Date set for GOP election

By GREG PEARSON
Herald Reporter

Manchester's Republican Town Committee will meet Tuesday, March 21, to elect a chairman and delegates to state and local conventions.

Republican Town Chairman Thomas Ferguson announced the date in a letter sent this weekend to town committee members. Ferguson is seeking re-election to his position and is being challenged by Scott Clendaniel, a local attorney who is a town committee member.

Both sides have talked confidentially of the outcome of that election, this morning neither candidate changed his opinion of who the winner would be.

"I feel good about it. We're ready for the election," Clendaniel said. "We have no reason to believe we have any less support than when I started," he said.

"I have no concern about Ferguson's support of the race. He has circulated a letter to town committee members and asked that they support of him and Elsie Swenson, the party's chairwoman."

Ferguson said this morning that he has 49 signatures and six to eight other persons who did not sign in will vote for him. There are members on the town committee.

Republican Director Carl Zinsner, who has been an active supporter of Clendaniel, has said that he does feel that all the signatures will translate into votes for Ferguson when the election is held.

Ferguson replied this morning, "I find it difficult to believe that that many people would switch to support Mr. Zinsner."

He also was critical of Zinsner, who has made several statements about the race.

"I'm beginning to wonder who I'm running against," Ferguson said.

Clendaniel said that the March 21 date presents no problem for him, but he did say that it is the week of a school vacation.

He also wondered again why it took Ferguson so long to announce the date for the election. Clendaniel mentioned that Ferguson said he would set a date last week.

The town committee will elect delegates to the following conventions: State, First Congressional District, County (Sheriff), Third and Fourth Senatorial Districts and Ninth and Fourteenth Assembly Districts.

The committee will have to vote its support for the GOP candidates for governor before selecting its delegates.

The local Republicans are split between two of the candidates, U.S. Rep. Ronald Sarasin and State Sen. Lewis Rome, and it appears local support may be leaning toward Rome at this time.

EB threatens halt on 16 submarines

GROTON (UPI) — The Electric Boat Division of General Dynamics today threatened to halt construction on 16 nuclear submarines next month, which could affect 14,000 jobs.

The action is because of a pending claim by the firm against the federal government for $544 million on cost overruns on the nuclear submarine project.

P. Takis Veliotis, general manager of the shipyard which is one of Connecticut's largest employers, said work on the SSN 688 Class attack submarines would stop April 12.

He said he was taking the action "only as a last resort after making strenuous efforts over the past three years to negotiate a fair and equitable settlement to cover the enormous impact of the Navy's unilaterally directed engineering and design changes."

Joseph Wornom, a spokesman for the firm said, "at the present time we have nearly 14,000 employees who would be affected by the planned action. These people are located principally in Connecticut and Rhode Island."

Asked if the planned cutback would affect all of the 14,000 workers, he refused to be more specific.

"I cannot go any further," he said.

Gov. Ella T. Grasso said she would fly to Washington later today to meet with Sen. Abraham Ribicoff, D-Conn., and Navy officials about the matter.

"I am most concerned that such a work stoppage would cause severe economic dislocations in Southeastern Connecticut," Mrs. Grasso said.

Last fall EB let go 3,000 workers in an austerity program company officials said was aimed at making the facility more efficient.

Veliotis said EB was spending increasing amounts on wages and materials on the giants ships which "should have been paid by the Navy."

"To date the company's investment in this area alone is more than $370 million and has been increasing at a rate of approximately $15 million per month," Veliotis said.

EB said the original contract on the submarines called for 18 ships, two of which have already been delivered to the Navy.

EB said it will continue work on the new Trident nuclear ballistic submarines.

In 1976 the company filed the claim for the $544 million to cover design changes ordered by the Navy. That claim is now before a Navy settlement board.

EB said it is in the process of submitting a new claim to cover subsequent changes ordered by the Navy and to recover money lost to rising inflation.

