Merkle, New York National

Collectors' Corner

By RUSS MACKENDRICK

This is a baseball card showing Fred Merkle of the New York Giants (Mecca cigarettes, "BASE BALL FOLDER SERIES.") The back of the card has his record for 1910. He played first base for 16 years in the majors, but is most famed, or remembered, for not touching second in a crucial September game in 1908. He was only 19 at the time.

The score was tied with two out in the last of the ninth; Merkle was on first and teammate on third. The batter got a hit and the man on third came home. Merkle thought the game was over and headed for the dug-out without going to second. Johnny Evers, of the Tinker-to-Evers-to-Chance trio, got the ball, stepped on the base, and Merkle was out and the run nullified.

The hometown fans swarmed onto the field in wrath and disappointment; the game had to be finished on another day, and the Giants lost — and with it, the pennant.

Fred Merkle was to hear jibes of "Touch second!" to the end of his career. The season of 1910 as listed on the back of the card was a pretty good one for him, batting .292 and fielding .981, but his best year was in 1912. That year the Giants won the pennant with Merkle batting .309. He got 11 homers, which figure was bested only by Heinie Zimmerman with 14 and Wildfire Schulte with 12.

Some of the pitchers for the Giants in 1912 were Christy Mathewson, Rube Marquard, and George "Hooks" Wiltse.

Note the line just above Merkle's knees; the card is double, and if it is lifted at that line and turned up we see Hooks Wiltse, sharing the same legs with Merkle. So this card is a real gem.

Hooks had an elder brother, Snake Wiltse, who pitched for three years in the majors (1901-1903). There was still another Wiltse, name of Harold, who was a typical Red Sox pitcher in the '20s.

The costliest baseball card is that of Honus Wagner, put out in 1910 by Sweet Caporal cigarettes. It is valued at $1,500. Wagner disapproved of smoking and made the company withdraw the cards; hence only about 30 still exist.

Next to this comes the one for Eddie Plank, Gettysburg Eddie, who pitched for the Philadelphia A's from 1901 to 1917. This card was also from Sweet Cap and is valued at $1,000. The third most valuable shows Nap Lajoie, Goochy Gum, $800.

Other scarce names to look for: Grover Lowdermilk, Art Houtteman and Gil Hodges. Also there is a good price for any player on cards published by Briggs Frankfurters or George Miller Candy Company.

(Sorry about the crack re: Red Sox pitchers but am still bitter.)

Coming events

Tomorrow, at the Connecticut Holiday Inn at Meriden — the Second Sunday Stamp Show. This is the country's largest monthly show series — "Big show dealers with small show comfort." It will be held in the Main Ballroom of the Inn from 10 a.m. to 4:40 p.m. The site is just off the East Main Street Exits of the Interstate 91 and the Wilbur Cross Parkway.

Tuesday, March 14, 7 to 10 p.m. — The regular meeting of the Manchester Philatelic Society. Members are asked to bring auction material for the MANPEX, stuffing stamps for door prize envelope, and also door prize donations. This year at the MANPEX (April 22 and 23) they will have a silent auction to give the dealers a better break.

A note to stamp people with "conditions": A few weeks ago an unused Black Jack absolutely devoid of gum went for $160 at a Stow, N.Y., auction. This is nearly three times the catalog figure, which is presumably for a mint-full-gum. (Scott No. 73.)

A case for downtown

Mayor Stephen Penny Board of Directors Town of Manchester 41 Center St. Manchester, Conn. 06040

Dear Mr. Mayor: We are requesting assistance from the Board of Directors for ourselves, as well as the downtown merchants, in general. If Main Street is to survive, something other than talk must take place. Talk is all that has taken place for the last 18 years that I can remember. What is required are large sums of money to be invested in Main Street. Perhaps the town can establish a redevelopment plan and obtain federal money with low interest rates on bank loans enabling the merchants to rebuild and remodel in order to compete with the newer shopping centers rather than allowing the now structurally sound buildings to deteriorate.

Our biggest problem is money. We have been unable to obtain financing from over 38 financial institutions over the past two years. I, a resident of Manchester for 36 years, and only a small businessman, evidently undertook a project bigger than I could handle back in October of 1975 when I purchased some Main Street property that had been vacant for about five years; deteriorating to the point that the town placed the building as being unsafe. In the negotiations of November 1975 this building was a big campaign issue as it was an eyesore and there was nearly $30,000 in back taxes owed on it.

After looking at the building, and developing an idea for its use dependent upon the main entrance of the building facing onto the parking lot, I received favorable responses from most everyone — the Board of Directors, the Parking Authority, the Downtown Merchants, etc. Some of the local banks indicated there would be no problem in obtaining money from them to help in the rebuilding and remodeling necessary. One bank, sight-unseen, said I could count on them for $30,000. To date this has not materialized; not one of the banks has put forth a dime.

