New office among housing plan goals

By GREG PEARSON
Herald Reporter

A subcommittee of Manchester's Community Development Advisory Committee has developed a draft report of proposed housing policy goals for the town.

The report includes suggestions that the town take such far-reaching steps as establishment of an office of Housing and Community Development and review of zoning requirements that may result in increased housing costs.

The nine-page report will be the subject of a public hearing Monday at 7:30 p.m. at the Mayfair Gardens Community Hall. Copies of the report are available for public inspection at the Human Services office.

Before any of the recommendations are adopted by the town, they have to be approved by the entire Community Development Advisory Committee and the Board of Directors. The committee has scheduled a meeting June 28 to vote on the proposal. It plans to present its proposal to the directors at the board's July 5 meeting.

The subcommittee has worked to develop a profile of the present housing market in Manchester. Its nine-page report includes suggested housing goals and ways of meeting them.

Some of the steps mentioned include the direct involvement of the town's government. The subcommittee proposed two alternatives for providing housing services in town.

One proposal, which is endorsed by the subcommittee, would be to establish an Office of Housing and Community Development in the Human Services Department.

It would include an employee to serve as the town's housing coordinator and would oversee housing-related matters, such as grant applications, preparation of the Housing Assistance Plan and implementation of the proposed housing policy.

The endorsed proposal also includes expansion of the housing implementation functions of the Manchester Housing Authority.

The second proposal mentioned in the report would be the establishment of a Department of Housing and Community Development within the town government. This department would absorb the duties of the MHA. The MHA's staff would be transferred to this department.

Both proposals include the establishment of a Housing Advisory Committee to monitor housing programs and a Housing Task Force to review housing plans and coordinate efforts that effect the town's housing conditions.

The advisory committee would be made up of community members; the task force would be made up of town staff department heads, according to the subcommittee's proposal.

The subcommittee also recommends a review of existing zoning and subdivision requirements. Some of these may be cost-inflating, the report says.

It suggests review of such items as lot size and density, minimum interior space, roadway width, granite curbing, storm sewer drainage and other environmental requirements.

Other steps that might be taken include the following:

- Promotion of housing programs which offer a proportional mix of subsidized housing. This would achieve "spatial deconcentration of lower-income families," the report says.

- Promotion of housing which offers clustered developments — "Thereby reducing housing costs, conserving energy and preserving Manchester's environment," the report says.

- Construction of condominiums, row housing, duplexes, multi-family homes and garden apartments would meet this goal. The subcommittee report also suggests that the town government act as a housing advocate and provide information to residents about all housing assistance programs.

- The town should "Maximize opportunities for homeownership while ensuring that there is a diversity of housing opportunities available to Manchester residents of all economic levels," the report says.

Police resume digging to search for bodies

WEST SPRINGFIELD, Mass. (UPI) — Police today resumed churning up the ground behind the tightly guarded hut of a mysterious pawnbroker, in search of the alleged graves of "six or seven" suspected homosexual rape victims.

A second backhoe was brought to the scene today to join another which during the previous two days dug deep furrows into sections of a 4-acre plot owned by Kenneth Appleby, 27, accused in a New York warrant of kidnapping.

Children, some with their curious parents in tow, began to assemble at the scene, which is surrounded by two tall fences erected by Appleby, which give the garage-sized shack and land behind it a fortress-like appearance.

Police have obtained a 10-day search warrant on the property and hut. "Really, Chief (Thomas) McNamara is doing the right thing here by digging — if there are bodies — to wait until we give up and then lead everybody right to the spot and tell them to start digging," said a police officer standing guard at the property.

Residents along Piper Road where there are many $50,000 homes, described Appleby as living across the street from some of them in the squalid tarpaper shack hidden behind high stockade and wire fences.

Wednesday, a judge ordered Appleby held on $100,000 bail on a kidnapping charge while police used a backhoe to dig up the ground around the hut.

Inside the one-room shack, police seized a cache of swords, chains, whips, guns and drugs and took them to a laboratory for blood tests. Police in New York City believe the victims may have been picked up in Greenwich Village and brought to the shack where they were homosexually assaulted and tortured before being slain and buried.

Only the bones of a dog have been found since police began searching the property Tuesday.

Appleby, who owns a pawnshop in Springfield, has pleaded innocent to being a fugitive from justice and the kidnapping charge.

Authorities said attention was centered on Appleby after New York City police talked to a man who was an alleged rape and kidnap victim and who later turned informant. Authorities said Appleby's home had been under surveillance for two to three weeks.

CD panel OKs school as new senior center

By SUSAN VAUGHN
Herald Reporter

The Community Development Advisory Committee gave its support to the acquisition of Green School by the Senior Citizens in a vote at the school Wednesday night.

The vote was taken after a group of senior citizens who attended the meeting asked for the endorsement. Prior to the vote, the committee approved a $223,000 allocation for a new senior center, as part of the fourth year Community Development Plan, but it was noted by Alfred Stern, committee chairman, that the allocation did not name the Green School specifically.

Irene Bissette, chairwoman of the senior citizen building site committee, urged the action by the CD committee, noting the hard work by the seniors put into the efforts to acquire the school which will be closed next week.

The seniors presented the CD committee with petitions containing the names of 1,288 senior citizens who support Green School as a center.

There was no opposition expressed to the acquisition by the CD committee Wednesday. James McAuley said he did not feel it was the role of the committee to deprive the seniors of the bigger space that they want. The role of the committee, he said, is to see if it can get the funds to renovate Green School.

The senior citizens have said they still want the school and are willing to pursue other methods of funding if it cannot get the Community Development funds.

The town is awaiting approval of its fourth year CD grant from the federal Department of Housing and Urban Development. The approval hinges on acceptance of some amendments to the plan in the area of fair housing. A $20,000 allocation to implement the fair housing plan was part of the $519,000 approved by the CD committee for the entire fourth year plan Wednesday night.

In a report to the committee Wednesday, Alan Mason, Human Services director, presented information relating to the use of Green School by the senior citizens. Figures obtained from the Senior Citizens Center and the Board of Education show that the Green School would cost about $4,000 a year more for utilities. That amount is without the improvements such as insulation and new windows, Mason said. Insulation would cost about $9,000 and new windows about $30,000.

He also said the parking spaces at Green School number 32 in the parking lot and about 15 on the street.

Solon accuses state of 'hiding' contracts

HARTFORD (UPI) — Sen. Richard Bozzuto, R-Waterbury, today accused the Department of Public Works of trying to hide the names of the contractors, engineers and architects getting state work.

"We can only assume they are trying to hide the fact that those firms who make substantial contributions to the Democratic Party, get the work," said Bozzuto.

Bozzuto said he has been following through with an accusation made by Daniel MacKinnon that few contracts are let without permission of the governor's office and when the work goes out, it goes to the firms that have contributed to the Democratic Party.

MacKinnon had been head of the giant Department of Administrative Services Department, which oversees leasing, state building contracts and hiring and firing of the state's 40,000 employees.

MacKinnon was fired by Gov. Ella T. Grasso last month. She said he was bullying employees trying to do their jobs. MacKinnon, however, said he was trying to get politics out of the agency. He said his efforts were blocked by Charles "Chad" McCollam, Mrs. Grasso's chief aide.

Bozzuto sent Senate Minority staff member Nancy Owens to the Public Works Department on Wednesday to try to compile a list of all engineers, contractors and architects that have been awarded state contracts in the past few years.

Bozzuto said he was going to compare the list of names with the chief contributors to the Democratic Party.

Mrs. Owens said she was at first allowed to look at the files, but was then stopped by the state's chief fiscal officer, Frank Rondo.

"Frank told me it would take a lot of work, maybe six months to a year, to put together a list," Mrs. Owens said. "But I started going through files, anyway."

"All of a sudden Bill Mill, (public information officer for the Administrative Services Department) told me there was a problem and that I would have to stop going through the files," Mrs. Owens said.

"He said the attorney general had ruled I had to first file a request in writing for the information and then pay the salary of a state worker to sit and observe what I was doing," she said.

"The thing is, I called the attorney general's office after that and I was told everybody was on an outing," she said.

Mill today said the department isn't trying to hide anything.

"Anyone wanting the information would first have to file a written request and then the information is made available," Mill said.

Soviets made other threats to businessmen

MOSCOW (UPI) — Reliable Moscow sources said today Soviet authorities, including the KGB secret police, have made at least three attempts to compromise or threaten members of the American business community in as many years.

The report coincided with a disclosure that American businessmen in the Soviet capital, shocked by this week's arrest of one of their colleagues, have been told to watch their step by U.S. Embassy officials.

The sources said that in one incident, which they said occurred in January 1977, a business representative was approached by KGB agents who had a thick file on his previous activities several years earlier in the Soviet Union.

The sources agreed to discuss the incidents only under a promise of anonymity because they feared both the reaction of the Soviet government and unfavorable response from their American corporate headquarters.

In the case of the KGB attempt, the information was independently confirmed with sources outside of the business community. They also demanded anonymity.

The various sources said their remarks were prompted by the arrest of F. Jay Crawford, 37, an International Harvester Corp. representative who was seized by militiamen Monday on a Moscow street.

Crawford faces currency and customs charges in connection with a section of the Russian Federation Criminal Code that covers smuggling and contraband.

The sources said they feared Crawford's arrest may be only the first, arguing the Soviet authorities believe they can "lean on" businessmen because earlier incidents have been hushed up.

They said two of the incidents involved members of the business community who had close unofficial contacts with Soviets. They were warned about alleged currency violations and they left the country.

The first incident, which involved an employee of a bank, occurred in 1975. The other incident, which involved an employee of a large corporation, occurred this year.

The sources said the employees involved in the incidents were withdrawn from the country because their firms did not want to risk a confrontation with the Soviet government.

