U.S. Steel agrees to cut price hike

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — United States Steel Corp., the nation's largest steelmaker, today announced it was modifying its recent price increase criticized by the Carter administration as inflationary and undercut by major competitors.

U.S. Steel said its $10.50-a-ton price hike, or 2.2 percent, "would be modified to be competitive in the market on a product-by-product basis."

The rollback on steel mill products apparently came as a result of White House pressure and competitors' smaller price increases.

After U.S. Steel's announcement last week, No. 3 National Steel Corp. said it would raise prices only $5.50 a ton, or 1.5 percent, to cover the costs of the soft coal industry's recent settlement with the United Mine Workers.

National's move was followed by

No. 2 Bethlehem Steel, No. 4 Republic Steel, No. 5 Inland Steel and No. 7 Jones & Laughlin.

Wheeling-Pittsburgh Steel, which initially went along with U.S. Steel's $10.50 a ton hike, said it was re-assessing its situation but had no further comment.

The White House Council on Wage and Price Stability first issued an angry response last week when hearing of U.S. Steel's price hike, then began behind-the-scenes maneuvering to lower the increases.

U.S. Steel was also criticized by President Carter and Vice President Walter Mondale.

Carter and Mondale publicly warned of the inflationary consequences of the $10.50-a-ton increase and echoed the Council's finding that the cost of the coal contract did not justify the larger hike.

Following U.S. Steel's announcement, the Council began making telephone calls to other steel companies urging them not to go along with the $10.50 figure.

The decision followed a Carter administration policy of asking for voluntary pricing restraint, rather than threatening price controls.

A Council representative today said the agency was "very pleased" with U.S. Steel's decision to modify the increase.

The representative said the Council had estimated an increased cost of $4-a-ton as a result of the coal settlement, but "when you consider the extra costs for electricity, it's (the $5.50 increase) not that unreasonable."

"We'll go along with that ($5.50)." And he added: "No more phone calls."

The steel price increases became effective Saturday.

Initial costs lower without MDC water

By GREG PEARSON
Herald Reporter

A financial report from the Metropolitan District Commission shows that the Town of Manchester would spend less initially if it maintained its water system instead of becoming part of the MDC. Savings would be realized, however, by the year 2000 if the town did join the district, the report says.

Frank Jodaitis, Manchester's water and sewer administrator, said that he does not feel the savings would be enough to warrant the town giving up control of its water system. And, Donald Vigneau, chairman of the MDC's Water Bureau, said that he feels the town's present estimates might escalate as work on a water treatment plant begins.

The cost comparison between the MDC service and the town maintaining control of its system has been sought for several months by the town's Water Study Committee, which is reviewing ways that Manchester can improve its water system to meet stricter federal regulations for water quality.

A previous cost comparison submitted last month to the committee by the MDC was later revised by the district. Vigneau had asked the committee to disregard the first report because he felt town cost estimates were unrealistic.

Thus, the committee said that the cost comparison report must be submitted by its meeting Tuesday night. The meeting is scheduled for 7:30 in the Lincoln Center Conference Room.

With the report in hand, the committee will begin the final process of selecting whether to join the MDC or whether the town should proceed on its own to make the improvements necessary to meet new water standards.

The report lists five alternatives and shows the cost per million gallons of each approach, both for the years 1980 and 2000.

The 1980 cost figures per million gallons are as follows: Manchester purchases district water and pays for all connections and improvements, $774; Same as first proposal except district pays improvement costs to service Glastonbury, $751; District acquires town system, and town pays for connections and improvements, $824; District acquires town system and pays for connections and improvements, $679; Town improves its system and has no involvement with district, $678.

The year 2000 figures per million gallons are as follows: Manchester, purchases district water and pays for all connections and improvements, $679; Same as first proposal except district pays $896,000 for improvements $661; District acquires town system and pays for all capital costs, $665; District acquires Manchester town system and pays for connections and improvements and all capital costs after 1980, $566; Town improves its system and has no involvement with district, $585.

Jodaitis said of the report, "I don't think the savings I see would be of significant value to abandon control of the water system."

The Water Study Committee previously rejected the MDC proposals and proposed that the town build its own plant in the Globe Hollow area. The Board of Directors asked the committee to review the details of the MDC proposals.

Vigneau said that there is not a vast difference in cost between the proposals of the town and the MDC.

He added, however, "I think we have a much better handle on what our real costs are." He said that the town estimate could escalate if construction is delayed or prolonged.

Jodaitis responded that the MDC's price estimates also could increase.

Vigneau also said that MDC could provide water that meets new standards in a shorter period of time than the town could if it makes all improvements.

Carter wows them as tour nears end

MONROVIA, Liberia (UPI) — President Carter arrived in Liberia today to the most tumultuous welcome of his four-nation tour — by crowds that went wild with excitement to pour into the streets in a run alongside his limousine in a chaotic finale to the trip.

Aboard Air Force One on the flight from Lagos, Nigeria, Carter gave a new warning to South Africa that if it rejects a "reasonable settlement" for black rule in Namibia — called South West Africa by the Pretoria government — it could precipitate

"more serious differences between us."

He also told reporters that Venezuela and Nigeria wanted to raise oil prices, that he had found an improvement in human rights in Brazil, and that he and Nigerian strongman Olegusun Obasanjo shared a concern for the growing role of Soviet-backed Cubans in Ethiopia.

