By SUSAN VAUGHN Herald Reporter

North End Residents have been complaining for over two weeks of a strong odor of raw sewage coming from Union Pond, but apparently about the problem immediately.

there is nothing that can be done The problem has been caused by two projects currently going on in Vernon, one involving the transfer of the sewage treatment operations in the Vernon Sewage Treatment Plant. The other project, which apparently aggravated the problem, was the lowering of the Shenipsit Lake reser-

BLOODBROTHERS (R) — Paul Servino, Teny Lo Bianco, Richard Gere, Drama. Confused Bronx youth squares off against his Italian family/manhood code. Decent, sensitive story and fine performances are marred by a heavy touch and immature resolution. Should have had the once over from a pair of shears. But well worth a look. Caution: strong language, some violence. GRADE: B. (Handler)

CORVETTE SUMMER (PG) — Mark Hamill, Annie Potta. Romantie lark. This is really a love story between a boy and his car. Mark Hamill, as the boy, tries to survive the silly script, but can't quite manage it. GRADE: B-minus.

ANIMAL HOUSE (R) — John Belushi, Tim Matheson, Thomas Hulce. Comedy. Leave your raised consciousness at home and wallow. All the cliche college characters are here and the cast plays them to the hilt. Raucous and hysterical —a great movie to drink beer by. Warning: Topless cheerleaders and some verbal nono's. GRADE: A-minus. (O'Brien)

EYES OF LAURA MARS (R) — Faye Dunaway, Tommie Lee Jones. Mystery. A basically good idea — a fashion photographer who sees visions of her friends' murders, and they all come true — is ruined by pretentiousness. Everything here is overdone, from the direction to the costumes to the make-up. The end result is a film that tries to be different and only succeeds in being bad. Yesterday, Gene and I were fishing a favorite hotspot, and we started talking about bait fishing and the fun it can be. I had forgotten how enjoyable it really is, because 98 percent of my efforts in persuing game fish have been with a fly. Gene, who also guides in Florida at Islamorada in the Keys during the winter, is an excellent fly fisherman. He is one of the very few fly fishermen to have hooked, landed and released a tarpon going over 140 pounds. This is quite a feat! While watching the bobbers dance on the wavelets over our bait, he remarked, "Fishing for tarpon with live bait is really exciting, but I think fishing for smallmouth bass with minnows is equally as much fun."

Never having gone tarpon fishing, I don't know about the former, but I do know about the latter. For me, the most exciting part of fishing with live bait, is seeing your bobber, atop the water, suddenly slide under and start to travel. This is where the suspense starts to build Should I set the hook now? ... No

Sit on your instinct ... Give him line Let the fish keep traveling with the bait in his mouth ... He stopped! . Now? ... No. he's turning it around in his mouth ... He's off again and traveling even faster with the bobber just under the surface

NOW! ... That's it! ... He's hooked! Wonder how big he is ... Haven't seen him yet ... But he feels big . WOW! ... Look at that jump! ... Look at the size of him! ... The above staccato conversation is carried on by you to you ... in your head all the time the action is going on. Landing a three-pound smallmouth is the top ping on a "sundae."

At the end of the day, after five or six experiences like that, you fall into bed happy, tired and covered with that overall feeling of a good day well

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I am heartsick about my daughter. She 33, attractive, popular and well educated, but to get to the point, I am ashamed of the fact that she is living with a man.
Whenever I ask her if she plans to marry him, she insists that marriage is not important to her and she is very happy with things as they are. (Abby, how can she be happy?) She has a good position and so has he, and I imagine that they share expenses. I can't understand why they don't get

Abby, I am just a normal mother who wants to see her daughter happily married with a family.

I want to die when my friends ask me about her. And I'm a wreck trying to keep it from the relatives. She was raised in Christian home, went to Sunday school and church larly, and had good examples to follow. I don't know here she got these loose, immoral ideas. How do parents cope with a situation like this?

SICK AT HEART DEAR SICK: Parents are not responsible for the actions of their grown children. Please get over the notion that you we friends and relatives an explan

DEAR ABBY: I have a new daughter-in-law whom adore, but I wish she wouldn't work so hard to put on a fancy dinner for Dad and me! I think it's commendable that she wants everything to be perfect, but she tries so hard to impress us with the most complicated gourmet meals that I feel guilty knowing how much trouble she has gone to. I wouldn't hurt her feelings by offering to "help" her, but believe me, she could use some help.

The first 30 minutes after our arrival, she's in the kitchen struggling with about six different kinds of hot hors d'oeuvres. And all during dinner she is either in the kitchen r serving us. I wish I could tell her that if she's just throw some hamourgers on the grill, slice a few tomatoes, and open up a quart of ice cream for dessert, we would love it! But how can I tell that dear young thing we'd rather have er company and simple food than a gourmet's delight? RIVERSIDE DEAR RIVERSIDE: You can't. And oddly enough, even some older, more experienced cooks need to learn that guests want a host or hostess—not a ghost or ghostess! Plain food served in a relaxed atmosphere is far more en yable than the most elegant gourmet feast presented by a worn out, fretful, nervous wreck, who has obviously slaved

DEAR ABBY: I am a reasonably attractive, well-balanced young lady of 24, and I'm sure I could make some nice young man a good wife, as well as a good mother to the children I'd love to have. My problem is this: Given a choice between wo men with whom to fall in love-a nice, respectable steadily employed man, or a good-for-nothing bum-I inariably choose the bum.

