Siebold Gets Coaching Post

The last vacant head coaching position at Manchester High has been filled. It was announced by Dick Cobb, director of athletics, late Monday morning.

Mel Siebold, Town recreation director, has been appointed head boys' swimming coach replacing Ted Brindamour, who resigned after the end of last year. Siebold also serves as coach of the Manchester Rec Swim Team.

Siebold's appointment was confirmed Monday morning by Jacob Ludes, high school principal, who approved Cobb's recommendation.

Review Highway

EAST HARTFORD — Federal highway officials are reviewing the possibility of separating the Interstate 86/84 connector from the rest of the I-84 project. A federal highway official told Esther B. Clarke, the Town Council minority leader, that the Federal Highway Administration (FHWA) is now reviewing the final environmental impact statement for the I-84 project. If the FHWA decides to separate the connector from the rest of I-84, it would be reviewed sooner than the rest of the project, Mrs. Clarke said. See Page 2.

Top Court Bars Vida Blue Case

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Supreme Court today shut the courthouse door on challenges by Oakland's owner Charles Finley to the baseball commissioner's power to veto the sale of all-star players Vida Blue, Rollie Fingers and Joe Rudi.

The justices refused to hear Finley's appeal that Commissioner Bowie Kuhn overstepped his authority when he scrapped Oakland's $3.5 million sale of contract rights for Blue, Fingers and Rudi in 1976.

Blue, Fingers and Rudi all played on Oakland's 1973 and 1974 world championship teams. Just before the trading deadline at midnight June 15, 1976, Oakland negotiated tentative agreements to sell Rudi and Fingers to the Boston Red Sox for $2 million and Blue to the New York Yankees for $1.5 million.

But Kuhn vetoed the deals on June 18 that year. He said they were "inconsistent with the best interests of baseball" because they would deteriorate the team's competitive ability and allow more affluent clubs to buy success "in the present unsettled circumstances of baseball's reserve system."

Oakland could not sell the players' contracts after the trading deadline without first offering them to all other American League teams at a waiver price of $50,000. So Fingers and Rudi, whose contracts expired at the end of the 1976 baseball season, became free agents and went to other clubs, and Finley got nothing for them.

Blue had just signed a contract binding him to Oakland through the 1979 season. After Kuhn vetoed an effort to sell him to the Cincinnati Reds, Blue was traded to the San Francisco Giants.

Simple Burial Set for Pope

By JACK R. PAYTON
VATICAN CITY (UPI) — Pope John Paul I, cut down by a heart attack after only 34 days of his reign, will be buried in a simple marble tomb near those of the two predecessors who gave him his name and inspired his priestly life — John XXIII and Paul VI.

The Vatican said Sunday work was well under way on the marble sarcophagus in the grottoes under the main altar of St. Peter's Basilica and would be ready for John Paul's burial following a solemn outdoor funeral mass Wednesday.

John Paul's tomb is only a few yards from those of John XXIII, who died in 1963, and Paul VI, who died Aug. 6.

Pope John elevated the former Albino Luciani to the rank of bishop in 1958 and put him in charge of the Vittorio Veneto diocese in northern Italy.

Paul VI named Luciani patriarch of Venice in 1969, gave him his red cardinal's hat in 1973 and once embarrassed the man who would be his successor on the throne of St. Peter by placing the red papal cape on his shoulders before a gathering in the lagoon city's St. Mark's Square.

When he was chosen pope in this century's shortest election conclave Aug. 26, Luciani took the unprecedented step of honoring his benefactors by taking both their names as his papal title.

He also pledged to continue the reform and ecumenical work they had begun in the Second Vatican Council that ended in 1965.

John Paul's tomb is opposite that of Pope Marcellus II, whose 22-day papacy in 1555 is the third shortest in the church's two millennia. The shortest reign of a crowned pope in history was the 13-day papacy of Urban VII in 1590. John Paul's 34-day reign ranks fourth in brevity.

The world's leaders — presidents, prime ministers and royalty — will pay tribute at the funeral Wednesday to the humble migrant bricklayer's son who charmed the world during his brief reign with a ready smile and down-to-earth style.

President Carter's mother, Miss Lillian, will head the U.S. delegation in place of Vice President Walter Mondale, who was prevented from attending by a "pressing legislative agenda," the White House announced Sunday.

Ten days later, the princes of the Roman Catholic church will be locked in the Vatican's ornate Sistine Chapel to choose John Paul's successor. Cardinals are saying they want another man like him who can reach out and win the hearts of believers and non-believers alike.

"Everyone wants a pastoral pope like the one that has just passed, a pope speaking a language that everyone will understand," said Cardinal Timothy Manning of Los Angeles.

Lebanon Strife Leaves 32 Dead

BEIRUT, Lebanon (UPI) — Syrian troops and Christian militiamen today pounded each other with rockets, mortar and artillery fire in the heaviest fighting the devastated capital has seen in three years of civil strife.

The fighting shattered a day-old cease-fire advocated by President Carter and U.N. Secretary-General Kurt Waldheim in a joint statement.

Accurate casualty figures for either side were impossible to obtain, but rightist officials said 32 people were killed and more than 200 wounded today alone.

Residents of both east and west Beirut said the rocket, mortar and artillery bombardments were intense and constant, surpassing fighting during the 1975-76 civil war.

"The shelling is continuing," one resident of a hill town overlooking the capital said by telephone. "All I can see is fire and black smoke coming out of Ashrafieh (a Christian sector in East Beirut)."

The toll since the latest heavy round of fighting began 10 days ago was conservatively estimated to be at least 100 dead and 500 wounded, not including Syrian casualties, which officials are "heavy."

The battles ranged over a 17-mile long front, including Beirut and its suburbs, the hilly region to the east and Christian villages along the coast and in the mountains to the north and east of the city.

The Syrian troops made extensive use of Soviet-made 12-barrel rocket launchers, one of several versions of the famous Soviet "Stalin Organ." They also used 9-barrel, 122mm multiple launchers.

Democrats Close Ranks

HARTFORD (UPI) — Democrats today stood in close ranks, buttressed by the announcement by Lt. Gov. Robert Killian he will actively work for the re-election of Gov. Ella Grasso in the November elections.

Killian, the loser to Mrs. Grasso in a bitter Democratic primary less than three weeks ago, publicly ended their feuding over the weekend at a Democratic fund raising rally attended by Vice President Walter Mondale.

"I'm for the Democrats. I'm for Mrs. Grasso and the Democratic Party," Killian said at a cocktail party Saturday honoring the governor and Mondale.

