Debates in House may be broadcast

WASHINGTON (UPI) - Approval of a resolution condemning Uganda's human rights violations and a daylong argument over publicly financed abortions may be broadcast live from the House this week for the first time.

The broadcasts of floor debates was beginning an indefinite trial period today. Broadcast of House proceedings before now was limited to special events, such as presidential addresses.

Speaker Thomas P. O'Neill, noting the broadcasts cannot be used for commercial or political purposes, said it will be awhile before the public will see live television coverage of House proceedings. He said that "definitely in the works," but "down the road awhile."

In the Senate, Maryon Allen, wife of the late Sen. James Allen, D-Ala., was to be sworn in today, holding the seat on a temporary basis until a special election next fall to fill the remaining two years of her late husband's term. She has said she plans to run in that election.

A resolution condemning violations of human rights by Uganda, set for action today, was to be the first such broadcast. But the action will be live Tuesday when House leaders cleared the agenda to allow a full day of debate on abortion.

The controversial amendment, once again attempting to limit Medicaid abortions only to save the life of the woman, was a part of the $7 billion bill funding the Departments of Labor and Health, Education and Welfare for fiscal 1979.

Meanwhile, Senate leaders again will seek to break a filibuster on proposed labor law revisions. The talkback has paralyzed the work of the Senate for 13 days.

New York aid plans

WASHINGTON (UPI) - The Senate Banking Committee had a choice today between two very different proposals for federal aid to keep New York City from bankruptcy.

The committee's chairman, Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., opposes any continued aid to the city, arguing New York State, private banks and the city can do more on their own to solve the problem.

If there is to be more federal aid, Proxmire prefers a temporary extension

CB illness studied

DETROIT (UPI) - The federal government is planning a national study of the effects of citizens band radio on heart pacemakers because of complaints that CB broadcasts are making pacemaker users ill.

Three cases of illness brought on by CB broadcasts have been reported to Detroit office of the Federal Communications Commission, prompting members of the FCC staff to ask this month for a major study of the problem.

Engineers from the Detroit FCC office documented one Ohio case in which the pacemaker user became dizzy, nearly passed out and had to take oxygen when neighbor three blocks away broadcast on his CB.

The FCC said the user, a 57-year-old grandmother, was affected because the pacemaker implanted in her chest picked up electromagnetic signals from the CB.

A pacemaker stimulates the beating of the heart by sending rhythmic impulses of electricity. The device reacts to the CB signals by clicking on when not needed and ceasing the heart of Helen Hinderer of Marysville, Ohio, to beat faster than normal.

Black ordained Mormon priest

GRANGER, Utah (UPI) - Declaring it an unusual historic occasion, a Mormon bishop Sunday ordained the first black man admitted to the church's priesthood in more than a century.

Joseph Freeman, 26, a telephone company worker, was ordained in a simple ceremony in the Granger Stake (diocese) Center of the 15th Ward. Afterward, Freeman said his new status reaffirmed his faith in the church and in God.

"I don't know if words could describe the way I feel," Freeman said after the ordination. "This is something we've waited for a long time."

Spencer W. Kimball, president of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-Day Saints, cleared the way for Freeman's ordination, declaring last Friday he had received a revelation from God that "all worthy members of the church may be ordained to the priesthood without regard for race or color."

Kimball's statement elevated black men to equal status with other church members. Since shortly after the church was founded in 1830, blacks had been denied membership in the priesthood, which was given to all other male members in good standing of the church over the age of 12.

Historians say Elijah Able, ordained shortly after the church was founded by Joseph Smith, was the only previous known black member of the Mormon priesthood.

Anita criticizes ministers

ATLANTA (UPI) - Singer Anita Bryant Sunday criticized American ministers and church laymen who have not openly opposed homosexuality, while gay protesters marched outside the World Congress Center accusing her of a denial of human rights.

"These people should not be picking Anita Bryant. They should be picking the ministers of this nation," Miss Bryant told the Pastors' Conference on the eve of the Southern Baptist Convention.

"I don't care who you are, if you don't stand opposed to immoral issues, then you will suffer. I believe the time is short and you must make this stand now, for soon we will have to answer to God."

U.S. eyes Soviet plan for troop parity

WASHINGTON (UPI) - American officials said today they are studying a Soviet proposal for troop cuts in Central Europe that would leave both East and West with an equal number of forces.

The proposal, the officials said, was offered by the Soviets in the Mutual and Balanced Force reduction talks in Vienna - negotiations long bogged down over Soviet insistence that the Warsaw Pact be permitted to retain its numerical edge over NATO forces.

The New York Times today said a western proposal was instrumental in prompting the Soviet stand. That proposal, while maintaining the principle of common troop ceilings, permitted the Soviet Union greater flexibility in choosing what units it wants to remove from Eastern Europe.

K-Mart will rebuild for opening this fall

By JUNE TOMPKINS Herald Reporter

The K-Mart store off Spencer Street expects to begin reconstruction soon and be ready for a fall reopening, according to Town Manager Robert Weiss.

Neighboring businesses at the K-Mart Plaza have not only complained that their business is hurting as a result of the K-Mart shutdown, but that sales are invading the store where there is a supply of cookies, candies and potato chips.

Weiss received a call from Goodrich Associates of New York City, owners of the building, who said that they expect the insurance adjustments on the damaged building to be resolved by the end of this week, and that they hope reconstruction will begin soon so that the store can reopen in the fall.

The K-Mart store has been boarded up since suffering two roof collapses five months ago from the weight of excessive buildup of ice and snow. Monday the owners of the store were ordered by Francis J. Conti, building inspector, to either demolish the building or begin reconstruction.

Conti said the regional superintendent of maintenance for K-Mart stores told him Monday that the high officials of the owners of K-Mart Plaza had not yet decided whether to demolish the building or begin reconstruction.

Agging India leader due at White House

WASHINGTON (UPI) - India's Prime Minister Morarji Desai - tall, erect and vigorous at 82 - toured Great Britain and crossed the United States twice before paying a formal state visit to President Carter in Washington.

Desai meets with both House and Senate Foreign Relations committees Wednesday.

Desai has been imprisoned both by British authorities and his predecessor, Indira Gandhi, for his strong political convictions. But he radiates energy and speaks with a tongue famed for tartness.

For most his life, Desai's day has started at 4 a.m. with three hours of prayer, followed by 14 hours of work. There is no reason to believe his routine will be different in Washington.

While some have ridiculed his unrelenting adherence to regimen and strict personal habits, Desai simply puts it he is more vigorous than his critics.

Desai has been imprisoned both by British authorities and his predecessor, Indira Gandhi, for his strong political convictions. But he radiates energy and speaks with a tongue famed for tartness.

Following an itinerary that would exhaust many younger politicians, Desai arrived in New York from London Thursday, flew to San Francisco Friday, visited the farm of David Stock in Mendocino, Calif. Sunday, and returned to New York Monday for an Indian exhibition at Bloomingdale's.

There have been few serious bilateral problems between India and the United States since Desai replaced Indira Gandhi 15 months ago. But the main one - the export of U.S. enriched uranium for India's Tarapur nuclear plant outside Bombay - has provoked controversy in Congress.

President Carter favors selling more enriched uranium to India. But Congress, mindful that India detonated a nuclear explosion during Mrs. Gandhi's regime and violated

Soviets return volley of spy charges

MOSCOW (UPI) - The Soviet Union warns its report that an "important man" died from poison supplied by a U.S. woman diplomat is just the opening volley in a counterattack against U.S. spy charges.

The Soviet press repeatedly warned of such a counterattack if the United States continued to make an issue of a budding feud between the U.S. and the Soviet Union.

The Soviet press warned last week it would begin exposing American espionage activities if the United States doesn't quit "aggravating" the issue of a bug found in the embassy May 25.

Defector wants to come home

LENNINGRAD, U.S.S.R. (UPI) - Bernard F. Mitchell, a cryptographer at the super-secret U.S. National Security Agency who defected to Moscow 18 years ago, evidently wants to come home, informed sources report.

Mitchell, 49, and a colleague, William H. Martin, 47, were employed as junior mathematicians in the NSA's cryptography department at Fort Meade, Md., when they defected to the Soviet Union in the summer of 1960.

The Soviet press warned last week it would begin exposing American espionage activities if the United States doesn't quit "aggravating" the issue of a bug found in the embassy May 25.

Mitchell currently lives in Leningrad and teaches at Leningrad University. Martin, of Ellensburg, Wash., also lives and works in Leningrad.

Directors to consider pensions and legal aid

The Manchester Board of Directors will meet at 8 p.m. today to consider a legal aid program and a proposed cost-of-living increase for town pensioners. Discussion at last week's meeting was divided between those who approved the increase and those who opposed it. The first meeting held last Tuesday was dominated by discussion about the pension increase and the town's approval of a fair housing plan.

The town's Pension Board has recommended that retired town employees who are members of the pension plan receive a five percent cost-of-living raise. The directors will have to decide whether or not to make such a change. Discussion at last week's meeting was divided between those who approved the increase and those who opposed it.

The directors are expected to act on a plan for establishing a local legal aid program. Such a plan has been discussed for more than a year, and the board now faces two options — a program run by the Legal Aid Society of Hartford County or a program run by the Manchester Bar Association.

Brindamour challenges LeDuc for party post

Two women who are officers of Manchester's Democratic Town Committee are seeking the same seat on the party's State Central Committee. Dorothy Brindamour has announced that she is seeking the Third Senatorial District seat on the state committee. That seat is now held by Mary LeDuc, who is running again. Mrs. Brindamour is vice-chairwoman of the Democratic Town Committee; Mrs. LeDuc is secretary.

Each senatorial district elects two persons — usually a man and a woman — to serve on the Democratic State Central Committee, which is involved in making party decisions on a statewide level. The Third Senatorial District includes part of Manchester and all of East Hartford. Traditionally, the district's woman member and the State Central Committee has come from Manchester and the man has come from East Hartford, party sources said.

Mrs. LeDuc has held the seat for two terms, a total of four years. She is running again this year with Eugene Fagnelli, also the incumbent from East Hartford. But Mrs. Brindamour has decided to challenge Mrs. LeDuc for the position. She sent letters Friday to state convention delegates and members of the town committee announcing her candidacy. Mrs. Brindamour could not be reached this morning for comment. Mrs. LeDuc said that she previously had notified party members of her intention to seek re-election to the state committee position.

