

Senate has busy week to make up lost time

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate set a busy work schedule this week to make up for time lost in the 17-day suspended filibuster on labor law revisions.

Both House and Senate will quit Friday for a 10-day Fourth of July recess.

The Senate agenda was mostly appropriations and relatively minor legislation, with only one major item — a bill to prevent bankruptcy for New York City.

Senate Democratic leader Robert Byrd said he intends to call up the bill by Thursday. The current program that has kept the city solvent since 1975 expires the following day, June 30 — the day the holiday recess begins.

"It is my intention to get up the New York City aid bill no later than next Thursday," Byrd said in outlining the week's program. "I have every hope we can finish the bill before Congress returns from the recess July 10 and conference work out a compromise between House and Senate versions.

Assurance that some form of federal loan guarantee legislation is on the way, however, would allow the city to get interim financing to prevent it from running out of money.

The bill, intended to update the National Labor Relations Act, would make it easier for unions to organize and prevent delays in employee votes on forming unions.

Among the major proposals to come up this week are the tax treaty with the United Kingdom, which the Senate defeated Friday, then revived so it could try again Tuesday, and the fiscal 1979 appropriations bill for the Treaty Department.

In anticipation of the holiday, the House has a lighter workload after racing through most of the major appropriations bills during the last two weeks.

But one of the most controversial ones — the $7.3 billion money package for foreign aid — will not be called up for action as planned. House leaders do not believe it has the votes to pass.

Librium, sleeping aids linked to cancer

BOSTON (UPI) — Librium, the second most commonly prescribed drug in the United States, and methyprilone, the active ingredient in several nonprescription sleeping aids, have been associated with cancer in rats, researchers reported today.

The drugs are members of the chemical family called amines, and when they are eaten with nitrates they form nitrosamine, one of the deadliest cancer-causing substances known to man, researchers from the Frederick Cancer Research Center told the northeast regional meeting of the American Chemical Society.

Bacon has been a subject of controversy in recent years because it has been shown that while raw bacon doesn't contain nitrosamines, cooked bacon does. Furthermore, stomach acids can combine with nitrates left over from curing to produce nitrosamine.

Lijinsky's research — if substantiated by other scientists — would show yet another way that substances innocuous by themselves can cause cancer in combination with other substances.

Lijinsky, director of the chemical carcinogenesis program at Maryland's Frederick center, discussed his research with rats in an interview.

His work on methyprilone has led to a proposed ban of the substance by the Food and Drug Administration. Methyprilone is an antihistamine used as a nonprescription, non-narcotic sleeping aid because of its ability to block the action of histamine, a chemical messenger in the body.

Thirteen percent of the rats fed methyprilone in combination with a nitrile developed liver tumors, Lijinsky reported.

With Librium, 10 percent of the rats tested developed tumors. Although a smaller number than the methyprilone, Lijinsky said the result was significant because the tumor formed most frequently was in the rat's nervous system, a much rarer form of tumor than in the liver.

Lijinsky and researchers at Hoffman-La Roche, the manufacturer of Librium, are repeating his experiment to see if its results can be matched. His new experiment, begun a year ago, already has produced two tumors among the 80 experimental animals.

"I don't want to make a real bang-the-drum evangelical presentation," Lijinsky cautioned. "I'm not going to project the risk of cancer in humans because I don't think anyone's able to do that yet. I'm just presenting the data."

Lijinsky's group has tested other amine chemicals for cancer-causing ability and they are suspicious primarily of Antabuse, a drug given to alcoholics to make them sick when they drink, and a number of herbicides and insecticides.

Their suspicions of the substances' carcinogenicity were strengthened by corroboration from another type of test, where substances are fed to bacteria to see if they cause mutations. Although that test is less reliable than finding actual tumors in animals, Lijinsky said, it did correlate with the animal test findings.

"I'm not a fanatic or vegetarian or anything like that," Lijinsky said. "But I don't take drugs unless I'm on death's door and I don't eat nitrite-treated foods unless I might offend a hostess if I don't eat her bacon."

Lijinsky's work was presented at a day-long symposium at the conference devoted to nitrosamines alone.

More students flunking in city school systems

WASHINGTON (UPI) — An old practice — flunking — is becoming a new trend in big city school systems.

Education officials say the trend is an unbending refusal to promote children from grade to grade just to get rid of them. And they say it is rapidly paying off in better basic skills for grammar and high school students.

Pressured by taxpayers for better results, many big city school systems recently have adopted the non-accusatory approach to problem students and apathetic parents.

"We flunked about 13,000 students two years ago," said Jacksonville, Fla., school board member Bill Carter. "That number dropped to 3,000 last year. A lot more parents are now asking how their kids are doing."

Chicago school board member Henry Moe said: "I, for one, am glad those days of token 'social promotion' of students are over. We've gone through a generation who felt they had no responsibilities — only group rights. We're testing students and we find that a lot more eighth graders must go to summer school this year to cope with high school."

Noting that taxpayers are turning down school bond proposals in many areas, some cities also are testing teacher skills to weed out unqualified instructors.

Dallas school board member Sarah Haskins said the results, to be released this summer, of some teacher testing in her district "may show we have some teachers who should not be having a teaching."

The comments came at a weekend meeting of the Council of Urban Boards of Education. Representatives from many of the nation's 65 biggest cities said their school systems now:

— Test the ability of elementary and high school students at regular intervals and refuse to promote those who do not keep up.

— Put more emphasis on reading skills, and pressure parents to sign contracts promising to uphold their responsibilities in the education process.

Council Chairman George Brown Jr. of Memphis said schools must let taxpayers know they are fighting waste — especially in light of the nationwide tax revolt that seems to have been heralded by California's Proposition 13.

"I think the problem of discipline is sometimes overemphasized," Brown said. "We're concentrating on helping all students achieve at least basic skills. The taxpayer doesn't want education mills. And we are listening."

Denver school board President Omar D. Blair said students who do not achieve are not passed in his city. He said the answer lies not only in forcing students to do their assigned work, but in making the work an interesting challenge for youngsters of all backgrounds.

Tornadoes, floods damage Midwest

By United Press International

Tornadoes, torrential rains and flash floods have pounded the upper Midwest, inflicting heavy damage from the Dakotas through Indiana.

At least one person was killed and more than a dozen injured in the violent weather Sunday.

A tornado tore through the Nebraska Panhandle town of Gordon, injuring at least six persons and causing hundreds of thousands of dollars in damage to buildings and homes.

High winds swept through Indianapolis' northwest side, heavily damaging three apartment complexes and causing some minor injuries.

South Dakota Gov. Richard Kneip issued disaster declarations for four counties, three hit by tornadoes Saturday night and one lashed by winds up to 110 mph Sunday. Damage was estimated at $2.5 to $3 million. Several farm building complexes were destroyed by the twisters, but there were no serious injuries. A home was destroyed by the high winds in Springfield.

In north-central Illinois, pounding rains, lightning and severe winds combined to cause an estimated $1.25 million in damages in Livingston County. At least seven funnel clouds were sighted, four of them in the Chatsworth area. The high winds destroyed one home and ripped the roofs from the post office and a plumbing company. There were no reports of injuries.

In Lee County, Ill., an 84-year-old woman whose daughter's car stalled on a rain-slick road and veered into a drainage ditch, drowned while trying to swim to safety.

A spokesman for the Lee County Sheriff's Department said numerous roads and bridges were closed because of heavy rains and some power outages had been reported.

Teachers file grievance on extra duties at MHS

By SUSAN VAUGHN Herald Reporter

A group of art and industrial arts teachers from Manchester High School have filed a grievance with the state Labor Relations Board protesting non-teaching duties.

This is the first time Manchester teachers have bypassed the grievance procedures outlined in their contract and filed an unfair labor practice charge with the state board.

The grievance involves a protest of one extra duty assignment a week for one semester when they have only five teaching assignments. During the other semester the teachers have six teaching assignments per day.

The extra-duty assignment in the cafeteria, corridors or study halls was made at the beginning of this past school year because of the cut-back in the teaching staff.

Deakin said if the school board allowed the teachers to teach only five classes each semester, it would mean hiring more teachers.

He also indicated that the action by the teachers was taken on the advice of the Connecticut Education Association and predicted similar actions would be more of a trend for the future.

Rep. Stevens to quit race

HARTFORD (UPI) House Minority Leader Rep. Gerald Stevens, R-Milford, today called a news conference at which he was to announce he has dropped his candidacy for governor, citing lack of funds.

Stevens would not comment to reporters about his plans before the news conference, but he sent letters to his supporters saying he is shutting down his campaign because he was already $9,000 in debt.

In a letter to Williamant Alderman Edward Straub, Stevens said, "Lack of funds has forced me to withdraw from the gubernatorial race."

"I'm confident I would have succeeded in getting the required 20 percent of the delegates to the Republican nominating convention in July, which would have allowed him to force a statewide primary vote by all registered party members against the convention's choice.

But even if he had succeeded in getting the required 20 percent, Stevens would not have sufficient funds for a primary," Stevens' letter said.

Stevens wrote that since June 15, 1977, he was able to raise more than $75,000 in campaign donations. But he said he owed $9,000.

"We have got borrowed to finance the campaign and I do not intend to do so," he wrote. "To continue until the convention would only increase the debt and would not change the fact that I could not afford a primary."

Stevens' attorney Lewis B. Rome, R-Bloomfield, and Rep. Ronald A. Sarasin, R-Conn., are other two members of what had been a three-way race for the Republican nomination.

Rome today said he has talked to Stevens about the decision.

Memorial crucifix dedicated

Last Sunday, a new altar crucifix was dedicated at St. Mary's Episcopal Church in Manchester.

The church commissioned sculptor David Hayes of Coventry to create the crucifix as a memorial to Sen. Prescott, who died in a tragic fire in Vermont last winter.

An unusual design, the crucifix expresses in art form the Anglican doctrine of the real presence of Christ in the Eucharist, according to the Rev. Stephen Jacobson, pastor of the church.

From a distance, the figure of Christ, carved in outline form in the center of the cross, can be faintly seen. As one approaches the altar to receive the sacrament, the figure of Christ becomes more clearly visible.

The Rev. Mr. Jacobson explained that this authentically expresses the church's understanding of the mystery of Christ's presence in the sacrament.

Mr. and Mrs. Neal E. Prescott of Carpenter Road, relatives and friends were in the congregation Sunday for a celebration of the Eucharist on the dedication of the crucifix in memory of the their son, Sean.

Last week, Timothy O'Sullivan agreed to continue as Manchester's highway superintendent.

This week, he is the leading candidate for the director of public works job in Danbury.

O'Sullivan, who began working in Manchester in 1976, announced in March that he was resigning as highway superintendent. He listed personal reasons for his resignation, and there had been differences in the past between O'Sullivan and both Jay Giles, director of public works, and Robert Weiss, town manager.