Mondale made a one-day visit to Connecticut Saturday to help raise funds for Democrats at the cocktail party and dinner in the Hartford Civic Center.

Three in Town Defy Blue Law

By JUNE TOMPKINS
Herald Reporter

MANCHESTER — Police notified three stores Sunday that they were breaking the state's new Sunday closing law.

Telling them they were breaking the "blue law," police went to Crispino's Supreme Foods at 405 Hartford Road, Highland Park Market at 317 Highland St., and Channel Inc. at the Manchester Parkade and talked to the managers informing them of the apparent violation.

Police Chief Robert Lannan said the store managers were warned, but no actual written warnings were issued nor any arrests made. He said that police took pictures of the stores actively when they visited the sites.

Lannan said members of the Town Building Department will go today to the stores that violated the law and measure them to see if they are in compliance with the criteria of a maximum of 5,000 square feet. The Highland Park Market is about 16,000 square feet, and Crispino's is about 12,000 square feet.

An affidavit will be prepared and forwarded to the prosecutor's office to prepare warrants for the arrests of all store managers, Lannan said. That is the action recommended by the chief state attorney's office, he said.

The managers of the three stores generally share a "wait and see" attitude.

Peter Devaney, president of Highland Park Market, said he is going to stay open and see what happens.

The owner of Crispino's doesn't understand why such an issue is being made of staying open on Sunday.

"I don't know yet what I'm going to do," Sam Crispino, owner, said when asked if he was going to fight the law in court. "Yes, the police came here-Sunday and said they received a complaint that our store was open and that we were breaking the law. I have a lot of things on my mind and Sunday openings are the farthest thing from my mind right now," he said.

No information was available from Robert Tarr, operations manager at Channel Inc.

"I'm not at liberty to say what we'll do," Tarr said as he explained that all decisions and information must come from the company's central office in Whippany, N.J. As to whether the store will be open next Sunday, "I can't say," was Tarr's reply.

A judge tossed out the state's ancient blue law in 1976 as unconstitutional. Under the new law approved by the 1978 Legislature, large stores will be forced to shut their doors on Sunday except between Thanksgiving and Christmas. Small stores that provide necessary services or entertainment are exempt.

Elsewhere in the state, three Colonial IGA markets and a couple of Everybody's Markets were also found open in apparent violation of the new law.

A coalition of retailers who support the new law, including Caldor and Food Mart, Division of Waldbaum supermarkets, have said they will seek court action against any stores that open Sunday, in violation of the blue law.

A State Police spokesman said no arrests were made Sunday and the stores were not shut down in accordance with policy set by Chief State Attorney Austin McGuigan to insure uniform enforcement of the law. He said that officers took certain information from the managers which will be forwarded to the prosecutor to determine if warrants should be issued.

Manchester Dedicates Housing for Elderly

MANCHESTER — While 40 units of elderly housing were dedicated Saturday, the town looked to the future and its need for more such units.

U.S. Rep. William Cotter and many local officials attended Saturday's dedication ceremonies for the Spencer Village complex off Spencer Street.

Pascal Mastrangelo, chairman of the Manchester Housing Authority, and W. James Rice, commissioner of the state Department of Community Affairs, traded good-natured barbs about the amount of state funding available for future elderly housing projects.

Mastrangelo said that the town has an application pending for funding of 250 more units, a figure that Rice said is optimistic. Rice's department is in charge of distributing funds for elderly housing projects in the state.

Cotter presented Mastrangelo with an American flag which was raised in the complex's courtyard.

"Advocates of cutting government spending have been curiously silent about expenditures for senior citizens," Cotter told the audience of officials, residents and friends who had gathered. He said that spending for such projects as elderly housing draws support from all.

John Thompson, who was mayor when the Spencer Village project, originally was approved, was master of ceremonies for the event. He read letters from several persons, including Gov. Ella Grasso and U.S. Sen. Abraham Ribicoff.

Rice indicated that Manchester probably will not receive funding now for all 250 of the units it has requested, but he added that the state has made a commitment to fund such projects throughout the state.

"Projects like this have given communities a great amount of pride," he said.

Others who spoke included Town Manager Robert Weiss, and Mayor Stephen Penny.

Public To Have Voice In Sewer Improvement

By GREG PEARSON
Herald Reporter

MANCHESTER — Residents will have an opportunity later this month to speak about a proposed sewer improvement plan that includes $10 million in treatment plant expansion.

The plan is a long-range one developed by the engineering firm of Metcalf & Eddy.

The hearing has been scheduled for Tuesday, Oct. 31 at 8 p.m. in the Municipal Building's Hearing Room.

The town received the detailed report from Metcalf & Eddy this summer. The report spells out many of the future improvement and expansion steps that should be taken with the sewer treatment system.

Once a sewer treatment plant reaches 90 percent of its capacity, the federal government requires that work be started to design expansion of the facility. Manchester's plant already has passed the 90 percent mark, and the proposed expansion would meet expected sewage demands through the year 2000.

The report lists an estimated cost of $17.5 million for all system improvements. About $10 million of this would be for upgrading the town's treatment plant on Olcott Street.

The estimated cost includes sewer installations in outlying sections of town, and some of these may never have to be made.

A majority of the expense for the proposed work would be paid by state and federal funding.

Copies of the plan will be available Oct. 16 at the town clerk's office in the Municipal Building and at the Whitton Memorial Library, 100 N. Main St.

The plan also includes a $200,000 testing survey of the town's sanitary sewer system, Frank Jodanis, water and sewer administrator, said.

The survey would help detect illegal connections to the sanitary sewer system. Some residents have sump pumps and downspouts from the roof that flow directly into the sanitary sewer lines.

This creates an increase of water that is treated unnecessarily at the sewage treatment plant.

The town is waiting for approval by the state for funding for that survey. Jodanis said. The survey work will take about six months, although both the length and cost of the survey could drop if the problem is not as widespread as believed, he said.

Sadat Says Carter Coming to Egypt

CAIRO, Egypt (UPI) — President Anwar Sadat said today that President Carter has accepted an invitation to visit Egypt and join in signing an Israeli-Egyptian treaty which the two sides will start negotiating later this month.

Sadat announced his invitation to Carter in a parliamentary speech in which he urged all Arab parties directly involved in the conflict with Israel to negotiate directly with it in accordance with two Camp David peace agreements signed by Egypt, Israel and the United States Sept. 17.

He appealed to other Arabs to show understanding for the accords, which he described as "positive steps paving the way to an overall solution."

Sadat praised Carter for his role at Camp David, saying, "History will place him in the forefront of leaders who changed the face of the world to bring love instead of hatred and peace instead of war."