Tax receipts show gain

The Town of Manchester tax collection rate is now seven-tenths of one percentage point ahead of last year, James Turk, collector of revenue, said. Through the use of May, the town had collected $16,893,521 in present year taxes. That equals 97.4 percent of the estimated total collection figure of $17,311,081.

Schools will not admit students lacking shots

Now there are only 25 to 50 students who have not received the measles vaccine, Kenning said. All parents of children who have not yet been immunized against measles will be sent letters from the school superintendent. The action will be to enforce the state law requiring all children to have the measles and rubella vaccines. The rubella requirement is not being strictly enforced by the state because of a pending court decision in a Rocky Hill case, Allan Chasterton, pupil personnel services director, said.

Nutmeg casinos

BRIDGEPORT (UPI) — Mayor John Mandanici says if all goes well with gambling in Atlantic City, N.J., he'll propose that casino gambling be approved in his city for city-owned Pleasure Beach. Mandanici said he probably would discuss the issue to voters in a referendum. He said he would support the Legislature and governor, who would have to approve the plan.

School bands will play at town's Band Shell

The Manchester schools' instrumental department will sponsor a "Bandorama" Wednesday at 7 p.m. at the Manchester Bicentennial Band Shell. Rain date is June 18, Friday. About 230 students from the two junior high schools and all the elementary schools will be heard in individual groups and en masse performances. Directing the various groups will be Louis Beaulac and Curt Colledge, elementary band teachers, and James Bosco from Illog and Michael Orfittelli from Benet, junior high school band leaders.

Folksinger will perform at Cheney Tech activity

Folksinger Michael Kelly Blanchard will highlight "Grub Day" Wednesday at Howell Cheney Regional Vocational Technical School in a performance of folk music at 9 a.m. in the auditorium. Kelly, a folk singer who has written and composed a full range of human experience. In his baritone voice, Kelly's songs deal with a wide range of human incidents and love relationships, to insomnia and summer cottages. Blanchard's appearance is one of several special entertainments programs designed for learning experiences to be presented to students at Cheney Tech this year. This is the second year that the students have had the opportunity to see and hear musicians, artists, magicians, authors and other entertainers. The programs have been arranged by Mrs. Marilyn Stadel, librarian at the school.

State candidates split on tax cut referendum

HARTFORD (UPI) — Should Connecticut residents have the power to vote directly on major issues like California's tax-laxing Proposition 13? The five gubernatorial candidates have mixed feelings on the question. Incumbent Democratic Gov. Ella T. Grasso and Senate Minority Leader Lewis Rome appear willing to take a chance on the initiative question, but they have some reservations. Rep. Ronald Sarasin, R-Conn., and House Minority Leader Gerald Stevens are basically against the idea. Democratic gubernatorial hopeful Lt. Gov. Robert Killian did not express an opinion.

California's initiative law produced Proposition 13, the proposal calling for a huge cut in local property taxes. Voters in that state overwhelmingly approved the proposition last week. California's law is binding, meaning the state government must honor what the majority of the voters want. In other states, the initiative law is not binding, but merely recommends the government take a certain course of action on a key issue. Last week, Mrs. Grasso said she could favor some kind of initiative legislation. She said she would turn the matter over to a special committee she has created to look into the possibility of placing a constitutional ceiling on state spending. But the governor said initiative legislation could disrupt the flow of government if voters chose to call for referenda on many issues. Rome, one of three Republican candidates for governor, said Monday he's not keen on the initiative idea, but it may be "the only way the political forces may get the message" of what the public wants from its officials. The Bloomfield lawyer said his support for initiative legislation would depend on how the law was written. Sarasin, another GOP gubernatorial hopeful, said, "I have some questions about it. If we were to go to the concept, it would run in the face of local control." The Beacon Falls congressman said local autonomy is more important in Connecticut than in most states. He said he might have a different opinion on initiative issues if the referenda were held strictly at the local level and not statewide. Stevens, the third GOP gubernatorial candidate, said he was totally against the idea. "I don't favor it. It would damage our representative form of government," the Milford lawyer said.

GOP lacks candidate

HARTFORD (UPI) — Republicans today are without a fifth congressional district candidate to challenge incumbent Democrat Rep. Anthony Moffet. The void was created Monday when Watertown attorney Thomas Upson withdrew from the race for "personal reasons." Upson, who lost to Moffet in the 1976 congressional election, said, "My decision, which is purely personal, has in part been prompted by an impending no-fault divorce action recently filed by my wife." Upson is the director of admissions at Saint Margaret-McTeran, a private elementary and high school in Watertbury. "I feel that my effectiveness as a candidate may be reduced, given the time I now feel may be necessary to devote to personal and family considerations," the Watertown Republican said. State Republican Chairman Frederick Biebel said Thursday he accepted Upson's withdrawal "with regret."

Prison escapes queried

HARTFORD (UPI) — Corrections Commissioner John Manson has been asked to explain to a legislative committee why there have been so many escapes recently from the state's minimum security prison in Enfield. Sen. Mary Martin, D-Groton, said Monday she has asked Manson to testify next Monday on conditions at the prison where five men have escaped in the past three weeks. Only one has been captured. Mrs. Martin, co-chairman of the Legislature's Human Institutions Committee, said the panel "was deeply concerned" over the escapes. She asked Manson to report to the committee the results of his own investigation and "the procedure you plan to implement to correct this situation." Sunday, guards captured Ralph Chambers, 23, only minutes after he tried to escape from the prison by scaling a six-foot fence topped with barbed wire. Four other inmates who escaped over the past three weeks remained at large Monday. One of them was a convicted killer, Willie Williams, 37, of Hartford. No copier rides PUTNAM (UPI) — Two Putnam

In African war

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The White House says President Carter was aware of Fidel Castro's message, saying he had tried to stop the Katangese rebel invasion of Zaire, at the time Carter charged Cuban involvement in the military operation. A White House statement said Monday that before his May 25 news conference in Chicago, Carter had read a cable relating to Castro's comments that he had known about the invasion plans beforehand and the trust in the rebel. Despite that word, the president said in his news conference: "We believe Cuba had known of the Katangan plans to invade and obviously it did nothing to restrain them from crossing the border." Administration officials indicated that Carter did not place any stock in Castro's credibility on the subject. The cable was sent by Lyle Lane, U.S. liaison diplomat in Havana, who was summoned by Castro after the invasion began. Press secretary Jody Powell says the U.S. assessment, that Cubans "and others" were involved in training and equipping the invaders, still stands.

Club gives gear to camp

The Manchester Junior Women's Club has donated all types of sports equipment, ranging from a volleyball set to jacks and coloring books, to the annual Interfaith Day Camp, sponsored by the Manchester Area Conference of Churches from July 17 to July 28 at Concordia Lutheran Church. The day camp, operated by volunteers, has had only one teen-age counselor volunteer to date. At least 50 more teen-age volunteers are needed to serve as counselors, Mrs. Nancy Carr, executive director of the conference, said. Community and church groups are being asked to recruit these volunteers as well as to bake cookies and desserts for the 60 campers. Community Baptist Church women will be baking for the first day of camp. Those wishing to assist with the day camp are asked to call the MACC office, 649-2083. The camp which is free to children referred by social workers, is operated at a cost of $30 per child for the two-week camp period. Those wishing to sponsor a child for one week or the entire session may make their checks out to Interfaith Day Camp and mail to MACC, Box 773, Manchester. All contributions are tax deductible.

Keep the park alive

A lot of Manchester people are beginning to think Center Springs Park is dying a slow death because of unruly crowds that gather there during the summer months. Some have expressed their concerns in letters intended for publication in the Open Forum, but their letters are unsigned because of fear of reprisals. But their concerns are sincere. One complained about broken beer bottles, damaged trees and picnic tables. Another said they fear harassment just walking through the park; they said they are afraid to walk there even during daylight hours. Others spoke about parties with marijuana; youngsters victims of stoning attacks. It is not a very pretty picture these people paint of a very fine facility; it is a problem that deserves the attention of all of us. Let's clean up the park; let it become more useful to all of Manchester; make it an attractive place like it once was — an attraction for hiking in the woods, along the trails, for both the young and the elderly. It once was that, you know.

Rear-end opinion

There's not much news in bumper stickers these days. It seems that everything socially significant and remotely witty has already made this particular road show. But the New York Times did find something to print on the subject the other day. It noted having observed a sticker urging: "Save a Job — Buy American." It was affixed to the rear of a Japanese-made car.

Less really can be more at times, even in power politics. As a current case in point, take the Dominican Republic. Setting a precedent not only for itself, but for most of the Caribbean region, the island nation is carrying through a change of power on the basis of a popular vote rather than armed force. Military leaders, who stepped in to halt the ballot counting when it appeared to be going against incumbent President Joaquin Balaguer, have backed off. Challenger Silvestre Antonio Guzman Fernandez has come out ahead and should be taking office in August. The last time Dominican politics

Thought

Psalm 23
"He maketh me to lie down in green pastures. He leadeth me beside still waters." (Verse 2)
Green pastures and still waters are symbols of peace, quiet and tranquility. The Psalmist saw in God a source of these pastoral conditions which refresh the body and restore the soul. Today people look to other sources for peace of soul and calm of spirit. Some look to psychiatry for help.

Others turn to drugs for relief from the torments of life. Psychiatry is a useful method of healing and drugs prescribed by physicians help to improve health and to save life. But these therapeutic measures can be immensely reinforced by trust in a merciful Providence in whose benign hands lie our lives and our destinies. Rabbi Leon Wind Temple Beth Shalom

By LISA SHEPARD
WASHINGTON — Rep. Bill Cotter (D-Conn.) predicts Congress will authorize fewer programs and cut down existing ones as a result of the message sent to Washington by the overwhelming passage of California's Proposition 13. The California plan was a grassroots tax-cutting initiative which will limit property taxes to one percent of the property value. The shockwaves from the initiative "will have a significant effect on any new government programs," Cotter told The Manchester Herald's Washington bureau. "I think we'll be seeing the end of a lot of new programs and the paring down of existing programs." Proposition 13 is a "loud and clear message that people are fed up with high taxes and deficit spending on the federal, state, and local level," said Cotter. "I also sense this in the mail I receive and in talking to the people when I go home," he said. "They've got a people's emphasis on cutting inflation and the high cost of living."