The Board of Directors in 1975-76 was enthused about my proposal. Immediately after purchasing the building in December 1975, we went to the Board of Directors to request an easement as the back entrance would be on town property. At that time we had 75,000 which we planned to put on the back entrance, remodel, and subdivide the back portion of the building. The Board of Directors approved and endorsed our plan. I believe, in February of 1976, we had hoped to be open by April or May.

Our original plan was to rent the back portion of the building, near the rear entranceway, first, as the portion was in relatively good condition and could be easily redone. After we had the rental income from the section, we planned to renovate the Main Street end. The two months that we were told it would take to obtain the easement turned into 14 months. It was not until April 1977 that we finally got the paper work with the go ahead.

Not being able to get the approval, as planned, we went ahead and repaired the Main Street end, and replacing the roof, and repairing the roof deck, removing the first floor completely (right down to the basement), rebuilding the beams and floor, installing a new ceiling, new wiring, and new lights, and new walls and insulation. We spent far more than $75,000. We had before opening with five stores (including Carvel's Ice Cream) in December 1976 some five months before the town finally received the OK from the town for the rear entranceway.

It was difficult enough lasting a year without any money coming in; it would have been a disaster to sit back and wait for almost a year and a half and not have any money to start to renovate, and losing the rental income for that long a period of time. We did our best to make the best of a bad situation.

We also had a lease signed for a large restaurant which was contingent upon obtaining a liquor license. Someone beat them to the liquor license by obtaining a liquor license for a restaurant within 1,000 feet of our building only a few days before "our" restaurant was scheduled for its hearing. The town then granted a variance for the liquor license which some of the "big" restaurants in town took to court and appealed.

Despite the fact that everything seems to be working against us, we have not given up. No money has come forth from the local financial institutions. I have worked hard and long to get as far as we have; but, it isn't far enough. I need the additional financing; the building is not completed; it lacks the frills; but we do have a number of stores open and have the bare necessities to make a good start and get this project really off the ground if we get the money to continue.

To compound all the other problems, now the town is demanding that the back taxes of $10,000 be paid or they are going to foreclose for the taxes. It seems strange that the building can remain vacant for five years and be an eyesore, have $30,000 in back taxes owed and have no action taken. I have taken on this project which has improved Main Street, and which will greatly enhance it when completed, and the town is threatening foreclosure over $10,000 in back taxes.

I am asking the Board of Directors for their help. I will be happy to show anyone the progress that we have made, review our plans, and even show them the photographs of the building at the time of purchase. If the foreclosure goes through, it will not benefit the town; it will probably open again for the largest empty building on Main Street and only continue to deteriorate. I would ask the Board of Directors instead to assist us, and the other area merchants, in obtaining the necessary financing to continue on and revitalize Main Street.

Sincerely yours, Kenneth C. Burkamp

Dear Abby

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I am a single, middle-aged female (no family) who is recovering from a depression of several months and I'm so grateful to be feeling good again. Life seems so breezy for some time, but with the help of a psychiatrist, prescribed medication, time and a friend, the future looks cheerful.

The reason for this letter is to let people know what they can do if a friend or loved one finds himself (or herself) in a depression.

1. Keep in constant contact. A phone call just to ask how I was kept me going.
2. Send cheery notes or cards. (Some days all I received were bills and junk mail.)
3. Encourage your depressed friend to get dressed and get out of the house. Even a walk around the block helps. Some days I left my apartment only to see my doctor or buy a TV dinner.
4. Invite the sick person out for a meal. It doesn't have to be fancy—anything will be appreciated. If your invitation is refused, perhaps just the idea of getting dressed and getting into a car that somebody can help them—they have to help themselves. I thought if one more person told me that, I would scream!

Above all, let the sick person know that you care about them. People have a hard time pulling themselves out of a depression when they feel nobody cares.

Thank God for my one concerned friend. Without her, I never would have made it.

SMILING AGAIN

DEAR SMILING: And thank you for an excellent letter.

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I have a rare coin collection. Recently we noticed that four half-dollars were missing. Their total value is more than $2000.

The only person who has been alone in our house is a 14-year-old neighbor boy who sits with our children. This boy's parents are good friends of ours and we wouldn't want to lose their friendship over this.

My husband says we should hide the collection and keep quiet about the missing coins. I say we should confront the boy's parents. I am sure the boy doesn't realize the value of the coins he took. What should we do?

