

Sadat still firm on Palestinians

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Egypt's President Anwar Sadat opened secret Middle East peace talks with President Carter Friday by serving notice he will press his demand for self-determination for the Palestinians.

Sadat and Carter exchanged brief welcoming remarks at the White House minutes after the Egyptian arrived from Morocco, then flew by helicopter to the secluded, blocked-off presidential retreat at Camp David in Maryland's Catoctin Mountains for a weekend of talks.

Egyptian sources said Sadat would urge Carter to "knock some sense into the Israelis" to get the stalled Middle East negotiations moving.

The Egyptian president, saying the talks were at a "historic, crucial crossroads," hinted at the stand he will take in his arrival remarks.

"Like you, my dear friend, we believe in human rights and respect for the dignity of man," Sadat told Carter on the cold, windy White House lawn.

"Like you, my friend, we cherish our land and sacrifice our lives to defend it against any encroachment. Like you, my friend, we believe in the inherent right of self-determination for all peoples in different parts of the globe.

The reference obviously took in Israel's refusal to allow creation of an independent Palestinian state, but Carter kept his own remarks confined to a general pledge to promote peace through mediation.

"Obviously, the first responsibility is for direct negotiations between the leaders involved in the Middle East," Carter said. "But I've committed our own country to a continuing active role in support of those negotiations. I want to recommit our nation today."

"We'll be discussing the best way to maintain and even enhance the momentum that has already been established."

Reading carefully from a prepared text, Sadat told Carter, "We are now at a historic, crucial crossroads" in the search for peace.

"Events have proven that the great idea of peace is unfortunately fragile and vulnerable. We have to remedy this situation."

Saying Egypt wants all peoples to be "free and secure within its own land," he added: "We want to create a new Middle East where all nations, including the Palestinians, live together in harmony and fraternity." "God willing," he concluded somberly, "we shall overcome."

The brief White House ceremony was unusually low key and informal — lacking even the customary honor guard — in keeping with Carter's determination to keep publicity at a minimum and quiet privacy uppermost. Only journalists and a handful of presidential aides witnessed it.

Cost increases

Effective Monday, Feb. 6, the single copy price of the Manchester Evening Herald will be 20 cents.

The price adjustment is necessary due to continued increases in newsprint and other publishing costs.

Home delivery price will remain at 90 cents per week.

Student blamed in high school fire

A 15-year-old Manchester High School student has been apprehended for starting a fire at the school Monday morning, School Superintendent James P. Kennedy said Friday afternoon.

The fire occurred in a heating unit in a hallway between the first and second period semester exams. School and fire officials had termed the fire suspicious because of the timing and because of two other fires recently at the school. Damage by the fire was limited to the heating unit, but caused evacuation of the entire school while smoke was ejected from the building.

Kennedy said that the youth was identified as the person responsible for the fire. He credited the members of the student body and the efforts of the security personnel at the high school in helping with the apprehension.

The youth will be turned over to the Manchester Police Department for appropriate action, Kennedy said.

Manchester High School Principal George Emmerling also indicated that the student will be suspended for the maximum time allowed by law and that appropriate school counseling will be provided for the youth. The maximum suspension period by state law is 10 days.

Kennedy commended the students for showing "a mature and responsible attitude" and the security personnel who helped bring about a successful resolution to the matter.

Winter Carnival set for Sunday

The annual Winter Carnival, sponsored by the Manchester's Eighth Utilities District, will take place Sunday starting at 1 p.m. at Union Pond and Annex.

Registration for all events will be conducted from 12:30 to 1 p.m. The carnival will open with the start of a cross country ski competition from Union Pond, under the auspices of the Hartford Ski Club and supervised by Edward Evans of Vernon. Awards will also be presented to winners of the poster contest.

Quota exceeded

The Manchester-Bolton branch of the American Red Cross received 192 pints of blood at a Bloodmobile held Friday at St. James School in Manchester. The total far exceeded the 160-pint goal that the Red Cross had set.

Outside today

Saturday sunny and cold. Highs in the upper-teens to mid-20s. Clear Saturday night and very cold, lows zero-to-10-above. Increasing cloudiness Sunday with high temperatures in the 20s. Probability of precipitation, near zero percent through Saturday night. Northwest winds 10 mph or less through Sunday.

1978 New England Skating Championship, will also perform. Starting at 2 p.m., there will be skating contests. John Flynn will be the director for the 6 through 10 age group; Samuel Longest for the 11 through 20 age group; Robert Froehlich, the 20 through 35 age group; and Willard Marvin, the 30 plus group.

There also will be an ice sculpture demonstration under the direction of Glenn Lamare of Manchester Community College starting at 2 p.m. in the school parking lot on North School Street.

Awards for the cross country competition will be presented at 4 p.m. by Patricia McNamara and David Mordavsky.

Judges for the events are Helen Warrington, Gordon Lassow, Nathan Agostinelli, Marilyn Froehlich and Joan Lingard.

Consolidation urged in committee leaflet

By GREG PEARSON
 Herald Reporter

The Committee for One Manchester has issued a pamphlet about consolidation, and the Eighth Utilities District also is expected to issue a brochure on the subject.

In a related development, the committee has named William Sleith to coordinate petitioning in the non-district section of Manchester.

The committee has been formed to support a consolidation move. It has organized a petitioning effort aimed at obtaining signatures from ten percent of the voters in the district and ten percent of the voters in non-district areas.