Carter, obviously tired from his journey, tripped to his knees as he reached the second step of the review platform and was helped back to his feet unharmed by President William Tolbert.

Today's news summary

HARTFORD (UPI) — The Connecticut Public Expenditures Council said today Connecticut residents face a state income tax because Gov. Ella T. Grasso's proposed budget for the next fiscal year will leave a huge gap between spending and revenues.

According to CPEC, Mrs. Grasso's proposed $2.1 billion budget for fiscal 1979 relies heavily on back surpluses and one-shot revenues to plug the gap between what the state plans to spend and what the state will receive in taxes.

HARTFORD (UPI) — Connecticut Comptroller Edward Caldwell today lowered his estimate of how much the state surplus will be at the end of the current fiscal year. He said the state will probably have $76.6 million left over.

"The main reason for the decreased estimate is that additional requirements have increased by a little more than $6 million while the estimated revenue has increased only $3 million," Caldwell said.

Last month Caldwell estimated the state would have $80 million left over on June 30.

WASHINGTON (UPI) — South Korean businessman Tongsun Park today testified in public for the first time before a congressional committee trying to determine if his admitted payments of $750,000 to congressmen were legitimate gifts or bribes.

In his opening remarks, the millionaire rice dealer told the House Ethics Committee he was sorry for "certain things that I did" to promote "the national interests of Korea and the United States."

But he denied he had acted improperly.

LONDON (UPI) — Britain and the United States plan to invite all parties involved in the Rhodesia dispute to an early conference, the British Foreign Office said today.

The Foreign Office said such a meeting of all the parties would be preceded by a get-together of those who took part in the Malta conference at the end of January.

CAIRO, Egypt (UPI) — President Anwar Sadat says he will meet with Israeli Defense Minister Ezer Weizman again within two weeks, but the Egyptian leader still refuses to resume full-scale peace negotiations.

The Israeli government Sunday asked Sadat to reconsider his refusal to resume direct military and political talks, which were broken off in sharp disagreement.

WASHINGTON (UPI) — House Democrats will hold a special meeting Wednesday to discuss rolling back the Social Security tax increases enacted just over three months ago.

The taxes are on a rising scale beginning next year and are designed to solve the Social Security System's financial problems through the remainder of this century.

WASHINGTON (UPI) — For the second time in a year, the Supreme Court today rejected an appeal from mass murderer Charles Manson, who claimed publicity about him during one of his trials "made him a subhuman monster in the public eye."

South Windsor plan to affect sewer swap

The South Windsor Town Council is expected to pass an ordinance tonight which will give it final approval on all decisions made between local commissions and surrounding towns.

The ordinance is believed to be precipitated by the proposed agreement which will send up to 278,000 gallons of sewage a day from Manchester's new industrial park into South Windsor for treatment.

The ordinance, which is opposed by many commission members, takes the final approval of such agreements away from the local commissions and dumps veto power into the lap of councilmen.

Mayor Nancy Caffyn said this weekend that she expects the public hearing scheduled for tonight at 7:45 p.m. to be attended by some Sewer Commission members who prefer the council to be "duly informed" before agreements, but wish to leave the right to enter into such agreements to the individual commissions.

The Sewer Commission this week again tabled the proposed contract with Manchester, which has led to some controversy among local officials.

Both Deputy Mayor Robert Myette and Councilman Robert Sills have opposed the agreement with Manchester, contending the contract is not in the best interests of South Windsor.

The Sewer Commission's decision to again table the contract came after a lengthy legal evaluation of the proposed agreement by South Windsor Town Attorney Richard Rittenband.

Mayor Caffyn said Sunday she expects Manchester will be presented a revised contract which will reportedly include an expiration date, a termination clause and a promise by Manchester to accept the South Windsor generated sewage which will flow from the proposed Buckland Commons development in the southern portion of town.

According to the present agreement, Manchester will handle Buckland Commons sewage "if there is room."

It is not known whether Manchester officials will accept such an amended agreement. Manchester Town Manager Robert Weiss said the town has alternatives to the South Windsor-Manchester agreement, and that South Windsor was "going around in circles" over the contract. Manchester's alternatives would mean that it would have to pump the sewage back into Manchester because the land contour would not permit free flow of waste into Manchester's treatment plants.

The agreement requires Manchester to pay a user charge covering the cost of treatment and also a connection fee said to be in the area of $140,000.

The proposed agreement also requires Manchester to sewer several short sections of South Windsor streets in the eastern portions of town and to replace sewer pipes on Chapel Road.

South Windsor Sewer Commission members have defended the proposed contract saying the local treatment has the capacity to handle the additional waste regardless of how much the demand in South Windsor grows.

Public Works Director Allan Young and commission members say the proposed contract, as it stands, limits the amount and type of sewage the industrial park can send through the town's treatment plants.

Second hearing tonight on church housing plan

The Manchester Planning and Zoning Commission meets tonight at 7:30 and will conduct four public hearings, including its second on the proposed Wesley Retirement Center.

The PZC held a public hearing Dec. 5 on the proposed 100 units of housing for the elderly. At that public hearing, a professional land surveyor called to speak by David Call, an attorney representing a group of opponents, said the proposed site for the center included property owned by the state and not the applicants.

