Seeking donations for ECHS

Friends of East Catholic High School are volunteering in the school's fourth annual Phon-A-Thon to alumni and parents soliciting donations to defray part of the operating deficit projected for next year. From left are Carole Lombard, Class of 1974, Mrs. Edwin Blaszcak, alumni parent chairman, and the Rev. Robert E. Saunders, principal. This year's goal is projected to double last year's $7,067. More than two dozen volunteers are trying to reach nearly 5,000 alumni and parents tonight from 6 to 9 and Saturday from 9 a.m. to noon. (Herald photo by Dunn)

Registrar pay hikes help cut the budget

By GREG PEARSON

The Manchester Board of Directors Thursday night agreed to give $500 raises to the registrars of voters and cut about $15,000 from the proposed 1978-79 budget. The board also held a lengthy discussion about proposed salary increases for two present Comprehensive Employment Training Act employees although no final decision on the matter was made. During the three-hour session, the directors reviewed four sections of the general government budget — General Manager, Controller, Elections, and Board of Directors.

O'Sullivan will stay at least to June 30

Timothy O'Sullivan, highway superintendent for the Town of Manchester, will stay with the town until at least June 30. O'Sullivan announced last week that he was resigning April 14, but that resignation date now has been extended to June 30. He also gave the indications that a reconsideration of his decision may be made before the date. When he resigned, O'Sullivan said that there were personal reasons for his decision. Some differences with other town officials also are believed to be part of the reason that O'Sullivan made the decision. He met with Jay Giles, director of public works, Thursday, their regular meeting day, and they agreed to extend the resignation date from April 14 to June 30.

All the decisions made in the budget workshops can be changed before the budget is set by May 7, but many are likely to stick. The $500 raises for Registrars Herb Stevenson and Fred Peck actually result in a cut in the budget proposed by Town Manager Robert Weiss. Weiss had recommended $1,000 raises for the registrars, who now receive $5,500 for the part-time jobs. Republicans Carl Zinsner and Vivian Ferguson voted against the raises, but the other seven directors supported the hike. "When they took the job, they knew what the salary was," Zinsner said. Director Stephen Cassano, however, referred to the fact that the salary for the jobs has not been raised recently. "After four years, they should get at least $500," he said. Other directors mentioned that the registrars have been innovators in making polling places accessible to the handicapped. Raises were rejected for the two deputy registrars and Election Day workers. Proposed raises for two other elected officials — a $2,000 proposed hike for the treasurer and a $1,000 proposed raise for the town clerk — will be discussed at upcoming workshops. The directors discussed two other pay hikes proposed for the management analyst and personnel assistant jobs, which are now funded through CETA. Weiss has proposed that the positions become permanent, at a salary of $13,488, once CETA funding is dropped. This would be an increase of more than $2,500 for both posts, which are now held by William Tierney and Steven Werber. Mrs. Ferguson said that the CETA jobs should be considered training positions and that the board should set a policy of creating no new positions this year. "I just don't think we're in a position right now where we can afford to do this," she said. Betty Intagliata and Zinsner said that the employees knew the salary and the job when they took the position. Charles McCarthy, assistant town manager, said that both employees have taken on increased responsibilities and the town administration feels the increase in pay is justified. Directors Stephen Cassano and

Carter will defer neutron warhead

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Carter announced today he is deferring production of the high-radiation neutron warhead, but directed the Pentagon to go ahead with delivery systems capable of using such weapons in the future. Carter's decision, announced in a White House statement, came after a week of speculation that he had decided to kill the controversial program entirely. But the president said today his "ultimate decision" on using the weapon "will be made later, and will be influenced by the degree to which the Soviet Union shows restraint in its conventional and nuclear arms programs and force deployments."

The neutron warhead, which kills people with massive doses of radiation but causes little property damage in its explosion, was designed to offset huge Soviet and Warsaw Pact troop and tank concentrations in Eastern Europe. High administration sources said Thursday — after reports circulated that Carter had originally decided to kill the program — that he would instead delay the program as a bargaining chip. He reportedly will press the Soviets to cut troop strength threatening the NATO allies and to come to terms on a new strategic arms agreement. Leaving the neutron warhead option open, Carter said today, he has "ordered the Defense Department to proceed with the modernization of the Lance missile nuclear warhead and the eight-inch weapon systems."

He said such action amounted to leaving open the option of installing the enhanced radiation elements. The president said the United States "is consulting with its partners in the North Atlantic Treaty Organization on the enhanced radiation elements." Grasso foe takes credit for her job

By SUSAN VAUGHN

"I feel I have made Ella Grasso a reasonably effective governor since I have been in pursuit of her," Lt. Gov. Robert K. Killian told a group of about 100 at Manchester Community College's first candidates night session Thursday night. Killian took the credit for forcing Mrs. Grasso to take a stand on issues, such as the extension of Interstate Highway 84 through the eastern part of the state, since he announced his candidacy. Killian said he has been in favor of the controversial link-up highway for the past four years, but it is only in the past two months that Gov. Grasso decided to "take up her helicopter" and look over the area. In explaining why he decided to run against his own administration, Killian talked of frustration and disappointment he felt with the administration. He said he tried to influence the conduct of the administration by serving as the devil's

Jobless blacks nudge rate up

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Higher unemployment among black women and black teen-agers nudged the nation's jobless rate up to 6.2 percent in March for the first increase in seven months, the Labor Department reported today. The increase from 6.1 percent in February was the first since August when the unemployment rate climbed from 6.9 to 7 percent. It occurred because the number of people looking for work rose faster than new jobs were created. Despite the increase, the department said the total unemployment picture was "little changed" last month. A spokesman said the rise in the jobless rate was due to "rounding up the numbers." A different method for February would have left unemployment unchanged for the two months. The rise halted a string of four consecutive months in which the unemployment rate dropped. The increase was concentrated entirely among black women and black teen-agers and those on government payrolls. The department said there were 9.4 million people working or looking for work in March, an increase of 321,000 from February. The number of people with jobs was estimated at 83.3 million, up 283,000 from February. The number of jobless Americans rose 58,000 to 6.15 million. The department said two of every five black teen-agers was unemployed last month. The jobless rate rose for adult women from 5.7 to 5.8 percent and for black and other minorities from 11.8 to 12.4 percent. The jobless rates for adult men (4.5 percent) and white workers (5.3 percent) were unchanged from February. Unemployment for full-time workers (5.6) and teen-agers (17.3) improved 0.1 percent. Breaking down these categories by race shows that the job picture for white was unchanged with an average unemployment rate of 5.3 percent. Black unemployment rose from 11.8 to 12.4 percent with all the deterioration among women and teen-agers. Among industry groups, the department said there was improvement for construction and factory workers. The jobless rate rose for those in government, transportation, public utilities, wholesale and retail trade. The jobless rate rose for laborers, service workers and white collar employees in professional and management positions.

Today's summary

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Seven New England cities will receive a share of $1 billion in government and industry commitments to the nation's distressed cities. The funds include Urban Development Action Grants by HUD and private sector investments. In Hartford, two grants will total $650. Private funds will be $1,550,000; other federal funds, $150,000; local funds, $31,500. New jobs to be created to Connecticut. Other cities in the region to benefit will be Boston, Bridgeport (Conn.), Lewiston (Maine), New Britain, Conn., Pawtucket (R.I.) and Springfield. WILLIMANTIC (UPI) — A nine-year-old boy, whose father claims was the state's main witness against 52 other youngsters arrested last month in a drug raid, was to be buried today in Gray, Maine. John Saucier Jr., and his sister, Tabetha, 10, died of smoke inhalation here early Tuesday when a fire trapped them in their third-story attic apartment. Their mother, Rebecca, and younger brother, Stephen, 4, escaped unharmed. ROME (UPI) — The Red Brigades kidnapers of former Premier Aldo Moro struck again today, shooting a Genoa businessman in the legs and right hand. In Rome, a series of bombings damaged the entrances of a police station, two Christian Democratic Party offices and the headquarters of a Roman Catholic organization, and a policeman's parked car was set on fire. There were no injuries. Meanwhile, a neo-Fascist magazine said today the terrorists are demanding $1 billion in ransom for Moro's release. MOSCOW (UPI) — Soviet President Leonid Brezhnev today accused the United States of "indecision and inconsistency" in negotiations for a strategic arms limitation agreement.