O'Sullivan, who originally had said he would resign April 14, agreed to stay until June 30. Then, last week, he and Giles announced that they had reached agreement and O'Sullivan would continue to serve as highway superintendent.

Carter populist again; hits capital gains plan

WASHINGTON (UPI) — When Jimmy Carter was running for president, a favorite campaign theme was the unfairness of tax laws that benefit the rich and not the poor.

His promises for major tax reform have succumbed — at least for now — to various pressures, including congressional reluctance to tackle major tax revisions in an election year.

But he summoned up the populist rhetoric once again at a news conference Monday in blasting a proposal to cut the level of capital gains taxes, saying it offers "huge tax windfalls for the millionaires and two bits for the average American."

He was asked about the proposal now pending in the House Ways and Means Committee, and indicated he would veto it if it were enacted.

The limitation, he said, would result in tax cuts amounting to $2 billion for the super-rich, with an average benefit of only 25 cents to the worker earning under $20,000.

The president originally requested a $25 billion general tax cut coupled with $9 billion in reforms, but since

PZC rejects liquor change requested for Mr. Steak

As expected, the Manchester Planning and Zoning Commission Monday night voted to reject a proposal that would have exempted full-service restaurants from the town's 1,000-foot distance requirements for liquor establishments. The vote was unanimous and occurred after only a couple of minutes of discussion on the proposed change requested by Steakman Inc., which runs the Mr. Steak restaurant at 244 Center St. PZC members repeated arguments that they had mentioned at the June 5 public hearing. At that meeting, Commissioner John Hutchinson had moved to deny the application but then withdrew his motion to give other members more time to think about the proposal.

The members said that they felt the proposed change was badly written and that such a change should not be made to accommodate one individual business.

Manchester zoning regulations now set a 1,000-foot minimum between any liquor-serving or liquor-selling establishments, except in the Central Business District. Mr. Steak, which is within 1,000 feet of the Blue Moon Restaurant, had requested that full-service restaurants be exempted from the distance requirement. Even though the PZC did deny the request, it asked that Town Planner Alan Lamson do further research on the regulations and distance requirements of adjacent towns. The PZC also took the following actions Monday night:

Commission on aging backs Green School for center

MANCHESTER (UPI) — The Commission on Aging Monday night backed Green School as a senior citizens center and adopted a proposal to form a task force to study further the needs of the elderly in Manchester and the available use of resources and funds. A proposed $223,000 has been recommended by the Citizen's Advisory Committee for a new senior citizens center. Mrs. Bernice Rieg, William Rice, Mrs. Celeste Sheldon, and Mrs. Mildred Schaffer, all commission members, volunteered to serve on the task force.

The commission voted to go on record with the town Board of Directors in support of Green School as the site of the new center. The commission was divided on this issue.

Some of the members disagreed that more space is needed for the senior citizens. "Green School will provide the needed space. Why should the town build a new building when they already have this one for us?" said Rice.

Mrs. Rieg felt that Green School was not the answer to needed space. "Green School will shortchange senior citizens. It is not clear in my mind what we're looking for in a new center," she said.

Phyllis Saich of the Human Services department and guest speaker at the meeting said, "Maybe we need

All but one teacher in the Manchester public schools who had been notified earlier this spring that their jobs would be terminated will be able to remain in the system. The Board of Education Monday night rescinded another termination notice which leaves only one business day for the teacher to resign. The notice was for a teacher at Green School without a job next year, said William E. Deakin, assistant superintendent for administration. Twelve teachers were given layoff notices in February, according to the terms of the contract. The rescinding of the layoffs is due mainly to attrition, according to Deakin. Despite the returning teachers, the total number of teachers in the system next year will decline by 11, according to information released by School Superintendent James P. Kennedy Monday.

The 36 teaching positions substitute for the 47 of Green School which all added to the other receiving schools; Bowers, Buckley, Highland Park.

The decline in the number of teachers and other positions is the result of declining enrollment and the closing of Green School, Kennedy said. The vacated positions were taken from throughout the system, ranging from half a position at several to two positions at Robertson School. Besides the receiving schools for the Manchester new teachers will be added for the gifted program, one Regional Occupational Training Center, one, and the Verplanck School kindergarten, one-half position.

The number of aides will decline by 32 positions and other staff by four, including three from Green School. The Green School principal, custodian and secretary have been absorbed into the system.

In other personnel-related action Monday, Deakin reported that Manchester had received high marks in all areas of an on-site teacher evaluation program conducted by the state Department of Education. The program involved examining a random sample of personnel teacher by school files, interviewing school personnel and distributing questionnaires to school personnel.

The Department of Education has received about 150 applications for the position of assistant superintendent for curriculum. Committee work on the applications will begin in about three weeks, Mrs. Colgan said.

Interest in the planning procedure. Ginter said that he felt the changes would help. The elimination of the traffic signal near the post office will eliminate traffic backup that often blocks traffic headed in other directions, he said.

The right turn lanes also would help unimpair traffic, he said. Without the new traffic islands, right turns on red lights would not be permitted at the intersection, Ginter said. At least one commissioner, William Bayer, was distressed that the PZC had not been shown the plans earlier in the planning procedure. "I resent being asked for an opinion when the plans are done," he said. Ginter said that the state always will listen to recommendations and could make changes. Bayer again questioned whether the changes would have much effect. These changes are preliminary ones that are part of a long-range plan for improving the intersection. The long-range plan will include the purchase of the Odd Fellows Building.

College seeks rooms

Manchester Community College is compiling a list of rooms or apartments for rent to students in the coming academic year. Many students attend the college from beyond a reasonable commuting distance and, therefore, require local housing. Homeowners and landlords wishing to list rooms or apartments with the college should contact John V. Gammon, associate dean of student affairs.

Opinion

Kids and critters

Animal bites. This is a problem at any time of the year, but when youngsters are out of school, the incidence of bites goes up. Teach your children to stand still if a strange dog approaches, and tell them not to bother any animals outdoors that they don't know. This applies, of course, to wild animals, too. The squirrels in the parks love treats, but they don't need to be fed directly from the hand. They have sharp teeth and can carry disease.

Thought

The gift also does more than that one man's sin. The sentence, due to one man, condemns us, but the gift, following many sins, makes us righteous. Romans 5:16

It is not the tree nor the animal, but the highest of creation that went against the creator, namely man himself - according to the Bible. The failure of the first man and woman becomes our inheritance. It's not so much a question of how, but the evidence is clearly seen day after day in the affairs of man.

Child abuse, parents dishonored before and after old age, stealing, murder, and slander, will demonstrate something wrong with us. Mankind isn't what it cracked up to be. Few want to admit it because it's too painful, a real look at self! Excuses come easier but it is not the best. The best is the gift of God! The gift, following many sins, makes us righteous."

The gift is Jesus Christ who became man, joined us in our situation.

"God so loved the world that he gave his only begotten son that whoever believes in him has everlasting life." (John 3:16)

whoever believes in him has everlasting life." (John 3:16)

The helpless are made safe, they of all having fallen short are "declared righteous." This is God's gift to us in Christ underscoring as we are.

College president given $90,000 toward house

By LEE RODERICK
"Stripps League Newspapers"

Point Lookout, Mo. - The president of the School of the Ozarks, an unusual private college established to educate students from low-income families, two years ago received more than $90,000 of school money to help pay for his lavish, private off-campus house.

In an agreement that has remained secret from the public until now, M. Graham Clark, head of the school for 26 years and one of the nation's best-known small-college presidents, was given the money by the school's board of trustees. The board's action came in April 1976 at the same meeting where its executive committee said the school "has serious financial problems itself."

The School of the Ozarks built itself as "the only accredited four-year college which provides room, board and tuition for each student." Its projected budget this year is $7.4 million - half of which must be raised through private donations given to assist the school's 1,200 students. Most of them are from the hardscrabble mountain country within a 150-mile radius of this campus near the Arkansas border in southeastern Missouri.

Clark, who is also an ordained Presbyterian minister, is well-known in religious and patriotic circles. He has served as Moderator of the Presbyterian Synod of Missouri and was national president of the Sons of the American Revolution in 1974-75.

Most students attending the School of the Ozarks work 20 hours a week in a variety of campus industries to help defray the cost of their education. One of the industries is construction.

Clark approached the school's blue-ribbon board in April 1974, requesting that the school's construction department be allowed to build him a private residence in 300 acres of land he owns south of the campus. In exchange, he agreed to pay "some $80,000" of his personal funds. Board members, including then-Missouri Gov. Christopher S. Bond, unanimously approved the arrangement. Bond left the board before it voted to pay off Clark's house.

By the time the house was completed in June 1975, its cost had ballooned to nearly $190,000. Overlooking picturesque Table Rock Lake, the two-story stone structure has such features as an elevator, swimming pool, two kitchens, and an elaborate alarm system including a motion detector.

"There's not another house like it in the Ozarks," said a board member.

In return for certain actions by the Clark, the board agreed that "The School of the Ozarks will absorb the balance of the cost of the house - $91,549.57 and shall wish for them many more years of happiness contentment in their retirement."

"Considerations" by the board in arriving at this solution were that Clark had: (1) given the school honorariums for his speaking engagements; (2) allowed the school's cattle to graze on his property; (3) donated several small parcels of land to the school; (4) paid for materials used to build his on-campus residence 30 years ago; (5) indicated the new house would continue to be used to entertain guests of the school.

During an interview in his office, Clark said he paid for the materials and labor to build the on-campus residence, and produced a recent appraisal valuing it at $65,000. The late R.M. Good, president of the school when Clark's on-campus house was built, told a number of persons that Clark paid for less than $500 worth of materials that went into the house.

At any rate, the residence is owned by the school.

The board stipulated in its April 1976 meeting that in return for the $91,549, the Clarks would vacate the campus home "within one year so that it may be utilized for school use in future years." More than two years later, they continue to live in the campus house, using the new, off-campus residence primarily for entertaining visitors to the school.

The Clarks were also to contribute such furnishings of the campus home "as they wish to the school, and to allow the cattle to continue grazing on their land. Finally, the board ordered that "any further additions or improvements to Dr. Clark's personal

Open forum Ehrlich backer

To the editor:

Recently I wrote a letter to Mr. John Toner, athletic director - UConn, and Mr. Barry Bertram, Connecticut Radio Network, expressing my feelings about George Ehrlich, The Voice of UConn.

In that letter I said the following: Dear Mr. Toner and Mr. Bertram: Everywhere in Connecticut you hear "George Ehrlich is the best UConn radio and TV announcer in the state. Why isn't he doing all the UConn basketball and football games?"

I SAY let's get George Ehrlich, the "Voice of UConn," back reporting UConn basketball and football on radio and TV.

As a former UConn athlete, I have been close to sports announcers and from my experience I can really say that George Ehrlich has super qualifications to do an outstanding UConn sportscasting. He is by far the most knowledgeable of all past UConn sportscasters. When he describes a particular play he can compare that one to a similar one in the past and it gives the listener a more meaningful story.