The center is proposed for the Hartford Road campus of South United Methodist Church. The church and Wesley Retirement Center Inc. are the applicants for the project.

Since the five-hour hearing Dec. 5, the applicants have taken steps to acquire the parcel of land, a nine-tenths of an acre strip on the south side of the proposed site, and have resubmitted an application to the PZC.

Thus, the second public hearing on the same proposal has been scheduled for tonight.

Attorney Renard Kolasa, who represents the applicants, said that they do not yet own the property, but they have received a letter from the State of Connecticut that says the applicants have the authority to purchase the parcel at fair market value.

The Town of Manchester had the right of first refusal to the property, but it waived that right. It has asked that it be given a sewer easement to the land.

Tonight's public hearing will be at the Keeney annex school cafeteria.

A public hearing to permit circuses and carnivals in Manchester for certain organizations also will be held tonight. The Town Board of Directors already has approved an amendment permitting such events for "civic, fraternal, religious, educational, charitable or similar non-profit organizations." The PZC also must approve the change, which will be discussed tonight.

The other public hearings are for the Army and Navy Club, which is seeking to have its Main Street site changed from a Residence AA Zone to part of the Central Business District Zone, and Multi-Circuits Inc., which is seeking a special exception because it plans to have more than 60 parking spaces at its Harrison Street plant.

'Love Boat' at Green School

Students in Mrs. Diane Cashman's class at Green School participated in a Parent-Involvement Program recently and built a structure they call a love boat. Michael Hodgkins, at left, and Heather Hostetter put the final touches on the project while their classmates look on. Heather's mother, Mrs. Patience Hostetter did the wood sculpture with the children which they sanded and hammered each piece of wood in place. Now it's being painted. (Herald photo by Pinto)

Diane Keaton ("Annie Hall") and Marsha Mason ("The Goodbye Girl"), both playing contemporary women involved in love affairs, were nominated for the first time. Shirley Maclaine, perhaps a sentimental favorite who has failed to win though nominated for the Oscar three times, was up for her role as the disillusioned housewife in "The Turning Point." Richard Burton ("Equus") and Richard Dreyfuss ("The Goodbye Girl") contended for best actor of the year, vying with Woody Allen ("Annie Hall"). John Travolta ("Saturday Night Fever") and Marcello Mastroianni ("A Special Day"). In addition to Ms. Redgrave, nominated for best supporting actress, are Leslie Browne ("The Turning Point"), Quinn Cummings ("Goodbye Girl"), Melinda Dillon ("Close Encounters of the Third Kind") and Tuesday Weld for best actress, all of whom will be present for the ceremonies.

Debbie Boone, Aretha Franklin, Gloria Loring, Jane Powell and Sammy Davis Jr. will sing the five nominated songs. Vanessa Redgrave, nominated for best supporting actress in "The Turning Point," Quinn Cummings ("Goodbye Girl"), Melinda Dillon ("Close Encounters of the Third Kind") and Tuesday Weld for best actress, all of whom will be present for the ceremonies. Best supporting actor nominees are Mikhail Baryshnikov ("Turning Point"), Peter Firth ("Equus"), Alec Guinness ("Star Wars"), Jason Robards and Maximilian Schell ("Julia"). Nominated for best director this year are George Lucas ("Star Wars"), Herbert Ross ("Turning Point"), Steven Spielberg ("Close Encounters") and Fred Zinneman ("Julia"). Nominated for best song of the year are "Candle in the Water" (Pete's Dragon), "Nobody Does It Better" (The Spy Who Loved Me), "Someone's Waiting for You" (The Rescuers) and "You Light up My Life" and "The Slipper and the Rose Waltz" from pictures of the same titles.

Three killed on roads

Traffic accidents in the state claimed the lives of at least three Connecticut residents this weekend. A two-car accident in Old Saybrook early Saturday took the lives of John Donat, Jr., 25, of Deep River and Barbara Wilson, 30, of Saybrook. A two-car mishap in Burlington Saturday morning claimed the life of William E. Mulligan, 22, of Bristol. Old Saybrook police said Donat and Wilson died when the car they were riding in collided with a van. Five persons in the van and the driver of the car were injured in the accident.

Public hearing tonight on town spending plan

By GREG PEARSON
Herald Reporter

Starting at 7:30 tonight, Manchester residents will have their first opportunity to comment publicly on the $27,661,726 General Fund budget proposed by Town Manager Robert Weiss.

The public hearing, which annually draws a large crowd, will be held at the Wadsworth School auditorium, 163 Broad St. The manager's proposed budget represents a 12.3 percent increase over present year spending.

The proposed budget, if adopted in full, would result in a 27-mill tax rate. That is a drop from the present year 28-mill rate, but only because the town is completing its first revaluation in 12 years.

The assessed values of most homes have at least doubled. Thus, the proposed 27-mill tax rate represents a substantial increase in taxes for Manchester property owners.

It is unlikely, however, that the directors will leave the manager's budget untouched. Last year, for instance, Weiss proposed a $25.5 million General Fund budget with a 9.45-mill tax increase. The directors reduced that to a $24.6 million budget with a 9.15-mill tax increase.