Rabbi will get service award

Rabbi Leon Wind has been named the recipient of the 1978 Community Service Award for Spiritual Leadership by the Greater Manchester Chamber of Commerce. Rabbi Wind of Temple Beth Shalom will be formally recognized when the Chamber continues its celebration of local achievement at its April 19 annual banquet at The Colony. Rabbi Wind has been the spiritual leader of Temple Beth Shalom in Manchester since 1945. Before coming to Manchester, he served as assistant rabbi and education director in the Beth Shalom Synagogue in Kansas City, Mo. Rabbi Wind's formal education began at the University of Lvov, formerly in Poland, now Russian-occupied. He majored in the sciences and philosophy, and also pursued some Hebrew studies while studying to be a teacher of religion. He said at one time, "Because of my background in scientific studies, I felt the need to show that science and religion do not exclude one another. While still at Lvov, he applied for admission to the Jewish Theological Seminary in New York City where he was ordained in 1943. In 1948 he was awarded a degree of Doctor of Hebrew Literature from the seminary, and in 1971, the honorary degree of Doctor of Divinity was bestowed upon him by the seminary in recognition of his contribution to the furtherance of Jewish life in Connecticut. During his tenure as rabbi of Temple Beth Shalom, he has seen his congregation grow from 60 members to a community of more than 300 families. Under his guidance, the congregation added a school wing to its original building on Myrtle and Linden streets, now housing the Senior Citizen Center. In 1963, the congregation erected its present building on East Middle Turnpike. In 1960, on his 15th anniversary in Manchester, the congregation gave Rabbi and Mrs. Wind a gift of a trip to Israel. On his 20th anniversary, the temple granted him life tenure, and on his 25th anniversary, he was granted a sabbatical which he and Mrs. Wind spent in Israel where he did post-doctoral studies at the Hebrew University. Rabbi Wind is a past president of the Connecticut Rabbinical Assembly, an organization of all Conservative Rabbis in the state. He also served on the national executive council of the Rabbinical Assembly of America, the headquarters of which is in New York City. In 1970, he received the United Jewish Appeal Leadership award for his efforts on behalf of this world charitable and humanitarian organization. He is a past president of the former Manchester Ministerial Association. When the association was reorganized as the Manchester Clergy Association, he was elected its secretary-treasurer. During the nearly 33 years that

Native writes book on women, politics

A former resident of Manchester has co-authored a book on the behavior of women in politics. Titled "The Making of Political Women," Dr. Mary A. Boutillier, chairperson of Seton Hall University's department of political science, and Dr. Rita Mae Kelly of Rutgers University's Urban Studies and Community Development department have written a book that tells how women's behavior in politics is related to the way their parents raised them.

Dr. Boutillier is a graduate of Manchester High School and St. Joseph College. She received her doctor's degree in 1974 from Georgetown University.

She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd G. Boutillier of 710 Keeney St. The book has been dedicated to Dr. Boutillier's mother, and is available from Nelson-Hall Publishers, 325 W. Jackson Blvd., Chicago, Ill. 60606.

The book examines 36 well known women including Gov. Ella Grasso, Golda Meir, Jacqueline Bouvier Kennedy Onassis, Indira Gandhi and Angela Davis.

According to the theory of the authors, the context of the home in which the girl was reared will shape the extent to which she becomes a political achiever as an adult.

Dr. Boutillier said that as women become more active in the public sphere, "we must begin to scientifically understand those forces which propel women to choose alternate political paths. She also said that while much is known about the sources of men's political involvement, this is the first systematic study of women's elite political behavior.

Joyner seeks tax relief

Walter Joyner of Manchester, a candidate for the Republican nomination for the 12th Assembly District race, has asked local legislators to attempt to return a reported state surplus to the communities in the form of local property tax relief.

"There should be no reason to allow this surplus to act as icing on a proposed two billion dollar state budget," Joyner said.

"Many of the financial problems of the cities and towns are compounded by programs previous Legislatures have mandated but have not funded," he said.

He referred to Manchester's attempts now to reduce a budget recommendation from the town manager that calls for a large tax increase for local property owners.

"What a welcome relief to property taxpayers if our legislators bit the bullet and led the way in trying to return double digit state spending and to return a surplus," Joyner said.

Explaining his sculpture

John Foley, sculptor, discusses one of his works with a viewer, John Johnston, at an exhibit of the artist's metal and marble sculpture now being shown in the Manchester State Bank through April 20. A resident of Bolton, Foley has exhibited in local shows and galleries and is affiliated with the Manchester Fine Arts Association, Connecticut Academy, and Visual Arts Cooperative.

Privacy workshop planned

The Manchester Community Services Council is holding a workshop on confidentiality Tuesday, April 18 from 9 a.m. to noon at the Community Baptist Church.

The workshop will focus on the problem of helping a client in a crisis situation while abiding by all the rules of confidentiality.

The format will include a short training session on confidentiality and a social problem game in which all those attending will participate. The facilitator of the workshop will be Father Rubin.

Anyone working in the social and health service areas is urged to attend this workshop. The public also is invited.

Anyone interested in attending should call the Human Services Department at 646-5281, ext. 285.

Why is this the most-talked-about life insurance buy in Connecticut?

It's easy to find out. Just go to the mutual savings bank where you have a savings or checking account (plan to have one) and where SBLI Depositors Group Life Insurance is offered.

A life insurance bank representative will be glad to review all the facts with you, including price. Then, you decide how much insurance you want ($10,000, $15,000, $20,000) and can fit into your budget. You can fill out an application in minutes, and in private. It's life insurance made simple, and affordable.

If you've been putting off the insurance protection you know you need, shouldn't you be talking about this great insurance buy?

Age Last Birthday	$10,000	$15,000	$20,000

Opinion

Saluting Kennedy

It would be difficult to think about the United Fund, the Red Cross, the American Legion, or of service to veterans and not have the name of Everett R. Kennedy Sr. get into the conversation.
The Greater Manchester Chamber of Commerce has selected Mr. Kennedy to receive its first Community Service Award.
Everett Kennedy has long championed the causes of the serviceman. He has been involved in every effort of servicemen in the town. It would be unusual if he were not in the line of march for Memorial Day, or on Veterans Day, taking part in honoring the serviceman.

His service to the Red Cross has spanned many years. But he feels his most important achievement has been with the United Fund. He helped to bring the United Fund to Manchester; he has seen it serve a variety of groups, both charitable and service.
Even with these endeavors, he found time to serve his town, both in elective and appointive offices. He was a town director in the 1950s.
He is retired from Lydall and Foulds Paper Co. where he served as personnel manager and purchasing agent.
We salute the selection of Everett Kennedy for the Chamber Service Award.

ASK MACC
Editor, Fr. Steve Jacobson
A service of the Manchester Area Conference of Churches

Question: What opportunities are available for young people in the Town of Manchester?
Answer: The Town of Manchester has approximately 3,776 people between the ages of 16-20 years, a good many of whom will be looking for part-time, summer and year-round work.

The town has long recognized the need for providing funds to hire its youth. The Summer Activities in Manchester program, usually referred to as SAM, runs from June to August. The program is designed to provide activities and part-time employment for Manchester's youth population.

This past year the town received over 300 applications to fill 50 positions in various departments throughout the town. Over half were directly involved in planning and operating SAM activities within the Recreation Department. The program sponsored outdoor movies and concerts, craft fairs and plays. The remaining employees worked in various municipal departments and engaged in varied functions from collecting taxes to mowing lawns.

Anyone interested in applying for summer positions in the SAM program should fill out an application in the Personnel Office of the Town Hall.
Outside of the SAM program, the town has limited opportunities for youth to obtain part-time jobs. The only town department to hire youths on a part-time basis other than for summer jobs is the Recreation Department, which hires a number of students to assist in their activities. Anyone interested in more information on job opportunities in the Recreation Department should contact Melvin Siebold, recreation director.

Other avenues for students to obtain part-time jobs are available through the Board of Education. The board, which recognizes the need to offer youth opportunities to gain work experience, runs a highly successful work study program.
The Cooperative Occupation Education Program allows students to work part-time for credit.

The Youth Services Department, which is an agency of the Manchester School System, administers the Connecticut Youth Work Experience Program, which is geared toward assisting youth who meet certain economic criteria to find jobs. In the past year, 120 youths met the guidelines, but only 15 jobs were available. These jobs are for students and they run ten hours a week, two hours a day.
This department also operates the Job Opportunities for Youth Program, which attempts to place youth 16 years old and under in various part-time jobs. Anyone interested in this program should contact Robert Digan, Youth Services director.

