Unemployment Falls to 5.9%

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The nation's unemployment rate, which has bounced up and down throughout the summer, fell to 5.9 percent of the workforce in August with much of the improvement occurring among women and teen-agers, the government reported today.

Total employment rose by 156,000 persons last month to 94.6 million, the Labor Department said. The 5.9 percent jobless rate compared with 6.2 percent in July and June's 5.7 percent — a four-year low.

The August jobless level was exactly on target with President Carter's year-end goal.

The bright performance may offer some encouragement to administration economic planners who see the drop in unemployment during Carter's presidency as a solid accomplishment.

The administration has been fighting a losing battle most of the year on other economic fronts as inflation has risen sharply, the U.S. trade deficit has expanded and the value of the dollar abroad has plunged.

Here is an unemployment breakdown of each category of the population:

• Adult men: 4.1 percent, unchanged from June.

• Adult women: 6.1 percent, down from 6.5 percent.

• Teen-agers: 15.6 percent, down from 16.3 percent.

• Whites: 5.2 percent, down from 5.3 percent.

• Blacks and other minorities: 11.7 percent, down from 12.5 percent.

• Full-time workers: 5.5 percent, down from 5.7 percent.

One of the more positive developments in the newest government report was the relatively sharp drop in black unemployment.

The 11.7 percent rate — down from July's 12.5 percent — was the lowest since November 1974 when it was 11.6 percent.

Overall, the department said there were 5.97 million persons without jobs who were looking for work in the United States last month, down by 225,000 from the previous month.

Just one year ago, the jobless rate was 7 percent.

Over the past 12 months, employment has grown by almost 3.6 million persons. The proportion of the population that hold jobs remained at its July level, 58.6 percent.

The unemployment rate has been one of the president's few positive economic accomplishments since he took office in January, 1977. Since then, 4.3 million persons have found work and the proportion of the working-age population that is employed rose to its highest level in history in June.

Despite the success with reducing unemployment — it was 8 percent when Carter was sworn in — the president's popularity has plummeted this year because, according to public opinion polls, Americans are disillusioned over his stewardship of the economy.

Inflation has been the main concern. It has soared at a near 10 percent annual rate since January and the public's spending power has been reduced.

On top of that, interest rates have risen sharply, the nation's trade deficit will probably hit a 10 percent high, the value of the dollar overseas has dipped to historic lows and there are concerns about a possible recession next year.

The nation's unemployment rate fell to 5.9 percent of the work force in August. The government says much of the improvement from July's 6.2 percent occurred among women and teen-agers. (UPI Chart)

Superpowers Boost Nuclear Capabilities

LONDON (UPI) — The United States has a stockpile of more than twice as many nuclear warheads as the Soviet Union, but the Soviet warheads pack a heavier punch and their number is growing fast, the authoritative International Institute for Strategic Studies said today.

In its annual "Military Balance" survey the Institute said the two superpowers, unable to add to their armories of missile launchers under the 1974 Vladivostok agreement between former President Gerald Ford and Soviet President Leonid I. Brezhnev, are concentrating on "modernizing and in some areas expanding their nuclear capabilities."

The Institute is an independent international center for information and research on problems of security, defense and control in the nuclear age.

The survey did not make any assessment of relative nuclear strengths of the United States and the Soviet Union.

"The United States," it said, "concentrated on improvements to the existing triad of intercontinental ballistic missiles, sea-launched ballistic missiles and bombers and continued to fund development programs for new systems for deployment in the 1980s."

"The Soviet Union," it said, "continued with broad modernization of intercontinental ballistic missiles, sea-launched ballistic missiles and bombers."

In actual nuclear warheads the Institute said the United States could launch more than 11,000 — almost twice as many as a decade ago. The present Soviet warhead arsenal, it said, is 4,500. But this will soar to more than 7,500 in the early 1980s, and the "individual warheads are significantly higher yields than U.S. ones."

On the ground in Europe the Institute said the discrepancy between Communist Warsaw Pact and North Atlantic Treaty Organization strengths continued to widen.

The Soviets, the Institute said, have added 7,000 tanks of all types during the past year to bring their total from 43,000 to 50,000 — more than three times as many as NATO. NATO's tank strength remains "fairly constant," the survey said. But it said the West has partially offset its weakness in tanks by increasing its armory of anti-tank missiles.

The survey said the overall balance of Western and Communist bloc forces in Europe is "moving steadily against the West."

But it said "the overall balance still appears to make military aggression seem unattractive."

Ella Threatens North Carolina

MIAMI (UPI) — A hurricane watch was ordered today for North Carolina's Outer Banks in advance of Hurricane Ella but forecasters said the storm probably would curve its 90 mph winds more northward and narrowly miss the string of resort islands.

"A hurricane watch means Ella is a threat to the Outer Banks," the weather agency explained in a 9 a.m. advisory to residents. "Go about your normal business but consider this hurricane as you make plans for the Labor Day weekend."

Forecasters said Ella probably would "recurve towards the North today, providing a near miss to the Outer Banks. However, until this trend becomes established all coastal interests in North Carolina should be prepared to take quick action if hurricane warnings are required," the weather bureau said.

Forecasters said there was no immediate threat to the coastal areas north of Virginia.

At 9 a.m. Ella was reported centered near latitude 31.0 north, longitude 72.2 west, or about 350 miles southeast of Cape Hatteras, N.C. "The hurricane is expected to move towards the northwest 15 mph today," forecasters said.

Maximum sustained winds were 90 mph, with gales extending outward 100 miles from the center.

Ella became the season's fifth named tropical storm Wednesday night, and continued to grow Thursday until it reached hurricane status with winds of 80 mph. It continued to develop through the day, eventually packing a 90-mile-an-hour punch.

Ella is the second hurricane of the year. The first was Cora, which sprang up Aug. 8 in the central Atlantic 1,450 miles east southeast of the Virgin Islands.

But Cora soon began deteriorating and eventually collapsed into a band of rain showers that never threatened land.

Meeting Sought Over Firehouse

By SUSAN VAUGHN
Herald Reporter

Town Director Vivian Ferguson today asked Town Manager Robert Weiss to call a meeting of the boards of directors of the town and the Eighth Utilities District to work out a solution for the use of the Buckland Firehouse.

She also suggested that the town offer the Buckland firehouse for purchase by the Eighth District and use the revenue to build a new fire station in the south side of town. She noted that insurance studies have shown the need for fire stations in both the Buckland and south side of town. She said the men and equipment from the Buckland station could be transferred to a new station.

Mrs. Ferguson referred to the Supreme Court case released this week which ruled in favor of the Eighth District's jurisdiction over the Buckland area, saying another "long-delayed court case would prove of little avail and would cost the taxpayers money."