In other budgets, separate from the General Fund account, Weiss has proposed a $2,104,046 budget for the Town Fire District Special Fund, a 10 percent increase; a $1,331,311 budget for the Water Fund; and a $1,152,812 budget for the Sewer Fund.

Last year's three-hour budget hearing also held at Wadsworth School, attracted about 300 speakers, most of whom concentrated on two topics — Criticism of the size of the budget increase or support of the education budget.

More of the same can be expected tonight. So far, there has not been the groundswell of support for the school budget that occurred last year, but Weiss has included the entire Board of Education request — $15,819,500 — in his budget.

The directors held two budget workshops last week but little formal work has yet been done on the document. Both of the sessions served primarily as introductory courses to the budget.

Six of the nine directors have not worked before on preparing a town budget and only two, Republicans Carl Zinsner and Vivian Ferguson, were on the board last year during budget time.

The board has until May 7 to complete its budget work for the 1978-79 package.

Democrats plan event to fete seven in party

Herbert Stevenson and Paul Phillips have been named co-chairmen of the Manchester Democrats sixth annual dinner, a party which will honor seven active party members.

Six members of the past Town Board of Directors will be honored. They are John Thompson and Matthew Moriarty Jr., both former mayors, and Phyllis Jackson, Pascal Prignano, Robert Price and Jack Goldberg. Alfred Campbell, a longtime party worker, also will be honored.

The party fund-raiser will be held Saturday, May 13, at 7 p.m. at Willie's Steak House.

GOP blasts Weiss trip

Manchester Republican Town Chairman Thomas Ferguson is lambasting a proposal to fund a trip by Town Manager Robert Weiss to a seminar in Kansas City. Weiss is scheduled to leave Tuesday for the seminar on the Future Horizons of the Profession sponsored by the International City Management Association.

Ferguson referred to a policy set earlier in the fiscal year by the town that no employees would travel to seminars because of the present budget limitations.

The same matter was mentioned at Wednesday night's budget workshop of the Board of Directors by Vivian Ferguson, a Republican director and wife of the GOP chairman.

In the statement from Thom's Ferguson, released this morning, he said that the $300 transfer being proposed from the Contingency Fund to the general manager is not a large expenditure for town government. He also said that the selection of Weiss "might even be considered to be a compliment to the town and its professional staff."

But, he added, "When one considers that approval was given for the manager's attendance without a formal vote to change that policy, when one considers that the general manager will have left town and be in attendance at the seminar even before the vote on this expense item is acted upon, then one can see the effect of one party domination upon a community."

At last week's directors meeting, Democrat Stephen Penny, chairman of the Board of Directors, defended the decision that Weiss attend the conference in Kansas City. He said that only 20 managers were selected to attend.

Penny and other Democratic directors said that the town should feel honored to send Weiss to the seminar.

Penny also said that he had consulted with Mrs. Ferguson previously on the proposal that Weiss attend.

Mrs. Ferguson said that she had approved Weiss applying to attend the seminar but she did not give her approval to him attending if accepted. Penny said that he felt he had received Mrs. Ferguson's support that the manager should be allowed to attend. He said that the proposed seminar trip was approved by all Democratic directors at a recent caucus.

"It must be asked, can Manchester, or any community, afford the continual arrogance of rule by a party which bilkily changes a logical, well-considered policy without public consideration and vote?" Republican chairman Ferguson asked in his statement.

"We already have a questionable firehouse in the community, authorized by the predecessors of this Democratic majority. What can we expect that his board is going to do on the community next?" he said.

Budget requests received

Hebron

General government budget requests for 1978 were received by the Board of Finance last week with the major increases appearing in proposed capital expenditures.

No total figure is available yet for the town budget. The selectmen, however, have asked for $7,000 plus an estimated $5,000 in the fund accumulated from recycling glass and paper to add two bays to the town garage.

First Selectman Aaron Reid said he has a price of $11,000 for the shell and would use the balance as far as it goes for electrical and other interior work.

Also requested by the selectmen is $4,500 for a two-yard, four-wheel drive payloader and $700 for a mobile radio.

The constable's budget includes a $5,000 item for a police vehicle. Resident State Trooper John Soderberg said if the new vehicle is not approved, a sizable amount will have to be added to the budget for major repairs to the vehicle used now.

The Conservation Commission has asked for $3,000 to be set aside for future land acquisition and development.

Salary items for the elected officials are requested at the amounts set by the town in the two-year salary schedule adopted for the current terms of office.

An exception to this is a request from the tax collector for a raise from the $6,000 annual salary to $7,000.

Clerical salaries reflect increases throughout the budget, for the most part at about five percent.

A major increase is nearly $7,000 in insurance and bonds reflecting increased coverages and rates.

The Community Health Service, Inc. requests $41,360, an increase of $3,850.

The Commission on the Aging is requesting $570, an increase of $50. The commission hopes to plan some special programs for the senior citizens and to initiate a newsletter.

The budget request includes $141 for the town's contribution to the North Central Regional Mental Health Board.

Building Official Richard Keefe has asked for no salary increase from the current $8,000, but has asked for $2,500 to pay an assistant. Keefe is paying an assistant about $200 a month from his own salary this year.

A $10,000 item is asked for Town Aid — unimproved roads. This amount will be totally reimbursed by the state aid road funds.