After exploring the opportunities for youth in Manchester to obtain part-time jobs both in the public and private sector, one thing stands out clearly: it is a difficult process. Job opportunities are scarce and the increasing of the minimum wage to $2.65 this year and $2.95 next year will make part-time work even less obtainable. It is not economically feasible for the public or private sector to pay students a premium rate for part-time work.

The problem of providing jobs for youth is presently being addressed on two fronts. The Manchester Chamber of Commerce has formed a committee to explore the opportunities available for part-time work in the private sector while the Town Board of Directors is considering forming a Commission on Youth.

On that National Level, the president has signed into law the Youth Employment and Demonstration Act of 1977 which was created to serve as a base for new youth legislation. It is anticipated that this act will not provide any substantial amount of money for jobs in this area, but nationwide the goal is to find out if enough useful jobs could be created provided money is available, if young people would be willing to work and go to school at the same time, and if dropouts could be encouraged to resume their education.
It is obvious that we must explore other alternatives to cope with the very serious problem of youth unemployment. Whether it be providing tax incentives to private business to hire youths, or the establishment of a student minimum wage lower than the regular minimum wage, we will address the problem further.

MCC's tempest in the teapot

To the tempest in the teapot of our Manchester Community College, I trust I might have a final word; and then relegate this matter back to the halls of the institution. I speak as one who has been fortunate to know Dr. Denison, and also to have lived as a neighbor to one of the major instigators of the faculty dissatisfaction.
It seems to me that in this matter the fundamental fact has been overlooked by the faculty, the fact that the college is established by the people of this state to instruct certain classes of our young people and adult members of the surrounding community in areas of education considered advisable for the modern concept of a community college.
To this end, I, you, we citizens, through the state and its duly designated committee, select an administrator to see that this job gets done. We hire persons to teach in various capacities. In the whole framework of this undertaking, the important ingredient is the student body seeking at this college an education.
To be selected as an administrator of this college puts one so selected in the position of having to answer not to the faculty but the citizenry of the state. To be an administrator of a state school in the inflationary period of our economy in which we now flounder is not an easy task; it involves decisions that must often seem, to the administrator, restrictive and frustrating, often unproductive but necessary.

He and Mayor McCoy have a great deal in common. Vernon deserves far better than what he has subjected to the town we live in.

Says he owes apology

Republican Robert Wheelri is showing his true colors by demonstrating his own brand of ethics and integrity, or perhaps I should say the lack of them.
He and Mayor McCoy have a great deal in common. Vernon deserves far better than what he has subjected to the town we live in.
Mr. Wheelri should be fortunate enough to have a fraction of the intelligence, integrity, dedication and honesty that Marie has if he showed even a small percentage of the council qualities that Marie has we could then say that we are fortunate to have him, too.
I sincerely hope that he at least has the decency to try to make amends for the damage he so thoughtlessly caused and will put any vindictiveness aside in the future so that the council can do the job that it was designed to do.
Character assassinating anyone is poor ethics at best. Doing this to a fellow councilperson at a public meeting is even more appalling.

To the editor:
I would like to publicly thank the area merchants who donated refreshments for the volunteers at Manchester's third annual health fair.

Burger King, Dairy Queen, Bess Eaton and Dip and Sip were responsible for the coffee, doughnuts, and juice enjoyed by the volunteers who numbered more than 100.

We are also indebted to Prestige Printing for donating the posters which were used to publicize the fair.

Paying strikers

By ANDREW TULLY
WASHINGTON - The Supreme Court has acted, and about time. It has agreed to decide whether a company, in effect, should pay its employees for striking.
How's that again? Yep. A number of states, including New York, Massachusetts, Michigan and Washington, have laws under which strikers may collect unemployment insurance benefits from funds contributed in their entirety by employers.

The case accepted by the highest bench arises from a seven-month strike in 1971-72 against the New York Telephone Co. and other units of the American Telephone and Telegraph Co. in New York State.
After a waiting period of seven weeks required by the state law, 23,000 strikers collected some $49 million in tax-free unemployment benefits - from their employers.

Although strikes everywhere else in a national walkout returned to work within a month, the New Yorkers remained out. The National Labor Relations Board held that the continued strike was illegal, a ruling that had all the effect of a gnat bite.
To coin a cliché, confusion reigned. First, a U.S. District Court ruled that the New York law was unconstitutional because it provided for "state intervention on behalf of the strikers, caused an employer to finance its own strikers, and is in conflict with federal labor law policy."
But a U.S. Court of Appeals then reversed the ruling, saying there was "no clear intent" that Congress wanted to prohibit such state legislation.

Well, "intent" is always hard to prove. But history gave the appeals court a hook to hang its hat on.

In 1935, a Senate report said states were free to set up unemployment insurance programs as they wished. In 1947, the Senate rejected a House-passed bill that would have barred benefits for strikers. In 1969, Congress told Richard Nixon to get lost when he proposed that it enact such a ban.

However, that is not quite that. In its more furtive moments, especially with Big Labor looking over its shoulder, Congress also breaks laws. In fact, the New York law almost surely is unconstitutional because it is in conflict with the passage by Congress more than 40 years ago of the Labor Relations Act which made federal law supreme.

Indeed, a third U.S. Court of Appeals in 1973 invalidated a Rhode Island law similar to New York's, although finding a lack of "unambiguous Congressional intent."

Intent my Aunt Nellie. What about common sense? If a worker knows he'll get jobless pay while on strike, he will sure as shooting be more enthusiastic about going on strike and remaining on strike. The New York law is an illegal strike weapon - illegal because it is intervention by the state on the side of the strikers, and forces employers to subsidize strikes. It is the state acting to crush employer resistance to union demands.

In this long-standing controversy, Congress has been an ass. One year for the happy day when the various domestics serving its members strike en masse and demand unemployment checks while walking the picket lines.

Misses. Bailey and Deardourff are all over the political landscape this year, and not solely on behalf of Republican gubernatorial candidates either.

The media gurus are also plotting a major campaign for a Washington-based gun control organization, the National Council to Control Handguns, which is seeking to enlist victims of handgun violence for a crusade to elect members of Congress who will support stronger gun laws.

Although opinion polls consistently show a majority of the American people favor stiffer gun controls, only the opponents now feel strongly enough to vote for or against a congressional candidate solely on the basis of his or her gun control position.

NCHC leaders figure victims of handgun violence should be the logical nucleus of a pro-control voting bloc. Among the first to sign on for the new crusade were Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, Ethel Kennedy and Martin Luther King Sr., all of whom understand only too well the dreadful toll of handgun violence.

HIGH SCHOOL WORLD

Press conference not as expected

When Kathy Bossidy, Jeff Phelan, Suzanne Adams and I learned that we had been granted FBI clearance and would be allowed to attend a White House press conference, I, for one, was very excited.

I mean, what could be more exciting than a press conference? Flashbulbs popping, CBS newsmen begging to be called upon, Jody Powell standing up on a stage in a suit and carefully evading dozens of important questions—that's all very thrilling stuff for a High School World writer.

Well, the experience was every bit as interesting as I thought it would be, but in a surprising way: Every impression I ever had about what a press conference was like and about the "mystique" of the press secretary was dead wrong.

When John Q. Public watches a press conference (or part of one) on the TV evening news, he probably gets an impression something like this:

Jody Powell walks with great dignity onto the stage. The masses of reporters below him sit in silence until he states that he is ready to answer questions. On this cue, all the reporters jump up out of their seats and shout, "Mr. Secretary! Mr. Secretary!" Press Secretary Powell then calls on as many of the reporters as he has time for and then walks with great dignity off the stage, being trailed by anxious reporters hungry for more printable information.

Actually, the standard press conference (like the one we saw at conferences for the printed media and are naturally not as impressive as those staged for TV. Jody Powell emerges from a side door by a small, cluttered stage ten minutes late. He pauses to have some small talk with a reporter who is eating his lunch, and then picks his way through the array of camera parts lying on the stage until he arrives at the microphone.

He wore (on the day we saw him) a white shirt with the sleeves rolled up, and a loosened tie; a cigarette dangled from the corner of his mouth.

"Okay, gentlemen, we can begin now," he puffed into the microphone.

He started the briefing with a short statement from President Carter on the Panama Canal Treaty situation. He then opened the floor to questions from the press corps. All of his

Dr. Todd writes book for children

Dr. Joan Marlow Todd, daughter of George H. Marlow and the late Wilma D. Marlow of 51 Blue Ridge Drive, Manchester, has never seemed to stop studying.