Calling for a resolution of the situation as quickly as possible, Mrs.

Ferguson asked that a meeting be called for next Wednesday or Thursday.

In responding to Mrs. Ferguson's request, Weiss said he is not prepared to call a meeting for three reasons. He said Town Counsel David Barry is deliberating over whether to seek a reargument of the court case.

Weiss also said he and Town Fire Chief John Rivosa want to "carefully evaluate our ability to serve areas currently covered from the Buckland firehouse from other firehouse sites." Previous analyses by Rivosa reinforces the need for continued town presence in the Buckland location, Weiss said.

Weiss noted that the Insurance Services Organization analysis of town firehouse needs recommended a relocation of the School Street firehouse to an area south of Interstate Highway 84. No action has been taken since one side on South Main Street was rejected about two years ago.

Weiss assured Mrs. Ferguson of his cooperation and support to provide adequate fire protection for all Manchester residents.

Man Held in Rape Case

Manchester Police arrested Leonard J. Toccaline, 17, of 49 Gould Drive, East Hartford, Thursday afternoon on a charge of sexual assault in the first degree in connection with the Aug. 23 rape of a 14-year-old girl near Union Pond.

Toccaline was held overnight at the Manchester Police Department on a $25,000 surety bond and was presented today in court at East Hartford.

Detective Captain Joseph Brooks said that Toccaline's arrest was the result of a cooperative effort between the police, the newspapers and the public.

Brooks commended the outstanding police work by Det. Lt. John Krinjak and Det. Susan Gibbins and other members of the detective division who assisted and led to the apprehension of Toccaline and seizure of the vehicle used in the crime.

In expressing his appreciation to all who helped solve the crime, Brooks said, "This type of cooperative effort cannot help but make Manchester a safer place for all its citizens."

Uncertainty Shrouds Fate of Child

LEBANON (UPI) — Irma Cecchini changed her tensed from the past to the present when she talked about her missing granddaughter Thursday and the slip of the tongue seemed to emphasize the uncertainty shrouding the child's fate.

Five-year-old Jennifer Cecchini was sought Wednesday by hundreds of volunteers who swept over the family's 99-acre dairy farm in a heavy rain. She was last seen by her parents in a barn just after 7 p.m. Wednesday. The family calls it the Yankee Dream Farm.

"She was ... is ... such a capable little girl. So independent. She wanted to do everything herself ... But she was ... is ... afraid of people. I can just see her hiding in the bushes or woods, and she'd stay there unless she heard a familiar voice. I don't think she could have wandered as far as the road," Mrs. Cecchini, a Middletown resident, said.

Concerned about the difficult terrain volunteers will be combing, Gov. Ella Grasso Thursday ordered National Guard helicopters to join in the search, spokesman Larry DeBear said. He said she was told at least three choppers will be used at first, with more to join in as crews become available.

The Connecticut Wing of the Civil Air Patrol has also agreed to join the search and is setting up radio relay stations, CAP Maj. Miriam Wortzel said late Thursday.

The CAP, notified of the rescue effort by State Police, will have planes on standby and about 95 volunteers will join others searching on foot at 7 a.m., she said.

The public road Mrs. Cecchini referred to is about a mile from the isolated farm, and despite the distance from the farm to the road she was concerned about it. "You never know. With all the people running around these days, it's frightening ..."

A sleepless John Cecchini said his daughter, Jennifer, may have run away from home because she thought her yellow and white striped cat she called "Kitty" was going to be given away.

"Her cousins were here yesterday (Wednesday)," Cecchini said. "Someone told the cousins they could have a kitty because we have so many of them. Jennie's very possessive about things like that and she may have run off and taken the kitty with her."

He said scuba divers searched a fishing hole known to neighborhood children as "The Secret Place," and they saw a yellow and white striped kitten scurry into some shrubbery.

"Finding the kitty means she hasn't been kidnapped. A baby kitty couldn't have gone that far from the house by itself," he said.

"I think she's out there. It's just a question of finding her. That belief is what I have with me, and it's got to be right. Our biggest relief came this afternoon after they cleared the ponds for the second and third times and found nothing."

Cecchini said his daughter, who was wearing brown cut-off shorts and light colored blouse, has never wandered away before. He and his wife, Linda, both 36, have three other children.

Rev. Karl Blake comforted the couple Thursday and Cecchini said his wife was holding up fairly well. "Tension has really dropped, with news that the kitty was seen," he said.

Jennifer's cousin, Alicia Gallus, 8, of Middletown, said the last time she saw Jennifer she was crying because Jennifer thought Alicia was going to take the kitten away.

"We were walking calves and when she came back she had got the kitten and ran away with it," Alicia said. Her sister, Jacqueline, 12, said, "We think she ran away with the kitten and now that we saw the kitten, we think she must be right near it."

Killian Says He Will Hire Minorities

HARTFORD (UPI) — Gov. Ella T. Grasso has shown an "outright disregard" for the needs of Connecticut's minority citizens, according to Lt. Gov. Robert Killian, who says he would hire more blacks and Hispanics if he had his job.

Killian, whose own civil rights record was recently questioned, made his promise to hire more minorities Thursday night at the opening of his new campaign headquarters in the north end of Hartford, a section of the state's capital populated by a large number of blacks and Spanish-speaking residents.

"This administration's record in the area of civil rights leaves a great deal to be desired," Killian said.

"While it has paid lip service to a variety of programs and speaks enthusiastically in support of affirmative action, its record is one of non-compliance, outright disregard and, at best, benign neglect," he said.

During his recent face to face debate with Grasso, Killian's own minority hiring record was questioned.

It was noted that during his eight-year reign as Connecticut's attorney general Killian had no black or Hispanic assistant attorneys general. It was also noted that his current staff does not include any minorities.

At the time, Killian countered by saying black lawyers would not take jobs as assistant attorneys general because the pay was so bad. He said his lieutenant governor's staff only had four members and if he had more workers, some of them would be minorities.

As he has done much of the campaign Killian chose not to address his record, but to attack the governor's record.

"She has a record of proven leadership and has not been afraid to make the tough decisions, even when they might prove unpopular in some quarters," Parker said in the governor's quarters.

Grasso Quarters Opens

Two of Gov. Ella Grasso's running mates addressed local Democrats Thursday night and predicted a Grasso victory in the Sept. 12 gubernatorial primary election.

State Treasurer Henry Parker, and Barbara Kennedy, the candidate for secretary of state, spoke at ceremonies opening the governor's Manchester campaign headquarters at West Middle Turnpike.

"She has a record of proven leadership and has not been afraid to make the tough decisions, even when they might prove unpopular in some quarters," Parker said in the governor's quarters.

He said three state agencies — the departments of education, transportation and labor — have violated the state's affirmative action laws.

