Leaf Pickups To Start Late

MANCHESTER - The town's annual leaf pickup program will have one of its latest starts ever this year.

George Ringstone, acting highway superintendent, said Friday that the program probably will not be started until about Nov. 1.

Every fall, the town's Highway Department handles a street-bystreet collection of fallen leaves that have been swept and piled by residents.

Last year, the town cleanup started in late October and was finished in early December. Residents have complained sometimes about the leaves picked up too early in the season and more piling up before the end of autumn.

Early snowfalls, however, can disrupt the cleanup schedule if it is started too late.

VATICAN CITY (UPI) - The body of Pope John Paul 1, his face serene crowded into St. Peter's Square and in a death no one expected, lay in knelt in prayer for the repose of the state in his papal palace as the Roman Catholic church set in motion for the second time in as many months the 2,000-year-old process of choosing a successor.

prise and sorrow at the sudden death of the 65-year-old pontiff who died alone of a heart attack Thursday night while lying in bed reading a book of religious devotion. His private secretary found him early Friday morning, the lights still burning at his bedside, the book still in his hands.

John Paul's reign lasted only 34 days, the briefest in nearly four centuries. It was a reign highlighted by his ready smile and parish-priest manner that won him immediate affection. His personal style was humble and warm-hearted, and Romans loved him for it.

"Rome is in a state of shock," Bishop Paul Dudley of Minneapolis said at the Vatican. The eternal city was still mourning the death on Aug. 6 of Pope Paul VI and a Vatican attendant, echoing the thoughts of 700 million Catholics, said, "It's impossible, it cannot be true. He had opened his arms to all of us and now he is gone so quickly.

The body of the 263rd pontiff, clad in his red and white papal vestments, lay on a bier in the marbled papal palace, his white silk miter resting on green and silver pillows, as nearly 100,000 mourners, numb with grief and surprise, passed by. Under his left arm was the silver bishop's staff topped by a crucifix. On his feet were the bright red 'shoes of the fisherman'' symbolizing the Roman Catholic belief that popes are the successors of St. Peter, the fisherman from Galilee who became Christ's main disciple.

When John Paul's body was discovered, Vatican Secretary of State Cardinal Jean Villot of France, the church chamberlain, rushed into the room carrying a ritual silver hammer. A Vatican doctor was with him

Villot lightly tapped the late pope on the forehead three times with the hammer and called the pontiff by his given name three times in Latin: 'Albino, Albino, Albino, Are you dead?"

When there was no reply Villot pronounced the pontiff dead, grasped the pontiff's hand and removed the gold ring of the fisherman, symbolizing papal power, and smashed it with the hammer, signaling the end of John Paul's brief reign

Special Masses

MANCHESTER -All regularly scheduled masses at St. James Church this weekend will be recited in memory of Pope John Paul. There will be a special mass held the day of the Pope's burial, on a date to be announced.

At St Bridget Church the pope's passing will be mourned at the regularly scheduled masses.

Before the market opened, the Commerce Department reported its August index of leading economic indicators - designed to forecast the future of the economy - spurted 0.8 percent on the heels of a revised 1.3 percent slump in July

Although the Federal Reserve Board tightened credit another notch Thursday by allowing the federal funds rate to exceed its presumed target, Wall Street apparently believes the Fed will not impose stricter restraints in the near future.

Investors also were relieved the nation's basic money supply rose by a moderate $800 million in the latest week. Although the supply has grown at an unacceptable 10.6 percent annual rate over the last four weeks, the latest advance was not heated enough to push the Fed toward curbing the monetary expansion

Composite volume of NYSE issues listed on all U.S. exchanges and over the counter totaled 25,-720,000 shares. The American Stock Exchange index climbed 1.23 to 168.81 and the price of an average share added 10 cents. # By CHRIS BLAKE Herald Reporter

EAST HARTFORD-Do you want to buy a "hot" bike? No, this is not an illegal racket. It is the annual police bicycle auction, scheduled for today at the police

Every year, the police pick up from 400 to 500 stolen or unclaimed bicycles. Usually, most of them are claimed within a year. But the police must get rid of the remaining bikes at the end of the year Saturday morning, Officer Walter Kehoe will act as auctioneer and attempt to sell 42 bikes of all sizes, shapes and colors Kehoe said the police used to pick up bikes all over town, but they had too many cases where someone left the bike and came back for it later -only to discover that the police had taken it.