In the KGB case, the corporation involved was apparently not aware of the problems its Moscow representative had. The representative left the country shortly after he was approached by the KGB.

The representative, who was in the Soviet Union as a student several years before he received his corporate assignment, was approached by KGB agents who had a thick file on his previous activities.

The agents informed the person he would be accused of smuggling if he did not agree to work for the KGB within the American business community.

The incidents raised question as to why the State Department did not file protests after learning they had occurred.

It was explained that the U.S. government can take no action in such cases unless action is requested by the corporations involved, with the exception of cases in which an actual arrest has been made.

Committee favors loans to landlords in downtown area

The Community Development Advisory Committee Wednesday night approved a plan for low-interest loans to absentee landlords, but added a limit on the total amount one landlord could borrow.

The plan as presented by Marilyn Walsh, housing specialist for the Human Services Department, limited the loans to $6,000 per unit, but at least one member questioned providing an unlimited amount of loans to landlords who owned 20 or 30 units in the downtown area.

Robert Skyler's objections to unlimited loans ended in an amendment to the plan which would limit loans to one landlord to $50,000.

The loans would be at an interest rate of six percent unless the owner qualifies for other interest rates under the homeowners' loan program. There are no income limits in the program for landlords, unlike the program for live-in homeowners who wish to rehabilitate their property. The rental units must be located within the downtown target area identified under the Community Development Plan.

Ms. Walsh said the purpose of the investor-owned program is to improve rental units that have been found to be the greatest problem as far as housing code violations. There must be existing housing code violations in order to qualify for the loans.

Under the plan, an owner must present proposed rents to the Human

Rosy future predicted for state

By HAROLD TURKINGTON
Herald Managing Editor

Paint it rosy — the Connecticut economy picture, that is. That's the way state Commerce Commissioner Edward J. Stockton painted it Thursday afternoon. He was the featured speaker at a Connecticut Bank and Trust Co. Business Forum at the Colony in Talcottville.

Some 300 Central Connecticut business leaders heard Stockton say the state economy "has experienced a dramatic turnaround in the past three years" and that he believes it permanent.

He suggested a "positive course to follow which will lead to future prosperity and our ultimate goal of full employment."

Stockton called Connecticut the hot spot of development in the East, and alluded to the implementation of "an aggressive and comprehensive economic strategy" as reasons for out-performing the national economy.

The two-pronged strategy has consisted of "energizing economic development activities and improve the business climate." Some aspects of the strategy have been:

- reduction in business taxes in each of the last three years.
- improved communication between government and the private sector (creation of a Connecticut Economic Development Corp., a business ombudsman, and statewide visitation program by the Department of Commerce).
- aggressive pursuit of new companies on a national and international basis. He pointed out especially the J.C. Penney project and Pillowick coming into Manchester.

- great increase in sales contact centers that have created more than $200 million in sub-contract and supplier work.
- state financing of land, buildings and equipment for new companies. He said about 80 percent of that financing has been for companies already located here and not firms relocating in the state. As examples, he said financing in the Manchester area has been $5 million for the Penney project, $223,000 for Gerber Scientific in South Windsor (almost across the street from The Colony), and $855,000 for Allied Printing.
- implementation of the Connecticut Product Development Corp. to assist in the development of high-technology products.
- accelerated development of a statewide network of industrial parks with joint state/local funding.
- implementation of the Connecticut Product Development Corp. — a looking more to the Northeast because of the availability of manpower that is flexible.

But the future — what course should the state follow?

Stockton said we must "continue to fully implement the strategy and programs" he had just outlined.

And he said the state must vigorously pursue programs aimed at the structural economic problems facing the state.

He listed some of the "bold legislation proposed and passed" like the Urban Jobs and Development Act of 1978. It provides incentives for manufacturers to rebuild in urban

Taylor heads AARP unit

George Taylor was re-elected president of the Manchester Green Chapter No. 2399, American Association of Retired Persons, (AARP), at a recent luncheon meeting at the Manchester Country Club.

Taylor and Janet Phillips, elected first vice president, will also serve as directors for two year terms.

Others elected to office are, Versey McBride, second vice president, Matilda Fiske, recording secretary, Ruth Lloyd, corresponding secretary, Mildred Olmstead, treasurer, Grace Bogdan, assistant treasurer, and Joseph Murphy, nominating chairman. These officers will serve a one-year term as directors.

Elected directors for three years are Beatrice MacAlpine, Ernest McNeil, and Dr. Richard Olmstead. Directors with unexpired terms are Walter Metzger, John Spisito, and Lillian Juncan.

It's fun and games

Sean Hart, 5, of 94 Constance Drive is a little apprehensive as he zooms around a turn in a fire truck at St. Bridget's fifth annual bazaar in the church parking lot at 70 Main St. The event is being conducted now through Friday from 6 to 10 p.m. and Saturday from 1 to 4 and 6 to 11:30 p.m. It features rides, games, baked goods, and refreshments. On Saturday, there will be a drawing for a 1978 Ford Granada, a color television set, and two ten-speed bicycles. (Herald photo by Dunn)

Tax suit filed for 210 Pine St.

The owner of property on Pine Street has filed suit against the Town of Manchester in connection with the assessment on that property.

Samuel J. Heyman of Westport, listed as the trustee of property at 210 Pine St., filed the suit. He says that the assessment placed on the property by the town, $178,710, is too high.

Enrichment courses attracting students

Enrollment has begun for the "Summer in Manchester 1978 Enrichment Program" and initial registration has been encouraging, according to Lee Hay, director of the program.

Hay said that the addition of maintenance courses in reading and math has met with enthusiasm. The courses are aimed at students in the elementary school who could use the opportunity to keep reading and math skills sharp during the summer.

Other activities and courses will provide exploration into new areas for elementary students from Grade 4 through adults.

The program, sponsored by the Manchester Board of Education, will run in two sessions, from July 17 to 28 and from July 31 to Aug. 11. All classes will be at Hilling Junior High School.

Brochures are available at all public schools, the Board of Education office and town libraries. Registration is on a first-come basis.

Crossroads plans series of outings

Crossroads, Manchester's drug and alcohol advisory center, has planned six outings designed to provide opportunities for the teenagers and young adults of Manchester to experience the outdoors and to learn more about themselves, others, and their environment this summer.

The outings will include beach day on June 27, a canoe trip from July 11 to July 13, sailing on July 20; a canoe trip from August 8 until August 10; a hike on August 17; and a final beach day on August 24.

Anyone wishing more information may contact Lenny Yann at Crossroads, 646-2015.

Two from town receive public service awards

Thomas Connors and Janis Latham, both of Manchester, were among the recipients of the public management awards of the Connecticut chapter of the American Society for Public Administration (ASPA) at its annual meeting Wednesday night.

Connors of 55 Scarborough Road is assistant director of the Division of Social Science and Public Service at Manchester Community College and a member of the town Board of Directors.

Mrs. Latham of 103 S. Lakewood Circle is senior research analyst, office of Legislative Research of the Connecticut General Assembly.

Connors teaches the law enforcement program courses at MCC. A former New York City police officer, he has been associated with professional organizations related to his police and law enforcement work in Connecticut and public offices. The Connecticut Chapter is one of more than 60 chapters nationwide.

Town Manager Robert Weiss will serve as president of the state chapter next year.

Green faculty to be honored

Parents of Green School students will honor the teaching staff and their guests at a buffet dinner at Manchester Country Club at 7 p.m. on Thursday, June 22.

The event is planned to give parents and friends an opportunity to meet with the staff for the last time before the school closes its doors June 19.

Ticket information may be obtained by contacting Mrs. Clinton Greene, 646-7338, or Mrs. Charles Carrol, 649-6307, before Monday.

Library organizes summer activities

Mary Cheney Library Junior Room is planning a summer program for children in Grades two through six.

The program will begin with a book club sign up from June 19 to June 30. Children will have the opportunity to read on any topic from science fiction to fantasy. There will be a party for club members Aug. 11.

Each Thursday from June 22 to August 24, films for school age children will be offered at 2 p.m. for one hour.

There will also be two puppet shows for four to eight-year olds. The first will be put on by Arts Encounter puppeteers June 26 at 10:30 a.m. The second will be put on by puppets from the Jr. Women's Club July 10 at 10:30 a.m.

A science fiction and fantasy discussion group for children in Grade five and up will also be offered. Anyone interested in participating in the discussion group may contact the Junior Room at the library. A time has yet to be scheduled for this program.

Films, discussion, scheduled on aging

A film and discussion program on aging will be presented by the Manchester Community Services Council Tuesday from 10 a.m. to noon at the Community Baptist Church.

The program will include three films, "Pegee," "The Steps of Age," and "At 99," which all deal with aging.

Diane Wicks, the town's outreach worker for the elderly, will lead a discussion.

People attending this program will gain insights into the various ways people grow old. The program is open to the public.

To register, call the Human Services Department, 649-5281, ext. 285 by June 16.

Fund returns sought

The Manchester Unit of the American Cancer Society has asked area merchants to return donation canisters left at stores and businesses during the society's annual crusade in April.

Members of the Civil Air Patrol recently picked up a great number of the donation canisters but some were overlooked. Merchants are asked to return them to the American Cancer Society, 237 E. Center St., or call the office at 643-2168.

Gas leak caused blasts

HOLYOKE, Mass. (UPI) — Officials believe a gas leak caused three explosions which rocked a downtown intersection and forced evacuation of a city block of stores.

The Wednesday afternoon explosions shattered windows, but injured no one seriously.

Police said Holyoke Gas and Electric Co. officials told them the three blasts, which blew manholes into the air and heavily damaged People's Savings Bank on High Street, occurred almost simultaneously about 12:53 p.m.