Other highway accounts reflect increases, too. The request for town roads is $30,000, an increase of $5,000; equipment repairs has gone up to $14,000, an increase of $1,000 and gasoline is requested at $10,000, an increase of $500.

The labor account and the road superintendent's salary reflect five percent increases. The requested item for road superintendent is $6,522 and for the labor account, $71,992.

The request for constables is $7,280, an increase of $1,295 for patrolling; and $800 for expenses, an increase of $200 for uniforms and equipment replacement allowances and training costs.

The constables' budget also increases $700 for a new radio.

Land purchase opposed

Coventry

About 90 Coventry residents turned out for the first public hearing on a proposal by the Salvation Army Land Purchase Study Committee that the town buy about 78 acres of land on the southern end of Lake Waugumbag. The asking price is $375,000.

Most of the speakers who were not town officials opposed the purchase, stating that the town should consider road improvements and other priorities for its tax revenue. Half the purchase price might be funded by the federal Bureau of Outdoor Recreation and another 25 percent could be picked up by the state.

Study committee chairman Daniel Manley pointed out that town purchase would help protect the lake water quality, make land available for recreation as the population grows, protect the rural atmosphere of the area, and generally outweigh any tax benefits that could result from private ownership.

Larry Navias, a member of the study committee and also of the Parks and Recreation Commission, added that Coventry had team-oriented recreation because there is not enough open land. He said the Army facilities could be utilized year round by all age groups.

The study committee gave a slide presentation showing aerial and scenic views of the property. Still photos are on display at the Town Hall.

Resident Robert Farrar said, "The pictures are nice, but we have to look at the $375,000 seriously." He argued that the Town Hall itself was not being properly maintained and that the Army property will not be taken care of if it is acquired.

Ronald Doughty of Lakeview Drive noted that the town roads had fallen

Activities planned at library

Hebron

The Douglas Library is planning a week of "history, mystery and info to go" as part of its festivities for National Library Week April 2-8 and Hebron residents are urged to attend and participate.

Tonight at 8, Fire Department Rescue Captain John Hooker will be at the library to demonstrate the Heimlich Maneuver, a lifesaving technique for choking victims.

Tuesday, George Ducharme, superintendent of the Tolland Region of the Connecticut Department of Mental Retardation, will be at the library from 2:30 to 4 and 7 to 9 p.m. for an informal discussion concerning services for citizens who are mentally retarded.

Joining Ducharme will be Andree Lamed, area representative for Human Services, and Joan Conley and Gerry Tworowski of the Hebron Junior Women's Club.

Members of two groups will be at the library on Wednesday. The Hebron Junior Women's Club will distribute juvenile membership cards to young borrowers and provide info on library use including the card catalogue.

Regional District 8 Board of Education members will also be present to talk to residents about the proposed Rham Junior High School building and answer questions residents may have concerning it.

Friday begins a two-day book sale conducted by Douglas Library Association members Marilu DeCarvalho and John Sibun at the Log Home on Route 66 in Hebron Center. The book sale is set Friday from 9 a.m. to 7 p.m. and Saturday from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Saturday, Sibun will be on hand to "take the mystery out of our history." Sibun, author of "Our Town's Heritage," will be at the library from 2 to 5 p.m. to answer questions on Hebron's history.

New account urged under insurance act

Vernon

The Insurance Advisory Committee has recommended that a reserve account be set up in the Vernon town budget to offset possible financial exposure pertaining to the Connecticut Hypertension Act.

Arnold Zackin, chairman of the committee, said the act specifies that the town must provide benefits, equal to the workers' compensation benefits, to any paid fire or policeman disabled or dead as a result of hypertension or heart disease.

He said the benefits are not included under workmen's compensation coverage and the town would have to absorb the cost of complying with the act. He added that since the town doesn't have paid fire departments, the exposure is only with the police department.

In recommending the reserve account, the committee said it would mainly be providing weekly indemnity benefits of $147 plus $10 for each dependent child under the age of 18 and most likely the majority of the medical expenses involved would be absorbed by the group medical insurance program for the police.

The council is expected to discuss this, and another insurance matter, at its meeting tonight at 7:30 in the Memorial Building.

The insurance group has also advised the council that it should appropriate $52,093 to make up a deficit in the town's insurance account to assure coverage until the end of the fiscal year.

The town's liability insurance about doubled in cost over the last year, mainly because of the increase in the number of suits filed by people who fell or tripped on sidewalks in the Rockville section. The town has started a program to replace and repair the sidewalks hopefully to cut down on the number of suits.

The amount recommended to cover insurance costs in the 1978-79 proposed budget, was $258,457. Mayor Frank McCoy's recommendation is $246,457.

Discussion items

Among the items for discussion at tonight's Town Council meeting will be scheduling a date for a referendum for extension of sanitary sewers in several sections of town.

The council approved the installation of an aerial platform truck for the Rockville Fire Department; the other on an appropriation of $250,000 to buy an aerial platform truck for the Vernon Fire Department; and the third, an appropriation of $40,000 to buy land on which to build a replacement for the Dobson Fire House.

Another item to be discussed is the exercise of the option to renew the contract on the Ellington landfill site owned by Anthony Iotticchio.

The town signed the agreement in 1974 to be binding for five years on both parties. It was based on a population figure of 28,700 at $7,400 a year to be updated with population growth at an additional cost of $2 per person.