STUMPED

DEAR STUMPED: Whether the boy in your letter is the impression that he took $2 in coins or $300 is beside the point. The boy himself should be confronted. Leave his parents out of it.

trumps. In order to pull all West's trumps you will have to use up all but one of your trumps. Then you start on diamonds only to find that that nasty East will refuse to take dummy's jack of diamonds with his queen.

South will have to use his last trump to get to his hand and will have to lose both his diamonds.

An ounce of precaution at trick three will keep this sad result away from South.

He should cash dummy's ace of diamonds before leading the second trump. Then he draws all West's trumps while discarding the king and jack of diamonds from dummy. Then he knocks out the queen of diamonds and wins a nice rubber.

Popular music: sounds of the people

Editor's note: This is the eighth in a series of 15 articles exploring "Popular Culture." This series was written for Courses by Newspaper, a program developed by University of California, San Diego, and funded by a grant from the National Endowment for the Humanities.

BY NAT HENTOFF

Sidney Bechet, the moon-faced soprano saxophonist from New Orleans, who was among the first to introduce African jazz to Europe, once explained why he had to play: "Me, I want to explain myself to you. I want to be understood. And the music, it can do that. The music, it's my whole story."

Bechet's credo has been at the core of American popular music from the beginning of its diversification. "Art music" or "serious music" was for the relatively few. It was predominantly shaped by European dictates, and required specialized and expensive training.

But popular music, starting with folk songs, was unabashedly homemade and invited democratic, communal participation—whether in a ballroom, a big band, or an Appalachian hollow.

And for the singer or player of this proudly indigenous music, it has always been a way of getting himself understood. Not only himself but the ways of life, the priorities, the complaints of the particular segment of the American grand that nurtured him.

In the isolated mountains and backwoods of the South, for example, transplanted and transmuted Scotch-Irish-English ballads spoke of the beginning of the stubborn independence of the people there and buttressed their sense of identity, of specialness.

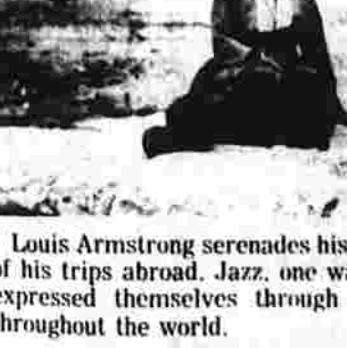

In the East, folk tunes—self-celebration—and topical songs, rustically vocalized in the taverns and hawked on the streets as "rag" broadsides, flourished during the Colonial period.

Even Puritan ministers could not eliminate the desire of settlers in the new world to explain and celebrate themselves through music. One such minister spoke bitterly in 1720 of the sounds of the common man: "Left to the mercy of every unskilled throat to chop and alter, twist and change, according to their odd Humours and Fancies, they sound like Five Hundred different tunes roared out at the same time."

Through the American centuries, similar jeremiads have been directed at various genres of popular music by clergymen, educators, and others fervently convinced that music which is not "serious" or at least "respectable" can corrode the spirit and numb the mind.

So, in the early 1920s, jazz was accused of being a direct cause of crimes of passion.

And in the early 1970s, Richard Nixon, among others, was so concerned that rock lyrics were inciting antisocial behavior—from draft resistance to marijuana consumption to profligate sex—that the Federal Communications Commission tried to censor rock recordings. Not for obscenity, which were, in any case, forbidden on the air; but for bawdy.

Louis Armstrong serenades his wife and a sphinx during one of his trips abroad. Just one way in which Americans have expressed themselves through music, has been exported throughout the world.

The rock musicians, however, were actually doing—for a much larger, nationwide audience—what Appalachian songsters, New England seamen, western wranglers, and other popular bards had been engaged in long before. They were explaining themselves through their music, and they were also forging links of communication with others who shared their priorities, hopes, fantasies, ways of wit, and ways of coping with loss.

American popular music has not, of course, always been controversial. The music of Stephen Foster, for instance, was an extension of a significant mid-19th Century development, the advent of "gentle" songs. These, as American music scholar H. Wiley Hitchcock points out, "were aimed at the home—at the typical rythms of the Hollywood and Broadway stage, the songs of the 1960s, broadly called "rock," encompassed elements of blues, country, and Hispanic music.

Rock was and is in defiant opposition to the polished, skillfully crafted music of Lorenz Hart, Oscar Hammerstein, Richard Rodgers, Harold Arden, and others who had previously set the standards for American popular song.

Often raw and pounding, rock rebelled against both the music and the values of the older generations.

In these songs, sex, while not pornographically depicted, was much more openly experienced and enjoyed. Optimism was also much tempered. Life was no longer an upwardly mobile crystal staircase in a land of unending plenty. Ecology came into popular music, as did a steady electronic indictment of unexamined materialism.