Killian also said the Human Rights and Opportunities Commission has an 18 month backlog in answering affirmative action complaints because it is understaffed.

Repeating a complaint he lodged earlier in the year, Killian said the state has invested over $7 million in about 400 commercial buildings in apartheid South Africa.

Killian said if he wins the Democratic nomination and goes on to beat Republican candidate, Rep. Ronald Sarasin, R-Conn., in November he will beef up the staff of the HROC so that all complaints of discrimination can be handled immediately.

He also said during the first 90 days of his administration he would work to create a Department of Housing, revise the method by which unemployment statistics are reported to more accurately portray the plight of minorities and stop the state treasurer from investing in companies that do business with South Africa.

About Town

A Protestant worship service including Holy Communion will take place Saturday at 9 p.m. in the sanctuary of Emmanuel Lutheran Church. Everyone is welcome.

The regular Monday open house at the Masonic Temple will be open Sept. 4 because the date is Labor Day.

The Bible Study and Prayer Group of Second Congregational Church will meet Tuesday at 9:30 a.m. in the church parlor.

Manchester Square Dance Club will have its first dance of the season Saturday from 8 to 11 p.m. at the Wadsworth School instead of Verplack School as originally scheduled.

Continued Funds Asked for Buses

Alan Mason, director of human services, will ask the Town Board of Directors to appropriate $53,602 for the continued financing of the town's elderly and handicapped transportation system.

The financing would be for the fiscal period July 1, 1977 through June 30, 1978. It will provide for both the Senior Citizens Center bus and the two smaller buses used for the phone-a-ride system.

In a fact sheet provided by Mason with the request, the total number of one-way passenger trips for the two transportation networks in the past year was estimated at 14,000. Of that number, the senior citizen bus had an estimated 11,600 trips for the year and the phone-a-ride system had 3,000 from its beginning in mid-March through June 30.

Mason reported that the number of passengers each week on the Senior Citizens Center bus remained fairly constant throughout the year.

He said ridership on the phone-a-ride buses has gradually increased with a high of 340 passengers the week of July 28. The rides for medical appointments on Tuesdays steadily increased to about 75 the first week in August.

The total cost for operating the system for the past year was $31,898. Of that amount $12,113 was used for the senior citizen bus, including administrative costs. The phone-a-ride system cost $19,785, including the cost of the contracts to operate and lease the two buses and advertising. The cost of administration through the Human Services Department was $3,780.

The Department reported the cost for the transportation was $2.18 per passenger trip and the cost per mile was $1.88.

The total cost estimate for the system for the present fiscal year is $70,000. One half of that amount is expected to come from an Urban Mass Transportation Act grant. The total request is based on the $70,000 less $16,300 already in department budgets.

French Youths Enjoy Summer in Manchester

The greenery of Manchester is beautiful, the hamburgers at McDonald's are great, and New York City is dirty, although the Empire State Building is fantastic.

These are opinions commonly shared by at least two French youths being hosted by Manchester families during August.

Because of conflicting schedules, only two French youths were available for interviews.

Six young people were hosted for a month in Manchester under the auspices of the North American Cultural Exchange League (NACEL).

MHS Homerooms Assigned For Opening Wednesday

Manchester High School students begin with a full day of classes Wednesday, September 6. Upon arrival at 8 a.m., students are asked to report directly to their special homeroom where they will receive scheduling and other necessary information.

Special homeroom assignments have been made alphabetically and are based on last names.

Teachers Sought For Rec Classes

The Manchester Recreation Department's cultural program is looking for individuals with interesting hobbies who would like to teach part-time during school hours.

The full cultural program will have registration Sept. 18 through 29, with classes beginning Oct. 2 and ending Dec. 8. There are no classes on Manchester school holidays.

If you are interested, please contact the Arts Building on Garden Grove Road either Sept. 5 or 6 between 9 a.m. and noon, or call 643-6795.

Comment Session Tuesday

The Manchester Board of Directors will conduct a comment session Tuesday, Sept. 5 from 9 a.m. to 11 a.m. in the directors office in the Municipal Building.

The sessions permit town residents to speak to a member of the Board of Directors about any matter that involves town government.

Insurance Unit Plans New Rate Territories

HARTFORD (UPI) — An insurance industry committee has suggested 37 new rate territories in Connecticut to replace the current 18 to make the areas more homogeneous.

In a report submitted Wednesday to Insurance Commissioner Joseph C. Mike, the committee said the new territories wouldn't affect Hartford or other large cities.

Mike is conducting hearings on a charge by the state Commission on Human Rights and Opportunities, which claims the system sets higher auto insurance rates for Hartford and discriminates against poor urban residents.

The report, based on a study of territorial boundaries made during the last few months for the state insurance Department, defends the territorial system but suggests improvements. It also suggests more studies to determine how new boundaries would affect rates and customers.

Barry Jorve, an actuary for the Travelers Insurance Co., and a committee member, said rates are based on such factors as terrain, attitudes of judges and juries in the area on settling claims, and economic conditions such as repair costs.

He also said availability of mass transportation tends to reduce the number of claims. Other factors are off-street parking, road design, strength of local law enforcement, population and vehicle density.

Jorve said Hartford could reduce its car insurance rates by improving enforcement of traffic laws, creating more off-street parking, and keeping streets in good repair.

Holiday Gasoline

HARTFORD (UPI) — Connecticut drivers can expect most gasoline stations to be open each day of the three-day Labor Day weekend, but they can also expect higher prices, Hartford's American Automobile Association says.

In an association survey, 70 percent of the gasoline stations said they will be open until 8 p.m. all three days, while 30 percent said they would be open only Saturday and Monday.

Vianney Dyeve, 15, and Marie-Laure DeBeauchamp, 17, both from Neully, although unknown to each other, spoke excellent English and admitted their ability to converse in English had improved considerably during their short stay.

Staying with Mr. and Mrs. William Lautenbach of 256 Charter Oak St., Vianney enjoyed the companionship of an American brother, John. They played ping-pong and skateboarded.

Although John built a skateboard ramp at the end of his driveway and can perform on it with ease, Vianney has practiced daily to try to equal John's performance.

Marie-Laure (the Willbanks just call her Marie) couldn't believe she was still in New York City while she visited Chintano, one of the activities planned for the young French visitors.

Marie talked more about her impressions of the young people she has met in Manchester and the American life style.

She paused to think of a French equal for "informality," which in the French-English dictionary appears as "sans ceremonie."

"Yes, that's it," she said. "That's what I like here. Kids here have more freedom than we do at home."

She is on the board of directors of the Friendship Force, which was developed by President Carter, and led the Connecticut delegation to Israel in February.