Victory Gardens need water

To the editor:
This is an open letter to Mayor Stephen Penny, Town Manager Robert Weiss, and the Board of Directors. As former chairpersons of Manchester Victory Gardens, and as current gardeners of Manchester Victory Gardens, we would like to make the public aware of some of the details of the issue of the town providing water for the gardens. Now in its fourth season, Manchester Victory Gardens was started as a community project under the sponsorship of the Conservation Commission. Many people volunteered time, interest, effort, and equipment to prepare the garden area. Originally, because the Conservation Commission has no budget of its own, as we understand it, the Town of Manchester agreed to provide water for the gardens through the Public Works Department if the gardeners could pay for the water. We provided our own fencing as needed to keep out crop-eating rodents. We pick up trash and refuse left in the area. We provide our own gardening consultants — many are volunteer. We do our own mowing of notices. We pay for and provide each member with a key to the gate. Just as others expect tennis courts, ballfields, basketball courts to be prepared, repaired, and kept in order, we would expect the rec department to provide all the above services for us as their part of the contract for our $6 per person fee. Is the rec department ready to supply plowing, fencing, trash removal, garden consultants, and yearly marking off of garden plots as well as water fighting fires because they are volunteers and not professionals. As the mother of a volunteer, I take issue with his statements. My son, along with the other men, takes part in the drills put on by the 8th District as well as attending special schools in firefighting to learn the best methods in use today in fighting fires. To say that they are incompetent just because they don't get paid does not make sense. I would gladly have them tested with the professionals and you would find that they do as well, if not better, because they are doing a service they want to perform and it is not just "a job." I don't mean to imply that the professionals take a "could care less" attitude because they get paid — only that they have an added incentive to do their job well. Mr. Campbell implies that we residents of the district are taking a chance with our lives because we have put them in the hands of volunteers. Well, Mr. Campbell, as the result of an accident I became a bi-lateral above the knee amputee in December and I was home for three months before a ramp was built and had no means of escape should something have happened. However, I knew that all I had to do was call the 8th District firehouse and in minutes I would have all the help I

Celebrate Prop. 13

By ANDREW TULLY
WASHINGTON — Open a jar of champagne to celebrate California's passage of Proposition 13, imposing severe new property tax cutbacks. It's got politicians everywhere running scared. "We came into office two years ago under the theme of frugality in government." Queen Elizabeth? No. It's California Gov. Jerry Brown, Mr. Simplicity, using the royal first person plural to announce "we will carry on in the spirit of austerity" now that "the people have spoken." Brown, the country's trendiest politician, has the reddest face. Last month, he called Prop. 13 "the biggest can of worms that has ever been presented to governments anywhere." Now he talks as if Prop. 13 were his baby. Brown, of course, wants to run for president, presumably from a throne labeled "We."

There is also President Carter. Previously, he had seemed unaware of those citizens who pay most of the bills. But once Prop. 13 was approved, he dispatched the press spokesman to announce that "The president feels the voting for Prop. 13 reflects a strong, national dissatisfaction with taxes that unfairly burden middle-income taxpayers." Well, better late than never. But Carter still lacks knowledge of other dire omens. He had his spokesman say Prop. 13 "is not a national phenomenon yet." He could be wrong. The Arizona Legislature passed a similar amendment earlier this month. The Maryland Legislature voted a 10 percent rollback in property tax assessments. And the National Tax Limitation Committee is working for Prop. 13 in 22 other states. Indeed, citizen-initiated measures have an excellent chance of making the November ballot in Michigan, Colorado, Idaho and Oregon. They have a good chance in Nebraska and Nevada. Meanwhile, campaigns have been launched or will get under way in Utah, Washington, Missouri, Ohio, Maryland, Virginia, Florida, Georgia, Texas, South Dakota, Illinois, Wisconsin, Iowa, Minnesota and Wyoming. That sounds like a "national phenomenon" could be in the making. So does what happened in Ohio last week when the voters rejected nearly 90 percent of the 198 school levies and bond issues on the ballot. Like Jerry Brown, other governors are trying to get into the act. A notable example is acting Gov. Lee Blair II of Maryland, who's running to keep his job. Two days after the California voting, Blair announced an immediate freeze on most state hiring, ordered state agencies to cut their out-of-state travel expenses by a third, and said all funded jobs that have been vacant for more than a year would be abolished. Sounding like Cal Coolidge, Lee told reporters: "Every place I go I hear complaints about the tax burden... Now, the only way you start saving is you start saving..." Yesiree Bob, California's started something. Things might get a touch complicated from here in, but citizens fearing a reduction in government services can take comfort from a statement by Charles Crawford, director of the National Taxpayers Union, which said something most taxpayers have suspected since Joseph journeyed to Bethlehem to get up his share of Caesar's budget. There is no need to cut programs in California, said Crawford, "because there is 10 to 15 percent waste across the board." In all local, state and federal governments.

Escapee spent prison time studying flight

OMAHA, Neb. (UPI) — Peter Hochstein, facing a possible death penalty for a gangland-style murder, says he spent 10 months in jail reading manuals on how to fly a twin-engine airplane. Hochstein, 24, led two other maximum security jail prisoners on a wild flight in a stolen plane Monday in a futile attempt to reach Canada. The fugitives were apprehended late Monday by four U.S. Border Patrol agents and two U.S. Customs agents near the tiny town of St. Vincent, Minn., about 10 p.m. CDT following an extensive ground search. "No one was injured. It was all over within a minute," said a sheriff's dispatcher in Pembina, N.D., where the plane was found earlier in the evening. Pembina and St. Vincent are towns on the Canadian border about 50 miles apart. Hochstein, C. Michael Anderson, 26, and Dan Sheppard, 22, all of Omaha, were taken to Grand Forks, N.D., where they were scheduled for a hearing today. The FBI in Omaha said they would be given an opportunity to waive extradition to Nebraska or to contest it. Hochstein, who had limited flying experience, told authorities in Pembina he spent his 10 months in jail reading flight manuals to learn to pilot a twin-engine aircraft. He said Anderson helped him with charts and navigation during the flight. The three escaped a maximum security section of the jail in the six-floor Douglas County Courthouse early Monday. Officials said they somehow got out of their locked cells, sawed through a barred window, climbed onto the roof and went down a rope fashioned of braided bedsheet, more than 100 feet long. They stole a car and drove to Millard Airport, where they commandeered a light airplane fueled for about five hours of flying. The Federal Aviation Administration issued a nationwide alert for the red-and-white, twin-engine Piper Comanche, but the plane avoided detection, flying the more than 500 miles due north to Pembina. FAA officials speculated it flew low to avoid radar detection. The plane landed in Pembina about 11:30 a.m., the sheriff's dispatcher said, but was not recognized as the escapee's craft until about 5:30 p.m. Anderson and Hochstein, in custody a year, were convicted of first-degree murder in May for the 1975 killing of Omaha Realtor Ronald Aboud. It was charged that Anderson and Lon Reams of Omaha, who turned state's evidence, formed a corporation to pay Hochstein $1,500 to kill Aboud. Sheppard was being held for a probation violation and on a federal misdemeanor warrant. Authorities said the fugitives had nearly a three-hour head start before the breakout was discovered. They estimated the escape occurred between 11 p.m. Sunday, when the three were last seen in their cells, and 4 a.m. Monday.

The nation today Senate backlog grows as filibuster continues

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Loan guarantees to New York City, energy legislation, tax cuts, welfare and Civil Service reform: the list of major legislation before the Senate grows with each passing day of debate on a labor law reform bill. The Senate is now in its 16th day of a filibuster over the holy contested legislation, which would make it easier for unions to organize. And although Senate Democratic Leader Robert Byrd hoped to break the filibuster today or Wednesday, opponents of the bill still have a raft of 600 stalling amendments they may use to keep the Senate tied up for days or even weeks. The House planned a full day of debate today on a controversial proposal that would allow the use of a filibuster only to save the life of the woman. On Monday, the House voted 237-145 to stall government plans to require airbags in cars by prohibiting any Transportation Department funds from being spent on the project in the coming fiscal year. The House also asked President Carter to consider a trade embargo and other measures against Uganda because of its history of human rights violations.

Applaud decision
WASHINGTON (UPI) — Publishers and broadcasters are applauding the Supreme Court's 6-0 ruling allowing most existing newspaper-broadcast combinations that operate in the same market to remain intact. But they don't like another part of the high court's Monday decision — upholding federal regulations that do require the splitup of 18 "small market" cross-ownerships that the Federal Communications Commission feels comprise local monopolies. The case stems from challenges to FCC rules issued in 1975 that were designed to promote diversity of media ownership without disrupting the entire communications industry.

'Son of Sam' quiet
NEW YORK (UPI) — Convicted "Son of Sam" killer David Berkowitz sat quietly Monday in the state Supreme Court where he was sentenced to serve six 25-year-to-life sentences for murder. His total of sentences, including those for attempted murder, assault and gun possession charges, along with the murder charges, add up to hundreds of years, but despite that fact he will be eligible for parole in 25 years under existing law. Now that the sentencing is completed, Berkowitz will undergo new psychiatric tests to determine whether he will serve his sentences in a hospital for the criminally insane or a maximum security prison. Never volunteered
FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (UPI) — Foster Fedorenko says he never volunteered to serve the Nazis as a guard at the Treblinka concentration camp because "they didn't ask. They told you to go and if you didn't, they shot you down like a dog." Fedorenko continues his testimony, through a Russian interpreter, today in the third week of a trial that could strip him of U.S. citizenship.

Parents to identify canoeists

VILLE MARIE, Quebec (UPI) — Grief-stricken parents gathered today for a bus ride to despair — to identify their dead boys — victims of a violent storm that swamped their canoes during a school outing on a wilderness lake. At least a dozen boys between the ages of 12 and 16 and their teacher died in the storm on Lake Temiscamingue, not far from the village of Ville Marie. Fifteen boys and three other teachers survived the disaster. The group came from St. John's School in the Toronto suburb of Clairmont, an Anglican institution that Assistant Head Master Mike Maunders said tried "to foster a sense of adventure" for the young students. Buses were chartered to take school officials and parents from Clairmont to Ville Marie, about a five-hour trip, where they will formally identify the bodies. The canoeists were hit by the storm Sunday, the second day of a week-long, 325-mile trip from Lake Temiscamingue to Moosonee, Ontario, on James Bay.

Betty's notebook

By Betty Ryder

Did you survive the Senior Prom? I did, and I didn't even go. Well, the young lady of the family did and that's enough for any housewife.

