Pact ratified on health services

By JUNE TOMPKINS
Herald Reporter

An agreement on health care services in Manchester between the Manchester Public Health Nursing Association (MPHNA) and the River East Home Health Aide Service Inc. was ratified Monday.

After several discussions held by the directors and board presidents of each organization, a decision was made for each agency to continue to operate independently, but with a reshuffling of services.

The MPHNA will continue to provide nursing, physical therapy, occupational therapy, speech therapy, medical social services, nutritional services, and home health aide services.

River-East Homemakers will continue to provide homemaker and meals-on-wheels services. River-East will no longer employ a nurse and home health aides to serve Manchester, but this service will still be available to the other nine towns served by this agency.

Both agencies feel that the "umbrella agency" recommended by the Manchester Community Service

Council is only one method of providing coordinated home care services.

Another option, they said, would be a 24-hour information and referral service which could direct people to the many health care resources available in town.

The agreement between the two health care agencies comes as the result of a study committee suggestion last December that duplication of services by the two agencies be eliminated and that they "cooperate rather than compete."

Both health agency board presidents — Harriet B. Haslett (River-East) and Joseph I. Swenson (MPHNA) — suggested that the Department of Human Services or the Manchester Community Services Council, both townwide agencies, may be interested in setting up such a service.

The transition of patients from River-East to MPHNA will take about three weeks beginning June 1. All patients and doctors involved will be notified before June 1.

A letter will be sent to the MPHNA by May 12 listing the patients currently served by Homemaker-Home Health Aides on the staff of River-East and supervised by a MPHNA nurse, their addresses, number of hours of service per week, the physician and the diagnosis.

Upon receipt of this letter, the MPHNA is expected to set aside $100,000 allocated for the MPHNA and River-East until such time as the two agencies decided how they would divide their services. Stephen Penny, chairman of the Board of Directors, could not be reached this morning for comment.

At a recent town budget hearing, the Board of Directors set aside $100,000 allocated for the MPHNA and River-East until such time as the two agencies decided how they would divide their services. Stephen Penny, chairman of the Board of Directors, could not be reached this morning for comment.

Board trims general budget

By GREG PEARSON
Herald Reporter

The Manchester Board of Directors Monday night reviewed the general government section of the proposed 1978-79 budget and sliced a total of $914,044.

The cuts, including large reductions in the pension contribution and the Police Department budget, reduced the section of the budget to $10,989,928 from the $11,903,972 figure proposed by Town Manager Robert Weiss.

The directors approved pay raises for two Comprehensive Employment

Training Act employees, the town treasurer and the registrars of voters. Many of these approvals and cuts had been discussed before. All are subject to change before the board sets its final budget, but most are likely to stick.

The directors have scheduled a meeting Thursday to set the 1978-79 budget. No action was taken at Monday night's 4½-hour session on the Board of Education budget. This budget probably will be acted on Wednesday.

The board agreed to contribute $425,000 to the pension fund. That figure will cover next year's $416,000 cost for the fund but is well below the manager's recommendation of $750,000.

The board also agreed to cut a contingency fund from $375,000 to $350,000. The fund has been set aside to cover pay increases expected in the town's negotiations with four unions for municipal employees. None of the four contracts has been settled.

The board also cut the Police Department budget from $2,145,750 to $2,046,125, almost a $100,000 reduction. Stephen Penny, chairman of the board, recommended that the board eliminate the purchase of three police cruisers. The department now will buy 12 instead of 15 new vehicles. Funding also has not been included for five positions that are now vacant but the department is seeking to fill, Penny said. If the department makes cuts in other areas equivalent to the salaries for the positions, it can fill some or all of the posts, he said.

The directors approved salary hikes to $12,287 for CETA employees Steven Werber and William Tierney. All six Democratic directors favored the increase; all three Republicans opposed it.

Werber, the town's personnel assistant, now makes $19,500. Tierney, the management analyst, now makes $11,025.

The move was opposed by GOP members because both were hired through the federally funded program. Democrats argued, however, that both are doing work above what their present salary levels call for.

Directors go hungry

Pizza policy a problem

By GREG PEARSON
Herald Reporter

Monday night's case of the never-delivered pizzas resulted in an angry town manager and a review of the Manchester Police Department's policy for food delivery.

The situation developed at the Town Board of Directors budget workshop. The 4½ hour session started at 6 p.m. Monday. Some of the board members, because of work schedules, had missed supper to make the start of the meeting.

At about nine o'clock, an order was placed for a couple of pizzas, and Weiss asked that a police cruiser pick up the order and deliver it to the Municipal Building.

About an hour later, the pizzas had not arrived and Weiss checked into the situation.

When he called the Police Department, he was told that delivering pizzas was not part of the job description for department employees. The manager was visibly angered by the response and immediately called Police Chief Robert Lanman at home.

He told Lanman that no further food deliveries were to be made by police employees for any reason except to feed prisoners. A cruiser routinely will pick up coffee and small food items for other employees on duty at the station.

Weiss Monday night ordered Lanman to place an immediate halt to that practice.

This morning, however, both sides appear to be seeking a compromise. Lanman had no comment on the situation, but Weiss said that he has asked the chief to review the department's policy and needs for such matters.

"I'm leaving it flexible as long as he is aware of the situation and straightens out the kind of problem we had last night," Weiss said.

In the past, when the directors have had very long meetings, a similar pizza delivery has been requested and made. The last such situation occurred earlier this year when the board held a day-long meeting to talk with all department heads.

The patrolman who made the delivery that day expressed some displeasure with the assignment, but there was no public comment on the matter.

Monday night, the delivery did become an issue. Some directors and Weiss mentioned that the present contract negotiations with the police union may have had something to do with the non-delivery.

The police union president could not be reached for comment this morning.

Police get break on Moro

ROME (UPI) — Libero Maesano, a man linked to the Red Brigades, was arrested today as he met with his mother and sister, giving police one of the few breaks they have had since the ultra-left guerrilla gang kidnaped ex-Premier Aldo Moro 47 days ago.

Investigators said Maesano had links with Valerio Morucci, one of nine accused Red Brigades leaders for whom arrest warrants were issued last week in connection with the Moro kidnapping.

They said Maesano, who had a criminal record, was suspected of having helped Morucci smuggle weapons into Italy from Switzerland.

Police said Maesano's whereabouts had been unknown for some time. They caught up to him when he kept an appointment to meet his mother and sister in Rome's government office district.

Moro, seized March 16 after his five guards were slain, wrote Italy's major legislators urging them to accept a Red Brigades demand that 11 jailed comrades be released.

But the ruling Christian Democrats, backed by mass demonstrations supporting their refusal to debate the matter, decided in a meeting with Premier Giulio Andreotti Monday to keep handling of the Moro crisis in their own hands.

Economy tops summit talks

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Japanese Prime Minister Takeo Fukuda today began a two-day U.S.-Japanese summit dominated by Carter's stalled energy bill as soon as possible to reverse the drain of American dollars to the Middle East to pay for U.S. oil imports.

Fukuda, who arrived in Washington Monday evening, had a meeting with working lunch scheduled with Secretary of State Cyrus Vance today, and with President Carter Wednesday.

The prime minister was expected to ask U.S. officials for strong action to stabilize the American dollar, while American officials were pressing Fukuda for ways to lower Japan's massive and still-growing trade surplus with the United States.

The Tokyo government also wants Congress to pass Carter's stalled energy bill as soon as possible to reverse the drain of American dollars to the Middle East to pay for U.S. oil imports.

Japan has promised to cut its overall trade surplus from the current level of about $14 billion to $6 billion this year, but Fukuda said in Tokyo last Friday, "I do not think even God can bring about such a reduction precisely as predicted."

Gunther quits to back Rome

HARTFORD (UPI) — Sen. George Gunther, R-Stratford, today withdrew from the Republican gubernatorial race and threw his support behind Senate Minority Leader Lewis Rome, a Bloomfield lawyer.

Rome said he was "obviously pleased" with the support and claimed he was now the No. 1 Republican candidate.

Gunther, who in June became the first Republican to announce for the race, said he would shortly declare his bid for another term in the Senate. The Stratford Republican has served six terms in the Senate.