After graduating from MHS in 1966, she went on to attend Sarah Lawrence College, where she began her formal study of English, writing, and literature.

During her undergraduate years she spent the junior year abroad. She returned to the United States to receive her A.B. in creative writing and literature in 1970.

From there she went on to begin four years of study at Harvard University, earning in 1972 an A.M. in English and American literature, and in 1976 a Ph.D. in English and American literature of the 19th century.

During her years of graduate study at Harvard she wrote short stories, one of which was honored by the Burnett Year Book of Discovery for the best graduate and undergraduate literature for 1971.

With her strong background in literature and her desire for communication with children, she had all the necessary ingredients necessary to undertake her most recent project: writing a simple version of child's popular story, which can be understood by children. "A Swiss Family Robinson," as available at Marlow's Department Store is just that.

All the proceeds from the book will be donated in the name of Wilma Marlow.

A pun-ishing article

One of the most interesting parts of written and spoken language is probably the pun. Shakespeare used it as a "comedy relief," and today it can be found in everything from newspaper headlines to graffiti on bathroom walls.

The pun has evidently become an integral part of the English language, as well as other languages, and deserves more respect than it has been given in the past.

Its informal use has risen to such a height of popularity that whole conversations have been formed from them and their relatives, and they have even begun to pervade the classroom. In Chemistry such things as HUKLOMNO (H₂O) have been found to occur. Also discovered was the formula wheel (a ring of double positive iron ions) and a variant of that, the four iron.

Most notable, however, was the student who declared that he would come to school dressed as a molecule. The comment to that was that he could then be called a "degenerate." One pun that almost everyone could associate with declared that Niels was Bohring.

English class is also found to be a nest of poisonous puns. They deal mostly with many lettered mythological and ancient names from literature. These include the more memorable "Euripides pants?" "Eumenides pants?" "Kubla Khan; Immanuel Kant; Canal 17; Nietzsche is pletsche," and "Emerson wasn't Thoreau in his actions."

Most of these puns have been found roaming around the school and have in fact been indicted for the death of some of the High School World editors. If that isn't enough, "Esquire" published an article on the "Walls of Ivy," with the subtitle "Privy Information." How unsettling can puns get?

The "Esquire" puns included the ones previously mentioned, plus ly candies, and a type of mineral water that supposedly healed anything were among the exhibits.

One item that defied credibility was a can labeled "dehydrated water," which was, of course, empty.

Other consumer rip-offs discussed were mail order frauds and bait 'n' switch advertising. An example of this is when a store advertises a product at sales prices, but when the consumer arrives there are none of the advertised specials; but since the word "advertising" is in the store, he buys something anyway. This is mostly a way of luring people to a store.

The student response to Mr. Boguslawski was very good, producing a wide variety of questions. Mr. Boguslawski concluded his speech by inviting any interested MHS class to come down to the DCP for a tour.

Readers may be familiar with Mr. Boguslawski, sometimes referred to as the "Polish Rocket." He has a call-in radio show with Brad Davis on the DCP every Wednesday morning. — Jim Richardson

Guidance notes

The Guidance Department recently conducted a survey of the transfer policies of various colleges regarding the UConn and Manchester Community College Cooperative courses.

A questionnaire was sent to all colleges to which students enrolled in Cooperative courses in the classes of '77 and '78 applied. Colleges were asked to indicate if and under what circumstances college credit for these courses could be transferred.

In some cases, the credit could be transferred if a "C" or better; in others it could be transferred if not used as a high school graduation requirement; and in still others, the Advanced Placement test must be taken and specific scores earned in order to have the credit transferred.

In a few cases, the credit was not transferable under any circumstances. Copies of the summary of the replies from individual colleges is available in Room 110.

Counselors have been meeting with sophomores and juniors to help them choose their courses for next year. Students are expected to keep these appointments. All course selections are expected to be completed by April 8. Changes may be made between June 1 and July 31.

Information on summer programs at various schools and colleges continues to be received by the Guidance Office. Brochures are available in the Guidance Office and posters are

Article explained

In an article that appeared in the March 17 issue of the High School World, I made a comment concerning the amount of respect that exists between Wednesday and the players on the tennis team. This article is an explanation of that comment.

In my quest to cover some aspect of the sport for the World without taking away the job of Herald sportswriters, I sometimes go overboard and make mistakes. Because of the dissensions that often existed among members of a team, as was the case last year, I assumed that the same might be true this year. It is not good to make assumptions, especially not in print.

The comment ended up sounding like a cheap shot at the present coach which it was not meant to be. Therefore, I feel that I owe an apology to the tennis team for an unnecessary comment, one that has no place in a high school paper. — Mike Wilson

Dear Abby

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I have been divorced for 12 years. For business reasons, I have lived in another city. My three sons have been raised by their mother. I have always provided more than the court required and have tried to maintain a good relationship with my sons over the years. The problem is my oldest son. He graduated from high school two years ago and is still sitting at home, watching television all day, sleeping late and staying up until all hours. He has no desire to do anything else; no need to get a job because I am required to pay him an allowance until he's 21. This provides cigarette and pocket money. His mother isn't concerned about his idleness because if support payments will drop, and she doesn't want her income reduced.

I don't think I should support this 19-year-old as I did when he was 12. It encourages his inactivity, but I can't kick him out of his mother's house. Don't recommend psychological help. His mother wouldn't permit it. It would mean that she isn't perfect. I can't cut off the money and force him to get a job. He's not interested in college or trade school. All he wants to do is watch television. He knows every program that comes on between noon and sign-off time.

How can I wake this guy up to the fact that he can't sit on his can forever? Besides, it's a poor example for his two younger brothers, who are still in high school.

DEAR ABBY: You have or any of your readers ever heard of tipping a waitress before she even takes your order?

I have a friend who invariably slips money into the waitress's hand when she first approaches his table. I asked this friend where he got the idea of tipping first, and he said it was just common sense. A tip in advance usually insures good service.

I would appreciate any light you can shed on this subject.

So he led dummy's last spade and played low from his own hand after East followed. This safety play would cost him an overtrick if West followed also but insured his contract against the actual 4-1 spade division. East did lead a diamond. South ruffed, then ruffed a low spade with dummy's 10 and claimed his slam.

advocate for the governor, but "he did not want to listen to anyone with ideas."

"I found myself on the outside and without influence," he said, which forced his decision to run for governor.

Killian claims to have more than the 20 percent of delegates to the state Democratic Convention needed to have a primary "plus a considerable nice cushion."

He also said he plans to run with a full slate of candidates in the primary against the governor's slate.

When asked by Charles F. Morse, Ed editor of the Hartford Courant and one member of a panel of five Thursday night, Killian said he has only two definite names in mind for the state, either or both of his campaign chairmen, former Norwalk Mayor Frank Zullo and state Sen. Sanford Cloud (D-Hartford).

He also said he would definitely include a woman on the ticket.

Killian also predicted that state Sen. Lewis Rome of Bloomfield would be the toughest Republican gubernatorial contender.

"I feel he is the most attractive candidate and I favor him as an individual. He is essentially a decent man with a good knowledge of government," Killian said. He predicted the candidacy of U.S. Rep. Ronald Sarasin "is going to fade a bit. I'm not sure he's up to it."

The most important issue in the upcoming campaign, according to Killian, is employment. He referred to the loss of 3,000 jobs at Electric Boat in Groton and of other industry which is leaving the state for the "Sun Belt."

"We keep saying we're going to be all right," he said, "but we'll only be all right if we protect ourselves."

Killian also said he would not have supported the recently passed Bottle Bill if it had not included measures to provide for the phase-out of jobs. He said he still has some doubts about the Bottle Bill, but hopes that the price the state will pay in unemployment will be worth it in cleaner streets.

Killian said Connecticut has never had an urban policy, but has always depended upon the federal government. He believes an urban plan is important now to keep urban areas intact. He said an urban policy should include an employment training program for the unemployed in cities.

On other subjects Killian said:

- An income tax is inevitable once the study on school funding related to the Horton vs. Meskill case is completed. The alternative would be a 10- to 12 percent sales tax.
- He predicted a deficit of at least $110 million in the next two years because of budgeting on the surplus.
- He said he would not be able to promise more funds for the community colleges if he were governor, but he is receptive to new ideas for education.

"The issue is very simple. It's pricing," he said. The Senate voted 23-19 against the proposed referendum.

