SAN JUAN, Puerto Rico (UPI)—After 50 years of death-defying acts on the tightrope, 73-year-old Karl Wallenda is dead. But within hours of his fatal plunge, his family resumed their daredevil walks through the sky.

The fearless Wallenda, senior member of the Flying Wallendas family and subject of the movie "The Great Wallenda," died at 11:15 a.m. Wednesday when a gust of wind swept him off a high wire strung between two 10-story hotels in the heart of San Juan's old district.

Pride and 'the ham' kept Wallenda busy

By HAL TURKINGTON
"Pride and the ham in me..." That brought Karl Wallenda out of retirement in 1968, and he has been in and out of retirement ever since. His remarks were made at Willie's Steak House on Tuesday, April 16, 1968, when he was a guest speaker at the Omar Shrine Club.

balancing bar until his skull hit the back of a parked taxi. He was dead on arrival at nearby Presbyterian Hospital of "multiple fractures and traumas." Witnesses said his head and upper body were crushed and mutilated.

His family, some of whom were watching, were stunned, but they vowed to continue. "The show definitely will go on, in the finest of circus tradition," his nephew, Gunther, said from the Wallenda home in Sarasota, Fla.

Town Manager Robert Weiss has recommended a General Fund budget of $27,861,728 for the 1978-79 fiscal year. The request is a 12.3 percent increase over the present budget and would result in a 37-mill tax rate.

Amendment to bottle bill could affect its chances

HARTFORD (UPI) — Last year, you needed a handbook on parliamentary procedure just to keep up with the legislative journey of the bottle bill.

Don't throw that book away.

The bottle bill — legislation designed to clean up Connecticut by requiring a five-cent deposit on beer and soda containers — breezed through the House Thursday by a surprisingly large margin.

But, an amendment tacked onto the bill could spell trouble for bill in the Senate. The rider would require the state to create a fund for bottle industry workers who might lose their jobs in July 1, 1980 when the measure is scheduled to go into effect.

The amendment apparently lured some House lawmakers traditionally opposed to the bill and accounted for the bill's surprising margin of victory, 87-57. But, bottle bill forces in the Senate say the House amendment is unacceptable.

Gov. Ella T. Grasso has pledged to sign the bottle bill if it ever reaches her desk.

If the Senate rejects the House alteration, but passes the rest of the bill, it would have to return to the House.

Last year, the House passed the bottle bill 77-65, but a parliamentary ruling killed the measure it had approved. The House then was given the Senate's version, which it killed 76-61.

The bottle bill, modeled after statutes already on the books in Oregon and Vermont, would require a five-cent deposit on all beer and

Navy pays to continue sub project

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Navy has agreed to give General Dynamics a "provisional cash payment" of some $30 million on 18 nuclear attack submarines to extend an April 12 shutdown deadline by two months.

The agreement, which includes resumption of negotiations on the price of the vessels, was announced Thursday by Sen. Abraham Ribicoff, D-Conn. It also was disclosed in a 1977 earnings statement released by the company.

The statement showed that despite $54 million in outstanding cost overruns against the Navy and its claim it is spending about $15 million without reimbursement each month to continue work on the Los Angeles class nuclear submarines, General Dynamics had record earnings last year.

Neither the Navy nor General Dynamics would comment upon details of the payment.

An aide to Ribicoff, in whose office the agreement was reached on Tuesday, said along with other payments now being made each month it would "essentially cover" the monthly expenses the company says it is having to pay out of its own pocket.

Ten days ago, General Dynamics rejected an offer by the Navy to settle the claims and threatened to stop work. Halting work on the submarines at yards of its Electric Boat division at Groton, Conn., and Quonset Point, R.I., would involve layoffs of 14,000 workers.

Both sides said that negotiations on the claims were now expected to resume shortly. The Navy had threatened to go to court over the shutdown threat and Navy Secretary W. Graham Claytor suggested the government might seize the shipyards to force continuation of the work on national security grounds.

In its earnings statement, the company said continued inflation and cost increases would bring the total cost of the submarines to an estimated $480 million more than the contract price. It said it was now preparing additional claims against the Navy and they would be "very large."

Justice Department officials are investigating the possibility that officials at Electric Boat and two other shipbuilding companies engaged in criminal fraud in filing some of $2.7 billion in unsettled claims against the Navy, sources said last week.

Pension Board pleased with investment results

Members of the Manchester Pension Board Thursday expressed pleasure with the performance of a $1 million investment that is being handled by Aetna Life & Casualty.

