Those leisurely hours your family spends in the bath could be costing you a bucket.

Because one big energy gulper in your home is the hot water heater. It alone can account for up to 15% of your home fuel bills. So if you really want to keep your money from going down the drain, try taking a shower instead of a bath. You'll end up using only about half the hot water you normally use in a tub. Showers are just one step you can take to cut down

SOMETHING FOR THE U.S. OLYMPIC ATHLETES. A $1,000,000 DONATION.

As you may know, our Olympic athletes are not government subsidized. So they need money to train now if they're going to win in Moscow in 1980.

When you buy a new Toyota, you'll also get a specially designed Olympic pin, patch, and a certificate thanking you for your support. Now you can get a tough Toyota, and a tough Olympic team.

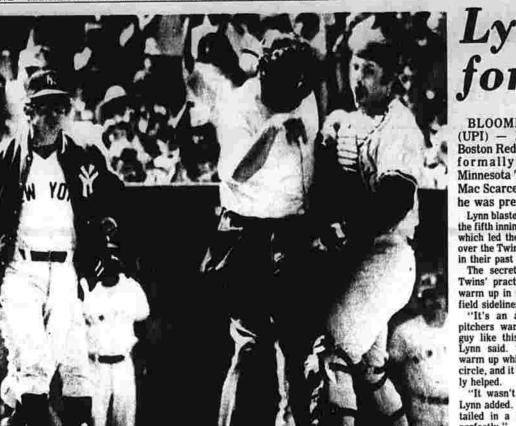

Ten "Silver Medal" second prizes. Every "Silver Medal* winner will receive a Toyota Corolla SR-5 Liftback, a $1,000 AMF Sports Shopping Spree, a Nikon FM Camera, and a one-week trip for two to the European Track and Field Championships in Prague, Czechoslovakia. And $2,500 cash.

Kingman on spree with four homers

NEW YORK (UPI) - Dave Kingman, the million-dollar slugger of the Chicago Cubs, made his first appearance of the year this weekend in one of his favorite parks - Dodger Stadium - and snapped out of the hitting doldrums with four homers and 10 runs batted in against the Los Angeles Dodgers.

Kingman, who hit a two-run homer loaded three homers and drove in eight runs Sunday, as Chicago outslugged Los Angeles 10-7, in a 15inning, five-hour and two-minute marathon. His second homer of the game was a two-run shot that tied the score, 7-7, in the ninth and his final clout came with two men aboard in Anxees in the form of an extra base hit off a fireballing right-hander.

Poles and Jews join in Warsaw

WARSAW, Poland (UPI) - Observances of the 35th anniversary of the Warsaw Ghetto uprising by a rag-tag band of Jewish underground fighters, finally crushed by the Nazi German army after 28 days, may have marked a first step toward resumption of normal relations between Poland and Israel.

Jewish delegations from about a dozen countries - including Israel for the first time in 11 years — attended the anniversary ceremonies in Warsaw last month. Relations between Poland and world Jewry deteriorated after 1968 when the Polish government expelled many Jews on charges of Zionism.

The ceremonies commemorating the ghetto uprising, which broke out on April 19, 1943, and was crushed May. 16. 1943, testified to a remarkable change. For the first time since 1967, when Poland broke off diplomatic relations with Israel and sided with Egypt during the Arab-Israeli war, an Israeli delegation attended the anniversary ceremonies.

Other Jewish delegations came from the United States, France, Belgium, Switzerland, Netherlands, Britain, Romania, Hungary and the Soviet Union. The delegations were led by Nahum Goldmann, the honorary chairman o the World Jewish Congress. Gideon Hausner, a member of the Israeli parliament caused a stir when he said "relations between Poland and Israel should be normalized and the ceremony may be a

Polish news media recently protested against some statements in the film "Holocaust," recently shown on photograph, taken during the end of the up-U.S. television, that the Poles were not cooperative in supplying weapons to the Jewish fighters during the 1943

Even the Germans admitted at the time that during their first incursion into the ghetto "Jews and Polish ban-dits" managed to repel the German forces. It took more than 880 German soldiers, assisted by Ukrainian troops, to put down the 28-day revolt. The ghetto area was leveled by the Germans who said they killed 13,928 men, women and children and sent hundreds of thousands more to concentration camps. The ghetto was rectangular in shape and bordered by walls 10 eet high. It was populated by some 500,000 Jews deported from other cities in the years 1940 to 1942.

Nazi governor general Hans Frank said in 1942, "Jews who leave the quarter assigned to them without permission are liable to the death penalty." More than 300,000 Jews were transported to the Treblinka concentration camp alone. The Germans told them they would be resettled in the East and they did not know they were going to the gas chambers. Others died of starvation and typhoid fever.

The Warsaw uprising inspired similar short-lived struggles in the Polish cities of Czestochowa, Bedzin, Treblinka, Sobibor, and in the ghetto of Bialystok. Treblinka, Sobibor, and in the ghetto of Bialystok.

Fires controlled in train disaster

NACOGDOCHES, Texas (UPI) - Fires spread by the explosions of three derailed tank cars were brought under control early today, and thousands of residents began returning to their homes. The three tank cars were among eight that jumped the track Sunday just outside this East Texas town as a 127-car Southern Pacific train crossed a small wooden trestle over a stream feeding into Lake Sam Rayburn. Explosions from the cars sent huge balls of orange flame curling 400-feet into the bright afternoon sky and scattered smoking fragments of hot metal into nearby woods, causing additional fires. There were no injuries caused by the explosions.