A proposal to conduct an advisory referendum on the repeal also was defeated 26-7.

The liquor law debate began with discussion of a bill to put a moratorium on new package store licenses. The moratorium, which would have prevented any new package stores for five years, was defeated after rejection of the repeal of the minimum markup.

The measure on out-of-state liquor purchases now goes to the House.

The Senate vote would end that penalty and allow "anyone to bring in a half-pint, a can, a bottle, a brewery, if it's for personal consumption," said Houley, who led the liquor law reform movement.

Liquor prices are considerably lower in many nearby states, including New Hampshire where package stores are state-owned.

The liquor reform movement was sparked largely by a Connecticut state police campaign to cut the illegal flow of liquor into the state.

Police undercover agents staked out several out-of-state stores two years ago and watched for patrons of the stores who drove cars with Connecticut license plates.

If the patrons bought large quantities, their license number was reported back to cruisers waiting just inside the Connecticut border. So much liquor was confiscated that many people complained to the Legislature.

Cutting the budget

Stephen Penny both expressed concern about exploiting workers — asking them to take on increased responsibilities while not providing a parallel pay increase.

The board, in an informal vote, agreed 5-4 that it might want to consider further pay increases for the state police after the job is clearer.

The directors also approved one reclassification from clerk-stenographer to secretary in the department. The cost of the change is $1,692. A second reclassification proposed in the department was eliminated.

A proposal to consider a reclassification study of mid-management personnel was not acted on by the board Thursday. The study would review the salaries and positions of mid-management, non-union town employees.

He would curtail advertising on the state gambling operations and track the state does not need a race track.

He said the state police are in need of some refresher training courses and need to know where their jurisdiction ends.

He would approve of reducing the violations for marijuana, but would not support complete legalization.

Mass transportation will not be successful unless the state subsidizes it for long periods of time. "People don't consider mass transportation a problem."

He is in favor of the death penalty being reinstated.

One community college student asked a question related to the recent controversial reinstatement of MCC President Ronald H. Denison. She said many at MCC feel the state Board of Trustees for the Regional Community Colleges "didn't act responsibly" in reinstating Dr. Denison. We don't feel we were listened to.

Killian said he does not think the college faculty and students have any recourse to the action at this point. He said if he were governor he would find out what is going on within an institution. He said, "A governor can't afford to totally ignore the Board of Trustees."

Markup repeal rejected

The state Senate Thursday voted to reject the repeal of minimum markup laws affecting the liquor industry but passed two other proposals concerning liquor sales.

The Senate passed a proposal to require package stores to give a 10 percent discount for beer sold by the case. It also voted to approve a measure allowing state residents to buy as much out-of-state liquor as they can use at home.

Sen. Robert Houley of Somers, whose district includes Vernon and Tolland, is the leading supporter of liquor reform in the state and proposed the bill to eliminate the minimum markup for liquor sales.

Sens David Barry of Manchester and George Hamon of East Hartford both voted in favor of repeal of the minimum markup laws.

Senators speaking in favor of the markup laws said that they did not feel there was strong public support for repeal of the laws.

Barry cited his informal poll of residents in his district that showed 92 percent of the 692 responses favored repeal of the laws.

"I'd heard quite a bit on this," he said.

The Senate vote would end that penalty and allow "anyone to bring in a half-pint, a can, a bottle, a brewery, if it's for personal consumption," said Houley, who led the liquor law reform movement.

Liquor prices are considerably lower in many nearby states, including New Hampshire where package stores are state-owned.

If you had an energy emergency this winter, you need more than good advice. You need money.

A lot of people in Connecticut had energy-related emergencies during the past winter. If you're one of them, you may qualify for federal assistance.

If you qualify, you may be eligible for a federal grant to pay for such things as emergency furnace repairs, fuel oil deliveries, temporary shelter even unpaid fuel or electric bills.

In order to be eligible, you have to show that you cannot pay the cost of your household's energy emergency. You can show unpaid fuel or utility bills, or a refusal to deliver fuel. You must also meet the income guideline established by the Community Services Administration.

Volunteers join Cancer Crusade

More than 800 volunteers have joined Manchester's unit for the 1978 American Cancer Crusade. These volunteers will be performing a wide range of duties in carrying out the crusade's informational and fundraising campaign during April.

Richard Dyer, who is chairman of the crusade in Manchester, praised the large turnout of volunteers.

"The best resource the American Cancer Society has is people — people who give their time, energy, talent and financial assistance to help fight cancer," Dyer said.

During April, many of the volunteers will be going door-to-door to provide information about safeguards against cancer and to seek contributions. Thomas Tierney, vice chairman of the crusade, is in charge of the door-to-door campaign.

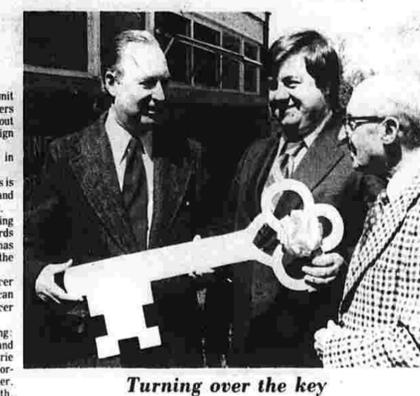

"None of us are immune to the possibility that cancer may someday strike close to home. The American Cancer Crusade is a chance for each of us to fight cancer by a check and a check-up," Tierney said.

Volunteers for this year's drive include the following: Edward Tomkowiak, raffle chairman; M. Adler Dobkin and Neil Ellis, individual special gifts chairman; Laurie Prytko, spring dance committee chairman; Mrs. Norman Connolly, special events chairman; Laine Dyer, publicity chairman; Anthony Leonard Horvath, professional solicitation chairman for attorneys; Dr. Hossain Tehrani, professional solicitation chairman for doctors; Dr. Salvatore Squatrito, professional solicitation chairman for dentists; and the Rev. John Delaney, clergy solicitation chairman.

Mayor Stephen Penny and Deputy Police Chief Richard Sartor are assisting with independent business solicitation. Nathan Agostinelli, president of the Manchester State Bank, will be in charge of bank night, when money donated in the drive will be collected at the State Bank.

Other volunteers have included members from the Manchester Jaycees and the Manchester Composite Squadron of the Civil Air Patrol.

Volunteers are still needed in several areas. Anyone interested in helping out may contact the Manchester Unit of the American Cancer Society, 643-3168.

Mitchell Stachowicz, 24, of 182 Homestead St. was charged with fourth-degree larceny in connection with a shoplifting incident in a store in the Manchester Parkade Thursday. Court date is April 17.

Robert Orlovski, 20, of Rockville was charged with driving while his license is suspended. Court date is April 18.

Eugene F. Torpey, 28, of 74 Cooper St. was charged with third-degree criminal mischief in connection with a tire slashing incident this morning on Cooper Street. Court date is April 24.

Jay M. Price Jr., 19, of 167 Timber Trail, East Hartford, was charged with driving under the influence of liquor and possession of less than four ounces of marijuana early today. Court date is April 17.

A break and entry in a Thompson Drive apartment Wednesday or Thursday resulted in the theft of a color television set and a hi-fi radio.

A break and entry was reported at a North School Street home and business late Wednesday night. A desk and file cabinet were searched, but nothing was apparently missing.

The theft of a case of liquor from a Downey Drive apartment was reported Thursday.

Three young males attempted to break into the M&R Package Store, 282 Tolland Turnpike, late Thursday night, but entry was unsuccessful, according to witnesses' report given to police. The youths were 14-year-old from the store.

A 14-year-old male juvenile has been referred to juvenile authorities on several charges involving burglaries and vandalism to several downtown businesses during March. It is the third arrest in connection with the incidents. Another juvenile and a 16-year-old male have been previously arrested.

The 14-year-old was charged with burglary and larceny in connection with burglaries at the Big L store, 881 Main St., and two burglaries at Fuller's Package Store, 20 Bissell St., both on the night of March 11.

He was also charged with criminal mischief in connection with broken windows at the following businesses' locations: Fuller's; offices at 575 Main St.; the Manchester Pet Center, 607 Main St.; B.D. Pearl Appliance Center, 649 Main

Vote being delayed on legal aid, water

Two matters that have been pending for several months — legal aid and water improvements — will not be acted on by the Manchester Board of Directors until at least May, Stephen Penny, chairman of the board, said Thursday.

Penny announced the status of both items at Thursday night's budget workshop held by the directors.

