Dutch Marines free hostages

ASSEN, Netherlands (UPI) — Dutch Marines today attacked a government building and freed about 70 hostages held by Moluccan extremists without loss of life, a government spokesman said.

The marines launched their assault shortly after the passing of an 8 a.m. EST deadline set by a Moluccan "suicide commando squad" that threatened to kill hostages unless authorities met their demands for an escape plane for themselves and 21 South Moluccan colleagues jailed for previous attacks.

A spokesman said the troops acted "because authorities were faced with 'clear evidence' a bloodbath was about to begin." A government spokesman said no lives were lost in the lightning action. He said three Moluccan terrorists were arrested.

One person was seriously injured and three slightly injured, the spokesman added. Even after two marine platoons — about 20 men — were alerted, the operation only took 20 minutes. Even after a spokesman announced it was under way, only an eerie silence shrouded the building which normally houses 800 workers.

Patrolman Daley learned of his wife's pregnancy only a few hours after his fatal accident last July 29 while investigating the report of a man with a shotgun. While running for cover, Daley tripped on a curb,

'Mame' memories linger

By JUNE TOMPKINS
Herald Reporter

With the revival of "Mame" performed last weekend by Manchester High School's music department, the show's hit tunes and delightful story of a flamboyant society dame who indulges her nephew are still lingering in the memories of those who attended the two-night production.

Set with a flu epidemic which robbed the show of nearly half its cast at many of the rehearsals, Martha White pulled it all together to make it another hit in a long line of annual musical endeavors by the music department.

Much of the delightful catchy tunes from this show proved to be a handicap for the youths who sang them because of the low starting key of some of the songs which didn't match the immature voices.

Class hears about government

Betty Intagliata, a member of the Board of Directors, recently spoke to the Grade 8 class at St. Bridget's School to explain the workings of the town government. (Herald photo by Pinto)

Judge makes house calls

Manchester's Judge of Probate William Fitzgerald proposed Monday that he will hold court hearings at the homes of interested parties who are unable to attend hearings in the Municipal Building. He believes that his court is the first in the state to take such a step. Fitzgerald said that a new law dealing with conservator hearings was passed by the state Legislature. "I have concluded there is nothing to prohibit me from holding my court anywhere in the town of Manchester that I choose on any matter," he said. Thus, he has proposed that a probate hearing can be held in a private residence or another site, such as a convalescent home, where an incapacitated person, who cannot make it to the Municipal Building, might be staying. The Probate Court is located on the building's second floor. "We've run into situations where a person is interested in an estate and is incapacitated," he said. Now, such a person can request that the hearing on the estate in question be held at his or her location. Fitzgerald said that his court likes to hear from all interested parties before deciding on the distribution of an estate. This step will make it easier for the court to hear all interested parties. The judge said that he prefers to hold the hearings in the Probate Court. It is sometimes necessary to refer to the records of the court during a hearing, and it also is helpful to have secretarial and clerical help available. Persons wishing to relocate a probate hearing should call or write to the Probate Court, Fitzgerald said that such notification should be made as soon as possible to help arrange the hearing. "I thought a lot about it before I decided," Fitzgerald said of the proposal. "But, it seemed like a good idea."

This is democracy?

It cannot be emphasized too strongly that the Panama Canal is not an academic issue. The canal is, and for the foreseeable future will continue to be, vital to our nation's security and economy. Long-range consequences aside, under the treaties the United States stands to lose property and equipment in the Canal Zone — including the Canal itself — that would cost an estimated $8.6 billion to replace. This is $4,800 for every Panamanian citizen, or $40 for every U.S. citizen. In addition to giving Panama these fixed assets, the treaties give her $300 million in economic aid over the next 10 years, plus $50 million worth of military hardware. It is a price we cannot afford and must not pay.

Our system of law

By ANDREW TULLY

WASHINGTON — In the Supreme Court press gallery the other day, I was thrown into confusion by the utterance of a government lawyer arguing a Los Angeles obscenity case. The case involving one William Pincus, who was convicted of peddling pornography through the mails. Judge David Williams reminded the jury that the Supreme Court has held that one of the tests of obscenity is whether a book, film, or photograph appeals to the prurient interest of the "average person, applying community standards."