State surplus grows

HARTFORD (UPI) — State Comptroller J. Edward Caldwell today predicted in his monthly report that the state will have about $7.4 million left over as of June 30, the end of the current fiscal year.

Caldwell said the surplus estimate was $758,000 higher than last month. He said there were several "adjustments" to the surplus, including a $1.3 million surge in state tax revenue and $500,000 in spending to cover insurance allotments.

Grasso signs phase-in, directors to act tonight

By GREG PEARSON
Herald Reporter

Gov. Ella Grasso Monday afternoon signed a bill that permits towns to phase in the effect of a revaluation, and the Manchester Board of Directors is expected to vote tonight on whether to adopt the proposal.

The bill, sponsored by Manchester's legislators, permits a community to phase in the new assessments of a revaluation in equal increments over five years.

Manchester has just completed a revaluation, and residential properties have increased an average of 100 percent in assessment.

This increase would have gone into effect this year. But the new legislation, if approved, would permit the increase to be spread over five years.

Thus, a home with a 100 percent increase in assessment — about average — would have a 20 percent increase in assessment each year for the next five years.

The Board of Directors will have to act on the proposal tonight because the Manchester Board of Directors grant a six percent salary increase for all mid-management personnel.

Principals and teachers would stay at their present salary step but would receive the across-the-board pay hike under the Weiss proposal.

This would treat all mid-management personnel equally until a classification and pay study of such positions is done, he said.

Pay increases for mid-management personnel, which includes non-union department heads, assistants and some other town employees, annually have presented problems for the Board of Directors.

Since the positions are non-union, they are not guided by union contracts. The board, in the past, has tried to give the positions pay increases equivalent to those union employees have received.

But there has been some concern about annually boosting the top-step salary in the pay schedule. Last year, for instance, some mid-management personnel at the top step of their pay schedule received only one or two percent pay hikes.

Usually a step increase is granted each year for all employees. Most

Weiss asks 6% hike for mid-managers

This would treat all mid-management personnel equally until a classification and pay study of such positions is done, he said.

Rec fee hike may bring $16,000 more in revenue

By GREG PEARSON
Herald Reporter

A proposal to increase the charge for adult recreation cards would be one of the reasons for an estimated increased revenue of almost $16,000 for the Town of Manchester Recreation Department.

The increases in recreation fees would have to be approved by the Town Board of Directors. But, at Monday night's budget workshop, the board tentatively wrote in a $25,544 for revenues from the Recreation Department. That represents an increase of about $16,000 from what is expected to be collected this year.

Mel Siebold, recreation director, prepared a report for the directors on areas where fees could be increased. He estimated that all the increases, if approved by the board, could lead to $15,728 in new revenues.

The most substantial gains would be in a proposed boost from $3 to $5 for adult recreation cards. This would generate $4,000 in new revenues, Siebold reported. The cards are needed for participants in recreation leagues and also for those who want to use indoor recreation facilities.

Siebold's report also proposed a $2 fee for youth recreation cards. There is no fee now for the youths, so the change would generate $2,000 in new funds, Siebold said.

Other revenues would come from fee increases for swim lessons and swimming pool rental and from adding a $1 surcharge for some arts and crafts classes.

All of the proposals will have to be acted on by the directors before becoming effective.

Like the Recreation Department, the picture for most town revenues was still hazy Monday night. The board reviewed the entire revenue side of the budget during the session, but a number of blanks will have to be filled in Wednesday. The board hopes to set the town budget Thursday night.

David J. Ydersek, 24, of Deep River was arrested on a warrant Monday on a charge of second-degree failure to appear in court. His next court date is May 22.

Nicholas A. Marutti, 16, of 144 Oakland St. was charged with third-degree criminal trespass Monday. Police said he and three other Monday cyclists were riding in a sand pit area off Parker Street which was marked "no trespassing."

Famela M. Welch, 17, of 130A Highland St. was charged with fourth-degree larceny in connection with a shopping incident at the Weatherlane store in the Parkade. Court date is May 15.

Donna Hank, 19, of Hartford was charged with operating a motor vehicle without a license and misuse of license. Court date is May 16.

Maurice G. Corbeil was charged with operating under the influence of liquor Monday night. Court date is May 22.

A break and entry was reported at a Hunter Road residence Monday night. Nothing was stolen, police said.

Some stereo equipment was reported stolen from a room at 444 Center St. Monday morning.

The ZBA granted a request from Ernest Saur to erect a two-car garage on his property at 22 Bolton St. and a landlocked parcel behind it. The variance will permit access to the other lot in the event Larson wishes to build a house there. Years ago, parcels were approved with landlocked lots, chief building inspector Francis J. Conli told the ZBA. "Why, I don't know — maybe they were figuring on helicopters," he said.

The ZBA denied a request from Ernest Saur to erect a two-car garage on his property at 22 Bolton St. and a landlocked parcel behind it. The variance would not conform to the surrounding neighborhood.

IOH trip success, may spread idea

Several members of the Instructors of the Handicapped (IOH) completed a successful trip to Washington, D.C. last week where they informed public officials and agencies involved with the handicapped about their swimming instruction program.

IOH expects the trip will have long-range impact for the program and may serve as the spur for forming IOH chapters throughout the country, said David Moyer, advisor to the organization.

Members who went to Washington with Moyer were Mark Meridy, president; Tracy Knolia, vice president; Bettina Bromis, business secretary; Steve Olschey, treasurer; Lynn Alemany, public relations and Mary Beth Tucker, past president.

At each of their meetings, the IOH members said, they received praise for their program and the continued weekly instructions for the past 22 years.

It was also noted that IOH has raised $90,000 primarily through donations from individuals in the Manchester area. IOH was encouraged by the agencies and officials to pursue its goal of the formation of additional chapters around the nation.

The instructors also confirmed many of the ideas which had been included in the plans for an IOH instructional pool at Manchester High School through a visit to a model swimming pool at the District of Columbia Therapeutic Recreation Center.

At the President's Committee on Mental Retardation, the members also met with Mrs. Eunice Kennedy Shriver, Senator Shriver, Robert Montague, executive director, Herbert Kramer.

Health Triglycerides are fat

DEAR DR. LAMB — I had some blood tests and was reported to have very high triglycerides. I know this has something to do with cholesterol but would you please tell me exactly what this means and what kind of diet I should be on.

DEAR READER — When you hear triglyceride think fat. Triglycerides are fat. Your body fat is chemically called triglycerides. The triglyceride test you had done is simply a measurement of the fat in your blood.

Fat and cholesterol are two different things. Fatty particles may be combined with cholesterol and even a blood protein to form fatty-cholesterol particles (lipoproteins). We think the cholesterol content or the number and size of the fatty-cholesterol particles is more important than the triglyceride measurement.

HOUSTON, Texas—If you don't suffer from male pattern baldness, and cannot be helped. But, if you are not already bald, how can you be sure you are not actually losing your hair?

For years, "they said" the "cure" for baldness was to use a hair cream. But now a firm of laboratory consultants has developed a treatment for both men and women.

The great majority of cases of excessive hair fall and baldness are of the beginning and more fully developed stages of male pattern baldness.

Opinion

Voters have a choice

Today is a good day for studying the Democratic Party voter in East Hartford. The town's 16,000-plus registered Democrats have a clear choice between two fine but different candidates for high public office — state senator from the Third Senatorial District — in a party primary. When polls close tonight at 8, the vote will mean a lot more than a popularity contest between Tweedle Dum and Tweedle Dee.

The choice is: State Sen. George Hannon Jr. seeking his third term in the Senate and his seventh in the General Assembly. He led the fight to stop the Bottle Bill and pass the Anti-Litter Bill. He voted for the Quits and Fires Bill and for more autonomy for towns and more state money for towns.

He is a businessman and won the endorsement of the local Chamber of Commerce among others.

Or Mrs. Marcella Fahey seeking her first elective office. She graduated only last August magna cum laude in political science and sociology from Central Connecticut State College. She calls herself a humanist and would have voted for the Bottle Bill and against the Quits and Fires Bill. She is a member of the state Commission of Human Rights and Opportunities, the town Human Rights Commission, the League of Women Voters, and the Greater Hartford Committee for Justice for J.P. Stevens Workers.