He said that the Water Study Committee is expected to have its report on future water improvements ready in time for the board's next meeting Tuesday night.

The Water Study Committee voted this week to reject a proposal to join the Metropolitan District Commission. It said that the Town of Manchester should maintain control of its water system and make its own necessary improvements.

Penny said that the decision is a key one, and the board probably would not be able to study the committee's report thoroughly enough to make a decision Tuesday.

Thus, he said that he expects any action to be postponed until May.

The legal aid proposal also probably will not come before the board until at least next month.

The town had considered a $5,000 appropriation of Community Development funds and involvement with the Hartford County Bar Association's legal aid office.

But members of the Manchester Bar Association have sought to have more input into the proposed local office.

Penny said that members of the Manchester Bar Association would like to meet with town officials to discuss further the proposal to establish increased legal aid services here.

He expects that the groups may make a joint proposal to the directors.

"It sounds like a solid commitment," Joseph Sweeney, an attorney and member of the Board of Directors, said. "The Manchester Bar Association's involvement."

AARP to pick officers

The Manchester Chapter No. 1275 American Association of Retired Persons, AARP, will meet Wednesday at 1:30 p.m. in Cooper Hall at South United Methodist Church.

A slate of proposed officers for the coming year to be elected in May will be presented as follows:

Faith Fallow, president; Frank Morasco, first vice president; C. Hoyt Stilson, second vice president; Mark Hill, treasurer; Marian Atkinson, recording secretary; Marian Jessiman, corresponding secretary; James McKay and Barbara Potterton, directors for three years. Nominations of qualified candidates who are willing to serve may be made from the floor.

After the business meeting, Barbara and George Potterton will give an illustrated report of their trip with the Friendship Force to Israel recently.

The chapter has planned several trips for the next two months.

April 19, there will be a tour of the Hartford Stage Company. After luncheon, the group will return to the theater for the production, "Holiday," by Philip Barry.

May 11, a trip is planned to Smith Clove Village, N.Y., overlooking the Hudson River. The village dates back to 1800 and includes many buildings of colonial design, a miniature museum, and an art gallery.

Reservations are being taken for a trip to Fernwood Resort in the Pocono Mountains in Pennsylvania May 24 to 26.

May 31, AARP members may attend the performance of the musical comedy, "Tip-Toes," at the Goodspeed Opera House in East Haddam.

An all-day Hudson River cruise with luncheon at Bear Mountain State Park is scheduled June 8.

Information on the trips is available by calling Lucille Mahoney, 643-7152.

John Dorrner reports that more than 300 income tax forms have been reviewed by his Volunteer Income Tax Assistance (VITA) aides. Only one week remains for this free service to senior citizens for this year.

Sighting of UFO reported in area

By BARBARA RICHMOND

Had Jeanine Therault of Vernon seen a strange object in the sky on April 1 she would have thought someone was playing an April Fool prank, but she saw it April 2 and has several other people to back up her theory that it was an unidentified flying object (UFO).

Miss Therault was returning to Vernon driving in a line of three cars, one driven by her father with her brother as a passenger, and the other driven by her boyfriend.

Miss Therault said she was driving along Lake Street, leaving Bolton and entering Vernon, when she was distracted by a bright light moving in the sky.

"It was moving along slowly, just above the trees. I really couldn't see much of a definite shape to the object but the bright lights on it formed an oval-like tear drop shape," she said.

Her description was vivid. She said there was an occasional red light blinking below the object as it were extended downward from the complete object.

She said she blew the car horn to attract the attention of her father driving just ahead of her. As she did so the object tilted on its side and in a split second was out of her sight.

She said she and her father continued for about three-quarters of a mile, turned a corner and spotted her boyfriend standing outside of his car and looking toward the sky.

She was assured she wasn't seeing things when he described to her exactly what she had seen. However, she said when he got out of his car he said the object veered toward him and hovered directly over his head at about 1,800 feet in the air but as the other two cars came around the bend it disappeared again.

Miss Therault said their citing was verified by several other people who had also seen the object. One of those people was a Vernon police officer who didn't want to be identified.

So apparently, whatever the object was, it was for real and not an April Fool joke.

Corrections

There was an incorrect dollar figure in a judgment lien listed in Wednesday's Public Record column.

The lien should have read Forbes & Wallace against Fred and Idella Brunoli, $70, property on Coleman Road.

The incorrect figure listed Wednesday said $70,000. The Herald regrets this error.

WASHINGTON (UPI) — United Press International misinterpreted a portion of a Council on Wage and Price Stability report Thursday which discussed the administration's anti-inflation efforts.

UPI said the council "criticized" the actions announced in January as insufficient. The report should have said the council said Carter's actions "will not alone be sufficient" to combat inflation.

UPI regrets the error.

Vernon council reviews outside agency budgets

By BARBARA RICHMOND
Herald Reporter

During a budget workshop Thursday night the Town Council reviewed several budgets submitted by out-of-town agencies that serve Vernon and cut some while restoring amounts to others.

The budget request submitted by the River East Homeowner-Home Health Aide Service Inc. was for $7,300. Mayor Frank McCoy recommended $2,800 and the council reduced it to $2,000.

The budget for the Manchester Child Guidance Clinic benefited from that cut. Earlier in the evening the council approved that budget at $21,000 which was $1,770 less than requested. It later opened that budget for reconsideration and restored the $800 deleted from the Homeowner budget.

Mayor McCoy told Mrs. Hyalie Hurwitz, executive director of the service, that he felt there was duplication in this area.

"I think there are more and more mergers coming down the pike," he said. He suggested that perhaps the Rockville Public Health Nursing Association could assume some of the duties performed by the office building site because the site mandates fire equipment be housed at the upper level.

The addition study committee has decided it would not be practical to have fire equipment at the lower level. It would be a problem for fire equipment to exit from the lower level to the street in an emergency, committee members said.

Architect Dennis Keele said the cost of fire station site elsewhere and other costs to duplicate the facility would probably result in little difference in the overall costs.

Emergency 3 Taylor questioned the wisdom of trying to combine the addition with a fire station Frank Mund asked if the proposed fire station space would be adequate to house the equipment. Bost said it would be adequate for apparatus assigned to the No. 1 station.

Taylor said he feels the matter should be voted on at a referendum, not at a Town Meeting. After the meeting, he said resident Francis Danaher is working on petitions to force a referendum.

Head said the action would require 200 signatures submitted to the town clerk 24 hours in advance of the Town Meeting.

Hebron office addition may go to referendum

There was no clear consensus at this week's public information meeting on Hebron's proposed Town Office Building addition and firehouse complex.

Many questions were raised at the Monday night meeting, and indications were that residents will petition for a referendum on the issue once it goes to a Town Meeting.

First Selectman Aaron Reid said he hopes the addition would serve the town for the next 25 years. After that, if additional space is needed, the fire station portion of the facility could be converted for office use.

The presented plan calls for renovations of the existing office building, addition of office facilities and replacement of Firehouse No. 1 in Hebron Center.

The estimated cost of the project is $988,000, with $51,000 for renovation of the present building, $234,000 for office space and $515,000 for the fire station.

Fire Chief William Bost said the cost of the fire station includes a boiler room, facilities to house the town cruiser and office space for the resident trooper.

Robert E. Foote questioned the advisability of building a fire station on the office building site because the site mandates fire equipment be housed at the upper level.

Water rate hike sought

The Elm Water Co., which provides water service to residential customers in Tolland and Coventry, has applied for a rate increase which will apply to Tolland customers in the Country Hills and Pilgrim Hills systems.

The company, a division of Elm Industries Inc., is asking for a rate increase of 111 percent and will conduct a public hearing on the request April 26 at 10 a.m. in the State Office Building, 165 Capitol Ave., Hartford.

If granted, the increase would increase the company's revenues from two systems by about $21,360 on an annual basis.

The company proposes to convert the two systems from the present flat rate schedule to a metered rate schedule under which customers would be billed based on their level of water consumption

Andover tax collector resigns after 12 years

The resignation of Cynthia Clark, Andover tax collector, was accepted by the Board of Selectmen at an emergency meeting Thursday. The resignation was for personal reasons and was effective April 1.

Mrs. Clark was tax collector for about 12 years.

The selectmen appointed Jean Gasper interim tax collector until a permanent replacement can be found.

The selectmen will interview people who are interested in the position.

At the meeting the selectmen appointed William Kowalski dog warden until April 1, 1979. The selectmen had been notified by the state they were remiss in not making the appointment by April 1 of this year.