"Gov. Grasso took office in difficult economic times and has worked with tremendous dedication and perseverance to bring prosperity to Connecticut and our people," said Mrs. Weinberg.

"People from all over the state with whom I have worked in earlier campaigns and on President Carter's Friendship Force have been calling me to ask how they could help the governor, so I am particularly pleased to be able to join with them and all concerned citizens to re-elect Gov. Grasso," she continued.

ICC Checks Movers

Some regulatory commissions come under fire frequently from critics who are convinced they have outlived their usefulness. Usually, a regulatory body is measured by how one evaluates the industry being regulated and what other bodies exist which might be able to perform the regulator's duties more efficiently.

There is nothing sacrosanct about the FTC, SEC, CAB, FCC or the other alphabet commissions. Many of them trace their origins back several decades. In most cases conditions have changed considerably in the industries being regulated. It is possible some of the commissions no longer are in tune with the times.

Among the commissions most heavily criticized is the Interstate Commerce Commission, particularly for the role it has played in the plight of the nation's railroads. Action the ICC now has under way against a number of the nation's largest moving companies may help vindicate the agency.

Consumers long have complained about some of the practices they encounter in moving. Charges above estimates, untimely deliveries and damaged property are among the complaints. The ICC has added another claimant: Weight-bumping, or adding fictitious pounds to the customer's bill.

Investigators stopped 1,500 moving vans on interstate highways in Florida, Arizona and Southern California. What they found was that most—not just some—of the movers checked were overcharging their customers.

Criminal or civil charges will be filed against violators at the end of the summer, the ICC promises. The commission also will consider lifting general charters of those found guilty.

Not all white collar criminals, it seems, sit behind a desk.

Congressmen Have to Pay

By MARTHA ANGLE and ROBERT WALTERS
WASHINGTON (NEA) — The "urgent and personal" letter, complaining of "unfair and unjust treatment," reads like one of those mail appeals soliciting aid for a destitute family in some distant, impoverished country.

"I am not a wealthy man," proclaims the writer, warning of imminent financial disaster that "will have a devastating impact on my life, on the life of my wife and on the lives of my three children."

There's an impassioned plea to provide additional money which is necessary to support my family and to educate my children... to take care of the doctor and the dentist and to buy the necessities of life.

Adds the author: "After all of those taken care of, there is very little left over for anything else."

Is the writer a starving African? A ragged shareholder? An ill-fated American Indian?

Nope. He's a member of Congress, earning a salary of $57,500 a year and eligible for more than $500,000 worth of various official benefits that include a generous staff salary allowance and free office space, postage, telephone service, office equipment, air travel and computer services.

The letter sent to all members of the House in mid-August, was written by Rep. John W. Wylder, a New York Republican whose 16 years in Congress have produced few accomplishments and little distinction.

Notwithstanding his purported poverty, Wylder twice voted against increasing congressional salaries.

And conveniently not mentioned in his letter are the embarrassing salary payments that he's making to the federal treasury.

Four years ago, a Justice Department investigation found that the congressman had paid more than $47,000 worth of printing bills by placing the printers on the public payroll — a procedure "not authorized by law."

He avoided a federal civil suit by promising to personally repay $25,000.

Wylder's letter to his colleagues is designed to generate support for Capitol Hill campaign to rescind one of the key provisions of an omnibus code of conduct overwhelmingly adopted by the House in March 1977.

The section under attack limits outside earned income for all members of the House and Senate to 15 percent of their salaries. That's $8,625 annually based on the current pay scale.

The opportunity to scrap that limitation will come after the House returns from its Labor Day recess and considers a bill that incorporates the code of ethics into permanent law and authorizes, for the first time, the imposition of civil and criminal penalties on violators.

Wylder is one of scores of members of Congress who reap the financial benefits of lucrative legal practices. A recent financial statement lists $10,700 in income from his

An old and dear friend has just gone on a diet — again. This is all right with me. Live, as it were, and let live. But I have several relations with Pat for the duration of his dalliance with watercress and raw carrots.

I just can't stand another bout of the misery that accrues from association with a dieter. In his right mind, Pat is the most companionable and congenial of males. But he is no exception to the law that says there is no such thing as a happy human being who is trying to lose a substantial amount of weight.

When Pat is on a diet, he broods. He snaps at people, growls back at dogs and once started to run away from home when his wife ate a plate of french fries with two link chops. (He changed his mind when Sadie refused to get up from the table to kiss him farewell.)

The fact is that this lovable man, like all dieters, hates everybody when he is trying to chop away his blubber because he knows that even if he gets thin he won't be able to stay that way. Gemettes, or something. In any case, once Pat starts to count calories his lovable traits disappear and he becomes a beast temporarily prohibited from ravaging, in Webster's sense of "feeding greedily."

There have been happy times when Pat and I repaired to Duke's and stoked ourselves with hot corn on the cob, dripping butter, and hot biscuits soaked in same. We devoured asparagus hollandaise, pot roasts in white sauce and fried Chesapeake Bay crab cakes. For Pat, no day was complete that didn't include the mastication of at least two potatoes.

At breakfast, he favored hot cakes, three fried eggs and four link sausages — with buttered toast on the side.

On those days, Pat did not shriek with horror if someone suggested a

The morning stars are Mercury, Jupiter and Saturn. The evening stars are Mars and Venus.

Those born on this day are under the sign of Virgo.

Journalist James Gordon Bennett was born Sept. 1, 1795.

On this day in history: In 1807, Aaron Burr, vice president of the United States under Thomas Jefferson, was acquitted of charges of treason growing out of an alleged plot to set up an independent empire in the nation's South and West.

In 1923, Japan's worst earthquake killed 150,000 persons and injured many thousands of others.

In 1939, reacting to Germany's invasion of Poland, Great Britain and France served an ultimatum on Adolf Hitler but it was ignored and two days later the Allies declared war on Germany.

In 1975, Israel and Egypt initiated an agreement calling for Israeli withdrawal from a small slice of the Sinai Desert in return for Egyptian political concessions and substantial pledges of financial support from the United States.

A thought for the day: Britain's wartime leader Winston Churchill sent this message to Nazi dictator Adolf Hitler. "We (British) will have no truce with you or the grisly gang who work your wicked will. You do your worst... and we will do our best."

Three Charged In CETA Theft

HARTFORD (UPI) — Hartford police have arrested three former community group workers for allegedly stealing records from the city's Comprehensive Employment and Training Act office.

Charged with fourth-degree larceny Thursday were Sharon E. Watson, 24, Constance D. Johnson, 24, and Peter H. Dillon, 35, all of Hartford. They were released on written promises to appear in court Sept. 11.

Dillon is the Republican candidate in Hartford's 1st Senatorial District. He declined to say whether he will withdraw from the race because of the arrest.