Begin will retaliate for strikes of terror

JERUSALEM (UPI) — Prime Minister Menachem Begin said today Israel will "cut off the arm of evil" that killed 36 people, including an American woman, in the bloodiest Arab terror strike against the Jewish state.

Hinting for the second consecutive day that Israel would retaliate, Begin said: "The days have passed when it was possible to spill Jewish blood with impunity."

In a brief and emotional speech to a special session of parliament the prime minister said: "It is known that those who spill innocent blood cannot cleanse themselves. We shall do our job. We shall protect our civilians, our women and children, and we shall cut off the arm of evil."

The prime minister also called on democratic countries to shut down the offices of the Palestine Liberation Organization and expel its representatives.

In a speech couched in poetic Hebrew and carrying biblical echoes of vengeance Begin asked: "Can any ruler in any state justify helping the existence of this murderous organization? I call on the democratic states to stop this worsening situation."

Begin blamed the Soviet Union for backing the Arab guerrilla organizations and charged that Moscow and other Communist states trained Arab terrorists in the use of the latest weaponry.

He said Israeli authorities would investigate the leaky coastal defenses and makeshift resistance on land that preceded the bloody finale at a roadblock just north of Tel Aviv.

Petition secrecy brings complaint

By GREG PEARSON
Herald Reporter

Robert Blechman, chairman of the Stop Tampering With the Eighth's American Liberties (STEAL) committee, said today that he will file a complaint with the state's Freedom of Information Commission because he was not permitted to see consolidation petitions when they were filed with Manchester's town clerk.

The petitions included signatures supporting a referendum question on consolidation, which would combine the Eighth Utilities District and the Town of Manchester.

Blechman was permitted to see the petitions a few days after they were filed when all the signatures had been certified by employees in the town clerk's office.

Town Clerk Edward Tomkiel said that he based his decision on procedures followed by the Secretary of State's office when petitions are filed there.

Blechman, however, feels that he should have been permitted to see the petitions as soon as they were filed and before the signatures were certified.

Consolidation opponents felt that this was important because, at the time, they were seeking to have persons withdraw their names from the petitions. The names cannot be removed once they are certified. Obtaining copies of the petitions would have made the withdrawal project easier because they would have known who to contact.

The petitions contained enough signatures endorsing a referendum question on consolidation.

Quick police work nets bank robbery suspects

Quick and cooperative action between Manchester police and state police resulted in the apprehension of three bank robbery suspects after an armed holdup of the Heritage Savings and Loan Money Market in the Food Mart supermarket Saturday night about 9 o'clock.

The arrests were made about two hours after the robbery, following a road chase through Manchester, Vernon and into Hebron where the robbers abandoned the car and were pursued on foot into the back yard of a Bolton residence on Tumblebrook Road.

Arrested were Gary M. Dyjak, 16, of 204 Pratt St. Glastonbury, Richard Sipala, 29, of 940 E. Middle Turnpike and Anthony J. Morris, 21, of Plainville. All were charged with first-degree robbery and second-degree larceny and Sipala was additionally charged with reckless operation and failure to obey an officer's signal.

Police said today the entire $1,500 which had been stolen in the robbery had been recovered. About $1,300 was recovered from the car left in Hebron and the remainder was found in the yard where Sipala and Dyjak were apprehended.

Police also said that additional charges will be made in connection with bank robberies Feb. 25 at the Heritage Savings and Loan branch in Frank's Supermarket on East Middle Turnpike and March 3 at the Savings Bank of Manchester branch on Spencer Street.

Police described the pursuit in this way: Officer Stephen Novak of the Manchester police spotted the robbers on West Middle Turnpike and chased them to exit 92 of Interstate Highway 86 where he was joined by

Miners defy order

United Press International

Tens of thousands of union coal miners today defied a Taft-Hartley order to return to work but the Justice Department said it did not anticipate any shutdown as long as current negotiations hold out hope of a peaceful settlement.