It also contained a clause concerning any increase in the cost of living index over July, 1974.

Other items to be discussed are: Letter of resignation from the town planner; requests for tax refunds; requests for budget transfers and intradepartmental transfers; and insurance matters.

CIA kept watch

HARTFORD (UPI) — Previously undisclosed documents show the CIA was keeping an eye on the Black Student Alliance at Yale University in 1970, The Hartford Courant says.

The documents, obtained by a Freedom of Information request, show the CIA took note of a May 1970 meeting scheduled by the alliance at the Ivy League school, the newspaper said Sunday.

The CIA, which was allegedly monitoring the movement of several black militant groups at the time, found out about the meeting by reading an article in The New York Times, The Courant said.

Bruins' Cashman on 4-point spree

NEW YORK (UPI) - The Boston Bruins worked off the frustrations of their 7-1 shelling Saturday at the hands of Montreal with an 8-3 decision over the New York Rangers Sunday night.

"They (the Bruins) didn't have to hustle, there wasn't much to hustle about. We didn't give much resistance," said disgruntled New York Coach Jean-Guy Talbot. While the Rangers' listless play made Boston's rapid recovery easier, Team B's defense was Cashman's opportunity for the most prolific scoring effort of his 13-year career - his first four-goal game ever - as the Bruins coasted home after compiling a 4-0 second-period lead.

The Rangers get another chance, however slight, to clinch a wild-card playoff berth when they face Atlanta at home Wednesday night.

In other games, the New York Islanders topped Detroit, 5-2. Cleveland tripped Chicago, 4-2. Pittsburgh defeated Toronto, 6-3. Atlanta trimmed Buffalo, 4-2, and Montreal and Washington played to a 4-4 tie.

In the WHA, Quebec humbled Houston, 7-1, and Indianapolis stopped Cincinnati, 6-3. Islanders 5, Red Wings 2. Bob Nystrom scored two goals and assisted on a third to help New York increase its first-place lead to five points in the Patrick Division.

Hurons 4, Black Hawks 2. Second-period goals by Gregg Smith, Jean Potvin and Dave She's shed her loser's image.

Instead of succumbing to the pressure, she turned back personal Australian Penny Palz on the second hole of a sudden-death playoff to walk away as winner of the seventh annual Dinah Shore event. Runner-up 10 times in her 11-year professional career, with eight second-place finishes since 1975.

There was a lot of basketball played last weekend as action in the Silk City Classic continued at East Catholic High.

Intermediate Division play saw Williamite All-Stars top O'Connell of East Hartford, 64-57, and then go on to beat Newington, 75-67, in one of the semifinals.

In another intermediate contest, Hill Middle School of New Haven outgamed Glastonbury, 54-39. Junior Division action found O'Connell of East Hartford triumphing over South Windsor, 44-24, and then beat Glastonbury, 43-38, in one of the semifinals.

Tim Kiro hit for 20 tallies for O'Connell in the loss to Glastonbury with Nick Naples tossing in 17 for the victors.

Senior Division early rounds saw the Manchester Indians outclass Ellington with Bob Borsky (20). Bill Anderson (19) and Ulysses Garcia (14) pacing the Indians. In other games, Cots Roofing of New Britain topped Rockville, 81-53. Arnes bested Black Knights, 55-36, with Bob Vena nailing in 23 and Steve Catton 10 for the winners.

New Britain trounced Upland All-Stars, 79-37, with Damien Purcell scoring 12 points for the losers; the Eagles stopped Middletown, 50-39, with Tim Skoly showing the way with 14 markers.

Celts miss NBA playoff third time in 28 years

BOSTON (UPI) - For only the third time in 28 years, the Boston Celtics have failed to make the NBA playoffs.

But there was no crying Sunday when the 13-time champions were mathematically eliminated from post-season play in a 123-109 loss to the Indiana Pacers.

After a season of trying to breathe life into a once vibrant team, the Boston players and officials were relieved the ordeal was over.

"It was just one of those years where everything went wrong," said General Manager Red Auerbach, smoking a big cigar that used to signify victory but now means only that the Celtics' top man has a tobacco habit.

"We got off to a bad start (1-1) and had injuries so you could have seen it coming. It (Boston's 31-46 record) is not a shock."

"We've played better the last few months (23-25) since Tom Sanders relieved Tom Heinsohn on Jan. 31, but when things go wrong they go wrong."

Auerbach, whose teams have won 13 NBA titles and have missed the playoffs just three times since he took over as coach in the 1950-51 season, said the club's late-season comeback attempt was hampered by a roof collapse at the Hartford Civic Center and two blizzards that forced the rescheduling of six games for later in the season.

"We started this game the way we have been starting games - by not really going out and digging from the line that we had to make at making the playoffs, but we didn't put ourselves in a position to make the playoffs."

Sanders pointed to a March 24 at-the-buzzer loss to visiting Chicago to illustrate the Celtics' inability to play up to their potential. Instead they had to hope that two of the three teams ahead of them - Cleveland, Atlanta, New Orleans - would sputter in the stretch to allow Boston to back into the playoffs.

"All season long we sort of paced ourselves a lot. That's not something we can do," said Sanders. "You assume if you can pace yourself the way we did that you also will be able to press when you have to. (But) we're not a strong press team, so how can we afford to pace ourselves and wait for the right opportunities?"

