"Come and get your soul first!"

It was encouraging to read recently of plans to incorporate the teaching of principles of moral decision into our Junior High Schools next fall. I was gratified further to note that the curriculum chosen recognizes that there are some moral absolutes. While I recognize that moral dogmatics will not be taught, should they be, I see the need our children have for sound moral training. With increasing parental abdication of the responsibility to inculcate ethical values, our children's need for stable moral foundations is being met. This leaves them more susceptible than ever to subtle leads through peer pressures. There is a way that moral absolutes can be taught. Prov. 14:12. Our young people need to know this.

Obituaries

Edward Swain Sr.
Edward Swain Sr., 76, of 11 Anderson St. died Friday afternoon at a Manchester convalescent home. He was the husband of Mrs. Gladys Phillips Swain.
Mr. Swain was born Sept. 18, 1901 in Portadown, County Armagh, Northern Ireland, and had lived in Manchester since 1926. Before he retired in 1966, he had been employed as a machine tender at the former Case Bros. paper mills for 27 years. He had been a member of the Church of the Nazarene for more than 40 years and had formerly served on its board of trustees.
He is also survived by a son, Edward Swain Jr. of Manchester; two daughters, Mrs. Henry (Olive) Zalkowski of Manchester and Mrs. Russell (Greta) Hough of East Hartford; a brother, Samuel R. Swain of Manchester; a sister, Mrs. Martha Turkington of Manchester; six grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.
The funeral is Monday at 1 p.m. at the Church of the Nazarene. Burial will be in East Cemetery.
Friends may call at Holmes Funeral Home, 400 Main St., Sunday from 2 to 4 and 7 to 9 p.m.
The family suggests that any memorial gifts may be made to the Book of Remembrance at the Church of the Nazarene.

K-Mart shops seek to woo customers

Shop owners in the K-Mart Plaza on Spencer Street in Manchester may organize some outdoor events this spring to attract customers to the shopping area, Tom Azzara, one of the merchants, said Friday. About a half dozen owners of small shops in the plaza have banded together to help solve the problems that have been created since the roof of the K-Mart department store collapsed Jan. 18.
The K-Mart store is the largest in the center. Its temporary closing because of the roof problem has meant a loss of business for the other smaller stores.
Because of this, the shop owners have taken some steps together to seek help.
They may request a rent reduction from the plaza owner, First Fiscal Fund of New York City, and manager, C.W.K. Realty Inc., also of New York.
Azzara also said that the merchants have placed their rent payments in an escrow account. They do not plan to withhold the rent but are seeking to attract the attention of the plaza's owner and manager.
"We're simply trying to get them to talk to us," Azzara, of the Two Legs Jean Store, said.
He also said that the shop owners discussed the idea of establishing some outdoor events, such as an art show or a carnival, once the weather gets warmer. The idea was discussed with a representative of C.W.K. Realty, who seemed to agree with the idea, Azzara said.
Both Azzara and attorney Michael Bellobuono, who has been hired by the shop owners, said that they are concerned with the lack of information being provided by the plaza owner and management.
"They're not being informed of what's going on," Bellobuono said of the store owners.
"They shouldn't leave us hanging for five weeks," Azzara said.
Bellobuono said that the group is looking for "little things to help the shop owners."
He said that the plaza management might advertise to say that all the other stores are open even though K-Mart is closed temporarily. Also, signs might be placed in front of the shopping center to display this information.
Azzara said that his business has dropped off about 25 percent, less than some of the other stores.
Sue Levine, owner of Cards Etc., said that business at her store has fallen off by as much as 33 to 50 percent.
"There's no congressman or Dear Abby to help us. We have to help ourselves," Azzara said.

CRC may get wider duties

The Manchester Board of Directors will consider a proposal to increase the responsibilities of the Charter Revision Commission.
The commission was appointed three months ago to review the conflict-of-interest section of the Town Charter. It has not met, and Mayor Stephen Penny has proposed that the items it reviews be increased.
The Town Charter, for instance, says that the deputy mayor may sign bonds "in the mayor's incapacity" but not in the mayor's absence. The directors recently passed an item that permits the deputy mayor to sign bonds in the mayor's absence, which conflicts with the charter.
Also, Penny said that a provision of the proposed personnel rules for town employees also conflicts with the charter. There might be similar minor changes that should be made, and he feels that the Charter Revision Commission should be given the authority.
He is proposing that the commission be given an open opportunity to review the charter and recommend any changes that it sees as needed. Penny emphasized that he is not suggesting any major changes, such as a revision of the town's council-manager form of government.
The Board of Directors will consider the proposals to expand the commission's responsibility on this month's agenda. Any recommendations of the commission will be subject to approval by the directors and the town's voters.
The commission will be scheduled for its first meeting this month, Penny said.