The three are former workers of the Upper Albany Community Organization — whose CETA program was under investigation, according to Marty Johnson, regional office grievance officer.

They were fired earlier this year by IACCO Executive Director Phillip Morrow, but officials declined to say why the two women were dismissed.

Morrow said the city office told him to fire Dillon because he violated CETA rules by running for city treasurer last fall while on the CETA payroll.

City Manager Accepts Responsibility in CETA

HARTFORD (UPI) — City Manager James B. Daken has accepted full responsibility for regional Comprehensive Employment and Training Act program difficulties, but says he will not become the scapegoat.

In his first full briefing to the City Council since returning from Europe, Daken Thursday attributed the $1.6 million deficit to faulty financial and personnel listings.

He called the deficit a "major embarrassment" for city officials and those who supervise the program for Hartford and 24 other towns.

Daken said he accepts "full responsibility for the failure of the program to date," but "would not be made the scapegoat for our current problems."

A published report today quotes city hall sources saying Daken is expected to resign. The Hartford Courant reported that two city councilors also said he would resign because he had lost the confidence of the majority of the council.

Daken said thoughts of resigning had crossed his mind, but said he has been too caught up in the CETA controversy to think of his professional future.

But Daken told the council CETA problems have built up over the past five years, pointing out he has been city manager for less than two years. He said the "heart of our problem" is inadequacies in the financial reporting and management information system, the two methods the CETA office uses to determine how many people are employed and how much more people can be hired without exceeding federal funding limits.

The deficit, estimates of which grew from $400,000 to $1,587 million while the manager was on vacation, can be traced to before January when the federal Labor Department transferred $5.5 million from the city to the state, Daken said. The funds were taken because the city was unable to place enough people in CETA programs.

When the funds were transferred, the city was hiring to federal officials that it had hired fewer people than were actually working in CETA programs, Daken said.

He said each placement cost about $250, far cheaper than other programs. The jobs ranged from clerical work to a $14,000 designer's job, Andrews said.

The manpower program in June asked the NAACP to find permanent jobs for 2,500 CETA workers whose subsidized jobs had ended. The city agreed to extend their grant past Aug. 29.

"However, with the current crisis of CETA in the city of Hartford, the extension was rescinded," which means those individuals whose CETA jobs were terminated would be back on the streets," Andrews said.

He said the office already had begun to find work for 275 of the 2,500 people, but that was halted because of the shortfall.

Current efforts to cover the CETA deficit with local, federal and state funds will not help these people, Andrews said. He said the money would be for long-term CETA workers, not the 1,500 whose short-term jobs have ended.

"So after one year of subsidized employment, they thought the training was for a job at the end of the rainbow," Andrews said. "But now they're back on the streets."

Labor Secretary Ray Marshall, who sent the team.

Four Labor Department auditors also are reviewing the city's CETA program. Hartford does not CETA funds for city programs and 24 neighboring towns.

The state has offered $400,000 in state-controlled CETA funds to help cover the program's $1.6 million deficit, but will not turn the money over to the city directly.

The Labor Department also has said it will look for extra CETA money to help cover the shortfall.

Striking Teachers Idle Thousands of Students

By United Press International
Striking teachers idled tens of thousands of students in New Orleans and school districts in three other states today and instructors in Philadelphia threatened to walk off the job in a contract dispute.

Negotiators for the Philadelphia Board of Education held 11-hour talks in an attempt to avert a strike. Union negotiator John Ryan said a strike was called and would resume Wednesday, the teachers' first day back to work.

Classes for the district's 250,000 students are scheduled to begin next Friday.

Four Illinois school districts canceled classes for about 50,000 students Thursday. Teachers picketed schools in Collinsville, Edwardsville, Waterloo and Rockford, the state's second-largest district.

A teachers' strike at the nine Chicago City Colleges was in its third day, with both sides unable to agree on terms for renewed bargaining.

The snowballing New Orleans strike gained momentum with the addition of dissident bus drivers to the picket lines today. Instruction to 81,000 students has been curtailed seriously and teachers promised a strengthening of forces during the long Labor Day weekend.

In Marion, Ind., a transportation company suddenly canceled its contract, and the teachers' first day back to work.

School is scheduled to open Wednesday.

"We will accept nothing less than an arbitration award," said Bruce Mellon, president of the larger of the two unions, the Norwalk Federation of Teachers. "The city absolutely and unequivocally has the money."

Buffalo district has $2,874 pupils, Yonkers 25,324.

Intense negotiations also were reported in Cleveland and Seattle, Wash.

School bus drivers in Knox County, Tenn., ignored a court order to return to work. The strike forced parents to drive about 25,000 students to school, creating massive traffic jams.

In Santa Fe, N.M., a transportation company suddenly canceled its contract, and the teachers' first day back to work.

School officials tested Thursday the school system could lose more than $40,000 a day in state aid and perishable foods should the strike take place.

In Bridgeport, Teachers Union president Arthur Pechillo said Thursday if a contract agreement is not reached by Tuesday, he is prepared to recommend the teachers vote to strike. A general teachers meeting has been called for Tuesday night.

The Board of Education is seeking a court injunction to block a walkout. School officials tested Thursday the school system could lose more than $40,000 a day in state aid and perishable foods should the strike take place.

Pizza, anyone? Munson's Has PIZZAZ

By BETTY RYDER

There's a woman in Bolton who has a lot of pizzazz.

She's Marie Munson and she and her husband operate Munson's Candy Kitchen on Route 6 in Bolton.

"We have applied for patents and have received one for the State of Connecticut, but are waiting for one to be used nationally. We have a tentative date with the people from Macy's Department Store in New York City that they are holding off till we get the other patent."

"The Munsons already work a steady eight-hours a day, five days a week, and of course, this new venture will mean additional hours and staff.

"We are in the process of adding a 1,000 square foot addition onto their Bolton store to be used to expedite processing and handling of orders.

"In the meanwhile, Marie has come up with some other "sweet ideas."

"We make chocolate covered potato chips and pretzels, and even fruit cookies," she said. "Just can't keep them in stock."

Dipping sticks loaded with rocky candy into various colored syrups, she said. "This is also a great favorite with the kids. They also enjoy our chocolate covered marshmallows which are rolled in coconut and have a straw handle.

"She was greatly impressed with our store," Marie said proudly. "Obviously she was because Ms. Marcus featured the Munsons on the very first page of her book."

"In the weeks ahead, with holidays and all, things will be hectic for Bob and Marie, but they apparently take hard work in their stride. I guess you could say they really do have a lot of pizzazz."

First School Day Shouldn't Surprise

MENLO PARK, Calif. (UPI) — The golden rule for sending children to school for the first time is to make sure they know what to expect, says a nationally recognized authority on early childhood education.