The music itself was ebullient and became a common language, a way of mutual identification, for herds of the young denouncing the herd instinct of their elders.

With the advent of radio and the movies, the nationalization of the pop song was greatly intensified.

While parts of the population held on to kept regenerating their own musical heritages—while country and western music, black sounds, and rural regional ballads—Tin Pan Alley, the Broadway stage, the Hollywood studios, and the radio networks were fashioning what most Americans now define as popular music.

These mass-production sources also shaped and reflected certain popular values. Romance overshadowed all. Rather sanitized, dream-like romance, however, by contrast with the direct, nearly palpable expression of earthly love in black music.

Optimism was another basic ingredient.

Even during the Depression, "Brother, Can You Spare a Dime?"—a parody on the national anthem—was still the land of infinite possibility where, over the rainbow, one might find a million-dollar baby in a three and ten-cent store.

A number of country players, such as Willie Nelson, are discarding string sections and complex recording techniques, opting instead for simpler songs and backgrounds for simpler sounds.

Black musicians, such as trumpeter Leo Smith, while forging ahead with avant-garde jazz, are simultaneously studying the heritage available to them from the work of Louis Armstrong and other patriarchs of jazz. And Randy Newman, among other popular balladeers, is exploring a conversational, story-telling style that picks up the way a wide range of Americans actually talk and think.

Wherever American music goes, it will continue to be created in a multiplicity of idiomatic tongues, and the best of its makers will keep on exemplifying the dictum of jazzman Charlie Parker: "Music is my own experience, your thoughts, your wisdom."

"If you don't live it, it won't come out of your horn." Or your guitar. Or your voice.

ELLINGTON — Mrs. Adeline Loetscher DeCarli, 58, of 182 Sudds Mill Road died Friday afternoon at Hartford Hospital. She was the wife of Louis B. DeCarli.

She was born in Ellington and had lived here all her life. She was a communicant of the Church of St. Luke and a member and past president of Ellington's American Legion Auxiliary. She also was a past president of the Vernon Teachers Association.

Principal changes announced

her career was the completion of the new addition at Hibbard Park School, which she said took a long time and hard work by residents of the district.
Mrs. Shensie said the highlight of her career was when she became the first principal of the new Martin School. She said the following 10 years have been the most rewarding of her education career.
Mrs. Shensie began her teaching career at Nathan Hale School in January 1945, moving to Bowers School for one year in 1963. In September 1964, she became teaching principal at South School where she worked with the parents toward the construction of Martin School. In 1966, she was director of Head Start for one year as well as being principal at South School.
The permanent transfer of Timbrell, who has been a teaching principal at Kenney School since 1968, was made for several reasons, Kennedy explained. He said Buckley School will need strong and continuous administrative leadership during the next few years because it will be receiving school for many students involved in the closing of Green School in June 1979.
Kennedy said Timbrell has a proven "track record" as an able administrator and has had experience in working with school organization that will tend itself to accommodate the IGE (Individual Guided Education) option at Buckley School. He also said the transfer is in keeping with the policy of transferring principals who have been at one school for a long period of time.
Timbrell began his teaching career at Wadwell School in 1953. He received his education from Willimantic State Teachers College and the University of Hartford.
He and his wife Doris have three children, Cindy, Becky, and David.

Crackdown planned on absent students

The new attendance efforts, announced to students by Emmerling last week, includes the hiring of two part-time persons to call parents during the evening hours to check on a student's absence that day. The callers also check on chronic absenteeism and on students who may be skipping one or two classes a day, by referring to the computer data.
The Youth Service Department has also been asked to put more time in at the high school to work with the more chronic attendance cases, Kennedy said.
Emmerling said the response from the parents and the students has been excellent.

Manned Sogus Jr., 46, of Mansfield was charged Friday with driving under the influence of alcohol.
Vernon
William Hanselman, 33, of 139 Warren Ave., Vernon, was charged Friday with disorderly conduct in connection with a domestic disturbance. He was held in lieu of a $500 surety bond.

Correction

Joseph Paquette said Friday an article in Friday's Herald misquoted him about a requested zone change on Silver Lane, East Hartford.
The Herald incorrectly quoted Paquette as saying two of the real estate brokers involved in the zone change request are Eugene Paganetti and George Hannan.
Paquette said the two men have been involved in most zone change activities in the past in Silver Lane. But he said Friday that they are not involved in this particular zone change.