Early Start Sought For Highways Link

EAST HARTFORD — The Federal Highway Administration (FHWA) is reviewing the possible separation of the Interstate 84/86 connector from the rest of the Interstate 84 project, a FHWA official said last week. In a letter received last week by Esther B. Clarke, the Town Council minority leader, Rex I. Wells of the FHWA said the final environmental impact statement for the I-84 project has been submitted. "For years, residents in the Forbes Street area have been inundated with traffic — and forced to sit in daily traffic chokes on auto emission fumes," she said. Federal officials had told Mrs. Clarke in August that it would be at least two to three years before construction could begin. However, Mrs. Clarke then requested that the I-84/86 connector be separated from the rest of the project. This would allow it to be built sooner, she said. "In the past, we have been told that the connector must be built along with the rest of I-84," Mrs. Clarke said. "However, the FHWA assured me this week they are considering separating the I-84/86 connector from the rest of the project." Presently, those who wish to get to I-84 from I-86 must get off I-86 at either the Roberts Street or Forbes Street exits. Then, they must travel on Silver Lane to

Cummings Lauds Party On Spending in State

MANCHESTER — State Rep. Theodore Cummings said today that the recent Democratic record on spending compares favorably to state spending of previous years. "Republican candidates rush to criticize Democratic spending. Those Republicans have short memories," he said. "From 1960 to 1975 under both Democratic and Republican administrations, state spending did increase at an annual average rate of 12 percent. The Democrat state budget increase in 1978 was about 11 percent," Cummings said. Cummings, who is seeking reelection in the 12th Assembly District, also said that part of that increase included new funding for cities and towns. Manchester, for instance, received $50,000-$800,000 in new state aid this year. "That kind of aid is proper and vital to Manchester," he said. He said that the administration of former Republican Gov. Thomas Meskill left the state with a deficit of $80 million while Democratic Gov. Ella Grasso has produced a $70 million surplus, which was returned to cities and towns. The unemployment rates in Manchester and the state have dropped during the Grasso administration, Cummings said. "The state and town have turned around in the past four years. We have made mistakes but we are moving in the right direction," he said. "Now the voters plainly say, 'Settle down, take it easy on spending, and let's refine and consolidate these gains.' I buy that," Cummings said.

'Biz' Swensson Opposes Any State Income Tax

Elsie "Biz" Swensson, candidate for State Representative in the 13th Assembly District, has taken a strong stand against a state income tax. "During my personal visits to the homes of Manchester voters, I find overwhelming opposition to a tax on personal income, which reaffirms my own stance," Mrs. Swensson stated. "The only solution to our current tax problems is found in economy in government through planned budgets, less overexpending of revenues and a tightening of government expansion into new areas." "Too many people are unable to improve their standard of living, let alone maintain it. My husband is retired and I am well aware of the strain on the pocketbook. When elected, I shall use every bit of influence I can as a state legislator to deter a state income tax."

CCAG Found Politics Only Route to Action

By SUSAN VAUGHN Herald Reporter
Mury Mushiisky and the other founders of the Connecticut Citizens Action Group learned soon after organizing in 1971 that everything is contained in politics. The group of concerned persons who were first interested solely in the protection of the environment quickly learned they had to work with consumer and energy people — and politicians — in order to get the action they wanted. They soon became the Connecticut Citizens Action Group, now well-known as CCAG. Ms. Mushiisky, well-known by legislators as chief lobbyist of CCAG to CCAG in 1971. She said she became involved in CCAG because of her interest in environmental protection. Her realization about what she wanted to do with her biology studies at Southern Connecticut State College crystallized on Earth Day 1970, she said, when she "realized that the earth and life are a very fragile thing and someone has to start protecting it."

Lutz Classes To Be Offered For Preschool

MANCHESTER — There will be two preschool classes this fall season at the Lutz Junior Museum at 126 Cedar St. One will meet Wednesdays from 9:30 to 11:30 a.m., beginning Oct. 18 and continuing for six weeks. The other six-week class will begin Thursday, Oct. 19, also from 9:30 to 11:30 a.m. Enrollment is limited and early registration is suggested. Two mini courses for preschool youngsters will also be offered this fall. These new programs will meet one hour a week for six weeks. Class will include crafts, games and a snack. Preschool Mini I meets Thursdays from 1 to 2 p.m., beginning Oct. 19. Preschool Mini II meets Saturdays from 9:30 to 10:30 a.m., beginning Oct. 21. Participants must be members. All preschool morning and extra classes will be held at the Lutz Junior Museum. For further information, call the museum at 643-9949.

Iowa Tests Slated At Goodwin School

EAST HARTFORD — Iowa Tests will be administered at Goodwin School Oct. 16-20, Acting Principal Paula P. Erickson announced today. The Iowa test is an achievement test given in four sessions — spelling and reading, language arts, work study skills, and mathematics. The results of these tests will help determine a student's academic abilities in comparison with other students in East Hartford and the U.S. Results will be shared with all parents. It is important for the students to do their best on these tests, so that their scores are valid. Parents are asked to help by making sure their children are well-rested and have had a good breakfast on the days of the testing. They should make every effort to have the children in school and should encourage them to do their best on these tests.

East Hartford Police Report

A 57-year-old Manchester man was to be presented in court today on charges of sexual assault and risk of injury to a minor, police said. John W. Files, 31, 57 of 94 Mather St. was arrested Sunday after an incident involving a female juvenile on Henderson Drive. Bond was posted at $50,000. Police reported the theft of a 12-gauge shotgun in a burglary sometime between 5 and 7:40 p.m. Sunday at 1888 Main St. The shotgun was valued at $800. The thief gained entrance by breaking glass and then turning the doorknob, police said. Also stolen was a radio and cash with a total value of $25. Police reported a burglary at 95 Nutmeg Lane Saturday between 2:30 and 5:15 p.m. There was no forced entry and a color television and stereo with a total value of $900 was stolen, police said.