Town to use part of rev share now

The Town of Manchester plans to use $300,000 of its upcoming federal revenue sharing grant to meet costs in the 1977-78 fiscal year.
The town is expected to receive $1.4 million through the federal program, which distributes money based on population, unemployment and other factors in the community.
In past years, the money usually has been appropriated for use in the next fiscal year. This year's tight budget situation, however, requires that some of the funding be used to cover present expenses.
The town has outlined a plan for the expenditure of the $1.4 million. A public hearing on the proposed spending plan will be held at the Board of Directors March 14 meeting.
The funds can be used for only certain budgetary items. The spending plan, as proposed by the town, is as follows:
• 1977-78 — Insurance, fire, liability, $180,000; employee pensioner benefits, $110,000; and Public Works Department, $50,000.
• 1978-79 — Street lighting, $200,000; Highway Department, $130,000; Sanitation Department, $120,000; Park Department, $100,000; Police Department, $140,000; capital improvements and equipment, $265,000; senior citizens, $37,500; fire district special fund, $65,000; special taxing district, parking, $2,500.

Petitioners honored

About 70 people involved in the move for consolidation attended a social event Thursday night held at the Northfield Green housing project in Manchester.
Durward Miller, co-chairman of the Committee for One Manchester, said that the event was held to honor those who participated in the circulating of petitions.
The committee recently obtained enough signatures for a referendum question on consolidation, which would combine the Eighth Utilities District and the Town of Manchester.
Miller said that the Thursday session included a recap of the events that have taken place so far and the committee's plans for the future in its move for consolidation.

All are located on Progress Drive, a road within the Manchester Industrial Park off Parker Street. Officials of the firms could not be reached for comment late Friday.

Police get LEAA grants

Three federal Law Enforcement Assistance Administration grants amounting to $268,000 have been granted by the state Justice Commission to help police communications in the Hartford region.
The awards are among more than $1 million in the LEAA grants to 31 Connecticut agencies.
The Manchester Police Department will be among the recipients of the funds. According to Deputy Police Chief Richard Sartor, the Police Department will receive about $3,000 for equipment to help complete the tie-in to a communications system among all the Hartford area police departments.
The Regional Access Frequency System (RAFTS) initially began with a connection between Manchester, Hartford and Wethersfield. The system will now be expanded to include the other area departments, Sartor said.

Foods for Lent

People/Food

Bouillabaisse Simplified

Whether one thinks of it as a soup or a fish stew, this well-seasoned dish can be one of life's great gustatory experiences. Old recipes from Marseilles call for as many as eight kinds of fish and shellfish.
This contemporary version uses relatively few ingredients and can be prepared in a fraction of the time traditional recipes require. The ground almonds, often used for flavor and thickening in European dishes, may be easily prepared in your food processor or electric blender, stop-stir-and-go fashion. The garnish of toasted sliced almonds provides new elegance, taste and texture.

- BOUILLABAISSE AMANDINE
- 1 package (1 lb.) frozen North Atlantic Cod filets, crumbled
 - 1 bottle (8 oz.) clam juice
 - 1 cup dry white wine
 - 2 tomatoes, diced (about 1 1/2 cups)
 - 1/2 cup finely chopped green onion
 - 1 medium clove garlic, minced
 - 2 teaspoon grated lemon peel
 - 1/8 teaspoon pepper
 - 1/2 teaspoon tarragon, crumbled
 - 1/2 lb. scallops, halved or quartered
 - 2 1/2 cup ground almonds (optional)
 - 1/4 cup minced parsley
 - 1/4 lb. cooked, shelled, fresh shrimp, or 1 can (4 1/2 oz.) delectable shrimp (optional)
 - Sliced natural, unblanched almonds, toasted
 - Garlic-buttered toast
- Allow fish to thaw about 1/2 hour; cut into cubes. Combine clam juice, wine, tomatoes, onion, garlic, lemon peel, pepper and tarragon in a large saucepan. Bring to boil. Add scallops and return to boil. Simmer 3 minutes. Add frozen fish cubes and ground almonds. Cook five minutes longer, or until fish is cooked. Stir in parsley and shrimp. Serve with sliced almonds spooned into each serving. Accompany with garlic toast. Makes about 2 quarts (four 2-cup servings).