And how about his resonated voice... Remember Tony Marvin of the former Arthur Godfrey show? Tony has always been an outstanding announcer. George and Tony have the same qualities. George is clear and concise; he has charm and humility; he is dedicated to sports; you could listen to him all day and night, enjoy it, and come back for more.

Mr. John Toner, Mr. Barry Bertram - Please give the sports fans of UConn a big break... Let's get George Ehrlich, the voice of UConn, back where he belongs, reporting UConn basketball and football. We in Connecticut love him.

Sincerely,
Don Ross

Ted their kind of candidate

By Andrew Tully

WASHINGTON - His friends hope Sen. Ted Kennedy will receive. At this early stage of the 1980 Presidential campaign, they say, his endorsement by Americans for Democratic Action need not be fatal.

At its annual convention only a good hog holler from Jimmy Carter's office, the ADA did not formally announce the young Bay Stater. But big shots and spear carriers alike made it plain that Kennedy was their kind of candidate.

Sen. Kennedy, retiring as ADA's president, got a tumultuous response when he announced for Kennedy. So did Joe Raah, ADA's vice president, and a liberal leader since the Truman administration. Then the convention adopted a resolution telling Carter to shape up or ship out.

I am not sure Kennedy appreciated McGovern's endorsement. Senator Ted is much more conservative on many issues than is generally believed. But there was McGovern's endorsement "Is liberalism dead?" and noting that the polls show Democrats prefer Kennedy by 2 to 1 "to an incumbent from their own party. That's unheard of!"

And Kennedy, who likes to keep his options open, must have winced when Raah called him "the only alternative" to Carter - the most conservative president since Grover Cleveland."

It is true that a president has to do business with members of his own party in Congress. But Democrats on Capitol Hill also have to do business with Jimmy Carter in order to pick up assorted loot for the folks back home. Carter is unlikely to go along with a creek dredging or military base for Massachusetts to benefit the hero of a liberal organization that wants to kick him out of the White House.

From the viewpoint of a potential presidential candidate, ADA's trouble is that it always manages to wind up in the left field bleachers when most of the votes are in the grandstand. There was Joe Raah, for example, dismissing known corruption and donating a mill which operates on campus.

John Kennedy once said that the ADA's support "is something I'd do my best to avoid." If he really wants to run for president, Brother Ted had better tell McGovern, Raah & Co. to lay off.

In the face of polls that show the average citizen sick unto death of waste in government, Raah announced that it was "better to have them with some fraud than no program at all." That kind of "liberal" talk won't win any votes from people still outraged by the disclosure that $8 billion disappeared between the floorboards at the Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

Maybe California's famous Proposition 13 will turn out to be a turkey, but it is still the people speaking out against the burden of high taxes, and the revolt is spreading across the country. And yet all McGovern could find to say was that Prop 13 "has overtones of racism." The man seems constitutionally unable to grasp the point, which is that Californians voted their pocketbooks.

Indeed, the only note of realism at the ADA convention was struck by Massachusetts Union president William Wimpinger, who complained that many liberals look down their noses at blue collar workers. He urged that the ADA reject the "myths" that such workers are "overpaid super-patriots of hawkish and racist views." That's talking to the country, not to liberal elitists.

John Kennedy once said that the ADA's support "is something I'd do my best to avoid." If he really wants to run for president, Brother Ted had better tell McGovern, Raah & Co. to lay off.

Several other board members didn't hesitate to defend the house agreement. They noted Clark's penchant for hard work and insisted the deal was a reasonable good proposition. Many of his long years of service. During those years, the School of the Ozarks shed its high school status - Jimmie Williams, founder in 1908 - to become a four-year college in 1964. Many close observers give Clark the lion's share of credit for the transformation.

The "You can't blame somebody for trying" comment by Common Pleas Court Judge Walter Pickett started a lurch among feminists. And Rep. Paul LaRosa, D-Hartford, demanded Pickett's performance on the bench be reviewed.

LaRosa last month released a partial transcript of the May 17 probable cause hearing. Pickett claimed his degree, sexual assault against LaBelle, saying the evidence did not support the charge.

Most of the testimony was by the rape victim, a 23-year-old Springfield, Mass., hitchhiker. She said she was picked up by LaBelle and three other men on Interstate 91 April 8.

The victim said LaBelle, Kendall Williams, Jimmie Williams, and Kevin Mooney, all of Hartford - drove her to Keeney Park. She said all three men off her clothes and raped her.

The victim said LaBelle did try to rape her and failed. She said he objected when someone stole her money and when Kendall began to beat her. The victim said she then was driven to Elmer Street and allowed to leave the car.

Williams, Neal and Kendall have been bound over for a Superior Court trial. But Pickett dismissed the charge of conspiracy for the first degree sexual assault against LaBelle, saying the evidence did not support the charge.

Mrs. Clarke notes odds in Senate district race

By MAL BARLOW
Herald Reporter

EAST HARTFORD - Esther B. Clarke announced her candidacy for the Third District state senatorial post Monday evening among 60 GOP friends and supporters at the Raymond Library.

"As with most candidacies, mine has been an open secret for several weeks," she began.

She noted the odds against her, a Republican, winning such a prized job in a district that, in East Hartford at least, has far more registered Democrats. The western portion of Manchester in the district has only about one third the number of voters as East Hartford although the party registration is nearly an even split.

"However, this election year is unique," she said. "The voters of the district will, for the first time in many years, have the choice of fiscal conservatism or a continuation of the old, spendthrift ways."

She pledged restraint in government. She said citizens require "a substantial modification of expensive new programs, a light rein on spending for existing programs, and a tax structure which will permit them to battle the serious inflation which has been eroding their standard of living and quality of life."

She pledged a vigorous campaign against the Democratic candidate who is expected to be Marcella Falay, winner of a spring primary against Sen. George Hannon Jr.

"About the Third District, she said, 'Our citizens are middle income wage earners, both blue collar and white collar. My family fits that description. All of us are being battered by inflation. While we wait inflation chew up our spending power, we also watch taxes rise.'

"Since government seems powerless to stem inflation, it is up to us to stem government."

"We cannot afford an income tax. We need a lower or modified sales tax. We need less costly government."

"If we approve of new programs, we must approve only if these programs have a price tag attached, a price tag that is cost effective."

"But we cannot destroy government. All we can do is hope and struggle to make it work better, to make it work for the majority."

"To do this, we need a change in control of the legislature and a change in the occupation of the governor's office. If I am nominated and

Mayor not satisfied with reason for fee

EAST HARTFORD - Mayor Richard H. Blackstone said he is still not satisfied with the Greater Hartford Transit District's explanation for the five percent fee it charged for processing the town's $17,960 grant for the Call-A-Ride system.

Arthur Handman, executive director of the district, had defended the fee before the Town Council last Tuesday. He said the fee was used for paper work, monitoring and enforcement of the service.

"Although he was not at the council meeting, the mayor said he has still not received a reason to justify the fee."

"It's still money that's coming right out of the town," he said.

He said the five percent fee, which amounts to $898, actually amounts to two and one-half percent of the total cost of the program. The mass transit grant is supposed to cover half of the cost.

The dispute over the $898 started when the mayor objected to a letter to the council of the district's "skimming" the $898, in view of a $2,890 voluntary contribution the town makes to the district.

This is the first year the district has requested the $898 fee for the Call-A-Ride service, which provides free transportation to the handicapped and the elderly.

"I still believe they are skimming the money from the town," he said.

Welfare change

HARTFORD (UPI) - The state Department of Social Services is revising its welfare grant formula so all recipients will receive a 10 percent increase proposed by Gov. Ella Grasso and approved in the past legislature.

Lawyers from the Legal Services Legislative Office said the department's formula inadvertently provided 97 percent of the welfare recipients with a less than 10 percent increase.

The department said Monday the increase is effective Saturday, and will be applied across-the-board to all welfare grants.

Dismissal illegal

HARTFORD (UPI) - A religion-oriented television station in Hartford illegally fired six employees in May 1977, says an administrative law judge for the National Labor Relations Board.

WHCTV, operated by the non-profit Hartford Faith Center, fired the six employees for complaining about the hours they worked and for engaging in union activity.

Judge George Norman, in a decision made public Monday, ordered Channel 18 to compensate the workers for pay lost.

He also said the station must negotiate with Local Union #2 of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers. AFI-CIO, and restore benefits changed or dropped without the union's consent.

Careless flying
FAIRFIELD (UPI) - A Brooklyn pilot who thought Long Island Sound was the Hudson River and made a forced landing Monday on the Merritt Parkway has been charged with careless flying.

Jerry Green, 56, of the Brooklyn section of New York, became lost and ran out of gasoline en route from Montauk Lane in Wurtsboro, N.Y., to Little Ferry, N.J., police officials said.

He was forced to make an emergency landing on the parkway about 1:45 p.m. Monday. No one was reported injured.

State's attorney probes rape and judge conduct

HARTFORD (UPI) - A state's attorney is investigating the gang rape of a woman and a judge's dismissal of a conspiracy count against one of the four accused men with the school words: "You can't blame somebody for trying."

The victim said LaBelle, Kendall Williams, Jimmie Williams, and Kevin Mooney, all of Hartford - drove her to Keeney Park. She said all three men off her clothes and raped her.

The victim said LaBelle did try to rape her and failed. She said he objected when someone stole her money and when Kendall began to beat her. The victim said she then was driven to Elmer Street and allowed to leave the car.

Williams, Neal and Kendall have been bound over for a Superior Court trial. But Pickett dismissed the charge of conspiracy for the first degree sexual assault against LaBelle, saying the evidence did not support the charge.

Retiring teachers honored at party

EAST HARTFORD—The Board of Education honored 21 retiring staff members the night of June 19 at a special reception at the Penney High School cafeteria.

Lawrence DePonte, chairman of the board, said the combined years of service of the retirees totaled 350. Presiding at the reception was "a very pleasant" for him, he said.

With him were the other members of the board, friends and relations of the retirees, and Superintendent Eugene Diggs and top members of his staff.

The retirees and the jobs they are leaving are: Mrs. Margaret K. Bleezard, head teacher of Second North; Mrs. Felicia Carrier, matron; Mrs. Elaine Case, elementary teacher; Mrs. Lillian Daniel, art teacher; Mrs. Eleanor Dawson, secretary at Willowbrook; Frederick F. Dooley, EHS math teacher and Peter Gamuta, elementary teacher. Also, Louis Kay, custodial foreman; George McKenna, attendance; Mrs. Frances Newton, elementary teacher; Russell Rhoda, head custodian at Penney; Marvin A. Ross, elementary teacher; Mrs. Mary Jane Wilson, EHS science teacher; and Mrs. Dorothy Zuckin, elementary guidance counselor.