Flu Clinics Set

MANCHESTER — Dates and locations for the annual flu clinics were set recently by the Manchester Public Health Nursing Association and the Town Health Department. Predictions by the Public Health Service/Center for Disease Control in Atlanta, Ga., indicate that 1978 and 1979 will not be a big flu year. No epidemic is expected, according to MPHNA officials. The schedule for clinics is as follows: Tuesday, Oct. 17 — 8:30 a.m. at the Hearing Room in the Municipal Building, for town employees. Tuesday, Oct. 17 — 12:30 p.m., at Cronin Hall, Mayfair Gardens, for elderly town residents. Tuesday, Oct. 17 — 2:30 p.m., at Herrmann Hall, Westhill Gardens, for elderly town residents. Wednesday, Oct. 18 — 9:30 a.m., at Senior Citizens Center, for elderly town residents. Wednesday, Oct. 18 — 1 p.m., at Squire Village, for elderly town residents. Wednesday, Oct. 18 — 2:30 p.m., at Spencer Village, for elderly town residents. Tuesday, Oct. 31 — 2:30 to 3:30 p.m., make up clinic at Manchester Public Health Nursing Association, 150 N. Main St., for any of above. Please note that a special vaccine is needed for anyone under 26 years of age. Town employees under 26 should see their own doctor or contact Dr. Alice Turek at the Town Health Department. Homebound clients of MPHNA will be given flu vaccine by the nurse only on written order of the client's private physician.

Probation Department Seeks Volunteer Help

The Connecticut State Department of Adult Probation is recruiting people willing to work in a variety of volunteer positions within the department. The need for volunteers is great since their services enable probation officers to devote more time to presentence investigations and supervision of their increasing caseloads. Volunteers contributed 52,019 hours during 1977-78 representing a service value in excess of $40,000. There are currently more than 600 volunteers from throughout the state. Volunteers are trained and supervised by local coordinators and probation officers for each of the programs offered. The Volunteer in Court (VIC) Program consists of individuals trained on the job who spend one day from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m., or more per week in any of the state's courts. Their duties include assisting and/or replacing probation officers by monitoring the court docket and completing intake on individuals placed on probation. A state department spokesman said that retired senior citizens have been effective as court aides because they bring not only many years of experience but a sense of responsibility and confidence to see that the job is done successfully. For more information, contact Michael L. Rooder or Claire F. Collins, Adult Probation Department, 643 Maple Ave., Hartford, Conn. 06114.

Treatment Plant Project Goes Higher on Fund List

SOUTH WINDSOR — The glimmer of hope for funding for improvements at the local sewage treatment plant became brighter this week with the announcement that the $1.6 million project has been moved up the list of state projects awaiting funding by the federal Environmental Protection Agency.

Although officials would not predict when the federal agency would make the funds available, it appears that it will be during this fiscal year.

Main Street residents have long since complained of odors because of problems disposing of sewage sludge, and the town has recently approved the installation of a new $100,000 dewatering device. The new device is expected to be installed and in operation by Dec. 8.

The device was ordered before officials were notified of the status of the plant improvement grant application because of fear that odor problems would be increased this spring without the new equipment.

Following implementation of the proposed improvements at the plant, sludge will be turned to compost through a method designed to be odorless and be spread on Connecticut River meadows near the plant.

The town presently uses the burying and lagooning methods of sludge disposal.

Three Candidates

The choice for a worker in the Human Resources Department has been down to three candidates, according to Town Manager Paul Talbot. Eighty persons had applied for the position.

Talbot said of the 80 who had applied for the job, 16 were interviewed and three candidates were recommended. A second round of interviews were scheduled and a candidate will be selected soon.

The new $10,000 a year position was established in the department's current budget, however it was agreed that the position would not be filled until October. In this way the town would have to spend only $7,800 during this fiscal year instead of the full $10,000.

The $10,000 salary was established "so that we would be able to attract an experienced individual who could administer our welfare caseload," according to Talbot.

Council Will Continue Work On Reducing Insurance Costs

COVENTRY — The Town Council will continue its meeting with Leonard Benjamin, agent of record, at its session at 7:30 tonight in the Town Hall Board Room.

Last week Benjamin proposed cuts that would help the town reduce an estimated $110,000 in insurance premiums for the current fiscal year.

The council is also expected to meet with members of the Planning and Zoning Commission (PZC) to discuss several vacancies that have come up in the commission membership. Landfill policies will also be reviewed with PZC members.

The Parks and Recreation Commission will meet with the council to make recommendations on town purchase of an Explorer Bus that has been offered for sale. A recent inspection of the bus by Highway Department engineer William Goodale revealed that minor repairs would be needed at an estimated cost of $110.

The council will review a request by Town Manager Frank Connolly to appropriate $800 for the dog-uncumbered cash surplus for the uncumbered account. The money would be used to install a fence around the kennels at the Sanitary Landfill.

In previous sessions the council agreed to place a trailer at the pound site for use as an office by the dog warden. It was suggested that a fence be put up to contain both the stalls and the trailer. However, one resident has complained that such a fence will deny residents access to the dogs and thus make it difficult to identify lost animals or to choose impounded unwanted dogs for adoption.

Handicap Week

VERNON — The Tolland Area Association for the Retarded and Handicapped, Inc. (TAARH, Inc.) will present a program on "Putting the Retarded and Handicapped to Work" Thursday, Oct. 5, at 7:30 p.m., Stop & Shop Community Room, Route 30, Vernon.

Donald Spencer, Volunteer Director of the Career Placement Center of the Greater Enfield Association for Retarded and Handicapped Citizens Inc., will be the key speaker, in recognition of "National Employ the Handicapped Week."

All TAARH Inc. meetings are open to the public. Further information can be obtained from George Orsini, president, 48 Box Mountain Drive, Vernon.

Art Association

VERNON — Erna Honingmann of Ellington has been re-elected as president of the Tolland County Art Association. Other officers are: June Linton, vice president; Carolyn Lolwicz, recording secretary; Bridget Reeve, corresponding secretary; and Carol Gorman, treasurer.

Committee chairmen are: Cecile Dahl and Helen Hyde, program; Natalie Pfanzicht, publicity; Mildred Lisk, membership; Janet Lang, hospitality; Peg Winther and Mary Noel, workshop; Mary Wolf and Florence Freeman, annual exhibition; and Madeline Regan, auditing.

Emma Batz will continue as

Counseling Center

GLASTONBURY — The Pastoral Counseling Center will open fall time, on a once-a-week basis, in the First Church of Christ Congregational, 2183 Main St.

The center is designed to be a counseling resource for all people in the Greater Hartford Area. It is an ecumenical center open to people of all faiths, and to those outside the organized church.

It offers individual, marriage, and family counseling for persons of all ages who are experiencing difficulty in marriage, family, work, school, and with personal problems and such.

The director-counselor of the center is the Rev. Dr. Robert Henderson. There is a fee charged for counseling services, based on a sliding scale. For more information or appointments call 659-0181.

Tax Reminder

COVENTRY — Assessor Gerard Lavoie reminds all persons owning taxable personal property in Coventry to declare it during the month of October.

"Personal property not declared becomes subject to a 10 percent penalty," he said. Cards for filing are available in the assessor's office at the Town Hall. Because of budget restrictions, cards will not be mailed this year.