Your neighbor's kitchen

By Betty Ryder

James Kerr of the Bahamas News Bureau at Coral Gables, Fla., sent along an interesting story about a man named DeVanza Burrows, known in Nassau, Bahamas, as "King Conch."
Jim writes that he is the master of conch cooking and author of more than 40 recipes for the spiral mollusk, considered a major Bahamian natural resource.
If you've been to Nassau, you're familiar with vendors selling the huge pink pearly shells for visitors to take home as souvenirs of their visit.
And unless you avoided almost all the dining places on the island, you will have tasted conch in a variety of ways such as salad, chowder, fritters.

for conch in the following recipes.
Once you've tasted conch, you may be spoiled. But, nevertheless, no other shellfish makes good Lenten dining.

- Conch salad
1 lb. conch (diced or substitute)
6 oz. tomatoes (diced)
2 oz. bell pepper (diced)
2 oz. celery (diced)
2 oz. lime juice
salt and pepper
Combine all ingredients in a bowl, mix together adding salt and pepper last.
- Conch fritters
1 lb. ground conch (or substitute)
4 oz. chopped onions
2 oz. sweet pepper
1 tsp. thyme
2 oz. chopped celery
1/4 tsp. hot pepper
1 tsp. seasoned salt
6 oz. ground tomatoes
2 lbs. self-rising flour
4 cups water
Using a large mixing bowl, mix all ingredients together except flour and water. Mix with a heavy spoon or electric mixer. Add two cups of water with 1 lb. flour and mix. Repeat by adding 2 cups water with 1 lb. flour. Mix until semi-stiff.
Heat pan with deep fat at 325 degrees. Using a teaspoon, drop mixture into hot fat. Let cook until golden brown. Serve with tomato sauce.
- Conch chowder
1 lb. conch (or substitute)
12 oz. diced potatoes
2 oz. diced celery
4 oz. diced carrots
2 oz. bell pepper
16 oz. can tomatoes
2 oz. bread crumbs
1 oz. cooking oil
4 oz. diced onions
1/2 tsp. hot pepper
1 spooned 22 & 2 Perrin sauce
1 spoon Kitchen Bouquet salt to taste
Combine ingredients in pot (except crumbs, sauce, Kitchen Bouquet and salt). Cook for 30 minutes. Stir for 2 minutes. Add crumbs and stir, low heat and let cook 30 minutes. Stir often.

He's known in Nassau as "King Conch," master of conch cooking and author of more than 40 recipes. Even though the conch shell can be put to many uses, most wind up here in the shallow waters off Nassau's Potter's Cay dock. (Photo by Jim Kerr)

Vernon interviews finalists for school post

Charles Brown, chairman of the Superintendent Screening Committee in Vernon, said eight of 11 finalists chosen to be interviewed for the position of superintendent of schools in Vernon, have been interviewed and the other three will be done March 7.
He said the committee will meet March 9 to reduce the final number to five and he hopes by mid-March the five finalists can be given to the Board of Education to make a final choice.
He said six of the final 11 are from Connecticut and the others from out-of-state.
Brown said that after advertising the position the committee received 123 inquiries but only received 35 applications.
Dr. Raymond Ramsdell, present superintendent, will be retiring at the end of this school year.
Back to the hills
The Vernon Conservation Commission has voted to write to state legislators expressing support of the Bettle Bill. The group supported the bill during the last session of the legislature but it was defeated.
At its recent meeting the commission discussed the town's Open Space Plan with Judy Chanoux, assistant town planner. Discussion will continue.
The commission also discussed a preliminary proposal for plans to develop property between Warren Avenue and the railroad right-of-way. It was not a formal application and no formal opinion was given.
The commission noted the resignation of Jane Lamb, who was elected to the Town Council, and the appointment of two new members, Dorothy Peabody and Maxine Rothe.
Hearing scheduled
The Vernon Town Council will conduct a public hearing Thursday at 7:30 p.m. in the Memorial Building on the proposed use of general revenue sharing funds.
The hearing will give townspeople an opportunity to provide the mayor and the council with written or oral comments and suggestions regarding the possible use of the funds for the next fiscal year which starts July 1.
As of Feb. 1 there was $45,266 in the town's revenue sharing trust fund. The amount of funding expected to be received for the coming year is $44,116.

Hebron board considers balancing classroom use

The Hebron Board of Education will discuss alternative plans to balance classroom use in Hebron Elementary and Gilead Hill schools at its meeting Thursday. Public attendance and input into the alternatives to be considered are being encouraged. No decision will be made until a subsequent meeting, but citizen input is being requested before the final decision for the 1978-79 school year is made.