Between dashing home between the prom and the dawn dance, the latter held at the high school, packing the fried chicken, chips and brownies into the car, and then changing into casual clothes she headed out, bikini in hand, for what eventually wound up in a day at the beach.

All went well. The group had a super time, but I was exhausted. I suppose mothers are like that and we worry many times unnecessarily about accidents, etc. but I doubt if there is any way of changing us.

All I know is when she finally arrived home from the beach sporting a sunburn, she slept well and I had a good night's sleep, too.

A salute to Pop

I read an article from Hallmark cards regarding Father's Day and was surprised to read that "Papa, the name most youngsters called their fathers 40 years ago, has all but disappeared from American usage."

I guess I'm dated, "cause I still call my father, "Papa." In fact, when we're dancing I always request the band leader to play "Oh, My Papa." Remember the tune that Eddie Fisher made famous some years back? While I admit some of the younger band leaders don't know it and often ask me to hum a few bars, it's still a favorite with my Papa and me.

Hallmark says forty years ago it was rare to hear a boy call his father Dad or Daddy. Papa was the most sophisticated and respectful title of the day, with Pa running second and Paw next.

Customs change through the years, and the card makers report that in 1924 a Bible class in Wilkesburg, Pa., decided to wear flowers in honor of Father's Day. The rose was already widely recognized as the customary Father's Day flower, but the group chose instead to wear the dandelion, because "the more it is trampled on the more it grows."

One of the new cards on the market begins, "Ah, Dad, I remember it well. The time I was doing my geography homework and I asked you where the Adirondacks were..." Inside, it says "...and you told me, 'If you put your things where they belong, you'd know where to find them.' Happy Father's Day!"

Another features a beautiful picture of Dad snoring away in his easy chair: "Go ahead and relax on Father's Day," states the friendly cover message. But inside, it gibes: "You can always take down the Christmas lights next week!"

With the millions of Father's Day cards which will be mailed this year, in a sense, each and every one of them can be traced to a single "Father's Day" card written 2,000 years before the birth of Christ. The card was actually a clay tablet chiseled almost 4,000 years ago in Babylon by a man named Edmesa. It petitioned the gods to grant good health and long life to his father.

I guess we couldn't wish anything more for our own fathers. So, Happy Father's Day, Papa.

Best wishes to the fire department of the 10th District which is celebrating its 90th anniversary. Funny how you, more or less, take fire departments for granted and sometimes we don't give enough credit to these tireless men, who volunteer their services to aid the community.

The anniversary parade will be Saturday at 4 p.m. with Robert Steele, president of the Norwich Savings Bank in Norwich serving as grand marshal. The department has assembled a grand line-up of marching groups so be sure to line the parade route. Firemen celebrate 90 years of service to the Town of Manchester.

Personnel chief happy in East Hartford post

By CHRIS BLAKE
Herald Reporter

EAST HARTFORD — In 1966, G. William Miller was offered a job in Arkansas as a political educator for the Teamsters union. Today, he is glad he turned it down.

Instead, Miller waited and applied for the newly created position of director of personnel. The town created the position, partly in response to the Municipal Employees Relations Act of 1965, which gave municipal workers the right to unionize and bargain collectively.

"The 1965 act pointed out to me that they needed somebody in this job, so they created the position," Miller said.

"The town recognized the fact that they would have to deal with unions," he said.

Ten years of experience with the Teamsters union, first as a business agent and later as a political director, familiarized Miller with unions.

Miller started in 1955 as business agent for Local 536 of the Teamsters. He held that position until 1962, when he was appointed director of political education for the Teamsters Joint Council.

Miller's responsibilities include administering the town's merit system. Miller's office conducts a civil service program which includes recruitment, examination, and certification of eligible candidates for either entry level or promotional merit system positions.

The personnel office also selects and places all employees under the Comprehensive Employment and Training Act.

Other functions are collective bargaining under the direction of the mayor, grievance administration, pension plan negotiations, and updating of job descriptions.

"My responsibilities have grown. I've been here longer than any full-time director."

Miller's office gets "a fair share" or grievances, although he could not estimate the exact number.

"We're able to work most of them out without using the Board of Mediation and Arbitration, which is the last step in the process," he said.

He said he receives 20 grievances, only one goes to arbitration.

In the area of awarding jobs, Miller is proud of the changes made by his department.

"One of the areas this office is proud of is the replacing of the old system of awarding jobs by a new system on the basis of competitive examinations," he said.

Promotions are made on the basis of merit examinations, he said.

Life-long resident
Miller, 55, is a life-long resident of East Hartford, graduated from East Hartford High School in 1941.

His hobbies are hunting and fishing.

For the past 18 years, he has been a member of the Connecticut State Police Auxiliary. He calls it this "a hobby and a civic responsibility."

Miller enjoys gardening in the summer. He grows and sells pickles and tomatoes in back of his home at 91 Greenlawn St., where he lives with his wife, Katherine.

They have two sons, William, 31, lives in East Hartford, and Robert, 24, lives in Tolland.

Court rules that judge must receive new trial

HARTFORD (UPI) — The Connecticut Supreme Court has thrown out the felony conviction of Superior Court Judge Samuel Tedesco and has ordered a new trial. The court also says Tedesco should not have been discharged.

The Supreme Court ruled Monday that the judge in Tedesco's Fairfield Superior Court trial, Thomas J. O'Sullivan, left out a key instruction when telling the jury what it was supposed to consider in its deliberations.

Tedesco was convicted June 28, 1976, of falsely certifying as to the administration of an oath. He was accused of certifying that one man signed a liquor license application when he knew another man had signed it.

Tedesco was tried by a six-man jury and found guilty. He was discharged and fined $250. He continued to collect his $35,000 state salary while his appeal proceeded. He performed no duties as a judge in the two years following the conviction.

"The Supreme Court ruled the jury could have taken into account whether Tedesco meant to deceive anyone. But O'Sullivan didn't tell the jury it could consider intent, which the high court said was a mistake."

"Because a specific intent to deceive is an essential element of the crime charged in the present information, we conclude that the court's failure to charge as requested respecting such specific intent constituted reversible error," the high court's opinion said.

The Supreme Court also ruled O'Sullivan did not have the power to discharge Tedesco because he did not actually see Tedesco do anything wrong. The Supreme Court said a conviction can be considered an act of misconduct under the regulations O'Sullivan used to back up his discharge order. "Indeed, the conviction can more properly be said to be the ultimate and combined action of the court and jury," the Supreme Court opinion said.

The case grew out of a liquor license application by the Candlewood Valley Country Club in New Milford, in which Tedesco, his brother, son, sister and mother had financial interests.

The club's liquor permit had been revoked a year earlier for violation of a liquor control commission technicality.

In the process to have the permit reinstated, Tedesco certified Michael Altieri, holder of the first license, signed the renewal application. In fact, Lidizio Renzulli, a partner in the club, signed it.

The high court also dismissed Tedesco's claim that he thought Renzulli was acting as the agent for Altieri, the man who Tedesco swore signed the form.

The court also did not accept Tedesco's contention that O'Sullivan improperly allowed a witness to testify.

EMS unit compromises on paramedic training

By CHRIS BLAKE
Herald Reporter

EAST HARTFORD — Because there are not enough paramedics to train six new paramedics being added soon, new paramedics will be allowed to train on calls with one experienced paramedic instead of two veterans.

This policy change was unanimously approved at Monday night's meeting of the Emergency Medical Services Commission.

Dr. Robert J. Butterfield, chief consultant to the East Hartford paramedics, said this policy is a "compromise" which is necessary because two paramedics are leaving. One is about to be hospitalized, and several have vacation time coming.

Under previous policy, new paramedics were required to ride with two veteran paramedics for a period of two months or 500 hours before they would be certified.

"At least one veteran paramedic should ride with a new paramedic until I feel the new one is confident to ride alone," Dr. Butterfield said. "There is no way I will allow two new paramedics to go out alone under my license."

Dr. Butterfield said the new policy does not preclude the possibility of two veteran paramedics riding with a new paramedic.

However, he said the departure of two paramedics and vacancies for the EMS van at Monday's meeting. The van was taken to Ohio for routine repairs 70 days ago and the town has received no word from the repair shop.

EMS has been using specially equipped cars in place of the van for the past 70 days.

The commission also allocated $300 for the purchase of 4 new patches for the paramedics.

In addition, Michael Coppinger, a paramedic, thanked Dr. Butterfield for his work in starting the paramedic program and helping it grow in East Hartford.

In other business, Henry Genga was named acting chairman for the summer.

Monday night's meeting was the last regularly scheduled commission meeting before summer recess.

Selectmen plan town meeting to fill vacancy on board

HEBRON — The Board of Selectmen voted unanimously to set June 19 as the date for a special town meeting. This meeting will be conducted at Hebron Elementary School at 8 p.m. for the purpose of electing one member to the Regional District 8 Board of Education to fill a vacancy for a term starting July 1, 1979 to June 30, 1979.

This vacancy is the result of the Rham board vote to implement the "one man, one vote" court decision. The state Department of Education ruled that the current terms could not be extended, therefore, the one year vacancy.

However, in 1979, the Hebron townspeople will have the opportunity to elect two members to the Regional Board of Education for a four year term. In 1981, the residents will then elect three members to the Board for a four-year term. The net effect will have a total of six board members elected every two years, in the numbered years, in the odd-numbered years.

Football registration

ANDOVER — Boys from age 9 through 18 may register for football Thursday and Friday from 7 to 8 p.m. at Andover Elementary School.

There will be a registration fee of $10. Boys from age 9 through 13 are eligible for midget football and boys from age 14 through 18 for pony football.

There will be a meeting for parents of players June 15 at 8 p.m. at Gilead Hill School. For further information call Gordon Howard at 742-6075.

Mrs. Willard honored

ANDOVER — Irene Willard recently received the Community Citizen Award from Andover Grange No. 76. This is the second year the award has been presented.

League registration set for tonight

COVENTRY — The football association will hold this season's registration for players and cheerleaders tonight and Thursday night from 6 to 8 p.m. at the Captain Nathan Hale School.

Players must be accompanied by a parent or guardian. The registration fee for Midget and C-Squad (ages 9 to 13) is $5, for Junior Pony (ages 9 to 18) $5. The family maximum fee is $15.