Early reports from the coalfields indicated that most of the United Mine Workers members were standing by their union's tradition of "no contract, no work" and continuing their strike into its 88th day.

Fears of new violence did not materialize, and Justice Department spokesman Mark Sheehan said he did not expect any.

"We do not anticipate any arrests this afternoon," said Sheehan. "We don't anticipate any shutdown. We are hopeful that the current negotiations will lead to a peaceful settlement."

Building, hostages seized by Moluccans

ASSEN, The Netherlands (UPI) — South Moluccan gunmen seized a government building today, captured dozens of hostages and riddled an ambulance with bullets when it arrived to rescue wounded victims of their assault.

Police tried to rescue victims under cover of an armored car, but withdrew when the gunmen threatened to shoot hostages unless the vehicle and the ambulance were removed, officials said.

It was the latest in a series of attacks by South Moluccan extremists who have been agitating for freedom for their former Spice Island homeland — once under Dutch rule but now a part of Indonesia.

The owner of the private ambulance said all its windows were shot out and a bullet was found just behind the driver's seat.

A radio reporter said several persons could be seen lying at the entrance to the building, injured either by gunfire or by falls from windows of the three-story structure as they tried to escape.

Five persons were treated at a hospital. They included a photographer hit by a stray bullet some distance from the building, a man with a bullet wound in the leg and three persons cut by glass.

At least one of the terrorists arrived in a taxi, the driver of which was marched in at gunpoint to join other hostages. Police estimated at least four Moluccans took part in the attack.

The driver's employer said he had just returned to work after being shot in the legs two years ago in an assault by Moluccans.

Police said 600 persons normally work in the building housing the administration of the Drente provincial government.

The government immediately set up a "crisis center" in The Hague which was coordinating with a regional center set up by Assen police. The government was

Buses ready to roll

Plans have been completed for Manchester's Phone-A-Ride system, which will provide bus transportation for elderly and handicapped residents. The date the system begins operating has not been set, but it is expected to start within a week.

The system will be a temporary one until the town receives a federal grant that will help pay for the purchase of two buses to run a permanent transportation network.

The Town Board of Directors agreed to establish a system for at least six months to service the needs of Manchester's elderly and handicapped residents.

The temporary service includes two buses, one seating 17 persons that will be used for the elderly and one seating 12 persons that is equipped with a lift to be used for the handicapped.

Eagleville Dam eyed as hydroelectric facility

Gov. Ella Grasso wants to find out whether the state-owned Eagleville dam in Eastern Connecticut can be used to produce electricity efficiently.

"I have asked James Schlesinger, U.S. Secretary of Energy, to approve a $1,800 feasibility study of the dam on the Willimantic River near the Mansfield-Coventry town line," Gov. Grasso said.

"This proposal outlines a team approach to evaluating hydropower development at a state-owned dam. It involves the participation of four major Connecticut government, academic and industry organizations."

"The people of Connecticut will gain substantial benefits if small hydropower restoration and expansion projects prove feasible," the governor continued.

"Development at small hydropower facilities in Connecticut will help reduce our dependence on oil imports, will lower energy costs for many communities, and will stimulate the growth of new industry and jobs."

The Eagleville dam is a 100-year-old stone faced earthen dam. The 12.5-foot structure is located two miles southwest of the University of Connecticut.

Gov. Grasso noted that at one time water provided virtually all of Connecticut's transportation and energy needs. Today, she said, hydroelectric facilities provide less than two percent of Connecticut's electrical generating capacity through the operation of 18 facilities located on various Connecticut rivers and streams.

"The Eagleville site has the advantage of being near the University of Connecticut and the Mansfield State Training School," the governor said.

"The location provides the unique opportunity to monitor the effects of power integration of a small electrical generating unit with the needs of state institutions. Should the project prove feasible, it is my intention to pursue construction."