Police probe holdup

Manchester Police reported an armed robbery Friday afternoon outside the A & P Food Store in the Burr Corners Shopping Plaza.
Police said that two employees were on their way to make a money deposit and had just left the store when they were held up by a white male wearing a light tan ski mask, light trousers and a dark ski jacket. The incident occurred shortly after 1 p.m., police said.
An undetermined amount of cash and checks were taken from the two employees, police said. The two told police that the assailant was carrying a handgun.
After the incident, the male got into a car that was being driven by another person.
The vehicle was later located at the Burr Corners parking lot near the shopping center. The ignition had been tampered with, and police said that the car had been stolen from the same parking lot where it was found.
Police are still investigating the matter.

No matinee

There won't be any Sunday matinee performance for Manchester High School's "Mame" as originally announced when the musical was first scheduled.
Some of the lead characters are leaving Sunday for a Washington, D.C. trip.
The play will be presented tonight, however, at 8 p.m. in Bailey Auditorium. Tickets are sold at the door.

News for senior citizens

By WALLY FORTIN

Hi! The first reminder is that tomorrow we have a double-header rehearsal for the Variety Show. This means the cast will start at 1 p.m., take a break at 5, then back to more action from 6 to 8. Everyone is reminded to bring their own goodies to munch on.

The show is moving along and still lots of hard work to be done because of the new style of the show we are going to present.

Tickets are moving at a nice pace and we expect a full house for the two nights we will perform, and suggest that you purchase your tickets real soon.

The show is scheduled for April 14 and 15, and the way time is flying by, it isn't that far away.

Busy Thursday Some big news is that this coming Thursday is going to be one very busy day and night. We start off with our ceramics and social dancing classes in the morning. Then for our noon meal we will be serving that favorite O'connor beef and cabbage Irish style.

In the afternoon, we will have Elaine Dyer from the Human Services Department aboard to explain to you folks all about the new town sponsored Dial-A-Ride program. This will be a very informative presentation and one that effects a large number of folks who must rely on transportation. So we hope you'll try to make it to this meeting so you'll be aware of the new system.

By the way, once this Dial-A-Ride goes into effect, our Mini-Bus will drop some of its pickups. The bus was purchased for the purpose of picking up seniors who are not on our regular large bus route.

bring them to the center to participate in our programs. While waiting for this transportation system to begin, we extend our use of the car to help you folks to go to the doctors, hairdresser, etc. Now that Dial-A-Ride is about to start, you'll have to use the new system for your pickups.

New in the evening it is going to be our big St. Patrick's Dance from 7:30 p.m. to 10:30 p.m. Tickets will be limited at the door so maybe you'd better pick your ticket up soon to be sure of getting in.

Tax assistance Another bit of important information is to remind you that every Tuesday afternoon from 1 to 4 we have men available to help you with your income tax. Just drop by and the men keep things moving so there isn't too long a wait.

Another reminder is that on Tuesday, March 21, is the super big Health Fair at the Manchester High School Cafeteria. Our Senior Bus will be making the rounds starting at 1 p.m. from our center to take you to the fair and will wait for you. This means that our bus will also go shopping in the morning but will pick up at noon sharp for the return home.

At the fair, which will start at 2 p.m., Mayor Stephen Penny will introduce Gov. Ella Grasso. While at the fair, you can get free screening for such things as glaucoma, blood pressure, oral cancer and soft tissue screening, lead testing, Sickle Cell anemia, heart disease, hearing and diabetes.

There will be a large number of informative booths there and it will be a great opportunity to visit. The fair will end around seven o'clock.

Now for some of the news on the action here at the center. First of all, we extend our sincere thanks to our good friend Marge Reed for all her hard work over the past few years in helping get our bridge games started and just lately had to drop out for a while because of many other commitments.

Howling Our Tuesday afternoon Senior Bowling League was busy knocking over the hardwood at the Parkade Lanes with the following results:

Veal Casserole is a favorite at the home of Richard and Carol Bolin at 80 Carpenter Road. Carol has been membership chairman for the MHA for two years, was secretary of the Gilt Shop board, and a volunteer in other auxiliary activities.

She served as vice president of the Buckley School PTA and also served as its treasurer and fair chairman. Presently she is co-chairman of the Fair Boutique.

Her husband is employed at Aetna Insurance Co. The couple has two children, Stacey, 13, and Bret, 9.

For membership information in the MHA call the Director of Volunteers at 646-1222, Ext. 333. In the next few weeks, I'll pass along some of the other recipes the board members sent in. You'll just love them, I know.

News for senior citizens

From Page 3-B first it might sound like lots of dollars, but in the long run, I'm sure the final and complete work done will prove most satisfactory. At least we will be able to receive just about all the funds under the Community Block Grant.