First-year players must have a registration card signed by the accompanying adult and also a birth certificate. Physical examinations will be arranged for August or may be done by a family physician.

Different fathers

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (UPI) — Not all Fathers earn the title because of their children, reports Hallmark researcher Sally Hopkins. Hippocrates (460-377 B.C.) is better known as the Father of Modern Medicine than for any offspring.

Samuel Richardson (1689-1761) is called the Father of the Sentimental Novel, and Wilkie Collins (1824-1889) is known as the Father of the Detective Novel.

Firehouse dedicated Sunday

SOUTH WINDSOR — The new $756,000 firehouse was officially opened Sunday, when residents gathered to watch the march from the old firehouse to the new building down the street on Ellington Road.

Mayor Nancy Caffyn told onlookers that the fire headquarters was as well as Gregory Montana, architect who designed the three-bay brick structure.

The new building will house fire company 1 and the department's Explorer Post, which is organized as Company 5.

The opening of the headquarters marks the conclusion of the 10-year effort on the part of the town's volunteer fire department to get a new facility which would allow room for offices and training.

Improvement and maintenance of town roads

In other business, the Board of Selectmen voted to authorize the First Selectman Aaron Reid, to dispose of and put out for public bid, a 1963 Federal fire truck.

Board of Selectmen voted unanimously to file a request for a hearing under Connecticut General Statutes, Section 28-54b for the Town of Hebron. This is in response to Order Number 2278, sent to the town by Stanley J. Pac, Commissioner for Environmental Protection on May 15.

In the order, the Town of Hebron is ordered to abate pollution as it is caused by a municipality with a community pollution problem as defined by provisions of Chapter 474a of the General Statutes, as amended. The town is ordered to take action as is necessary to develop a comprehensive townwide facility plan addressing all falling subsurface sewage disposal systems and potential problem areas. Also, to construct any facilities and implement any local abatement programs as may be required.

The town is further ordered to complete the requests of DEP on these time frames. All actions necessary for a facilities plan grant application must be completed on or before September 30, 1978. Also, on or before Sept. 30, 1979, the town must submit for review and approval of the Commissioner of Environmental Protection an engineering report with a schedule for the design and construction of any necessary facilities.

Lions to sponsor The Hebron Lions Club voted to sponsor two children of club members to attend the youth exchange program with Canada this summer.

The youths chosen to attend the exchange program are from the Bruce MacBryde and Philip Bradley families. The students will spend two weeks with a family in Canada and then their respective families will return the hospitality for two Canadian youths.

William Grimmas of Andover and Robert Hyburg of North Pond Road were accepted as new members. At this time the club is buying 18 acres of land adjoining the Lions Fairgrounds for the new Hebron Lions Agricultural Association Inc.

Shopping trip with mom led to ownership of supermarket

By MAL BARLOW

HEARTFORD — Though he grew up on a Manchester farm, Loren J. Andreo, 50, said, "I always knew I wanted to be in business."

And he is in business. As the founder and owner of the Putnam Plaza at 3 Main St., East Hartford, he is one of the most successful retailers east of the Connecticut River. He also uses his business acumen as a director of the Gateway Bank and Trust and the Dewey Investment Co. in Manchester.

Yet Andy, as he prefers to be called, still bases most of his success on food. He is celebrating his 27th year in business with Andy's Food Town, "the food department store."

Farm chores Andy's father, Dominic Andreo, owned a farm on Bell Street on the Glastonbury town line in the southwest corner of Manchester. He kept a dairy herd and grew market vegetables.

"I would milk the cows before school," said Andy. "Then I'd milk them again when I got home."

He graduated from Manchester High School in 1969 and entered the U.S. Navy. He served aboard the U.S.S. Sicily, an escort carrier often called a "baby flattop."

When discharged, he entered Bryant College in Providence, R.I. to study accounting and finances.

Working at his usual pace, he finished the four-year program in less than three graduating with a B.S. degree in 1961.

He worked for a few months as a credit officer with Commercial Credit Corporation while waiting for an opportunity.

The opportunity came sooner than he thought it would and from an unlikely source, a shopping trip his mother took.

Mrs. Mary Andreo, his mother, had been shopping at the Maple Market at the corner of Maple and Main streets in East Hartford one day. His godfather, former Glastonbury builder Joe Godar, owned the building.

Godar told Mrs. Andreo the market was slowly going bankrupt. That night she told Andy and he got thinking about it.

More growth planned

Andy has not stopped improving and growing. Last Friday he signed a contract to install electric cash registers with a scanning system. When it is fully on line by fall, Andy will be ahead of 99 percent of the rest of the supermarkets in the state with the scanning system.

The machine will scan numbers and marks on each sales item to automatically ring it up at the same time signaling there is one less such item on inventory. It is meant to speed up the lines at the registers and make keeping inventory more accurate. Andy's should not run out of anything.

Andy met his wife, Margaret, while he studied at Bryant. She was a long distance telephone operator. Before they married, she worked with him in his first little store.

They have six children and all of them have worked in Andy's.

Loren "Andy Junior," 24, graduated recently from Boston College with a BS degree in finance. He runs his father's package store in Putnam Plaza. Both he and Andy Junior worked at Angelo's, a Cape Cod supermarket their father adored because it is "people oriented."

Michael, 23, graduated from the University of Hartford with a BS degree in economics and finance. He runs his father's package store in Putnam Plaza. Both he and Andy Junior worked at Angelo's, a Cape Cod supermarket their father adored because it is "people oriented."

Mary, 22, graduated from Champlain Junior College, Burlington, Vt., and is now managing Terry's Bath & Linen Shoppe in Glastonbury.

Boston, 20, will be a senior at Kesten College working on her marketing degree. John, 18, will graduate this month from East Hartford High School and will study business at Central Connecticut State College in New Britain.

And Anne, 17, will be a senior at East Catholic this fall. Only Anne is not yet interested in business. Her parents say, "She's crazy about horses."

The whole family still lives in the southwest corner of Manchester at 396 Bush Hill Road.

At present the Rham High School is on double sessions. Canavan questions why a teacher should be paid a full day's pay to teach double sessions when classrooms now have an enrollment of 9 or 10 students.

He said the overload of students is only 269 and he asks why a building has to be built to hold 500 students when the enrollment has been dropping for the last few years.

He suggests that a couple of modular classrooms be rented, if needed, but to first make sure that every foot of floor space is being put to good use in the existing building.

VERNON — "Monster Mania" will be coming to Rockville Public Library starting July 5 in the form of the annual summer reading program. Registration for the program will be from June 18-30 in the children's department.

The department is open Monday through Saturday from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. The program will include both individual reading and scheduled activities revolving around dinosaurs, trolls, apes, sharks and other monsters.

Each child registering for the program will receive a large manila folder with his name in which to keep a list of books read along with illustrations and written work carried out in response to the books.

While reading at their own rate children may participate in weekly activities planned for their age groups. To test their wit and library skills, those in Grades 3 and 4 may register for the "Many a Monster Quiz." Participants will be issued weekly quiz sheets on infamous HEARTFORD — An education budget of $10,800,391, reflecting the $125,000 cut imposed by the Town Council, was approved in a 287-206 vote of a special town meeting Monday night.

Immediately after the meeting the council met and, on recommendation of Mayor Frank McCoy, set the mill rate at 60, an increase of 15 mills.

Although the Republicans are the majority party, Democrat Seymour Lavitt was elected over Republican Donald Eden to moderate the meeting. The vote was 274-156.

This vote raised the hopes of opponents of the budget cut, that the vote might go in their favor as Democrats on the council as well as those on the school board, along with all but two Republicans on the board, have been fighting the council's budget proposal.

Lavitt said the town meeting is one of the last vestiges of democracy in the United States and he was glad to see it executed in Vernon.

The meeting is supposed to be run on parliamentary procedure, but if it is not, it is the way that this town wants, it's the parliamentary principles that are going to go, not the people's will," he said.

Eden then moved to approve the budget as presented and the motion was seconded by Republican council member Morgan Campbell.

County Dems COVENTRY — The Tolland County Democratic Association will meet June 15 at 8 p.m. at the Coventry Town Hall, Main Street.

Paul J. McQuillan, chairman of the Advisory Commission for the State Police, will be the guest speaker. McQuillan is the special investigator for the Peter Riley case.

The public is invited to attend. Refreshments will be served.

Mrs. Reed appointed COVENTRY — Monica Reed of Coventry has been appointed coordinator and research director in the administration of the program. Mrs. Reed holds a bachelor of arts degree in anthropology from Columbia University and her master of library science degree from Pratt Institute Graduate School of Library and Information Science.

Volunteers needed VERNON — The Greater Hartford Association for Retarded Children Inc., a United Way Agency, is seeking volunteers for its newly launched Citizen Advocacy Program. Citizen Advocacy involves a meaningful relationship between a citizen volunteer (advocate) and mentally retarded persons.

Volunteers are asked to share two hours of their time each week to help the retarded person to learn new skills, gain confidence and so forth. For more information contact the association office, 524-5996.

Bicycle safety HEBRON — The Hebron Junior Women's Club will conduct a bicycle safety inspection at both elementary schools on June 24.

The program will be conducted at Gilead Hill School from 10 to 11:30 a.m. and at Hebron Elementary from 12:30 to 2 p.m. All Hebron children are invited to bring their bicycles to be inspected.

Public hearing SOUTH WINDSOR — The Town Council will conduct a public hearing June 19 at 7:30 p.m. in the council chambers of the Town Hall.

The meeting will consider the transfer of $6,000 from the capital non-recurring funds, to cover architect fees for schematic drawings on the high school and Wap-school renovations.

Church fair BOLTON — The Bolton Congregational Church will sponsor a "Yankee Street Fair and Barbecue" June 17, at Bolton Center from 1 to 4:30 p.m.

The fair will feature craft booths, plant booth, a food sale, white elephant booth, pony rides, children's game booths, face painting, hot air balloon rides (weather permitting), popcorn and soft drinks.

The barbecue will be served at 4:30 and 6 p.m. Reservations for barbecue tickets may be made by calling 649-0777 mornings or 649-2398 afternoons and evenings.

Referendum will decide fate of school building program

By PATRICIA MULLIGAN

HEBRON — With the referendum scheduled for tomorrow on the proposed construction of a $3.3 million Rham Junior High School, the opponents and proponents are still fighting in their final word.

Michael Canavan of Hebron has issued a statement questioning the need for the school and is urging voters to "vote no" in the referendum.