Also on the agenda will be formulation of a committee to investigate reorganization-redistricting possibilities for a long range solution to the problem of balancing enrollments between the town schools.

Citizen names will be chosen from volunteers. Anyone willing to serve who has not already indicated his or her intent should call or write the Board Chairman, c/o The Superintendent of Schools, Gilead Hill School, Route 46, Hebron. The board particularly needs volunteers who are the primary-intermediate organization of the two schools.

The public portion of the meeting will begin at 8:30 p.m. An executive session on personnel items is scheduled for 7:30 p.m. that evening.

Vehicle tax changes add to Vernon revenue

Recent motor vehicle tax revisions will mean an additional $200,000 for the Town of Vernon, Stanley Roessler, director of administration, reported to the Town Council Monday night.

Roessler said that, historically, towns have been able to realize the full potential of the motor vehicle property tax largely because of flaws and loopholes in the enabling legislation.

The last two sessions of the General Assembly recognized the problem and took corrective action by enacting Public Acts 76-338 and 77-343, Roessler said.

He said the effect of the new legislation was to increase the yield from the motor vehicle property tax, thereby providing additional financial assistance to the towns at no cost to the state.

He said during budget deliberation last spring, the council estimated the current year's property tax levy would be increased by $200,000. He said now it is figured the town will realize $200,555 which is close to the estimate.

He said the tax collector issued 4,332 tax bills totaling $25,944 of which $164,322 had been collected as of Feb. 10. He said, "Typically, the town ultimately collects 85 percent of the motor vehicle property tax levy."

Roessler said the Department of Motor Vehicles, in an attempt to evaluate the impact of 77-343, on a statewide basis, made the assumption that each tax bill would generate on the average of $100 of property tax revenue. He said the $100 figure was arrived at by applying a hypothetical rate of 50 to the estimated average assessed valuation for vehicles of $2,000.

Roessler said this technique may be particularly useful for the more affluent towns, but it doesn't hold true in all cases, especially not in Vernon.

He said in Vernon the actual average bill for motor vehicle taxes is $54. He said the number of tax bills mailed was 4,332 while the Department of Motor Vehicles' records show 4,558 accounts for Vernon.

Roessler said the difference of 226 is due to corrections of errors and other adjustments made by the assessor to raw data furnished by the department, such as incorrect tax town. He said the department confirmed that a couple of hundred adjustments was not unreasonable.

He said the actual effect on each town is a function of the mill rate and the degree of "upgrading," the difference between the value of the new vehicle and the older vehicle which is being replaced.

"Consequently, those towns which have higher mill rates or a greater degree of upgrading will approach the $100 average, while those towns with lower mill rates or little or no upgrading, will not," Roessler said.

Scores on tests strong at Rham

Officials at Rham High School have reported a strong performance by Rham students on CTBS test scores.

The Comprehensive Test of Basic Skills (CTBS) was administered to all students in the junior and senior high units last fall. The results showed continued improvement for all students as a whole and 90 percent of all subject scores were above the national norms as well.

Forty of the 48 subject scores in the mathematics and language skill areas were above the national norm whereas eight of these subjects showed some weakness in these skills on the part of the students.

Faculty curricula study committees have been commended for their contributions to the continued development and stressing of basic skills and logical thought processes within the present curriculum. These committees will seek to study weak areas and recommend changes as needed to improve student performance.

Negligence claimed in death

Caroline and Herbert Lebel of Boston Hill Road, Andover, have filed a suit in Tolland County Superior Court seeking an unspecified amount of damages in connection with the accidental death of their son.

Jon Lebel, 14, died March 5, 1977, after the minibus he was riding was allegedly struck by a car driven by Thomas Cieslewicz, 26, of 32 Johnson Road, East Hartford.

The accident happened on Boston Hill Road. The court papers claim that Cieslewicz was negligent and that the accident was caused by "his willful, wanton, and reckless misconduct" in that he failed to operate at a reasonable speed, past safely to the left, keep a proper lookout and keep his vehicle under control, to give a signal of his approach, and to apply the brakes or otherwise try to avoid the collision.

News for senior citizens

By WALLY FORTIN

Hi there! I guess by now you have been reading all about the Senior Building Site Committee selecting the Green School as their No. 1 choice for our new center. Well, let me tell you that this committee worked hard and long before they came up with the Green School. They covered the town looking over all the possibilities, and believe me until they arrived at the school they were quite depressed. So far nothing looked like the site that had all of the ideas they felt were needed to make a nice center.

Looking at the outside of the school it didn't look very big; however, once inside we all became very impressed as to the amount of space and right away we began to visualize all the potential there was. Some of the factors we considered were that there is a fairly large parking lot and room for expansion if necessary. A large garage area for picnics and games like shuffleboard and horse shoes and other outdoor projects.