"If we had everybody at training camp and if we had gotten off to a good start then and if we hadn't lost four or five of the first-line games, where would this team be?" asked Sanders.

"We had to get off the mark right in the first place. The worst thing is that we are playing away from home in the first place so you can't afford to have anything missing at training camp. I don't think Boston fans expect to see this type of season here often and I certainly didn't expect to see this type of season here."

Sanders' contract extends only through the end of the season and it is up to Auerbach whether the coach is around next season.

Auerbach would not comment on Sanders' future except to say that he was very satisfied with the way they just went in the playoffs. We got a good reading on what we need and what has to be done."

recalled that Sidney Wicks joined the club on the opening day of the season, that Havlicek and newcomer Dave Bing both arrived with just a week of preseason practice remaining and that White already was a part-time performer because of sore heels.

"If we had everybody at training camp and if we had gotten off to a good start then and if we hadn't lost four or five of the first-line games, where would this team be?" asked Sanders.

"We had to get off the mark right in the first place. The worst thing is that we are playing away from home in the first place so you can't afford to have anything missing at training camp. Marathon slugfest by Canada entries

NEW YORK (UPI) - Toronto 15, Montreal 14. No, it wasn't a Canadian Football League encounter between the Argonauts and the Alouettes. It was baseball ... albeit a rather loose interpretation of it.

Canada's two major league teams, the Expos and the Blue Jays, met in an exhibition game at Dunedin, Fla., Sunday and put on a marathon slugfest that featured 30 hits - 20 by each team.

Roy Halliday def. Dave Downey, 6-1; Bill O'Brien def. Gary Chapin 6-2; 6-1; Rich Marshall def. Sam Hamilton 6-4; Dale Purcell def. Gene Marozzi 6-2; 7-5; Bill Mumford def. Bob Hastings 7-6; 7-5; Tom Cafazzo def. Dick Murphy 7-5; 6-4.

Not to be outdone, the Expos put another strong outing as he held the Royals to one run in six innings and finished the exhibition season with a 9-0 ERA.

Steve Carlton of Philadelphia and John Candalaria of Pittsburgh backed up in a classic duel for seven innings with each allowing only one run ... Dick Tidrow of the Yankees allowed only three singles and struck out six in six innings against Baltimore.

Nolan Ryan gave up four singles and struck out nine in six innings against Los Angeles ... and Rick Honeycutt gave up just one run in six innings against Cleveland.

There was plenty of hard hitting all around the exhibition circuit Sunday. Dave Parker, the NL's leading hitter a year ago, had five hits in the Pirates' 13-inning 4-1 victory over the Phillies ... Bobby Murcer had four hits, including a homer, as the Cubs rocked the Brewers, 12-6 ... Cliff Johnson drove in three runs with a single and a double in the Yankees' 5-0 triumph over Baltimore ... Lee Stanton had a three-run homer in Seattle's 8-1 victory over Cleveland.

Jeff Burroughs homered in Atlanta's 5-3 win over Boston ... Jack Clark had three hits, including a two-run homer, in the Giants' 9-0 rout of Oakland ... and the Angels ripped Dodger pitching for 14 hits tolobber the defending NL champions, 10-1.

In other exhibition action, Cincinnati downed the New York Mets, 3-1, Detroit edged the Chicago White Sox, 5-2. St. Louis beat Kansas City, 4-1, Houston outslugged Texas, 11-9, and San Diego topped Minnesota, 6-3.

Ken White net winner

Ken White of East Hartford defeated Clay Moore of Bolton to win the Men's Division singles tournament last weekend at the Manchester Racquet Club. Scores were 2-6, 6-4, 6-1.

NBA

Hawks 124, Nets 113; John Drew's 13 fourth-quarter points helped Atlanta defeat New Jersey and pull the Hawks 2 1/2 games ahead of idle New Orleans in a bid for the final Eastern Conference playoff spot.

Knicks 114, Bulls 109; Ray Williams scored all 15 of his points in the fourth quarter and Lonnie Shelton and Bob McAdoo poured in 25 points to clinch a playoff spot for New York. Mitch Kupchak led the Bulls with 30 points.

Nuggets 109, Rockets 100; Dan Issel hit for 22 points and Ralph Simpson scored a season-high 21 to lead Denver to an easy victory over Houston and a berth in the playoffs. Calvin Murphy had 32 for Rockets.

Bucks 129, Pistons 121; Marques Johnson's six points in the final two minutes allowed Milwaukee to hold off injury-riddled Detroit and win the bid for a spot in the playoffs. The Bucks' win killed the playoff hopes of both Detroit and the Chicago Bulls.

Suns 105, Warriors 99; Paul Westphal scored 11 of his 27 points in the fourth quarter to rally Phoenix over Golden State. All five Suns starters scored in double figures to offset the Warriors' attack led by Rick Barry with 31 and Phil Smith with 30.

Football Coach Jack Holik supervises activity

Universal Gym popular with students at MHS

By LEN AUSTER
Herald Sportswriter
They're pumping iron at Manchester High.
Since the middle of January, head football coach Jack Holik has been running a three-times-a-week weight lifting program on the less than year old Universal Gym situated in one of the school's lower gymnasiums.

