Summary

TURIN, Italy (UPI)—A court sentenced 29 Red Brigades terrorists to a total of 210 years in prison Friday at the end of modern Italy's longest trial which the gang tried to stop with the kidnap-murder of ex-Premier Aldo Moro. A total of 11 men—policemen, lawyers, security police and a prison guard—have been killed over the trial.

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Consumers could save hundreds of millions of dollars a year if state laws encouraging the use of non-brand-name prescription drugs were effective, the chairman of the Federal Trade Commission says.

ST. JOHN'S, Newfoundland (UPI)—A twin-engine private plane crashed in the fog Friday shortly after takeoff, killing all 10 persons aboard.

FORT WORTH, Texas (UPI)—Two men reported to be carrying a carbine in their jeep were arrested outside the convention center where President Carter spoke Friday.

TLJUANA, Mexico (UPI)—The reformist warden of the Mexican State Prison, his assistant, three guards and two inmates were killed Friday in rioting and shooting at the facility which began as a protest over newly instituted prison reforms.

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The House voted 204-89 Friday to prohibit Amtrak from dropping any passenger trains before Oct. 1, 1979, and to authorize $768.25 million for the corporation over the next fiscal year.

HARTFORD (UPI)—The case against Superior Court Judge Samuel Tedesco who was convicted of a felony in 1976 was dismissed Friday in Bridgeport Superior Court by Judge Thomas J. O'Sullivan who originally disbarred him.

NEW BEDFORD, Mass (UPI)—Two men whom Connecticut police want to question about a $1.6 million gold and silver hijacking, Friday had their bail reduced in connection with a similar truck hijacking in Massachusetts.

ST. LOUIS, (UPI)—FBI Director William H. Webster Friday promised his agency will recruit more minority members and women as agents.

WASHINGTON (UPI)—U. S. District Judge Gerhard Gesell has denied a Freedom of Information request for John F. Kennedy assassination documents on grounds that disclosure would reveal the identities of confidential informants. But Gesell also ordered the Secret Service, target of the FOI request, to conduct "an additional, thorough search" for 156 Kennedy documents it says are missing.

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Supreme Court, ruling in a New Jersey case, decreed Friday that no state may try to isolate itself from a growing nationwide problem—shortage of landfill space to dump solid waste.

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The National Collection of Fine Arts says it will search executive offices this summer looking for 257 art works loaned to presidents and their appointees which it has been unable to find in a year-long inventory.

BOSTON (UPI)—A published report Friday said Sen. Edward W. Brooke, R-Mass., has offered to sell his most valuable property and give his wife all the proceeds to end their bitter divorce proceedings; the house is on St. Martin Island in the French West Indies, valued at near $450,000.

CRANSTON, R.I. (UPI)—A search for rocks and other items that could be thrown at guards confined 90 Rhode Island prison inmates to their cells Friday, a spokeswoman said.

GORHAM, Maine (UPI)—Today's college student is more likely to be drinking beer and parking in the wrong space than to be involved in a political demonstration, campus security officers from Maine and New Hampshire say.

That's stretching it!

Now that school is over, these boys begin filling their spare time with a unique project—a long rubber band. The boys spent two hours looping 1,240 rubber bands together. From left are Andy Taylor, Daren Gilbert, Mike Taylor, Jim Boise and Rob Taylor, all in the Washington Street area. They say that the band is about one quarter mile long. Maybe that's stretching it a bit. (Herald photo by Chastain)

Carter in Texas

Crowds are hostile, friendly

HOUSTON (UPI)—President Carter encountered both hostile and friendly ones on a swing through Texas Friday and told an audience, in a tough foreign policy declaration, "We will not let the Russians push us around."

Carter saw only the edge of a large and unruly demonstration by farmers at Fort Worth's Tarrant County for Democrats and to try to halt his rapid decline in popularity in Texas.

Landing at Ellington Air Force Base outside Houston for a round of political appearances, the president kissed a woman in the welcoming crowd and, stripping of his coat and mopping his brow against the Texas sun, shook hands in a crowd of several thousand at the air base.

He announced that the government would delay plans to sell Ellington because the government needs more data on its future uses and because the National Aeronautics and Space Administration uses part of the base for the space shuttle program.

In Fort Worth, Carter shouted his foreign policy message during a speaking appearance before 6,000 largely friendly members of a civic group.

"We want to get along, but we will not let the Russians push us around," he said.

"We're not going to be second ever in what this nation stands for, military, in economic status or our commitment to human rights," he said. "I will be sure, in all our dealings with the Soviet Union, this is understood."

"I believe it is necessary for our country to reach a strategic arms limitation agreement. I'm determined to have one without unwarranted delay. We're making good progress."

Carter also defended Secretary of State Cyrus Vance and national security adviser Zbigniew Brzezinski against charges they differ on foreign policy, and especially how to handle the Soviets.

"I don't believe it's fair for the Soviet Union and Cuba to jump on Brzezinski when I'm the president and I make the foreign policy decisions," he said.

HUD to give town portion of grant

By SUSAN VAUGHN
Herald Reporter

The Hartford area office of the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development will inform Manchester town officials that only a portion of the Community Development Block Grant will be awarded, HUD officials in Washington said Friday afternoon.

The conditions regarding compliance with fair housing requirements outlined by the area office earlier this month will be attached to the grant. HUD will apparently withhold $423,000 of the funds until the fair housing requirements are met.

Lawrence Thompson, area director of HUD, could not be reached Friday for confirmation. Town officials had not yet been informed of the status of the grant either on Friday.

Confusion arose around the grant to Manchester Friday when conflicting reports were issued by the HUD offices in Washington and in Hartford.

The Washington office informed the office of Congressman William Cotter (D-1st) that the entire grant would be awarded without any conditions.

The Hartford office indicated that the grant would be withheld with the conditions.