Can you tell me why! Is it because, deep down, I have an inconscious liking for abuse? (The bums take my money and treat me badly.) Or could it be that I deliberately avoid the good prospects because I really don't want to get married I am asking you because I can't afford to go to a

DEAR ATTRACTED: I wouldn't presume to tell you why you invariably pick the bums over the respectable men, but if you are interested in finding out, try your local mental You say you can't afford to go to a psychiatrist. I say you can't afford to go on picking the bums over the nice guys. You may become disgusted, convince yourself that you don't eserve anything better, and marry one Do you wish you had more friends? For the secret of

Art events

 Images ranging from abstract natural forms to Mickey Mouse, and from an oversize daisy to a kitchen sink will be among the new ideas displayed in this year's University of Connecticut art department faculty exhibition in the university's William Benton Museum of Art in Storrs. The exhibition begins Wednesday and will be on view until Oct. 8 in the museum's main gallery and on the balcony.

· A trumpet from Iran, a 19th-century Italian mandolin and a Japanese shakuhachi are some of the instruments on display in the new Lions Gallery of the Senses exhibition at Wadsworth Atheneum in Hartford. Titled "Winds. Strings, Striking Things," the exhibit begins Tuesday and will be open to the public through Nov. 12.

A major portion of the 30 instruments in the gallery comes from the collection of the Metropolitan Museum of Art in New York. They-were chosen for the Hartford showing with' the assistance of Miss Gert DeLeo of Manchester, a member of the Lions Gallery Advisory Board. Miss DeLeo has been blind since infancy and is a retired music teacher.

A series of concerts and workshops has been arranged in conjunction with the exhibition. The workshops, "Making Music," will enable participants to create musical instruments from found objects. They will be offered to the public on Saturdays at 1:30 p.m.

Musical Events

The Curtiss "Jenny" will appear for the sixth time on our postal paper with the 21cent international airmail card to be released in San Diego, California on the 16th of this month. The plane is a special pet of the Postal Service because it carried the mail on May 15, 1918, on the inception of the first scheduled route. On May 13, two days before the flight, the first airmail stamp had been issued at Washington, New York and Philadelphia. A oddity of collecting is that the FDC's are listed at $8,500, while the first-flight covers are only $300.

The stamp was that 24-cent carmine and blue that came out with a hundred printed upside down. Later the same year there was a 16-cent and a 6-cent stamp with the same Jenny design only in different

The fourth Jenny on our mail was the 10cent Scott No. C74 issued in 1968 to commemorate the 50th anniversary of the Service. It is in red, blue and black. An error with the red tail-stripe missing is valued at $5,000

The fifth Jenny was on a surface-mail stamp - one of the four se-tenants in the U.S. Postal Service Bicentennial issue. (Scott No. 1574, Sept. 3, 1975.) And now, on this card, we see the liveliest Jenny yet.

The name comes from the designation given to the plane by the makers, the Glenn H. Curtiss Co. It was one of their JN series, the "JN4H," similar to the famous training plane of World War I. (P & W people may interested to know that it had a 90-horsepower, V-8, watercooled

The first officially-observed airplane flight in this country was not made by a Wright brother in 1903, but by Glenn Curtiss in 1908. He piloted the "June Bug," a craft of his own manufacture, over a measured 1-kilometer course under controlled conditions. For this feat he received the first prize ever awarded in the United States for aeronautical achievement - a trophy from the Scientific American magazine.

A year after this prize-winning flight, the Glenn H. Curtiss Co. of Hammondsport, N.Y., was offering a more advanced model of the plane, now called the Gold Bug, for $5,000, with a 60-day delivery promise!

First-day cancellations for the new card may be ordered any time through Oct. 2. Address: "Airmail Postal Card," Postmaster, San Diego, Calif. 921-199. Collectors are requested to send either selfaddressed envelopes or return labels with their orders.

Almost Missed it

We nearly missed the boat on this one: A 15-cent Auto Racing embossed stamped envelope will be released in California today. There is no leeway this time for ordering an FDC so it means a hurryscurry to get a Sept. 2 postmark. The envelopes are in the usual two sizes. They send the smaller one unless you request a No. 10. The price of each 15-cent envelope is 18 cents. (It figures!)

The address to write is Auto Racing Envelope, Postmaster, Ontario, Calif. 91761.

Coming Events

Tomorrow, Sept. 3, The First Sunday Stamp Bourse will hold forth at the Ramada Inn, 100 E. River Drive, East Hartford. Free parking, admission and door prizes. Many dealers will be present. Time: 10 to 5.

Tuesday the 5th at 7:30 p.m. — The first meeting of the new season for the Central Connecticut Coin Club. Place: K of C Hall. 138 Main St., Manchester. President Gary Gruver has announced a socializing evening to catch up on the coin-adventure stories of the summer months. Plans are afoot for the annual banquet in October.