"If these numbers of signatures are obtained, a referendum question on consolidation will be placed on the ballot, probably in November."

Consolidation would combine the Eighth Utilities District and the Town of Manchester. The town and the district now have separate fire departments and also have separate responsibility for sewer service in each area.

In its petitioning drive, the Committee for One Manchester has distributed 3,000 pamphlets about consolidation. Durward Miller said. The four-page handout does not list who designed it, but Miller, co-chairman of the committee, confirmed Friday that the handout is the work of the committee.

The pamphlet says that if consolidation occurs, the district firehouse would be maintained and manned by paid staff. The district operates an all-volunteer fire department.

It says that district volunteers will be retained and efforts will be made to integrate district officers into the Town Fire Department.

The pamphlet also criticizes the district's method of taxing for sanitary sewer use.

The district levies a two-mill tax for sewers on all real and personal property. Small families pay as much as large families, the pamphlet says.

"Size of the sewer charge should be based on extent of use, not on a flat rate," it says.

The Town of Manchester's sewer rate now is based on 115 percent of the water bill. This system provides a discount for large users but it will be changed because the federal government is requiring a flat rate charge for sewer billing if a community is to qualify for future federal sewer funding.

The pamphlet also calls a two-mill tax for sanitary sewer service charged on all automobiles "grossly unfair."

Gordon Lassow, president of the district, defended the methods of taxing by the district.

"There are always inequities in any tax," he said. "Besides, a two-mill rate is much less than 115 percent of anybody's water bill," he said, comparing the district tax to the town tax.

"We're doing our best. Nobody has been dissatisfied," Lassow said of the district's tax.

Commenting on the pamphlet, Lassow said, "All the innuendos and half-truths can't convince the district to consolidate."

Lassow said that the district also plans to distribute a brochure about consolidation to present its stand.

He mentioned the five-mill tax difference between the town and the district, an item that is mentioned frequently by district officials.

District officials have spoken against consolidation and have said that the district has to vote itself out of existence, according to the Town Charter.

A referendum, which would take place under the "Home Rule Act" of the General Statutes of Connecticut, would combine the votes of the district and the rest of the town into one vote.

A press release issued Friday by the Committee for One Manchester announced the appointment of Sleith and also said that petitioning within the district "is progressing at a faster rate than was anticipated."

"This consolidation movement is coming right from the Eighth District by means of the petitioning and many district people have voiced their approval, stating the time has come to have one town and one government," the release said.

Today's news summary

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Time Inc., after only a week of secret negotiations, agreed to buy the Washington Star for $20 million, the newspaper announced Friday. Joe L. Ailbritton, a Texas businessman who purchased the evening newspaper four years ago from three controlling families, said he alone negotiated with Time executives after he was approached about a week ago and consummated the deal Thursday in New York.

HARTFORD (UPI) — A man was killed by two shotgun blasts in Hartford Friday night and police arrested a suspect a short time later.

The victim was identified as Jorge Luis Vega, about 22. He was found dead from two shotgun wounds at a York Street address at about 5:15 p.m.

Deputy Police Chief George Sicaras said Dimos Aponte, 20, who lived at the York Street address, was arrested and charged with murder.

EDMONTON, Alberta (UPI) — Canadian Forces flew a 1,600-pound lead shield to the remote Northwest Territories Friday to protect scientists from a brick-sized piece of a Soviet satellite emitting deadly radiation.

The scientists, who worked out a delicate retrieval operation for the chunk of the nuclear-powered Cosmos 954, waited for the weather to clear before a helicopter could bring the shield to the radiation site on Great Slave Lake.

HARTFORD (UPI) — The Connecticut Business and Industry Association said Friday it has taken the first step to take the Labor Department to court over its regulations governing unemployment compensation for persons who quit or get fired from their jobs.

Last session, the Legislature passed a law designed to prevent persons who quit their jobs for no reason or get fired for a good reason from collecting unemployment benefits.

HARTFORD (UPI) — The Public Utilities Control Authority Friday denied a $6.4 million rate increase sought by the Southern Connecticut Gas Co.

The authority also ruled the gas utility can keep $2.9 million in government-ordered pipeline refunds from suppliers, but must refund $1.5 million to its nearly 150,000 customers in the Bridgeport and New Haven areas.

CHICAGO (UPI) — The Chicago Daily News, one of the nation's most respected newspapers and Chicago's last metropolitan afternoon daily, announced Friday it "must contemplate" ceasing publication March 4.

ATLANTA (UPI) — The death toll from a month-long epidemic of influenza soared past the 1,100 mark Friday with the national Center for Disease Control reporting outbreaks in 37 states, the District of Columbia and New York City.

HARTFORD (UPI) — In one of the harshest decisions ever handed down in an anti-trust suit, a federal judge Friday sentenced 10 past and present corporate executives to prison terms for price-fixing in the electrical wiring industry.

U.S. District Court Judge M. Joseph Blumenfeld also levied hundreds of thousands of dollars in fines against the executives and their electrical wiring companies.

United Press International

Warm winter weather triggered a series of avalanches in the Italian and French Alps, leaving at least 10 people dead and four others missing Friday and burying roads and chalets beneath tons of snow.

In Italy, Alpine troops using probes, snowplows and rescue dogs Friday found six victims buried in their cars beneath a 40-foot high, 440-yard long snow mass that rumbled over the road between Cervinia and Valtouranche Thursday.

In Chamonix, France, four people died and two women, a man and a child were missing Friday in two separate avalanches that destroyed a score of chalets and blocked roads and railroad tracks. Two other people were injured.