The building has a ramp entrance for handicapped persons, large classrooms, and a decent large main hall. The potential is there to make a nice cafeteria, a woodworking shop, and even a "fix-it" room to repair some small electrical appliances.

I could go on but it takes too much time; however, I think by now you have the picture and the idea as to what can be done to make the new center attractive to more of our seniors. Oh yes, and we even plan to install an elevator to enable the seniors, including the handicapped, to take a part in many of the various programs.

All this is still sort of a dream, because there are still many factors involved. So as for now it remains only our No. 1 choice. The response we are getting from people stating "it sounds like a good idea," and "we hope the seniors can have the school" is encouraging, and we naturally hope that our dream will soon become a reality. So for the time being, we hope that you'll sort of join our committee and help us backing the Green School as our new home.

At this time I want to say that I'm very proud of the Building Site Committee which took the "bull by the horns" and started some real action. This just proves that the elderly are still able to know and display the attitude that action is how things happen. They just didn't sit back.

As a result, we have made large strides toward reaching our goal. In so doing, they have impressed many and, in fact, the Commission on Aging unanimously commended our committee for its relocation study. Because of the hard work by our committees and our desire for the school, they supported our final recommendation of making Green School our top priority for our new center. Keep the faith, and say an extra prayer now and then, and we'll keep you posted from time to time to the progress of the committee.

Speaking of Thursday, the following week we will have Elaine Dyer of the Human Services Department. Elaine will be explaining all the new Dial-A-Ride system that will be starting real soon.

Variety Show: Our Variety Show is getting into second gear now and remember this will be a completely new style show. We are all working hard on this new type show and know that you'll really enjoy the show.

Tickets are on sale now and already going pretty fast, so I suggest you pick up yours real soon. By the way, we have picked up a number of items we have been asking for but could not get a few more rascals coats and an armoire. Remember, the show will be held at the Manchester High School Auditorium on Friday and Saturday, April 14 and 15.

By this way, we've a change in the time for our oil painting class on Tuesday. Starting this week, the class will start at 9:30 a.m. and end at 11:30 a.m.

Blood pressure clinic: Next Wednesday morning our members of the Manchester Public Health Nurses will be having a blood pressure clinic from 9 a.m. to 11 a.m. Mrs. Gloria Weiss, nutritionist for the Public Health Nursing Association, Inc., will be on hand with tips and health nutrition.

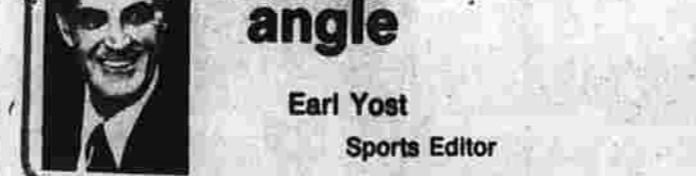

Card games: On Wednesday morning we had 40 players for our pinocle games and the lucky winners were: Mary Hill, 563; Rene Maire, 559; Cecile Benson, 558; John Phelps, 548; Bees Moorman, 551; John Derby, 546; John Gally, 539; Ann Thompson, 535; Ed Scott, 530; Marge Kaye, 523.

The engagement of Miss Nadine K. Prunk of West Hartford to Gabriel J. Cabrera of New Britain has been announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John T. Prunk of Kensington. Mr. Cabrera is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Cesar Cabrera of New Britain. The bride-elect graduated from Berlin High School and from the University of Connecticut in 1974. She is employed as a Spanish teacher at Rham High School in Hebron. The couple is planning a May 20 wedding at Holy Trinity Church in New Britain. (Loring photo)

Another first on the local sports front will take place tonight when the hockey teams from East Catholic High and Manchester High collide at the Bolton Ice Palace. Faceoff is listed at 7:40. Sunday night at the Clark Arena, the annual WILLIAMSON (Police and clergy) exhibition basketball fund-raising program is scheduled starting at 8 o'clock. Tickets will be available at the door. The New England Tennis Stars (NETS) may be back in Manchester in December for their Grand Prix finale. Manchester has been far and away the best supported community on the annual tour. Plans are now being finalized. Aspiring Little League baseball players, male and female, may sign up for tryouts Sunday afternoon from 1 to 4 at the Legion Home. Mike Numerowski will serve as president again this season. Former New England Whaler Dan Arndt has been picked up by Springfield after Hampton tossed in the lower in the American Hockey League. 20 of 26 baseball clubs not ready to fire Kuhn

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla. (UPI) — In a rare and uncharacteristic display of accord, 20 of the 26 major league owners acted in concert Friday to ask it "abundantly clear" they are not and will not be part of any insurrection to oust Bowie Kuhn as baseball commissioner.