An investigation of the discrepancy by The Herald's Scripps League office in Washington revealed that the Hartford office of HUD had called the Washington office to inform it that the grant should be awarded to Manchester.

Either the Hartford office failed to specify the conditions of the grant or the Washington office failed to include the conditions of it in its release. The HUD office concluded that the problem was the result of "human error" and does not know which office was at fault.

Commenting on the grant Friday afternoon Ted Cummings, chairman of the Democratic Town Committee, said he feels the conditions regarding lack of fair housing are not substantiated. He said however, "We'll comply with the conditions and prove our point."

He said the Democratic town directors are in favor of the grants because of all that can be accomplished with them, such as the senior citizens center, a dental clinic, improvements for the handicapped, and housing improvements.

Cummings cited a study by the Connecticut Commission on Human Rights and Opportunities which he said gave Manchester a "clean bill of health" in regard to equal housing opportunity.

The conditions include hiring a person to oversee the town housing programs and contracting with a firm to monitor the town's rental market.

No-Nuke protesters arrive at Seabrook

SEABROOK, N.H. (UPI)—By car, bus, van and bicycle, hundreds of anti-nuclear protesters rode into New Hampshire Friday for a three-day protest at the site of the $2.3 billion Seabrook nuclear power plant.

Saturday they'll come by boat as well, picketing the 10 percent complete power plant from the point a mile offshore where its cooling tunnels will release heated water environmentalists say will harm marine life needed by future generations of humans for food.

Spokesmen for the sponsoring Clamshell Alliance predicted 2,000-3,000 members would show up for the demonstration. They hoped that many members of the public also would attend an energy fair Saturday and rally Sunday now that the group has pledged to keep the protest orderly and leave the Seabrook site Monday.

Last year demonstrators refused to leave the Seabrook site after a 24-hour occupation and police arrested 1,414 persons on criminal trespass charges. Many demonstrators spent up to 12 days locked in National Guard armories.

"More than 2,000 people have been trained (in non-violent protest techniques). We don't know exactly how many are going to show up," said Harvey Wasserman of Montague, Mass., one of the early leaders of the Clamshell. He said 200 members from all New England states had been in the area since Monday, going door-to-door to hand out leaflets and discuss nuclear power dangers with local residents.

Similar but smaller sympathy protests against nuclear energy were scheduled this weekend in California, Illinois, Florida, Kansas, Minnesota, Missouri, New Jersey, New Mexico, New York, Oregon, Texas, Vermont and Washington.

This year the Clamshell, the state, and the plant builder—the Public Service Co. of New Hampshire—drew up an agreement for a peaceful demonstration. The PSC is providing an 18-acre site, next to a dump but removed from the construction area, for three days of camping, rallies and alternative energy fairs.

Hundreds of state police and National Guardsmen were stationed out of sight but nearby in case of trouble, and more were on standby just across the border in Newburyport, Mass. Other New England states provided 20 state troopers apiece to be called on if an emergency arises.

Clamshell spokesman Cathy Wolff said her group had 200 "peacekeepers" trained to police their own members during the demonstration.

A 9-foot high chain link fence required by the Nuclear Regulatory Commission surrounds the Seabrook construction area, separating demonstrators from about 200 plant construction workers expected to be on the job over the weekend.

A handful of Clamshell members were to go onto the rocky, rutted, tree stump-littered demonstration site Friday night to clean it up for the weekend's activities.

A march onto the site for a weekend of camping was slated Saturday, plus an energy fair Sunday and a rally Sunday featuring big-name entertainers. The Alliance agreed to leave the site by mid-afternoon Monday.

Thirty miles west in Manchester, backers of nuclear power hope to outdraw the Seabrook demonstration with a clam bake and rally Sunday. Last year they drew 3,800 supporters to the 2,000-plus the Clamshell drew.

The chief pro-nuclear speaker will be Gov. Meldrim Thomson who has pledged the state will use "all force that might be necessary" to keep the peace at Seabrook.

Foot Prints calendar

Foot Prints is cooperating with Peace Train and Arts Encounter in presenting a potpourri of entertainment during July and August. Beginning July 7, a free outdoor movie, "A Thousand Clowns," will be shown at Center Park, Main Street. Also in July, there will be a live Latin jazz program, an Asylum Hill Artists Cooperative Show, a free concert at Bushnell Park, Hartford, an improvisational ensemble, and a concert of dancers and choreographers.

Play castings

Final open castings will be held by the Little Theatre of Manchester for the musical, "Company," Tuesday and Thursday at 7 p.m. at the theater workshop, 22 Oak St. The cast calls for six adult males and nine adult females, all of whom are prepared to sing, dance and act. Anyone planning to try out is asked to be ready to sing from the score, if possible. Also, everyone should be dressed properly to dance as part of their try out.

Theater events

Laurence Galtard will play Orsino, the Duke of Illyria, in the American Shakespeare Theatre's production of "Twelfth Night" which opens July 5 in Stratford. Galtard joins Lynn Redgrave and Penny Fuller, also starring in the cast. The Shakespearean play runs through Aug. 6, (375-5000).

Art events

A two-man show of sculpture by Robert Lucas and Malcolm Cochran will be on display at the University of Connecticut's Jorgensen Auditorium Gallery in Storrs Thursday through July 20. There will be a public reception at the gallery July 9, from 3 to 5 p.m.

Cinemas expand again

East Hartford's Showcase Cinemas 1-2-3-4-5, already among the largest theater complex in the New England States, can be said to have indeed improved its status; newly completed is a sixth auditorium, seating 528, bringing the complex's overall capacity to 3228.

That's happening

If, as and when the much-discussed Warner Bros. location filming for a project tentatively titled "Medway" becomes an actuality, it will be the first Hollywood troupe-on-Connecticut sites 20 years ago. Another Warner Bros. film — "Pariah" (Claudette Colbert, Troy Donahue, Karl Malden) — and Columbia's "It Happened to Jane" (Doris Day, Jack Lemmon) were filmed in the area in the late 1950s.