Opinion

A sexual average

Here's another explanation for the decline in college entrance examinations which has concerned educators of late.

Women. To be precise, average women. The popular theory has been that contemporary high school students are not being as well educated as their predecessors and so were not doing as well on the tests.

Now a study at the University of Wisconsin-Madison comes up with another possibility. In the past, when higher education enrollment had a pronounced male tilt, more average men than women took the tests. Now, with more women going on to college, the average intellectuals among them are pulling score levels down.

This doesn't mean that women are less qualified, the study emphasizes, only that more of them consider themselves as qualified to handle college as their average male peers and are doing something about it.

It averages out to another gain for sexual equality.

The tax gamble

By Don Graff

The big subject is still taxes—and it is likely to remain so on editorial pages while the implications of the California vote continue ricocheting through the other 49 states.

More ink is probably already being expended on it than on any other headline topic of recent vintage, and we most surely are only seeing the beginning.

One of the more interesting spot analyses of what California voters may have wrought comes from a savant with the Brookings Institution, the Washington research center which is the serious study of public affairs.

What General Motors is to auto production.

Many voters for Proposition 13, according to post-hallot dispatches from California, see themselves as reclaiming from absentee authorities some control over their own affairs.

But writing in The Wall Street Journal, Richard P. Nathan, who directs Brookings' studies of federal grant programs, suggests that one consequence of drastic property tax limitation may be not to increase but to decrease local control of local af-airs. The reason is that with local government unable to tap as needed the revenue source that has always been its fiscal mainstay, it will become more dependent upon state and federal funds. And with the outside money comes some degree of outside control over its expenditure.

This would accelerate a trend under way for decades.

As recently as 1976, 81.2 percent of all locally raised money came from the property tax. But where in 1962, when Washington began compiling statistics on the subject, these local funds represented three-fourths of all local revenue, by 1976 the proportion had dropped to 30.8 percent.

Nathan estimates that implementation of Proposition 13 would mean a decline to 25 percent, a neat reversal of the original ratio.

Source of the funds would be the same—the taxpayers—merely raised by levies other than on property.

But with three-quarters of budget dollars reaching them only after detouring through state and federal agencies, local governments would have a lot less to say about their use.

Overzealous property tax curbs may end up as a losing gamble for the taxpayers—a heads they win, tails we lose proposition.

Use heroin in terminal cancer cases

By ANDREW TULLY
WASHINGTON — When a doctor friend died a merciful death of a sudden heart attack, I couldn't help wondering whether someone had rewarded him for his compassion toward his aging patients.

On the subject of sleeping pills, Bill made no bones about his policy. Patients who were old enough, in age or condition, and who couldn't otherwise get a decent night's rest were put on sleeping pills.

"Sure, they became addicts," Bill said. "But the pills made their last years, or months, relatively tranquil. They didn't die screaming because they couldn't sleep."

I am reminded of Bill by the current controversy over whether terminally ill cancer patients should have their path toward death eased by regular injections of heroin. In musing, balder-than-thou tones, opponents of prescribing that hard drug cry that such a policy would result in the wholesale production of junkies.

What cruel twaddle! Classifying a cancer patient as terminally ill means that he or she is under sentence of death. What can it possibly matter if such patients become hooked on the drug? They are not going to be turned loose to prowl the streets, robbing and sometimes killing to raise the money to support their habit. Indeed, the terminally ill hardly have strength enough to walk across the street, let alone knock somebody on the head.

Yet official guardians of the nation's health have appointed themselves policemen of national morals. Almost daily there are raised shrill warnings from the Health, Education and Welfare Department or the National Institute of Health that more time is required to investigate heroin's effects on people who are dying.

"Effects?" Great Britain, where use of heroin is legal, has found the drug does the only important thing—it eliminates or greatly reduces pain. What else matters to cancer patients and their suffering families? Morphine is an illegal addictive drug, too, but it has been used by doctors for centuries to succor the terminally ill.

Here in America, however, the cancer patient is told to curb his impatience, that medical science is getting around to the problem. Some getting around!

While more than 400,000 Americans will die of cancer this year, research at the NIH is virtually non-existent.

Way back in May 1967, the Sloan-Kettering Memorial Hospital in New York made application to study heroin vs. morphine. Grant funding was not received until 10 years later, and funding was approved from July

Psalm 23

"Yea, though I walk through the valley of the shadow of death, I will fear no evil. For Thou art with me."

Thy rod and Thy staff, they comfort me. (Verse 4)

The shadow of death is a metaphor used by the Psalmist to denote times of trouble and crisis. His faith in God dispelled the fears that usually come in such times.

No other age has been as troubled as ours. The world does not seem to be capable of solving its problems, and as individuals, we seem to be impotent in controlling our lives. In addition, the possibility of nuclear war fills our hearts with fear and anxiety.

In the Psalmist's faith in God as the Power that controls the lives and destinies of individuals and of nations, we can find a measure of comfort in these troubled times. For inherent in this faith is the hope that He who created man has also given him the power to overcome crisis, and He who has brought the world into being, will not allow man to destroy it.

WASHINGTON (NEA) — When the House of Representatives votes this month on the annual bill appropriating operating funds for the Internal Revenue Service, it also will consider a totally unrelated dispute over federal income taxes.

That odd combination of issues represents only the most recent example of an unsound legislative practice that long has thrived in both the House and Senate.

The current case involves an effort by the Internal Revenue Service (IRS) to issue regulations requiring federal taxation of employee fringe benefits such as free parking on company lots, discounts for retail store workers and company-subsidized medical examinations for executives.

The issue has generated considerable controversy, and Congress could resolve its drafting legislation to either authorize or prohibit the IRS proposal.

But ever since the 1800s, federal lawmakers have been relying upon an oblique approach under which amendments that are only vaguely relevant are tacked onto appropriation bills.

Top priority items

To the editor:
I wish to comment with regard to the senior citizens much needed move to larger quarters and the need for a dental clinic, both of which are top priority items at the present time.

Has no one on the board come to the conclusion that by giving the seniors the Green School, that will leave their present quarters available for the dental clinic and that the renovation of that building would cost considerably less than the construction being planned at Bentley School? Not to mention that the little area already enjoyed by the students at Bentley would be further reduced by putting the dental clinic there.

In addition, has anyone been paying attention to the fact that we have employees walking up and down Main Street to clean out the planters? Is it really necessary to have one man walking ahead of the second man with the container so that he can "at taxpayers' expense" take a walk and get exercise. With the little bit he has to scoop out (and I watched him in front of my place of employment remove less than a handful of debris) I should think that the man with the container would be more than sufficient to do the job.

It is these very things that are wasting the taxpayers' dollar in this town and every other town in Connecticut, and unless we begin to police ourselves with regard to this unnecessary spending we can certainly look forward to needing Proposition 13 in Connecticut. Just because government funds are available does not mean that they should be wasted.

I am sick of hearing the phrase "we don't have to pay because we get federal dollars for the project." Who is kidding who — where do people think these federal dollars are coming from if not out of our own pockets?

Very truly yours,

Agrees with the state

To the editor:
I am ashamed and embarrassed for you and especially for the people involved (the Paquits) for allowing this to be printed.

I do not understand if the purpose of this article was to promote sympathy, pity or money — or all three from the general public. Let it be known that all I feel is an awful lot of disgust.

The article is very poorly written, is in very bad taste, and I am surprised at this whole thing. My immediate thought is: What is this reporter being paid, how much did this whole article (6-17-78), and following articles on same subject (6-27-78) cost and there is no way I believe the money spent was worth it.

Really, has it come to the point where this is what The Manchester Herald has to print — for lack of better and more promising news?

Please note, I am a 21-year-old, responsible and mature person. I believe that people have the right to fight for what they believe in, for what they feel is theirs, and that is why I support whole-heartedly the decisions of the state, etc. that is placing these children in adoption homes and not at the hands of their "parents."

During the debate on last year's appropriation bill for the Department of Labor and Health, Education and Welfare, Rep. Henry J. Hyde, R-Ill., convinced the House to accept a rider prohibiting the use of Medicaid funds to pay for abortions.

While a House-Senate conference committee wrangled over that provision for almost six months, the entire $61 billion annual budget for Labor and HEW was held hostage.

That episode inspired House leaders to announce they would re-examine the use of appropriations riders. But the reform effort was quickly abandoned after it became apparent that many legislators actually liked the current system.

"Perhaps," concedes an aide to Kemp, "it's a reflection on Congress' inability to get its act together."

He's right, and the time has come to abandon the back-door system of resolving complex, sensitive issues.

Revaluation phase-in will benefit new construction

By GREG PEARSON
Herald Reporter

A new law that permits the town of Manchester to phase-in the effects of its revaluation will benefit new construction that occurs between Oct. 1, 1978 and Oct. 1, 1979, according to figures from Michael Nimirovski, assistant tax assessor.

The law permits the town to phase-in the new assessments from its revaluation over a five-year period. In the past, the assessment would have gone into effect all at once this year.

Now, the town can phase-in the assessment, increasing it in 20 percent increments over five years until the full revalued assessment is reached.

When the law was introduced and adopted in Manchester, one of the unresolved questions was how new construction would be treated.

A decision on this and other minor technical questions has been completed by the town counsel's office, and Nimirovski is now applying it in the affected cases.

New construction will be phased-in using different formulas depending on when the work is completed, Nimirovski said.

For comparison purposes, he used a lot that had a $3,500 assessment that doubled to $7,000 after revaluation. A home assessed at $10,500 and built on that lot before revaluation might increase in assessment to $21,000 after revaluation, he said. This means that the entire lot — including the land and home — would have a post-revaluation assessment of $28,000.