The action came in the form of a report, but carefully couched 160-word resolution sent to Kuhn himself by all the owners or chief executive officers in both leagues except Charlie Finley of Oakland, Brad Corbett of Texas, Bob Hovans of Cincinnati, Ray Kroc of San Diego, Jerry Hoffberger of Baltimore and Bill White of the Chicago White Sox. Obviously responding to a recent report that nine owners, headed by

Providence vs. Rhode Island

PROVIDENCE, R.I. (UPI) — More than basketball bragging rights are on the line when arch-rivals Providence College and the University of Rhode Island tap off Saturday afternoon in their third meeting in a month.

The 16th-ranked Friars and Jack Kraft's up-and-coming Rams battle Saturday for the ECAC Division I New England title and an automatic trip to the NCAA tournament. The loser has a chance for an at-large bid to the playoffs.

The coaches call this rubber match "tough" and they aren't kidding. Providence, riding a 24-4 wave in its eighth consecutive 20-game season, has the nation's 10th best defense and a knack for hanging strong at tournament time. Rhode Island, 23-6 in its best year in 67 seasons of Rams' basketball, have come a long way since Kraft was lured away from tournament Villanova in 1973.

The Rams peaked at the end of the season with super team play and consistency in big situations, but the sophomore forward Sly Williams, whom Kraft calls "one of the best I've had in 17 years of coaching." The road to the ECAC finals was a squeaker for both teams in Thursday's preliminary games. Providence edged Holy Cross 71-67 on four clutch free throws from Paul Oristaglio and Bruce Campbell in the final seconds of their matchup.

Sly Williams scored the winning jump shot with 23 seconds left to give Rhode Island a 71-69 victory over Fairfield in a game that never saw a lead of more than six.

Payton after record pact

CHICAGO (UPI) — The attorney for Chicago Bears running back Walter Payton is the leading rumor in the NFL last season, said Payton may have sustained nerve damage to his right leg from an accident at a "superstars" competition.

But Attorney Bud Holmes said that will not prevent him from seeking a new contract for Payton that would top O.J. Simpson's record NFL salary. Payton suffered a severe back blow the knee in ABC's "Superstars" competition in late January. While running an obstacle course, Payton knocked a blocking sled into the air and it came down on his right leg. Sixteen stitches were needed to close the deep wound.

"He has some numbness in the leg," Holmes said Thursday. "It's probably worse than we originally thought. There could be nerve damage." Holmes hinted he may take legal action against ABC if the network does not offer to compensate Payton for appearances he was forced to cancel.

But injury to weak Payton's bargaining position with the Bears. Payton is under contract to the Bears through 1979 because of the option in his current contract. Holmes said he will ask Bears General Manager Jim Finks to give Payton more money than Buffalo is paying Simpson. Simpson's salary last year, according to reported figures obtained from a management council survey, was $33,268.

"Walter Payton is more than a football player," Holmes said. "He is a symbol of what it means to be No. 1. The Sox always seem to be overvalued with starters and other teams always seem to be crying for them." The 30-year-old said: "I've got to start looking for security. I've got to have a shot at big money soon, and I think my best shot would be as a starter."

WINTER HAVEN, Fla. (UPI) — In Ted Cox's estimation, Ted Cox's chances of making the 1978 Boston Red Sox team took a giant step in the Chain O'Lakes Park batting cage.

"The coaches are usually a non-committal bunch at this early stage of spring training. But one of the coaches praised Cox's work with the slugging stick. It wasn't just any coach, it was the best batting coach. It was 'The Splendid Splinter.'"

"I feel so fantastic about it. Ted Williams liked my hitting. Heck, while he was watching me I was just trying to make contact."

Cox grasped at this straw just like any other rookie competing against the good veterans here at camp. He was with the Pawtucket Sox last year, and played briefly with the Boston Red Sox at the end of the season. He got hits at his first seven at-bats.

Cox has the best chance of all the prospects for making the team, and it still isn't much of a chance. "But I feel if I can convince somebody like Ted Williams, then 'I've got more of a fighting chance,' he said. "The more people you can impress at a time like this the better and Williams has got to be a good one to impress."

Manager Don Zimmer said Cox hit well. "I feel so fantastic about it. Ted Williams liked my hitting. Heck, while he was watching me I was just trying to make contact."