"It's the best investment the school has ever made," opines Holik of the apparatus, which he hopes will bring significant results which will translate themselves on the gridiron next fall. "There's so much you can do on it. A weight program is super important."

Holik's program, run every Monday-Wednesday-Friday morning from 6:30 to 8, is open to anyone who wants to join but is used primarily by football players. Attendance has been in the 25-30 neighborhood each day.

The Universal, however, is not football's domain as other sports have taken advantage of it. Wrestling, track, swimming - boys and girls - to name a few, have all used the Universal as well as the physical development gym classes and teachers when it has been available. An off-season weight lifting program for basketball is also expected to start soon.

The equipment is to help all but more specifically football, which has met with success the past two seasons, hopes to harvest the most gains.

What is the object of using the Universal? It's being used to put weight on players with the goal to add strength. "Strength and speed equals power," states Holik. "It's stronger you get the faster you are going to be."

"To put on weight you need three things," Holik continued, "You have to work out with the machine, 2) eat and 3) get proper rest.

With the program Ray Diana, defensive secondary performer, has added 17 pounds. Lineman Dave Tvo has put on 12 pounds and tackle Bill Stokes, who started in February, has added 9-10 pounds - of muscle not fat. These are just three of those who have worked with the Universal.

"Size and strength are two of the benefits we will get out of the program. We also want to build the kids up to prevent injuries.

"A side benefit is mental toughness. There is nothing more boring than lifting weights. It's a lot of hard work but if they're willing to pay the price in the off-season then I think it will pay off in games. It breeds confidence. From the football viewpoint this is part of the price - nothing comes easy."

It isn't the prettiest thing to look at but if the Universal Gym brings about results - to the coaches it's going to look downright beautiful.

Brohamer looks ahead to Red Sox opportunity

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla. (UPI) - Jack Brohamer of the Boston Red Sox knows the nicest thing about theories is that they are rarely proven practical.

"Since Boston boasts one of the most formidable lineups in baseball, it isn't expected Brohamer, whom the Red Sox signed as a free agent last November, will get many starts. But the veteran 27-year-old infielder feels there still is plenty of opportunity.

"With the team we have, you're doubly not going to pinch hit very much," conceded Brohamer, signed last winter just eight days before the Boston Braves traded for second baseman Jerry Remy. "Theoretical - I could go through the entire season never getting an at-bat the way this team is structured."

"But somehow it always works out though you're something that you get to the plate 150 or 200 times. You know if there is an injury, I'll be the first one in there at second or third."

"I'm not going to pinch hit now for Boston third baseman Butch Hobson, hitless innings and Rawly Eastwick preserved the shutout with a scoreless ninth, despite two Oriole hits.

The Yankees broke a scoreless tie with three runs in the fifth on a single by Chris Chambliss, an double by Graig Nettles, Johnson's single for two runs and a sacrifice fly by Bucky Dent.

Group asks Grasso veto bottle bill

HARTFORD (UPI) — In a last ditch attempt to derail the "bottle bill," the Connecticut Beverage Advisory Committee has asked Gov. Ella T. Grasso to veto the measure because it will cause economic hardship.

The bottle bill, which would take effect Jan. 1, 1980, was given final legislative approval last week by the senate and sent to Gov. Grasso who has promised to sign it.

In a telegram, the CBAC told Mrs. Grasso Saturday the bottle bill is a "rip-off of the consumer, raising prices by $10 million or more each year through the one-cent per container handling charge."

The senate's approval of the bill ended a six-year campaign by environmentalists for the measure, which would require a nickel deposit on beer and soda containers.

The senate also narrowly passed a bill to tax business for a massive litter cleanup program. The anti-litter bill has gone to the House where it may face resistance.

The CBAC said hundreds of workers eventually will lose their jobs because of the bill.

In a related development, a glass bottle in Killingly announced Friday it may lay-off 250 of its 2,000 workers when the bill takes effect.

A spokesman for the Glass Containers Corp. said bottle production and recycling also suffer.

Robert J. Burns of Fairfield, chairman of the CBAC, said his organization remains in full support of the anti-litter bill.

Burns said the alternative anti-litter bill "is superior to the bottle bill." He said it would do more to preserve the environment and at a far less cost to consumers and business.

Connecticut's biggest environmental lobbying group compared passage of the bottle bill to Moses reaching the promised land.

Dear Abby By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: What is your opinion of a man who is no "macho" but he flirts with women and he is connected with his work. He says, "That's women's work." He has no children and both work, but he insists that I get up earlier than I ordinarily would in order to blow-dry his hair every morning.

DEAR ABBY: This may not seem like much of a problem but it's very serious to me. My wife chews her fingernails. Her fingers are constantly in her mouth. They are now infected and swollen. So does her breath. The tips of her fingers are always red and inflamed. She must be a wreck inside to do this to herself.

DEAR ABBY: You invited readers to express their views on writing or phoning to thank a hostess after a party. I imply you stress writing letters to her mouth. I am sure it is both ridiculous and redundant.

DEAR ABBY: Your statement: "She must be a wreck inside to do this to herself." is the key to the problem. First she needs to find out why she's into such self-destructive behavior before she can overcome it. Psychotherapy is the solution.

DEAR ABBY: I've been thinking about a hostess after a party. I imply you stress writing letters to her mouth. I am sure it is both ridiculous and redundant.