Wings of morning

By CLIFF SIMPSON. "Think of that!" A writer tells of his experience on a cold, windy March morning. He stopped at an apple stand kept by a roving attendant and complained about the weather - how cold it was, how much snow was still on the ground how miserable it had been the last few weeks.

Remember to forget

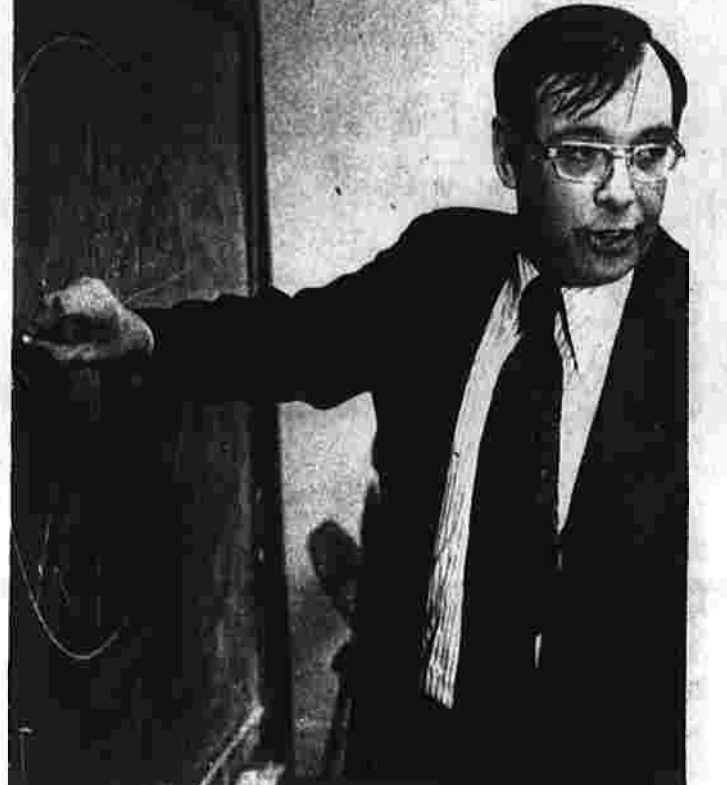

I can hear some of my older friends saying "That's ridiculous. I forget too easily now. Why should I work at it, and what has it to do with Lent?" But I am not talking about forgetting in general, rather forgetting particular things: our failures, our sins, our tragedies, our mistakes.

Forgiving and forgiving

There are two sides to forgiveness. First, we need to accept God's forgiveness so completely that we can "forget it." This is not done lightly, for restitution should be made where it is possible to do so.

Wagner recording

DARMSTADT, West Germany (UPI) - A recording was made recently of Richard Wagner's only work in ecclesiastical music, "Das Liebesmahl der Apostel," dating to 1843.

Robert West of Cedar Ridge Drive, Glastonbury, explains the meaning of the Christian observances from Lent through the Pentecost to third grade Church School students at St. Mary's Episcopal Church. His wife, the Rev. Barbara West, is assistant to the rector at St. Mary's. (Herald photo by Pinto)

Spring around corner?

MIAMI (UPI) — Rookie Ed Fiori's two-shot lead in the $200,000 Doral Eastern Open golf tournament held up Friday as the second half of the field completed the rain-interrupted first round in gusty winds.

PGA

The winds, gusting over 30 miles per hour, held scores up just as the wet conditions Thursday helped many of the pros who finished their rounds before the rain finally halted play halfway through the round.

Massey, Martin snare LPGA lead

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Debbie Massey of Bethlehem, Pa., and Kathy Martin of Thousand Oaks, Calif., each shot one-under par 71 Friday to take the lead among early second-round finishers in the $100,000 Sunstar Classic LPGA tournament.

DEBBIE MASSEY, who started the day with a two-shot lead after an opening round of 78 Thursday, teed off late in the morning.

Seminoles face big challenge in top-ranked Kentucky five

NEW YORK (UPI) — Florida State Coach Hugh Durham believes his 23-5 Seminoles have been underrated most of the season and deserved a higher position in the final basketball rankings. He has an opportunity to prove it Saturday against No. 1 Kentucky, the national champion, in the NCAA post-season playoffs.

UPI cites Sutton as coach of year

NEW YORK (UPI) — Eddie Sutton, who led the University of Arkansas to its winningest season this year, was named Friday as United Press International's college basketball Coach of the Year.

Sutton, who guided the Razorbacks to a 28-3 record and a berth in the NCAA tournament, won in a close nationwide balloting of sports editors and broadcasters. The 42-year-old coach received 31 of the 171 votes cast.