"Children often have a very real fear that their mothers won't be coming back to pick them up after their first day of school," says Edith M. Dowley, professor emerita of the psychology and education at Stanford University and former director of the university's Big Nursery School.

Miss Dowley says parents should "explain to the child the relationship between the home and the school."

"Tell him that school is part of the neighborhood and a predictable part of life."

"Tell him what you will be doing, tell him where you will be, so he can visualize your day and get a sense of the time element involved."

Hikes Frustrate Tenants, Board

By CHARLIE MAYNARD
Herald Reporter

EAST HARTFORD — Frustrated tenants of two elderly housing units vented their anger against members of the East Hartford Housing Authority because of proposed rent increases.

And equally frustrated board members countered that the increases were needed to offset spiraling costs of utilities and fuel.

The two sides met in separate instances Thursday at the Daley Court and Hutt Heights housing units. It was the last meeting between the tenants and the board members before the Housing Authority formally applies to the state Department of Community Affairs, which has the final say on rent increases.

The Housing Authority is asking for a $12 increase for single rooms and a $16 hike for double bedroom apartments. Tenants said they cannot afford the rent increases and further charged that the increases were unjustified because of poor maintenance of the facilities.

"We're faced with a continuing loss picture," said Raymond Lavey, board chairman. "We need relief."

Lavey said the authority had an operating deficit of $4,640 for the first six months of this year and a reserve deficit of $28,000 over two years.

"There are no subsidies available to the East Hartford Housing Authority," he said. "It's a pay-as-you-go plan. If you don't have enough rental income, you can't pay your own bills."

Daley Court tenants countered that the authority and the town weren't doing enough for their elderly citizens. Peter Byrko, their representative, said the board should try to secure grants from the state or town to subsidize costs. Byrko listed instances where other towns provided funds.

"I read where the state just gave $70,000 to Wethersfield for housing units," said Byrko. "Why can't East Hartford do the same?"

Byrko also pointed out that the authority was in a deficit, the money to meet costs had to come from another source. Thus, the board has dipped into the $400,000 reserve fund.

"Within the realm of the budget, we're doing as well as we can do," said Lavey. "We have a reserve fund, but we're operating the house. There's no money for major repairs."

The Hutt Heights meeting ended at 8 p.m. Mrs. Josie McCarron, who had raised several questions during the session said afterwards, "I'm still not satisfied."

Lavey argued that since the authority was in a deficit, the money to meet costs had to come from another source. Thus, the board has dipped into the $400,000 reserve fund.

Housing Deficit Is Just Too Big

By CHRIS BLAKE

EAST HARTFORD — The Housing Authority is looking for a deficit of $38,637 for the first six months of this year and rent increases are the only way to pay the bill, board members said.

"We have applied for patents and have received one for the State of Connecticut, but are waiting for one to be used nationally. We have a tentative date with the people from Macy's Department Store in New York City that they are holding off till we get the other patent."

Panel Urges Tire Recalls

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Firestone 800 steel belted radial tire poses an unreasonable risk of death and injury, and all 13 million still on the road should be recalled, congressional investigators said today.

The recommendation came from the House Commerce oversight and investigations subcommittee that conducted hearings into the situation earlier this summer. Chairman John Moss, D-Calif., called Firestone's conduct in the matter "reprehensible in the extreme."

"The Firestone Tire and Rubber Co. is and has been for some time in a position to avoid the devastating toll of human destruction which it knew its tires could cause," Moss said. "In the exercise of clear and conscious choice, it nonetheless permitted this destruction to take place."

In a related development, Ralph Nader charged that Firestone is saving $1.25 million in potential costs each week that goes by without a recall. He said 125,000 of the tires are being scrapped each week and the longer the matter is delayed the less Firestone will have to pay.

Just in the time since the government announced its investigation, Nader said, the number of tires still on the road has dwindled from 15 million to where it is now nearing 12 million.

The congressional report said accidents linked to the tire, which Firestone no longer makes, "number in the thousands, injuries in the hundreds and known fatalities as of August 1978 are 34."

Bolton's Educators Agree on Contract

BOLTON — A tentative contract agreement between the teachers and the Bolton Board of Education was reached Thursday at 8 p.m. at Bolton Center School.

The two groups negotiated successfully for a contract since September 1977. The negotiations went through mediation and arbitration, also unsuccessful.

Finally, intervention by the state apparently gave both sides the necessary push to reach an agreement.

The disagreement was in the areas of salary, fringe benefits, and evaluation safeguards. The two groups were talking about a two-year contract.

Alcohol Plans Rejected In ZBA Monthly Ritual

By CHRIS BLAKE
Herald Reporter

EAST HARTFORD — The Zoning Board of Appeals again faced what Robert Burns, one of its members, called "our monthly ritual" at its Thursday night meeting.

And, again, as it has done in recent months, the ZBA rejected the applications of two small restaurants for variances to sell beer and wine.

By a 3 to 2 vote, the ZBA rejected the application of Gregory C. Neary for a beer and wine permit at Neary's Restaurant, 300 Silver Lane.

And, by a unanimous vote, the ZBA rejected a request by Frank Agapiuto to sell beer and wine at his Cand Restaurant, 46 Main St.

The vote to deny Neary's request came after Burns had moved for approval. Burns said the area where Neary's restaurant is located presented a particular hardship because it is a small business pocket surrounded by residential and industrial zoning.

Burns said the area is declining and Neary's attempt to revitalize the area would be a detriment to the neighborhood. Neary said he invested $125,000 in the property at the advice of his accountants. He said he has lost $12,000 since he opened it in January and he said a beer and wine permit would help business.

Neary said persons often buy sandwiches and liquor at other places and consume them at the rear of his restaurant because they cannot be seen there and they can make an easy exit.

He said a beer and wine permit would help alleviate this problem.

Burns and board alternate Joan Stuka voted for approval. Acting chairman Robert Damaschi and board members Dominic Bonadies and Mary Fimegan voted against the permit.

Agapiuto's application was rejected for the second time Thursday night. In May, he sought the same permit and asked the ZBA to waive distance requirements.

This time, Agapiuto asked the board to waive the 3,000 minimum square footage requirement by 1,500 feet.

However, several members of the nearby First Baptist Church were vocal in opposition to the application.

Agapiuto argued that he cannot compete with the larger restaurants along Main Street in Glastonbury because they are allowed to serve beer and wine.

In rejecting the two bids for beer and wine permits, the ZBA continues a practice which it has started in recent months.

Chairman Anthony Roberto and several ZBA members have expressed concern that the Planning and Zoning Commission, which has a suit pending against the ZBA, take a hard look at lowering the minimum square footage requirement. This is the second time the ZBA has rejected an application for a beer and wine permit.