Lavoie listed the following items among those that must be declared: boats and motors, trailers, campers and motor vehicles not registered with the Motor Vehicle Department, commercial furniture and fixtures, inventories, machinery, contractors' equipment, above-ground pools, and such animals as horses, cows, and sheep.

Achievement Night

ANDOVER — The Andover-Columbia 4-H Achievement Night will begin with a potluck Friday, Oct. 6, at 6:30 p.m. in the Andover Elementary School. Besides awards, there will be club and camp reports and exhibits.

Those planning to attend are asked to bring a main dish or salad to serve eight; also, a dried or canned item to benefit the area emergency food banks.

Reservations must be made by Wednesday by calling M. Allen, 228-3898, or B. Leary, 228-9658.

Lydall Inc. Seeks Approval of ZBA For New Building

MANCHESTER — A local business that plans to expand will be the subject of one of the three public hearings scheduled tonight by the Planning and Zoning Commission.

Lydall Inc. is seeking a special exception for the development of more than four acres off Parker Street. A special exception is required for any development of that size.

The firm wants to change two parcels totaling less than one-half acre from Residence C Zone to Business III Zone. The parcels are at 38 Wells St. and 31 Charter Oak St.

A spokesman for the firm said that there are no plans at this time to expand the business use to those properties.

The third public hearing tonight is for a proposed change to the town's zoning regulations.

The amendment would clarify the issuing of permits for excavation within 50 feet of a water body.

The commission also will consider old business items, including a request for a roof sign for the Essex Motor Inn.

A building permit was issued for the sign and it has been installed, but it was found later that the sign does not meet town zoning regulations.

Tells The Story

Reggie Jackson covers his face in the Yankee clubhouse Sunday after the Cleveland Indians belt the Yankees 9-2 in the last game of the regular season. Boston won over Toronto 5-0 to clinch a tie with the Yanks and set up the first regular season playoff for the American League in 30 years. The Yankees play Boston for the East title today at Fenway Park. (UPI Photo)

The PZC will hear and consider the application, which starts at 7:30 in the Municipal Building's Hearing Room.

Lydall Inc. announced this summer that it plans to construct a 9,600 square foot office building in Manchester. The building will be at 553 and 573-575 Parker St., which is near the firm's present location.

Another Manchester business — Carter Chevrolet — will appear before the PZC for a zone change request.

Clarke Says She's Miffed Over Remark on Debate

By CHRIS BLAKE
Herald Reporter

EAST HARTFORD — With the election five weeks away, the race for the State Senate seat in the Third District is heating up.

Today, Esther B. Clarke, the Republican candidate, was ruffled because she said her Democratic opponent, Marcella Fahy, made it look like Mrs. Clarke didn't want to debate her.

"Basically it was a misunderstanding," Ms. Clarke said today. "They established ground rules before the appearance and they tried to change them."

Mrs. Clarke said today she has agreed to two television dates and several other appearances with Mrs. Fahy.

But she said none of the appearances really constitutes a debate.

"A debate is when each of the candidates speaks on a particular issue which is agreed upon beforehand," Mrs. Clarke said.

"There are no debates of that sort scheduled," Mrs. Clarke said. "There are, in fact, appearances of the two candidates which have been scheduled."

Those appearances include television dates Sunday, Oct. 15 on Channel 8 from noon to 12:30 p.m. and Tuesday, Oct. 31, on Channel 24 at some time during the evening hours.

Mrs. Clarke said the only appearance that comes close to being a debate is a scheduled appearance at Hill Junior High School Nov. 1.

The League of Women Voters will provide a moderator and a panel to question the two candidates at the Nov. 1 appearance.

The American Association of Retired Persons (AARP) will sponsor three appearances. These are scheduled for Wednesday, Oct. 4 at the K of C in Manchester; Monday, Oct. 9 at the First Congregational Church in East Hartford; and Friday, Oct. 19 at the South Congregational Church in East Hartford.

The candidates have also been invited to a "Meet the Candidates" night in Manchester Monday, Oct. 24. However, the time and the place have not been confirmed.

Comment Session

MANCHESTER — Residents will have a chance Tuesday to speak to a member of the Board of Directors about any matter that involves local government.

The board will conduct a comment session starting at 5 a.m. Tuesday in the directors office in the Municipal Building.

The sessions are held the first Tuesday and third Thursday of each month and last two hours.

Crash Hurts Three

Three persons were admitted to Manchester Memorial Hospital and one is still in serious condition today as the result of an accident on Oakland Street early Sunday.

Scott D. Greenleaf, 17, 42 W. Middle Turnpike, was in serious condition and with a broken arm and a cut on his head. He was a passenger in the car which was driven by Jacqueline L. Paquet, 17, of 13 Hawley St. She was in satisfactory condition today with broken arms. Another passenger, David Manning, 17, of 38 Princeton St. was in satisfactory condition with multiple injuries.

Police said the vehicle was northbound on Oakland Street at 12:47 a.m. When it passed one vehicle it swerved to avoid an oncoming vehicle, and went off the road.

Employee Wins Pay

MANCHESTER — The state Labor Department has ruled in favor of a former employee of the Ambulance Service of Manchester Inc. who had said that he was underpaid.

Mark Gaines of Windsor Locks worked only a few days as a part-time driver for the firm. During that period, he was paid on a per-call rather than a per-hour basis.

Gaines said that he should be paid for all the hours he spent on duty and not just when he was called to provide a service. The state Labor Department agreed, and Gaines will receive $40 in compensation.

4-H Club Lists Raffle Winners

Gloria Howe of 153 Pearl St. won a handmade quilt recently in a raffle sponsored by the Hillstown Leather Founders 4-H Horse Club.

Club members started the quilt early this year under the direction of Kimberlee Bekezewicz, club president. The project was Kimberlee's junior leadership project for the year.

The winning ticket was drawn by Dick Woolam, Hartford County 4-H Outdoor Center camp director, and 4-H Horse Club leader in South Windsor at Jacobs' Farm, Hillstown Road.

Proceeds from the raffle were given to the Hartford County Horse Camp for equipment and to the Hillstown Leather Founders treasury.

Dr. Donald J. Nicoletti, assistant to the superintendent of schools in Coventry, tests the firmness of the mattress on a bed donated by Manchester Memorial Hospital for the health room at Coventry High School. Looking on are Dr. Arnold E. Elman, superintendent, and Mrs. Patricia Kenniff, the school nurse.

Manchester Hospital Donates Bed to Coventry High School

COVENTRY — When officials at Manchester Memorial Hospital became aware that the cost of a replacement bed for the health room at Coventry High School had been deleted from the school's budget, an offer of assistance was quickly made by the officials.