He said a number of alternatives had been explored to resolve the space problems at Rham. He said among them was partial double sessions which would allow for a building program and referendum in 1975, which was defeated by the voters; and in 1976 a recommendation was made and approved by the board to withdraw the Grade 7 and 8 students from the region and return them to their respective towns. The latter was rejected by the State Board of Education.

The board has also studied year-round schooling. An extensive study made by regional board members and citizen representatives from the member towns, expressed in rejection of that proposal also.

The board also looked at making arrangements with the Bolton school system which has a declining school enrollment but no workable agreement could be reached.

"In view of all of the alternatives which have been studied, it is my personal opinion that the Junior High School proposal before the voters is the best possible alternative for solving the space problems at Rham," Gallant said.

John Baron of Burnt Hill Road, an opponent of the project, said the school system should use the eight rooms at the high school, now used for vocational education, to handle the overcrowding. "Parents whose children want to learn a trade should send them to trade school," Baron said.

David Cattanch, superintendent of schools, expressed the hope that the referendum passes. "We badly need it," he said.

Voting in the regional towns will be from 8 a.m. to 8 p.m.

School board adopts $15,444,500 budget

By SUSAN VAUGHN
Herald Reporter

The Manchester Board of Education Monday night adopted an annual budget of $15,444,500 for the 1978-79 school year.

The vote on the budget was 7 to 1, with Carolyn Becker casting the only nay vote. Nicholas Costa was absent.

Mrs. Becker announced at the meeting that she would vote against the budget if it did not allocate the full funds for bus transportation for vocational/agricultural students. She said, "We owe these students transportation."

The 14 vo-ag students attend regional vocational centers in Glastonbury and Rockville under a cooperative program worked out with the schools.

The transportation for the students has been continually supported by Mrs. Becker and has been a point of much discussion in budget workshops.

The additional $14,000 which would be needed to provide full bus transportation for the students was put in abeyance when the budget was adopted Monday pending the outcome of a formal hearing which has been requested by vo-ag parents.

Last week, school board members recommended funding only a $600 stipend for each student for private transportation in order to allow for other improvements in the budget. However, because of the hearing, Greenberg said Penny agreed to approach the Board of Directors with the request. Greenberg said the community was emphasized to Penny the community use of the auditorium in making his request. The $12,000 item was not included in the budget adopted Monday.

IOH Pool plan approved
The board also approved the final plans for the new pool for the instructors of the Handicapped to be built as an addition to the Manchester High School pool. The action authorizes the IOH school administration to proceed with construction.

Sartor dinner slated tonight
A farewell dinner will be held for Richard Sartor, former deputy police chief, at the Marco Polo restaurant tonight. Raymond P. Damato, chairman of the dinner, has slated Superior Court Judge John F. Shea as master of ceremonies. Speakers will be Robert D. Lannan, chief of police, James Reardon, former chief of police, Monsignor Edward J. Reardon, and Richard S. Berden Jr., town manager of Cheshire where Sartor is now serving as chief of police.

past meetings between HUD and town officials.

Mason said Monday that he is confident the town's grant will be approved by HUD. He expects that the approval will be conditioned on meeting certain factors, primarily those outlined in the approved fair housing plan.

Mason also prepared a revised list of expenditures for the CD money. A total of $20,000 has been set aside to initiate the fair housing plan.

Also, the total funding for the neighborhood center, including the proposed senior citizens center, has been boosted to $283,000. It originally had been $221,000.

Reduced accounts include - Day Care, $40,000 to $0 (Funding was received through another source); technical studies, $78,000 to $25,000; and contingency, $34,000 to $30,000.

CRCOG committee votes for highway projects

The Transportation Committee of the Capitol Region Council of Governments voted Monday to pass a $110 million transportation plan for the Hartford region including planning for a new section of Interstate 84 and construction of a new section of Interstate 86.

Top elected officials of 29 area towns, members of the regional council, will vote Wednesday on the new transportation plan. The council is the transportation planning authority for all federally funded area projects.

This year's plan will see $24.7 million for construction on Interstate 86 from near Vernon Circle to an mile east of Slater Street in Manchester. This would include a priority bus and car-pool lane.

Support of the bus lane idea has ended another proposal for use of rail lines in the same area, according to council members. Freight rail lines are along the route now.

According to William Tierney, management analyst for Manchester and representative to the Transportation Committee, "Buses have more success in their greater ability to meet the needs of the people."

Tierney said he thought this was a positive aspect of transportation planning. He also said that construction on Interstate 86 was scheduled for 1980-1981.

The plan also allows $10 million for preliminary engineering for a section of Interstate 84 from Bolton Neck to Willimantic.

Many regional projects will also be funded with money returned to the state from previously abandoned highway plans. Approved last year, these projects have had minor adjustments made to them.

Manchester police report

Police arrested David W. Isenberg, 17, 22 Carpenter Road Monday morning in connection with a burglary at a McDwitt Drive home last Friday night. Isenberg was charged with first-degree larceny and second-degree burglary.

More than $2,000 worth of jewelry, a television set, a radio and other items were stolen from the home. Some of the jewelry and smaller items were recovered by police. The burglary is still under investigation. Isenberg was released on a $1,000 non-arrest bond for court appearance June 26.

Another burglary was reported early today at Bray's Jewelry Store, 73 Main St. Police said a witness saw a suspect throw a large piece of cement through the store's display window, reach inside and take some items, then run from the scene. The incident occurred about 2:18 a.m. Police had not yet determined how much was stolen.

A burglary was also reported at a Chestnut Street home Monday. A small bank containing about $30 was stolen.

A residential burglary was reported at a Union Court home over the weekend. A stereo set was stolen.

Two motorcycles were stolen Monday morning. One from in front of a Spencer Street apartment and another from Wellesley Street. The motorcycle stolen from Wellesley Street was found in some bushes on Green Road before it had been reported stolen by the owner.

Arrests included Norman F. Bruce, 58, today at Bray's Jewelry Store, 73 Main St. Police said a witness saw a suspect throw a large piece of cement through the store's display window, reach inside and take some items, then run from the scene. The incident occurred about 2:18 a.m. Police had not yet determined how much was stolen.

His route going performance took 85 pitches.

All's well with Red Sox as Fisk delivers single

BOSTON (UPI) - The Boston Red Sox are going so well these days they win the games they should lose.

Carlton Fisk mercifully ended a three-hour display of every play Little Leagueers learn to perform Monday by stroking a single past a draw-in California Angels infield to give the Red Sox a 10-9 victory. The durable Boston backstop's hit concluded a Kaskasque affair involving eight pitchers, six errors, four lead changes, two hit batsmen and one wild pitch.

I can't recall us committing five errors in one game and still winning," said Red Sox right fielder Dwight Evans, who drove in four runs with a three-run homer, his 14th, and a double. "It was the worst game we played all season, but we won it and that's what counts."

The Red Sox win their fourth in a row, upped their home record this year to 23-4. The team has won 29 of its last 29 games and holds six-game lead in the American League East.

Holtzman still gets outs

Saves win for Cubs over Reds

NEW YORK (UPI) — Ken Holtzman breathes again. Eager to pitch after spending 18 months as a non-person in the New York Yankee doghouse, veteran lefthander Ken Holtzman proved he can still get 'em out.

"I pitched in an All-Star game, threw no-hitters, the World Series," said Holtzman after saving Rick Reuschel's 3-2 victory over the Cincinnati Reds Monday night. "Tonight was the first time I was ever nervous."

Holtzman, back with the Chicago Cubs, soon learned Manager Herman Franks would waste no time using him. Larry Bittner's sacrifice fly had given the Cubs a 1-0 lead. Steve Overmeyer fielded the choice made it 2-0. Reuschel, 84, left after six innings with the Cubs in the lead. Chicago scored what proved to be the winning run in the seventh on a single by Greg Gross. Holtzman went in to protect the lead.

Post's 14th home run of the season was one of two hits off Holtzman. The Reds' other run came in the ninth on a triple by Pete Rose and an infield out.

In other National League games, San Francisco blanked Montreal, 1-0. Los Angeles ripped Philadelphia, 6-5. Atlanta edged St. Louis, 2-1. Houston outlasted Pittsburgh, 6-5, and San Diego topped New York, 3-2.

Ed Halkic hurled a one-hitter and Jack Clark doubled in a run. The loser was Steve Rogers, who pitched a reported $3 million, according to club sources.

Insurance agents set youth golf June 27
Tom Crockett, representing the Manchester Association of Independent Insurance Agents, announced today the group will conduct a local golf tournament for amateur players from 13 to 17 years of age June 27 at the Manchester Country Club. It will be one of more than 400 similar tournaments across the country in connection with the annual Insurance Youth Classic.

This national classic is sponsored annually by independent insurance agents through their national association, the Independent Insurance Agents of America, and a select group of some of the largest fire and casualty insurance companies.

Local winners will qualify to play in the state tournament July 19-20 at the Farms Country Club, Wallingford. State qualifiers will be eligible for the National Tournament at the Silver Lake Country Club, Grand Park, August 11-15.

One hundred and fifty amateurs will play in the state for the national tournament. These 150 players will play 72 holes to determine the National Insurance Youth Classic champion. Finalists will be paired three to a team and each will play with some of the leading pros of the regular PGA tour.

Local golfers desiring to play may obtain an official entry form from the Crockett Agency, Inc., at 244 Main St., by June 20.

Knee injuries lead to others

NEW YORK (UPI) — Doctors warn that youngsters who repeatedly injure their knees and other body joints in football and other contact sports are prime candidates for arthritis when they get older.

"Professional football players, for example, often develop traumatic arthritis as early as the 20s and 30s but they are adults and know the chances they are taking," said Dr. Colin Wilson of Emory University Medical School in Atlanta. "But said at an Arthritis Foundation meeting that the situation is different with youngsters. Hundreds of thousands play football in their communities, high school and in college and Wilson said half to four-fifths will sustain some injuries."

"Most injuries will be minor but Wilson said many will require proper care and protecting from additional injury if a form of arthritis is to be avoided later."

"The concern is that injuries damage the cartilage covering the ends of bones that meet together in joints. This cartilage serves as an elastic cushion and provides lubrication, smooth gliding surfaces for the movement of the joint."

Repeated damage to the cartilage leads to degenerative joint disease, otherwise known as osteoarthritis. The cartilage undergoes biochemical changes and breaks down, first causing a softening and fraying of the surface. As the disease progresses, whole sections of cartilage may be worn away, leaving only smooth bone ends exposed to each other.