Sister Claire Markham, energy undersecretary in the Office of Policy and Management, said the Eagleville dam application was filed at the request of the U. S. Department of Energy which will provide funds for at least 50 such studies nationwide.

She said the funding of the Eagleville study will include $46,800 in federal grants and about $5,000 in state money. She said she has already received a letter from Albert J. Kleban, chairman of the Public Utilities Control Authority, offering cooperation in the regulation of small electrical generating units which might be developed.

Owners of at least nine other privately owned small dams in the state have indicated they are also in the process of applying for the federal feasibility study grants.

A more secure identity

Making it more difficult to acquire a Social Security card, as the government is doing, is a significant step in the effort to curb the influx of illegal aliens into the United States. Over the years, the Social Security card has emerged as a kind of unofficial national identity card. Social Security numbers figure in just about every computerized dealing with the public from federal income tax returns and state drivers license registrations to department store charge accounts.

For aliens, a Social Security card also serves as a kind of work permit and, up until now, was obtainable virtually for the asking. No more. To prevent "the possible misuse of the Social Security card as an indicator

By MARTHA ANGLE and ROBERT WALTERS
WASHINGTON—NEA — It has been eight years since Bella Abzug captured national attention — and a seat in Congress — with a campaign built on the eye-catching slogan, "A Woman's Place is in the House." Bella is gone now, from the House and from elective politics. And the slogan she used with such success back in 1970 has developed a hollow ring in 1978.

Despite all the progress women have made in the intervening years, the House has not become a home for them. There are still only 18 women among 435 House members — the same number who served during John F. Kennedy's first year as president. And Marjorie Humphrey, newly appointed by her late husband's seat, is all by her lonesome in the U.S. Senate, where two women served back in 1961-62.

Leaders of the women's movement, especially those who focus on increasing the political participation of women, are disappointed but not discouraged by the apparent lack of headway. They understand all too well that the principal reason there are so few women in Congress today is that relatively few women even seek election to the House and Senate. You can't get elected if you don't run.

And in order to run successfully for Congress, it helps to have some experience in state and local politics — something few women could claim, until recently. That may be changing now, judging from statistics compiled at Rutgers University by the Center for the American Woman and Politics. Back when Bella Abzug first entered Congress, there were just 344 women serving in state legislatures around the country — a mere 9 percent of the total. Today, there are 703 — or 9.3 percent.

Three years ago, women held a bare 2 percent of all elective county government jobs nationwide; today the figure is 3.1 percent. Three years ago, only 4.4 percent of all elective municipal jobs were held by women; today it is 7.8 percent. Considering the fact that women comprise more than half the American population, their climb up

Parlor owners fight rub rules

Massage parlor owners will seek an injunction against a Town of Manchester ordinance scheduled to go into effect Tuesday that would regulate the establishments.

A spokesman from the office of attorney Joseph F. Zano, who represents two Manchester parlor owners, said today that papers are being prepared to seek a temporary injunction to the town's ordinance.

The request for an injunction will be filed this afternoon in Hartford's U.S. District Court, the spokesman said.

The town's proposed ordinance would regulate the opening and closing times of the establishments and would require each one to obtain a license.

Employees also are required to have educational training in massage or must demonstrate their ability by passing a written and practical examination.

Dr. Alice Turek, Manchester's director of health, said that Tuesday at 4:30 p.m. is the deadline for parlor owners and employees to apply for a license.

The ordinance sets a $500 fee for the establishments and a $125 fee for each employee. If a parlor has not filed an application with payment by Tuesday, an arrest warrant will be served on the establishment Wednesday, she said.

The European Health Spa, which has a massage area in its West Middle Turnpike facility, already has applied for a license, Dr. Turek said.

None of the other existing parlors have applied, she said.

And, apparently, there will be resistance to the proposal. The parlor owners' attempt at an injunction will be the second such request in connection with the massage parlor law.