"I was about 1,000 feet away when one of the cars went up," said Fire Chief C.E. Duffin. "It was pretty spec-tacular. It was a loud, thunder-type explosion. The flames went up and then formed a black mushroom Duffin said the tank cars that exploded were believed to carry ethyl acrylate, propylene oxide and butadiene all highly flammable petroleum chemicals. The derailment occured at mid-afternoon and between 2,500 and 3,500 people - including residents of two nursing homes - were evacuated as a whitish-blue haze drifted over the southern edge of the town.

That haze initially was thought to be gas but Duffin said it later proved to be smoke from the fires. Duffin said there were no injuries in the explosions but a fireman, policeman and several reserve officers were fighting the blaze.

stormed Tehran University today and beat some 200 students on the campus. Army tanks rumbled into Tehran in answer to dissident calls for a general strike. Truckloads of riot police in battle gear streamed into the university before the students could get in to see the dean to press their demands for an end to military guards on campus and greater student representation. Police backed by soldiers carrying machine guns pushed the students toward the entrance and once outside beat about 200 of them with batons and truncheons. In the Grand Bazaar area of Tehran, scene of clashes between police and dissidents last week, gun-toting soldiers took up positions during a local strike. Scores of residents gathered in the streets and shouted their protests against the military's presence. More than 40 persons have been killed and at least 100 injured in 25 cities in clashes between security forces and constrators this year. The disturbances have cauded millions of dollars in damage.

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A college president convicted of drunken driving and killing a pedestrian was sentenced by a judge to give lectures on the consequences of drinking and driving.

It was one of a number of recent innovative sentences in which offenders do community service work instead of going to jail. The government said Sunday they are becoming increasingly popular alternatives to imprisonment, particularly in the case of minor offenses.

"Often, jail or fines are inappropriate," said a report done for the Justice Department's Law Enforcemen Assistance Administration, "Thus a suspended sentence was the only course available to the judge. Now, with ar effective court referral program, an appropriate sentence can be given and enforced."

The definition of "appropriate" appears to vary according to the skills of the offender. The college president's sentence to give lectures was an actual case cited in the study prepared for the Law Enforcement Assistance Administration by Abt Associates Inc., of Cambridge, Mass., based on experience in Orange and Alameda counties in California, and Multnomah County, Ore. Offenders must volunteer for the alternative punish-Other examples were listed:

· Executives of a meat-packing firm convicted of criminal violations were sentenced to provide 200 hours of service to a youth training program and to hire parolees in the company's job-training program. · A man who ran his own cleaning shop, convicted of petty larceny, was sentenced to provide $250 worth of cleaning services for a home for the elderly · A judge sentenced some youths to clean up graffiti

they had scrawled in a public place. A defendant convicted on a charge of being drunk and disorderly was sentenced to help with the county Parks

Department's public works program. · A taxi driver was sentenced to provide the poor with 40 hours of transportation to medical facilities. · A carpenter was sentenced to build a wheelchair ramp for a home for senior citizens James M.H. Gregg, acting LEAA administrator, said the programs are important because fines or jail terms often are not in the best interest of society, particularly in some misdemeanor cases.

"On the other hand," he said, "a suspended sentence, perhaps with probation, may not satisfy a victim who feels the offender is 'getting off too easy."

mothers."
"Even though we never fail to remember our husbands, sons and daughters with gifts on Father's Day and likethdays, what do we mothers get on "our" day?
"We get to prepare a big dinner for all our children and their children. Then we have the mess to clean up alone after they have enjoyed themselves and said, "Goodbys, and Happy Mother's Day," until next year.
"We're lucky if someone sends us a plant.
"Why doesn't someone realize that a nice Mother's Day gift would be a chance to get out of the kitchen and be given to a nice restaurant for a change?"

Then to a nice restaurant for a change?

Maybe a word from you on the subject would help, abby. I am thinking of taking a trip out of town on Mother's Day next year. What's your opinion?

DISAPPOINTED AGAIN DEAR DISAPPOINTED: If you let your children trap you into preparing a dinner and cleaning up the mess done, you have only yourself to blame. You should know your children well enough to speak frankly with them, and it you don't, it's time you did.

DEAR ABBY: I have been a widow for many years. I tave a son and a daughter who are as different as night and day. Both are married and have families.

My son has always been a vary selfish person, and his wife is just like him. They never have time for me. I hear from them only when they want something.

My daughter has been wonderful to me. She's always balling me, inviting me to be with her and her family, and she lets me know that she is there should I ever need her.

When my husband died, he left everything to me. I am not a millionaire, but I do have a sizable estate. My lawyer is after me to make a will and that's where I need your hot a minomairs, but I do have a size see state. My miver la after me to make a will, and that's where I need your help, Abby. Should I divide what I have equally between my son and my daughter? I wouldn't totally ignore my son, but I don't think he's entitled to as much as his sizer. If you think I'm being petty and small-minded to want to bunish my son for treating me shabbily, let me have it. I can take it, and I've been wrong before.

DEAR UNDECIDED: An inheritance is a gift. You need not apologize for deciding against giving your son a gift you feel he's not entitled to. Use your own judgment, and

DEAR ABBY: My teen age daughter is a mess! And the sad part of it is, she does it to herself. She is a very bright girl, and God gave her a pretty face, but she ruins her appearance by wearing her hair in a frizzy unruly mop and sphearance by wearing mer than the special straight of the str

DEAR DISGUSTED: Leave her alone. If she's as brig a you say she is, she will soon realize she is losing out (if ideed she is) because of her appearance, then she'll do