"With the gliding surfaces of cartilage gone or damaged, it may become painful to move the joint. In severe osteoarthritis, the shape and mechanical structure of a joint may be destroyed."

Osteoarthritis is often described as a wear and tear disease. Ordinary cartilage receives its nutrients from joint fluid.

Whether an injured joint should be immobilized for a long time is a matter of debate in the medical community. Recent research has shown that immobilization in a cast interferes with the process that nourishes the cartilage. Unlike most tissue which are nourished by blood, cartilage receives its nutrients from joint fluid.

Wilson said special attention should be given to prevent repeated injury to the joint.

"These injuries, if not handled properly, can lead to very severe damage to the knee, weakening of the knee capsule so abnormal forces are set up and the joint does not function as it should," he said at a briefing.

"This tends to accelerate and promote the degenerative changes," Wilson said. "A baseball pitcher is more likely to develop osteoarthritis in his throwing arm, particularly in the elbow. Dancers sometimes develop it in ankles."

"We would not like to do away with sports," Wilson said. "The thing we would like to do would be to have the attitude or the understanding of the physician, the parent, coach, the trainer developed so they analyze the play performed in the game to minimize the situation that would produce severe trauma to specific joints that are unprotected."

Jakucki 'riding bench' these days in retirement

(Editor's Note: Milton Richman, once a minor league lefthander in the old St. Louis Browns farm system, renews acquaintance today with Sig Jakucki, who pitched the Browns to their only pennant in 1944.)

GALVESTON, Texas (UPI) — Sig Jakucki can't figure out why people have so much trouble finding him.

"He's been in the same place now for more than 30 years, he says. Sitting right there in his 'office' — on a park bench.

"That's where you can generally catch him day or night, sitting on that bench, and if he isn't there, he might be fishing or across the street in the Peacock Cafe, which is only a few blocks from the docks."

"I go in there and drink all day long," Jakucki says. "Only coffee, though. I don't go for beer anymore. Haven't had a drink in 17 years. Why? Cirrhosis of the liver. It was that good enough reason?"

Jakucki makes that statement in pretty much the same matter-of-fact way he answered dozens of questions hurled at him by a flock of reporters 34 years ago. That was right after he made baseball history by beating the New York Yankees in the last game of the 1944 season to pitch the St. Louis Browns to the only pennant they ever won.

"When we won the pennant we had all kinds of champagne and whiskey in the clubhouse," Jakucki recalls. "I told them bring me some beer. I didn't say how many, though."

That was the high point of his three seasons in major league baseball. In the World Series, Jakucki lost one and the St. Louis Cardinals eventually won the Series, four games to two.

Sig Jakucki is 68 now and knows better than anyone else that his moment in the sun is far behind him. "That doesn't bother him at all," he says. "I have nothing to show for it except a ring we got for winning the pennant."

"I don't wear it because I don't like rings. I had a scrapbook but somebody borrowed it and never gave it back to me. That's all right. You can't live on scrapbooks. The year we won the pennant, I had one day after he won the 100-mile race that year long, either."

Jakucki receives no pension from baseball. Nor is he getting any Social Security for some reason he's at a loss to explain. He "makes do" with money from odd jobs, including chauffeuring.

Jakucki, a native of Camden, N.J., once spent seven years in the Army where some now-forgotten second lieutenant converted him from a shortstop to a pitcher. Later, while he was with Galveston, scout Bobby Goff recommended him to the Browns. Jakucki came up with them in 1938. After being sent back to the minors the following season he went on the voluntarily retired list in 1939 and stayed on it through 1943.

He returned to the Browns in 1944 at 34 and had a 13-9 record that pennant season. After the following year he drifted out of baseball and has spent most of his years in this city since. While he was pitching here he grew to like Galveston because of its subtropical weather.

"With the Browns, he threw hard and drank hard. But, for all the effort he did, Jakucki says it rarely bothered him. "Only once that I can remember," he says. "I got sick at the meet. The top woman athlete was Cal State Northridge's Jodi Anderson, who set an American record of 22-7 1/2 in capturing the long jump with a win over 1976 Olympic silver medalist Kim Millan.

Anderson's effort was the third best long jump by a woman in history. There were no world records set during the three-day 36-event competition in the 80-degree heat at UCLA's Drake Stadium but Brenda Morehead ran an American record 22.60 in the women's 200-meter semifinal Saturday. Evelyn Asford of UCLA, however, won the 200 finale in 22.66 with Morehead second in 22.83.

Steve Scott of UC Irvine added credibility to his reputation as America's best miler Saturday when he added the AAU's 1500-meter title for the second straight year. But he needed his best lung at the tape to shade Villanova freshman Sydney Maree, a black South African, in 3:38.83.

MB's in action

Twilight League baseball play tonight at Moriarty Field will feature two long-time rivals, Herb's of Hartford and Manchester's Moriarty Bros.

First pitch is slated at 6 o'clock. The locals are still looking for their first win in five starts. The MB's, defending playoff champs, have played one tie.

Dave Bidwell or Jack Taylor will pitch for the locals.

Ump chapter cites six men

Six members of the Manchester Chapter of the state Board of Approved Baseball Umpires were honored with five-year membership plaques at the annual meeting last week at Willie's.

On the receiving end from Secretary Bill Fortin were Carl Anderson, John Garoppolo, Bill Pinney, Bill Dumas, Fred DeFoe and Dave Petro.

State board delegates are Fortin and Joe Guliano.

She was selected from 15,000 entries submitted to Teen Magazine in 1977-78.

Williams not dismayed by fifth place finish

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — After veteran Steve Williams' fifth-place finish in the 100-meter dash at the National AAU Track and Field Championships, he was asked if he had considered becoming a quarter-mile in the later years of his career because of the emergence of such young sprinters as Clancy Edwards.

"Oh, no," Williams replied somewhat humbly. "I still can run with any of these guys."

But, Edwards just might be in a class by himself, and during the weekend, he wrote himself a page in the sport's history books.

By winning the 200-meter dash at the National AAU Championships, the University of Southern California sensation became the first sprinter in 35 years to post a 100-200 double at the NCAA and AAU meets in the same year.

Duplicating a feat turned in by Hal Edwards, who became the first American sprinter to win the AAU 100-200 since Williams did it in 1973, in 1978 was the outstanding male athlete of the meet. The top woman athlete was Cal State Northridge's Jodi Anderson, who set an American record of 22-7 1/2 in capturing the long jump with a win over 1976 Olympic silver medalist Kim Millan.

Pop based in classics

By WILLIAM LAFFLER
United Press International

Composers and arrangers of pop music have been swiping from the classics for years and years and years. That's only fair because many of the greatest classical composers purloined European folk tunes to use as themes for their symphonies and tone poems. Nobody probably cares when this tactic borrowing began. Some droll folklorists may want to establish its beginnings in hawdy parodies, such as the "Flashing Reel" sung to the tune of Dvorak's "Humoresque." The classics-to-pop practice flourished in the 1940s when a Chopin Fantasia became "I'm Always Chasing Rainbows" and one of his polonaises became "Till the End of Time." Tchaikovsky also was a fair target. Themes from two of his symphonies became "Story of a Starry Night" and "Moon Love." On Broadway, "The Happiest Girl in the World" was based on the music of Jacques Offenbach. And themes from Borodin compositions surfaced on Broadway as "Kismet." The "Kismet" show has been restaged with an African setting and now is enjoying a run on The Great White Way as "Timbuktu." Now Andrew Lloyd Webber has come forth with a spectacular, fantastic piece of classic-rock called "Variations" (MCA Records MCF 8284), an album that surely deserves nomination for a Grammy award. Webber, who composed "Jesus Christ Superstar" and "Evita," the latter based on the life of Argentina's Eva Peron, selected the theme from Paganini's A minor Capriccio for Violin as the basis of "Variations." Others have used this same theme as an inspiration, among them Rachmaninoff, Benny (King of Swing) Goodman, and jazzman Johnny Dankworth. With due respect to these people, including Rachmaninoff, none of the Paganini variations has the bombast of young Webber's fling. Of course, Webber has taken advantage of the electronic instruments that were not available to the earlier composers and arrangers, specifically the synthesizer. Webber has stayed close to the original theme, embellishing it with electronic gestures for fine effect without cheapening the sound. And in the soft sections, the composer's brother, Julian Lloyd Webber, is a standout on the cello. The Webbers are backed by Don Airey and Rod Argent on keyboards, Jon Hiseman on percussion, John Mole and Gary Moore on guitar, and Barbara Thompson on sax and wind instruments. There are 23 variations in the two sides of the album and the musicians perform with such finesse and boldness that they have complete command of the listener. "Peter and the Wolf," like the Paganini variations, has been fair game for actors. Boris Karloff and Peter Ustinov are among those who have enhanced this musical fairy tale by Frokofiev with fine narrations. Jazz organist Jimmy Smith introduced a wild instrumental version a few years ago. The latest performer to narrate the children's story is rock star David Bowie. His recording of "Peter and the Wolf" with Eugene Ormandy and the Philadelphia Orchestra (RCA ARL1-2743) is said to be a gesture to his son, Zowie Bowie. It should be something for Bowie's fans to give to their children.

Music

Too tired for trial
Howard Jarvis, leader of the California tax revolt, was too ill to appear Monday at his trial on a misdemeanor charge of drunken driving in Oxnard, Calif. Jarvis, arrested March 15, pleaded innocent last month, saying he had been taking prescription drugs. His attorney told the court Jarvis suffered a severe hemorrhage when he stepped in a hole on a stage during a victory celebration after the Proposition 13 vote last week. A spokesman for the 75-year-old Jarvis said he was not seriously hurt, but was resting at his Los Angeles home. "He's just fatigued and very exhausted from his 95-hour work weeks," the spokesman said. "All he needs is a little bit of rest." The trial was postponed until July 10.

Stones fans soaked
Scalpers were getting at least $100 a ticket Monday night in Atlanta for fans anxious to see the Rolling Stones. Besides the scalpers, fans were also soaked by heavy rains before they could get inside the Fox Theater.

Tight security had been set up around the theater 36 hours in advance, preventing the more venturesome from gaining free entry — including some who tried to slip through a transept.

Although some officials estimate there were two fans without tickets to each of the nearly 4,000 who did, police said the second concert on the Stones' current U.S. tour went smoothly.