But the point is that in cases like the United States vs. Pincus, the main issue is not should the protection of children from immature exposure to commercialized filth. Of all the residents of a community, they have the most at stake in obscenity cases. Children are impressionable, which can be helped. But they lack the mature judgment to appraise smut for what it is, namely, an "appeal to the prurient interest."

So, as the Pincus jury decided, one of a parent's responsibilities is to try to make sure his child doesn't grow up thinking that sex is a dirty, hole-in-the-corner exercise. Implicit in the jury's verdict was that if filth is merchandised kids probably will figure out a way to get their hands on it.

Judge Williams said the Pincus case "in no way" involves "any distribution of any kind to children," and "no exposure of any of this evidence to children." Based on the evidence admitted, he was right. But it would be surprising if none of Pincus' stuff fell into childish hands. Long ago, the writings of Havelock Ellis were obtained and distributed by the neighborhood man of the world.

Canal treaty opposition still intense

By LEE RODERICK

WASHINGTON — If American voters mean what they say, many senators who vote to ratify the two Panama Canal treaties will be in trouble at their next election. Public opinion surveys by one of the nation's leading polling firms, Decision Making Information (DMI), indicate that about 22 percent of American adults say they oppose the treaties strongly enough to vote against a senator who votes for them.

The defense raised the point that in Los Angeles 600,000 people in a single year paid $5 each to see "Deep Throat," and 240,000 in 37 weeks bought tickets to "The Devil in Miss Jones." To me, that means only that in any community some adults will go to a dirty movie for prurient kicks. It does not mean that doing so is representative of that city's community standards.

"About 10 percent of Americans express no firm opinion on the treaties," says Vince Breglio, executive vice president of DMI. "The remaining 90 percent are divided almost evenly between 45 percent for the treaties, 45 percent against."

Thoughts

What is God's grace? "Don't waste your sorrows, that trouble is but a trust." It is difficult to receive injury from others without feeling resentment. It is hard to suffer wrongfully without becoming cynical and bitter. It is a problem to keep love in the heart through all unkindness, ingratitude, misunderstanding, injuries, abuses, and grief.

God may permit great personal injuries to come to one because it is one of the ways that the greatest love can grow and eternal rank being revenged.

Jerry gets his share

By MARTHA ANGLE and ROBERT WALTERS

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — When it comes to spotting an opportunity and seizing same, no politician in the country can hold a candle to California Gov. Jerry Brown. Although he normally seems scornful of such gatherings, while Brown has shunned previous meetings, the mere fact that he showed up to show up this time indicated the lion's share of the media attention.

There are red-faces in Vice President Mondale's office as a result of our inquiry about an apparent flurry of activity last year in the office of the Secretary of the Senate by the "Mondale Volunteer Committee" showed receipts and expenditures of more than $53,000 in 1977 — which seemed peculiar for a sitting vice president.

DEAR ABBY: I have three adorable grandchildren, ages 6, 8 and 9. I love them all dearly (and equally) but they are extremely jealous of each other, and there's always a fight for my attention when I visit them. I am careful never to bring one a gift (even on birthdays) without bringing a gift for the other two. I am also very careful not to praise one too much in the presence of the others, and I never make comparisons.

resolved the reason for the original rejection? As to the letter indicating the state will sell the land, the state gives assurances to no one. Strict regulations are outlined in the General Statutes of Connecticut governing dispositions of state land.

Should Town Planner Lamson not have checked with town council to see if the letter from the state (to sell) is equal to ownership? The fact still remains that the applicants still do not own the land, and their application which is of questionable status as filed the April PZC calendar and any other applicants must wait at least until May for their hearings.

DEAR ABBY: It's getting so I hate to go out with my husband. He's 52 and I'm 31, and all he wants to do is go to X-rated movies and look for girls to pick up on the way home. He says he gets real lousy on thinking about being with me and another woman.

Educators say school not worth renovating

In answer to questions from the Green School PTA concerning the future of the school, School Superintendent James P. Kennedy said Monday night that the administration had decided, with the Board on Education's support, that the school was not worth spending large sums of money on to renovate.