The hospital recently completed a total conversion to electric-powered beds in all of its patient areas and still owned several manually operated beds which became surplus. Andre P. Marmen, the hospital's director of public relations and development, said:

Marmen, who is a resident of Coventry, relayed the offer of the bed to the Board of Education, which immediately accepted the gift.

In making the presentation, Marmen said, "Manchester Memorial Hospital has long had a very close relationship with the Town of Coventry. Approximately 50 percent of all Coventry residents who require hospitalization come to Manchester for their care and the hospital, in turn, has encouraged its employees' participation in such community organizations as the Public Health Nursing Association."

Marmen said there are even more

Non-Union Employees Appeal New Job Classification Plan

VERNON — Since the town has established a new job classification system, 22 non-union employees have entered appeals.

In a memorandum to the Town Council, Mayor Frank McCoy said that as yet none of the appeals has been withdrawn and therefore he will make no comment at this time "since comments would be prejudicial," he said.

The mayor also said there is a vacancy on the Merit System Board and a replacement is being sought. In connection with other employee reports, the town has had to officially file 13 Comprehensive Employment Training Act (CETA) employees while 30 others will remain on for at least another month.

The firing of the 13 was necessary due to the cutbacks in regional funds for the CETA program caused by the deficit in the Hartford office.

The workers' fight were involved in a town-wide project to uncover hidden manholes in an effort to find out the condition of the town's sewer lines.

The mayor received permission to extend, until Oct. 30, the working period for CETA employees who are involved in Title II and VI sustaining programs which include the person hired, under the program, as an accountant, police personnel, and a sanitary inspector.

Dog Pound Maternity Ward Needs Homes for New 'Babies'

By JUDY KUEHNEL, Herald Correspondent

SOUTH WINDSOR — Happiness is a warm puppy — and to a warm puppy, happiness is a home.

Dog Warden Robert Foss and the South Windsor Dog Pound are once again playing host to a new mother and her litter of seven pups.

Each of the puppies will be going to a reputation for its "excellent canine maternity facilities" since this is the second litter to be born there in the past few months. Each of the puppies of the first litter was claimed soon after the announcement of their availability was made, and Foss is hoping the

Also sharing quarters at the pound is a gentle seven-month old black and brown German Shepherd.

The dog, was dumped out of red pick up truck by a white cigar smoking man," according to witnesses. Foss said he thinks she would make a wonderful pet for some family.

As soon as she fulfills her maternal duties "Mother" is also hoping for a nice home and possibly a "heart" to call her own.

"Originally there were eight in the litter, however, one of the puppies was stolen from the pound.

Persons interested in claiming one of the puppies may contact Foss at the pound, 289-9101, or at the Police Department, 644-2511. It is not necessary to be a South Windsor resident.

"When the pound gets overcrowded I have no choice," says Foss. "I have to have some of them put to sleep. It's too bad because some of them are gentle loving dogs who are just unlucky enough not to have a home."

Selectmen Completing Report On Town Job Descriptions

BOLTON — The Board of Selectmen's Personnel Committee will have a complete report on its work for the board's Oct. 17 meeting.

Selectman Joam Neath said the committee has been meeting with town personnel and writing job descriptions.

She said there seems to be little overlapping of work but employees had questions about their duties.

Mrs. Neath said some inefficiencies were found. She said there were complaints that school personnel receives better salaries and fringe benefits than the town employees.

Mrs. Neath said an administrator is needed for the selectmen's office, someone who would supervise and coordinate work, make decisions and be answerable to the Board of Selectmen.

She said she believes the Town Meeting-Board of Selectmen form of government should be continued in Bolton but should include an office manager. Mrs. Neath said the current office manager is an incorrect title for the job, the position is clerical, not managerial.

Annual Meeting

ANDOVER — The Annual Town Meeting will be held tonight at 8 in the Andover Elementary School to hear reports of the various boards and commissions and to make appointments to the Memorial Day Committee.

The voters will also be asked to act on a request to extend the contract with the Town of Bolton to the Andover Disposal Area for another three years. The Town of Bolton is just completing the third year of a three-year contract.

The cost for the proposed extension is not to be less than $50,000 annually.

Candidates Differ on Issues

VERNON — Partial public financing of congressional election campaigns would get the vote of Thomas H. Connell of Vernon, Republican candidate for the second district congressional seat but incumbent Democrat Christopher Dodd is undecided on the issue.

This is the consensus of Common Cause, the citizens lobby for government accountability, accessibility and reform, after completing interviews with the two candidates.

The candidates were interviewed by Jewell Friedman of Stivers, Common Cause coordinator for the second congressional district, and Common Cause members from Coventry, New London and Williamamantic, as a follow-up to questionnaires Connell said the law limiting the amount a candidate can spend and giving him federal dollars to match small contributions, still would give the incumbent an advantage, "but at least it would give the challenger a chance." The challenger said he would have to spend $200,000 to make up for the campaign benefit of being in office.

WACAP Grant Serves Students and Seniors

TOLLAND — Windham Area Community Action Program (WACAP) has secured a grant of $8,417 for the Town of Tolland to fund an innovative nutrition program that brings senior and junior citizens together, Leon Rioux, executive director, said.

"When the project, which operated last year under other funding, was in danger of being eliminated, WACAP was asked to look into alternative funding sources," said Rioux. "Less than a month after WACAP approached the Community Food and Nutrition Program, the agency was notified that the project has received funding approval from the Community Services Administration."

Located at Tolland High School, the project involves studies in the preparation of hot, nutritious meals for senior citizens, particularly low-income seniors, from Tolland and adjacent communities.

Students as well as seniors will benefit from this program which is designed to provide consumer and nutrition education," Rioux noted.

"In addition," Rioux said, "the nutrition program will promote understanding and communication between elderly and adolescent members of the community."

Glassman Proposal On Contract Dispute

SOUTH WINDSOR — State Representative Coe Glassman, (D-District 14) co-chairman of the Education Committee, has announced a proposal which he views as a means to resolve future teacher-contract disputes.

The plan which Glassman is expected to introduce into legislation during the next session of the General Assembly, would prohibit the opening of schools until a negotiated contract is finalized.

"Requiring the settlement of a contract before schools open will force all parties to bargain in good faith with the realization that the school year of 180 days will begin only after there is a successful settlement," he said.

Glassman noted that the proposal would further eliminate a problem that seems to arise in these disputes.

"In some instances, schools have been opened with supervisory personnel being substituted in place of teachers during these disagreements."