A frightening prospect

Cost benefit analysis and medical care

Dr. Charles E. Jacobson Jr., 172 E. Center St., Manchester

The rapidly escalating costs of medical care have stimulated studies to contain or control these costs, and one of the methods proposed is that of utilizing cost benefit and decision analysis.

Unfortunately, each new medical triumph creates new moral and economic issues. For example, society must soon determine how much and what types of life-prolonging intensive care will be made available for critically ill patients, especially those with end-stage heart, lung, kidney, and liver disease, and government economists are also asking how often can society afford to readmit to expensive intensive care units patients with exacerbations of essentially chronically and irreversible diseases.

Rose O'Neill dead at 45

MIAMI (UPI) - Rose Palmer O'Neill, heiress to two pioneer American fortunes, died Friday of cancer. She was 45. Mrs. O'Neill, called "Posy" by friends, was the daughter of Potter Palmer III of the Chicago merchant and hotel family, and Rose Movius Palmer of the Saltonstall family of Boston. She graduated from Masters School at Dobbs Ferry, N.Y., and Garland Junior College, Boston. She married John O'Neill, former Miami News Sunday magazine editor, in 1959. He left the News in 1965 to become a part owner of the Miami Dolphins football team and the Harlem Globetrotters basketball team, interests which he later sold. Mrs. O'Neill founded a private preparatory school in the Miami area, named after herself. She was a member of the Citizens Board of the University of Miami. Besides her husband, survivors include sons John III and Gordon, daughter Sandra, and a brother, Potter Palmer IV. A funeral mass is scheduled at 10 a.m. Monday at St. Louis Catholic Church. Burial will be in Chicago, following additional services.

In Memoriam In loving memory of Charles M. Fennell, who died June 22, 1978. Just why his passing had to be so sudden we do not know. But all we do know is that he left a loving wife and three children. Because he passed so early. Charles M. Fennell, June 22, 1978. Charles M. Fennell and Bill.

Kin of Manning reunite at Manse

Several Manchester residents are among the descendants of Samuel Manning who will gather at the Manning Manse in North Billerica, Mass. Saturday for a reunion. Local members are Mr. and Mrs. Chester M. Ferris, Mr. and Mrs. Knight H. Ferris, Mrs. Lois Janicke, Harriet H. Manning, Mrs. Ruth E. Peck, Mrs. Sherwood Robb, and Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Buckland. Traditionally, Samuel Mannings descendants gather annually on the fourth Saturday of June to share their common heritage and concern for the upkeep of the 1696 family homestead. An open invitation is extended to members and friends who wish to attend the meeting, which will be held from 11 a.m. to 4 p.m. Dinner will be served in the Manse at noon. Picnic lunches may be eaten at the Warren H. Manning Park across the road. After a brief business meeting, the program will feature "The Birth of the American Flag" presented by Edwin Bagley, of the Westford Colonial Minutemen.

Spacemen firefighters?

Weinberg to address executive conference

Stanley C. Weinberg Jr., of Manchester is one of four scheduled speakers for the third annual Connecticut Executive Update Conference all day Tuesday at the United Technologies Corp. (UTC) Research Center in East Hartford. The event will be sponsored by the National SCORE Council and hosted by the Pratt & Whitney Aircraft Group. Sponsored by the U.S. Small Business Administration (SBA), SCORE is an organization of retired business executives who volunteer their services to help small business owners solve their business problems. The collective experience of American enterprises, according to the SBA, Joseph G.E. Knight, chairman of the National SCORE Council, said there are 337 SCORE chapters nationwide, with about 8,000 volunteers working within the chapters. In Connecticut, there are five SCORE chapters with a roster of 150 counselors from all walks of business life. According to Knight, UTC is hosting the whole day's activities including refreshments, and will also videotape major portions of scheduled events. The videotapes will be edited by UTC and distributed by SCORE to chapters throughout the country for future training of counselors. Others scheduled to address the conference are Dr. Patricia Burr, assistant administrator for management assistance, SBA; John N. Barab, SBA assistant regional director for management assistance and Thomas E. Higgins, SBA's Connecticut District director.

Three convicts indicted

VERNON (UPI) - Three convicts have been indicted for murder in the November strangulation death of a fellow inmate at Somers State Prison, authorities said Friday. Accused in grand jury indictments made public Friday are convicted murderer Richard McAllister, 31, and Salvatore Raffone, 34, a convicted robber described by prison officials as an inmate ringleader. Frank A. Passalacqua, 27, was also arrested in New York Thursday, officials said. He had been paroled last month. Passalacqua has been charged with bringing a fugitive from justice. He will be charged with the slaying when he reaches Connecticut. The three are accused of killing Alfred Chisolm, 21, who was serving time for robbery. Chisolm's body was found in an unguarded locker room where he had gone to change into a football uniform for practice with a prison team. The indictment was handed down Wednesday, but Superior Court Judge Anthony J. Armentano ordered files on the case closed for four Passalacqua would get word of the impending arrests and flee. When Passalacqua was arrested at his home in West Babylon, N.Y., Armentano lifted the order.