Last October, Common Pleas Court Judge Joseph Goldberg denied granting a temporary injunction to ordinances in Manchester and Hartford.

The new request will be based on federal law rather than state law and thus is being filed in the U.S. District Court.

Massage parlor owners also are considering a step that would change their business titles to "entertainment salons" a step that they feel might prevent them from being governed by the laws for massage parlors.

Dr. Turek, however, said, "If they are doing massage (and haven't applied for a license), we will issue a warrant."

Public may comment at board's meeting

The Manchester Board of Education will meet tonight at 8 at the board offices at 45 N. School St.

The board has rearranged the agenda to allow time for public comments at the beginning of the meeting. Public comments have previously been on the agenda only when the board meets at one of the schools, however, special requests from the public to speak have always been accommodated.

The board will also initiate a "consent calendar" in which personnel actions, field trip approvals, appointments and other similar business can be taken care of more quickly. The change is being made in order to expedite the business of the board, according to School Superintendent James P. Kennedy.

A response to the town manager and Board of Directors in regard to the 1978-79 budget request is scheduled for tonight. The superintendent will also give a report from the committee which has been studying report card revision.

Society plans show on Hockanum River

The final local program in this year's Manchester Historical Society series will be given Wednesday in the Highland Park School cafeteria. Dr. Douglas H. Smith will narrate "The Hockanum River Story," with color slides by Sylvia Oltara.

A buffet supper will open the evening at 6.

The presentation traces the Hockanum's history, geography, and topography and catches something of its flora and wild life. The slides were taken at all seasons and follow the stream between the Vernon and East Hartford town lines. Post cards and old maps were used to show buildings that have passed from the scene and sites that have changed.

The restoration of Union Pond, removal of debris by Boy Scouts and other groups, the canoe race, access approaches, and progress in developing a linear park along the river are recorded in the slides.

Dr. Smith is chairman of the Chamber of Commerce City Beautiful Committee. Oltara is on the Manchester Community College faculty and was formerly the chief photographer of The Herald.

Drug council favors cutting pot penalty

Manchester's Drug Advisory Council has voted to support lessening the penalties for possession of an ounce or less of marijuana. The group, however, did not endorse full decriminalization of possession of that amount.

The attempt was to eliminate the criminal aspect of it for a younger person. But, we cannot endorse the use of marijuana," council member Jon Norris said. "Decriminalization may be interpreted as an endorsement."

Judge of Probate William Fitzgerald, also a council member, said that the council voted to support progressive penalties for possession of small amounts of the drug.

The first offense would bring a small penalty, probably a fine that could be paid through the mail similar to a minor traffic offense, according to the council's proposal.

The second offense would bring a stiffer penalty and the third offense would be treated as a felony, according to the proposal.

We'd rather see the Davis family eat than pay our bill.

Now is the time people need and use greater amounts of power. And some people, like the Davis family, can't always pay a winter electric bill when it's due.

That's why Northeast Utilities' Winter Service Policy makes sense for our customers who qualify. Whenever we are notified of a true hardship, electricity will not be shut off.

Arrangements can be worked out with Northeast Utilities to have these charges more conveniently paid, for service to continue. And that's a promise.

If you know someone who could benefit from our Winter Service Policy, suggest they write for more information to: June Fiordella, Northeast Utilities, P.O. Box 1953, Hartford, Connecticut 06144. Or call their nearest electric company office.

Charter action set by council

Vernon

The Vernon Town Council will meet tonight at 7:30 to act on proposed revisions to the Town Charter.

Council members were upset when the final draft of the revisions contained some items the council had rejected during a workshop with the Charter Revision Commission.

Tonight's meeting will be in the council chambers of the Memorial Building.

Included in the final draft is a section which establishes a Department of Community Services. The council objected to this for many reasons, one of which was the expected additional costs.

By means of omission, the commission also went against the council's wishes concerning a transition clause which combines the Parks and Recreation Departments.