Cafe Planned

MANCHESTER PARKADE
HARTFORD (UPI) — The owners of the Russian Lady cafe have bought an old meat packing plant facing Union Place which they plan to turn into a cafe and, possibly, a discotheque.

John Rimscha, who led a fight to build a new cafe a few blocks away, and Joseph Giugliano say they will locate a chain restaurant and a summer rooftop cafe with a dance floor in the former Swift and Co. meat plant.

Rimscha and downtown businessman John D. D'Amico last spring to protest that restaurateur Carl Carbone's plans to open a restaurant in the area constituted unfair competition.

However, several members of the nearby First Baptist Church were vocal in opposition to the application.

Agapiuto argued that he cannot compete with the larger restaurants along Main Street in Glastonbury because they are allowed to serve beer and wine.

Police Planning Action On Bissell St. Trucks

Manchester Police Chief John D. Lannan said today that the police department will take appropriate action beginning next week against anyone who violates the traffic ordinance which concerns any vehicle that obstructs vehicular or pedestrian traffic.
The action comes as the result of a complaint issued by a Bissell Street resident, Stanley Gazdicki, who objects to the large trucks that pull up at the loading platform of the Manchester Ice & Fuel Inc. at 51 Bissell St., and in so doing block vehicular and pedestrian traffic.

Sarasin Staff Named

Richard Weinstein and Karin Von Deck, coordinators for the Sarasin for Governor Committee in Manchester, have announced the appointment of several persons as local staff members.
They include Donald Genovesi, advance coordinator; John Alden, volunteer coordinator; Judy Johnson, special voter coordinator and Karen Chorchas, materials coordinator.

A telephone survey conducted during August by the 140th and Manchester registered Republicans indicated that taxes and unemployment were of major concern, according to Mrs. Von Deck. Proposition 13 and the town's revaluation phase-in schedule were frequently mentioned also, she said. Other issues centered on pollution control and lack of state leadership.

Students Hold Out Against Guardsmen

MANAGUA, Nicaragua (UPI) - An overmatched army of students held out today in the coffee town of Matagalpa against a siege by well-equipped National Guardsmen trying to break the back of a revolt against the authoritarian rule of President Anastasio Somoza Debayle.

Spontaneous fire was heard through the night in the town of about 50,000, 75 miles northeast of the capital. Government spokesmen said the fire was light, but witnesses reported dozens of people were killed and about 200 injured.

Following Somoza's order Thursday to attack Matagalpa "with everything you've got," National Guardsmen backed by an armored car, helicopters and jeeps mounted a heavy machine gun assault on the town. Residents sought refuge in the San Jose Church on the main square or in public buildings.

There were conflicting reports on casualties and the success of the government attack. Norman Wolfson, the New York public-relations agent acting as Somoza's foreign press aide, said one person was killed and nine injured. He said five people were killed in earlier clashes.

NEW YORK (UPI) - The New York Yankees seemingly got all their injuries and turmoil out of their systems earlier in the season and now are happy and relaxed under low-key manager Bob Lemon. They're winning more, too.

Thursday night's 6-2 victory over the Baltimore Orioles was the Yankees' seventh straight - their longest winning streak this year - and moved them to within 6 1/2 games of division-leading Boston in the American League East. Under Lemon, the Yankees are 25-11 - a winning percentage of .694 as compared to 52-43 (.547) when the combative Billy Martin was in charge.
"Lemon's kept things quiet," said Yankee first-baseman Chris Chambliss. "He's settled us. Baseball is fun again. You go out to win, sure, but you like to have fun in the process."

"We've got a relaxed atmosphere now," echoed reliever Rich Gossage.

PORTLAND, Ore. (UPI) - Bill Walton may remain with the Portland Trail Blazers after all.

It depends on whether the crippled Most Valuable Player of the NBA and Blazers President Larry Weinberg mend the breach that saw Walton defect over the team's Portland practices at the moment and return to the team for a new long-term contract in early August.
Weinberg, along with Blazers General Manager Harry Glickman and player personnel director Stu Inman were in Los Angeles Thursday. However, it was learned that Walton and Weinberg will go "one-on-one" in discussing a possible reconciliation.

Walton's chief adviser and major critic of Blazers medical practices, Jack Scott, also was in California, apparently with Walton. Scott confirmed the Walton-Weinberg meeting was on.

NEW YORK (UPI) — Sitting in a small room, staring at blank, white walls, is a lot more difficult than chasing a yellow ball on a slick, green court before thousands of appreciative fans.

But because Vitas Gerulaitis, normally joyful, the killer instinct, was unable to hold his service for one critical game, he had to suffer the consequences.

"I don't feel great about it," he said, after sitting, standing and roaming about the men's locker room for more than two hours.

Gerulaitis, seeded fourth, seemed to have the match wrapped up when he was serving at 5-4 in the second set. But Amaya, the 6-foot, 5-inch giant who took Bjorn Borg to five sets in the final, held his service before the rain came pouring down.

UConn Soccer STORRS (UPI) — University of Connecticut senior Bobby Ross of the varsity soccer team is captain and coach when the soccer team opens against Howard University Sept. 6.

"The varsity team is extremely fortunate to have a player of Bob's caliber leading it," said Coach Morrone. "As coach, I feel they have the proper selection and I am looking forward to working with Bob."

Ross started his first game as a UConn goalie three seasons ago in an NCAA championship game during his sophomore season.

Two years ago, he tended the nets for all 22 games, allowing only 11 goals and registering 14 shutouts.

Penn State Coach Sees Fine Season

NEW YORK (UPI) — "Be Penn State Proud!" That's a popular bumper sticker around the eastern part of the United States and it could symbolize the success of the Nittany Lions' football team this season.

Penn State, which has never won a national championship, is ranked third in the pre-season coaches' poll and there are many college football followers who believe the Nittany Lions have enough to make it to the top of the ratings before the season is over.

Even Coach Joe Paterno, normally a low-key personality, has been singing Penn State's praises. "We should be better than we were last year," said Paterno. "We should have an explosive team — an exciting team to watch."

Penn State, 11-1 a year ago, opens the 1978 campaign tonight against Temple. Under Wayne Hardin, wins 5-4 last season but has played Penn State tough the past two seasons. The Owls lost a pair of 1-point games in their last two meetings with Penn State played in Philadelphia.

Last of the nation's football teams don't begin action until Saturday, Sept. 9, but because of a television commitment Alabama, the nation's top-ranked team in the pre-season survey, will be on display Saturday night against 10th-ranked Nebraska. The Crimson Tide, 11-1 last season, seeks to break a two-game losing streak to the Cornhuskers (9-3) in the nationally televised contest at Birmingham and extend its 11-game home field winning streak.