Hank Raymond of Marquette broke 70, but an even dozen golfers who managed to get their rounds in Thursday shot 69 or better. That kept Fiori's two-shot lead at 7-under-par 65 intact. Tied for second place at 67 were rookie Lee Miles, Gibby Gilbert, Tom Weiskopf, John Mahaffey and Bill Kratzert.

After the rain Thursday, PGA officials decided to complete the round Friday, play the second round Saturday and finish up with 36 holes Sunday.

MIAMI (UPI) — Eddie Fiori said despite the advantage the wind gave him Friday, he had been hoping they could get the entire round in Thursday.

NCAA tournament

Raymond. "I'm not looking ahead. In order to play another game, we've got to win this one first. "I must say I'm disappointed to be placed in the Midwest region along with No. 1 ranked Kentucky and Michigan State. When we played No. 1 ranked Indiana two years ago at Dayton, we were told top ranked teams would not be matched against each other in a regional, but it has happened again."

Greenwood came on the UCLA scene after Wooden's departure and now has his last fling at wearing a championship ring. "It's a dedication of mine," says Greenwood. "I certainly don't want to be remembered as David Greenwood, the guy who didn't play on an NCAA championship team at UCLA."

North Carolina's all-American guard Phil Ford figures San Francisco will try to promote a shootout in the game against the controlled Tar Heel game, but Coach Dean Smith feels differently. "San Francisco is not a run-and-gun team," says Smith. "They have some exceptionally fine shooters, but on balance they play a pretty controlled game."

Ertel important cog in Cheney's success

There almost wasn't a 1977-78 basketball season for Coach Tech's Bernie Ertel. He had what was diagnosed as a hernia. He wasn't going to play. But right before one of the final scrimmages, the 6-foot-3 senior appeared with doctor's permission.

Ertel in the middle was an important factor for the Beavers. How well they would have done without him all year, Blanchard is unsure.

Doyle finds self looking for work

BOSTON (UPI) — Haywood Sullivan ignored his phone calls during the winter; now the rest of the American League is pretending it doesn't know Denny Doyle's number.

Because of his hefty contract, the Boston Red Sox' regular season baseman since June 1975 is the unwanted man. Snubbed in training camp, Doyle knows his future is not with the Red Sox, who acquired second baseman Jerry Remy and Jack Brobauer last season. All three are left-handed batters.

Pick level

BOSTON (UPI) — All six schools in the Yankee Conference voted unanimously Friday to compete in the newly formed IAA in intercollegiate football beginning this fall.

Eagles better than expected

Expectations for success for East Catholic High in basketball in 1977-78 were not very high. Without any returning starters for the previous year, the Eagles were expected to find more failure than success.

Ask Kleiner

By Dick Kleiner

DEAR DICK: Is Carol Burnett ill? She looks it. And, also, she is not now wearing her wedding ring. Do you know why? VALERIE MARTIN, Victoria, B.C., Can.

Carol is fine. She prides herself on the fact that she has never missed a show or a rehearsal since her program went on the air. She doesn't look as well as she did because she lost so much weight, but she claims she feels better than ever. As for her wedding ring, I'm told she takes it off from time to time, to do some of the sketches where it would be inappropriate for her to be wearing a wedding ring. But she and her producer, Joe Hamilton, are still happily married — in fact, he gave her a gaudy diamond for Christmas.

DEAR DICK: Settle a bet. In what movie did Doris Day sing "Que Seda, Seda," or "Whatever Will Be, Will Be." Was it "Don't Eat the Daisies," with David Nivens, or in another with Jimmy Stewart, where they are overseas. MATILDA BALDWIN, Kent, Wash.

It was in "The Man Who Knew Too Much," a great Hitchcock film from 1956 — I presume that's the one you mean when you say "where they are overseas." It is "Que Sera, Sera," incidentally; that other film was "Please Don't Eat the Daisies;" and the actor's name is Niven, not Nivens. Otherwise, OK.

DEAR DICK: Are Bobby Burgess and Sissy King on Lawrence Welk's show related? If so, how? MRS. PEARL A. CLARK, Kalamazoo, Mich.

Not in the slightest.

DEAR DICK: My husband and I have come to enjoy many older movies, most of which put the newer ones to shame. We are quite young and have only recently "discovered" Gary Cooper. Please give us facts about this wonderful actor. Was he really so humble and good-natured as he appeared to be? J. AND P. CARROLL, Warsaw, Ind.

I interviewed Cooper in 1958 and, based on that one contact, he was good-natured. There are stories about him acting up, however, but, after all, he was a Big Star in the days when Big Stars had a lot of muscle. He was born Frank Cooper in 1901 in Helena, Mont. — his mother, curiously, was Alice Cooper — and his first film was "The Winning of Barbara Worth" in 1926. He was only married once, to Veronica (Rocky), and they had one daughter. But he reportedly had many affairs, the most famous being with Patricia Neal. He died in 1961.