Also, Joseph Bernier, custodian; Mrs. Ethel Gallup, state and federal program teacher; Mrs. Riette L. Heilper, elementary teacher; Mrs. Greichen Jones, elementary teacher; Leon B. Kennedy, maintenance; Jack Wiese, physical education; Mrs. Margaret Zick, Penney matron.

All of them completed their years of service at the close of school Friday.

Board of Education Chairman Lawrence DePonte pins a corsage on the lapel of retiring art teacher Mrs. Lillian Daniel during the board's annual party for retirees. He thanked her for her 23 years of service to East Hartford's budding artists. She worked at 18 of the town's schools (all those on a busline as she doesn't drive). "I enjoyed the East Hartford children," she will expand her work now as an appraiser of art work.

Outside placements will cost Vernon more than $89,000

VERNON—The Town of Vernon will be sending some 30 students to various schools and institutions outside the school system next year. Of the total, seven will not cost the town anything.

For the others, using tuition figures for the current school year, it will cost the town $89,472 plus transportation costs.

Five students presently in outside placement will be returning to the Vernon system in the fall. Also seven students who had been attending the Regional Occupational Training Center in Manchester, the Institute of Living, Children's Center, and Egan I, have either graduated, moved or dropped out.

The highest tuitions are paid for those students who go to the CHEC programs. The highest charge for these is $7,400 with the others averaging about $6,000. All fees are plus transportation costs.

Many of the students are returning to their place of study and many of them were new placements after the school year, which just ended, was started. Several of them have been switched from one place to another.

The cases which do not involve any costs to the town are those that are placed outside the system for the reasons other than the fact that the Vernon School system cannot provide the proper program such as programs for children with hearing problems and programs for hearing of drug problems.

Of those scheduled for outside placement next school year, six will go to Newton Children's Hospital and Training Center; six will be involved in Capitol Regional Education Center (CHREC) programs; several will go to Newton Children's Hospital and others will be attending Mansfield Day Treatment Center, Institute of Living, Waterford Country School, New Hope Manor, Valley Head in Lenox, Mass., Oak Hill School, Adolescent Drug Rehabilitation Unit (ADRU), and American School for the Deaf.

Wernon board drops suit against state

By BARBARA RICHMOND
Herald Reporter

VERNON—With new legislation promising that towns will be reimbursed 100 percent for students placed outside the school system, the board of education has dropped its suit against the state.

The local board was the first in the state to bring court action after the board voted to only pay the amount it would cost to educate a student in Vernon, for cases placed by the state and not the local placement team.

The court case has been pending for some two years and several hearings were conducted in Hartford.

The board's attorney and board member Harold Cummings, who is also an attorney, recommended that the board pay all of the educational costs which were in question over the past two years and that proceedings be dropped at the state level.

School board wraps up budget package

VERNON—Shortly before midnight Monday the Board of Education tied a ribbon on its budget package for 1978-79, containing the $125,000 cut imposed by the Town Council.

The cuts were not made without some misgivings on the part of the board members as to possible areas where they may have to spend more money than they anticipate.

A motion to add $1,500 to the competitive athletics budget to fund a girls' track program, failed with Woolwich breaking a tie vote. The program itself had previously been approved by the board but no money was put into the budget for it.

A motion made by board member Robert Schwartz, to reduce the driver education budget by $2,000 and to increase the fees charged from $30 to $35, passed.

Area approved for cuts include: $45,000 in employee turnover; $11,500 (risk) in bus liability insurance and contract adjustment; $20,882, elimination of a teacher at Talcottville School and one at the high school; $3,500 in teaching supplies; $3,000 for employee travel; $1,000 for reduction of one bus; and $1,000 for periodicals.

Also: $500 for library books (professional); $1,000 for data processing seminar; $2,000 adult education program; $1,500 for fringe and Bolton and the only way they could participate in after school functions was to have the late bus.

She also said the new high school principal is setting up a detention program for students who are discipline problems and the bus will be needed to take them home.

He also said it will serve students in the Drug Advisory Program and

Jeff Potterton and Debbie Pullo, Bolton High School students, share a happy moment as they receive trophies for being the top athletes at the school. The awards were presented recently. Bolton High School's graduation exercises are scheduled for tonight at 6. (Herald photo by Dunn)

PZC reduces budget as asked by council

COVENTRY—The Planning and Zoning Commission (PZC) last night stripped $1,500 from its $38,695 budget proposal for 1978-79 in accordance with a Town Council request to reduce the overall package by 3 mills.

The council has cut overall government spending almost $36,000 in the wake of the defeat of its $4.6-million proposed budget in a referendum last week and will hold another budget session Thursday in an attempt to reduce the overall package by 3 mills.

Cuts were made by the PZC in personnel services. The council had asked that the full-time position and full-time secretary job not be touched. Zoning Agent Ernest Wheeler asked that the commission consider cutting his part-time hours still further because of an "undercurrent in the town that either he or the PZC must go," he said, but the PZC declined to do so.

In other business the PZC unanimously adopted a new zoning regulation pertaining to swimming pools. "A swimming pool shall be considered an accessory use or accessory structure and must be located no closer than 20 feet from a rear lot line," the new rule stipulates.

Town Planner Gregory Padick said the regulation would clarify the fact that swimming pools are considered an accessory use to an existing structure. The wording of the new section was approved by town attorney Abbot Schwelb and received no opposition from the Capital Region Council of Governments.

Padick reported that Town Sanitarian Donald Himes was unsatisfied with the drainage data submitted to him in 1976. He also said Schwelb warned that liability could fall on the town if it accepted ownership of a pond which will be part of the development's proposed drainage system.

Two abutting property owners expressed concern about the subdivision plans, fearing that some trees and stone walls in the area would be undermined by the construction. The PZC hopes to have additional hydrological information on hand by its July 24 meeting.

Another public hearing on the application of Trowbridge Homes to complete a subdivision on Richmond Road was continued to July 10. This applicant wishes to have a four-acre parcel, left over from a previously approved subdivision, accepted by PZC as a building lot.

Action tabled on firehouse renovations, driveway paving

BOLTON—The Board of Fire Commissioners has tabled action on bids for renovations to the second floor of the firehouse and paving the driveway at the firehouse until its July meeting. Only one bid was received on the renovations and two bids for the paving.

Two motions by members of the board did not receive seconds and therefore no action was taken. Commissioner Carl Preuss moved to purchase two reconditioned portable radios and Leonard Giglio moved to go into executive session to discuss an accident involving fire department vehicles on June 2.

Fire chief James Preuss was asked by the commissioners to get estimates for repairs to the vehicles and was also asked to draw up a list of requirements to qualify drivers of those vehicles.

The commissioners gave the volunteer fire department permission to participate in several area parades.

Outstanding athletes receive Rham awards

HEBRON—Mary Vashalfski and Timothy Fisher were named the most outstanding athletes at Rham High School at a recent banquet.

Several other students also received athletic awards. Gary Colro was named the most valuable player. In tennis Mark Vanty was named the most improved player and James Hingles won the singles award and Mike Dreyer and Daniel Welch, doubles.

In track and field the most valuable player award went to Rosemary Gleason and the most improved player was Robin Peterson.

In boys track and field Brad Miner was named the most valuable player and Grey Young the most improved.

In golf, Cliff Burnham received the award for the most valuable player and Dana Weber, the most improved.

Mary Vashalfski was the most valuable player in girls' basketball and Kathy Philbrick the most improved while Beth Folsom was named the best defensive player.

In boys' baseball Crandall Vopp was named most valuable player, most improved, Doug Moore and best defensive player, Tom Gardner.

Condition critical for injured cyclist

Arthur J. Miller Jr., 22, of Glastonbury was still in serious condition at the hospital when he was hit by a car on Interstate Highway 84 in Manchester near the Bolton town line Saturday.

Miller sustained serious head, chest and abdominal injuries when his westbound vehicle tipped over. The accident resulted in another accident a few minutes later.

State Police said Richard V. Dipolo, 17, of 41 Baldwin Road was driving on the highway and stopped his car to prevent oncoming traffic from hitting Miller. A pickup truck driven by James A. Barrow did not see the motorcycle and swerved and flattened into Dipolo's car and into a guardrail. Barrow was treated for minor injuries when his westbound vehicle tipped over. The accident is still under investigation by Troop K of Colchester.

Connell to seek nomination for congressional seat

VERNON—Thomas Connell, a Vernon attorney, has announced he will be a candidate for the Republican nomination to run for Congress in the 2nd District. If successful it is expected he will run against Democratic incumbent, Christopher Dodd.

Connell has already been endorsed by the Vernon Republican Town Committee and by the executive committee of the Greater East Connecticut. Before taking that action the group had indicated a preference for a "no endorsement policy" of a congressional candidate before the nominating convention on July 15.

Connell made his announcement Saturday in Vernon. He was born in Old Greenwich, served in the U.S. Navy and graduated from Wesleyan University and later completed his law degree at the University of Connecticut Law School.

He maintains a law practice in Hartford. He is a member of the Connecticut Bar Association and the Hartford and Tolland County Bar Associations.

He is admitted to the state court, the U.S. District Court of Connecticut and has been admitted to practice before the U.S. Supreme Court since 1971.

Connell announced many months ago that he would seek the nomination but then about six weeks ago decided to drop out. He said the reasons why he re-entered the race were important.

"Elections appear to have become a matter of big bucks. Mr. Dodd spent a great deal in 1976 running against an unknown accountant. The papers say Mr. Dodd is expected to spend $80,000 to $90,000 in 1978. That's a lot of money," he said.

He added, "I said to myself, if a person has been in office almost two full terms, and has already run two campaigns in the district, what on earth is he spending all that money for?"

He added, "I can't lack of name recognition. And if people do not know where he stands on the issues by now, I sure say a lot about the issues and feels he needs to explain himself."

He said the more he thought about it the more it bothered him. "Why should access to the democratic process be governed by money?"

He added, "We should be talking issues, not dollars."

"By running I hope to show that the political process is open to anyone with the desire to work hard and the ability to talk about issues," Connell said.

He said the job of a congressman consists of three things, political activity such as a ribbon cutting, and speaking at schools and attending affairs; service to the people; and legislative.

He termed the latter as what the job is supposed to be and that is what he wants to do.

"My political philosophy is based on the concept that in most cases it is best to reduce power, and to keep what power there has to be just as local as possible," Connell said.

Connell said his first priority would be to reducing the tax bite. "A tax campaign in the district, what on earth is he spending all that money for?"

He added, "I can't lack of name recognition. And if people do not know where he stands on the issues by now, I sure say a lot about the issues and feels he needs to explain himself."

Borg and Connors win first matches

WIMBLEDON, England (UPI) - Defending champion Bjorn Borg, seeking his third straight title, second-seeded Jimmy Connors and third-seeded Vitas Gerulaitis shrugged off wintry weather and won opening-round matches Monday to advance to the second round of the $510,000 Wimbledon tennis tournament.