Obituaries

William A. Naska — William A. Naska, 61, of 56 Higbie Drive, died Thursday at Manchester Memorial Hospital. He was the husband of Mrs. Theresa John Naska.

Mr. Naska was born in Natick, Mass., and had lived in East Hartford for the past 23 years. He was an Army veteran of World War II and was employed as a waiter at Pippies Restaurant, Hartford. He was a member of the Greek Orthodox Church of St. George, Hartford.

He is also survived by a daughter, Mrs. Sharon N. Speed of Rocky Hill; a brother and two sisters.

The funeral is Monday at 10:15 a.m. from the Newkirk and Whitney Funeral Home, 218 Burnside Ave., with a service at the Greek Orthodox Church of St. George at 11. Burial will be in Veterans Memorial Field, Hillside Cemetery.

Friends may call at the funeral home Sunday from 3 to 5 and 7 to 9 p.m. There will be a Trisunion service Sunday at 8 p.m. at the funeral home.

Mrs. Amelia Sadosky

Mrs. Amelia Sadosky, 84, of 87B Bluefield Drive died Friday at a local convalescent home. She was the widow of David Sadosky. She was born July 27, 1893 in Poland and lived in Manchester for more than 50 years. She was a member of the Zion Lutheran Church.

Eighteen years ago, she retired from Royal Typewriter in Hartford, where she had worked since 1929. There are no survivors. The funeral will be Tuesday at 11 a.m. at Watkins Funeral Home, 142 E. Center St., with the Rev. Charles Kuhl officiating.

The burial will be at East Cemetery. Friends may call at the funeral home Sunday and Monday from 2 to 4 p.m. and 7 to 9 p.m.

Memorial contributions may be made to the Zion Lutheran Church building fund.

Herald starts Sunday shopper

College trustees expand evaluation of Denison

By SUSAN VAUGHN
Herald Reporter

Because of concerns about events last semester at Manchester Community College, the executive director of the Board of Trustees of Regional Colleges of Connecticut is conducting an extensive study in the annual evaluation of MCC President Ronald H. Denison.

Dr. Searle Charles said Friday he is interviewing about 25 or 27 members of the professional staff including instructors, administrative and managerial staff, as well as student leaders to get information on the school, as well as specific opinions about the president.

The concerns expressed by Dr. Charles and the Board of Trustees who asked him for additional input in the annual evaluation stems from incidents last fall connected to the demolition of Robert Vater, MCC associate professor of music.

The demolition from his coordination position in the music department by Dr. Denison resulted in a grievance submitted in behalf of Vater by the state faculty union with the state Board of Trustees and an unfair labor practice charge filed with the state Labor Department. Vater was recently reinstated and the grievances were dropped after lengthy negotiations between the Congress of Connecticut Community Colleges (CCCC), the faculty union, and the Board of Trustees.

The Faculty Senate at MCC had also investigated the matter for several weeks and voted to support Vater and severely criticized the methods used by Denison in the demolition.

Dr. Charles said he is conducting the more intensive evaluation this year because of the events on campus and because of the concerns expressed by persons on the campus last fall.

The contracts of the presidents of each of the state's 12 community colleges are up for review and renewal every year, Charles said. The evaluation is done by the executive director each year, and a period of 60 to 90 days after the evaluation is allowed to compile more information if it is requested by the Board of Trustees. The board had asked Charles for more input.

Charles said he will present a summary of his findings to the board by Feb. 20 when they may or may not act on his recommendations. Charles would not commit himself to any more specific information. He said he still has four or five more staff members to see next week.

Dr. Denison has been under fire on other occasions during his three-year tenure as president of the largest community college in the state. Most of the other incidents also related to his dealing with personnel matters, as did previous problems when he was president of Anoka-Ramsey Community College in Coon Rapids, Minn. Denison was released from his position at the Minnesota college in 1974.

In addition to the criticism Denison has received on his handling of college affairs, several letters to the Board of Trustees expressing support of Denison, according to one faculty supporter, who chose to remain unidentified.

Denison is expected to be present for the Faculty Senate meeting Tuesday afternoon and is expected to make a statement.

Marine life church topic

Dr. Craig Schneider, a marine biologist, will use CETA (Comprehensive Employment Training Act) positions to staff the new office, which he said no longer seems practical. He suggested the use of Title II positions instead if they become available for a period of longer than 12 months.

The proposal also calls for an office to be open one day a week in Manchester to be staffed by a secretary and a lawyer from the Hartford Legal Aid office. A phone would be installed and would be answered in Hartford on the days the Manchester office is closed. The services to be offered will cover mostly civil services covering consumer problems, administrative problems, such as welfare, social security, unemployment compensation, veterans administration, food stamps, and housing problems.

To qualify for the service, persons will have to fall within certain income guidelines. St. Mary's Episcopal Church on Park Street has offered the use of space in their parish office building for the legal aid office.

Music will be provided by the Universal Winds, a quintet of teen-agers consisting of Tracy Anne Jackson on flute, Lori Kolwicz on oboe, Mark Baker on horn, Chris Inganti on clarinet, and Cathy Cook on bassoon. They are directed by Bob Richardson, who also directs the Manchester Community Summer Pops.

Town Legal Aid office backed in close vote

The Manchester Bar Association has voted to support the establishment of a legal aid office in Manchester, according to information from Alan Mason, director of Human Services to the Town Board of Directors.