Under the first year of the five-year phase-in plan, the lot would have a taxable assessment of $18,800 if the home was built before Oct. 1, 1978. This is calculated by taking the difference between the assessments before and after revaluation and adding 20 percent of the difference to the assessment before revaluation.

If the same house was built on the same lot and completed Oct. 1, 1977, the taxable assessment for the first year of the phase-in would be $8,400, Nimirovski said.

This would be obtained by taking the assessment of the land before revaluation ($3,500) and subtracting that figure from the full value of the lot after revaluation ($28,000 — $21,000 for the home and $7,000 for the land).

The difference — $24,500 — should then be divided by five to obtain the 20 percent phase-in figure. This is added to the lot's original assessment (3,500) to obtain the $8,400 figure.

The calculations for other completion dates includes prorating to take into account how much of the year the new building can be used. A building completed in January, for instance, would be assessed at a slightly higher rate than one completed in March.

Nimirovski also calculated the following taxable assessments for the first year of the phase-in. These figures also are based on the same lot and assessment increase — $3,500 to $7,000 — and the same home and assessment increase — $10,500 to $21,000.

• Home completed April 1, 1977 — $22,000.
• Home completed April 1, 1978 — $6,300.
• Home completed Oct. 1, 1978 — $25,300.

Thank you.

A May 1979 wedding is planned.

Zeppa-Tischhofer

Mrs. Joseph H. Zeppa

Karen Marie Tischhofer of Coventry and Joseph H. Zeppa of Manchester were married June 10 at St. Mary's Episcopal Church in Manchester.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Tischhofer of 660 Merrow Road, North Coventry. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. August Zeppa of 728 Birch Mountain Road.

The Rev. Stephen K. Jacobson of St. Mary's Episcopal Church officiated at the double-ring ceremony.

Janice Groves of Bolton was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Mrs. Dianne Kuzmickas of Manchester, the bridegroom's sister; Miss Dawn Steiner of Hebron, the bride's cousin; and Miss Sherri Zeppa of Bolton, the bridegroom's cousin.

John Roberto of Bolton served as best man. Ushers were Richard Kuzmickas of Manchester, the bridegroom's brother-in-law, Donald Lewis of Vernon and Dennis Bugnacki of Bolton.

About town

Mrs. Barbara Giggle, treasurer of the Bowers School PTA for the past three years, is serving on the invitation committee for the sixth graduation dinner-dance Friday. This information was not available in time to be included in the story of the event in Tuesday's Herald.

Cooper-Eagleson

Debra Joy Eagleson and Richard Nelson Cooper Jr., both of Vernon, were married June 3 at St. Bernard's Church in Vernon.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Eagleson of 17 Legion Drive, Vernon. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Cooper of Coconut Creek, Fla.

The Rev. John White of St. Bernard's Church celebrated the nuptial mass and performed the double-ring ceremony.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. Bridesmaids were Miss Kathleen Favorite of Rochester, N.Y., and Miss Wendy Crouse of Chagrin Falls, Ohio, the bride's cousins.

Drew Cooper of Tallahassee, Fla., was his brother's best man. Ushers were Jay Cooper and James Cooper, both of Coconut Creek, Fla., and brothers of the bridegroom.

A reception was held at Fiano's Restaurant in Bolton, after which the couple left for Cape Cod. They are residing in Vernon.

Mrs. Cooper is employed as a casualty underwriter at The Hartford Insurance Group. Mr. Cooper is employed by Mt. Vernon Enterprises in Vernon. (Loring photo)

Directors move forward in hiring housing aide

By GREG PEARSON

Herald Reporter
The Town of Manchester Tuesday night took another step toward meeting requirements for its Community Development funding, when the Board of Directors approved the job description for an equal opportunity coordinator.

The coordinator's position is the one approved last week by the board. The person will oversee the town's fair housing plan, which the directors also approved.

The plan is one of the main steps taken by the town to satisfy federal requirements for receiving its $483,000 Community Development block grant for 1978-79.

The board received the job description only Tuesday and was ready to take action on the matter until July. Town Manager Robert Weiss, however, recommended that the description be approved so that recruitment can begin immediately.

The directors took about five minutes to review the description and ask questions. They then voted 6-1 — Carl Zinsner cast the lone no vote and Directors Vivian Ferguson and William Diana were absent — to approve the description.

The board tabled action on an agreement between the town and the instructors of the Handicapped and the Board of Education for the construction and operation of a pool at the high school.

The directors accepted the resignation of Matthew Moriarty Jr. from the Charter Revision Commission and replaced him with Pascal Prignano. Moriarty resigned because he felt he might face a possible conflict when he appears before the town's Zoning Board of Appeals at a later date.

The board unanimously approved that the town file an application with the state Department of Community Affairs for a day care grant not to exceed $123,768.

Pat Schardt said that this grant would permit the town to provide a day care service at Robertson School for 46 more children.

The vote by the directors followed a discussion triggered by Frank Lupien of 21 Sunset St., who urged light controls on day care programs. Several members of the board responded that there is a need for such a service.

The board also voted to transfer money from the Community Agencies unallocated fund to the Manchester Public Health Nursing Association Inc. and the River East Home Health Aide Service Inc. Enough money will be transferred to cover the first one-fourth of the year.

The following volunteers have been accepted recently as counselors for this season's camp: Ken Allen, Tami Almeida, Andrea Brown, John Crowing, Susan Dauer, Kathy Komlos, Karla Magadini, John Phelps, Linda Weiss, and Joanne Weiss.

Any volunteer unable to attend the orientation meeting may pick up an application at the Recreation Department on Garden Grove Road. For any questions pertaining to Camp Kennedy, call Barry Bernstein, 646-5235, or Robert Weiss, 646-7476.

Camp orientation day for counselors will be held June 20 at 10 a.m. at the Camp Kennedy shelter on Dartmouth Road behind Martin School. The orientation will last about one hour and all volunteers should attend. There will be volunteer applications at the orientation meeting for any interested teenagers who have not signed up

PRODUCT LIABILITY AND THE PUBLIC INTEREST.

Who benefits and who pays?

In claiming to protect the public, some self-styled "consumer advocates" are costing all of us a great deal of money by fueling inflation's upward spiral.

In the last General Assembly, Connecticut legislators passed a comprehensive product liability reform bill by more than two to one in the House and almost two to one in the Senate. But it was vetoed. The margins of the votes indicate the seriousness of the problem. It is a national problem, and many states have already passed product liability reform laws that cut down unreasonable claims and windfall awards.

Who benefits?

The legislation would have done nothing to deny anyone with a justifiable case a day in court. It is rather an attempt to deal with this problem, which threatens small and medium sized firms and, therefore, the jobs of their employees.

Who pays?

The present system is unfair and it's costing you money, since companies must pass product liability related expenses along to you in the form of higher prices. As Governor Grasso said in her veto message last week, "We are all well aware of the heavy costs to industry for product liability insurance, the cost of which is ultimately borne by consumers."

We applaud the bipartisan support for Senate Bill 230. It would give reasonable protection to product users, reduce insurance costs and therefore reduce prices to consumers.

The General Assembly will reconsider the product liability reform legislation on June 19, the day of the "trailer session." We respectfully request that the General Assembly vote in the best interest of the consumer by overriding the veto.

SCHOOL HOLDS LAST EVENT

David Dixon, 3, appears sad he will not attend the Second North School when he grows up as he rests on his mother's shoulder Wednesday night during the last open house at the East Hartford school. His mother, Mrs. Linda Dixon of 45 Prospect St., said, "I fought to keep it open. I still believe it's one of the best schools in East Hartford." His brother Michael is completing kindergarten at the school which will not reopen in the fall. (Photo by Dick Paradis)

School holds last event

EAST HARTFORD — An open house in honor of the final closing of the Second North School, 1450 Main St., took place Wednesday at 7 p.m. The school, which consisted of kindergarten through Grade 3, will close June 22 after 72 years because of declining enrollment.

The event was sponsored by the Parent Teachers Organization (PTO) and featured a speech given by Dr. Eugene Diggs, superintendent of schools, about the history of the school. Students from past year along with more recent graduates attended. Several people had attended the school as far back as 1907.

Also present was Miss Geraldine Butters, head teacher of the school from 1957 until 1965 when Mrs. Margaret Blearns, head teacher now, took over the position. Miss Butters was a student at the school in 1922.

Grades 1 through 3 entertained the audience with song and dance programs. Mrs. Barbara Carmelo, a music coordinator at the school, was music coordinator for the program. She also played the autoharp for the audience.

Refreshments were served by the PTO. The open house was to end at 9 p.m. but many in the audience stayed another hour to reminisce.

There will be another ceremony to honor the school's closing across the street from the school at 1 p.m. June 22.

Parks ready for season

By ERIKA SCHIEDGE

Herald Intern

EAST HARTFORD — The major parks in town will be staffed this summer Monday through Friday from 10 a.m. to 8 p.m., Saturday from noon to 6 p.m. and Sunday from noon to 5 p.m., said Fred Biele, director of the Parks and Recreation Department.

The major parks are Martin, McAllister, Goodwin, Gorman and Hockanum. The schedule for them begins Saturday, June 24, and runs through Labor Day.

The outdoor pools will also open June 24. All the other playgrounds will be supervised Monday through Friday from 9:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. beginning Monday, June 26, and running through Aug. 30. They are Alumni Field, Center Park, Labor Field, Millbrook, Nicholson, Foran, Slye, Sunset Ridge, Shea and Woodland.

Each park will host special events on Friday afternoons. Arts and crafts will be offered daily. Instruction will be given on softball, basketball, volleyball and other games.

The baseball will be offered to boys and girls from 10 a.m. on Tuesdays and Thursdays at Gorman, Slye, Hockanum, Martin, McAllister, Foran, Shea, Labor, Goodwin and Alumni fields.