DEAR DICK: I read that Debbie Boone didn't sing "You Light Up My Life" in the movie. It was someone else. But my friend says it was Debbie. Her mother doesn't believe me, either. Would you please settle this argument? L.S., Tucson, Ariz.

You are right. Kacey Cisyk, whose voice is heard on many singing commercials, sang the song in the film.

DEAR DICK: I think you were thinking of another dog when you said that the dog on Topper was named Buck. His name is Neil. JIMMY CANGEMIE, Hollywood, Fla.

On Page 98 of Daniel Blum's "Pictorial History of Television" there is a picture of the Topper cast — "Buck, Robert Sterling, Leo G. Carroll, Anne Jeffreys." Maybe Buck was the dog's real name; Neil was his character name.

A youngster (Katy Kurtzman) befriends a handicapped town handyman and convinces her lawyer-father (Dean Jones) to defend the beleaguered man when he is accused of murder in 'The Big Event' presentation of 'WHEN EVERY DAY WAS THE FOURTH OF JULY' Sunday, March 12 on NBC-TV.

When attorney Ed Cooper (Dean Jones) succumbs to the pleas of his nine-year-old daughter Sarah (Katy Kurtzman, pictured with Jones) and agrees to defend a handicapped handyman on a charge of slaying a candy store owner, he faces hostility from the townspeople in WHEN EVERY DAY

WAS THE FOURTH OF JULY, a world premiere drama Sunday, March 12 on 'The Big Event' on NBC-TV.

The setting is Bridgeport, Conn., in 1937. The town handyman Snow Man (Geoffrey Lewis), a mute World War I veteran suffering from shell shock, is considered retarded because he is unable to talk. When Off. Mike Doyle (Scott Brady) finds him kneeling over the dead body of Mr. Najarian (Michael Pataki), the citizens are quick to assume the Snow Man is guilty of the slaying. But because of her close comradeship with Snow Man, young Sarah knows better.

CB Convac

Probably more than 150,000 CBers this year will expand their operating sphere from citizens band to short wave to gain the enjoyment of communicating with the whole world, just as they have learned the pleasure of yacking with a fellow CBER a few miles away.

"After using CB for a while, the fellow who begins to really wonder what is happening in that box he bought is potentially a ham operator." Jerry Freeman, a staffer in the Norfolk office of the FCC says, claims. "It's just got to happen to him." By the way Jerry is a ham who holds license KFCC 1000.

There are two reasons for this logic. A CBER who thinks he will enjoy that thrill of communicating long range and have the interference-free aspects of short wave is hooked. Communication is the name of any radio game. But there are many refinements available to those who are interested in going beyond that mobile CB unit, and they are not necessarily costly to enter. Last week we developed some aspects of single side band operation for the CBers which is gaining considerable momentum right now. Ham radio is a further extension of the radio medium.

The Amateur Radio Relay League, in Newington, Mass., is a membership organization that represents more than 165,000 licensed ham operators. It is in great part responsible for the great respect in which ham operators are held throughout the world. The organization is over 50 years old, having been in continuous operation since its founding in 1914. In 1977 more than 60,000 hams joined ARRL, and since CB has become a household activity the membership ranks have steadily grown.

Charlie Harris, one of ARRL's executives in Newington, literally bubbles when asked why someone should become a ham operator.

"How would you like to talk with 42 states, six continents, 42 countries, in just four hours of operation?" he asks. "I did it last week."

"Five watts will cover the world," he adds enthusiastically. "There is no way that someone who has had an introduction to amateur radio can resist its potential for maximum communication. No way."

There are five classes of licenses available to the serious CBER who is interested in extending his experience in personal radio. CBERs who now play the skip game, and enjoy it, can become amateur radio operators and legally enjoy what they are now doing illegally. CBERs who have learned about linears and sliders will find that the FCC tests for hams are not as difficult as the widgets they've been fooling with.

Charlie Harris claims that a four-year-old boy passed the Novice test, the first in the series of five, after only hours of working at learning his International Morse Code (CW) and being able to transmit and receive 5 words per minute. Charlie says the theory part of the novice test is equally simple, and this license opens the door.

The ARRL through its membership has about 3,000 classes going on throughout the country to help people learn about short wave radio and prepare for license tests. You don't have to work up the ladder of five licenses. In amateur you can apply and be tested for the coveted Extra Class License at the very beginning, but most hams start at Novice and progress through Technician, General, and Advanced.