More than two-thirds of Monday's scheduled 90 matches in the men's singles were not completed because of rain, moving the start of most of the women's singles matches back to Wednesday.

Despite the cold rain and numbing wind, a record crowd of 28,886 turned out for opening day at the All-England club. The pre-race-day attendance record was 24,866, set in 1974.

Thursday's center court matches pitting defending women's champion Virginia Wade of Britain, Amy, whose powerful serve and aggressive backhand volleys nearly engineered a major upset until the sixth game of the fourth set.

Other matches included Belgium's Michele Gurdal against No. 5 seed Billie Jean King, the finish of the Ony Faran-Tom Okker match, tied at one set each; Phil Dent against Tony Roche and Britain's Se Bunker against Ann Kiyomura of the United States.

Borg said he was "lucky to survive" his five-set struggle against unseeded American left-hander Vitas Gerulaitis.

Connors, the 1974 champion who lost to Borg in last year's Wimbledon Centennial title match, had a tougher time than expected in beating unheralded Russell Simpson of New Zealand, 7-5, 9-8, 6-1.

Gerulaitis, in peak form and gunning for first Wimbledon crown, bested Switzerland's Heinz Günthard, 6-2, 6-2, 4-6, 6-1.

The only seed to fall on opening day was 19th-ranked Dick Stockton, whose unforced errors and erratic first serves handed Australian John Marks a 6-2, 9-8, 7-5 victory.

Other winners included Britain's Doug Flavel, 6-2, 6-2, 6-2, 6-2, and Buster Mottram of Britain, seeded 12th, topped Sweden's Douglas Palm, 7-5, 6-2, 6-2.

Prison superintendent Joseph Petrosky signed the 41-year-old former National League all-star center fielder to the prison camp before he is assigned a job at the camp, which houses about 500 inmates.

Cepeda was sentenced in San Juan, Puerto Rico, on Dec. 16, 1976. He remained free on bond while he appealed the conviction and sentence unsuccessfully. In May, U.S. District Judge Herman Pesquera gave Cepeda a month to put his affairs in order before he returns to the prison camp.

Cepeda earned Rookie of the Year honors in 1958 with the San Francisco Giants. In 1967 he was named the National League's Most Valuable Player as a first baseman for the St. Louis Cardinals.

Stan Brazauskas former Dovesletto, inducted into the Connecticut Softball Hall of Fame, will present trophies to Scholarship winners Jeff and Joe Scanlon and toss out the opening pitch.

Tommy Penders, former UConn basketball and baseball star recently appointed head basketball coach at Fordham, scheduled to play centerfield for the Raybestos Cardinals tonight when they opposed the Dorchester Graphics, - State Major Division champs, in the 22nd annual Kerry McGuire Memorial scholarship last-pitch softball game at McAuliffe Park Stadium in East Hartford.

Owner woke up Padres with blistering message

NEW YORK (UPI) - Since Ray Kroc yanked his club two weeks ago, the San Diego Padres have started to resemble a major-league baseball team, having won 10 of 15 games that put them just two games under .500.

Their latest victory - the sixth in a row - came Monday night, behind the combined five-hit pitching of Bob Ovechinko and Rollie Fingers, with a 2-1 win over the San Francisco Giants, the leaders of the National League West.

Tucker Ashford drew a bases-loaded walk off reliever Gary Lavelle with two outs in the 10th inning to push across the winning run, to hand Lavelle his sixth loss in 11 decisions.

Ovechinko knocked the Giants on five hits through the first nine innings then made way for a pinch runner, Willie Montaner, Lee Mazzilli, Ed Kranepool and Steve Henderson braced for New York.

Steve Rogers tossed a six-hitter and Andre Dawson doubled home two runs to help the Expos snap the Phillies' five-game winning streak. Steve Carlton lost his seventh game in 15 decisions.

In other NL games, Atlanta defeated Los Angeles, 5-2, Chicago edged New York, 10-9, Montreal whipped Philadelphia, 5-1, Pittsburgh topped St. Louis 5-4, in a suspended game, then won, 11-4, and Cincinnati nipped Houston, 4-3.

Browns 5-1, Dodgers 2; Cleveland, Gary Matthews and rookie Bob Horner homered to spark the Braves. Rick Monday hit the 11th homer for Los Angeles.

Cubs 10, Mets 9; Detroit, Tom Seaver's pinch-hit, grand slam homer highlighted a six-run fifth inning that lifted the Cubs to victory. Willie Montaner, Lee Mazzilli, Ed Kranepool and Steve Henderson braced for New York.

Scott key figure in three-club deal

DENVER (UPI) - The Denver Nuggets, looking to solidify their backcourt, have acquired veteran guard Charlie Scott in a complicated three-team trade.

Scott was obtained by Denver Monday from the Los Angeles Lakers in a trade that also involved the Kansas City Kings. The deal had been rumored for some time.

The Nuggets sent Darnell Hillman, first January when Brian Taylor quit the Kings' first-round draft choice Mike Evans to Kansas City for guard Ron Boone and the Kings' second-round pick in 1979.

Denver then traded Boone, the Virginia Squires of the American Basketball Association then moved to Phoenix. Following the 1974-75 season, he was traded to Boston and was on the NBA championship team.

The Celtics traded Scott to Los Angeles last December. He played 117 games with the Lakers, averaging 17.7 points.

Scott began his pro career with the Virginia Squires of the American Basketball Association then moved to Phoenix. Following the 1974-75 season, he was traded to Boston and was on the NBA championship team.

Wimbledon

WIMBLEDON, England (UPI) - Defending champion Bjorn Borg, seeking his third straight title, second-seeded Jimmy Connors and third-seeded Vitas Gerulaitis shrugged off wintry weather and won opening-round matches Monday to advance to the second round of the $510,000 Wimbledon tennis tournament.

Despite the cold rain and numbing wind, a record crowd of 28,886 turned out for opening day at the All-England club. The pre-race-day attendance record was 24,866, set in 1974.

Thursday's center court matches pitting defending women's champion Virginia Wade of Britain, Amy, whose powerful serve and aggressive backhand volleys nearly engineered a major upset until the sixth game of the fourth set.

Other matches included Belgium's Michele Gurdal against No. 5 seed Billie Jean King, the finish of the Ony Faran-Tom Okker match, tied at one set each; Phil Dent against Tony Roche and Britain's Se Bunker against Ann Kiyomura of the United States.

Borg said he was "lucky to survive" his five-set struggle against unseeded American left-hander Vitas Gerulaitis.

Connors, the 1974 champion who lost to Borg in last year's Wimbledon Centennial title match, had a tougher time than expected in beating unheralded Russell Simpson of New Zealand, 7-5, 9-8, 6-1.

Gerulaitis, in peak form and gunning for first Wimbledon crown, bested Switzerland's Heinz Günthard, 6-2, 6-2, 4-6, 6-1.

The only seed to fall on opening day was 19th-ranked Dick Stockton, whose unforced errors and erratic first serves handed Australian John Marks a 6-2, 9-8, 7-5 victory.

Other winners included Britain's Doug Flavel, 6-2, 6-2, 6-2, 6-2, and Buster Mottram of Britain, seeded 12th, topped Sweden's Douglas Palm, 7-5, 6-2, 6-2.

Prison superintendent Joseph Petrosky signed the 41-year-old former National League all-star center fielder to the prison camp before he is assigned a job at the camp, which houses about 500 inmates.

Cepeda was sentenced in San Juan, Puerto Rico, on Dec. 16, 1976. He remained free on bond while he appealed the conviction and sentence unsuccessfully. In May, U.S. District Judge Herman Pesquera gave Cepeda a month to put his affairs in order before he returns to the prison camp.

Cepeda earned Rookie of the Year honors in 1958 with the San Francisco Giants. In 1967 he was named the National League's Most Valuable Player as a first baseman for the St. Louis Cardinals.

Betty's notebook

By Betty Ryder

Had a marvelous trip to Toronto last weekend. The weather was great and the activities planned for us overabundant.

The manager of the Four Seasons, Ibrahim Fahmy, hosted a gala dinner for about 20 of us, and his executive chef, Fred Reinold, who has captured many culinary honors, really outdid himself.

We started with a delicious jellied palate, followed by cream of avocado soup, fiddlehead and watercress salad, poached salmon with dill sauce, tiny white potatoes cut to resemble mushrooms, and baked tomatoes filled with tiny quick-fried cucumbers.

The courses were served with three different wines and for dessert we had Breche cheese with plump green grapes.

I interviewed Reinold so will pass some of the recipes along in your Neighbor's Kitchen soon.

Off to the races
We had an enjoyable day at the races viewing the 118th running of the Queen's Plate at Woodbine Race Track.

As is traditional at this race, royalty is always present to represent the Queen of England, and the Earl of Westmoreland, recently appointed Master of the Horse to Her Majesty the Queen, did the honors.

The Queen's Guard in full color and astride handsome horses preceded the Lord's impressive black and gold carriage, and an honor guard formed the path for the Lord and his lady to enter the royal box overlooking the race track. Lady Westmoreland wore a beige chiffon dress and a large picture hat looking just as though she were at a garden party.

I picked the winner, a handsome fellow named "Regal Embrace" who, incidentally, was not considered a favorite, but he came in first, nevertheless.

Earlier in the day, I picked another winner. Now this horse was named "Lone Arranger" and you must know where my mind wandered. That's right, to the well-known Connecticut bank that features a large white cowboy hat in its advertisements and calls itself the "Lone Arranger."

Following the entertainment, we went to the Newfoundland pavilion and found the most entertaining group of young boys, the Mt. Cashel dancers, doing a clog dance. They were from a Newfoundland orphanage and appeared to range in age from 6 to 14. The Rev. Dr. Burton is director. There we sampled a glass of "Screch," which is purported to be found or made only in Newfoundland.

We had breakfast one morning in the Top of Toronto revolving restaurant. There is an ever-changing view from the restaurant, 1,150 feet off the ground.

It is considered to be the largest free-standing tower in the world, and from its observation galleries one can see the City of Toronto, Toronto Islands and Lake Ontario with the Niagara peninsula beyond.

The elevators soar at a speed of 1,200 feet per minute and each has a skylight and window wall to heighten the sensation.

When you do come back down to earth, little paddle boats are available in which to travel around the reflecting pool at the base of the tower, or if you prefer you may stand and admire Canada's largest bronze sculpture, Universal Man, by Gerald Gladstone.

Caravan
One of our night trips was to participate in Caravan 78, which is a nine-day travel adventure through 50 fascinating "international cities" tucked away around Toronto.

You purchase a passport, and that entitles you to visit and enjoy the music and culture of any of the "cities." There are buses available and you need only get on one, get off at the exhibit of your choice, and later board another bus and continue on.

We were ushered into the New Orleans pavilion to music reminiscent of Duke Ellington or Louis Armstrong and the performers marched in to the tune of "Basin Street Blues." We dined on chicken jambalaya, pumpernickel bread with ham topped with a tasty cheese sauce, and topped it off with pecan pie.