Giant tag sale

Andover Elementary School Grade 6 will have a giant tag sale Saturday from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. at the school.

Robert Flucksteiner, auctioneer, will attend to give estimates of value for any treasures. There will be a small charge.

Proceeds will benefit the Grade 6 trip to New York.

Bolton education study will require more time

The Advisory Planning Committee for the Future of the Bolton School System will ask the Board of Education for more time to make its final report.

James Marshall, committee chairman, said bad weather forced cancellation of several meetings and the committee's final report cannot be ready May 1 as originally planned.

Marshall said the committee will meet at the beginning of May to review a draft of its study. He said the final report should be finished in June.

Rehearsing

Betsy Linderman, Grade 5 student at the Center Road School in Vernon, rehearses one of her solos for "It's Music," an operetta to be presented tonight at the school. Those in the cast include Grade 4 and 5 students. Miss Linderman will be the narrator and the lead singer. The show will go on at 7:30 p.m. in the Memorial Building.

Businesses change hands

The Coventry Broadcaster, which has relocated to the new building at the old Broadcaster building is now for rent. Meanwhile, four partners who acquired the beauty shop storefront near the post office are pursuing plans to build a restaurant and tavern there. If they are successful, there will be three restaurants within a short distance, including the Bidwell Tavern and the Village Pizza Shop. Also along the Route 31-Main Street strip is Jimmy's Pizza House.

Safe in action at first base

Hall's Scott Clement, right, managed to beat race to the bag with Manchester first baseman Brad Ingraham. Pitcher Mike Jordan moves to backup play. (Herald photo by Dunn)

Six errors, which opened the floodgates to three unearned runs, along with some loose defensive outfield play were contributing factor in the loss. Manchester rapped 11 hits compared to six for the Warriors but couldn't push markers across, stranding 13.

"We had our opportunities but couldn't cash in," voiced Tribe Coach Hal Parks. Hall had 12 left on base.

Two walks by Indian starting and losing hurler Mike Jordan and Norm Young's misjudged triple which fell untouched in right gave Hall a two-run first inning.

The Warriors added a tally in the third on a young double and plated unearned markers in the fourth and fifth frames of Jordan, who walked five and fanned five in five innings. The sixth Hall run, also unearned.

Catholic girls track losers

East Catholic girls' track team suffered yesterday a pair of losses in its 1978 debut, 81-33 to Northwest Catholic and 78-38 to host Simsbury High.

Kyrene Nolen captured the 100 yard dash, Faith Walsh the shot put and Karen Griffin the discus for the Eagles. The 880-yard medley tour, some of Liz Kozuch, Ann Williams, Nolen and Kathy Kitredge also scored wins against both opponents.

The golden anniversary of the Class of 1928 will be noted at a reunion May 20 at the Manchester Country Club.

Nino Boggini, who went on to be a top college catcher at New York University, noted that some of the '28 Class prominent in the world of sports included Al Lupien, who captained the teams at Harvard, Luddy Hansen, who played football at Yale, and George Keeney who starred in football at Canisius.

Another member of that class who distinguished himself over the years was Frank Miller in volleyball. He's the man responsible for the return of the sport on a high plane in Manchester 15 years ago.

The late Elmo Manelli, a three-sport letterman, and the late Jim Foley were also in the Class of '28. The latter turned to coaching after playing and guided the crackerjack Bluefields to several town championships when amateur baseball was at its height prior to World War II.

Among the guests will be Tom Kelley, who coached the '28 baseball team; Pete Wigren, who coached track; Edson Bailey, who was on the faculty, and no bigger or loyal supporter of teams at the school, and Clarence Quinby who served as principal.

Softballers launch play with victory

Starting its season off on the right foot yesterday was the Manchester High girls' softball team with an overwhelming 20-4 duke over Hill High in West Hartford.

It was scoreless after two innings with the Silk Towners exploding for eight markers in the third to put the decision away. Doreen Dowdham had a two-run double and Ellen Donadio and Lisa Schwartz each a run scoring single in the eruption.

Manchester added seven runs in the fifth and five in the sixth inning, three on Wendy Warren's bases-clearing double.

Warren had five RBI and Dowdham three RBI with Donadio and Schwartz each collecting two of the Indians' 10 safeties. Sophomore Lisa Filden was a defensive standout at second base with two sparkling grabs.

Dowdham went the first five innings to gain the win, allowing one hit while striking out nine and

Indians stumble in first test, 6-3

The Indians stumbled in the 1978 baseball opener, 6-3, to Hall High yesterday at Kelley Field.

Six errors, which opened the floodgates to three unearned runs, along with some loose defensive outfield play were contributing factor in the loss. Manchester rapped 11 hits compared to six for the Warriors but couldn't push markers across, stranding 13.

"We had our opportunities but couldn't cash in," voiced Tribe Coach Hal Parks. Hall had 12 left on base.

Two walks by Indian starting and losing hurler Mike Jordan and Norm Young's misjudged triple which fell untouched in right gave Hall a two-run first inning.

The Warriors added a tally in the third on a young double and plated unearned markers in the fourth and fifth frames of Jordan, who walked five and fanned five in five innings. The sixth Hall run, also unearned.

Softballers launch play with victory

Starting its season off on the right foot yesterday was the Manchester High girls' softball team with an overwhelming 20-4 duke over Hill High in West Hartford.

It was scoreless after two innings with the Silk Towners exploding for eight markers in the third to put the decision away. Doreen Dowdham had a two-run double and Ellen Donadio and Lisa Schwartz each a run scoring single in the eruption.

Manchester added seven runs in the fifth and five in the sixth inning, three on Wendy Warren's bases-clearing double.

Warren had five RBI and Dowdham three RBI with Donadio and Schwartz each collecting two of the Indians' 10 safeties. Sophomore Lisa Filden was a defensive standout at second base with two sparkling grabs.

Dowdham went the first five innings to gain the win, allowing one hit while striking out nine and

Weird game to Reds

NEW YORK (UPI) — Just one game into the season, and the Cincinnati Reds and Houston Astros felt it was time for some stark raving chaos.

After 10 minutes of rain delays, a bizarre triple play, an awful pitching performance by Tom Seaver, a 16-hit Cincinnati attack and a ninth-inning Houston rally, the National League inaugurated its 102nd season with bedlam as its watershed.

Before a sellout Riverfront Stadium crowd of 52,378, the Reds came away with an 11-9 victory.

The Astros got matters off to an unpropitious start when they jumped on Seaver — baseball's premier pitcher — to take a 5-1 lead after four innings.

Seaver was bounced around like a pinball machine and hardly looked like the pivotal figure in the Reds' drive for the NL flag. He gave up six hits and five earned runs before departing in the fourth inning.

But Seaver avoided being credited with a loss thanks to Joe Morgan, who drove in five runs, including a homer in the first inning and a two-run double in the five-run fourth.

"I told Tom Seaver I was going to hit a home run," Morgan said. "But then I've been saying that before every opener and I never hit one. This is a team that can make mistakes and still win. We put numbers on the scoreboard."

One of the Reds' biggest bonehead plays came in the seventh inning when the Astros pulled off a triple play without the ball being hit.

With Morgan at third base, George Foster at first and Dan Driessen at second, the Astros pulled off a triple play without the ball being hit.

Before a sellout Riverfront Stadium crowd of 52,378, the Reds came away with an 11-9 victory.

Baseball

the plate, relief pitcher Joe Sambito struck out Driessen as Foster tried to steal second. Catcher Joe Ferguson covering second to trap Foster, but then Foster saw Morgan leading too far off third and fired to third baseman Enos Cabell, who tagged out Morgan.

Cabell then threw back to Morgan at second in time to nab Foster for the third out.

Amid all this, the rains came — and kept coming. There were three separate delays and the game took more than 4½ hours to complete.

The Astros weren't about to let the Reds get away easy. They scored four runs in the ninth and had two runners on base before Cincinnati reliever Dave Tomlin got Bob Watson to ground into a force play.

Pedro Borbon picked up the win for the Reds while Terry Paul Cesar Cedeno and Ferguson tagged Seaver for homers.

The other game Thursday was in the American League, where Minnesota edged Seattle, 5-4. Two other scheduled games, Toronto at Detroit and Baltimore at Milwaukee, were rained out.