The board met Thursday with Arthur Ballard, senior account executive with Aetna, and learned that its investment with the firm has grown at a rate of about 9.4 percent.

The $1 million investment, made in 1975, had grown to $1,237,812 by the end of 1977, according to figures provided by Ballard.

Ballard told the board that 1975 was one of the best years ever for investment growth.

"If you picked a time to come with us, that year was the best. You got in at the absolute top year," Ballard told the board.

The Pension Board meets again Monday, and Geyer said that the board may act at that meeting on a recommendation for a shift in the bank investment.

Hannon's alternative still 'alive and living'

HARTFORD (UPI) — State senators fighting passage of a bill requiring deposits on beer and soda containers have managed to keep a counter proposal alive for at least another week.

"It's alive and living," Sen. George Hannon, D-East Hartford, champion of the bottling industry which has mounted a massive lobbying and advertising campaign against the so-called bottle bill, said Thursday.

Hannon last year led a successful fight against the bottle bill, which would require a five-cent deposit on all beer and soft drink containers.

"This year he proposed an anti-litter bill which would tax virtually every business in Connecticut. The money raised by the small levy would be used to mount a public education program and to pay for cleanup efforts."

The anti-litter bill was due to be voted on by the Senate Thursday. And it was heavily debated for about 90 minutes.

But when several unofficial counts showed the bill would be voted down Hannon, nervously popping his knuckles and pacing the chamber, proposed tabling it until next Thursday. The motion carried, until 19:16.

He said he made the motion because he didn't want to let the anti-litter bill's strength.

Hannon made an elaborate presentation to the Senate in calling for passage of his bill. He had a large box of litter brought to the chamber and it was gathered from the Capitol grounds.

In it was a wine bottle, a car muffler, a beer can, a soda bottle and several papers.

Hannon also produced a box of what he said were petitions needed to gain 40,000 signatures from people supporting his bill.

Rep. Lawrence DeNardis, R-Hartford, said he got letters from anti-litter bill supporters and found they were from employees of a major canning company. "I would like to examine the petitions of Senator Hannon and I am willing to wage that 90 percent of the signatures, if not more, came from a few well-known sources."

"I dare say the trash picked up today and brought in here today by Senator Hannon could be picked up the day after this bill passed, the day after that, and the day after that," said Sen. George Gunther, R-Stratford.

Senate Majority Leader Joseph Lieberman, D-New Haven, said "this litter bill is no longer relevant since the House has passed the bottle bill."

"This litter bill was put forward because he didn't want to let the anti-litter bill's strength."

Town native will direct unique show at church

David Larsson, formerly of Manchester, is the musical director of an entertaining and educational event to be presented at the Community Baptist Church Saturday, April 1, at 7:30 p.m.

Larsson is a teacher at the Hyde School of Bath, Maine, which is presenting the show performed by its students. Larsson was a recipient several years ago of a Laurel Music Camp Scholarship from the Chamundale Musical Club. He is a graduate of Bowdoin College, and the son of Mr. and Mrs. John A. Larsson of 14 Holton St.

The Hyde School's unique learning process will be demonstrated through excerpts from the school's nationally acclaimed musical production, "America's Spirit." The Hyde School group has toured throughout the United States with its show, and also appeared on Broadway.

In addition to the performance of the young people, students, faculty and alumni will participate in a discussion about the school and its curriculum. "America's Spirit" is a term referring to both the operational philosophy of the Hyde School Community and its musical production. The Hyde School Community is committed to finding a better way for American education.

All families wishing to participate in the presentation of this school's curriculum are invited. For information call Andrew Gibson at 649-3675, or Mrs. Frances Larsson at 649-8572.

Big stink probed

FARMINGTON (UPI) — Federal officials are investigating a mysterious odor at the University of Connecticut Health Center they say has produced headaches and dizziness in 13 workers.

Richard Popham, director of the health center's physical plant, said Thursday the odor was first noticed last October by laboratory workers on the sixth floor.

He said the federal Office of Health and Safety Administration was called in after a worker affected by the odor filed a complaint.

Opinion

No more forests?

The good green earth may be considerably less so very shortly if a trend in the developing world continues unchecked. The World Bank warns that there could be no forests left in less than a century if deforestation continues at the present rate in countries seeking to make the great leap forward into industrialization.