Lady Westmoreland wore a beige chiffon dress and a large picture hat looking just as though she were at a garden party.

I picked the winner, a handsome fellow named "Regal Embrace" who, incidentally, was not considered a favorite, but he came in first, nevertheless.

Earlier in the day, I picked another winner. Now this horse was named "Lone Arranger" and you must know where my mind wandered. That's right, to the well-known Connecticut bank that features a large white cowboy hat in its advertisements and calls itself the "Lone Arranger."

Following the entertainment, we went to the Newfoundland pavilion and found the most entertaining group of young boys, the Mt. Cashel dancers, doing a clog dance. They were from a Newfoundland orphanage and appeared to range in age from 6 to 14. The Rev. Dr. Burton is director. There we sampled a glass of "Screch," which is purported to be found or made only in Newfoundland.

We had breakfast one morning in the Top of Toronto revolving restaurant. There is an ever-changing view from the restaurant, 1,150 feet off the ground.

It is considered to be the largest free-standing tower in the world, and from its observation galleries one can see the City of Toronto, Toronto Islands and Lake Ontario with the Niagara peninsula beyond.

The elevators soar at a speed of 1,200 feet per minute and each has a skylight and window wall to heighten the sensation.

When you do come back down to earth, little paddle boats are available in which to travel around the reflecting pool at the base of the tower, or if you prefer you may stand and admire Canada's largest bronze sculpture, Universal Man, by Gerald Gladstone.

Caravan
One of our night trips was to participate in Caravan 78, which is a nine-day travel adventure through 50 fascinating "international cities" tucked away around Toronto.

You purchase a passport, and that entitles you to visit and enjoy the music and culture of any of the "cities." There are buses available and you need only get on one, get off at the exhibit of your choice, and later board another bus and continue on.

We were ushered into the New Orleans pavilion to music reminiscent of Duke Ellington or Louis Armstrong and the performers marched in to the tune of "Basin Street Blues." We dined on chicken jambalaya, pumpernickel bread with ham topped with a tasty cheese sauce, and topped it off with pecan pie.

Legion calls special meet

Cmdr. Clarence Mikoleit Jr. of the Dilworth-Cornell-Quey Post of the American Legion in Manchester, has called a special meeting for July 11 at 8 p.m. at the post home.

Items on the agenda will include the annual report of all committee chairmen and officers, and any other business necessary for order and transition of duties of post officers.

All members are asked to be present.

Mikoleit asked that all delegates and alternates to the state convention to be held July 13, 14 and 15 be punctually present.

The commander also reminds members that all post members have a voice in post affairs, not just the officers, and solicits their advice and recommendations.

Following the meeting, refreshments will be served.

Capitol repair plans set

HARTFORD (UPI) — Legislative leaders confronted with a color slide show of a crumbling Capitol, have endorsed a plan to use "informal" bidding procedures for emergency repairs.

The Legislative Management Committee Monday was treated to a "horror show" of slides revealing decaying marble pillars, rotting wooden window frames and disintegrating plaster ceilings.

"I think the first thing we should do is adjourn the meeting and get out of the building," said House Speaker James Kennedy, D-Hartford, when the lights came on after the slide show.

Dominic Cimino, the architect the state has hired to restore the Capitol, told the legislative leaders that some parts of the building have to be repaired right away because they pose safety hazards.

In the chamber of the House of Representatives, scaffolding was put up before the last session to keep falling plaster from crowing lawmakers. Cimino presented one slide that showed several large chunks of plaster that would have fallen to the floor if the scaffolds had not been in place.

Rev. Joseph Devine, chairman of the Commission on the Preservation and Restoration of the Capitol Building, told the lawmakers normal bidding procedures would delay emergency repairs for three to four months.

Cimino and Devine asked the lawmakers to allow them to use "informal" bidding procedures to get the work done as soon as possible. They assured the committee the informal bidding procedures are legal and will save the state money in the long run.

Under Cimino's plan, jobs will be divided up and put under different contracts. All work will be less than $50,000. After listening to Cimino's plea, Kennedy said, "To me it would be intolerable to start the session in January with any safety hazard."

"There's no question about the urgency," agreed Senate President Pro Tem Joseph Faulstich, D-Hartford.

In the end, the committee agreed the repairs had to be done. Members voted to give their blessing to the informal bidding process.

Moffett will run again

NEW BRITAIN (UPI) — Rep. Toby Moffett, D-Conn., has formally announced his candidacy for reelection to the House of Representatives from the 6th Congressional District.

Moffett, who has been in office since 1964, said he has tried to become one of the best investigative legislators in Washington, said Monday he will continue fighting government waste while also defending government programs that work well.

"Many Medicare complaints, for example, helped me discover the need for changes in that program. Complaints from industry about unnecessary government forms has led to changes as well," he said.

Moffett, a member of the House Commerce Committee, had proposed a health care amendment that would have required doctors to accept Medicare payments for services performed in hospitals instead of billing patients themselves.

Betty's memoirs

The Ladies' Home Journal has purchased exclusive first North American serial rights to the life story of former First Lady Betty Ford.

The price — undisclosed, but said by Journal Editor Lenore Hershey to be a record-breaker.

Ms. Hershey calls the book — titled "The Times of My Life" and written with Chris Chase — "the major women's story of our time." The Journal will run the story in its October and November issues.

No wedding bells
Christian Onassis says she's not in Moscow strictly on business — not to marry a Muscovite — and she has a few strong words for rumors to the contrary.

She's the shipping heiress of a London Daily Express story that she's about to wed a Soviet citizen identified as Nikolai Ivanovich Kaosov.

"I have never heard anything so stupid and I don't know what the hell they are talking about. ... It's absolutely preposterous."

The good fight
Former heavyweight champion George Foreman visited California's San Quentin Prison Sunday — not to box.

The former champ — now a born-again Christian who lives on a ranch in Marshall, Texas — baptized 21 inmates in the service.

Marshall Foreman's former manager, Henry C. Winston, "I was touched. It brought tears to my eyes."

Quote of the day
Former President Richard Nixon, asked in Anaheim, Calif., at the California Angels' baseball game he attended as the guest of team owner Gene Autry, what squad position he thinks is most valuable: "I wouldn't say any one in particular. It's difficult to be in a squad."

Restaurant name didn't hurt sales
MIDDLETOWN (UPI) — The name "Sambo's" apparently didn't offend enough people to hurt the opening day business of the fast food restaurant Monday.

Manager Gary Asselin said he was "very happy" with the crowd that turned out. He said he didn't think the name "Sambo's" hurt sales.

Community groups, like residents in other cities, objected to the name "Sambo's Restaurant" because it connotes "Little Black Sambo" — a children's book they say is racist.

The chain, based in Santa Barbara, Calif., and with more than 900 restaurants nationwide, contends the name is a combination of the names of its founders, Sam Battistone and F. Newell Bohmert.

Because of local opposition, the company did change the restaurant's name to "The July Tiger" in Heston, Va.; three stores in the Albany, N.Y., area; and New Bedford, Mass. The change also is being considered in Bayham, Mass.

The 6-month Treasury Passbook (Only at CBT)

The key to getting high interest without locking up your money for years.

Most banks are delighted to pay higher interest. As long as you leave your money on deposit for a year or more.

Now CBT will pay you that same kind of high interest without tying up your savings for years.

CBT's new Treasury Passbook gives you the same annual earning power as 6-month U.S. Treasury Bills. But in amounts that fit your savings needs.

Like U.S. Treasury Bills, the minimum deposit is $10,000.

But unlike U.S. Treasury Bills, CBT Treasury Passbooks are available in any amount over $10,000.

And there is no transaction charge.

The interest your CBT Treasury Passbook earns is determined by the U.S. Treasury 6-month bill rate in effect at the date your Passbook is issued.

(For example, the official auction rates for Treasury Bills in recent weeks has been in excess of 7%.)

CBT's Information Line:
1-800-842-0049 (Toll Free in CT.)

Opening a CBT Treasury Passbook Account is simple. Just see your Personal Banker™ at any CBT branch. For more information, call Janet Ellsworth at this toll-free number, or send the coupon.

Some special CBT advantages

Your CBT Treasury Passbook is available with another convenient plus — free checking. You will also receive CBT's Combined Monthly Statement, an invaluable document that itemizes not only your checking transactions but all savings activities too.

So if you're looking for a better way to earn more interest faster, you'll find it in CBT's Treasury Passbook.

We'll take your banking needs personally.

Try sweet 'n' sour trout

Why wait for a party to serve sweet 'n' sour trout? This dish makes a great family meal, especially for Oriental foods fans.

Polynesian-inspired, the dish features fresh or frozen rainbow trout. Serve with rice, Chinese noodles and a dessert of fresh melon in season.

Sweet 'n' Sour Trout
6 small, whole dressed, fresh or frozen, rainbow trout
1 clove garlic, crushed
1 tablespoon vegetable oil
1 can (6 oz.) pineapple juice
½ cup water
¼ cup firmly packed light brown sugar
2 tablespoons white vinegar
2 tablespoons soy sauce
2 tablespoons watermelon pickle

juice
2 tablespoons chopped watermelon pickles (or 2 tablespoons sweet pickle juice and 2 tablespoons chopped sweet pickles)
2 tablespoons cornstarch
¼ cup water
¾ cup crinkle-cut carrots (3 small)
½ green pepper, cut in julienne strips
1 cup halved cherry tomatoes
2 packages (7¼ oz. each) bean threads
Cornstarch
2 eggs, beaten
Sesame oil

Thaw trout if frozen. Wash and dry. For sauce: In small saucepan, saute garlic in oil. Stir in pineapple juice, water, brown sugar, vinegar and soy sauce. Add watermelon pickle juice and chopped watermelon pickles. Combine cornstarch and water and stir into sauce. Place saucepan over medium heat and bring to a boil while stirring constantly. Continue to boil for 2 minutes.

In separate saucepan, cook carrots and green pepper in water until tender. Drain and add to sauce along with tomatoes. Keep sauce warm while frying trout.

To fry trout: Blend bean threads in a blender until coarsely ground. Dip trout into cornstarch to coat; then dip into beaten egg and finally into ground bean threads. (Or coat trout with cornmeal or flour.) Fry in skillet in sesame oil until golden and fish flakes easily when tested with a fork. Do not overcook.

Serve trout with sweet 'n' sour sauce and rice. Makes 6 servings.

For the tailgater gourmet

Hiking picnics and tailgating at stadiums or in nearby parks call for hearty, yet non-troublesome foods.

Pita kraut sandwiches combines sauerkraut, knockwurst and sour cream as a tasty filling for the East European pita bread that is becoming known throughout the country.

The kraut version and one with tuna also are good suggestions for those in college who are into their own cooking, often for five or more housemates.