Tennis classes for youths will be given Mondays and Wednesdays from 10 a.m. to noon at Martin, Gorman, McAllister, Foran, Labor Field, Slye, and Hockanum.

High school and middle school basketball leagues will be held at the five major parks.

Weekly soccer instruction will be offered at most parks. A soccer tournament for boys and girls will be held in August at the new Nicholson Park soccer field.

Sign language will be taught at the Gorman Park Hale Music Shell daily from 1:30 to 2:15 p.m. Hearing impaired children will be integrated with non-hearing impaired children for what may be a fun learning experience.

The park department has printed a detailed brochure on the summer programs. They will be given out in the schools next week. They are also at the department office in the Town Hall.

EAST HARTFORD — Shapiro & Rosenthal, auditors of West Hartford, will do the audit of the finance department of the town's school system. Such audits are routine upon the resignation of a finance director.

PZC approves plans for apartment units

By CHRIS BLAKE

Herald Reporter

EAST HARTFORD — At almost 1 a.m. today, the Planning and Zoning Commission approved the plans of two Manchester developers to build a four-story, 96-unit apartment building for the elderly and the handicapped. The proposed site is land between 442 and 450 Main St.

The apartment building was one of 10 items the PZC acted on Wednesday night. The commission granted five and denied five items.

Robert Stone and Jack Goldberg, the developers, plan to build on a 5.5-acre tract owned by Eugene Casale of Glastonbury.

The commission placed several conditions on the plan. Two parking spaces will be removed from the northwest corner to provide rear access for emergency vehicles.

Also, the developers will be asked to consult with the Commission on the Handicapped before designing the building.

The developers will also be asked to provide some sort of protective barrier near a four-foot drop. The drop is near Willow Brook at the back of the building.

The developers will be required to construct a barrier rail at the southerly end of the lot to protect cars.

Attorney Francis C. Vignati, who represented the developers, said the building provides a need for East Hartford residents.

Vignati said the Housing Authority has a waiting list of 250 elderly persons. William Clark of Manchester, a design engineer, said the drainage system would be enclosed and part of the run-off will be channeled into the Willow Brook.

In other commission business, Robert Demissio's request for subdivision on four lots from 1172 to 1194 Burnside Ave. was denied without prejudice.

Also denied without prejudice was a request for subdivision from Allie Oliva. Oliva wanted subdivision for four lots at the rear of Cottage Street.

In both cases, the corporation counsel's office said the applicants should go before the Zoning Board of Appeals first because variances exist.

The PZC also approved subdivision of Casale's property at 438 and 442 Main St. Subdivision is required before the construction of the apartments for the elderly and the handicapped.

The PZC denied the special permit application of District Photo Inc. to allow for a photo kiosk to be built in the Silver Lane Plaza parking lot. Despite questions raised by PZC member Anthony Kayser, the commission rejected the plan.

"I think we're on pretty slim ground to deny it," Kayser said. "None of the objections you have just raised were presented during the public hearing on this."

In denying it, several members chairman, said the drawings were incomplete. They did not provide clear marked spaces or plans for paving

Manchester police report

Police served warrants on Donald J. Larrea, the 38-year-old escape artist, Wednesday on Common Pleas Court 12. Larrea, who previously had an 0118 Street address in Manchester, gave a Hartford address. He has been in custody at the Hartford Correctional Center in lieu of bond on several charges, including burglary charges in Glastonbury and East Hartford. Larrea was charged by Manchester Police with two counts of second-degree larceny, one count of third-degree larceny and third-degree burglary and criminal impersonation. The latter three charges are in connection with attempts to cash checks, police said. The charges all date back to incidents in 1977. His case was continued to Friday. Scott H. Phanauf, 17, of Broad Brook was charged with first-degree larceny and second-degree burglary in connection with a burglary last Friday at a McDevitt Drive home. He was released on a $1,000 monetary bond for court appearance June 26. David W. Isenberg, 17, of 32

Agencies decline to administer program on nutrition for mothers

Although the state will provide funds for staffing with a coordinator, nutritionist and a clerk, according to John Maltese, State Health Department coordinator, Lois Lewis, MPHNA executive director, said that the funds "don't cover administrative costs, advertising, or compiling reports." "There is no incentive to administer it, and we are definitely not interested in administering this program," Mrs. Lewis added. According to Mrs. Lewis, who had met with Dr. John Gallivan, East Hartford's health director, East Hartford isn't interested in the administration aspect either. "Let's make it a cooperative venture," Schardt said, "not a confrontation."

Dr. Edward Flanagan will talk about the importance of diet and the changes that take place in the body when you exercise.

Barry says ZBA right in hearing Janenda

Attorney David Barry, Manchester's zoning board chairman, has ruled that the Zoning Board of Appeals was correct in permitting attorney Joel Janenda to represent a client at its May 15 meeting. Janenda represented Manchester Transmission Co. of 161 W. Middle Turnpike at the May 15 meeting. The firm is seeking a special exception from the ZBA to expand its business with an addition to its structure and additional parking. Attorney Lawrence Rubinow, who represented about 80 residential neighbors opposed to the application, charged Janenda with a conflict of interest. The conflict developed because Janenda had represented the ZBA last November at a hearing before the Planning and Zoning Commission. Rubinow said the hearing before a board of appeals is not a hearing before the ZBA. Thus, he ruled on whether the ZBA members should have disqualified themselves from the hearing. "I find nothing that would indicate that the members of the ZBA should have disqualified themselves from hearing the application because of the fact that the applicant's counsel (Janenda) had previously represented the board on a single occasion in November, 1977," Barry ruled.

Bill Rodgers knocks amateur system

GREEN BAY, Wis. (UPI) - Bill Rodgers, winner of the 1978 Boston Marathon, said Wednesday America's amateur athletes shouldn't be forced to live in poverty. "I'm 30 years old now," Rodgers said in an interview, "and I live in an apartment. Three years ago I was living in poverty. I was even getting food stamps." Rodgers said he wasn't jealous that professionals in other sports earn millions of dollars in prize money, while top distance runners get only medals and ribbons because of their amateur status. "But it does upset me to some degree," he added. "Amateurs have always been exploited." The reason Rodgers and other top distance runners don't get money is the Amateur Athletic Union. The AAU takes two-thirds of any prize won by an amateur athlete, while the rest goes to a charity of the athlete's choice. Should there be a race like a $100,000 Boston Marathon with the money going to the winner? "There's nothing I'd like better to see," said Rodgers, here to run a 10 kilometer race. Rodgers, expected to represent the United States in the 1980 Moscow Olympics, said amateur athletes in the United States have been forced to find ways to get around the money ban. For example, Rodgers has set up a store selling running equipment. Other runners, like England's Ron Hill and U.S. Olympian Frank Shorter, have done the same thing to provide themselves with some income. He said some others become "consultants" to athletic shoe companies. There are also some under the table activities, Rodgers said. He said AAU rules permit race sponsors to provide only actual expense money, but expense accounts are sometimes inflated to benefit the runners. "It's nothing that's a shock to the AAU," he said. "They're all aware of it." Rodgers said he didn't think high jumper Dwight Stones, winner of two Olympic bronze medals, would succeed in his effort to keep the $33,600 he won on a national television competition (ABC's Superstars).

Going great guns

Break up the Sox! If you're a Midwesterner you might think the topic is the Chicago White Sox but around New England everyone knows the conversation deals with the Boston Red Sox. After 60 games the Sox are six lengths to the good in front of defending American League and World Series champ New York Yankees. The latter has the same record it had a year ago, but instead of setting the pace, trails.

Bits and pieces

Tom Penders, younger brother of East Catholic basketball and baseball Coach Jim Penders, got a late jump in recruiting after being named basketball coach at Fordham University. Nevertheless, he did land a big one, albeit he had to go a little farther to get him. Penders' prize catch is seven-foot Dud Tongal from the Sudan who will be a 20-year-old freshman. Tongal is a member of that African country's national team and according to Jim Penders comes highly recommended. Manchester High boys and girls country squads will have an overnight trip in the fall. They'll take part in a "Sister Meet" - being the only out-of-state team invited to participate in the Manchester, N.H., Invitational, which brings together all the top New Hampshire schools. Coach George Suter reports the top seven from each squad will make the trip from Manchester to Manchester. Last Sunday, members of Manchester and Penny High of East Hartford boys and girls country teams and a few from East Catholic took part in a 12-hour marathon at Pete Wigren Track. They had taken a long drive to the track and were ready to help defray expenses of a camp held at the Kent School in Vermont.

Fourth contender in AL

Brewers enjoying big winning skein. NEW YORK (UPI) - There's a fourth contender in the American League East these days. Keeping pace with the East's "big three" - the Boston Red Sox, the New York Yankees and the Baltimore Orioles - are the Milwaukee Brewers, who are off to their best start in history. With eight straight victories, 11 of their last 12 and a 33-26 win-loss record. "Before the season began, my thinking was this club could play 500 possibly better," said rookie Milwaukee Manager, George Bamberger Wednesday night, after the Brewers completed a 7-5, 5-0 double-header sweep of the Toronto Blue Jays. "Nobody said we'd win the pennant. If we were in the other division we would win the pennant, but the three best clubs in baseball happen to be in the same division - ours and I'd be foolish to say we're better than the Orioles, Red Sox or Yankees." Paul Molitor, the early favorite for Rookie of the Year honors, was 4-for-8 in the double-header sweep, raising his average to .327, fourth best in the American League. His RBI-double snapped a 4-4 tie in the opener during a three-run ninth inning. Gorman Thomas, meanwhile, stroked a two-run homer in the opener, giving him 14 for the season which tied him for fourth among the AL leaders. Jim Wolfhard, fourth, doubled, scored twice and had two RBI in the nightcap. Elsewhere in the American League, the Red Sox dusted Oakland, 9-0; New York outbatted Seattle, 11-9, in 10 innings; Baltimore won, 5-2, over California; Kansas City downed Detroit, 7-1; Chicago put away Texas, 4-1, and Minnesota routed Cleveland, 8-2. Orioles, 5, Angles, 2. Carlos Lapez singled across two runs and Billy Smith slammed his third homer as Baltimore beat third baseman Jim Palmer's best.