A bank report places the present forested area in developing countries at some 2.5 billion acres, half what it was at the turn of the century. The bank, putting primary blame on population pressures, is allocating a half-billion dollars over the next five years to projects designed to halt deforestation and renew forests.

Actually, what is happening is an acceleration of a process that has been under way for millennia. Through much of man's civilized history, progress toward ever higher levels of culture has been accompanied by a denuding of his original natural environment.

Changes in climate have also been involved, but human activities - overuse without heed to replacement or wanton wasting - have been a major force in the degreening of the planet.

Fortunately, deforestation need not be an irreversible process. Once much of the original farming population had moved on to the more promising Middle West, large tracts of the Northeastern United States were returned to forest. Modern Germany's prized woodlands are carefully cultivated replacements of the ancient dark Teutonic forests.

Only God, it is true, may be able to make a tree. But man can certainly do a lot to help or hinder its survival.

There's always eggroll

Ward comes from Singapore where the price of bird's nest soup, that ancient Chinese delicacy, is going out of sight. A small bowl now costs the equivalent of $4.35 in the restaurants that serve it - and you have to put your order in several days in advance.

For some reason, there is a shortage of suitable nests built by tropical swifts in Malaysia, Thailand and Indonesia. The saliva the birds use to hold their nests together is the key ingredient of the soup.

This is one piece of news about the rising cost of living that doesn't upset us one bit.

Question: I have been separated from my husband for six months and have been thinking about getting a divorce. I have two young children and need to work to support myself. I don't know if I'll ever get married again, but I can't get used to the idea of being single. Do other people feel the same way?

Answer: Many men and women contemplating or going through the process of divorce have many of the same problems and feelings you express. It is not uncommon under such circumstances to wonder if you are doing the "right thing."

Now is the time to take inventory and reassess needs and personal goals. Being "single again" while providing the freedom to act independently, also brings with it problems of not having someone close with whom to share pleasures and responsibilities.

An unfair statement

To the editor: This letter is in response to what I feel is a very unfair statement made by Kathleen Allen in her recent letter.

She commented that should the Eighth Utilities District and the town consolidate, "the Eighth District could burn to the ground house by house given sufficient time." This attack on the service and abilities of the town firefighters is based not on a complaint with the fire department but with the Highway Department because of what she feels is inadequate snow removal on her street.

A check with the town manager's office will verify the fact that each department has its own distinct and very different function - they should not be compared with each other nor should one be held responsible for the action or inaction of another.

To insinuate that the town firefighters would let a house burn down simply because of its location is an unfair and unwarranted charge. I feel Mrs. Allen owes the members of the Town Fire Department an apology for her unjust remarks against a highly skilled group of professionals.

Sincerely, Victoria Raimondo, 35 Battistia Road

Let us join hands

To the editor: This is a thank you to the voters of the 8th Utilities District and the Town Directors, Vivian Ferguson and William Diana, who came to the meeting at the high school on Monday night (March 20) to vote down the efforts of the Committee For One Manchester, to consolidate the district.

Mayor Penny is also to be congratulated for conducting a fair and smooth-running meeting, showing partiality to no one.

The vote of 580 to 30 should tell the proponents that many district people who signed the petition have either changed their minds or are not sufficiently interested to support them.

The next step must come from the Committee for One Manchester, and they should be warned that any monies needed by them for court attorney fees must come from their fund-raising ability but not one penny must come from taxpayer's funds.

It is the sincere hope of the district and, I feel sure, of the townspeople, too, that the matter be closed and let everyone get back to the way of life they are used to.

In this joyous Easter season, let us join hands in friendship and drive hatred, distrust and all the bad things we have experienced out of minds.

Peace be with you!! Evelyn W. Gregan, 53 Schaller Road, Manchester

The Rev. Richard Boilea, administrator of St. Bartholomew's Church of Manchester, is ready to add more notes of self-denial and acts of charity written by his parishioners to the 12-foot cross in the sanctuary of the church. Each week since the beginning of Lent, the parishioners have been writing these notes on small pieces of paper in an attempt to demonstrate their union with the Crucified Christ.

All share her sadness

By ANDREW TULLY WASHINGTON - Albert Shanker, president of the American Federation of Teachers, makes an irrefutable point. The right of a labor union to collect dues from non-members is legal.

Shanker's source is absolute. Last May, the Supreme Court ruled 6 to 3 that the so-called "agency fee" did not violate the Constitution.