Emily McKenzie of the Green PTA told the board that parents at the school were concerned after hearing all the publicity recently regarding the decision by the Senior Citizens Center to move to Green School when it closes.

The other elementary schools have the capacity for the transfers from Green because of declining enrollment, Kennedy noted.

Two additional arrests were made by Manchester police Monday afternoon in connection with two recent bank robberies.

Police said a woman was a principal in the robbery, but was not in the getaway car which police chased through several towns and resulted in the apprehension of three others.

The board has yet to hear more information about the proposed air conditioning to be installed at both libraries.

Report says driver was cause of death

The death of a Manchester youth last April was caused by the actions of the driver of the car in which he was a passenger, according to a finding issued today by Henry Ramenda, coroner for Hartford County.

The coroner said the accident was caused by the actions of William E. Doll, 17, of Tudor Lane. Wino was pronounced dead on arrival at Manchester Memorial Hospital and several other persons were injured.

The officer said he saw a Chevrolet Monte Carlo and a Mustang traveling at an excessively high rate of speed along side each other in the westbound lane. He said the driver of the Mustang attempted to slow down when he saw the cruiser and in so doing, lost control, the car spun around to the right, struck the south curb, became airborne, struck a tree, a utility pole and a fence and overturned on the lawn at 604 E. Middle Tpk.

He said the driver of the other car continued on and made a turn into a side street near the crash site, Douglas Ogden, 17, of 137 Branford St. was the driver of that car.

Negative votes in Vernon end charter update job

By BARBARA RICHMOND
Herald Reporter

By taking some "double negative" action, the Vernon Town Council Monday night completed its work on charter revisions eliminating some recommendations made in the final report of the Charter Revision Commission.

The council rejected a provision that would create a Department of Community Services but this action precluded the council being able to change the name of the Department to that of Department of Social Services.

The council had, at a previous workshop, told the revision commission it did not want to create a Department of Community Services. However, the revision group left this revision in its final draft.

The council is not allowed to add anything to the commission's report but, by rejection of all or part of a section, change the charter to remain as it is.

The council did approve the section concerning the changing of the terms of office for Board of Education members, but not without expressing some concern about legally making the transition.

Boards of Education members are now elected for six year terms, three elected every two years. The approved change will have members elected for three four-year terms and three two-year terms each election.

The Town Council committee, appointed to study the revisions, said a problem existed in the transition from the present system in that in the 1979 election only three vacancies will occur on the board. And since the council could not add language to the final report, the committee recommended that the political parties should simply agree to elect only three two-year terms that year and in following elections the system will work.

The council also approved a revision stating that members of the school board can't hold any other elected or appointed office under the town government.

The final report of the revision commission did not decide, last night, how the changes will be put to the voters.

McCartney's guidance, Murphy could complete information, develop class sections, build a master schedule, resolve conflicts, and deliver a schedule to the student body before school closes in June.

He also said Murphy and McCartney would then be able to explore alternate schedules for the 1978-79 school year and having Fitzgerald remain in House "C" would maintain continuity in its administration with personal and relationships with parents and students remaining constant.

In connection with switching positions around for the rest of the year, Dr. Ramsdell said this has created a heavy workload for teacher Michael Simmons.

Fitzgerald is manager of the driver education department at the high school and since he has been acting as a substitute teacher, Simmons has taken on his duties along with his regular teaching load.

Dr. Ramsdell said it is the feeling of all concerned that Simmons can no longer carry this load. He said

Donald J. Griffin, 20, of 57 Brook St., South Windsor, was charged Monday night with unsafe backing and driving on a highway.

Dressing up in Andover

The First Annual Andover Elementary School Dress Up Day will be March 15.

David Kravet, principal, said "Put on those spiffy clothes, polish those shoes, comb the hair and join the students and school personnel for a real roast, beef banquet in honor of this special day."

Reservations for the meal should be made by 9 a.m. Wednesday.

The school Parent Teacher Association will be cutting more capes for the school band Wednesday from 7 to 9 p.m. at the school. Volunteers are needed.

Lake group now district; can get aid Coventry

The Hemlock Point Lake Association of Coventry, under the leadership of President Harold Koonitz, has voted unanimously to become a special state district, thus making it eligible to receive matching road funds from the town.