Glassman added, "As house chairman of the Education Committee and as a parent, my concerns is with the education of our children. The opening of schools by supervisory personnel does not, in my opinion, constitute compliance with the intent of the law that schools shall be open for 180 days. Not only should schools be open for that period but a program of instruction must be provided."

Under this proposal, this type of situation I have just described will not occur as schools will remain closed until an agreement is reached. Only then will the integrity of the 180 day school year be maintained," he concluded.

Youth Services Director Takes On a Bigger Town

By CHRIS BLAKE, Herald Reporter

EAST HARTFORD — As the Youth Services Director in Windsor, Gene Marchand had seen East Hartford's Department of Youth Services operation from an outside vantage point.

From this view, he said it seemed like "an impressive, professional operation."

Last week, Marchand, 29, took over as director of the operation which he had viewed before from the outside.

He replaces Bruce A. Backus, who left Aug. 14 to continue his education toward a doctorate in clinical psychology from the University of Oregon.

Marchand has hardly been in office long enough to talk with any expertise about the department or propose any changes. But last week, he gave his views on such youth-related issues as alcoholism, the legalization of marijuana, the single-parent family and youth counseling.

In Marchand's previous post, the town had about half the population of East Hartford. While Windsor is a much smaller town, every town has youth and the situations and problems are similar. The scale is different.

"I find the biggest of East Hartford exciting," he said. "I've had contact with Youth Services here through the Youth Services Bureau while I was in Windsor and I'm impressed with the operation here."

He said the department has an "excellent clinic" and a part-time staff of four counselors, an employment counselor and a secretary.

Marchand welcomes the staff. In Windsor, he was an active director in a smaller department.

Before taking the post there in February of 1976, Marchand was a social worker at Windsor High School.

Students came to Marchand on a drop-in basis and he gave direct counseling. Sometimes he could help them with a problem. Sometimes he had to refer them elsewhere. On the whole, he found the job "challenging."

When he assumed the director's post, he continued to counsel, but he took on administrative duties, too.

He said programming was one of the major duties he took on. Some of the programs he was responsible for included a 24-hour crisis line and the juvenile review board, which he chaired.

He favors a direct approach with youth in counseling.

"I've had advocates of the reality therapy approach," he said. "I believe in being very much up front and honest and I've found I've gotten the same response in return."

"People are individuals and I don't think you can choose any one theory of counseling," he said.

Views on Marijuana, Alcohol

One of the major issues today is the debate over the legalization of marijuana.

Marchand believes more research needs to be done on the drug because current findings indicate the drug is not dangerous. And this may be a false sense of security for some who use the drug.

"It's hard for kids because current research shows that they know now there's nothing in it that's a danger," he said.

"This gives kids a false sense of security. They think they can relax with it," he said.

Foss said he tried to keep the dogs in a smaller department.

Another issue which is related to drugs is alcohol — "the most dangerous drug," Marchand contends.

"It's the most dangerous drug because it's so subtle and there's a lot of societal approval of alcohol," he said.

"I really think alcohol is becoming the number one drug abused today," he said.

He said young alcoholics must be reached at a young age "because alcoholism is an incurable disease. The alcoholic has to realize that he or she can never touch liquor again."

He said he has seen alcoholism in

Gene Marchand, the new director of Youth Services, comes to East Hartford from a similar position in Windsor. He said he is impressed with the Youth Services operation here and hopes to be able to maintain the level of services. In addition, Marchand said he would like to do more outreach work in the community. (Herald photo by Blake) youngsters as young as 13 and 14 and "it's a sad thing."

Although he sees alcoholism as a major problem, he does not favor raising the drinking age to 21.

"It's tough to tell an 18-year old who can legally go in the service that he can't drink. Raising it a year would keep it out of the high schools but I don't think that's the answer."

The answer lies in more education and example from the parents and from other sources, he said.

Educators Get 'Thank You'

EAST HARTFORD — After taking some hard knocks in the past three Board of Education meetings, the board members got a little "thank you" note included in their agenda package for tonight's meeting.

The good news came from Dorothy Sellman of 203 Country Lane, who was the spokeswoman for a group of parents of Barnes School students asking the board to change the starting time at the Barnes School.

In her letter, Mrs. Sellman said the parents "are extremely pleased with the action the board sought."

"Knowing that yours is often a thankless job, we would like to take this opportunity to thank you for the consideration you have given us," she concluded.

Board Chairman Lawrence DePonte said "it was damned nice of her to send that letter expressing her gratitude."

Election Costs Talled

BOLTON — In a comparison study done by Catherine Leiner, town clerk, it was learned that the last four elections in Bolton cost $3,001.39.

The presidential election in November 1976 cost $967.22. Of that amount $228.70 was for machine strips and sample ballots, $83 for absentee ballots and $655.52 for 16 workers.

The municipal election in May 1977 cost $1,166.40. Of that amount $41.35 was for machine strips and returns, $107.80 for absentee ballots and $627.25 for 16 workers.

The referendum on the budget in June 1977 cost $486.80. Of that amount $62.35 was for machine strips and sample ballots and $424.45 for 10 workers.

The Democratic primary in September 1978 cost $30.97. Of that amount $143.50 was for machine strips and sample ballots, $30 for absentee ballots and $207.47 for nine workers.

Cofc Backs Groton Site For Nautilus

The Greater Manchester Chamber of Commerce has come out in support of the selection of Groton as the site of the permanent retirement berth of the U.S.S. Nautilus.

Letters declaring the support have been sent to President Carter, W. Graham Claytor Jr., Secretary of the Navy, Gov. Ella Grasso, Senators Abraham Ribicoff and Lowell Weicker and U.S. Rep. William Cotto (D-Ist.).

In its argument for locating the Nautilus in Groton, the Chamber notes that the naval vessel was designed and built in Groton, was launched and commissioned there and continued to use the Groton submarine base as its home port during its historic cruises.

The Chamber action is part of a move to discount other locations which have been proposed for the retirement site of the ship.

Opinion

'Neutral' Havana

By their own choice "non-aligned" or "third world" countries have chosen Cuba as their host for the 1979 meeting. If that doesn't stick in the craw of at least some of them, the definition of non-alignment has taken a new twist.

Cuba could be more a province of Russia if it were contained within Soviet borders. When hundreds, perhaps thousands, of Cuban troops become casualties for the cause of Soviet expansionism in Africa; when Fidel Castro unleashes another tirade against the United States each time the Kremlin snorts; and as long as the WASHINGTON — Over the telephone, the voice of the lady in Minnesota was sharp.

"What do all you pundits mean saying I voted against liberalism?" she asked. "I've always been liberal and I still am. I voted against Fraser because he's in."