However, the court also ruled, unanimously, that funds forcibly collected from non-members could be used only for collective bargaining, not for ideological or political purposes.

This second decision, it seems to me, is the crux of the long-standing dispute between organized labor and employers who resist attempts to force them to join unions. These workers don't want their dues money to be used to finance activities they find odious.

There is no reason why unions, at least in the public sector, should not be required to bargain only for those who want their services, letting teachers and other public employees fend for themselves.

But more important than an employer's convenience is the inherent right of a worker to decide whether he wants to join a union or pay an agency fee to a union he refuses to join.

Dr. Parks says she is "saddened" by her firing. She is the victim of still another surrender to union bossism.

Hot air

To the editor: I had a guy on our doorstep in the North End giving us the sincere smile and glad hand, asking for our vote for probate judge.

Evidently we are not dying off fast enough to suit him, as now he is running around with a clipboard, trying to take the whole North End BEFORE we go.

One of his helpers is some nut who wants to play fireman, and has built himself a firehouse with his money. Maybe we could all chip in a couple of bucks apiece and buy him a used fire truck for his backyard; get him out of the North End.

We are hearing a lot of hot air about why a separate North End is not good. If it's so bad, how come these guys are breaking their necks to get it?

While there seems to be space problems getting our letters printed, one of the Board of Directors was given a 60-word "Lost and Found" ad smack in the middle of the news pages for a lost pen.

I lost a perfectly good cat a few weeks back, and had to wait two days and pay $4.50 for a small ad stuck in classified. How come?

The time has come for Eighth District residents to stop and think whether our dollars spent out of the district are giving financial support to the very people who are trying to destroy the district.

Editor's note: The Herald has printed EVERY letter it has received on the consolidation issue.

Thoughts

Good Friday - day of intense feelings for Christians as they recall the sacrifice of Christ on the Cross. Here they find the infinite love of God expressed in human terms.

When one loves truly, deeply, then no price is too great, no difficulty insuperable, nothing impossible for the lover. It is all that the old songs of love and romance proclaimed, and more than they dared to say.

Each of us is capable of true love and when we rise to that level, we are emboldened. It is a love, not directed exclusively to one another, to which God calls us, but a divine love of concern offered to all.

Submitted by Rev. Robert W. Cronin, Pastor of St. Maurice Church, Bolton

On this day in history: In 1892, one of the "earliest" advice to the lovers, "Can you men receive this question: 'Can two people live as comfortably as one on $12 a week?' The answer: 'We do not approve of marriage on a financial basis.'"

Retiree thinks East Hartford should thank P&WA

John Marquis explains why East Hartford should celebrate the 50th year of hosting P&WA.

Barry likes bottle bill over anti-litter measure

State Sen. David Barry of Manchester again has endorsed the Bottle Bill and has announced his opposition to the Anti-litter Bill. The anti-litter legislation has been proposed by State Sen. George Hanon of East Hartford. It proposes a tax for businesses that produce products that create litter and is considered an alternative to the Bottle Bill.

The Bottle Bill would create a deposit on bottles and take other steps to eliminate throwaway containers. Barry has been a longtime supporter of the bill, which has been defeated each year for the past several years by the state Legislature.

Honor roll

St. Bridget School has announced its honor roll for the end of the second quarter. Grade 7: High honors Steven Balon, Deborah Conboy.

Honors Lawrence Blackwell, Patricia Tomkunas, Lisa Varney, Sarah Warrington. Grade 8: David Blackwell, Celine Buzek, Beth Carlebas, Kenneth Conboy, Deborah Coombs, Gemma Dubaldo, Maryann Genova, Nancy Kelly, William Leslie, James Nason, Susan Ogrodnic, Barbara Wolf-Laniewski.

John R. Marquis, 59, of 133 Sisson St., East Hartford feels the town should show its appreciation to its biggest industry with a celebration. By July 19, Pratt & Whitney Aircraft will have been operating in the center of town for 50 years. It was July 19, 1929 the airplane engine manufacturing firm broke ground for its new home.

P&WA was founded in 1925. The firm celebrated its own 50th birthday in a grand way in 1975. Thousands toured the East Hartford plant. Aircraft of all kinds powered by Pratt engines were on display at Rentscher Field at the local plant.

That was fine, said Marquis, a former employee of P&WA. The celebration would be an expression of recognition, acceptance and appreciation to our wonderful neighbor," he said.

"Pratt & Whitney has given this town 50 years of cooperation and progress. The least we can do is show how much it means to us."