Today's vote should tell us a great deal about the Democrats in East Hartford.

The risks in Korea

By LEE RODERICK
WASHINGTON — In a capability to defend Korea. "We cannot afford to endanger the existing balance. To do so could create an environment of challenge from the north. Accordingly, as United States ground presence shrinks, the capability of the Republic of Korea for defense must be correspondingly strengthened by significant material and other measures."

Vessey acknowledged there is a military balance between the two Koreas today, owing in part of strong American support of South Korea and a population base and economy in the South that easily outstrip the North's.

Nonetheless, North Korea under the fanatical Kim Il Sung has these advantages: a 2 to 1 superiority in tanks, artillery and tactical aircraft; a 4 to 1 advantage in naval combatants; and a more than 12 to 1 advantage in submarines. A warplane taking off from North Korea's heaviest airport could over Seoul—South Korea's capital and its financial and industrial heart—in about 15 minutes.

Although Vessey was obliged to give at least tacit approval to the administration's troop withdrawal plans in his recent appearance on Capitol Hill, it is instructive to read what he said in an interview with the United Press International one year ago.

"In my view, the withdrawal of all the American ground troops would raise the possibility of war in Korea."

Many other United States troops in Korea reportedly share that view.

Meanwhile, pressure to hasten troop withdrawals is coming from some human rights activities who strain at the gnat of rights violations in South Korea but apparently have little trouble swallowing the came of violations in North Korea.

"It would be a great irony," notes Georgetown University professor Ernest Lefever, "if Washington in the name of human rights would adopt a policy that would deliver 35 million largely free South Koreans into virtual slavery."

A carefully phased pullout may in fact be a wise decision. But it must be, above all, be accompanied by ironclad military assistance and agreements that leave no doubt in North Korea's mind that the United States means business.

Thoughts

Yesterday I said we would reread chapter 14 of St. John's Gospel. It begins with the most comforting words I know:

"Let not your heart be troubled." These words are repeated in verse 27 which begins with the equally comforting words: "Peace I leave with you, my peace I give unto you."

Some people may say: "But we don't want to wrap ourselves up in a cocoon of peace and seal ourselves away from the happenings in the world." No, far from it, but we can preserve as much as possible an inward quietness of soul so that we may face better the world and its problems.

I always like to think of the definition of the Holy Spirit as the Comforter and the Strengthener and he is who brings peace to our souls.

And now read the words of Jesus in verse 25:

"If a man loves me... we (my Father and I) will come into him and make our abode with him." It will then indeed be as with the well-loved hymn says:

"Christ be with me, Christ within me, Christ to comfort and restore me.

I WONDER WHY THE TOWN DOESN'T RUN THEIR BUDGET THE WAY WE DO OURS?

I'm opposed to ERA

By ANDREW TULLY
WASHINGTON — I oppose Equal Rights Amendment because its one sentence text is too simple, and thus loaded with land mines that could explode in the faces of its female proponents.

The amendment says only: "Equality of rights under the law shall not be abridged by the United States or any state on account of sex." Those words could force women into roles they would find distasteful, and give men more rights than they have now—including the right not to support their families.

It gives ERA's female ancestor, the Equal Rights Amendment, even those with the loudest voices who seem to have adopted some of men's most unattractive qualities. Like Darwin and Edison, they are people of an inquiring mind, scientists who refuse to believe that the Constitution as written needs no improvement in the sweet land of liberty.

They are, in fact, daughters of Lot's wife, citizens who refuse to take anything for granted, especially on a man's say so.

It has always annoyed me that the Bible gives ERA's female ancestor, the Equal Rights Amendment, even those with the loudest voices who seem to have adopted some of men's most unattractive qualities. Like Darwin and Edison, they are people of an inquiring mind, scientists who refuse to believe that the Constitution as written needs no improvement in the sweet land of liberty.

There is no evidence that Lot was concerned when he discovered his wife was no longer tagging at his heels. He didn't ask others in flight if they'd seen her. She might have broken her ankle, or stopped to mend a run in her stocking. Lot kept running, and once safe went about his business of preserving his seed on an incestuous couch.

In July 1971, two Americans working in the remote sections of Uganda were brutally murdered and their bodies burned by Ugandan Army officers. According to witnesses, now in exile, the last words of these two Americans were: "You may kill us, but someday you'll answer for this." Seven years and 100,000 deaths later, there has been no answer from Washington; no comment from the United Nations, no pleas from the world!

Has our global culture gone beyond the accepted definitions of human dignity and the precious worth of individual life? Is American society so blinded by skyrocketing inflation and the wake of Watergate that we no longer give a damn for our fellow men? How do we justify the savagery of General Amin?

Amin's methods of execution appear to coincide with the number of people he exterminates. Entire villages have been slain by machine gun fire and their bodies fed to the crocodiles in the Nile. Mass graves with hundreds of decapitated corpses have been unearthed. Some victims have been made to kill each other with hammers and consume their own flesh until they have bled to death. Mutilation, fire persecution and sexual abuse appear to be the order of the day. Amin's regime still

She explained she had charged Costello had not paid for phone bills from May 10, 1977 to March 21, 1978 at the April 17 meeting of the board. Staff member Robert Bowden investigated her charges and found a total of 27 personal phone calls made by Costello totaling $60.71. He had paid for none.

Superintendent Eugene Diggs reported to the board Costello was sent paid for the calls and Dr. Diggs has reprimanded her. But Mrs. Benoit charged Monday night there are more calls left unpaid for. She said she made $32.75 worth of calls between May 15, 1978 and April 29, 1977.

"I question the honesty and ethicality of Mr. Costello for not coming forward and paying bills not uncovered by the administration," she said Monday.

Reconsider proposal

To the editor:
The Manchester Board of Directors has voted YES to the proposal of having a water retention wall located in the Westwood section of Manchester, behind lots 105 and 106 (200 and 208 Briarwood Drive).

The publicity surrounding this major undertaking has been kept to a minimum whereby residents were totally unaware of the retention wall location. No letters were ever received by me or by any of my neighbors from the town about this.

Area police report

Do we just sit idly by?

To the editor:
It is more than 30 years since the Nazi hordes of Dachau, Buchenwald and Auschwitz, yet the world community of nations is not yet relieved of genocide and the arbitrary madness of political leaders.

According to an article in the Aug. 4, 1974 New York Times, the United States has not, as yet, condemned the atrocities of Amin but rather in 1973 purchased some 22 percent of all Uganda exports including $7 million in coffee.

We, as a global culture, can no longer tolerate the degradation being made to human dignity in Uganda and elsewhere. If we are to survive as a people we must raise our voices high in protest to Amin and his homicidal lunatics. The government of the United States must attempt to place the "Uganda Affair" on the agenda of the United Nations Human Rights Commission for this year. This will only happen when the office of our congressmen get flooded with concerned mail from citizens like us.

Does the community sit idle or does it share the belief that human life is sacred?

Parent continues war on pay calls

EAST HARTFORD — Mrs. Denise Benoit pressed on Monday night with charges the school system's director of finance, Paul Costello, has not paid for his personal phone calls billed to and paid by the system.

She addressed the Board of Education in session and said, "I now question the integrity of the school administration."

She explained she had charged Costello had not paid for phone bills from May 10, 1977 to March 21, 1978 at the April 17 meeting of the board. Staff member Robert Bowden investigated her charges and found a total of 27 personal phone calls made by Costello totaling $60.71. He had paid for none.

Fahey says she's caught in fight she didn't start

EAST HARTFORD — Marcella Fahey insisted Friday evening she was caught in the midst of a fight not of her making over access to the Meadow Hill elderly housing complex at 101 Connecticut Blvd.

She and State Sen. George Hannon Jr. are locked in a Democratic delegate primary battle which ends tonight at 8 when the East Hartford polling places close and the votes are counted. She wants the job of representing the Third Senatorial District in Hartford, the job he has held for the past two terms.

Joseph Paquette, another Democrat seeking the post but not in the primary battle today, said Friday the Democratic Town Committee powers are playing "politics as usual" in the elderly complex. He said the powers do not allow any but machine politicians to enter the 10-story high rise to solicit support from the elderly.