Palestinian showing
The controversial film "The Palestinian," which sparked a demonstration of actress Vanessa Redgrave, will be shown Friday night at the Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences' Samuel Goldwyn Theater in Beverly Hills, Calif.

Academy President Howard Koch said the screening does not mean the Academy endorses either the film or the sponsoring organization — in this case the Workers League, a national Trotskyite group.

Miss Redgrave, who won the best supporting actress Oscar this year, was picketed by Jewish groups at the Academy Awards ceremony because she financed and narrated the film.

Quebec offers extra energy

Quebec Premier Rene Levesque addresses press conference in Whitefield, N.H., at the New England Governors-Eastern Canadian Premiers Conference Monday.

Governors not sure on aid at Seabrook

WHITEFIELD, N.H. (UPI) - Some New England governors are wondering whether New Hampshire really needs to borrow their state troopers June 21 to deal with an anti-nuclear demonstration at the Seabrook nuclear power plant.

The six governors met Monday afternoon to discuss the request for police help, hours after the Cismshell Alliance said it would limit the size and length of its demonstration if the state agreed to a new set of conditions.

"I'm not prepared to make a decision," because of that offer, Vermont Gov. Richard Snelling said. Snelling was a key figure in the discussions because of a letter he sent to New England governors outlining possible terms for granting police aid to New Hampshire.

He said the first priority must be protecting the rights of demonstrators to protest peacefully, even if it caused some inconvenience to other people.

Israel prefers allies hold Lebanon posts

By United Press International Israel wants to leave its positions in southern Lebanon in the hands of Christian rightist allies instead of U.N. peace-keeping troops before formally quitting the area today, a high-ranking Israeli government source said.

Israeli military spokesmen said a formal ceremony marking the transfer of authority was scheduled in the eastern sector of the six-mile "security zone" along the Lebanese frontier. But the spokesman refused to name the site or the participants.

"Almost all of our main units are out," a Western diplomat in Beirut said of the Israelis. "We've got about 1,600 men in there they can fold up pretty quickly."

But a high-ranking government source in Tel Aviv said Monday it appeared that the rightist militias will be given control of the border zone since "it's Christian territory, they live there, and we did not go to fight them."

Lebanese clashes kill former president's son

BEIRUT, Lebanon (UPI) - A shock wave of violence and bloody clashes between Christian rightist militias erupted today and one of those killed was the son of the former president of Lebanon.

Government and Syrian officers of the Arab peace-keeping forces met in emergency session to discuss the fighting, while Israeli forces continued to pull out of the last of the positions they had held since their March invasion of south Lebanon.

Travelers from the north said dozens of persons were killed in the rightist Phalangist attack on Ehdun, 15 miles southeast of coastal Tripoli.

The travelers said the dead included Toni Franjib, the son of Lebanon's influential right-wing former President Suleiman Franjib.

The dead also included Toni Franjib's wife, daughter, driver and a house servant, the travelers reported.

WHITEFIELD, N.H. (UPI) - If he was looking for friendship and support in New England, Quebec Premier Rene Levesque struck oil.

Oil was exactly what he offered Monday during the sixth annual conference of New England governors and eastern Canadian premiers.

If New England governors didn't want a few hundred thousand barrels of refined petroleum products from Quebec and the Maritime Provinces, Levesque had something else to offer - up to 10 billion kilowatt hours of hydroelectric power per year by 1983.

His unexpected offer to ship to New England the energy his sprawling province can't consume cast in the shade the conference's adoption of a resolution calling for international cooperation in developing non-fossil fuel energy sources, including wind, wood, water, and sun.

He specifically called for an international exchange of energy information, an international solar design competition, and establishment of a site where the powered generators or devices could be tested, possibly in Prince Edward Island.

The conference urged the federal governments in Ottawa and Washington to develop more positive areas of flexibility and cooperation to allow our respective regions to better address energy solutions.

Levesque hinted at his push to separate Quebec from the rest of Canada, when he said his province is ready to sell energy but international restrictions and company policies might hold up sales.

"That would be silly, he said, because 'you have justifiable ecological and environmental concerns. We have to live with the bloody pollution, the refineries are already there' in Quebec, he said.

He said Quebec has an annual refining capacity of 644,000 barrels and a demand of 540,000, and the Maritime Provinces have a capacity of 562,000 barrels and a demand for half that.

The conference willingly accepted Levesque's suggestion to seek special federal aid to help with exchanges of oil products and hydroelectric power, which Levesque said Quebec has enough economically usable electrical potential to triple its already large production of hydroelectric power.

The conference voted to work for the removal of local restrictions to the international movement of trucks, now hindered by varying licensing, size and weight requirements.

Levesque said Quebec and Maine are almost ready to sign an agreement regulating passage between the province and state of trucks carrying timber.

Oil was exactly what he offered Monday during the sixth annual conference of New England governors and eastern Canadian premiers.

Levesque is urging voters in his predominantly French-speaking province to vote for mostly English speaking Canada.

"We're still going to be neighbors. It's specifically called for an international exchange of energy information, an international solar design competition, and establishment of a site where the powered generators or devices could be tested, possibly in Prince Edward Island.

INVITATION TO BID

Sealed bids will be received in the Office of the Director of General Services, 41 Center Street, Manchester, Connecticut until June 28, 1978 at 11 o'clock, for the following:

Storm Drain - St. John Street to Biggerlow Brook. The Town of Manchester is an equal opportunity employer, and requires an affirmative action plan for its employees.

Cooperation continues WHITEFIELD, N.H. (UPI) - Quebec Premier Rene Levesque, seeking to calm those worried about his separatist movement, told New England governors Quebec won't stop cooperating with her neighbors if she decides to separate from Canada.

Levesque is urging voters in his predominantly French-speaking province to vote for mostly English speaking Canada.

"We're still going to be neighbors. It's specifically called for an international exchange of energy information, an international solar design competition, and establishment of a site where the powered generators or devices could be tested, possibly in Prince Edward Island.

Dear Abby

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: My mother won't let me get my nose pierced. It's really not dangerous—it's no more dangerous than plucking your ears. All my girlfriends are doing it and I think it looks neat. Some of the guys have even done it. Nose piercing has been done for hundreds, maybe thousands of years in Egypt and Africa. You wear a little gold ring through the hole.

How can I get my mother to let me get my nose pierced? I know a lady who will do it for $10, but you have to have your mother's permission.

WANTS NOSE PIERCED

DEAR WANTS: Sorry, I can't help you do something I think you'd regret. If you want to wear a ring through your nose, get the type that clips on, but you don't need another hole in your head. (P.S. When you're back, look in the Shoe Age when I was young, we used to make fangs.)

DEAR ABBY: Last year, the manager of our son's Little League baseball team screamed, yelled, jumped up and down on his cap and turned purple in the face every time one of the boys made a mistake. I've seen him get so worked up I was afraid he'd have a heart attack. He constantly belittled the boys, and I've seen him humiliate some of the points of tears. The kids are afraid to get near him when he's angry.

I don't think 6- and 8-year-olds should be subjected to this kind of tension and abuse, do you?

I told my husband that I didn't want our son to play in Little League with that manager anymore. My husband says there's a good and bad in all sports, and since we can't change the manager's disposition, we should accept it and let our boy play.

How do you (and others) feel about this?

INDIANA MOM

DEAR MOM: I think you should have a meeting with the parents of the other boys in Little League and discuss this. You may not be able to change the manager's disposition, but you can change manager.

DEAR ABBY: I am marrying a man who has three daughters (5, 7 and 9) by a previous marriage. My fiancé wants his daughters to attend our wedding, and I don't think they should. The girls live with their mother, who will not be at my wedding, so my fiancé will have to look after them during the ceremony. Perhaps I should mention that his daughters are ill-mannered and boisterous; they fight among themselves and don't obey their father, and I'm afraid they might disrupt the ceremony. This is my first wedding. The girls live with their mother, who will not be at my wedding, so my fiancé will have to look after them during the ceremony. Perhaps I should mention that his daughters are ill-mannered and boisterous; they fight among themselves and don't obey their father, and I'm afraid they might disrupt the ceremony. This is my first wedding.

Also I don't know what the girls' mother has poisoned their minds against me, but they don't seem to like me very much, which makes me uncomfortable. Please don't use my name, initials or town, just tell me how to handle this. Thanks.

GETTING MARRIED

DEAR GETTING: In order for a marriage to succeed, candor and communication are essential. Start now by telling your fiancé exactly how you feel about his daughters attending your wedding. If you can't be completely honest with him now, prepare for some very difficult times ahead.

Crocodile missed chance

The Jack and after dummy ducked, East was forced to win with the queen. He could do nothing better than take his ace of clubs and hold declarer to 10 tricks.

If West had played the king of diamonds, he would have been sure to get the lead and could have set the club and led another club.

But really, should have made that difficult play. It was a very much, which makes me uncomfortable. Please don't use my name, initials or town, just tell me how to handle this. Thanks.

The 6-month Treasury Passbook (Only at CBT)

The key to getting high interest without locking up your money for years.

Most banks are delighted to pay higher interest. As long as you leave your money on deposit for a year or more.
Now CBT will pay you that same kind of high interest without tying up your savings for years.

CBT's new Treasury Passbook gives you the same annual earning power as 6-month U.S. Treasury Bills. But in amounts that fit your savings needs.

Like U.S. Treasury Bills, the minimum deposit is $10,000.

But unlike U.S. Treasury Bills, CBT Treasury Passbooks are available in any amount over $10,000.

And there is no transaction charge.

The interest your CBT Treasury Passbook earns is determined by the U.S. Treasury 6-month bill rate in effect at the date your Passbook is issued.

(For example, the official auction rates for Treasury Bills in recent weeks has been in excess of 7%.)

CBT's Information Line:
1-800-842-0049 (Toll Free in CT.)

Opening a CBT Treasury Passbook Account is simple. Just see your Personal Banker™ at any CBT branch. For more information, call Janet Ellsworth at this toll-free number, or send the coupon.

Some special CBT advantages

Your CBT Treasury Passbook is available with another convenient plus — free checking. You will also receive CBT's Combined Monthly Statement, an invaluable document that itemizes not only your checking transactions but all savings activities too.

So if you're looking for a better way to earn more interest faster, you'll find it in CBT's Treasury Passbook.

We'll take your banking needs personally.
