000 Phoenix Open, a tournament which will see such as Hale Irwin, Tom Weiskopf, Jerry Pate, Ben Crenshaw, Hubert Green and Arnold Palmer making their 1978 debuts.

For Palmer, no longer a winner but still the game's most popular player, it will be his first Phoenix start in 10 years.

Two win streaks checked at home

NEW YORK (UPI) — Cincinnati and Nevada-Las Vegas proved to be very courteous hosts Saturday night, but their guests were most rude.

The Bearcats had their 69-game winning streak at home stopped when visiting, ninth-ranked Louisville used Darrell Griffith's electrifying alley oop field goal and Rick Wilson's two free throws to grab a 78-75 victory.

Later in the evening, the UNLV Rebels lost their first game of the year against West Virginia, 78-81, seventh-ranked Indiana State handed Texas Tech a 79-63, Illinois started 10th-ranked Indiana, 65-64. Kansas edged Missouri, 71-67. Wake Forest upset Maryland, 84-75. Georgetown topped St. John's, 72-61. Providence damped Canisius, 82-72, and San Francisco coasted by St. Mary's of California, 111-87.

In Sunday action, third-ranked Arkansas trounced Houston, 64-65. 11th-ranked UCLA grabbed Washington State, 70-55, and Holy Cross nipped Army, 78-76.

Uptown New Mexico edged a shrewd game plan by CoVCh Norm Ellenberger to snap UNLV's 72-game streak. During a pair of timeouts in the waning minutes, he told his players, "Find Marvin."

The Lobos listened, finding 6-0-5 Marvin Johnson and hitting him with clutch passes down the stretch for the shocking upset. Johnson hit six shots in a row and one point in the second half and missed only one shot after halftime, to wind up with 31 points.

"When Marvin gets a hot hand, you better find a way to get him the ball," said Ellenberger.

On Saturday action, top-ranked Kentucky whipped Florida.

Wearing a wedding gown she bought in the United States, Olga Korbut, 22, the diminutive gymnast who won three gold medals and the hearts of millions at the 1972 Munich Olympics, married Leonid Borkhov, 28, the lead singer of the Soviet Union's leading pop music group Saturday night.

Confirming that she has given up performing for good, Olga said she would become a coach — something she vowed two years ago she would never do. "I dream of being an actress," she said at that time.

Bill Gray netted 13 points and Len Anderson 10 as the 76ers whipped the Bullets, 46-39. Bernie Alleyman pumped in 30 points for the Bullets.

Celts improve defense but not enough to win

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — It was the type of game Tom "Satch" Sanders used to thrive on during his playing days when the Boston Celtics were making a habit of winning NBA championships.

The Celtics, under the direction of Sanders for just the second time since he took over from Tom Heinsohn, showed the ability to run and play tenacious defense Sunday against the Philadelphia 76ers.

And even though Boston lost, 94-91, to the Atlantic Division leaders, Sanders sees some foundation on which to build.

"It's my second game and we are 0-2 with me, but I see some nice signs," said Sanders, one-time Celtics' defensive ace. "Our guys ran well today."

Sanders had to be particularly pleased after the Celtics rallied from an 18-point deficit, 53-35, with 3:12 remaining in the second period to close within one, 74-73, at the end of the third quarter.

Jo Jo White scored nine points and Curtis Rowe scored seven and the Celtics' defense held the Sixers to just 16 points in that third quarter to quiet a sellout crowd of 18,276.

But Lloyd Free scored 11 of his game-high 20 points in the fourth quarter to keep the 76ers out of danger and help them increase their lead over the New York Knicks to four games.

Philadelphia Coach Billy Cunningham watched his team blow a lead but was pleased when the 76ers fought off Boston's repeated comeback attempts.

"We just got complacent out there," Cunningham said. "We allowed them to dictate the tempo and they fell right into their routine. We were fortunate they missed some shots after they did get close."