Marquis is a native of Stockholm, Maine, a little town about 17 miles from the Canadian border. He came to Hartford in 1938 looking for work. He was drafted into the Air Force during World War II and stayed in the service for over 20 years. He served in Alaska, the Philippines, Bermuda, Palm Springs, Iceland and elsewhere.

Soon after retiring in 1961, he came to East Hartford and began working for P&WA. He retired from the firm in July 1977.

Marquis is a bachelor. He enjoys his retirement, including the time he spends on the town's Fine Arts Commission.

His idea to celebrate the town's and P&WA's 50th anniversary is his own. He has not tried yet to gain support for the idea from any groups. But he feels it may be an idea that could be carried out by such town groups as the Chamber of Commerce or the Town Council. He does not have any set ideas on what form the celebration should take. He'd like to hear the ideas of others as to parades or parties or anything else.

Marquis hasn't contacted P&WA either. "When you're going to kiss a girl, you don't tell her in advance," he said.

Bypass group sets yoga talk

Mrs. Elizabeth Van Dine will be the guest speaker at the Intestinal Bypass Group meeting Wednesday, April 5, at 8 p.m. in the conference rooms at Manchester Memorial Hospital.

Mrs. Van Dine will present a program titled "Yoga for the Novice." Members are asked to come dressed to participate.

A resident of Vernon, Mrs. Van Dine is a certified yoga instructor. She is a member of the staff of the Educational Community in Manchester and also teaches at the YMCA in Hartford.

The conference rooms will be open at 7:30 p.m. so that anyone considering intestinal bypass surgery may meet with members before the program.

But the town should celebrate its own 50th anniversary with the town's largest taxpayer and largest employer. The giant firm pays over 20 percent of the town's total property taxes. It employs over 20,000 people, many of them East Hartford residents.

"The celebration would be an expression of recognition, acceptance and appreciation to our wonderful neighbor," he said.

"Pratt & Whitney has given this town 50 years of cooperation and progress. The least we can do is show how much it means to us."

Dear Abby

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I'm a 15-year-old girl living in a foster home. I don't mind being in a home—the mother is a sweet person and I love her. But the father is not the type of father I would like. I am very big for my age, and sometimes I have problems about it. The father has offered me money to let him touch me, but I have never accepted.

DEAR ABBY: I was 19 and in nurses' training. I became pregnant. It was the first and only time I ever went all the way, and I got caught.

Vernon budget

Public works chief tried to hold line

Ronald Hine, Vernon's director of public works, said in preparing the department budget for the coming year he tried to keep increases to a minimum. He said, however, that over the past three years that he has been director, drastic cuts have been made in all areas. He said the intent of the budget is to keep as low an operating cost as possible without curtailing existing services. He said the current year's operating budget has left the department right on the borderline of having to cut some services.

Proposal calls for pay hikes

Vernon's proposed 1978-79 general government budget calls for a salary increase for the mayor along with increases for other town personnel. The proposed increase for the mayor is $224 to bring the salary to $9,262. The police chief requested $20,695, the mayor recommended $10,165, less than that. His present salary is $19,700. The captain's salary goes from $18,800 to a recommendation of $19,740. The four police lieutenants are now receiving $17,056 with a recommended increase to $17,916. The chief of public works is recommended for the largest increase from $20,178 to $26,634. The director of administration receives $20,268 and the mayor recommends $21,917. The four foremen in the public works department now have salaries of $12,136 with a recommended increase to $13,106. The superintendent of the waste treatment plant is now getting $15,828 and the recommended increase is $17,306.

Library has surplus

The budget for the Rockville Public Library, for the first time in many years, reflects a surplus of more than $24,000 and it will be used to make necessary repairs and capital improvements. In the budget request for the town for 1978-79, the library director asked for $24,000 and the mayor has recommended $22,000. The library has income from many other sources. During the current year the income was $222,451 with just $20,000 from the town of Vernon money. The operating expenses totaled $194,510. The proposed budget totals $224,300 with the largest amount of this for salaries for a staff of seven full-time and 15 part-time workers.