Harpooned shark breaks loose

MONTAUK, N.Y. (UPI) - A charter boat captain harpooned a giant shark in the Atlantic Ocean Friday, but the desperate fish dragged the vessel more than a dozen miles out to sea and then broke free at the end of a 13-hour battle. John Sweetman, captain of the 40-foot Ebblide, spotted a shark that appeared to be a man-eating Great White Friday morning about 15 miles off the tip of Long Island - site of the book "Jaws." Sweetman, standing on the deck of his boat 10 feet away from the fish, sank a harpoon into the shark just behind the top dorsal fin. The huge fish then shot away from the boat on a 150-foot tether of galvanized steel cable and made for deep waters, dragging the Ebblide away from shore. The Montauk Marine Basin, in touch with Sweetman by ship-to-shore radio, said the shark broke the cable at 8:43 p.m., ending a 13-hour sea battle in which the boat was dragged about 14 miles from shore. Radio operators to demonstrate Seven amateur ham radio stations will demonstrate emergency preparedness using gasoline-powered generators for electricity from 2 p.m. today until 12 p.m. Sunday at the Amateur Radio Field Day at Camp Kennedy, off Dartmouth Road, in Manchester. The stations will operate on shortwave, long range, and VHF, short range, frequencies. They will be set up in campers, trailers and tents at the site. This is a nationwide annual event involving competition among participating stations. Each station will try to make as many contacts as possible in a 24-hour period. The public is invited to watch. This is the first year in recent times that the Manchester Radio Club's own station, call sign W1KKS, has been in full operation. The club was founded in 1912. It is one of the oldest amateur radio clubs in the country.

About town

Manchester Chapter, Parents Without Partners, will have a dance tonight from 9 to 1 at Fiano's Restaurant, Bolton. Peter's Trio will play for dancing.