Also contributing to the Sixers' second half success was poor foul shooting. Philadelphia finished 18-33 at the free throw line with the usually reliable Julius Erving making just 2-of-7.

Free, who averaged nearly 22 points a game against Boston last year and scored 29 points in the Sixers' only other meeting with the Celtics this year, shot 6-of-15 from the floor and is now 21-of-35 in his last three games.

Erving added 18 points for the 76ers and Doug Collins and George McGinnis chipped in with 16 apiece. Dave Cowens led Boston with 18 points and 17 rebounds and John Havlicek added 17 points.

In other NBA games, Denver defeated Chicago, 109-104. Indiana edged Los Angeles, 104-103. Washington nipped New Jersey, 99-98. Portland downed New Orleans, 122-100. Seattle trimmed Golden State, 99-91, and Milwaukee topped Kansas City, 133-123.

Nuggets, 109, Bulls, 104. Dan Issel scored 20 points and held ex-teammate Artis Gilmore to just 21 as Denver scored its sixth straight victory. David Thompson finished with a game-high 23 points, and rookie Anthony Roberts added 18.

Portland, with Lionel Hollins scoring 27 points, registered its 29th straight victory at home with an easy win over the Jazz. Maurice Lucas scored 15 of his 17 points in a third-period blitz that buried the Jazz.

Marvin Webster scored 17 points and grabbed 17 rebounds and the Sonics held off a late rally by Golden State in the final minutes for the victory. Fred Brown, with 16 points, and Jack Sikma and Dennis Johnson with 15 each backed Webster's scoring.

Rick Barry led the Warriors with 20 points and Nate Williams scored 14. Bucks, 133, Kings, 123. The Kings, under new Coach Larry Stuber, cut a 24-point deficit to eight in the final period before losing to the Bucks. Scott Wedman and John Kuester each scored 20 points for Kansas City while Brian Winters led the Bucks with 22.

lead but was pleased when the 76ers fought off Boston's repeated comeback attempts.

"We just got complacent out there," Cunningham said. "We allowed them to dictate the tempo and they fell right into their routine. We were fortunate they missed some shots after they did get close."

Also contributing to the Sixers' second half success was poor foul shooting. Philadelphia finished 18-33 at the free throw line with the usually reliable Julius Erving making just 2-of-7.

Free, who averaged nearly 22 points a game against Boston last year and scored 29 points in the Sixers' only other meeting with the Celtics this year, shot 6-of-15 from the floor and is now 21-of-35 in his last three games.

Erving added 18 points for the 76ers and Doug Collins and George McGinnis chipped in with 16 apiece. Dave Cowens led Boston with 18 points and 17 rebounds and John Havlicek added 17 points.

In other NBA games, Denver defeated Chicago, 109-104. Indiana edged Los Angeles, 104-103. Washington nipped New Jersey, 99-98. Portland downed New Orleans, 122-100. Seattle trimmed Golden State, 99-91, and Milwaukee topped Kansas City, 133-123.

Nuggets, 109, Bulls, 104. Dan Issel scored 20 points and held ex-teammate Artis Gilmore to just 21 as Denver scored its sixth straight victory. David Thompson finished with a game-high 23 points, and rookie Anthony Roberts added 18.

Portland, with Lionel Hollins scoring 27 points, registered its 29th straight victory at home with an easy win over the Jazz. Maurice Lucas scored 15 of his 17 points in a third-period blitz that buried the Jazz.

Second man arrested in illegal dump case

East Hartford police made the second arrest in connection with a large, private dump on land north of Roberts Street this Friday. Richard A. Bramande, 32, of Rocky Hill surrendered himself Friday evening at the police station where he was served a warrant charging him with operating a dump without a permit, police said. Bramande was allegedly the operator of a bulldozer kept at the site which covered more than three acres of land owned by Joseph and James Morrone of East Hartford.