The council will have to decide which revisions, if any, will be presented to the voters and if they will, in what manner.

Subdivision rule change

Several developers are expected to take advantage of a new provision in the town's subdivision regulations. The amendment concerns street width reductions.

Under the amendment developers may ask for a reduction in street width requirements if construction hasn't started.

The reduction of the width would save subdivision developers about $150 per lot and in the end would save the town money on road repairs and plowing.

The regulation which for a roadway is 32 feet, the amendment would allow reduction to 28 feet. The 24-foot width had been established to provide for two 12-foot travel lanes and an eight-foot parking lane.

The Planning Commission will have to consider procedures for allowing subdivision developers who qualify to apply for amendments to their previously approved plans, to benefit from the amendment.

Drug abuse workshop

Two experts in the field of teen-age drug abuse will speak at a drug workshop Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. at the Vernon Center Middle School. The workshop is being sponsored by the school's PTA.

Stephen O'Donnell, director of Crossroads, a Manchester drug information and counseling center, will give a slide presentation focusing on the impact of adolescent drug use on family relationships. He will give advice on when to seek professional help and what society can do to reverse the trend toward increased youth drug use.

Paul Scannell, a state police trooper from Troop C in Stafford, will discuss changing attitudes, police procedures and relevant statistics. Scannell, who now serves as a youth officer for eight area towns, was formerly a police officer at the state police academy.

The program will include a question and answer period. The public is invited.

PZC to get details of suit over rules

Coventry

Zoning Agent Ernest Wheeler will present the details of a lawsuit filed by Richard Breen against the Coventry Planning and Zoning Commission (PZC) at the group's meeting tonight.

Breen, a realtor and developer, is appealing a new zoning regulation that requires a 150-foot separating distance from a septic system to a water course and a 50-foot distance to poorly drained soils.

Breen claims that he owns several properties within the purview of the regulation. He says that his possible uses of the land will be curtailed by the measure, which in effect increases the size of minimum building lot requirements.

Wheeler has discretion under the regulation to reduce the distances said to be good soil warrants a variance. A rejected applicant would also have the right to appeal to the town's Zoning Board of Appeals.

Breen claims that the conditions under which Wheeler makes an exception are too vague in the wording of the rule. He also charges that there are state laws protecting wetlands and hence no need for the amendment.

Garden Club meeting

The Coventry Garden Club will meet at the home of Shirley Glenney of Silver Street Tuesday at 12:30 p.m.

According to spokeswoman Beatrice Keller, the group will discuss house plants and have a show-and-tell session for members.

Supper at church

The Gleamers of the Second Congregational Church in Coventry will meet at the church Tuesday at 6:30 p.m. for a light supper.

On April 11 The Gleamers will sponsor a musical presentation by The Bell Hangers at 8 p.m.

April 11 will also be the date of the first session of a series of Tuesday night workshops on communication for parents of teen-agers. The 7:30 to 10 p.m. sessions will end May 23.

Communication workshops for parents of children aged 6 to 12 will begin April 12 and run through May 25 on Thursday evenings from 7:30 to 10 p.m.

On Easter Sunday the early service will be held at 7 a.m. at the parsonage hill. It will be conducted by the senior high students and follows at 7:30 a.m. by breakfast in the Community House.

Bloodmobile Tuesday

The Columbia chapter of the American Red Cross which includes the towns of Andover, Hebron and Columbia will have a bloodmobile Tuesday from 1:30 to 6:30 p.m. at St. Columbas Church in Columbia.

Sarah Wroblewski, recruitment chairman for Andover, said blood is urgently needed. She said walk-in donors are welcome. Anyone wishing an appointment should call Mrs. Wroblewski at 742-4867.

Persons from age 18 through age 66 may donate blood. Anyone 17 years of age may donate blood if he or she has a Red Cross permission slip signed by a parent or guardian.