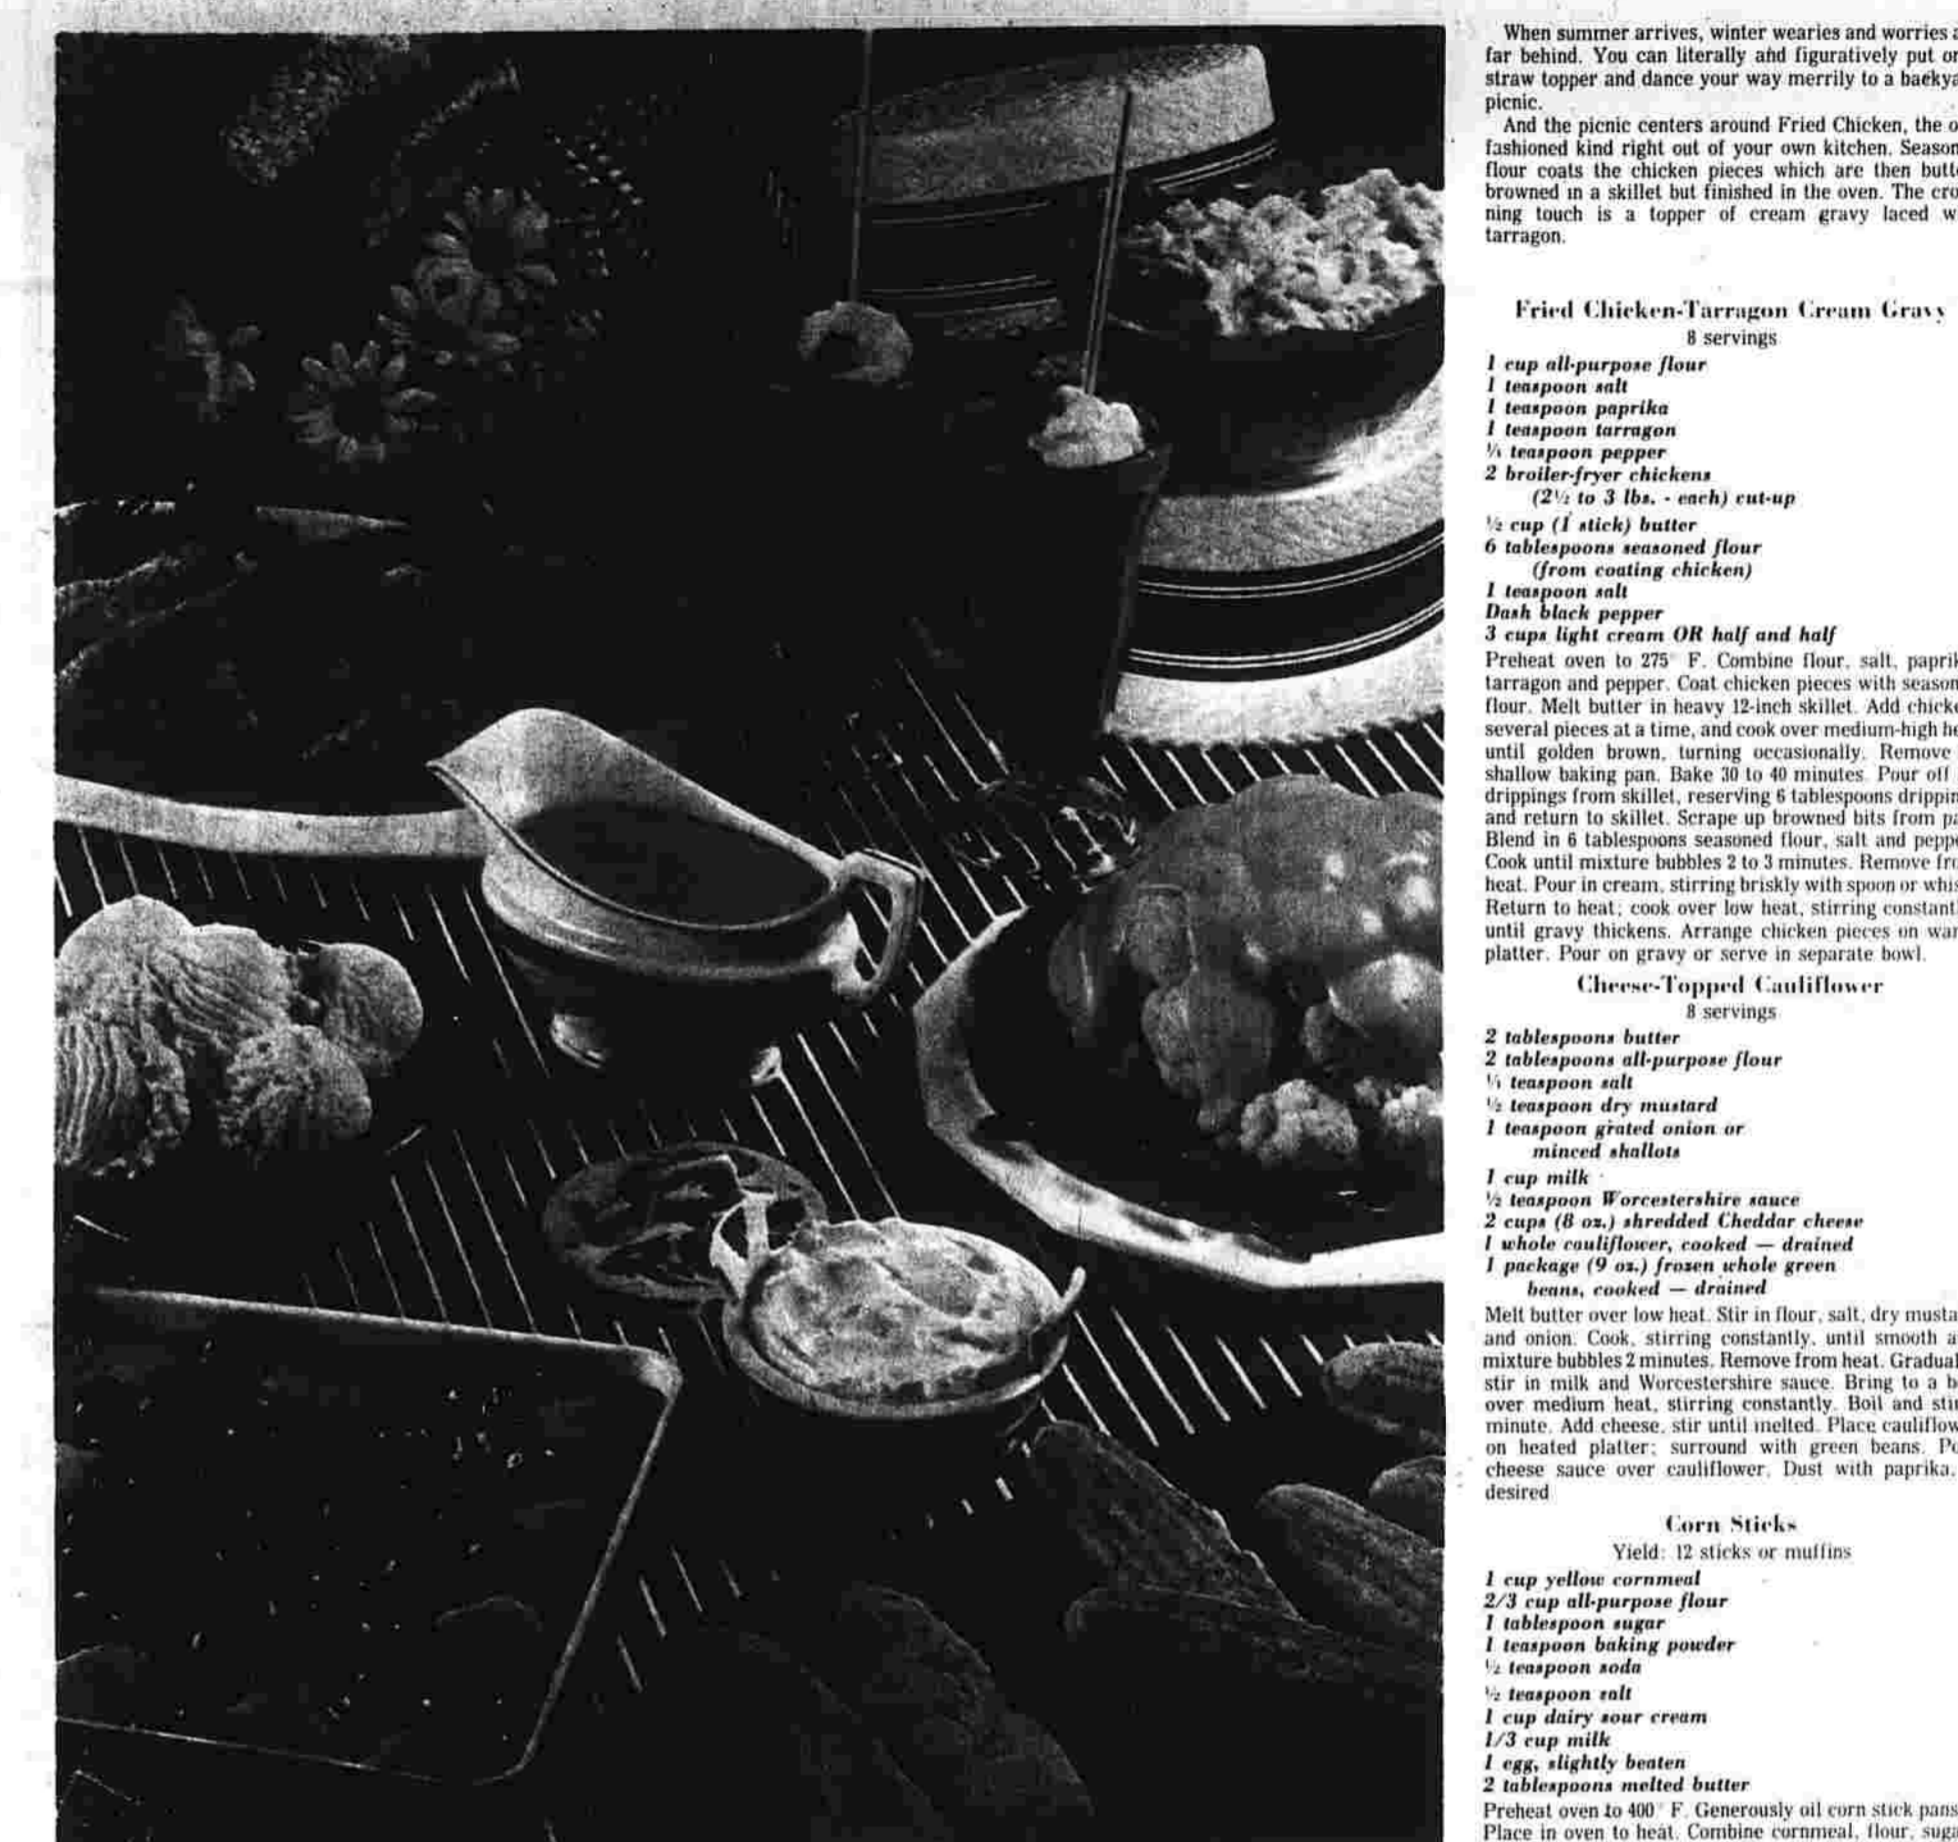

Trueman captain

George Trueman of 187 High St. has been elected captain of Hous Co. 2 of the Town Fire Department. He succeeds Clyde Pickral. Other elected officers are Joseph Trudeau, first lieutenant; Edward Fisher, second lieutenant and secretary; Gary Crane, treasurer; Robert Adams, Raymond Berthiaume and Joseph Patteni, stewards. Pickral, Walter Weir and Bruce Cantrell, investigations committee; Henry Agnew and Milton Stavnitsky, auditors; and Pickral, Roland Schiller and Stavnitsky, trustees.

Ballet canceled

Manchester Youth Ballet has been forced to cancel its performance Sunday at the Bicentennial Band Shell. The performance will be rescheduled at a later date. The ballet company's dance floor, needed for the performance, has been on order but has not yet arrived. Priscilla Gibson, artistic director of the company, said. The cancellation was necessary because of the risk to the dancers if they performed on the cement floor of the shell. The Youth Ballet will be performing during the Arts Encounter July Arts Weekend.

Put on a Topper and Let's Picnic

Neighbor's kitchen

When the Manchester Senior Citizens visited Williamsburg, Va. recently, they had the opportunity to partake of many tasty dishes, including Cream of Peanut Soup and Sally Lunn bread. We dined one night at the Williamsburg Lodge and the menu included Southern Fried Chicken, Smithfield Ham with raisin sauce, Sally Lunn Bread, Cream of Peanut Soup, Spoon Bread, many vegetable dishes, and a delicious Cherry Cobbler for dessert. During our tour a few friends and I visited the King's Arms Tavern where we stopped for lunch. Located on the Duke of Gloucester Street, the tavern is purported to have served food and drink to American troops during the War of Independence. After the winning of American freedom, a new owner changed the name from King's Arms to Eagle Tavern, as befitted a hostelry of a proud young Republic. The old tavern, which disappeared during the 19th century, has been reconstructed on its original foundations. For lunch we enjoyed Smithfield Ham and Old English Cheddar Cheese on Sally Lunn Bread. It's truly a hearty sandwich. As we prepared to leave, I asked the waiter, who was dressed in colonial garb, as was the pretty hostess, if he had any recipes. He graciously presented me with a brochure of authentic recipes of yesterday.