Now, the police pick up a bike only when someone complains there's a bike in their yard that they do not know about Kehoe said he'll sell the bikes "for whatever they'll them away This year's stock includes 10-speeds, bikes with butterf-one for some reason," Kehoe said Last year, the police sold 68 bikes. The proceeds are handled by Lt. Richard Lewis and returned to the general government fund for the town. The auction normally draws "between 100 and 150 people on a good day," he said. "We get an awful rash of stolen bikes here, as most towns do," he said.

Kehoe recommends chaining bikes to something that doesn't move. If you can't find something to chain it to.

This old fable captures for me the essence of being human. So often we can feel like goats, weak and alraid to be the real self that dwells deep inside. So we bleet and eat grass afraid to be the person that we want to be. We make ourselves out to be someone far different than we are. And then in the most unexpected places and ways someone comes to us and frees us to break our shell, our false self, and eat the lood which really nourishes us and be the person we want to be. We let out a roar that thunders through the jungle. For myself that person is Jesus the

Educators Reschedule Next Plea

EAST HARTFORD - The Board of Education has changed the date for its appearance before the Town Council to ask again for additional funds for the Special Education deficit.

Board Chairman Lawrence DelPonte said Friday that the board has been scheduled to appear before the council on Oct. 17 instead of on Tuesday

The shift was decided upon to allow council members additional time i reviewing the information given to them and also because some council memoers would not be present at Tuesday's meeting.

The school board discovered the deficit last month when more students than it had originally anticipated were placed out of the school district into more expensive institutions. They were placed there because East Hartford did not have the facilities to meet their needs.

Originally, the deficit was eslimated at $224,000, although DelPonte said that figure has changed already because three students will not be placed outside the district as previously planned. One student's family moved out o town, another was found able to func tion within the school system, and the parents of another student opted to pull that student out of the special education setting.

DelPonte said there may be ad ditional savings, but not enough to offset the deficit.

"I don't expect the council to fund the entire amount," he said, "but am looking for some commitment to underwrite the shortage, within reason, at the end of the year."

When DelPonte and other board members first appeared before the council Sept. 5, council members adopted a posture of "pay your bills and then come see us." They sought additional information about the deficit before commiting any more

"A Salute to American Imagination," the major two-hour entertainment special in which a roster of top stars and other distinguished personalities from the fields of theater, literature and space science join for a dramatic, humorous and musical celebration of the Ford Motor Company's 75th anniversary, will be broadcast on CBS Thursday, Oct. 5. Joining Paul Newman and Joanne Woodward as hosts of the special are Madeline Kahn and Telly Savalas.

Guests include Edward Asner, Neil Armstrong, Martin Balsam, Ronee Blakley, Dr. Joyce Brothers, Sid Caesar, Ray Charles, Imogene Coca, Rita Coolidge, Fritz Feld, Henry Fonda, Aretha Franklin, Lee Grant, ballet dancer Kevin Haigen, Wolfman Jack, Kris Kris-tofferson, Johnny Mathis, Ethel Merman, Arthur Miller, Redd, Hedwig & Crossley (formerly of the Harletts singing group), John Ritter, Martin Sheen, Neil Simon, ballerina Mar-

yanna Tcherkassky, the UCLA Choir and Tennessee Williams. Also appearing will be Henry Ford II, who gives a tribute to the special's theme, imagination, a human resource that his grandfather, Henry Ford, channeled into reality, thereby playing a vital role in altering America's way of living and thinking. Through the perfor-mances of the special's stars, viewers will see themselves as they have been mirrored in song and dance, on stage and in book and film during the seven and a half decades that have seen the country advance from horse-drawn carriages to moon-landing space ships.