Adult courses slated

On April 10, the Vernon Adult Education Center will start a special morning semester for adults wishing to enroll in either high school equivalency or adult basic education programs. Democrats hear three candidates

Hebron Democrats heard three candidates for the Democratic Town Committee meeting and caucus this week with guest speaker State Sen. David M. Barry of Manchester, Fourth Senatorial District. He was joined by Louis Mateskas, candidate for the 55th Assembly District nomination; and Edward Williams, who made his announcement of a bid for the same district at the meeting. Hebron Democrat Barry said he has come up with three consecutive surpluses which he attributed to the Legislature and the governor having worked together. Barry said he would take no position now on the gubernatorial nomination race and urged the party to present a united front once the decision is made, whether it comes at the July convention or at an early fall primary.

Down to four Middle America beginning tomorrow will serve as host to the NCAA Basketball Championships as the final four gather in St. Louis, home of the Gateway to the West. The coaches of Kentucky, Notre Dame, Duke and Arkansas—the survivors of games that have been the closest in the 40-year history of the tournament—know what to expect from their opponents. They also know what they've seen in what they'll get Saturday.

Bits and pieces

Freshman John Pisch wound up fifth leading scorer for Clark University with a 10.5 average. The Cougars with the former Manchester High stand basketball coach at Cheney Tech, record and made the Division III Tournament. Another former Indian star Mike Quenneville appeared in the University of Maine varsity's season finale and was 1 for 2 from the foul line. He dressed for the final two games after leading the Black Bears' jayvees to an unbeaten 11-0 mark with an 18.7 points per game.

Hebron GOP taps Osborn

The Hebron Republican Town Committee re-elected Clay Osborn III as town chairman Tuesday night. Also elected were Marilyn Horton, vice chairman; and Patricia Williams, secretary. The committee members for the party's Post-Lincoln Day March 31 at 8 p.m. at the Masonic Temple in Hebron. The GOP is also sponsoring a trip to the State Capitol in May for the fourth and fifth grades at the two elementary schools. The committee also plans to contribute to the American Legion and American Legion Auxiliary Boys and Girls State. Action on the amount was deferred to the next meeting.

Division III selection Halas tabbed top coach

BOSTON (UPI) — The famous sports name of Halas is back on top — this time in the game of basketball. Clark University's Wally Halas, Clark nephew of George "Papa Bear" Halas and grandson of Knute Rockne assistant Walter Halas, has been voted UPI Division III Coach of the Year in New England. Halas, whose brother Paul was a starting safety for the Harvard football team last fall, guided Clark from an 8-16 record a year ago to a 17-7 mark and an NCAA tournament berth this season.

Phillies acquire insurance policy

Philadelphia Phillies, already the heavy favorites to win the National League's Eastern Division title for the third straight year, expensive "insurance policy." The "policy" goes under the name of Bud Harrelson and the Phillies acquired him from the New York Mets Thursday for minor league infielder Fred Andrews and an undisclosed sum of cash. Andrews was immediately assigned to the Mets' Tidewater farm club in the International League, the undisclosed sum of cash probably does not amount to much more than George Steinbrenner spent for Lou Piniella and Harrelson's salary is only $80,000. "I'm overjoyed at going to a contender," said Harrelson, who had the right to disapprove the deal. "I feel great. How can I not feel great going to a club like that?"

MCC bows

Still without a victory in its southern swing in Manchester Community College baseball team, dropping a 14 decision to Essex Community College yesterday in Baltimore, Md. Each side had three hits with Essex scoring the winning run in the second frame on a walk, stolen base and double. Frank Greene went the first five frames for MCC and took the loss. The Cougars are 0-6.

No tricks by NCAA final four

ST. LOUIS (UPI) — There aren't any bouncers at the door watching for spies or guarding secret plays concocted by the four teams hoping to capture the NCAA basketball title. The coaches of Kentucky, Notre Dame, Duke and Arkansas—the survivors of games that have been the closest in the 40-year history of the tournament—know what to expect from their opponents. They also know what they've seen in what they'll get Saturday.

Portland quintet in need of medic

NEW YORK (UPI) — The Portland Trail Blazers' bench may soon resemble a cast call for "Medic." They dropped a 116-109 decision to the Milwaukee Bucks Thursday night, but that was the least of Coach Jack Ramsay's worries: starting forward Bob Gross suffered a stress fracture of his left ankle and may be out for six weeks. In recent weeks, the defending champion Trail Blazers have lost the services of center Bill Walton, forward Maurice Lucas (both starting All-Stars) and reserve forward Lloyd Neal, all through injuries. Ramsay said he was proud of his team's effort Thursday night.