Administrators get raises

By DONNA HOLLAND Herald Correspondent

The Board of Education approved a $28,850 salary for School Superintendent Raymond Allen for the 1978-79 school year during a March 2 executive session. It will be the third year of a three-year contract for Allen. Board members also approved salary increases for the school principals and superintendent of the school buildings and grounds.

For the first time board members did not agree on what the school administrators' salaries would be.

The vote for Allen's salary was three yes, and two no. Board members Michael O'Connor, Louis Cloutier and Gil Boiesneau voted yes.

Members Andrew Pinto and James Marshall voted no. Board chairman Joseph Holoburdo did not vote, and Barbara Smith was absent.

An increase of $1,000 was approved for Joseph Fleming, Bolton High School principal; $1,110 for Richard Packman, Bolton Elementary Center School principal; and $900 for Siegmar Blamberg, assistant principal.

The first vote on the salary increase was two yes and three no. Reconsideration of the vote, suggested by Marshall, changed it to two yes, (O'Connor and Cloutier), two no, (Marshall and Pinto), and one abstention, (Boiesneau.) At that point Holoburdo, as chairman, cast the deciding vote of yes.

The board approved a $500 salary increase for James Veitch, superintendent of the school buildings and grounds. The vote was four yes and one. Marshall cast the negative vote.

Allen is currently earning $38,150, Fleming is earning $22,900 and Veitch, $15,350. Packman and Blamberg earn $37,950. A breakdown of their salaries is not shown in the budget.

Meeting tonight

The Ladies of St. Maurice executive committee will meet tonight at 7:30 at the parish center.

The St. Maurice Church men's choir will rehearse Wednesday at 7 p.m. and the adult choir at 7:30 p.m. Both rehearsals will be at the church.

Houley steps out

Bicycle route signs may be dismantled

South Windsor

The South Windsor Town Council tonight will discuss dismantling the bike route signs throughout the town.

The dismantling of the signs, which were put up at some expense to the town, has been a sore spot among many councilmen. Members, however, agree that the signs are useless and create a dangerous situation because of the lack of protection on the designated areas for cyclists.

Although the signs have marked areas which the town had thought would be scenic, no lines or special road paths separate the bike paths from motorists.

A meeting with the Sewer Commission chairman is scheduled for 9 p.m.

The council is expected to consider ordinances regarding conflict of interests, interlocal agreements and parking violations.

Public participation and comment are invited on any agenda item.

Radio Shack®
The Nationwide Supermarket of Sound!

The Realistic® hi-fi receiver shootout. You're lucky if you've waited until now.

The benefits of owning Realistic stereo components (as against Pioneer, Marantz and other front-runners) should be obvious. But they aren't. So we explain them every so often, particularly at model-change-time, which is a happening that begins today. We agree Realistic and other famous national brands are in some ways look-alikes in power, beauty and suggested retail price. That's where the similarity ends. Realistic is available only where there's a big Radio Shack sign out front. Realistic is designed by and custom-crafted (for or for) Radio Shack. No one else. That means we sell direct. Direct in every state, in more than 9 countries (including Holland and Australia, for example). We service what we sell. And since we sell more receivers, probably, than any other chain of audio shops in the world, that means The Shack's has more buying power and dedicated salespeople than anybody. One thing we don't have many of is rugs on the floor. Millionaires may not like our low-key, low-cost environment but music lovers do. Like Peter Nero, who knows how to pinch a penny. Like Arthur Fiedler, our friend and customer since about 1948. One more thing: this sale is not on at Pacific, Atlantis, Tech, Custom or Federated. Only at Radio Shack.

World Cup exciting

"World Cup tennis is exciting for me," Jimmy Connors said during his annual appearance in the Aetna World Cup competition at the New Haven Veterans' Coliseum last weekend.

Connors, undefeated in six singles matches - two in each of the three seasons he appeared wearing the red, white and blue colors - said of his teammates "now these guys are out there cheering for me and when they are playing, I'm rooting them on. Although we are bitter rivals at times on the court, here we are all on the same side of the fence."