Pita Kraut Sandwiches
¼ cup butter or margarine

1 cup chopped onion
1 pound knockwurst, sliced diagonally

4 cups drained sauerkraut (about 32 ounces)
1½ cups sour cream
4 loaves pita bread

In a large saucepan melt butter. Add onion and knockwurst. Saute over medium heat, stirring occasionally until onion is tender, about 5 minutes. Stir in sauerkraut and heat until hot, stirring occasionally. Stir in sour cream and heat over low heat only until sour cream is heated. Do not boil. Cut each pita bread in half. Fill halves with kraut mixture.

Serve warm or cold. Makes four sandwiches.

Kraut-Tunawiches
2 cups drained sauerkraut
1 can (6½ or 7 ounces) tuna, drained
½ cup mayonnaise
¼ cup diced green pepper
2 tablespoons chopped onion
2 tablespoons sweet pickle relish
¼ teaspoon celery salt
6 hamburger buns, split and buttered

Combine kraut, tuna, mayonnaise, green pepper, onion, relish and celery salt. Mix well and chill. Fill hamburger buns with kraut-tuna salad. Makes 6 servings.

Hot dog pizza on the grill

Who ever heard of grilled pizza? It's a great way to enjoy this spicy Italian treat without heating up the whole house. And, what better way to celebrate National Hot Dog Month than trying out a new recipe that combines two American favorites, the hot dog and the pizza.

Easy to prepare, Hot Dog Pizza is perfect for camping trips, picnic or fishing outings. Quick, too, because it uses a no-yeast crust.

Hot Dog Pizza
2 cups buttermilk biscuit mix
½ cup water
1 8-oz. can pizza sauce
4 hot dogs, sliced
4 thin slices of medium size onion, separated into rings
½ cup (1 2¼-oz. jar) sliced black olives
½ cup (1 2¼-oz. jar or can) mushrooms, sliced
8-ozs. (2 cups) Mozzarella cheese, grated

Light your coals, then mix biscuit mix and water until it forms a soft dough. Knead 20 to 25 times. Divide dough into fourths and gently smooth into four balls. Let set for half an hour. Roll or pat dough into 8-inch circles. When coals become gray, place dough on grill about 6 inches above coals and cook for about three minutes — or until just crispy. With spatula, flip dough and spread generously with pizza sauce. Arrange sliced hot dogs, onion rings, olives and mushrooms evenly over the 4 circles. Sprinkle with mozzarella cheese and top with remaining pizza sauce. Grill for 10 minutes and then cover with foil and continue cooking for an additional 15 minutes. Yield: 4 generous servings.

Rainy day variation: Don't let rainy weather keep you from enjoying this quick and easy treat. Bake on a cookie sheet (2 pizzas to a sheet) in a preheated 425° oven for 15 minutes, or until nicely browned.

Walnut bread for brunch

A walnut snack bread makes a handsome treat to serve with an omelet or scrambled eggs and Canadian bacon. Start with freshly squeezed juice or fruits that are locally in season, such as strawberries, melon, peaches or blueberries.

Walnut Snack Bread
2 cups buttermilk baking mix
½ cup cold water
½ cup chopped California walnuts
½ cup canned pizza sauce

1 cup coarsely grated Cheddar, Jack or Mozzarella cheese
Stir baking mix, water and walnuts together until all of mix is moistened. Turn into greased 11¼-by-7¼-by-¼-inch baking pan. Oil fingers and pat out to an even, thin layer.

Spread pizza sauce over surface and sprinkle with cheese. Bake at 400 degrees for about 25 minutes, until baked through. Serve hot, cut into strips or squares. Makes 12 servings.

Soup-sandwich picnics

Soup and sandwiches make perfect picnic tables, as more and more outdoor enthusiasts are discovering. Small, compact thermal bags and vacuum bottles make toting simpler for hikers and bikers. Larger families, of course, will stow more food in thermal coolers for a long day of munching while sunning and funning in the outdoors.

Even on the hottest days, a hot cup of soup is welcome. Make a simple soup by combining condensed bean and mushroom soups or by adding herbs and other ingredients to a minestrone.

Marinated pepperoni, hard salami and cherry tomatoes make perfect basics when filling a pita bread pocket. Add your favorite lettuce, fresh spinach leaves or onion to the pocket sandwich and wrap each in foil to pack in your picnic basket.

Pockets—of—Fun Sandwiches
1 cup salad oil

1/4 cup vinegar
1/4 teaspoon oregano leaves, crushed
1/4 teaspoon onion powder
Generous dash pepper
6 ounces (about 1 1/2 cups) thinly sliced pepperoni
6 ounces (about 20 slices) thinly sliced hard salami
1 cup cherry tomatoes, cut in halves
4 individual pita breads (sandwich pockets)
Lettuce
Fresh spinach

For marinade, combine oil, vinegar, oregano, onion powder and pepper in shallow dish. Add pepperoni, salami and tomatoes. Cover. Chill 6 hours or more.

Remove meat and tomatoes from marinade. Line each pita bread with lettuce and spinach. Fill with meat-tomatomixture. Makes 4 sandwiches.

Bean—Mushroom Soup
1 can (11 1/2 oz.) condensed bean with bacon soup

1 can (10 1/2 oz.) condensed cream of mushroom soup
2 soup cans water
3 tablespoons grated Parmesan cheese
2 tablespoons ketchup
In large saucepan, combine soups. Gradually stir in remaining ingredients. Heat, stirring occasionally. Makes about 5 1/2 cups or 4 servings.

Picnic Soup
1/2 cup chopped green pepper
1 medium clove garlic, minced.
1/4 teaspoon thyme
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
2 cans (10 1/2 oz. each) condensed minestrone soup
2 soup cans water
1 cup sliced fresh mushrooms

In saucepan, cook green pepper, garlic and thyme in butter until green pepper is tender. Add remaining ingredients. Heat, stirring occasionally. Makes about 5 1/2 cups or 4 servings.

Spuds tasty outdoors

This is holiday and vacation time, when most Americans take advantage of longer hours of sunlight to enjoy the outdoors.

Cooking may be inside or outside on the grill. Whatever the family's choice, potatoes certainly will be part of the menu.

Potato boats, a variation of the shish kabob, may be baked in the oven or cooked over the grill. If using the grill, pre-cook potatoes until semi-soft when pricked with a fork. On the grill, these potato boats should take at least 15 minutes, turning every five minutes, if medium beef is desired.

Stuffed potatoes also are favorites for summer dining. A recipe that calls for green chilies also calls for some caution, however. Be certain to drain the chilies or they will be too hot for most diners.

Balkan Potato Boats
6 large potatoes
Butter
Parmesan cheese
1 pound ground beef
1 tablespoon anise seed
1 egg
1 clove garlic, crushed
1 small onion, minced
1 teaspoon salt
Green peppers, onions, mushrooms

Cut a lengthwise wedge from each potato. Rub the cut edge with butter. Sprinkle surfaces with cheese. Bake at 400 degrees for about 40 minutes until almost done.

Meanwhile, mix beef with anise seed, egg, garlic, minced onion and salt. Shape into small meat balls and brown lightly in a little hot oil. String on bamboo skewers with small chunks of pepper and onion. Finish off with a mushroom half.

Set skewers on potatoes and continue baking 15 minutes, basting with melted butter.

If you like, serve with a sauce made by combining equal amounts of tomato sauce and dairy sour cream. Heat the tomato sauce until it starts to bubble, remove from heat and blend in sour cream.

Owyhee Stuffed Potatoes
4 Idaho potatoes
1/2 cup warm milk
1 cup (8 oz.) creamed cottage cheese
1/4 cup finely chopped onion
2 tablespoons chopped, seeded, rinsed and drained green chilies

The facts about sugar

Do you realize that the average American now consumes his or her weight in sugar?

What effect does this enormous amount of sugar have on raising or lowering the serum cholesterol in man's blood? Does that extra spoonful of sugar in your morning coffee or that big almond-chocolate bar on the way home from school in any way endanger your heart? These remain vital questions because of the incidence of heart disease in North America.

Sugar, and its effects, is at the center of the controversy. Some extremists condemn it as though it was poison. On the other hand food processors and sugar manufacturers make defensive statements that often are equally insane.

Table sugar consists entirely or mainly of sucrose. It occurs naturally in sugar cane, sugar beets, sugar maple, sorghum and sugar palms. Sugar's main contribution to nutrition is quick energy.

Sugar in current use seems to be

1 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon pepper
Scrub potatoes well. Dry and prick with fork. Bake in 425-degree oven for 55 to 60 minutes, until soft. Immediately cut slice from top of each.

Carefully scoop out potato without breaking skin. Place potato in a large bowl. Mash with milk. Stir in remaining ingredients.

Pile potato mixture into shells. Bake in 350-degree oven for 25 to 30 minutes. Makes 4 servings.

added to almost everything, so it is difficult to avoid a rather large intake. It is added to canned vegetables, soups, pickles, breads, barbecue sauce and breakfast cereals. It adds nothing but calories — no protein, minerals, or vitamins — to these foods.

Does all this extravagant use of sugar in any way threaten to increase serum cholesterol in the body? Dr. D. Mark Hegsted, research nutritionist with the Harvard School of Public Health, is noted for his sane stand on all the recent food panics.

"In the first place, I can find no reason to suspect sugar to have any effect on the body's serum cholesterol. But I do caution people to eat less sugar. It is not needed. Many natural foods contain sugar, mainly fruits and many vegetables and whole grain cereals. Eat more of these and you will find you don't need so much table sugar. This is contrary to what the anti-sugar fanatics tell you.

Easy cookout favorites

What's a cookout without barbecued chicken? For quick basting, combine orange juice concentrate and Worcestershire sauce. Use it to baste chicken on the grill every 5 minutes.

Round out an easy meal with your favorite potato or bean dishes and a wilt-proof mushroom-vegetable salad.

You may use fresh or frozen vegetables — but toss the combination with the salad dressing and chill for more than one hour to blend the flavors. This packs well in a glass or plastic picnic container.

Top off the meal with a watermelon fruit bowl, mixing fresh fruits and their juices with watermelon balls.

Barbecued Chicken

5 pounds chicken parts

Salt

1 can (8 fl. oz.) frozen orange juice concentrate, defrosted

1/4 cup original Worcestershire sauce

Sprinkle chicken lightly with salt. Arrange on a rack over slow burning charcoal. Broil for 30 minutes, turning once.

Or, if desired, place on rack under a preheated 375-degree broiler and broil for 30 minutes, turning once.

Meanwhile, combine orange concentrate with Worcestershire sauce; blend well. Baste chicken every 5 minutes, turning often until chicken is tender, about 15 minutes.

Leftover sauce may be refrigerated in a covered container.

Use on spareribs, hamburgers or ham steaks. Makes 8 portions.