Dramatic suddenness marks Yankees' win

NEW YORK (UPI) - In a game with more twists and turns than an Alired Hitchcock thriller, it was seldom-used Paul Blair who resolved the tension with dramatic suddenness. Blair, with only 58 at-bats entering the game, hit a "hanging screwball" off reliever Enrique Romo into the left field stands with two out and two on in the bottom of the 10th inning Wednesday night, lifting the New York Yankees to an inspiring 11-9 victory over the gummy Seattle Mariners. With the Yankees facing the depressing prospect of falling seven games behind first-place Boston in the American League East, Blair proved that New York "needs all 25 players to contribute" in order to repeat as world champions. "We're playing together and if we do come up short, every player will be able to hold his head high, knowing he did his best," said Blair, whose second homer of the season gave the Yankees their third straight victory and handed the Mariners their seventh consecutive setback. With one out in the bottom of the 10th, Reggie Jackson walked off loser John Montague, 0-2. Pinch-hitter Jim Spencer singled and one out later, Roy White's RBI single made it 9-8 before Blair lofted Romo's 9-1 delivery just over the outstretched glove of leaping left fielder Bob Stinson after a 1-1 count in the top of the 10th. Trevino tabbed in U.S. Open golf DENVER (UPI) — Golf's annual pressure cooker — the U.S. Open — commences today in the thin air and unseasonable heat of the Rocky Mountain foothills.

It is a tournament in which 153 golfers will start, the low 80 and ties will survive after two rounds and only a select few will actually expect to win.

And as time approached for James Chaney of Lynn Haven, Fla., to step to the No. 1 tee of the Cherry Hills Country Club and hit the first ball of the 78th Open, more and more of the people who actually feel they can win are saying the man they might have to contend with the most is the wisecracking Mexican-American with the funny swing.

OUT Trailing 3-1, Crispino's struck for four runs in the fourth inning and turned back Colchester last night in Colchester.

Matt Petersen hurled a four-hitter with Matt Glushak's two-run homer the big blow. Mickey Coulombe and Mike Falkowski added doubles to the local cause.

Hebron stopped Manchester last night, 6-2, at Neko. Tom Gardner drove in two runs for the winners.

ALMA MATER Mari Mads stopped Moriarty Fuel last night at the oval, 10-3. Jim Florence collected two doubles and Paul Peck had a double and homer for the winners. Tim Callahan streaked two singles for the Oilex. The homer was Peck's third of the season.

ALMA MATER Five runs in the second inning, powered by six bases on balls, led Moriarty Bros. to a 9-8 win over Nassiff Arms last night at Cheney Tech. Billy Hill fanned eight and walked seven in going the distance for the win. Mike Savadakis had two hits for Moriarty's Scott Carone had

Bibby arrested

LAWRENCEVILLE, N.J. (UPI) — Henry Bibby, a guard with the Philadelphia 76ers, faces a court hearing July 24 on charges of driving his Rolls-Royce without a license and speeding at 79 mph.

Bibby, 28, was arrested by the state police on Interstate 295 Tuesday night while traveling between Philadelphia and his home in Cliffside Park, N.J.

MB's nip Capitols

Scoring single runs in the second and third innings, Moriarty's broke into the winning column for the first time last night as Jeff Grunwald tossed a four-hitter in whipping the Capitols, 2-0.

Gene Johnson's sacrifice fly produced the first run and the second was tallied by Johnson's son, Mike, who singled and came around on hits by Rich Riordan and Skip Chapuis.

Dave Bidwell came on to retire the final Cap batter.

Mike Johnson had two of the five MB hits.

North Stars, Barons merge

MONTREAL (UPI) — The National Hockey League amateur draft dropped to second priority today with the announcement that the Minnesota North Stars and Cleveland Barons had merged, opening up most of the players on the two teams to a special draft for the league's weakest clubs.

After Washington and St. Louis chose one player, Minnesota added one more player to its protected list. The North Stars then were allowed to protect another player after selections by Vancouver and Pittsburgh. Players left after Colorado's pick were deemed Minnesota property.

The Cleveland-Minnesota merger came Wednesday after earlier assurances from National Hockey League President John Ziegler the league would open the same 18 teams next season. The Barons had pleaded poverty with losses of more than $2 million last season.

JUNIOR LEAGUE Pushing across a run in the bottom of the eighth inning, Society for Savings nipped Manchester Junior League, 5-4, in JC-Courant League Senior Division play last night in Hartford. The loss was the second in as many outings.

Society went ahead in the second inning but Manchester tied it in the third on Dave Modan's solo homer. Manchester grabbed the lead in the seventh as Dave Parks doubled and scored on Joe Demco's single. Mike Daily was hit by a pitch and both runners came across on a triple by Modan.

But Society knotted it in the bottom of the seventh and won it on its next at bats.

Modan homered and tripled through three RBI. Parks and Bill Heathrich each had two hits for Manchester. Eric Gauruder hurled a strong game in a valiant effort. He gave up nine hits, whiffed nine and issued only three walks.

East Hartford Legion triumphs

Five runs in the first inning powered East Hartford Legion to a 7-1 Zone Eight baseball win over Ellington last night in Ellington.

The win evned the Post No. 77 entry's record at 1-1 while it was the season opener for Ellington.

Left-hander Craig Steuermann hurled a two-hitter, striking out 10, and aided his own cause with two hits. Steuermann and Phil Shiner each had key two-RBI singles in the first stanza for East Hartford.

Baugh was master with bullet passes

ABILENE, Texas (UPI) — Sammy Baugh never touched a football in 12 years but figures he has thrown enough to them to last him a lifetime.

Slingin' Sammy Baugh, they called him, and every time his name was mentioned it was instantly associated with only one thing — the bullet pass. Nobody in the world could whip that football like Slingin' Sam.

Baugh's first coach in the professional ranks was Ray Flaherty. He was handling the Washington Redskins and on the very first day he saw his prize prospect fresh from Texas Christian at practice in 1937, he decided to find out about him.

Season as expected but disappointment

By LEN AUSTER
Herald Sportswriter

The 1978 Manchester High boys' track season went just about as expected — and because it did the year was a disappointment.

"It was disappointing in that we didn't rise to the occasion against Hall and East Hartford," reflected Indians Coach Dick Williams, recalling the two CCL schools which beat his squad. "We thought we had the talent to be league champs but, you can't cry over spilled milk."

The Silk Towners wound up with an 8-5 record (including a forfeit win), 7-2 in the CCL, which garnered third place in the standings.

Three school records were cracked in the recently ended year. Karl Golink broke the mark in the discus with a toss of 137 feet, 7 inches; Bill Moran turned in a 1:46 clocking in the 120-yard high hurdles; and Ed Lemieux was clocked in 9:45.2 in the two-mile run.

Graduation will deplete the ranks somewhat with such standouts as Ulysses Orduz, Wes Fedorchak, Golink, Jeff Howard, Moran, Tim Wrobel, Andy Darna and Carl Kjellson departing. Orduz and Howard were top entrants in the every dual meet, preferably a sprinter. He uses Hartford Public High's performance in the State Open Meet, where four sprinters scored 49 points, to illustrate his point.

But for that matter, so wouldn't every other coach in the state.

GHO RETURN WETHERSFIELD (UPI) — Former Greater Hartford Open golf champions Bob Murphy and Dave Stockton will return to the Wetherfield Country Club to compete in this year's tournament to be held July 26-30.

Both Murphy and Stockton have donated part of their past GHO winnings to the Greater Hartford Jaycee Foundation to support special Jaycee projects involving retarded children. Stockton, winner of the 1974 GHO, is on the threshold of becoming professional golfer's next millionaire with winnings of more than $200,000. Murphy, who won the 1970 GHO, recently tied for second at the Atlanta Classic.

Hockey greets MONTREAL (UPI) — Jacques Plante, Marcel Pronovost and Andy Bathgate have been named to the hockey hall of fame, selection committee Chairman Frank J. Selke announced Tuesday.

Gardening

By Frank Atwood

Mrs. Mullaney waited nine years for her plant to blossom after it had been given to her as a rooted cutting from a neighbor's plant. Last year it had one blossom. This year it has had four.

The plant looks like a Christmas cactus, with notched leaves, long and narrow, and some of them three-sided. After studying a book on house plants, Mrs. Mullaney has decided that it is a phyllocactus. She found a picture in color in the book which she is sure is her plant with its large and brilliant red blossoms.

In our picture one bloom is fully open, one has started to fade and one bud is beginning to open. When new leaves grow, says Mrs. Mullaney, they are extremely narrow, "like shoestrings." They become wider as they grow older.

The house plant manual said that cactus and succulents are general terms for plants that grow typically in hot, dry desert areas. Those with spines "may be referred to as cacti" while those without spines may be called succulents. This plant has no spines.

A long wait for the first blossom seems to be a family characteristic. The plant from which her neighbor took the cutting and rooted it to be given away took 10 years to produce its first blossom. This is fine for plants exchanged by friends and neighbors. It would not appeal to a commercial grower who was producing plants for sale.