Grease a 10-inch tube cake pan or a bundt pan. Heat the milk, shortening and 1/4 cup water until very warm (about 120 degrees). Shortening does not need to melt. Blend 1-1/3 cups flour, the sugar, salt, and dry yeast in a large mixing bowl. Blend warm liquids into flour mixture. Beat with an electric mixer at medium speed about 2 minutes, scraping the sides of the bowl occasionally. Gradually add 2/3 cup of the remaining flour and the eggs and beat at high speed for 2 minutes. Add the remaining flour and mix well. Batter will be thick, but not stiff. Cover and let rise in a warm, draft-free place (about 85 degrees) until double in bulk - about 1 hour and 15 minutes. Beat dough down with a spatula or at lowest speed on an electric mixer and turn into prepared pan. Cover and let rise in a warm, draft-free place until increased in bulk one-third to one-half - about 30 minutes. Bake 40 to 50 minutes at 350 degrees. Run knife around the center and outer edges of the bread and turn onto a plate to cool. Another Southern favorite is Peanut Pie.

Whipped Honey Butter Yield: 1/2 cup 1/2 cup (1 stick) butter 2 tablespoons honey Whip butter until fluffy; beat in honey. Serve with corn sticks or any hot bread, waffles or pancakes.

Pastry Crust mix for 9-inch pie 4 eggs 1/2 cup sugar 1/2 teaspoon salt 1-1/2 cups light corn syrup 1 tablespoon butter, melted 1 teaspoon vanilla 1 cup peanut halves Preheat oven to 400 degrees Prepare pie shell Beat eggs lightly and add sugar, salt, corn syrup, cooled butter, and vanilla; stir until mixed well Spread pecan halves on bottom crust and cover with the filling. Place in oven and immediately reduce heat to 350 degrees. Bake 40 to 50 minutes or until mixture is firm in center. Cool before serving.

Old horse anchors useful, ornamental

By RUSS MacKENDRICK
These collectibles are both useful and ornamental.

They are iron weights meant to be connected to a horse's headstall to prevent him from straying. Nowadays they are good for a lot of things, like bracing a Christmas tree, flattening a pile of stamps that have been soaked off envelopes, or for any use that requires 20 pounds of "gravity."

What is said to be the largest collection of these antiquities in New England is right here at a farm on Hillstown Road in Manchester. It belongs to Leslie A. Buckland, who was written up with some nice pictures in the May issues of Yankee magazine. The author, W. L. Francis (actually Lawrence A. Willard, assistant professor of media at MCC), has entitled the piece "Collecting Horse Anchors."

They were used when the ice-man carried and the horse-drawn cart was new to the job. Experienced ice-cart or milk wagon drivers would wait until the master reappeared from the customer's house, and then follow him to the next delivery point. (A milkman taking a day off would tell the substitute driver, "Don't worry, the horse will know where to stop.")