Mushroom-Vegetable Salad

1 pound fresh mushrooms or 2 cans (6 to 8 oz. each) sliced mushrooms

2 packages (10 oz. each) frozen mixed vegetables

1 cup bottled Italian salad dressing

1/3 cup chopped parsley

1/4 teaspoon ground black pepper

Rinse, pat dry and slice fresh mushrooms (about 5 cups) or drain canned mushrooms. Place in a large bowl. Cook vegetables as label directs; drain. Cool slightly; toss with mushrooms.

Mix salad dressing with parsley and black pepper. Pour over vegetables; toss lightly. Chill. Makes about 1 1/2 quarts or 8 portions.

Make the most of fresh fruits

Make the most of fresh fruits as they come into season in your area.

If you go to a pick-your-own farm, take only the amount you will consume while the fruit is of good quality.

Remember that fruit is highly perishable. Keep ripe fruit from rotting by refrigerating it in the vegetable compartment of your refrigerator at temperatures between 32 and 45 degrees. Do not wash fruit until you are ready to eat it out-of-hand or add it to a favorite recipe.

Nothing perks up summer appetites more than homemade ice cream and shortcake. As peaches come into season, select the ripest ones for a fresh peach ice cream or fresh peach shortcake. Forget your diet!

Fresh peach ice cream
2½ cups (2 lbs.) mashed peeled fresh peaches
1½ cups sugar, divided
1½ tablespoons fresh lemon juice
1 teaspoon vanilla
1 teaspoon almond extract

2½ tablespoons flour
¼ teaspoon salt
3 eggs, slightly beaten
2½ cups milk
2 cups heavy cream
Crushed ice
Rock salt

In large bowl, mix mashed peaches with ½ cup sugar, lemon juice, vanilla and almond extract. Set aside.

In large saucepan, mix together flour, remaining 1 cup sugar and salt. Stir in eggs. Scald milk and gradually stir into egg mixture. Place over low heat and stir constantly until mixture thickens enough to coat a spoon. Remove from heat and cool.

Stir in heavy cream and prepared peach mixture. Pour into can of electric ice cream freezer. Insert dasher. Place can in freezer container. Layer crushed ice and rock salt in freezer around container according to directions for freezer. Follow manufacturer's directions for freezing ice cream.

To ripen ice cream, turn into plastic containers or bowls. Cover and freeze 2 hours. Serve with sliced peaches. Makes 2 quarts.

Fresh peach shortcake
3 cups sifted all-purpose flour
¾ teaspoon baking powder
½ cup sugar

¼ teaspoon salt
¼ cup shortening
1 egg, well beaten
½ cup milk
1 tablespoon butter or margarine, melted
Sift together flour, baking powder, sugar and salt. Cut in shortening until mixture resembles coarse meal. Add egg and milk. Mix with a fork to form a soft dough.

On a floured board, knead dough 20 times. Divide in half. Pat one half into a greased 8-inch round layer cake pan. Spread with melted butter. Pat remaining dough over top.

Bake in 450-degree oven for 30 minutes, until golden brown. While biscuit is baking prepare peaches for filling. Cool biscuit 5-10 minutes and separate biscuit layers with a fork.

Filling
4 cups sliced fresh peaches
½ cup sugar, divided
2 cups heavy cream
1 teaspoon vanilla

Sprinkle peaches with ¼ cup sugar and let stand at room temperature. Whip cream with remaining ½ cup sugar and vanilla until thick. Spread bottom layer of biscuit with half of whipped cream. Top with 2 cups sliced peaches. Add top layer and repeat. Serve immediately or chill. Makes 8 servings.

Make a main dish out of fruit salad

Making a fruit salad with leftover ham, fresh pineapple, bananas and strawberries is a snap.

This chilled main dish salad is even tastier when topped with a creamy dressing. An unusual dressing starts with a no-fuss base of condensed cream of chicken soup, combined with sour cream, honey, orange juice concentrate and ginger.

Serve in pineapple shells for added eye appeal.

Rainbow Salad

1 medium fresh pineapple
2 cups cubed cooked ham
2 medium bananas, sliced
½ cup strawberries, halved
1 can (10¾ oz.) condensed cream of chicken soup
½ cup sour cream
2 tablespoons honey
2 tablespoons orange juice concentrate
¼ teaspoon ground ginger
Toasted coconut

To make salad, cut pineapple in half lengthwise. Using sharp knife or grapefruit knife, scoop out fruit. Remove core and dice fruit.

In bowl, combine ham, diced pineapple, bananas and strawberries. Chill.

To make dressing, combine remaining ingredients except coconut in bowl. Chill. Serve salad in pineapple shells if desired. Top with dressing. Garnish with coconut if desired. Makes 6 servings.

Pot-Of-Gold

1 can (10¾ oz.) condensed tomato soup
1½ pounds ground beef
½ cup fine dry bread crumbs
1 egg, slightly beaten
2 tablespoons vinegar
2 tablespoons molasses
½ teaspoon dry mustard
¼ teaspoon onion powder
¼ teaspoon salt
2 cups diagonally sliced carrots
½ cup water
1 can (about 8 oz.) whole kernel golden corn, drained

Mix thoroughly 2 tablespoons soup, beef, bread crumbs, egg, 2 tablespoons vinegar, molasses, ¼ teaspoon mustard, onion powder and salt. Shape firmly into 24 meatballs.

In skillet, brown meatballs. (Use shortening if necessary.) Pour off fat. Stir in remaining soup, vinegar, carrots and water. Cover; cook over low heat 20 minutes or until done. Stir occasionally. Add corn; heat. Makes about 6½ cups, 4 to 6 servings.

Weather has improved so tomatoes are plentiful

The weather can wreck havoc upon food budgets. Tomatoes were costly this winter, for example, because freezing weather damaged winter tomato crops.

But thanks to improved weather, so-called winter tomatoes are now plentiful. That means they are considerably lower in price than they were a few months ago.

To get the most from your winter tomatoes, buy them three or four days before you plan to use them. Let them stand at room temperature, which will bring them to full, red ripeness. Then store them in the refrigerator.

You will notice winter tomatoes will then take on a tomato-like fragrance and their flavor will improve.

Toss your ripened tomatoes in a Greek tomato salad for an entree or salad course.

Greek Tomato Salad

2 medium-sized Florida tomatoes
2 cups shredded iceberg lettuce
1 cup diced, peeled cucumber
½ cup diced green pepper
¼ cup thinly sliced onion rings
2 tablespoons chopped dill
3 tablespoons olive or salad oil
2 tablespoons lemon juice
½ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon ground black pepper

Store tomatoes at room temperature until fully ripe. Just before serving, cut into 1-inch chunks. Place in a serving bowl with lettuce, cucumber, green pepper and onion rings.
Combine dill, oil, lemon juice, salt and pepper. Mix well. Pour over vegetables; toss to coat. Garnish with dill sprig, if desired. Makes about 4 cups.

Tuna, noodles, cheese makes lot of money

Tuna, noodles and cheese always have been staples for those who like to eat well for less money. Though prices for these items are up, they have not skyrocketed like those at the meat counter.

When planning a meal or shopping the supermarket, you can make the most of your money by considering cost per serving.

For example, a tuna-noodle-olive casserole costs about 70 cents a serving. Tuna-macaroni salad is a tasty budget delight at about 45 cents a serving. (These are New York prices.)

Chill the salad thoroughly and take it on your picnic in an insulated cooler.

Tuna-noodle-olive casserole
8 ounces medium egg noodles (about 4 cups)
1 tablespoon salt
3 quarts boiling water
1 can (10¾ oz.) condensed cream of celery soup

2/3 cup milk
¼ cup thinly sliced celery
¼ cup sliced Spanish stuffed green olives
1 can (6½ or 7 oz.) tuna, drained and flaked

2 tomatoes, sliced
½ cup shredded process American cheese (about 2 oz.)

Gradually add noodles and salt to rapidly boiling water so that water continues to boil. Cook uncovered, stirring occasionally, until tender. Drain in colander.

Meanwhile, combine undiluted soup, milk, celery and olives. Add tuna and noodles. Stir to mix well. Turn into a lightly greased 2-quart casserole. Arrange tomato slices over top. Sprinkle with cheese.

Bake in 425-degree oven 20 minutes or until hot. Makes 4 servings. (Cost per serving: approximately 70 cents, based on New York City prices.)

Tuna-macaroni salad
2 cups (8 oz.) elbow macaroni
Salt
3 quarts boiling water
1 can (6½ or 7 oz.) tuna, drained
¼ cup diced cucumber
¼ cup chopped celery
¼ cup chopped parsley
2 tablespoons sliced Spanish stuffed green olives

3 tablespoons salad oil
1 tablespoon lemon juice
¼ teaspoon pepper

Gradually add macaroni and 1 tablespoon salt to rapidly boiling water so that water continues to boil. Cook uncovered, stirring occasionally, until tender. Drain in colander. Rinse with cold water. Drain again.

Combine macaroni, tuna, cucumber, celery, parsley, olives, salad oil, lemon juice, ¼ teaspoon salt and pepper. Toss well to mix thoroughly.

Refrigerate until well chilled. Makes 4 servings. (Cost per serving: Approximately 45 cents, based on New York City prices.)

Cooking on charcoal not for meats alone

The words "outdoor cooking" probably call to mind visions of steaks sizzling, beef barbecuing and hot dogs hissing over hot coals. But charcoal cookery need not be limited to meats alone. Vegetables cook beautifully on the grill, too, and they take on an exciting new flavor.

Yellow summer squash is a colorful vegetable that cooks well on the grill and will complement any meat selection. To ease preparation, slice the squash into the center of a square to heavy duty aluminum foil. Top with onion slices, crumbled bacon. Bring the four corners of foil up together, squeeze the ends an press them to the package.

If desired, you can prepare the vegetables ahead in the foil bundle, refrigerate it and pop it right on the grill when the coals are ready. Acting as the cooking container, the foil bundle eliminates the need for scouring pans and makes cleanup easy. The grilled squash stays warm inside the foil, should second helpings be requested, and any leftovers can be stored in the same foil wrapping.

Grilled Squash
4 small yellow squash, sliced ¼-inch thick
1 small onion, sliced
¼ cup crumbled bacon
1 tablespoon butter or margarine

¼ teaspoon salt
Dash pepper

Tear off an 18-inch square of Heavy Duty Reynolds Wrap; place squash, onion and bacon in center. Season with salt and pepper; dot with butter. Bring four corners of foil up together in a pyramid shape. Fold the openings together loosely to allow for heat circulation and expansion. Seal folding over ends and pressing to package. Grill over moderately hot coals 20-30 minutes or until tender.

Makes: 4 servings.

Chicken for breakfast

NEW YORK (UPI) — Feed your children chicken for breakfast? "Definitely" says Ms. Shaindy Rothenberg, nutritionist at The New York Institute for Child Development.

A three-ounce portion of chicken supplies 58 percent protein, 30 percent niacin and 22 percent vitamin B2 needed daily. Sugar-coated cereal only supplies about 5 percent of needed protein and almost no vitamins or minerals.