The local bar association voted 9-8 to support the proposal with the provision that a member of the local bar be placed on the board of the Hartford County Legal Aid Society.

The Hartford Legal Aid Board and Mason indicated they would support a local advisory committee to assist the new legal aid office where practical, but not necessarily to oversee the new office because that might infringe on the authority of the society's board of directors.

The year-old proposal is to allocate $5,000 in Community Development funds for the legal aid office.

In other information submitted by Maso, the original proposal was to use CETA (Comprehensive Employment Training Act) positions to staff the new office, which he said no longer seems practical. He suggested the use of Title II positions instead if they become available for a period of longer than 12 months.

The proposal also calls for an office to be open one day a week in Manchester to be staffed by a secretary and a lawyer from the Hartford Legal Aid office. A phone would be installed and would be

Wholesome treats when time is short

This taste-tempting group of desserts is unique because they are filled with good nutrition and are convenient to prepare. For old-fashioned goodness, consider the spicy pear gingerbread or the golden fruit torte. For something more unusual, try the fruit and cereal version of a pizza. All three appeal to appetites of any age.

Each of the desserts makes use of a packaged food product to simplify preparation. But the canned pears and ready-to-eat cereals add a touch of convenience, too. The pears are available year-round and are ready-to-eat, right as they come from the can. Likewise, the many cereals can be kept readily available for adding versatility to dishes in an instant.

Of course, one of the best advantages of using ready-to-eat cereals in desserts is the nutritional bonus they provide. Most of these cereals are fortified with 10-25 percent of the U.S. Recommended Daily Allowance (USDA) for eight essential vitamins and iron. In addition, the bran cereals are prized as an excellent source of natural food fiber.

To complement this good record, refreshing canned Bartlett pears provide quick energy and contribute to the daily fiber intake.

PEAR PIZZA TREAT — This unique pizza is a great snack or dessert idea. It features the sweetness of canned Bartlett pears in a spicy marmalade glaze atop a refrigerated roll crust. All natural cereal is used for the topping, adding its crunchiness to the mix. Makes 9 servings.

Pear Pizza Treat
1 can (16 oz.) Bartlett pear halves
1 tablespoon cornstarch
1/2 cup orange marmalade
1/4 cup all-natural cereal*

Drain pears, reserving 1/2 cup syrup. Slice each pear half into 4 pieces. Combine cornstarch, ginger, reserved pear syrup and marmalade. Cook over medium heat, stirring constantly, until thickened and smooth. Pat crescent rolls into a 12-inch circle, turning up outer edge to form rim. Flute edges. Prick with fork. Arrange pear pieces in a single layer on dough. Spoon glaze over pears. Sprinkle with all-natural cereal and cheese. Bake at 400 degrees about 20 minutes or until crust is golden brown. Cut into wedges and serve warm. Makes 10 to 12 servings.

*Breakfast Treat. Spread remaining 4 crescent rolls with margarine or butter. Sprinkle each roll with cinnamon and 1 tablespoon all-natural cereal. Roll up and bake as directed on package.

*Kellogg's Country Morning cereal

PEAR BRAN GINGERBREAD — The old-fashioned goodness of gingerbread is given a nutritional boost by including canned pears and a fiber-rich bran cereal in the batter. Juicy canned Bartlett pears and a broiled caramel-topping are added after the cake has baked.

Pear Bran Gingerbread
1 can (16 oz.) Bartlett pear halves
1 package (14 1/4 oz.) gingerbread mix
1/2 cup shreds of wheat bran cereal*

Water
1 egg
2 tablespoons vegetable oil
1/4 cup shreds of wheat bran cereal*

1/4 cup firmly packed brown sugar
2/3 cup flaked coconut
1/4 cup margarine or butter, melted
2 tablespoons milk

Drain pears, reserving syrup. Reserve 4 halves for garnish. Dice remaining pears. Combine gingerbread mix and the 1 cup cereal. Add enough water to reserved pear syrup to measure 1 1/4 cups. Add syrup-water mixture, egg and oil to dry mixture and beat until well blended. Blend in diced pears. Four into greased and floured 9x12-inch baking pan. Bake at 350 degrees about 35 minutes or until wooden pick inserted near center comes out clean. Cut reserved pears in half, lengthwise. Arrange on gingerbread. Combine 1/4 cup cereal, brown sugar, coconut, margarine and milk. Spread topping over pears. Broil until topping is bubbly and lightly browned. Makes 9 servings.

*Kellogg's All-Bran cereal

FRUIT CRUNCH CAKE — Serve slices of this cobble-like dessert with a drizzle of cream. The spicy crumb topping is made from corn flake crumbs, chopped nuts and a cake mix. The fruit layer is filled with canned pears, pineapple and raisins.

Fruit crunch cake
2/3 cup packaged corn flake crumbs*
1/4 cup chopped nuts
1 teaspoon cinnamon
1/4 teaspoon nutmeg

1 can (20 oz.) Bartlett pear halves
1 can (8 oz.) crushed pineapple, drained
1/4 cup seedless raisins
1 package (9 oz.) white cake mix
1/3 cup margarine or butter, melted

Combine corn flake crumbs, nuts, cinnamon and nutmeg. Set aside. Drain and chop pears, reserving 1/3 cup syrup. Spread remaining 4 crescent rolls with margarine or butter. Sprinkle dry cake mix over fruit. Drizzle with reserved pear syrup. Sprinkle cereal mixture evenly over cake mix. Drizzle with margarine. Bake at 350 degrees about 50 minutes or until topping is crisp and lightly browned. Serve warm or cooled. Makes 9 servings.