These blocks of iron are called "bitting weights" in the Yankee article. Another term is seen in Theodore Dreiser's "Dawn" (an autobiography). And at once jumping down, an iron stay weight in his hand ready to fasten the horse.

Wedding

Rose-Young

Elizabeth Alice Young of East Hartford and the Rev. Christopher Lee Rose of West Hartford were married June 24 at St. John's Episcopal Church in East Hartford.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard J. Young of 20 Dean Drive, East Hartford. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward L. Rose of West Hartford.

The Rev. Alva Decker of St. John's Episcopal Church celebrated the mass and performed the double-ring ceremony. The altar was decorated with white gladioluses and yellow carnations. Dr. John Williams of East Hartford was organist.

The couple received many gifts. Music for dancing was provided by Johnny Prytko and his band. Mr. Brown is employed as a maintenance foreman at the AEP Test Co. in East Hartford. Mrs. Brown works as a licensed day care babysitter in her home.

In the service

Richard A. Saulnier, son of Mr. and Mrs. George W. Saulnier of 127 Overlook Road, South Windsor, has been promoted to airman first class in the U.S. Air Force.

Naval Fireman Ret. James E. Surette, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph F. Surette of 280 Grabber Road, Ellington, has completed the Navy's Basic Electricity/Electronics Course.

He joined the Navy in January 1978.

News for senior citizens

Hi, everyone. Well, Wally and the seniors really picked on a humdrum of a week to go to Wildwood with 90 degree weather. Last Monday the Senior Citizen Golf League was in full swing. The low gross players were: Joe Grinavich, 39; Ernie Seegerberg, 44; Al Bourret, 44; Irvin Gatt-side, 44; Joe Quinn, 44. Low net were Joe Grinavich, 31; Joe DuPont, 31; Ed Scott, 31; Elmore Anderson, 32; Raymond Bidwell, 32, and Al Bourret, 32.

In the morning we also had 12 in our Fellowship Circle, all working on different projects. Upstairs we had nine tables of pinocle playing with the winners being: Helen Saimond, 85; Helena Gavello, 58; Archie Houghtaling, 58; Martha LaBate, 57; Ernestine Donnelly, 57; Lillian Lewis, 57; Ed Scott, 58; Josephine Schuetz, 58, and Clara Hemingway, 54.

In the afternoon we had 10 in the arts and crafts class working on various items for our fall fair. We were pleased to hear that Bill Rice's wife, Virginia, is recuperating at home after a serious operation.

Ply cruise Fly Ryan dropped in to tell us that there are six double cabins available for the fly cruise leaving Nov. 12. He is bringing more flyers to the center. Remember, tickets are available for the splash picnic for UNICO here at the center. The date is June 27. On that day there will be no shopping bus. If you need groceries, please call Phone-A-Ride, 66-2774, a day or two ahead. Our bus will make its regular run beginning at 9:30 a.m.

Pipe hands On June 24 the pipe bands of Manchester will start forming at the British American Club on Maple Street and will parade up Main Street to Center Park. At the park they will give a free public concert. This sounds like a nice event to attend as many out-of-state pipe bands have been asked to participate.

Many thanks to Thelma Habercen for helping to type the column and to the following persons who are coming in to man the phone next week: Dorothy Bras, Kay Nettleton, Lena Speed, and of course our good Friday Helen Martino. Many thanks to all of you nice people.

Menu for the week Monday: Ham and cheese on rye, cherry Firm will fix car seat kits WASHINGTON (UPI) - The Massachusetts manufacturer of a car seat-stroller kit for children is conducting a voluntary repair program to correct a possibly dangerous defect, says the Consumer Product Safety Commission.

The commission's warning concerned a conversion kit designed to turn a child car seat into a stroller by affixing wheels. A defect in the wheel assembly frame, the agency said, could cause the seat to come loose, pitching the child forward.

The commission said 13 accidents already have occurred. Collier-Keyworth Co., Gardner, Mass., the manufacturer, is conducting a voluntary repair program for 5,600 of the kits, Model Nos. 6805, 6806, 7805 and 7806.

The products were distributed nationwide and were manufactured before March 14 of this year. They are recalled for about $28.

The CPSC recommends that if your stroller conversion kit does not have two hinged metal braces riveted at right angles to the top of the stroller frame seat support, reinforcing the seat from directly beneath, that you call or write Collier-Keyworth Co., at Box 328 Waterbury, and, 01406, telephone (617) 652-0120, the agency said. "The company will supply a free repair kit."

New rat killer effective

PROVIDENCE, R.I. (UPI) - Rats, beware! A local firm has developed a new rat control product that a University of Rhode Island scientist calls "very, very effective." Federal officials and a satisfied customer agree it seems to be a powerful rat killer. The Ocean State Pest Control Product Manufacturing Co. says its year-old product "Vizon," which looks like macaroni, is so irresistible to rats that they just gobble it up until they're dead. Like many popular rat control products, Vizon contains warfarin, a chemical which makes the pesky rodents hemorrhage to death. The company says the warfarin's bitter taste is hidden by Vizon's 20 special ingredients. "This stuff smells so good, it makes me hungry," said company spokesman Fred Zonfrilli. "The rats consume so much of this stuff, they just eat themselves to death." The University of Rhode Island Pharmacology Department tested the product on 10 male and 10 female rats. All the animals died within 15 days, said department chairman Dr. John J. Deleo. "The tests were conducted according to government specifications and the material worked beautifully. It came out very, very effective," he said. "It is attractive to the animals and is probably a useful product for its purpose." He said each rat was kept in an individual cage and offered water and a choice of Vizon and regular food each day. The rats preferred Vizon with its hidden warfarin more than 60 percent of the time, Deleo said. Daniel Peacock, a pesticide product specialist with the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency in Washington, said most warfarin products are preferred by rats only 15-40 percent of the time.