Alabama, which traditionally fields top quarterbacks (Joe Namath and Richard Todd among them), has Jeff Rutledge directing traffic. His favorite receivers probably will be Bruce Bolton and Keith Pugh. Rutledge completed 64-of-107 passes last season from a wishbone offense, gaining 1,207 yards and throwing for eight touchdowns. Rainout Mild This Time ENDICOTT, N.Y. (UPI) — Compared to past mishaps at the B.C. Open, Thursday's rainout was relatively mild.

In fact, the prevalent feeling at the En Joie Golf Club after the opening-round washout was that the new Labor Day windup would actually be better for attendance than Sunday.

In 1972 — the second year of the event on the tour — Tropical Storm Agnes entirely flooded the course early in tournament week. Without luck, the B.C. Open easily could have been a one-year stand.

In 1976, the event attracted its biggest names to date, including Lee Trevino, Tom Watson and Gary Player.

But Mother Nature whipped up another wet and lucrative Saturday when the field tried to cram the final 36 holes into Sunday's round, it was allowed to get tantalizingly close — before another torrent washed it out.

Thus, a handful of pros were left to battle out the final holes before a rainout that could crown Monday. This weekend, the forecast is for clearing skies, and the tournament committee hopes the $45,000 first prize will be handed out Monday, before a record gallery.

Symbionese Liberation Army members William and Emily Harris pleaded guilty Thursday to the February 1974 kidnapping of Patricia Hearst. (UPI photo)

Hearst Kidnapping Plea Changed

OAKLAND, Calif. (UPI) - Emily Harris stood inside the courtroom railing, turned her back on the judge and told her supporters that her battle for social change was far from over. "We will return to the streets as two individuals committed to change," she pledged Thursday after she and her husband, William, pleaded guilty to kidnapping Patricia Hearst on Feb. 4, 1974. "We feel no remorse, and, in fact, we're proud of it," Harris, 33, said of the abduction as he sat on the defendants' table and gave a six-minute address to the spectators - many of whom applauded their words. The couple had pleaded innocent, and the case had been proceeding slowly for months through pretrial proceedings in Alameda County Superior Court. The surprise change of plea came after plea-bargaining with the District Attorney's office. Mrs. Harris said the change of plea was "a practical decision" to shorten

P & W Gets Biggest Contract

MIDDLETOWN (UPI) - Pratt and Whitney Aircraft has won what it calls its largest contract ever from United Airlines because its engines are more flexible and cheaper to operate, an airlines spokesman says. Robert Collins, vice president of engineering at United, said Thursday the $200 million contract awarded followed an eight-month study of P & W, General Electric and Rolls Royce engines. "Pratt & Whitney engine has more growth potential than GE. That turned out to be a major consideration," Collins said. He said without major modifications the thrust of the GE engine is right to its limits. The thrust levels of Pratt and

Bugs in Homemade Sub Delay Testing in Ocean

GLASTONBURY (UPI) - Dr. Samuel Rentsch and David Pessoni just have a few bugs to work out - and then the "Benthic Explorer," their homemade submarine, will be in shape to take to the ocean. Rentsch, the craft's inventor, and Pessoni, his 27-year-old crew chief, launched the bubble-sub in the Connecticut River Thursday evening after spending most of the day on final preparations at the Portland Boat Works. "It went just fine," Rentsch said, contacted at home in the midst of a celebration party. A jubilant friend said it went "superbly." The next step, Rentsch said, is to make some adjustments and "find some money" to test the sub in clearer waters of Maine, Florida or the Caribbean. Visibility in the Connecticut River is only two feet and the sub is made to have a wide view, he said. Rentsch, 50, a Glastonbury internist who served in the silent service during the 1950s and earned a degree in engineering before becoming a doctor, said he had reason to be proud of the two-man submarine. He said almost 15 years of research, design and construction went into making the Benthic Explorer a reality. The name for the five-foot wide, five-foot high and 21-foot long sub was taken from the Greek word "benthos," meaning sea-bottom. "Think of it," Pessoni said. "The lobster industry could use this. It's ideal for treasure hunting old wrecks or inspecting underwater cables lying on the ocean floor. What's more, it could stay down indefinitely." Because the sub is not self-propelled, the six-ton craft must be towed by a surface vessel. An umbilical cord running from the tow ship to the sub provides air, light and telephone communication. Rentsch and Pessoni say the life-line concept makes it cheaper to maintain and manufacture than a mini-sub because there is no need to carry a power plant on board to propel the craft. They said the pilot can manipulate the sub backwards, forwards or sideways - using a pneumatic system to control the direction of the rudders and horizontal flaps. Another unique feature is its plastic bubble top providing almost unrestricted visibility, a departure from conventional submarine porpoles that offer limited viewing.

Nix Nixon Says Jack

Politicians never die, they just become elder statesmen - or so says Richard Nixon. This from columnist Jack Anderson who says the ex-president would like nothing better than to be publicly "exonerated" of Watergate guilt with an appointment as an emissary to some foreign country. Anderson told cadets at the Air Force Academy in Colorado Wednesday that Nixon hopes to persuade some administration - current or future - that his contacts in China and Russia could be turned to good use. Adds the columnist: "I hope no president falls for it."

Put in the Valley

How green Clint Eastwood's valley was a matter of concern to Monterey County sheriffs recently. Seems a field of 6-foot marijuana plants was found on the king of spaghetti mac's ranch in California's Carmel Valley. In all, there are 430 large marijuana plants ready for harvesting on two lots, one of them Eastwood's. But officials say the actor had nothing to do with planting the pot. They arrested Eugene Lutz, 56, a caretaker on the ranch who officers said subleased the property from the

Bryant Concert Canceled

BOSTON (UPI) - Sponsors canceled a fundraising appearance tonight by singer Anita Bryant after a U.S. Senate candidate told police anonymous callers telephoned his campaign headquarters with threats about "killing people." Howard Phillips, who is seeking the Democratic nomination to oppose Sen. Edward W. Phillips, a former Nixon administration official, said Thursday the decision to Before buying a house in an unfamiliar city or locale, check out the schools. Reading scores will tell you something about the quality of education in that particular system. The number and type of extra-curricular activities will give a good idea of the quality of life in the community for children. These days, with concern about school budget problems, investigate the community. Is it planning to close down any schools? What is the reaction to California's Proposition XIII? How will tax rates locally be affected? It is our business to help you and we are happy to advise you to the best of our ability.

Here at TEDFORD REAL ESTATE: CENTURY 21 RT44A, Bolton Notch, Bolton, 647-8914 we know what areas will suit your needs. We have been serving this community for many years, all you have to do is tell us what type of home you are looking for and in what price range and we will do the rest. For that personal service give us a call today.