Red Sox get Frank Duffy

WINTER HAVEN, Fla. (UPI) — The Boston Red Sox and Cleveland Indians, two American League teams who have been discussing a possible trade, finally exchanged players. The Red Sox Thursday sent veteran minor league pitcher Rick Kreuger to the Tribe in return for shortstop Frank Duffy. With the loss of pitcher Jim Bibby via the free agent route and former free agent Wayne Garland shelved with shoulder miseries, the Indians are looking for hurlers. Kreuger, a southpaw, was 12-5 last season with the Red Sox Triple A Pawtucket farm club, and had no record with the Red Sox in one appearance.

Graham up early after having to rush

HTON HEAD, S.C. (UPI) — You can figure that Lou Graham was up mightily early this morning.

Graham had a 7:30 a.m. tee time as a member of the first threesome going out in today's second round of the Heritage Golf Classic and he wasn't about to be late, not after what nearly happened Thursday.

Graham, tied for the lead with Bobby Watel and Howard Totty after an opening 4-under-par 67, came within seconds of being penalized two shots for showing up late Thursday. And, if he had been a few minutes later than that, he might have been thrown out of the tournament. "We had perfect golf weather and the course is in good shape," Tom Watson, last year's top money winner who led this year before he went into a slump after a 70-70-70 three-week vacation, turned in a 70 Thursday. That was his only good score for a 13-week tie for 13th place as 29 golfers in the 120-man field broke par over the relatively short Harbour Town course on this resort island.

Graham and Watel, who has been playing so poorly the past six months he was thinking about going back to his family's jewelry store in Houston, shared the lead until just before dusk Thursday when Totty caught them by making birdies on his last three holes. Graham said he hit the ball better Thursday than at any time last week, but didn't think at the time his 67 would hold up for the lead. "I'm surprised someone hasn't shot a really good round," said Graham. "We had perfect golf weather and the course is in good shape."

Watel, one of Thursday's earliest finishers, felt the same way, predicting, "There will be a lot of low scores."

Watson, who missed the cut the previous two weeks, complained, "I didn't play very well," and rushed just back out to the practice range.

Catch-22

EVANSVILLE, Ind. (UPI) — The University of Evansville has run into a problem with NCAA recruiting rules in its efforts to replace a basketball team destroyed in a plane crash last December.

The National Collegiate Athletic Association has turned down the school's request that it be allowed to bring more than 18 prospective players to campus — the limit set on visits by potential basketball recruits.

"We're faced with the dilemma of needing to sign two-thirds of the guys who visit the campus," said new Coach Dick Walters.

WHICH HOME SOLD FASTER?
The home on the left. By one day. Actually, both homes sold faster than the market average. Fact is, homes offered for sale by ERA brokers usually do.
One reason is exposure. ERA Member Brokers can show your home both locally and nationally through nearly 2,800 ERA offices across the land. And considering that up to 40% of all homes are sold to out-of-town buyers, it's easy to see how the ERA system works in your favor.
Second, most homes sold by ERA Brokers are covered by ERA's exclusive Home Sellers and Home Buyers Protection Plan. For instance, ERA's unique plans cover the repair or replacement of most major working home components* while ERA's selling for you and for a full year after the sale.
ERA warranted homes normally sell faster and for more money. And isn't that what's really important when it's time to sell your home?

Water Hammer
By Gayle Ogren, Real Estate Editor
Water hammer sometimes occurs when a faucet is suddenly closed. When the flow of water is suddenly stopped, its kinetic energy is expended against the walls of the piping. This causes the piping to vibrate, and leaks or other damage may result.
Water hammer may be prevented or its severity reduced by installing an air chamber just ahead of the faucet. The air chamber may be a piece of air-filled pipe or tubing, about 2 feet long, extending vertically from the pipe. It must be airtight. Commercial devices designed to pre-water hammer are also available.
An air chamber requires occasional replenishing of the air to prevent it from becoming water-logged—that is, full of water instead of air.

every one needs

the Red Cross

It's nice to know they're there when you need them. Help the Red Cross help you... GIVE!

It doesn't take a disaster to know that the Red Cross helps the people in this community, but most people don't know about the Red Cross and the many things they do until a disaster happens. It's a sad fact, considering that their important contributions to our health and safety rely mainly on our contributions. The first aid programs, water safety instruction, service to military families and blood banks go on throughout the year...and in times of emergency, they're on the spot with medical aid and moral support. The Red Cross is there for you... be there for them. They need you, your support, your time, your contributions to continue to serve our community. Give generously.