Tarts and hearts for Valentine's Day — that's been the theme for many years.

February birthdays, honoring past presidents or your own guests, make great themes to get a party rolling. And moods can easily be created with colorful delicious hors d'oeuvres like Cherry Sausage Bites keeping hot in a chafing dish, Choco-Berry Creme Squares, and a "just for adults" dessert, Pink Squirrel Chocolate Tarts.

Cherry Sausage Bites
Meatballs:
1 lb. ground beef
1 lb. bulk pork sausage
1 cup quick or old-fashioned oats, uncooked
1/2 cup chopped pecans
1 egg
1 teaspoon salt

Sauce: One 21-oz. can cherry pie filling
1/2 cup dry sherry

For meatballs, combine all ingredients; mix well. Shape to form 1-inch balls. Bake in two 15x10 1/2-inch jelly roll pans in preheated hot oven (400 degrees) about 10 minutes. Drain.

For sauce, combine pie filling and sherry in large chafing dish; cook over medium heat until mixture comes to a boil. Add meatballs to cherry sauce; keep warm over very low heat to serve. Makes about 7 1/2 dozen.

Choco-Berry Creme Squares
Crust:
3 cups quick or old-fashioned oats, uncooked

1 1/4 cups semi-sweet chocolate pieces
1/2 cup butter or margarine
Strawberry Cream:
2 envelopes unflavored gelatin
1/2 cup cold water
Two 10-oz. frozen strawberries, thawed
One 7-oz. jar marshmallow creme
2 cups heavy cream, whipped

For crust, toast oats in 15x10 1/2-inch jelly roll pan in preheated moderate oven (350 degrees) about 15 minutes, stirring occasionally. Melt together chocolate pieces and butter over low heat. Combine oats and chocolate mixture; mix well. Press onto bottom of lightly oiled 12x12-inch baking pan. Chill.

For strawberry cream, soften gelatin in cold water; stir over low heat until dissolved. Gradually add strawberries to marshmallow creme, mixing on low speed of electric mixer until well-blended. Blend in dissolved gelatin. Chill about 20 minutes or until mixture is slightly thickened. Fold in whipped cream. Spoon over crust. Chill. To serve, cut into squares; garnish with additional whipped cream or chocolate curls, as desired. Makes about 16 servings.

An adult dessert with a new taste dimension that combines popular chocolate and almond flavors is Pink Squirrel Tarts.