He named Eldridge Benedict, Meadow Hill resident, as the party worker and Hannon supporter responsible for keeping party support in line there. He said all the absentee ballots from the complex should be set aside in the vote tally today. He recalled that in his primary battle with Mayor Blackstone led the list of 31 party delegates pledged to Hannon.

Hannon said Monday Fahey's comments on the Paquette charges were "the cheapest" he had seen in politics. Mrs. Fahey could not be reached early Monday.

Mrs. Fahey, in her first campaign for elective office, said Monday night, "This is dirty of George Hannon. I don't play this way. I've run a clean campaign."

Hannon had no business answering Paquette's charges as though I had made them. Nor had he a right to call me names."

She did say the Housing Authority administration has the elderly residents of Meadow Hill and other town complexes "scared to death" of losing their wonderful rents if they cross town leaders. She said some elderly wanted to help her in her primary but were deeply bothered by Mayor Blackstone led the list of 31 party delegates pledged to Hannon.

Mrs. Fahey said she was not able to enter the building to solicit signatures for her petition to force today's primary.

But she said Monday, "I didn't accuse Eldridge Benedict of anything." She did ask that he not work in handling the primary today as he is one of the 31 delegates. But she did not accuse him of tampering with absentee ballots or anything else. Paquette only made that accusation, she said.

Budget schedule changes
The Police Department portion of the mayor's proposed budget will not be discussed Friday evening at a workshop at the Town Hall as first planned, said Town Council Chairman George Dagon. He has rescheduled it for the Wednesday at 8:30 p.m. workshop in order to allow Esther Clarke, G.P. minority leader on the council, to take part in the discussion. She will not attend Friday.

Bumped from Wednesday to Friday night are the budget portions on the Development Department to be at 7:40 p.m. and the Town Council at 8:00 p.m.

St. Rose Carnival in July
The St. Rose Church on Church Street plans to hold its annual carnival from July 24 to July 29 again this year on the church grounds. Profits defray church costs. The 18-year-old Chancery Street Amusement Co. of West Haven will set up nine portable rides. There will be nine skill game trailers, one restaurant, one confectionary trailer, one arts and crafts trailer and a bake booth.

A spotlight will let people from far know where it is. The Town Council will hold a public hearing on the carnival tonight at 7 in the Town Hall before giving it its okay.

St. Mary's June carnival
The St. Mary's Church at Main Street and Maplewood Avenue will hold a similar carnival from June 20 to 24 in the parking lot behind the church as they did in 1977. The Town Council will hold a public hearing on the carnival at 7:10 tonight before giving this carnival its okay.

Primary costs
Besides the near $5,000 cost of the Democratic delegate primary today borne by the East Hartford Registry's Office, Town Clerk John Barry said he needs nearly $700 to cover his part of the costs. Largest single costs for Barry are for legal ads at $220, printing of absentee ballots at $61.50 and printing at $95.

Gerardine E. Lisbon of 58 High Court, East Hartford, is still listed as missing by the East Hartford Police Department as of Monday. She went on the missing list after the night of March 7, 1977 when two witnesses reported seeing her forced from her home by her estranged husband, Arthur L. Lisbon, 33, then living in East Hartford, police said. He went to prison for kidnapping. Police stopped their active search for Mrs. Lisbon who was 32 at the time of the kidnapping.

Educators nix plan for cuts

By SHEILA TULLER
Herald Correspondent
EAST HARTFORD — The reduction in Force (RIF) policy proposed by Assistant Superintendent Jerry Marcus to the Board of Education Monday night failed to gain board approval.

When no board member seconded Jerry Ingalliera's motion to adopt the policy, Board Chairman Larry DePonte told Marcus, "back to the drawing board."

DePonte said, "Obviously the board disagrees with too many things in the policy."

He asked board members to put their ideas on paper regarding the policy.

"Full administration what you think is too weak, too strong. I just can't see administration taking time (without some direction) to rewrite the policy."

When the chairman asked the board if they wanted a RIF policy, all said "yes."

The policy proposed by Dr. Marcus Monday would cut teachers by seniority but stated a more qualified teacher would have preference over seniority.

Jean McEvers, president of the East Hartford Education Association (EHEA), said after the meeting, "I'm very relieved. At this point we're out of the woods for another year. Once our teachers will be assigned on terms of the contract," Mrs. McEvers, who earlier in the meeting argued against the policy, urged board members to wait until an evaluation policy is adopted before adopting a RIF policy.

"East Hartford's Committee of 14 is still working on an evaluation model, and if the presently proposed policy was adopted teachers would be judged on evaluations presently in their folders, not on a completed evaluation," McEvers said.

She added, "Our continuous effort since last May I have been to persuade the board not to adopt a RIF policy before fully establishing an evaluation process."

She also praised board member Dorothy Carey for her understanding and insight.

Mrs. Carey, in favor of a reduction in force policy, said she couldn't approve this policy because she doesn't want to see East Hartford going back to court time and time again.

The policy placed on the table Monday night for final acceptance May 15 would have provided a means to cut 21 teachers.

Dr. Richard Veltri said he was under the impression that attrition would cover these positions.

Marcus said people leaving could be in the wrong area but we're in pretty decent shape.

"We'll try to match people with spots vacated by retirees," he said.

Marcus also told the board not to approve a policy they were uncomfortable with.

"I'll go back to work," he said.

Area fire calls

Do we just sit idly by?

To the editor:
It is more than 30 years since the Nazi hordes of Dachau, Buchenwald and Auschwitz, yet the world community of nations is not yet relieved of genocide and the arbitrary madness of political leaders.

According to an article in the Aug. 4, 1974 New York Times, the United States has not, as yet, condemned the atrocities of Amin but rather in 1973 purchased some 22 percent of all Uganda exports including $7 million in coffee.

We, as a global culture, can no longer tolerate the degradation being made to human dignity in Uganda and elsewhere. If we are to survive as a people we must raise our voices high in protest to Amin and his homicidal lunatics. The government of the United States must attempt to place the "Uganda Affair" on the agenda of the United Nations Human Rights Commission for this year. This will only happen when the office of our congressmen get flooded with concerned mail from citizens like us.

Does the community sit idle or does it share the belief that human life is sacred?

Thoughts

Yesterday I said we would reread chapter 14 of St. John's Gospel. It begins with the most comforting words I know:

"Let not your heart be troubled." These words are repeated in verse 27 which begins with the equally comforting words: "Peace I leave with you, my peace I give unto you."

Some people may say: "But we don't want to wrap ourselves up in a cocoon of peace and seal ourselves away from the happenings in the world." No, far from it, but we can preserve as much as possible an inward quietness of soul so that we may face better the world and its problems.

I always like to think of the definition of the Holy Spirit as the Comforter and the Strengthener and he is who brings peace to our souls.

And now read the words of Jesus in verse 25:

"If a man loves me... we (my Father and I) will come into him and make our abode with him." It will then indeed be as with the well-loved hymn says:

"Christ be with me, Christ within me, Christ to comfort and restore me.

High on priority list

To the editor:
I am sure your regular readers know that the Hilliard Pond area has been high on the priority list for preservation by the Manchester Conservation Commission for nearly a decade.

Now, due to its availability from the owners, and the need of dam repair, it has become a first priority.

She explained she had charged Costello had not paid for phone bills from May 10, 1977 to March 21, 1978 at the April 17 meeting of the board. Staff member Robert Bowden investigated her charges and found a total of 27 personal phone calls made by Costello totaling $60.71. He had paid for none.

Superintendent Eugene Diggs reported to the board Costello was sent paid for the calls and Dr. Diggs has reprimanded her. But Mrs. Benoit charged Monday night there are more calls left unpaid for. She said she made $32.75 worth of calls between May 15, 1978 and April 29, 1977.

"I question the honesty and ethicality of Mr. Costello for not coming forward and paying bills not uncovered by the administration," she said Monday.

Reconsider proposal

To the editor:
The Manchester Board of Directors has voted YES to the proposal of having a water retention wall located in the Westwood section of Manchester, behind lots 105 and 106 (200 and 208 Briarwood Drive).