The council did not decide, last night, how the changes will be put to the voters.

The town Council has been granting funds to all fifteen associations until two years ago, when the council learned from Town Attorney Abbot Schwebel that some were not eligible because they had not met legal requirements.

Koonitz said that several of the unincorporated associations were in the process of forming home rule districts. Once formed, such districts have taxing and other powers over homeowners within their purview.

Under municipal rules, qualifying associations receive two-to-one matching grants for their roads.

The business meeting will include revisions bylaws and new candidates for office will be introduced.

Following the business meeting will be a film, "Men's Lives - What Makes Men Tick." A discussion by advisor Pat Wilson and her husband will follow.

Creative arts festival slated at Bolton school

The Second Creative Arts Festival at Bolton Elementary Center School will be Wednesday, beginning with an art display at 6 p.m. and a talent show at 8 p.m. at the elementary school.

About 150 art projects will be on display from 6 to 8 p.m. throughout the school. The projects are original art works created by the students during their own time. The projects include paintings, drawings, creative writing, photography and crafts.

All entries in the non-competitive festival will receive ribbons. After the festival projects from each category will be displayed at Bentley Memorial Library for two weeks.

Special recognition will be given to projects using recycled materials by the Bolton Woman's Club.

The talent show will be in the all-purpose room. Students will perform a variety of original musical acts.

The public is invited. The talent show and the science fair take place annually on a rotating basis.

Dog bites reported
Several Bolton residents were treated at a hospital for dog bites incurred between May 1977 and Jan. 1979. During that same period, a variety of animals including chickens, ducks, sheep and rabbits, were killed by dogs.

Elmer Wilson, dog warden, had six dogs destroyed during that period. And he made a total of 42 in person investigations and 71 telephone investigations.

Wilson's term as dog warden expires April 1. The Board of Selectmen is expected to make an appointment to that position at its March 21 meeting.

Anyone interested in serving as dog warden should call the selectmen's office.

Merit finalist
David B. Teller, of 21 Green Hills Road, a senior at Bolton High School, has been named a National Merit Scholarship Award finalist. He will be eligible to compete for Merit Scholarships which are announced in the spring.

His extra-curricular activities include the school Latin Club, he's treasurer of his class, member of the French Club, treasurer of the Student Council and a member of the National Honor Society and its treasurer.

He received the 1977 Bausch & Lomb Science Award and the 1977 Rensselaer Math and Science Award. He attended the Yale Junior Science and Humanities Symposium. David is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel H. Teller.

NEW YORK (UPI) - They'll be burning rubber in Raleigh tonight.

Detroit takes on host North Carolina State in the second round of the National Invitation Tournament, and admittedly, Norm Sloan and his Wolfpack might have problems if they don't get the gears into overdrive.

NC State eliminated a deliberate and methodical South Carolina team in the tourney's opening round, but the Titans don't know the meaning of walking the ball up the court.

The winner of tonight's game advances to New York's Madison Square Garden and the NIT semifinal match against the winner of Dayton-Georgetown.

"We're trying to get ready for a team that's exactly the opposite of South Carolina," said Sloan, "and we don't have much time. In playing Detroit, we're going to meet one of the best teams in the country at the transition game. Their fast break is outstanding."

In other second-round play tonight, Rutgers hosts Indiana State and Georgetown travels to Dayton.

Dayton, 19-9, seeking its third NIT championship, advanced to the quarter-final round with a 108-93 win over Fairfield (Conn.), while Georgetown, making its fourth NIT appearance, edged Virginia, 70-68, in overtime.

Georgetown, 22-6, may be forced to again play without leading scorer Derrick Jackson, Jackson, a 6-foot-6 guard averaging 17.8 per game, missed the Virginia contest with a bleeding ulcer and is listed as questionable for the Dayton game by Coach John Thompson.

The Hoyas, though, have two other players averaging in double figures with guard John Duren at 16.2 and 6-7 forward Craig Shelton at 14.

Dayton, which won the NIT in 1982 and 1988, is paced by 6-5 junior guard Jim Passan, averaging 17.7, and 6-7 senior forward Erv Giddings at 14.0.