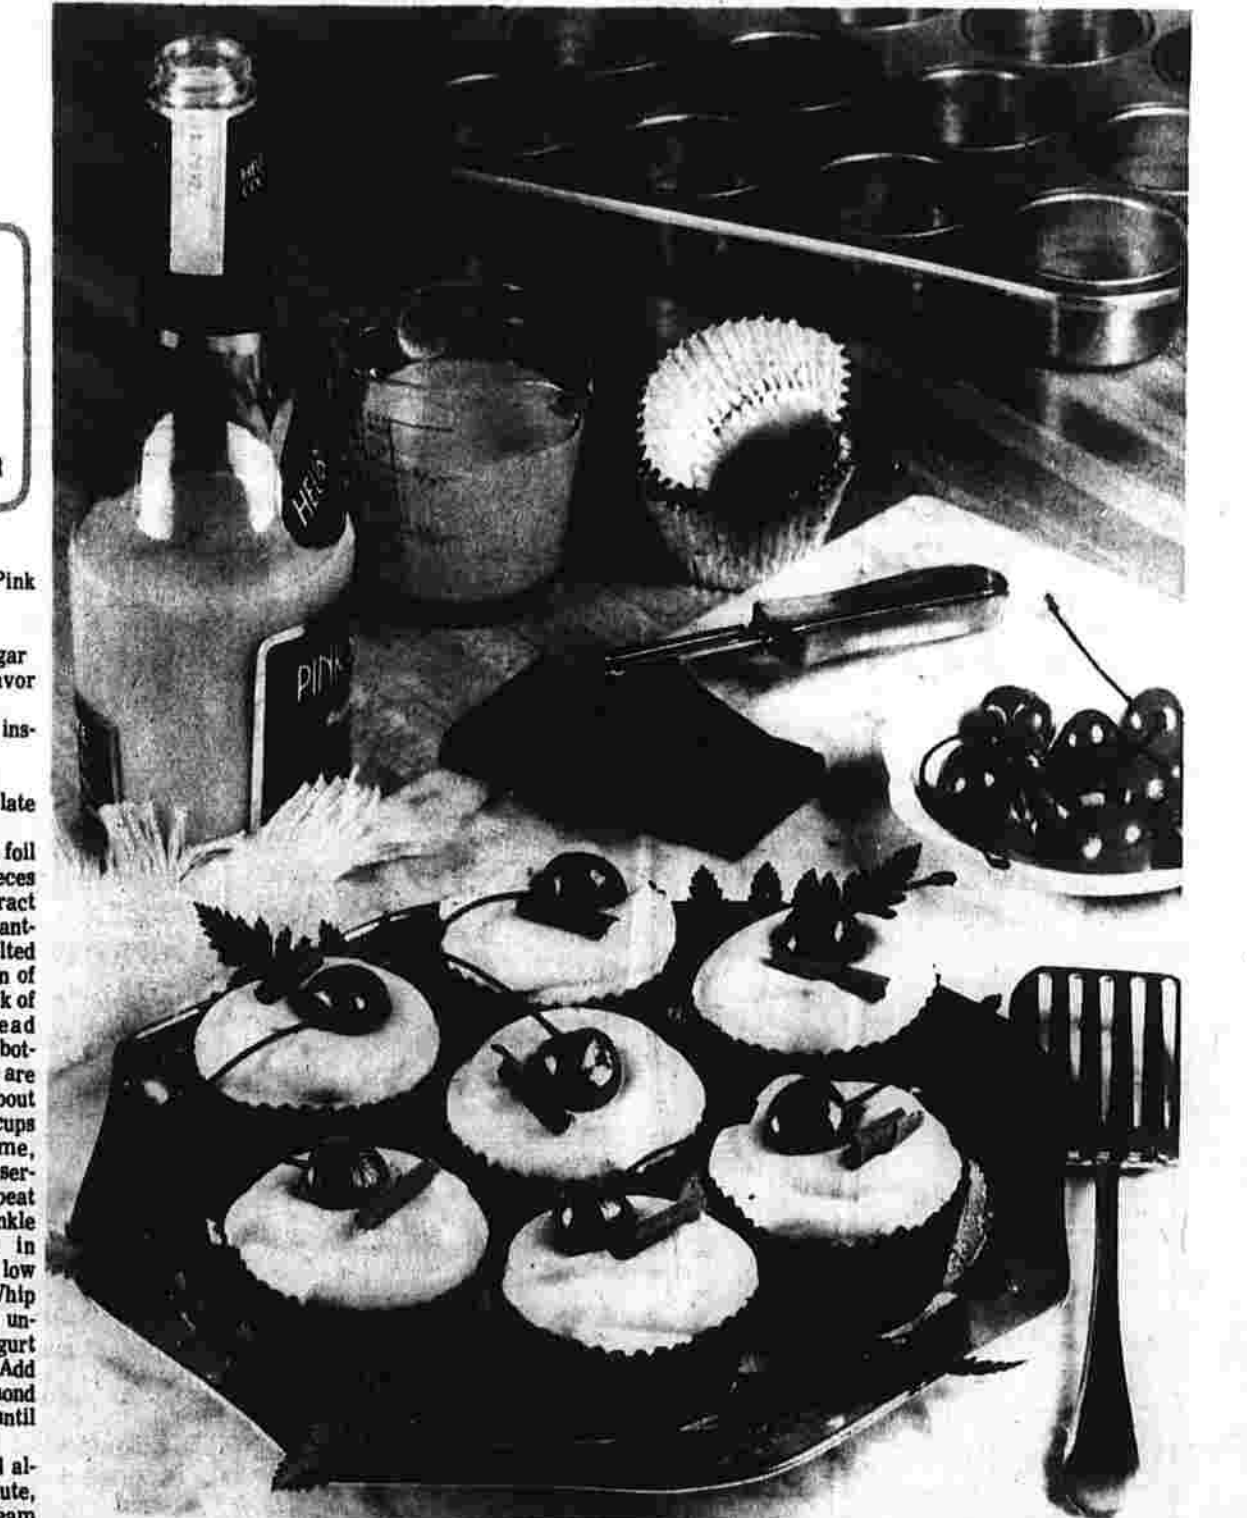

1 cup bottled, pre-mixed Pink Squirrel cocktail
1 cup whipping cream
1 tablespoon confectioners' sugar
1 1/2-oz. container vanilla-flavor yogurt

1 3/4-oz. pkg. French vanilla instant pudding mix
1/2 teaspoon almond extract
Maraschino cherries and chocolate curls for garnish

Line cups of muffin pan with foil baking cups. Melt chocolate pieces with shortening and almond extract in heavy saucepan, stirring constantly over moderate heat. Keep melted chocolate warm. Pour tablespoon of chocolate into foil cup. Using back of demitasse-size spoon, spread chocolate evenly over sides and bottom of foil. Repeat until all cups are coated. Refrigerate until firm, about 1 hour. Removing only a few cups from refrigerator at one time, carefully peel off foil. Place on serving plate and refrigerate. Repeat until all foil is removed. Sprinkle gelatin over Pink Squirrel in Saucepan. Stir constantly over low heat until dissolved; cool. Whip cream with confectioners' sugar until stiff. In a mixing bowl, beat yogurt with pudding mix until smooth. Add demitasse-size spoon of almond extract; beat 1 more minute, until smooth.

Add Pink Squirrel mixture and almond extract; beat 1 more minute, until smooth. Fold whipped cream into Pink Squirrel mixture. Spoon into chocolate cups. Refrigerate. To serve, garnish each tart with cherry and chocolate curls. Makes 12 tarts.

Pink Squirrel Tarts

Collectors' Corner

By RUSS
MacKENDRICK

This group of Connecticut fancy cancellations was selected out of Arthur Warningsley's new book because of the factors Waterbury Running Chicken at the bottom center. A cover with three of these chicks brought $45,000 at an auction a while ago.

The title of the book is "Connecticut Post Offices and Postmarks."

Warningsley is president of the Postal History Society of Connecticut and a past president of the CPS. The entire top row of the cancels and the horse at the lower left are from Waterbury. The puma's head in the circle at the top right is from Guilford and the two foxes from Hockanum. The selection is a little over-weighted on the side of Waterbury but not by much — they put out 240 of the some 550 cancellations illustrated in this volume.