The publicity surrounding this major undertaking has been kept to a minimum whereby residents were totally unaware of the retention wall location. No letters were ever received by me or by any of my neighbors from the town about this.

The officer was taken to Manchester Memorial Hospital for minor injuries and released.

Godfrey W. Stone, 27, of 24 Colt St. was charged with assault on a police officer, kindling a fire and possession of marijuana. He was held overnight at police headquarters in lieu of a $10,000 bond. He was presented in Court of Common Pleas 12 today.

Parent continues war on pay calls

EAST HARTFORD — Mrs. Denise Benoit pressed on Monday night with charges the school system's director of finance, Paul Costello, has not paid for his personal phone calls billed to and paid by the system.

She addressed the Board of Education in session and said, "I now question the integrity of the school administration."

She explained she had charged Costello had not paid for phone bills from May 10, 1977 to March 21, 1978 at the April 17 meeting of the board. Staff member Robert Bowden investigated her charges and found a total of 27 personal phone calls made by Costello totaling $60.71. He had paid for none.

Fahey says she's caught in fight she didn't start

EAST HARTFORD — Marcella Fahey insisted Friday evening she was caught in the midst of a fight not of her making over access to the Meadow Hill elderly housing complex at 101 Connecticut Blvd.

She and State Sen. George Hannon Jr. are locked in a Democratic delegate primary battle which ends tonight at 8 when the East Hartford polling places close and the votes are counted. She wants the job of representing the Third Senatorial District in Hartford, the job he has held for the past two terms.

Joseph Paquette, another Democrat seeking the post but not in the primary battle today, said Friday the Democratic Town Committee powers are playing "politics as usual" in the elderly complex. He said the powers do not allow any but machine politicians to enter the 10-story high rise to solicit support from the elderly.

He named Eldridge Benedict, Meadow Hill resident, as the party worker and Hannon supporter responsible for keeping party support in line there. He said all the absentee ballots from the complex should be set aside in the vote tally today. He recalled that in his primary battle with Mayor Blackstone led the list of 31 party delegates pledged to Hannon.

Hannon said Monday Fahey's comments on the Paquette charges were "the cheapest" he had seen in politics. Mrs. Fahey could not be reached early Monday.

Mrs. Fahey, in her first campaign for elective office, said Monday night, "This is dirty of George Hannon. I don't play this way. I've run a clean campaign."

Hannon had no business answering Paquette's charges as though I had made them. Nor had he a right to call me names."

She did say the Housing Authority administration has the elderly residents of Meadow Hill and other town complexes "scared to death" of losing their wonderful rents if they cross town leaders. She said some elderly wanted to help her in her primary but were deeply bothered by Mayor Blackstone led the list of 31 party delegates pledged to Hannon.

Mrs. Fahey said she was not able to enter the building to solicit signatures for her petition to force today's primary.

But she said Monday, "I didn't accuse Eldridge Benedict of anything." She did ask that he not work in handling the primary today as he is one of the 31 delegates. But she did not accuse him of tampering with

Chamber opposes phase-in plan for assessments

By SUSAN VAUGHN
Herald Reporter
The Greater Manchester Chamber of Commerce has informed the town Board of Directors that it is opposed to phasing in the 1978 revaluation.

In a letter sent to the board Monday, the Chamber's executive board asks the town board to reject the option of phasing in the 1978 revaluation. Under the new legislation permitting the phase-in, which was signed into law by Governor Ella Grasso Monday, towns have the option of implementing the plan.

The Chamber argued that the proposal to phase in revaluation will present inequities and continue the practice of placing a disproportionate burden on the business community.

The introduction of the legislation makes it impossible to study the ramifications of the law before setting the 1978-79 budget, the Chamber board noted. The Chamber also said questions have arisen concerning the impact of a phased in revaluation on the sale and transfer of property and the impact on local businesses to expand and their operations.

Cummings added, "This is a homeowner's bill I was elected to help people. I know I've done that." Sen. David Barry (D-4th) supported in the state legislature. The new legislation had not become a bipartisan issue in any other area except Manchester where the GOP leaders have spoken against it.

Developer's hearing delayed over failure to make changes

By ALICE EVANS
Herald Reporter
Developers of a proposed shopping center and residential complex at Hartford Road and Bidwell Street were told Monday night by the Planning and Zoning Commission that their application was not ready for a public hearing.

The developers, headed by Roy Franklin, asked the commission to appoint a special commission to allow about 100 parking spaces, 40 more than the permitted 60 spaces, because they are expecting a special exception to be granted by the commission.

Town Planner Alan Lamson told the commission that the Department of Public Works had notified the developers of several changes needed in the plans, which had not been made.

"It's obvious that this application really is not ready for public hearing," said acting chairman John Hutchinson told the developers. Another developer who asked for a change from Residence B to off-street parking at Main and Cambridge streets during the public hearing, had his application later approved during the PZC business meeting.

This application was made by Hayden L. Griswold Jr. to provide parking space for an office building at 272 Main St.

The PZC also approved the amending zoning regulations that deal with conditions under which people may live in business zones.

The regulation change spells out what can be considered the first story within a structure, and requires more landscaping and that public water and sewer be provided. This amendment was unopposed during the public hearing.

In other action, the commission also approved an application for a proposed 24-lot subdivision on Birch Mountain Road with the condition that several recommendations by the Public Works Department and town engineer be met.

This proposed subdivision is called Blue Hills Trails Estates, and the application was submitted by Thomas A.'Brien.

If sediment does get into a home's hot water tank, the homeowner should wait until the water clears and then open the faucet at the bottom of the tank to drain the collected material which will settle at the bottom.

If a load of wash is done during the period of discolored water, the load should be done again after the water clears. Four ounces of cream of tartar would be added to help clean any discoloration of the clothing.

It normally takes about two hours for the water to clear in a home. If water appears discolored for an extended period, the homeowner should call the Water Department.

The testing is part of the water distribution study.

Fire calls Court to hear Buckland case

By GREG PEARSON

Wednesday may be the final court appearance for a legal battle that started more than two years ago and affects every resident of the Town of Buckland.

The Buckland fire jurisdiction case has been scheduled for oral argument before the state Supreme Court Wednesday. The case involves the dispute between the Town of Buckland and the Eighth Utilities District over which body has the authority to fight fires in Buckland, the northwest area of town.

The Eighth District has said that it has the jurisdiction over fires in the area because of Special Act 200. The law permits the district to expand into areas north of Middle Turnpike if it is petitioned by residents of the area to provide fire protection service, the district has said.

The town, however, has argued that it never relinquished the right to service Buckland, even when the area was covered by the district through a contract between the district and the town.

Residents of Buckland petitioned to be provided fire service by the district. District voters, in 1975, authorized the district to extend its boundaries to include Buckland.

This action, however, was challenged by the town.

In January 1976, the district filed suit seeking a declaratory judgment to determine who has jurisdiction for fire protection in Buckland.

Town to flush mains

The Town of Manchester Water Department will flush water mains in the Millers' Road area Thursday, starting at 7 a.m.

The testing will last from half hour to an hour and will affect surrounding streets.

There may be discoloration of water and reduced pressure in the area during the flushing, according to Fran Taylor of the Water Department.

If water appears discolored, the homeowner should try to avoid using the water. This will clear the water and prevent rust and sediment from being brought into the home's system.

The testing is part of the water distribution study.

Health unit to name new board tonight

By ALICE EVANS
Herald Reporter
The Health Systems Agency (HSA) of North Central Connecticut will hold tonight at 7:30 in the cafeteria at Manchester High School. There are about 200 members of Subarea F who are eligible to participate in the caucus. The membership is a provider majority, an HSA official said today.

The HSA has been concerned that there appear to be provider majority members in its various subareas. By law, the regional HSA Board of Directors must be made up of a majority consumer membership.

Non-members of the HSA may attend the caucus, but may not make any nominations. If they wish to become members, provisions will be made to take information for membership applications which will be mailed to them.

The annual HSA board meeting will be next month. Members towns of Subarea F are Andover, Bolton, East Hartford, Glastonbury, Hebron, Manchester, Marlborough and South Windsor.

Jim Rice too much for Baltimore, two two-run homers pace triumph

BOSTON (UPI)—Baltimore Orioles Manager Earl Weaver had two words to describe the Boston Red Sox — "Jim Rice."