End of the line

Cheney Tech's upset hoop decision over St. Thomas Seminary in the CIAC Tournament Thursday night marked the first tournament success for the school since the name was changed from Manchester Trade to Cheney. Hartford Gaelic Football Club has tabbed Desmond Kelly of Manchester as its "Frisman of the Year" and will be honored April 8. McGann was an all-Ireland selection in rugby. Richie Powers, veteran NBA referee, learned in a hurry that he's not bigger than the league rules.

Martin likes Yanks chances of repeat

By Billy Martin

Last year was an exciting one for the Yankees and all of baseball. I felt good about our club before last season, and although things might have looked rough at times, I knew in the end that our talent would have us on top.

Billy Martin

I feel good about the 1978 Yankees, and once again I see us taking it all. The one thing that we have to watch out for this year is complacency. Winning the World Series once should not be enough, the true champion should defend his title. We will work hard right from the beginning in spring training, and not give complacency a chance to set in.

Dog-fight seen again by Red Sox manager

By Don Zimmer

"Last year at this time I said that we would be in the pennant race right to the finish and that's what happened. I feel the same way again this year."

That regard, it will be good to have Ron Guldry in the starting rotation from the beginning of the season to go along with Don Gullett and Ed Figueroa. I can't forget Dick Tidrow, he did a great job for us last season as both a starter and a reliever. Our pitching staff takes an even deeper look when I see all the good young arms we've got in our organization. Gil Patterson, Jim Beattie, Ken Clay and Steve Taylor. They say you can never have enough pitching and I'm glad our staff has the depth that it does.

Our other off-season acquisition, Jim Spencer, will help as a pinch hitter. The team is basically set at the other positions and we should be okay if we can get equally productive years out of our players. The infield is solid with Chris Chambliss at first and Craig Nettles at third. Willie Randolph and Bucky Dent give us a super young double play combination that will be here for years to come. With a year in New York under his belt now, I'm looking for more good things from Reggie Jackson.

We're the champs now, so everyone will be gunning for us; the teams in the league have had to prove, so we'll have to work hard to repeat, but nothing ever comes easy. I'm anxious for the season to start and look forward to another championship for the Yankees.

lacked on the bases. He and Burleson ought to give us excellent defense and a good one-two batting combination. The "Rooster" (Burleson) and Hobson are batters. I don't know if they can equal their hitting last year, but even if they don't they'll be assets to the team. They can do the job defensively, too.

Our starting lineup looks as good as any in the American League. Of course you never know what surprises might come in spring training. Stanley and Butch Hobson made the team with their showings last spring. Pudge Pisk had a great year in 1977 in every phase of the game. Hopefully we will be able to give him more rest this year. He played 152 games and that's tough on a catcher. Behind him we have Bob Montgomery, who I feel is the best backup catcher in the league, and so on.

The most recent of Murphy's 61 PGA tour victories was the 1973 Bob Hope Classic.

Torrenthal rains swept through Central Florida Friday morning and the second round play was temporarily suspended at 9:30 a.m. Although the rain let up for a short time, the course had become unplayable and the round was postponed at 11:15.

Palmer, 48, shot a 65 Thursday, seven under par at the 7,012-yard Rio Pinar Country Club course, tying him for the lead with Bob Murphy and Tom Kite.

The second round was postponed until Saturday. Players who make the cut will then squeeze in both the third and fourth rounds Sunday. The cut after Saturday's round will pare down the 147-player field to the low 50 scorers and ties.

Collectors' Corner

By RUSS MACKENDRICK

These stamps should go over big in this town because Manchester is sky-high on quilts — a veritable hot-bed of quiltery. There is a quilt show scheduled for early in May that already has 48 entries. Easy access to scraps of Cheney silks in the past might have helped — there are some admirable all-velvet "Cheneys" around that will undoubtedly appear at the show.

The stamps are in a grouping of four. Each one can be used on a letter in a position to look like a diamond, the same as the Mineral Heritage stamps of 1974 (Scott Nos. 1538-41). The Quilties are a continuation of the American Folk Art Series that began last April with those excellent depictions of the Pueblo Indian Pottery.

The design of the quilt stamps shows four calico baskets placed with their handles close together. This was taken from an actual 1875 quilt now in the possession of a New York outfit called "American Hurrah Antiques." They are printed by the gravure process in gray, yellow, tan, red, brown and blue-gray.

This will give us one of those long, long plate blocks as they have a number for each color.

The first-day ceremonies will be held at Charleston, W.Va., this Wednesday, the 8th, and the stamps will probably show up in our post offices later in the week.