Our town seems to have had just five — a "Manchester" office with 2 "V's," thin and thick — and Highland Park artwork showing three ways of making a star.

The first thing you see when you pick up the book is a charming dust-jacket photograph of an old-time post office "cage." It has the customers' boxes at the sides and a barred center window with a mail slot underneath. The photo is repeated on the title page. This treasure is the property of the author and sets the tone for what's to come.

Warningsley gives us some early history of the post office in America. New London had the very first one, by an act of Parliament in 1710. Ben Franklin was postmaster of Philadelphia in 1737 and later was appointed supervisor of posts for the entire country. He devised an odometer to go on the wheel of a stagecoach so stone markers could be set at each mile of the Post Road. Some of these "Franklin Stones" can still be seen in Lyme, Saybrook and Greenwich.

There are many anecdotes of post office doings back in the general store days, when business was transacted from a counter such as the one in the photo.

A postmaster had frequent privileges. All he had to do was write "P.M. Free" and send his letter on its way. Some P.M.s went overboard and sold subscriptions and insurance, and one even ran a lottery — all with free franks.

In 1991 a sheet of a hundred of the inverted Franklin American one-cent stamp was sold at the East Hampton office to an employee of the Summit Thread Co. At the factory they told him to take it back because there was something funny about it! (Scott No. 294, now cataloged at $4,500 each).

In the earliest days of the

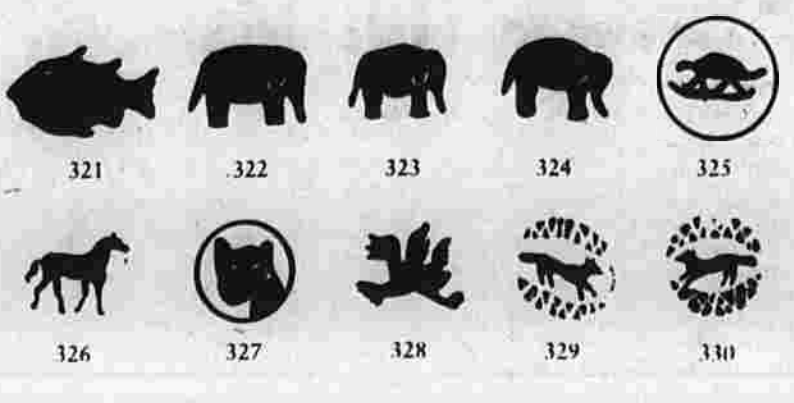

Rockville hospital notes
Admitted Thursday: Stephanie Cargill, Charter Road, Rockville; Helen Foster, Dunn Road, Coventry; Quaira Kalki, Center Road, Vernon; Robert Phillips, Lewis Circle, Rockville; Catherine Wagner, North Terrace, Rockville.
Discharged Thursday: Ailyn Bassett, Tolland; Anthony Burakas, Tolland; Linda Donnell, Ellington; Peter Dow, Westport, Rockville; Mae Green, Grove Street, Rockville; Joseph Izzo, West Center Street, Manchester; William Vredenburg, Tolland.
Birth Thursday: A daughter to Mr. and Mrs. Mujahida Kalki, Center Road, Vernon.

Post Office, cancellation had to be done by penning a large "X" across the stamp. Later, the postmasters were free to devise their own "killers" and the fun began. Some noteworthy cancellations were the Devil and Pitchfork from West Meriden, the Axe Head from Collinsville, the Boat-in-Canal from Windsor Locks, and, of course, Danbury's 11 ways of drawing a hat.

Besides identifying the special cancels, author Warningsley has given 58 pages to list the 1,000 or so past and present Connecticut post offices. There is no other coverage like this volume for the postmarks of Connecticut. The print run was a thousand copies. The book is hardbound in blue cloth, 257 pages, 7 by 10 inches. The paper is fancy enough to have a high-falutin name "Lustro Offset Enamel Dull." ($25. Postpaid, from the author at P.O. Box 213, Portland, CT 06480)

Storms deplete overtime budget

Coventry
January's snow and ice storms caused Coventry to spend $142,116 in overtime allowances from its road budget. This is almost $2,000 more than was allocated in this year's fiscal plan for overtime plowing.

But Town Manager Frank Connolly said that overtime will continue to be paid out as needed for additional storms this year since the "bottom line" for the roads account has not yet been reached.

I-84 completion breakfast topic

Plans for the completion of Interstate Highway 84 between East Hartford and Providence, R.I., will be the topic of discussion at a breakfast meeting of the East Hartford Chamber of Commerce, Tuesday at 8 a.m. at the East Hartford Ramada Inn.

Chamber officials said the completion of Interstate 84 has been a major source of traffic congestion for the Town of East Hartford for a number of years.

It has been the goal of the chamber and the town to expedite this project, specifically the mile and one-quarter stretch of highway between East Hartford and Manchester.

Governor Ella Grasso's recent announcement supporting the project paves the way for work to begin, chamber officials said.

The public is invited to the meeting. Information about tickets is available by calling the chamber office, 399-0239.

Health Systems unit will meet Wednesday

The Health Systems Agency, Subarea E, will meet Wednesday at 7:30 p.m. in the Ellington Town Hall.

Members will be asked to submit comments regarding a draft of the bylaws and operating procedures; discuss replacement of representatives from the subarea to the HSA board; and hear a project review and plan development update.

There will be a special meeting of Subarea E, Feb. 15, also at Ellington Town Hall, to elect a provider and elected official to fill interim vacancies on the HSA Board of Directors.