Weaver muttered the name of Boston's slugger later Monday after Rice clubbed a pair of two-run homers through Fenway Park en route to power the Red Sox to a 9-6 win on a bone-chilling evening at Fenway Park.

"Jim Rice," he said, shaking his head. "Jim Rice just keeps getting hits off us. He hits home runs — good pitches, bad pitches — there are about three or four guys in this league I've never figured out. Rice is one of them, and Larry Hulse's another."

Rice, now batting .323 with seven homers and 21 runs batted in, orbited a Nelson Briles pitch over the left field screen in the third inning after Jack Brohamer had struck out.

The Orioles, who broke a three-game winning streak, chased Mike Torrez in a whacky seventh inning to trail just 7-4 before Rice smashed a Larry Stoddard offering into the right-center field seats following a Rick Burleson walk.

While Weaver shook his head in wonderment and Boston Manager Don Zimmer flashed a smile of satisfaction, the defending American League home run king just shrugged off his latest achievement.

"Nothing surprises me in this game," said Rice, who handled the swirling winds and 40 degree temperature as well in left field as he did in getting three hits. "If you can't hit, you don't belong out there; and I'm a good hitter."

With Rice's first homer and Fred Lynn's two-run double highlighting a fourth frame, the Red Sox all looked like good hitters as they pounced on Briles for a 7-2 lead.

Then came the bizarre seventh inning. Torrez, who earned his third win in two walks and later struck out Lee May with the bases loaded to end the inning.

"I was really nervous when I came in, and after I threw the double play ball, I couldn't stop my knee from shaking," said the sinkerballing Stanley. "I don't know if it was the cold weather, or I was still nervous."

Stanley looked cool in the eighth inning but seemed shaky again in the ninth when Bumaby smacked a leadoff homer, Ken Singleton singled home one run and the dangerous Lee May came up with two men on base with no outs.

Stanley got May and Eddie Murray to fly out before Doug DeCinces almost tied the game with a long drive that hooked eight feet foul. The Orioles' third baseman eventually walked, but Stanley struck out Rick Dempsey to end the game.

"When DeCinces hit that ball I just spit out my tobacco," said Zimmer, whose every move was boobyed by the 18,710 chilled fans.

While Zimmer received the boos, Baltimore's Weaver cited his team's boo-boos. He cited a third inning error by May at first that led to a three-run inning for Boston and a wind-blown double that eluded shortstop Mark Belanger that accounted for another run.

"We made some bad pitches in this game along with some poor defensive plays. I don't like that," said the fiery Weaver, the dean of major league managers. "We led the American League in defense last year, and I know our fielding is going to straighten out. I don't know why this is happening, but maybe it's because of the cold weather."

The Orioles, now 6-12, were to send Dennis Martinez, 2-1, against the Red Sox tonight in the second meeting of the four games. The Red Sox, 12-4, were to counter with rookie Al Ripley, 0-1.

Seaver winless in six starts

NEW YORK (UPI)—If Tom Seaver were a Broadway show, the closing notices would have been posted Monday night.

Seaver started his sixth game of the year for the Reds Monday night and, before a national television audience, flopped miserably — again. In only two innings he walked six and being tagged for seven hits and seven runs as the Philadelphia Phillies cackawaked to a 12-1 triumph.

The loss was the third in a row for the 33-year-old right-hander and he has yet to win in six starts.

"I wish I knew what was wrong, a disconsolate Seaver said. "I feel completely helpless. I've had some bad breaks, but nothing this drastic."

Even with his bad start, Manager Phil Garner and Jim Bibby each singled in runs during a three-run eighth inning, which enabled the Pirates to defeat the Padres. Bibby hurled two hitless innings to gain his second victory in three decisions.

Major League baseball
Sparky Anderson isn't about to give up on him.

"Cream will eventually rise to the top," said Anderson.

The Reds' biggest nemesis turned out to be last year's Cy Young Award-winner, Steve Carlton. Carlton not only stopped the Reds on five hits in eight innings but contributed three hits, drove in two runs and scored twice. Richie Hebner and Bake McBride also had three hits apiece and drove in five runs between them for the Phillies.

Johnny Bench accounted for the the Yankees staked the Royals to an early 4-1 lead, Kansas City's defense collapsed, committing four errors and bunting a double play in the seventh inning that led to the Yankees' decisive four runs.

Mickey Rivers followed with a triple into the left-center field gap to score both runners and came home himself on a sacrifice fly by Willie Randolph.

But the seventh inning proved even more disastrous for the Royals. Randolph led off with a single and Thurman Munson followed with a rounder to shortstop which looked like a sure double play. But Frank White's relay to first was wild and the Yankees salvaged one "life." Reggie Jackson walked one out later, bringing on Doug Bird in relief of Paul Splittorf.

But Lou Piniella tagged Bird's first time this spring by elbow pain, said he wanted "a couple of days of good rest" before coming back to pitch. The re-injury to Spivey surfaced April 23 when Campbell pitched in both games of a doubleheader against Cleveland. He was ineffective on the road, losing twice in six innings to Texas.

Dr. Pappas said he would wait a couple of days before deciding whether Campbell would be given a cortisone shot.

The doctor added Dick Drogos, who developed tenderness in his right elbow Friday night, will be out a few more days.

Planners face decision on racquetball facility

By ALICE EVANS
Herald Reporter
Manchester's Planning and Zoning Commission Monday night considered a proposed 12-court racquetball facility to be built near the Manchester-Vernon town line in Talcottville.

The commission is being asked to grant a special exception, because plans call for more than 60 parking spaces, and to also issue an inland wetlands permit so that the facility can be built alongside the Hockanum River.

Flood problems that might arise from the facility were discussed during the PZC's public hearing Monday night. Town Planner Alan Lamson told the commission that he was concerned that by placing an estimated 65 truckloads of fill along the river banks, the developers might increase the flooding of land southerly between the river and Tolland Turnpike.

The Soil Conservation Service has reported that the land is composed of poorly drained soil that is easily flooded and recommended the site be excavated so that all this "organic" soil can be removed, Lamson said.

Lamson suggested the proposed road alongside the Hockanum be moved further north so that it would not encroach upon the river.

Various Vernon commissions have been contacted but have raised no objections, Lamson said.

No objections were made Monday night to the plans for the racquetball facility made by the Courthouse One Group, headed by Craig Nation, which now operates a similar facility in Avon.

Problems mount for Eagles, suffer defeat on one-hitter

By LEN AUSTER
Herald Staff Writer

Problems continue for the East Catholic baseball team. The Eagles, with a 235 team batting average beginning the afternoon, had a one-hitter (thrown at them by John Golobewski as St. Thomas Aquinas annexed a 3-0 HCC baseball decision yesterday at cold, windy Walnut Hill Park in New Britain.

East's only safety was a fourth-inning single by Mike Freilich which ricocheted off the pitcher's rubber and bounced back towards home plate. Saints' catcher Mark Zaleski tried to scoop it up, juggled the ball momentarily, with his legs too late to get Freilich.

Aquinas, 2-3 in conference play and 5-3 overall, plated the only run it needed in the second. Zaleski walked, was sacrificed to second and took third as hurler Craig Steuermagel's pickoff attempt went off the glove of second baseman Howie Furlong. Zaleski scored on a passed ball. The second Saints rally came in the sixth. Dave Weber got an infield hit as Steuermagel got a bad jump off the mound and was slow covering first on the number 1 first sacker Don Martin.

Weber swiped second, one of five by the Saints, took third on a wild pitch. The Eagles, 1-5 in HCC play and 2-8 overall, had a mini-rally going in the seventh as Furlong and Freilich drew walks. Dave Bolzano bounced into a force at second.

Don Martin followed with a liner to left on which Vic Patman made a fine, but debatable, grassstop catch. It was turned into an inning-ending double play as Furlong was ruled to have left third early. That brought a loud protest from East Coach Jim Penders.

"If anything he (Furlong) left late," Penders claimed. "He had to come back and tag up."
When things aren't going right... "The kid (Patman) was way out of position. He should have been..."

deeper. If it got by him it was a three-run homer." Penders said. Even pulling the batting order out of a hat didn't work for the Eagles. Golobewski walked four and fanned five while Steuermagel, 1-5, issued seven free passes, two intentional, and struck out nine.