The special also looks ahead as it focuses on what goes on in the imaginations of people ranging from Henry Fonda and Neil Armstrong, the first man to walk on the moon, to young school children who have known no age before the space age. The children are among the cross section of typical Americans interviewed by international explorer-cinematographer Mike Hoover in "The People Speak" segments, which were shot this summer across the country and are woven throughout the special.

Playwrights Arthur Miller, Neil Simon and Tennessee Williams are on hand to introduce scenes from their plays. Musical numbers, helping to tell us who we were and are and what we hope to be, are performed by Ray Charles, Aretha Franklin, Kris Kristofferson and Rita Coolidge, Johnny Mathis, Ethel Merman, Redd, Hedwig & Crossley, and the UCLA Choir.

Among the comedy highlights of the special is a skit on inventions with Sid Caesar and Imogene Coca.

Paul Newman (top) and Joanne Woodward (center) will co-host "A Salute to American Imagination," the 75th Anniversary of Henry Ford's (top, right) inception of Ford Motor Company. Telly Savalas (bottom, left) and Martin Balsam (right) will also be on hand, Thursday, Oct. 5 on CBS.

We wrote last November about cities that had launched programs employ-ing CB in emergencies and in crime control. Two of those cities - Rochester, N.Y., and Ft. Worth, Tex. were conducting noteworthy programs. Since nearly a year has passed, we thought we'd check back on the progress of the CB ventures those communities.

Actually, Ft. Worth has had its Channel 9 Police Monitor since March 1976. The effort is totally voluntary. Rochester, on the other hand, has been testing a specific program aimed at helping elderly citizens. The ea resulted from a study by the state's Criminal Jus tice Services department in Albany and is a pilot for future statewide action if it s successful Rochester's state-funded project is administered by the city's police department. A group of 102 elderly persons in a specific zone was selected. Each household was equipped with a CB. Patrol cars in this zone were also equipped so they could react to any calls from the 102 families, Channel 9 was the call up channel.

Lt. Roy Irving, a Roches ter police department researcher, has been watching over the effort. "We really haven't evaluated the program yet," he explained 'Burglaries have dropped in the zone. But we've only had about 15 or 16 calls from residents with the CBs. We don't know whether it is the publicity the plan has received or the result of all the efforts we have made toward crime prevention.

Added Irving: "We have had some problems. The radios we put in the police cars didn't work properly at first. Then we realized that the police officers were so busy monitoring five police channels on their regular radio, they weren't able to pay as much attention to their CBs as might be necessary. Too many voices at one time in the car." In Ft. Worth, however, the Police Monitor Program handles an average of 6,890 calls every month. From March 12 through June 12, members of the Monitor fielded 18,465 calls. These included stranded people, reports of burglary activities in progress, accidents and other emergencies

An truck traveling through the city hit a freight train carrying several tanks of jet fuel. The subsequent blast blacked-out all electric and telephone service in the area. A passing motorist gave the word on Channel 9 and police units and fire trucks were on the scene within minutes, saving valuable time and bringing immediate order to a chaotic scene

Ft. Worth Police Chief

A.J. Brown considers the Police Monitor one of the city's greatest assets and gives the credit to the volunteers, who man the base units 24 hours a day, seven days a week. "The effort has been of inestimable value to the police and fire departments. he said at an awards dinner for participants in the program. T.E. Attebery, the liaison officer who supervises the program, said "Working with these people and su-pervising the Monitor Program is a function that gives more satisfaction than any-thing I've ever done. Its becoming a tradition that I hope will carry on forever. The CB tale of two cities.