For cancellation collectors: If you get the stamps locally, send them on a cover for cancellation not later than March 23. Address the outer envelope to "First Day Cancellations," Postmaster, Charleston, W.Va. 24301. If you want the PO to affix the stamps, mark the outer envelope "Quilt Stamps" and send to the same address. For these, personal checks will be accepted up to a limit of 200 covers. (52 cents each — remember.)

For anyone who doesn't know, a quilt traditionally has three parts: a top with the design, some kind of stuffing for warmth, and a continuous bottom piece. What makes it a quilt is the act of stitching all the way through these three layers to make the assembly a unit. The result is something just great to sleep under — warm in winter, cool in summer.

In Colonial times fabrics were so costly that all scraps were treasured — dress-making leftovers, old clothes, anything. Hence what usually comes to mind when we speak of this type of coverlet is the random design, the hit-or-miss, or "crazy-quilt." Quilts based on more plentiful materials and careful planning appear as Roman stripes, brick wall, log cabin, or a myriad of other patterns.

And there are "album" quilts. A Manchester group contrived a design made up of 40 squares, each with a member's interpretation of her dwelling place. Creativity ran wild — a patchwork house with a shining sun, or clouds, curving driveway, shrubs, cat in front yard, owner's name in chimney smoke....

Perhaps between now and the show in May some talented person in the town might be inspired to whip together a quilt in the theme of this foursome of stamps.

Something to do

Gerry Gerath will have his usual First Sunday Stamp Bourse at the East Hartford Ramada Inn tomorrow, the 5th, from 10 to 5. Free parking, admission, and door prizes. USPS personnel and 25 dealers will be on hand to serve you.

Central Connecticut Coin Club: Regular meeting night at the KofC Hall, 138 Main St., Manchester on Tuesday, March 7, 7:30 p.m., Dros Adler, program chairman, announces that there will be a slide show furnished by the American Numismatic Society. Visitors are welcome.

CB Convac

There has been enough written about the Federal Communications Enforcement Division to have reached every CBER in the nation. It should be sufficient notice that violators of the FCC rules and regulations will be caught and fined.

In mid-October we devoted two columns to a raid staged in middle Tennessee by an FCC team. The result of the investigation of illegal broadcasting activities was the apprehension of seven CBERs using stationary units in their homes, and one mobile CBER. Three United States marshals were used by the FCC team. Carrying search warrants, they entered seven homes and confiscated the CB equipment.

The degree of prosecution had not been decided upon when our columns first appeared. That part of the story can be told now. United States District Court in Nashville was the scene, and Federal Judge L. Clure Morton handed out a $1,000 fine and the forfeit of $3,300 worth of CB equipment to the government as the penalty for illegally operating on government channels and failing to give proper call sign. Donald R. Miller, 44, pleaded guilty and was given 10 days to pay his fine.

Prosecuted by Aleta Arthur, assistant U.S. attorney, Miller said he was "not aware of the penalties, not that he was involved in illegal activity."

"Miller was using a transmitter which was equipped to operate on unauthorized frequencies," she said. "He also attached an external power amplifier to his set.

This offense makes it possible for him to have been fined $10,000 and to serve a year in prison."

Raymond Jackson has also pleaded guilty, but he has not been sentenced as of this writing. He, too, was broadcasting on unauthorized frequencies, but his case, somewhat different in charges than Miller, will heard in magistrates court. Three other cases have yet to come up before Judge Morton, and three, charged with petty offenses, will be heard by Magistrate Sandidge, another federal judge. All these offenders will lose their equipment, in total valued at between $15,000 and $20,000. All have been charged with some violations of the statutes and FCC rules and regulations.

Miller was preparing to take his "ham" operators license test, having spent nearly a year getting ready for it.

What's really sad about all this is that it is so unnecessary. The portion of the broadcast spectrum which has been authorized for citizen band by the FCC is the result of careful planning. The government and its agencies use other channels.

For instance, the control tower of your airport, and the planes flying in and out of your town, can be victims of serious interference when someone decided to use that vicious little black box to play around. It could put lives in jeopardy. Industrial radio uses different channels. These are only a few of the allocated frequencies which can be affected by the reckless CBER who will not observe the disciplines that have been established.

"Petty offense violations carry a $200, fine and $50 for each count," attorney Arthur said. "There is no jail sentence involved, and these cases are tried in magistrates court. However, in the other cases, the offense was criminal. There was no grand jury. It involved transmitting on government channels — those reserved for various federal, state and local agencies — and require arraignment in federal court."

These problems are going on throughout the United States and Canada. It's the linear amplifier at work.