Twins 5, Mariners 4 — Rookie right-hander Roger Erickson won his first major league start with relief help from Tom Johnson as the Twins held off the Mariners. Minnesota outfielder Willie Norwood belted a two-run double and shortstop Roy Smalley hit a solo first-inning homer. Rod Carew added three hits for the Twins while Ruppert Jones hit a ninth-inning home run for Seattle. "Nothing I've seen since I first laid eyes on him has changed my mind about Roger," Minnesota Manager Gene Muech said afterwards. "He pitched a heck of a game."

Guthrie gets car for Indy

NEW YORK (UPI) — Soft-spoken Janet Guthrie can now join the rest of powerful Indy car engines.

She has a new sponsor and another opportunity to prove that women race equal billing with men in the Indianapolis 500 mile auto classic.

Guthrie, forced out of her Indy inaugural last year by mechanical problems after a mere 27 laps in the 200-lap grand prix, will drive a George Bignotti-built Wildcat under the Texaco sponsorship in next month's qualifying the Speedway.

The car has its debut at Phoenix in 1977 under the capable handling of Wally Dallenbach, and anything Dallenbach drives is good enough for Guthrie.

Knicks keep alive playoff chances

NEW YORK (UPI) — It seems all year about in these last days of the NBA's regular season as questions about who is going to get a home-court advantage in the playoffs and who is not.

"I'll take it," said New York Coach Willis Reed, whose Knicks kept their chances for a preferred playoff spot with a 129-125 overtime victory against the Detroit Pistons Thursday night.

The Knicks, 41-39, are battling Cleveland and Atlanta for the fourth-best record in the Eastern Conference, which guarantees a home-court edge in the first round of the playoffs.

In the Western Conference, the Denver Nuggets and Phoenix Suns are struggling against each other for the same edge.

Denver defeated Phoenix, 111-100, Thursday night and kept alive its chances of ending with the second-best record in the Western Conference.

In the Atlantic Division, Cleveland remained atop the situation with a 117-105 victory over the Milwaukee Bucks. The Cavs are now 41-39, identical with the Knicks, but hold the edge in the regular season series between the two teams.

Washington, however, downed Boston, 112-103, to virtually clinch a home-court advantage as they extended their Central Division record to 43-37 with two games left.

Rangers wild card winner

NEW YORK (UPI) — The New York Rangers are the NHL's final wild-card playoff team, but they lost four straight games in pursuit of the one point they needed.

And they finally got it because Detroit beat Pittsburgh, 6-4, Thursday night, dropping Pittsburgh from the playoff chase. The Rangers lost to Philadelphia, 3-0, but they weren't arguing backing in that matter.

"We made it and that's all that counts," New York Coach Jean-Guy Talbot said. "That was our only goal — to make it. Now we're in the playoffs and anything can happen. You never can tell."

GROUP 1 REALTORS

AND THE WILLIAM E. BELFIORE AGENCY, INC. AND 317 GREEN ROAD, MANCHESTER

WE HAVE BEEN ASKED MANY TIMES ABOUT THE VERY RECENT FORMATION OF "GROUP ONE", AND OUR PARTICIPATION IN IT. HERE WITH OUR OWN PERSONAL VIEWPOINT:

EIGHT LEADING MANCHESTER AREA REALTOR FIRMS HAVE FORMED INTO A "GROUP ONE" ASSOCIATION WITH THE FIRM COMMITMENT, AMONG OTHER THINGS, OF PROMOTING ECONOMY AND EFFICIENCY OF OPERATION, AND TO THE BEST OF OUR ABILITY, UPGRADING OUR SERVICES TO YOU, THE PUBLIC.

WE BELIEVE THAT THE REAL ESTATE BUSINESS WILL PERHAPS CHANGE MORE IN THE NEXT TEN YEARS OR SO THAN IT HAS IN THE LAST HUNDRED. WE ARE TAKING STEPS TO MEET THIS CHANGE AND THIS CHALLENGE. WE ARE LOOKING AHEAD TO THE FUTURE CHANGES IN REAL ESTATE - AND PREPARING TO SERVE YOU BETTER IN SO DOING.

GROUP PURCHASING OF ALL TYPES OF EQUIPMENT AND SERVICES, EXPERTISE IN PRACTICALLY EVERY FACET OF REAL ESTATE, THESE THINGS AND OTHERS WILL MEAN MORE EFFECTIVE USE OF TIME, MONEY AND MATERIAL TO THE BENEFIT OF YOU, OUR CLIENTS.

GROUP ONE IS FORMED ON A POSITIVE, FUTURE LOOKING NOTE. WE WILL COOPERATE AND COMPETE WITH - ALL OTHER REALTOR FIRMS. WE WILL COOPERATE - AND COMPETE WITH EACH OTHER IN GROUP ONE.

EVERY GROUP ONE MEMBER IS A REALTOR OR REALTOR ASSOCIATE AND PARTICIPANT IN THE MANCHESTER MULTIPLE LISTING SERVICE. INDEED, SIX OF OUR EIGHT AGENCY HEADS HAVE OCCUPIED THE POSITION OF PRESIDENT OF THE MANCHESTER BOARD OF REALTORS. THIS ACTIVE PARTICIPATION WILL CONTINUE.

A PERUSAL OF OUR GROUP ONE MEMBERSHIP WILL SHOW AN INTERESTING CROSS SECTION OF REALTORS - FROM THOSE IN BUSINESS OVER TWENTY FIVE YEARS TO THOSE IN BUSINESS FOR THEMSELVES FOR ONLY A SHORT TIME. A COMMON THREAD RUNS THROUGH ALL MEMBERS, HOWEVER, THEY ARE ALL FULLY TRAINED IN THE FLEXIBILITY OF OUR ASSOCIATION WILL INSURE THAT THIS INDIVIDUAL SUCCESS WILL CONTINUE AND INDEED BE ENLARGED. ALL FACETS OF REAL ESTATE OPERATIONS ARE EXPERTLY REPRESENTED HERE, INCLUDING VOLUME RESIDENTIAL SALES, APARTMENT AND OFFICE OWNERSHIP AND MANAGEMENT, SHOPPING CENTER BUILDING AND OPERATION, ETC., ETC.

WE WILL, OF COURSE, OFFER NATIONAL REFERRAL SERVICES. INDIVIDUALLY WE HAVE FOR YEARS BEEN OFFERING TRADE-IN OR OUTRIGHT BUY PLANS FOR YOUR HOME, AND THIS WILL CONTINUE.

AS ABOVE STATED, THE REAL ESTATE BUSINESS IS CHANGING. OTHERS HAVE MET THIS CHANGE IN VARIOUS WAYS, BY VARIOUS AFFILIATIONS, ETC. WE HAVE NO QUARREL WITH THIS, THIS IS THEIR RIGHT - WE ARE SIMPLY EXERCISING OUR RIGHT ALSO. NOTHING IN OUR ORGANIZATION IS MEANT TO NEGATE THE FREE ENTERPRISE SYSTEM - INDEED, A STRONG DESIRE TO PRESERVE IT PERMEATES OUR GROUP ONE. WE HAVE INDIVIDUALLY BEEN SUCCESSFUL BY OUR OWN EFFORTS - AND THIS TOO, WILL CONTINUE.

IN SHORT WE OFFER THE BEST OF ALL WORLDS - ALL THE AMENITIES AND REFINEMENTS OF MODERN REAL ESTATE AGENCIES PLUS THE INTEGRITY AND EXPERTISE OF THE GROUP ONE FIRMS IN ALL FACETS OF LOCAL AND AREA REAL ESTATE.

GOSHI - WE ALMOST FORGOT

WE'RE SO ENTHUSED ABOUT GROUP ONE, THAT WE ALMOST FORGOT TO ANNOUNCE THE OPENING SOON OF OUR SECOND OFFICE IN MANCHESTER. WELL, SOON ALSO HAVE AN AIR-CONDITIONED FACILITY CROSSTOWN FROM OUR PRESENT MAIN STREET LOCATION AT 317 GREEN ROAD IN BUSY BELCON PLAZA! WE BELIEVE THIS WILL BE A FIRST - TWO OFFICES IN MANCHESTER BY THE SAME AGENCY! THIS, OF COURSE, OPENS UP A COUPLE OF SALES POSITIONS. IF INTERESTED, CALL MR. BELFIORE FOR A CONFIDENTIAL INTERVIEW. WHO KNOWS, PERHAPS YOU CAN BE A FACTOR IN OUR ATTEMPT TO BECOME "NUMERO UNO" IN GROUP ONE! (OUR SALES PEOPLE DO VERY WELL.)