Larry Bird, a 6-9 forward with the nation's second-best scoring average at 30.3 points per game, leads Indiana State, 23-8, against the Scarlet Knights of Rutgers, 22-6, in Piscataway, N.J.

"Going against Indiana State should make it a super game," says Rutgers Coach Tom Young, "and Bird's appearance will surely create added excitement."

Indiana State has 10 of its last 12 and missed out on an NCAA bid when the Sycamores dropped a 54-52 decision to Creighton in the Missouri Valley Conference tournament.

Rutgers is led by 6-foot-9 James Bailey, who averages 24.1 points and 9.5 rebounds per contest while leading the Knights in virtually all categories.

Assies fell behind
For years, Australia ruled the roost in the world of tennis.

Today, the United States has not only caught up to the boys in tennis but is producing top players but has jumped out front by a wide margin.

Mistachioed John Newcombe, three-time Wimbledon champion and Australia's best player today, found himself no longer in the class of the U.S.A.'s Jimmy Connors and Brian Gottfried last weekend in the Aetna World Cup matches at the New Haven Veterans Coliseum which matched the best team players from both countries.

Connors is not only the best player in America today but also in the world. He's been away from Wimbledon for three years. He wanted to win very much in the Aetna tourney and has a plan that will find him in top form when Wimbledon is played.

"Also," Thirst said, "Newcombe and Tony Roche have started tennis school in Australia."

"They now have more than 750 youngsters enrolled. Newk feels that he owes tennis, and Australia something, and he's determined to find some top players among his pupils."

"The interest in still there but Australia will have to start all over in producing the world's best players."

NEW YORK (UPI) - The real story of spring training is youth - young men becoming stars because of it and older men recapturing it.

It happens every March and no one can predict who will be the next beneficiary - maybe Steve Busby.

Busby took the first tentative step toward a comeback Monday when he allowed one hit in two innings during a 4-3 victory over the Cincinnati Reds. It was the first time Busby had faced major league hitters since July 6, 1976.

The Royals won the game in the 11th inning when Pete LaCock singled with the bases filled. Larry Gura, a strong candidate for one of the Royals' starting berths, pitched the last three innings without allowing a hit.

NEW YORK (UPI) - The real story of spring training is youth - young men becoming stars because of it and older men recapturing it.

It happens every March and no one can predict who will be the next beneficiary - maybe Steve Busby.

Busby took the first tentative step toward a comeback Monday when he allowed one hit in two innings during a 4-3 victory over the Cincinnati Reds. It was the first time Busby had faced major league hitters since July 6, 1976.

The Royals won the game in the 11th inning when Pete LaCock singled with the bases filled. Larry Gura, a strong candidate for one of the Royals' starting berths, pitched the last three innings without allowing a hit.

Elsewhere, Bruce Sutter, the Chicago Cubs' star reliever in 1977, was hammered for five runs in the first three innings as the California Angels scored a 10-5 victory. Tom Griffin held the Cubs to two singles in the first four innings ... The San Francisco Giants handed the Oakland A's their fifth straight loss, 4-1, with the help of Jack Clark's homer and two RBI by Larry Herndon.

Bruce Bochte hit a double and two singles as the Seattle Mariners routed the Cleveland Indians, 10-1 ... Al Woods' homer and two singles led the Toronto Blue Jays to a 4-3 decision over the Chicago White Sox ... Lee Mazzilli's two-run homer in the ninth inning gave the New York Mets a 4-2 victory over the Pittsburgh Pirates.

Dick Tidrow and Rich Gossage pitched four hitless innings each but an error, a walk, a sacrifice, an intentional walk and infield singles by Ken Henderson and Dave May enabled the Texas Rangers to score three runs and beat the New York Yankees, 3-0 ... Lee May's three-run homer and a solo shot by Carlos Lopez led the Baltimore Orioles to a 3-3 decision over the Atlanta Braves.

He taught me what life was all about, how to laugh, how to cry, the good guys and the bad guys. He gave me an inspiration how to get the most out of athletics and respect from other people."

Lupien, who attended and played sports at Manchester High before moving on to Loomis School to prepare for Harvard, reminisced about his younger days in Manchester when he lived on the West Side.