Mrs. Mullaney's home at 32 Thomas St. is in an area with many large trees, including some tremendously large and old white oaks. The trees make the yard so shady that her only available space for outdoor gardening is close to the house. She has set some tomato plants among the shrubs and evergreens in the foundation planting.

Her phyllocactus will go upstairs for the winter to an unused room where there is good light but the temperature may sometimes be as low as 45 degrees. A Christmas cactus which is 40 years old spends the winter in the same room. The buds reliably about Nov. 1. She keeps geraniums year after year by growing them outdoors in the summer and in the same cool upstairs room in the winter.

The large trees provide abundant leaves in the fall as well as shade. Mrs. Mullaney had 130 bags of leaves for the trash collector last fall and another 50 to 75 bags this spring.

East Central Show
The East Central Council of Garden Clubs is planning a flower show on Saturday, Sept. 16, at the Sacred Heart Church hall in Vernon, on Route 30. A schedule has been prepared and is being distributed to the member clubs.

There are five of these: Manchester Garden Club, Coventry Garden Club, East Hartford Garden Club, the Down to Earth Garden Club of South Windsor and a Vernon club with the unusual name of Thyme, Impatiens and Yew.

Joan Lohbecky of South Windsor is show chairman and also is chairman of the council.

Women of the Sacred Heart Church will serve lunch to start the program and the show will be open to the public from 1 to 7 p.m.

There will be classes in artistic design and horticulture and the committee expects to have a number of educational exhibits that will not be in competition. One of these is a fern display. One will demonstrate the work of the garden clubs in hospital therapy. There probably will be others.

Cheney Museum Garden
The Cheney Museum Garden, for the second year, has planted a garden of annual flowers at the Cheney Homestead in Manchester. The garden is south of the Cheney home, now a museum, and close to the driveway as visitors approach the building.

The club's planting in the center strip of East Central Street near the Post Office is being maintained this year at minimum expenditure of money and labor because of the possibility that the highway at this point may be widened and the area available for ornamental plants may then be changed.

Most of the garden area is filled with low-growing juniper and the only addition this year is a edging of hostas. The club gives credit to Walter Fredrickson, whose wife is in charge of public relations for the club, for doing the necessary spring clean-up work at the garden.

Mary B. Mullaney took her phyllocactus out in the sun to have its picture taken. Ordinarily it stays in the house. The blossom is bright red. (Herald photo by Pinto)

Sea festival Saturday

MYSTIC - Mystic MarineLife Aquarium is celebrating the beginning of summer with the fifth annual Festival of the Sea on Saturday from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Plans call for a full day of music and dramatic happenings, clowning and crafts, exhibits and contests, races and refreshments.

Each year one of Mystic MarineLife Aquarium's inhabitants is chosen to be the honored animal during this celebration of life in the ocean. This year's festival will salute the octopus.

The fastest of the slowest will be determined during the Great Turtle and Tortoise Race. Turtle fanciers of all ages are invited to bring their entries; the Aquarium will provide ringside accommodations. The Plum Cake Players of Hartford have been scheduled for two performances in the Aquarium's Marine Theatre. Charles Senack the mime clown will appear, and demonstrations by the aquarium's performing whales, dolphins, and sea lions are scheduled throughout the day.

Exhibits and crafts will be displayed on the festival tent on the aquarium grounds. Most outside events are free.

The card stops here

As any ad for American Express can tell you, a bit of embossed plastic keeps you from being just another face in the crowd. George Gallup Jr. knows that, as he's told millions of TV watchers.

He found out for sure Tuesday night at a Chicago hotel when he reached for his American Express card—and found it had expired, and he had only $26 in cash, not enough for the tab.

And not only did the hotel clerk not recognize his face, she also failed to recognize his name or the Gallup Poll. So Gallup spent the night on an airport bench—"It was either that or start begging," he says.

Hollywood Alice
Rock star Alice Cooper is giving up an "o" for a while—along with at least $27,000—on behalf of the Hollywood Sign, the crumbling landmark on a slope over Hollywood.

Cooper, who contributed half the $54,000 raised to date to save the sign, told a news conference in Los Angeles Wednesday that to demonstrate how worried he is about the sign—which lost an "o" and other letters to stormy weather this year—he is temporarily giving up an "o" from his name.

With that, he ripped an "o" off his "Alice Cooper" T-shirt and became Alice Cooper.

Poor timing
The mayor had proclaimed this "Nancy Wilson Week" in Los Angeles. He was wrong: This wasn't her week.

As she was driving a van from the airport Tuesday, after returning from New York for the events celebrating her 25th year in show business, she collided with a city road grader, suffering a head cut that required stitches, bruises around her eyes and a head injury.

Miss Wilson, 41, was undergoing tests at San Pedro and Peninsula Hospital. "She's in good condition now," said John Levy, her personal manager. "She's improving steadily."

Quote of the day
Wilson Clark, energy adviser to California Gov. Jerry Brown, said in a speech at a conference on sexual assault Wednesday, Mrs. Grasso said she has asked State Comptroller J. Edward Caldwell to allow Connecticut officials to travel at state expense to those states only when it is essential to the welfare of Connecticut.

"It is my belief that the support of the people of our state for ERA should be re-emphasized," Mrs. Grasso said.

The Connecticut Legislature ratified the federal ERA in 1973. A year later, Connecticut voters approved a women's rights amendment to the state constitution. Fifteen states have not approved the federal ERA.

But the ERA must still be ratified by legislatures in three more states before it will become a part of the U.S. Constitution. If ratification of the amendment does not come by next March, the pro-ERA campaign is lost.

Who's the senator?

Former U.S. Sen. John O. Pastore retired from the Senate in 1976. But his name still is listed in the Yellow Pages as a member of the Rhode Island congressional delegation.

The New England Telephone Co. apologized for the mistake Wednesday and said Pastore's name will be eliminated as soon as possible. Next year.

Glimpse
Former heavyweight boxing champion Muhammad Ali, on a 10-day tour of the Soviet Union with his wife Veronica, went a few friendly rounds with Russian pugilist Igor Vysotsky in Moscow Wednesday. Spain's King Juan Carlos and Queen Sophia got a golden key to the city from Tehran Mayor Javad Shahrastani Wednesday during the royal couple's 24-hour visit to Iran.

No adult will be admitted unless accompanied by a child.

Judge puts off decision in Killian-Grasso lawsuit

NEW BRITAIN (UPI)—A Superior Court Judge has put off rendering a decision on a lawsuit by Lt. Gov. Robert Killian charging dirty tricks by Gov. Ella T. Grasso in last month's New Britain Democratic primary.

Judge Robert Wall Wednesday heard arguments from both sides and then recessed the day's hearing without setting a date for when he would hand down a decision. Early in the day, Wall rejected an attempt by Mrs. Grasso's attorney, James Wade, to dismiss the civil suit on grounds the court did not have jurisdiction.

Wade had submitted the two motions in an attempt to prevent the case from being heard. Following the lunch recess, Wade submitted another dismissal motion. Killian's attorney, George Brodigan, asked that he be given until Friday to respond to Wade's latest motion but Wall refused, saying the claims for dismissal were familiar to Brodigan.

Killian said he was disappointed the real issues of the case had been buried in legal maneuverings, but said, "I feel good" about Wednesday's proceedings. He indicated that the dismissal of Wade's preliminary motions was a temporary victory.

Killian asked for an injunction and damages, claiming the May 2 primary was won by Mrs. Grasso because of dirty tricks.

He said his loss to Mrs. Grasso, who captured 44 delegates to the Democratic convention July 21-22, was due to illegal campaign advertising that showed popular New Britain attorney Edward Januszewski as a running mate of Mrs. Grasso when actually he was not on the ballot.

Killian asked the court to forbid Mrs. Grasso from ever again using similar tactics.

Wade said the 44 delegates chosen in the primary should have been legally notified of the suit in order to defend their elected positions. He said even the opposition state contained members who did not wish to be a party to the lawsuit.

Killian filed the suit after failing to convince the state Election Commission, the probate court administrators and Chief State's Attorney Joseph Gormley that Mrs. Grasso broke election laws by linking her name with Januszewski on campaign literature.

Januszewski wants to be a probate court judge, but he was not on the ballot in the May 2 primary.

Members are reminded club dues are now payable to Mr. and Mrs. Don Dickie, club treasurers.

Ella to boycott non-ERA states
NEW HAVEN (UPI)—Gov. Ella T. Grasso doesn't want Connecticut taxpayers to finance government workers' trips to states that have not ratified the Equal Rights Amendment.

Report disputes cave-in cause
HARTFORD (UPI)—The head of the city department that inspected and approved the space frame roof over the Hartford Civic Center coliseum says the roof cave-in Jan. 18 was caused by freezing, not design flaws.

Charles McSheffery, head of the Department of Licenses and Inspections, said about one week before the collapse, the roof drains must have become clogged by frozen slush, causing an uneven distribution of snow and water weight.

The report he submitted to a City Council committee investigating the cave-in directly contradicts the findings of two engineering teams who have blamed the collapse on design flaws.

NEW HAVEN (UPI)—Connecticut Limousine Service Inc., which carries commuters to and from New York airports, was back in operation today after reaching agreement with its striking drivers.

Union members, who staged a 16-day walkout, voted 150-62 Wednesday to ratify a new three-year contract. The package gives over 300 Tennessers a 50-cent per hour raise the first year and a 40-cent raise each of the next two years. Under the old contract, the drivers were paid $5.35 to $6.35 per hour.

Violence precedes Carter's visit to Panama

PANAMA CITY, Panama (UPI) — At least one student died in clashes between Panamanian and United States supporters of the Panama Canal treaties two days before President Carter's visit to exchange documents on the treaty.

Shots rang out through the night on the University of Panama campus and the school's rector, Eligio Salas, closed the school indefinitely.