"Equipment everywhere" describes the University of Wisconsin's TANTALUS I synchrotron. The university is building an ever-larger unit to provide more power than TANTALUS' 40-million electron volts. (UPI photo)

Science uses 'magic' for energy research

STOUGHTON, Wis. (UPI) — A "magic lamp" called Aladdin that could yield clues to help solve the nation's energy crunch is being built by scientists at the University of Wisconsin's Synchrotron Radiation Center.

The $3.5 million device will speed electrons around a metal racetrack almost to the speed of light. They will begin to glow, giving off a form of radiation that will be used by researchers to investigate the basic properties of matter.

By contrast, Aladdin will be housed in a two-story building. The vacuum tube — which would be almost as long as a football field if stretched out — will be located in a 140 by 140-foot room.

Instead of only nine "ports," Aladdin will have 30 or 40. It will make UW one of the nation's leading synchrotron research centers, providing about a third of the new experiment "ports" the National Academy of Sciences says will be needed in the United States by 1986.

How said Aladdin won't replace Tantalus, which already attracts research teams from universities and companies around the world. He said Tantalus probably will continue to operate along with the larger machine.

How said groundbreaking for Aladdin is scheduled for next fall. It will take about 2½ years to complete Aladdin — even though work is already under way on components, such as magnets.

"It's a real possibility," How said, "that a catalyst will come out of this research that would double the efficiency of fuel production."

Aladdin researchers also will study the reflectivity and absorption characteristics of materials, which could lead to development of better solar energy systems.

The energy crisis is only one of many areas that will be affected by research at Aladdin. Others include computer technology, especially development of better and less costly circuitry, and how pollutants affect the earth's atmosphere.

Aladdin is a synchrotron. That's the scientific name for a device composed of electromagnets which speeds electrons around a long, circular vacuum chamber, producing glowing electromagnetic radiation.

The special light is extracted from the synchrotron through openings called "ports." It is used by experimenters to probe the basic properties of matter.

The UW has had a synchrotron at the Stoughton facility for about 10 years. That machine, buried in a small concrete

Jane Blalock leading Lopez by six strokes

HERSHEY, Pa. (UPI) — Jane Blalock birdied the final three holes Friday on her way to a 5-under-par 67 and a two-stroke lead in the opening round of the Lady Keystone Open at the Hershey Country Club.

A tired Nancy Lopez, who is seeking her sixth straight LPGA tournament victory, finished with a cover-par 73, six shots behind Blalock.

Lopez said she was bothered by photographers who she said disrupted her rhythm. She finished in a nine-way tie for fifth place.

Peggy Conley, 31, a second-year pro from Spokane, Wash., finished in second place at 69. Jane Renner, Eva Chang and Pat Bradley shared third place with a 2-under-par 70.

Blalock, who finished in a tie for second in last week's event after going into the final round with a one-stroke lead, had six birdies and only one bogie. She had nine hole scores of 35 and 32.

She canned putts of 35 feet on the 11th, eighth, 10 feet on the 14th, eighth foot on the 16th, 20 feet on the 17th, and eight feet on the 18th.

LPGA

Blalock said she was "lucky" to have any trouble sleeping. I had a few beers and I was too drunk." Hewes' course mark stood alone for about 24 hours until Schroeder took the course. "I hit every fairway of the tee," Schroeder said. "That made it pretty easy."

Tour rookie McGowan paces Canadian Open

Okaville, Ont. (UPI) — Pat McGowan, a 23-year-old tour rookie out of Brigham Young University, birdied the 18th hole to complete a 3-under-par 71 Friday and tie with Jeff Howe at 140 for the second-round lead in the Canadian Open golf tournament.

John Schroeder, a $70,000 winner last year, burned up the course with a course-record 57 to come in one stroke out of the lead, tied with Jim Colbert at 141.

Tied with Jack Nicklaus at 145 were Gary Player, who chipped three strokes off Thursday's score to par the round, and last year's Open winner, Lee Trevino, who also checked in with a par.

Arnold Palmer, in second place at 1 under after the first round, carried a 5-over-76 with four bogies on the back nine to drop back to 146.

McGowan, from Colusa, Calif., made a fine trap shot on his 18th hole to get within one stroke of the lead, then sank the putt.

"I've gotten to play in most of the tournaments this year," he said. "That's what helps you out when you're a rookie. I was lucky enough to hit a few good shots and make a few birdies."

Hewes, the spindly Californian who surprised everyone with a 67 on Thursday, collected three bogies and a birdie to retain a share of the lead midway through the tourney.

Striding down the fairways well ahead of the gallery on his putty legs, Hewes looked relaxed, frequently crossing his legs and lighting up a cigarette as he lined up his shots.

"I made a few phone calls home last night," Hewes said. "I didn't have any trouble sleeping. I had a few beers and I was too drunk." Hewes' course mark stood alone for about 24 hours until Schroeder took the course.

"I hit every fairway of the tee," Schroeder said. "That made it pretty easy."

NOTICE OF THE COLLECTOR OF REVENUE
All persons liable by law to pay property taxes are hereby notified that the 1978 Real Estate Tax bills for the list of 1977 of 50.34 mills on the dollar for the Town of Manchester, of 4.88 mills on the dollar for the Fire Department Taxing District of the Town of Manchester and of 15.50 mills on the dollar for the Special Parking Authority Taxing District of the Town of Manchester.

Each such tax is due and payable, one-half on the first day of July, 1978, and one-half on the first day of January, 1979, provided, however, that any Real Estate tax amounting to not more than 100 dollars shall be due and payable in one installment on July 1, 1978. All Motor Vehicle taxes shall be due and payable in one installment on July 1, 1978.

Failure to make first payment by August 1, 1978, renders the first payment delinquent. Second payment becomes delinquent after February 1, 1979. Interest is calculated from due date at the rate of 1% per month or each delinquent payment, as per Federal Order 11346.

Said taxes are payable at the Office of the Collector of Revenue in the Municipal Building, Monday thru Friday, 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.