Educators increase budget plan

Coventry
The Coventry Board of Education voted unanimously to present a $3.1-million budget to the Town Council. For the first time in recent memory, the board increased the proposal of the superintendent to schools, Arnold Elman, who had requested about $12,000 less than the board-approved budget.

The document now goes to the council, which may cut the bottom line but not specific line items. The budget request also must go before public hearings prior to being submitted to a town meeting for approval this spring. The money asked for is up more than $300,000 from the current year's budget. Board Chairwoman Joan Lewis said it could result in a 7-mill increase in town taxes if it is approved by the council and the townspeople. Elman's proposal had not advocated any additional personnel. The board tackled on appropriations for a learning disabilities teacher, an assistant maintenance supervisor, and an increase for department heads at the middle school. Teachers and administrators have been appearing before the board in recent months to deplore the shortage of equipment and staff they feel is needed to maintain present programs and to develop new ones. Lewis stated that Coventry ranked 131st among 169 Connecticut towns in per-pupil spending. Arnold said the main increase is in salaries, which are negotiated with union representatives. In addition, textbooks went up $2,000 "to purchase sufficient materials to ensure that each student has a text," he said. Teaching supplies are up $9,000, partially due to inflation. Transportation jumped $22,000 as a result of a new bus contract, increased gas prices, and the purchase of a $9,000 vehicle for special education. Heat and utilities are up $11,000, and medical insurance has been hiked by $19,000. Equipment and maintenance rose by $28,000 but may

Workshop tells elderly how to hunt for jobs

The Hockanum Valley Department on Aging is sponsoring a six-week workshop for senior citizens to help them learn the techniques of looking for employment. The workshop is being funded by a $2,000 grant from the Education Foundation of America. It was developed by Stephen Zirm, employment coordinator for the Department on Aging and is being taught by Jay Roseburg of the University of Hartford. Sessions have included stressing the need for determining individual job wishes and how to find contacts and writing resumes. Workshop participants have been encouraged to seek referral interviews rather than scouring help wanted ads. This referral interview is arranged by the person looking for the job to solicit information at the profession without the tension of a regular job interview. It was pointed out that advertised jobs are often closed to older persons through the regular job process. Some 13 persons are participating in the sessions and about half of these are women.

Hebron board OKs new budget system for COC

Rham District
A proposal of the Central Office Committee (COC) to change the apportionment of its budget has been approved by the Hebron Board of Education. The proposal calls for 10 percent of the 1978-79 budget to be divided equally among the four school districts with the remainder to be assessed on the basis of the pupil population. Under the change Andover would pay a greater share of the budget. It now pays 9.33 percent or $9,330 on a $100,000 budget. The change would call for Andover to pay $17,165 with the 50 percent equal division on the same basis.

five percent annually to a maximum of 50 percent of the total budget. Barrasso said it would be unequal for the Town of Andover. He said he was considering "fair play" in opposing the change. He said, "Fair play may not always be used on the board but it should be." Board chairman Joseph Pelletier didn't agree with Barrasso and told him, "If you want to resign as a delegate to the COC, let me know, I'd be glad to replace you."

The board did vote, however, to put $1,275 in its budget for the Manchester Community Child Guidance Clinic. This is $375 more than is in the current budget. It was also voted to authorize the chairman to sign a letter of intent to participate in Project RISE (Regional Inservice Education) next year. The board's share of the RISE budget is $1,600. It was voted to restore the personal days charged to the school board secretaries and bookkeeper for days lost during the January storm.

The COC approved a tentative budget for the 1978-79 school year of $101,081 at its March 7 meeting. The proposed budget will be reviewed at individual board meetings under the following schedule: Andover Board of Education, conference room, Andover Elementary School, today at 7:30 p.m.; Marlborough, Thienes Elementary School library, Wednesday at 7:30 p.m.; Hebron, Gilead Hill School library, Thursday at 8 p.m.; and Rham District 8 Board of Education, Rham High School library, Monday at 7:30 p.m. Following the Board of Education reviews of the COC budget, the COC will meet to approve a final budget figure. No meeting date has been set.