"Frankly, I'm enjoying the hell out of it," the No. 1 player in the world (in many quarters) added.

And, he was without any question. He polished off John Newcombe and John Alexander, the No. 1 and No. 2 Australian players in straight sets, demolishing the former and giving Newcombe a lesson. It appeared that Connors played only as hard as he had to in sweeping the Aussies in the United States' easy 6-1 victory.

Like Connors as an individual, or not, he's a great tennis player and a showman of the first order.

Since Connors and Dennis Ralston (USA team captain) pitched up their difficulties, three years ago, the USA has dominated the Aetna matches. Australia, however, still leads in the series, 5-4.

Connors whipped Tony Roche and Newcombe in straight sets in 1976, "needed just two sets last year in beating Alexander and Roche and added Newcombe and Alexander to his list of victims last weekend before 9,217 spectators each day at New Haven.

As long as Jimmy Connors is hale and healthy, and playing well, the USA domination over the Australians will continue.

Teammate Brian Gottfried was named the No. 1 player in the four-day play but Connors was the most dominating figure.

Indiana pressed in one-point win

NEW YORK (UPI) — Some say a touch of gray is becoming, but Indiana Coach Bobby Knight and Duke's Bill Foster are going to have a whole head full if their respective squads don't straighten out their act.

"I've always tried to be objective about the game of basketball," Knight said after upstart Furman threw a scare into the Hoosiers Sunday before dropping a 63-62 verdict at Charlotte, N.C. "Furman was the team that deserved to win this basketball game."

Furman, the Southern Conference champion, trailed by 13 with 13:26 to play, but the Paladins went on an 18-4 tear over the next eight minutes to draw within 52-51.

With two seconds remaining, Al Daniel fired in a 26-foot shot to bring Furman within a point again, 63-62.

When Indiana was called for an inbounds violation, the Paladins received the ball at midcourt and were out of timeouts.

Rodney Arnold's hurried 35-foot attempt at the buzzer, however, fell well short of the basket.

Buffalo mentor happy with win over Blazers

NEW YORK (UPI) — Don't tell Buffalo Coach Cotton Fitzsimmons that the Braves' 96-90 victory over the top champion Portland Trailblazers Sunday night was a triumph. "Hey," Fitzsimmons said, "I know it's easy to write a story that Wallon's not playing and Lloyd Neal with a sore knee is not playing. We won and we beat the champions. I've got a big guy (Billy Knight) in the hospital who's averaging 24 points a game," continued Fitzsimmons. "And I've got a little guy (Nate Archibald) who's never played all year."
Handy Smith scored 27 points to become the first player in Braves' history to score 10,000 points, with 3,443 left in front of good, 87-86. Smith also handed off 10 assists as the Braves' put together a three-game winning streak for the first time this year. The injury-riddled Blazers have lost three of their last four games.

That's ESP for you. And for everybody.

Yes, everyone can have this ESP, just by buying it. ESP. Energy Savings Payback. Now, when you buy any new energy-efficient gas appliance, to replace your older more conventional one, your ESP can be $100, or $150, or more. A clothes dryer, for example. The new pilotless gas dryer uses up to 46% less natural gas. And saves money, too. What's pilotless? What's ESP? Well, with older dryers with a pilot, that flame burns all the time, needed or not. And it can cost up to $100, to keep it burning over the life of your dryer—estimated at some ten years. Old gas dryers vs. new gas dryers: ESP—$100, or more. Sure, the new ESP gas appliances cost a little more in the first place, but over the years you'll save more than twice the difference. And the difference is ESP. Energy Savings Payback. See all the new pilotless gas dryer models at your gas appliance dealer or Connecticut Natural Gas. And by the way, CNG has enough natural gas for all its residential customers. It pays to stay with gas.