Participating in the program for the state Department of Transportation will be Harold F. Heintz, deputy commissioner of the Bureau of Planning and Research and John Drake, director of planning.

Budget meeting set on Bolton education

There will be an open forum on the Board of Education's proposed budget for 1978-79 Monday at 8 p.m. at Bolton Elementary School.

It is being sponsored by the school board budget committee, the Bolton High School parents group and the Bolton Elementary-Center School Parents Teacher Organization.

School Supt. Raymond Allen will present an overview of the budget. Those in attendance will be given the opportunity to speak about the budget.

This is the first time there has been an open forum on the budget sponsored by the school board.

Library purchases
The Board of Library Directors approved the purchase of a corkboard, letters for the corkboard and a wooden easel. The items will be purchased with gift money.

Special service set for Ash Wednesday

Ash Wednesday (Feb. 8) will be observed at Center Congregational Church with a service of worship at 7:30 p.m. in the church sanctuary.

The Sacred Dance Group and the Chancel Choir, with the Rev. Newell Curtis, pastor, as worship leader, will present "The Cry," a meditation of readings, music, and dance, arranged by Betty Simpson. Other dance interpretations will be "O Lord, Most Merciful" by Frankel, the spiritual "I Wonder As I Wander," "O Lamb of God" from the "Rejoice Mass," and Glorium's "O Be Joyful."

The service will conclude with celebration of the sacrament of the Lord's Supper.

The theme of "The Cry" is taken from Psalm 118, "Out of my distress I called on the Lord; the Lord answered me and set me free." It includes other selections from the Psalms, words of Jesus, and original poetry set to music.

This is Mrs. Simpson's newest composition for worship through interpretive movement. She has written several other poems and songs for choreography by Center Church's dance group.

Burnett's first big show

As the daughter of two alcoholics, Carol Burnett may not have had an ideal childhood, but as she reveals in the current issue of Redbook, she could always entertain herself. "When I was a kid," she recalls, "we lived in an apartment house on the corner of Yucca and Wilcox — a block from Hollywood Boulevard. "I used to be a closet radio performer. When I was alone, I would open the window and pretend I was a radio show and blare out at the apartments next door. I would shout, 'Welcome to our show this evening. Our guest today is... and I would make up a name. 'Would you like to sing a song for us.' "I certainly would," I would say, changing my voice. "Do you need any music?" "No I don't need any music." And then I would sing a whole song and do a commercial. "One day somebody yelled, 'Turn that damn radio off.' I was scared to death. But I was thrilled. I fooled them. I was wanting somebody to hear me. And yet be invisible."

CB Convac

Three hours of oral argument before the Federal Communications Commission about the widespread use of linear amplifiers took place toward the end of the year. The battle is between the "ham" operators and the CBers. It will be a couple of months before the FCC's decision will be handed down.
The point to it all is that the "ham" operators feel a ban on linears would infringe upon their previously granted liberties. Most CBers are opposed to linears, of which there are hundreds of thousands in operation. They are the bane of the straight CBER's existence, because they are a constant depressant and trouble source.
"Hams" work the world with their outfits. CBERs work within a limit of 150 miles. The CB band and the amateur radio band are so close that a negative ruling from the FCC on linears would have a very far-reaching effect.
There are two dockets before the Commission: 2116 which would ban the manufacture and sale of amplifiers capable of operating on the 11 meter band; and 2117 which would require FCC acceptance of amplifier for amateur radio operation.
The "hams" pleaded what appeared to be "hardship" and told the FCC that a proof of license upon purchase was all that was needed to assure the useful purpose. As a point, R.L. Drake Co. and Heath Kit stated at the hearing that their company stores were now enforcing this program on a volunteer basis.
On the other side of the coin, EIA (Electronics Industries Association), which represents about 40 CB manufacturers, said they'd accept their docket, but preferred 2116 because 2117 was just too difficult to police. As you know, both amateur and CB operate between 24 and 35 megahertz, or expressed another way, it means amateur on the 10 meter band, with CB on the 11 meter. They're close as kissin' cousins.

"Hams" have always been allowed to tinker with their rigs, while CBers have not. When the 23-channel CB units became a drug on the market as a result of the FCC ruling cutting off the sale of this type in favor of the 40 channels gear, "hams" sucked up the 23s like catfish in a dirty tank. They'd figure out how easy it was to convert them to 10 meter operation. Coupling a 23 with an amateur amplifier gave them the world to work on. That's legal.
And bear in mind that the amateurs don't like CBERs with linears any better than any CBERs. It's just that they feel a ban would deprive them of a privilege they've always had. They like the idea of providing proof with a ham license at the time of purchase as all that should be necessary for the proper method of policing. John Sodolski, vice-president of EIA, says that his association supports either docket. "We'll support overwhelmingly any proposal which looks toward banning all linear amplifiers between 24 and 35 megahertz."

The ARRL (Amateur Radio Relay League) argued that they wanted to see the problem of the black box solved but the proposals in the two dockets before the FCC would not work. ARRL represents individuals as well as manufacturers of "ham" gear. Robert Booth, counsel for ARRL, said "we'd support anything that achieved the desired effect, but the simple, inescapable fact is that the proposals will not work."
There is no question that the black box causes tremendous problems — with TV interference, with "ham" operations, with other CBERs, both mobile and fixed position. The FCC does yeoman service in its efforts to police and locate offenders. However, the problem persists. We'll let you know the decision of the Commission when it comes down.