East Hartford police report

Thessalonis B. Prince, 46, of 61 Cannon Road, East Hartford, was arrested Sunday before noon at 1227 Burnside Ave. and charged with first-degree assault, carrying a pistol without a permit, first-degree reckless endangerment, and unlawful discharge of a firearm. Prince allegedly shot Willie Wright Jr., 42, of 29 Carpenter Road, Manchester, in the right hand during an argument over the wife of Wright, police said. Wright was given medical care for his hand and released, police said. Wright was also charged with first-degree reckless endangerment, breach of peace, and threatening. He also had a gun but did not pull it out, police said. Prince was still being held this morning on $10,000 surety bond for appearance today in Common Pleas Court 12 in East Hartford. Wright was released on a $200 surety bond for court Feb. 2. Michael W. Glidden, 20, of 20 Oak St., South Windsor, was arrested Saturday and charged with third-degree robbery, second-degree larceny, possession of marijuana with intent to sell and possession of marijuana. The robbery charge stems from his alleged attack on a young man Thursday at 4:45 p.m. in Martin Park during which he robbed him of $800 cash, police said. He was being held on $10,000 surety bond for appearance in court in East Hartford today. Diane M. DeLise, 23, of 19 Elm St., Rockyville, was arrested Saturday at the Warehouse Foods store at 467 Main St. and charged with fourth-degree larceny (shoplifting). She was released on her promise to appear in court in East Hartford Jan. 23. Roger Edinger, 17, of 81 Whiting Road, East Hartford, was arrested Friday at 10 p.m. at East Hartford Main St. and charged with fourth-degree larceny (shoplifting) and interfering with a police officer. He allegedly threw a bottle at a car in the school lot, police said. He was released on a $200 surety bond for court in East Hartford Jan. 23. Police acknowledged receipt of a complaint from the mother of a 14-year-old East Hartford youth. The mother said her son was arrested Sunday about 3 p.m. in a brutal fashion in connection with a burglary. Police said they could not comment due to the age of the youth.

EHHS girls beat Fermi. The East Hartford High School girls varsity basketball team beat Fermi High of Enfield Friday 46-29. Roxanne Heineman was high scorer for EHHS with 12. Sue Jensen and Joann Berner both contributed 9 each. Coach Peter Buttafuoco said Heineman and Berner also played excellent defensive ball. High scorer of the game was Fermi's Diane Drouen with 16. The EHHS team next plays Windham at EHHS Tuesday at 3:30 p.m. Penney beats Windham. Penney High School's girls varsity basketball team beat Windham Friday 35-30. MaryAnn Bates was Penney's high scorer with 13. Guard Patrice Duncan added 9 more. The team had good rebounding from Renee Sharlow and Renee Lussier, said Coach Maureen Rodgers.

Second North has family atmosphere

Years of teaching Mrs. Bleezarde has taught for a total of 29 years, 26 of them in East North. She taught 11 years at South Grammar, then two at O'Brien, and the last 13 at Second North as head teacher in charge of the third grade. She is a widow with two grown daughters and she lives in South Windsor. She now has 23 students. Mrs. Judith Rivera of New Britain is in her sixth year of teaching second grade at Second North. She had taught before at the Slye School in town and in Michigan. She now has 24 students. Mrs. Edna Woodbury of Manchester has taught at Second North for eight years and had also taught in South Windsor. She has 16 students in the transitional second grade. Mrs. Jane Garrison of Columbia has taught 12 years in Second North and had also taught in South Windsor. She has 18 first graders. Mrs. Shirley Jones of Hartford has taught for 11 years. She was once called Second North's research teacher but is now called its intensive reading teacher. All the teachers have help from several teacher aides paid for with federal and state funds due to the Title I program. The school's secretary, Mrs. Anne Griffin of East Hartford, has been at Second North only two years but is one of its most vocal advocates. She notes the school had two of its graduates in the town high schools' list of its top 20 students in the 1977 graduating class. The school's custodian, Bill Roberts of Manchester, is far from neutral about Second North. "You've got a good bunch of teachers here," he said. "They take more time with the students."
