Italian referendum today

ROME (UPI) - Italians voted today in a referendum that could upset Italy's political parties, hamper antiterrorism efforts and gauge support for the policy of cooperation between the Communists and ruling Chrisian Democrats.

One proposal in voting that began Sunday would abolish a 1974 law earmarking $52.3 million in tax revenues for financing political parties. Some political experts predict approval could mean elimination of smaller parties. The other proposal would repeal a 1975 law strengthening police powers to fight political terrorism nd other crime. Critics of the law contend it infringes on onstitutionally guaranteed civil rights.

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I went out of town fo

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I went out of town for one night, leaving our 17-year-old son without supervision for the first time. With our approval, he had a friend stay with him. He asked us to trust him and we felt we could. All went well—as far as we know. The problem? Our 21-year-old son, who attends college near home, showed up unexpectedly with a young lady (a freshman in college), and they spent the night in our guest room!

After learning of this, my husband confronted our 21-year-old son, who spologized with tears in his eyes, saying he realized he shouldn't have done it, but nothing happened. He swears that they both slept on top of the covers with all their clothes on. (This is hard for me to bellave.) My husband believes the boy and tells me that "times

My husband believes the boy and tells me that times have changed," and I am overreacting. I cannot accept this. I am disgusted with our son, and ashamed of the example he has set for his younger brother. Also, I can't imagine a decent girl putting herself in this position.

To top it off, a few days later our son brought this girl over, and I was expected to smile as though nothing had go along with my husband's "times have attitude? I feel bitter and betrayed.

UPSET MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER: It's possible that you son was telling the truth when he said "nothing happened." Granted, he showed very poor judgement in bringing his date home for the night, but what will you gain by being bitter, suspicious and unforgiving?

Even "decent" girls have been known to do foolish things, so try not to hold it against her. Whether "times have changed" is not as important as maintaining a good relationship with your son. He obviously regrets the incident. Don't mention it again.

DEAR ABBY: My aunt brings her two kids (ages 5 and 7) over to our house whenever she feels like it, then she and my mom take off, leaving me to be by sit with the kids for maybe half a day.

I never get paid a penny for this, and believe me, those brats are a handful.

I am sick of it, and I told my mom that I was going to ask my aunt for a dollar an hour for each kid, like I charge everybody else. Mom said if I opened my mouth she'd punch me out.

I am 14. Is this fair? What is your advice?

I am 14. Is this fair? What is your advice? MAD

DEAR MAD: It isn't fair, but I wouldn't advise you to sen your mouth-unless you want to get punched out. DEAR ABBY: Please print my letter. It might keep some other girl from making the same mistake 1 made. I went with a boy all semester. The only place he ever took me was out to park. He told me he "loved" me, and I flipped for him, but when it came time to ask a girl to the prom, he asked someone else. I felt so hurt I wanted to die.

When my girlfriend asked him how come he didn't ask me, he said, "Oh, she's OK for a make-out, but a guy likes