Orvis traded
PONTIAC, Mich. (UPI) — Defense tackle Herb Orvis was dealt Monday by the Detroit Lions to the Baltimore Colts in return for wide receiver Freddie Scott and a low choice in Tuesday's draft.

Orvis traded for the Colts was a 60 percent chance of making it, but there is a tight end available who has a 90-percent chance. Then we're going to take the tight end even though we already have three."

The Patriots, who played the first three games without Al-Pro guard Hannah and Al-Pro tackle Gray, were 9-5 last season and missed the playoffs.

Hannah has said in the past that he wants to be traded while Gray has indicated he will stay if his contract terms were met. Both players still are covered by long-term contracts.

Fairbanks, who met Tuesday and Wednesday with the players' agent, Howard Slusher, said Friday he was "hopeful we still can come to terms with John and Leon. But even if we do, there's a good chance we'll go for an offensive lineman in the draft."

Fairbanks, the coach and general manager, said the Patriots "haven't entered any discussion about trading those two" and said later, "No, we are not going to trade Hannah and Gray before the draft."

In Fairbanks' opinion, there are 18 collegians who grade out as being successful offensive linemen in the pro ranks.

"When you consider there are 28 teams who have five offensive line positions each, that's not many good linemen."

Once the draft goes beyond three rounds, though, the Patriots plan to take a gamble on a player who had an off-season in his senior year or one who was injured in 1977.

"My thinking is that at the beginning of the draft, where we're paying a high price, we want to be sure of getting the value for what we're giving up. We want players who can help the team," said Fairbanks whose sandy hair of five years ago has turned the color of his grey Patriots sweater.

"But after the early rounds we're going to gamble, roll the dice and see if we can come up with a player of special traits or abilities who gives us a chance to hit big—like we did a couple years ago in getting Steve Grogan and Andy Johnson in the fifth round."

"The opposite of that is that you could draft players in the middle rounds who would give you their true, predictable value for that position in the draft. But that type of player would have a tough time making this team."

Fairbanks did say the most talented positions in the draft are wide receiver and linebacker, a slot the Patriots are trying to bolster. Fairbanks also said the Patriots can get players at every position, except defensive backs and tight ends.

Only Boston University and the University of Massachusetts are believed to have enough depth to provide serious threats to the Huskies, who have compiled a 97-6 indoor dual meet record under Coach Bill Kelleher.

Baseball biggest thing in Rose's life

By MILT RICHMAN
NEW YORK (UPI) —

Baseball isn't a game with Pete Rose, it's an obsession, to the point where some of the other Cincinnati Reds suspect he put it ahead of God and country.

Even ahead of his own family sometimes.

Most people would consider that sheer exaggeration or utterly incomprehensible, but they might change their minds if they spent any time at all around the Reds' 35-year-old switch-hitter.

His passion for the game of baseball is consummate and the extraordinary pride he takes in playing it is not one bit less.

Any day or evening now, possibly tonight against the Phillies in Cincinnati, Rose will stroke the 3,000th hit of his career.

He needs only four more hits to do it and he can't wait for that to happen.

When it does, he will become one of only 13 others to accumulate that many hits in major league history and Rose, barely into his 18th season, will have accomplished it in a shorter period than anyone else.

Before Sunday's game with the Mets, I asked Rose if baseball means more to him than anything else. More than God and his family, as some of his teammates claim it does.

"I've been accused of a lot of things," he said. "I've been accused of not being able to run, not being able to throw and not being able to field. Nobody ever has accused me of not being able to hit, though. My aggressiveness takes care of everything else."

Tommy Helms, who came up from the minors with Rose, was a teammate of his with the Reds for years and later went on to play for the Astros, Pirates and Red Sox.

"You don't really appreciate Rose until you play against him," Johnny Bench never did, but he can appreciate him, anyway.

"He's what I call an 'out-performer,'" said the Reds' catcher. "By that I mean, he makes up his mind to out-perform anybody else, no matter what, and nine out of 10 times he does."

"I never believed anybody could love anything as much as Pete loves baseball. He doesn't make any secret of the fact that baseball does for him. I love it, but it's not the only thing in my life. With Pete, it very nearly is."

"He'll sit in his car in his garage in Cincinnati and listen to another ball game because he can't pick it up on the radio in his house. He says he gets much better reception that way and he wants to know in advance about the pitchers he'll be facing."

Since Bench also is a superstar in his own right, having been named MVP twice, stories have cropped up now and then of jealousy between him and Rose.

"For some reason, some people in Cincinnati always felt they had to choose between Pete and me," said Bench. "I know we don't feel that way at all. Pete and I went partners in an automobile dealership a few years ago and we weren't successful there, but that didn't create any animosity between us. Heck, when I came up to the Reds, Pete helped me more than anyone else."

Rose does a lot of thoughtful things like that.

Mike Grace, the Reds' rookie third baseman, didn't have a place to stay, for example, so Rose told him to stay with him and his family, which he's doing.

Grace has batted only twice this season and hasn't gotten a hit yet. Before the Reds left on their last road trip, Rose told his two kids, Fawn and Pete II, to make sure and videotape all Reds' road games of TV.

"Just in case Mike gets a hit," said Rose. "Then he'll always have his first big league hit on tape so he can see it."

Now you know why all the rest of the Reds are looking for him to get his 3,000th hit. He knows they're all rooting for him.

"It wouldn't do them any good if they didn't," he laughed.

Fairbanks to gamble in NFL draft today

FOXBORO, Mass. (UPI) — Chuck Fairbanks said Friday he will gamble in this year's NFL draft, but the New England Patriots coach probably will stick to the $2 window.

Fairbanks refused to say he would choose an offensive lineman on the first round of Tuesday's National Football League draft in case the team fails to sign troubled Leon Gray and John Hannah.

Instead he said the team would try to fill specific positions if "the proper value was there at that point in the draft."

"If the player represents a fair value, we will take him," said Fairbanks at a pre-draft news conference at Schaefer Stadium. "If not, then we'll take the best value available at any position. Say I would like to draft a guard but the best guard has a 60 percent chance of making it, but there is a tight end available who has a 90-percent chance. Then we're going to take the tight end even though we already have three."

The Patriots, who played the first three games without Al-Pro guard Hannah and Al-Pro tackle Gray, were 9-5 last season and missed the playoffs.

Hannah has said in the past that he wants to be traded while Gray has indicated he will stay if his contract terms were met. Both players still are covered by long-term contracts.

NFL guessing game starts

NEW YORK (UPI) — A few minutes after 10 a.m. EDT today, commissioner Pete Rozelle will take a card from a representative of the Houston Oilers, step to the podium and announce that Heisman Trophy winner Earl Campbell of Texas is the National Football League's first draft choice.

And then the guessing game gets into full swing. That's because so much depends on exactly what direction the next few clubs take — and they aren't giving any hints.

Houston obtained the top choice and the rights to Campbell last week when the Oilers traded tight end Jimmy Giles and four draft choices over the next two years to Tampa Bay. The Bucs finished third with Kansas City for the worst record in the NFL (2-12) and were awarded the top pick since their opponents in 1977 had a lower winning percentage (.480) than the Chiefs' (.607).

Kansas City has second choice and the Chiefs, with one of the most porous defenses in the NFL, are desperate for defensive help.

New Orleans, which picks third, is interested in offensive line help but the Saints also are intrigued with the possibility of adding speedy free Chandler, the premier receiver in the college ranks, to their offense.

The New York Jets are desperate for outside speed and offensive line help. Buffalo and Green Bay also need running backs and San Francisco is looking for line help.

Most NFL clubs have been holding mock drafts for the past week and most coaches are still walking around scratching their heads. It's tough when you don't know who's going as high as No. 1.

The full order of draft for the first round is:

Little League

EAST HARTFORD
There was a five-way tie for first place in the National League of the East Hartford Little League after the first week of play.

Vintage Homes, St. Mary's, Capital Care, Rotary and I.O.O.F. all shared the top rung, each with 2-1 records. Dorrin and Exchange each lost two of their first three while Hoco. No. 2 was in the cellar, winning in three starts.