The National Guard, which did not intervene because the campus is off limits to police, said one student was killed. Unofficial reports put the death toll at three with seven wounded.

The violence broke out at the law faculty, long the hotbed of opposition to Panamanian leader Gen. Omar Torrijos and the treaties, under which Washington will surrender control on the 51-mile waterway to Panama by the year 2000.

Narrow vote of confidence

LONDON (UPI) — Britain's minority Labor government has won a narrow vote of confidence to avert an immediate general election.

Prime Minister James Callaghan asked a five-vote majority — 287-282 — over the Conservative Party opposition Wednesday night after an 11th-hour appeal and help from the Liberal Party.

"If the House cannot give a majority, I shall have to go to the country," Callaghan told Parliament shortly before the vote. "I ask the House to vote tonight in the full knowledge of what that would mean."

The voting was on a Conservative motion denouncing the government's latest economic austerity measures.

Belgian premier to resign

BRUSSELS, Belgium (UPI) — Premier Leo Tindemans will resign today because of his failure to negotiate an emergency economic program during all-night talks with the nation's major political parties.

Tindemans, his Cabinet and major political parties debated through the night on a proposed austerity plan to give the government emergency powers to deal with Belgium's economic crisis.

Sources said there was a complete lack of agreement between the major government partners, Tindemans' Social Christian Party and the Socialists, on the special budget powers the premier wanted to combat a $3 billion budget deficit.

Locusts ravaging crops

Herds of voracious locusts are ravaging crops from East Africa to India, raising the specter of mass starvation in underdeveloped and already undernourished countries.

Agriculture officials in the stricken nations have pleaded for immediate international aid to wipe out the destructive insects before they spread to up to 50 other nations from Morocco to the Himalayas.

The Desert Locust Control Organization for Eastern Africa, where the swarms have caused the worst damage so far, called a meeting in Rome next week to solicit and coordinate international aid.

"If we don't control the locusts today, we may have to feed hundreds of thousands of people in the Horn of Africa tomorrow," said John Malesca, chairman of the organization.

South Africa stops paper

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (UPI) — The government has declared the weekly black newspaper, The Voice, "undesirable" and stopped its publication, the paper's manager said today.

Dennis Beckett, manager of The Voice said he had been advised a notice would be published in the government Gazette Friday declaring the latest edition and "all subsequent editions undesirable."

On Oct. 19 last year the government closed down another black newspaper, the daily paper "The World" and its sister publication "Weekend World."

PLO leader found dead

KUWAIT (UPI) — The head of the Palestine Liberation Organization office in Kuwait was found shot to death at the door of his house in suburban As Salimiya today, an official in the Kuwaiti interior ministry said.

Ah Yassin, 45, married with four children and one of PLO leader Yasser Arafat's close friends, had been ambushed and killed inside the house, Palestinian sources in Kuwait said.

House denies pay hike for itself and others

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The aftermath of the political earthquake in California known as Proposition 13 has hit Capitol Hill.

The House, in a long session that ended early this morning, overwhelmingly approved a legislative appropriations bill that freezes salaries for congressmen, judges and every other federal official making more than $47,500 annually.

The action would affect about 16,000 officials who had hoped for a cost-of-living increase in October.

The $1.1 billion bill, sent to the Senate on a 279-90 vote, also cuts congressional expense allowances 5 percent.

"If we really want to be responsive to the taxpayer rebellion as expressed in Proposition 13, we have to look no further than the halls of Congress," said Rep. Silvio Conte, R-Mass., who sponsored the amendment to slice the expense accounts.

In a surprise addition to the bill, the House decided that its own employees — and not those from the networks — will determine where to point the cameras when House proceedings are opened to television coverage for the first time, possibly early next year.

In the Senate, backers of the controversial labor law revision bill are trying to regroup after a stinging setback in their attempts to end a 17-day-old filibuster on the measure.

Carter says we relish Cubans leaving Africa

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Carter says the United States would relish Cuban withdrawal from Africa but has no plans for any retaliatory action and has ruled out armed involvement on the continent.

Responding to a question, he also said he did not think it was appropriate to meet with Castro, as the Cuban leader had proposed.

In emotional interviews granted U.S. congressmen and American reporters over the past few days, the Cuban leader has flatly denied the administration's allegations and said Carter's information is based on "total lies" allegedly fabricated by the office of national security adviser Zbigniew Brzezinski.

In other areas, Carter said California's decision to slash property taxes drastically reflects local reaction to unusually high tax rates and does not herald a nationwide tax revolt.

He said he thinks the impact of Proposition 13 on federal spending may be felt down the road when there could be any possibility of pay compensation starts increasing, but warned against anticipating U.S. assistance and added, "I don't think there could be any possibility of passing a social (relief) law just for California."

Carter scheduled yet another meeting today with members of Congress to continue lobbying for repeal of the embargo on arms aid to Turkey. He said he considered it "most immediate and urgent foreign policy decision facing this Congress."

Brown asks for help

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (UPI) — California Gov. Edmund G. Brown Jr. has asked 257,000 state civil servants to sacrifice pay hikes and help avert Proposition 13-forced layoffs of firefighters, police, teachers and health workers.

"The money saved by a one-year salary freeze will make it possible for us to minimize layoffs," Brown said Wednesday. "The sacrifice must be shared at the state level."

But state workers reacted angrily and vowed to fight Brown's proposal — a part of his latest plan to cut the state budget. His proposed cuts now total $70 million.

"We will not sit back and let it happen without a fight," declared William Craib, president of the 35,000-member California State Employees' Association.

In proposing the budget cutbacks, Brown is attempting to find state funds to help local governments meet a $7 billion reduction in property tax revenues that will result from the landmark state initiative passed by California voters last week.

Eligible for parole

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Watergate figure H.R. Haldeman, becomes eligible for parole next Tuesday when he finishes the first year of his sentence at the Federal Prison Camp in Lompoc, Calif., but the U.S. Parole Commission has decided it will not grant it until Dec. 20.

Sources said the commission rejected Haldeman's bid for almost immediate parole Wednesday mainly because it wants to impose comparable punishment on all top Nixon White House conspirators involved in the Watergate cover-up.

John Ehrlichman served 1 1/2 years in prison and the commission set the December date so that Haldeman will serve 1 1/2 years also.

New England today

Bay State eyes tax limit

BOSTON (UPI) — The Massachusetts House has voted without opposition to admit a California-style limit on local property taxes to 2 1/2 percent of fair market value, a savings to taxpayers of about $1.5 billion.

The bill was admitted in the House Wednesday on a voice vote and sent to the Senate, where action was postponed until Monday when a roll call will be held.

The major aspects of the bill would limit property taxes to 2 1/2 percent of fair market value, require the state to fully fund educational aid programs, limit the authority of the Legislature to impose costs on communities for new programs.

The bill was announced last week following overwhelming approval in California of the Proposition 13 referendum, which limits property taxes to 1 percent of fair market value.

In Massachusetts, average property taxes amount to about 4.7 percent of fair market value.

Ailments traced to water

BENNINGTON, Vt. (UPI) — The state Health Department says residents in this southwestern Vermont town may have to boil their drinking water for the next two years before the town water is safe again.

About 2,000 of the town's 15,000 residents have come down with cramps, fever and diarrhea in the past two weeks. Health officials said they had traced the problem to the town water supply and ordered residents to boil their water. A spokesman said the order could remain in effect until a new treatment plant is built, which could take until 1980.

Strike ending at Seabrook

CONCORD, N.H. (UPI) — Teamsters union truck drivers, whose walkout threatened to halt construction of the $2.3 billion Seabrook nuclear power plant, have reached a tentative agreement to end their 10-day walkout.

The strike forced the layoff of about 1,000 of the 1,500 construction workers at the plant.

In other Seabrook developments, the man who has said he would use everything in the police arsenal to deal with anti-nuclear demonstrators, now says he agrees with their stand on nuclear power.

Rockingham County Attorney Charlton Eldredge said Wednesday he would like to address members of the Clamsshell Alliance during its planned occupation of the Seabrook plant June 24.

State officials met Wednesday to discuss the Clamsshell's offer to accept land made available by the PSC for a demonstration, with certain conditions.

Bonin finishes testimony

BOSTON (UPI) — Suspended Massachusetts Superior Court Chief Justice Robert M. Bonin has finished testimony in his judicial misconduct trial after more than four hours on the witness stand and a series of verbal fencing matches with special prosecutor Robert Mervese.

Lawyers in the case are scheduled to deliver their closing statements Tuesday in Bonin's trial before the state Supreme Court.

Much of Bonin's testimony contradicted statements by earlier witnesses, including his administrative assistant, Francis X. Orlanello, and Attorney General Francis X. Bellotti.

Bonin is charged with nine charges of judicial misconduct, all lodged against him by the high court's Committee on Judicial Responsibility.

Damage lawsuit dismissed

PROVIDENCE, R.I. (UPI) — U.S. District Judge Francis J. Boyle has dismissed a $4.5 million lawsuit that alleged on-the-job microwave radiation caused the cancer that killed a 31-year-old Quonset Point worker.

Boyle Wednesday dismissed the suit on the basis of time, not the question of whether Donald Cadieux died from exposure to microwaves work.

The lawsuit was filed by his widow, Louise P. Cadieux of Pawtucket, two years and eight months after he died. Boyle ruled that the law requires such suits must be brought within two years of the death.

Cadieux died of cancer of the pancreas. His widow asserted that her husband's cancer resulted from his employment from 1985 to 1974 at the former Quonset Point Naval Air Rework Facility.

Dumping at sea charged

BOSTON (UPI) — Federal agents have seized a 300-foot Italian freighter and charged its crew with dumping 700 tons of lumber into the ocean off Cape Cod.