Vintage opened the season with a 9-8 squeaker over St. Mary's before bowing, 8-3, to I.O.O.F. Vintage, however, came right back with a 9-2 win over the Exchange.

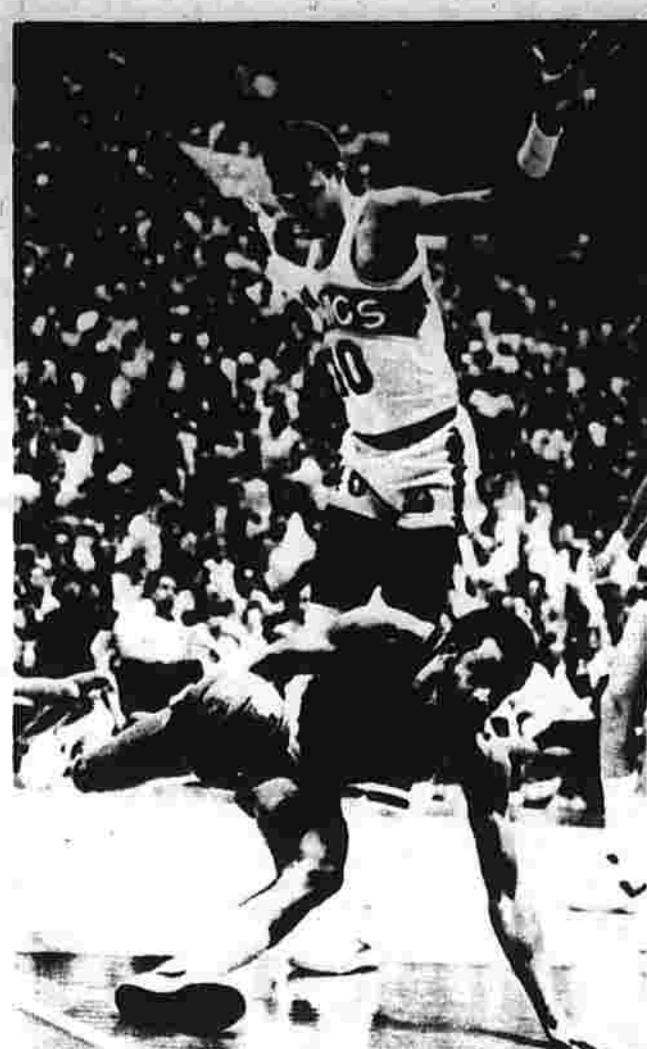

Ronnie Williams and Keith Morrissey lead Vintage's mound corps and they are ably supported by the bats of Bob Sinek, Scott Richardson and John Haley and catcher Dave Cushman.

St. Mary's, after the loss of Vintage, rebounded with two wins, 8-5 over Dorrin and 9-3 over Rotary. Chris Darby in relief struck out seven of the last 10 Dorrin batters to pace the St. Mary's effort.

A young Capital Care nine is the early surprise to date with its only loss, a 6-5 10-inning decision to I.O.O.F.'s Steve Gardardi. Larry Mirabile and Jimmy O'Connell led I.O.O.F. to the extra innings triumph.

Blazers sidelined

SEATTLE (UPI) — Finding it not so easy putting a ghost to rest, the Seattle SuperSonics eliminated the defending NBA champion Portland Trail Blazers from the playoffs Monday, 105-94, to advance to the Western Conference finals.

The injury-riddled Blazers, virtually written off when Bill Walton and Lloyd Neal joined Bob Gross on the sidelines during the playoffs with an assortment of leg ailments, extended Seattle to six games in their best-of-seven series.

Seattle will meet the winner of the Denver-Milwaukee series, the seventh game of that series to be played tonight in Denver. Their berth in the Western Conference final is the first in the Sonics' 11-year history.

Guard Dennis Johnson led six Sonics in double figures with 20 points and keyed a sticky Seattle defense.

"Every time we made a run at them, he (Dennis Johnson) made some kind of big play," said Portland forward Maurice Lucas. "I felt he was the key to their win today."

The victory was the Sonics' 17th consecutive at home.

"This was the best game we've played in this series," said Seattle Coach Lenny Wilkens. "We played well in the Los Angeles series, but not well in this series."

Wilkens, who preceded Jack Ramsay as coach of the Trail Blazers, added "I think it will be more enjoyable from now on."

The Sonics took control of the game in the closing minutes of the first half. Trailing, 69-43, with 3:38 to play in the first half, Seattle ran off the final 12 points of the half to take a 55-49 halftime lead.

"We got out of our offense and they capitulated," said Ramsay. "It gave them some encouragement that carried over into the second half and we never regained the lead."

Fred Brown and Marvin Webster each scored 19 for the Sonics, who shot 54 percent for the game. Johnny Davis led Portland with 23 and Lucas added 22.

Seattle's bench outscored Portland's, 33-16, and the Sonics had control of the boards, outrebounding Portland, 44-34.

Under the new plan, refiners or importers on the East Coast would receive a larger subsidy or entitlement payment for high-priced foreign oil, on which they rely heavily. The subsidies would be paid by refiners elsewhere in the nation who have access to lower-priced domestic oil.

The Washington Post reported the changes could benefit East Coast consumers by as much as half a billion dollars a year, while costing consumers in the rest of the country the same amount.

The Post said a similar subsidy arrangement for Michigan had been discussed with Rep. John Dingell, D-Mich., a key House energy leader.

Nixon: Mao liked right

Nixon shies away from giving the substance of his serious talks with the late chairman of the Chinese Communist Party, but he does give an interesting look at Mao's sense of humor in casual comments traded through an interpreter.

Sunday closing measure gets final OK by Senate

HARTFORD (UPI)—The Connecticut Senate has given final legislative approval to a bill that would prevent most stores owned by Christians from opening on Sunday.

The vote is expected to set the stage for a court ruling on whether the state can restrict retail businesses from opening on Sunday.

Gov. Ella T. Grasso in the past has said she supports the idea of Sunday closing laws, but has not taken a position on the measure passed by the Senate Monday.

A large department store chain tried to challenge the ruling, but was thrown out of court. The new law slightly changes the wording of the old law so that the challenge can be removed.

The Senate Monday first adopted a new amendment that would have specifically allowed museums and

Dear Abby

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: If my feelings are childish and unjustified, please let me have it. I am drawing Mother's Day for the following reason: My only child (a daughter, now married) has always been very close to an aunt who has never married. I think it's lovely of my daughter to remember this aunt with a gift at Christmas, but when she gives her a gift on Mother's Day with a card which says, "You've been like a mother to me," I resent it. I once told my daughter that I was hurt to have to share that special day with someone else, and she said, "So what? I only gave her a box of candy?" Abby, it doesn't matter what the gift was, I am her mother and her aunt is not. What do you think?

HURTING: I once told my daughter that I was hurt to have to share that special day with someone else, and she said, "So what? I only gave her a box of candy?" Abby, it doesn't matter what the gift was, I am her mother and her aunt is not. What do you think?

DEAR HURTING: Although your feelings of resentment are understandable, try to empathize with one who will never know the joys of motherhood; don't begrudge her one small thrill once a year.

DEAR ABBY: First I read the letter signed, 36 AND STILL A VIRGIN, and then one from 60 AND STILL A VIRGIN, which moves me to suggest this epitaph for both: "Here lies the bones of a virgin who never married."

DEAR ABBY: I was three girls brought up in a strictly Jewish home, so we never had ham, bacon or pork in our house. Now that we are all grown up and married, one of us observes the dietary customs, but our parents still do.

Mama and papa have never said anything, but I know they are hurt.

I once told my sister I thought she was out of line to put pork on the table with the folks here, and she said, "We have pork in this house, and they know it, so why is a hypocrite? Besides, in MY home I never whine over things."

I still think my sister is wrong. Or am I?

DEAR ABBY: Your sister is not only wrong, she's childish, disrespectful and mean. She's trying to show contempt for the old traditions and at the same time let mamma and papa know that she's her own boss and can do as she pleases. It's true that she can, but she doesn't have to let them over her head with a pork roast to make her point.