Fraser's defeat in the Minnesota Democratic senatorial primary by Bob Short, a millionaire businessman and one-time of a defunct Washington Senators baseball team. Fraser is a liberal's liberal in the Hubert Humphrey image, a combination New Dealer and Great Society type.

But the lady is not a short supporter. "He's too glib," she said. "Besides, I'm not opposed to abortion and gun control, as he is. I'm going to vote for what's his name, the Republican candidate. I want to give my party — the Democrats — another message about how I feel about inflation and high taxes and wild government spending."

She was only one of 11 Minnesota voters polled by phone, but the other 10 all said the same thing — that the in's are responsible for a 10 percent inflation rate and mis-

Vin Zito believes in music, and there are a lot of vocalists who believe in Vin Zito.

Vin Zito is the director of both the Silk City Chorus of barbershops and the Mountain Laurel Chapter of Sweet Adelines.

He's nearing his 20th anniversary with amateur vocalizing, and more than 300 of his friends in the field honored him eight days ago at a surprise Sunday afternoon party at the Elks Club in East Hartford.

They sang for Vin, too; in quartets, and in chorus.

Singing is a form of relaxing. Singers will go almost anywhere to sing and entertain. And especially so if it is for charity.

There have been a lot of Manchester singers who have had a taste of Vin Zito. Fellows like Bob Morrissey and Dick Anton, and Danny Santoro, for instance.

And don't forget the women. Mary Jayne Cranford, Susan Gunat, Almeda Stechholz are examples of Manchester females who have been with the Sweet Adelines for many years, and Mary Jayne and Susan have been members of the Illusions, a quartet, that has won regional competitions.

The two choruses have hosted competitions at the Bushnell. They have won their share over the years, and we look to them for providing more musical inspiration for Manchester in the coming years.

How about a day of chorus competition at the Band Shell?

States Join Ranks of Lobbyists

By LEE RODERICK
WASHINGTON — The phrase "Washington lobbyist" usually conjures up an image of a slick, well-tailored representative of Gulf Oil or General Motors slipping through the corridors of power in the capital. Less well known is the fact that almost half of the states — 23 to be exact — maintain full-time lobby operations here.

Sponsored by public budgets for public services and increasing tax unrest by their citizens — witness Proposition 13 in California — more states are sending their own unelected representatives to Washington. Their purposes are twofold: (1) resist federal action potentially harmful to their particular states, and (2) help get a larger slice of the federal money pie for back home.

The size of that pie is about $65 billion this year.

"We work closely with our congressional delegation to keep them informed on issues affecting Massachusetts," said Pat Moscaritolo, head of that state's office in Washington. Moscaritolo, who heads a staff of four professionals and one secretary in trying to influence federal agencies as well as members of Congress, says flatly that "our primary objective is to maximize the number of dollars for Massachusetts."

staffs into two offices — one for education and the other for all other matters. Illinois is typical, maintaining a two-person, $50,000 office for education, and a separate eight-person, $200,000 office for other concerns.

Wisconsin has a more modest operation employing two professionals working with a budget of $80,000.

Connecticut's state office recently lost its director, Dan Reese, who was transferred to Hartford. There are two professionals left in the office, but one of them, Ann Sullivan, said "we hope we'll be going back to three."

Ms. Sullivan, who was friendly but cautious in discussing the operation, said there regularly is between one and four interns from Connecticut working with the professional staff.

"Our lobbying function is very small," she explained. "We're mostly an information office for the state as well as working to inform the congressional delegation of Connecticut's needs... When the state applies for grants, we may also help facilitate the procedures."

California and New York easily win the prizes for having the most extensive and expensive lobby organizations here. Taxpayers in the nation's two most populous states each support between 30 and 40 representatives in Washington at a cost of $750,000 to New York and slightly less to California.

It is estimated that the number of lobbyists in Washington has increased from about 8,000 to 15,000 in the past five years. As a group, they do enjoy a good reputation. Undoubtedly that is the primary reason that state representatives don't want to be known as lobbyists. But, for good or ill, that's what most of them are.

Thanks, Steve

To the editor:
In this day and age, when so much attention is focused on misdeeds by our youth and not enough attention is paid to the good deeds by them, my family and I want to draw public attention to a fine and brave young man — Steve Wilson, of 12 Oakland St., Manchester. He is 15 years of age and a sophomore at Manchester High School.

We thank God he was in the right place at the right time Sept. 22 at Bradley Field in Windsor Locks.

When my husband's plane crashed in a corner of the field, Steve, at the risk of his own life, climbed and jumped over the fence, pulled my husband from the wreckage and helped lift him over the fence to safety.

Steve did all this unselfishly and with quick thinking. At any moment, the plane could have caught fire and Steve could have been in mortal danger of his life.

Not only was he at the right place at the right time, he also was the right person to be there.

It's a miracle that my husband gives continued signs of pulling through, and Steve deserves much of the credit. We thank the public to be aware of the fine young people in their community.

Thanks, Steve.

Blood Needed

To the editor:
The Manchester-Bolton Branch of the American Red Cross is always grateful to the good people who give blood during the various visits of the Bloodmobile to this area.

Our gratitude also extends to those who arrive ready to donate but are deferred to a later date for various reasons, as well as to the loyal volunteers who give of their time to assist the Blood Center staff people in view of the current critical need for blood of all types in this community, as well as in the entire state, we are especially indebted to all those wonderful folks who participated in the two most recent visits of the Bloodmobile — on Sept. 19 at the Manchester Marine Club and on Sept. 26 at the Knight of Columbus Home.

Our sincere apologies, also, to those who were not able to be taken as promptly as usual at the latter location because of an unexpected rush of walk-in donors. We were certainly happy to see everyone who appeared.

Our thanks to one and all for your help with this very vital community project.

The next visit of the Bloodmobile in Manchester is scheduled for Thursday, Oct. 26, at St. James School. We sincerely hope this will be a well attended operation.

Sincerely,
Joseph Swenson Sr.

East Aerial Game Powers Triumph

East Catholic's football team went into Saturday night's game looking to keep their loss column clean and it did at the expense of the host Windsor Locks Raiders.

Highlighted by quarterback Tony Pacheco's aerial display and by running backs Howie Furlong and Mike Gilbert, East defeated the Raiders 29-12, in non-conference play. East wasn't done yet as Marty Varue picked off his third interception in as many games and returned it to the Windsor Locks 41. Aided by a 15-yard penalty and a couple of Pacheco tosses, Freiheit was called on in the waning seconds of the half to attempt a 33-yard field goal which flew a hair wide of the mark.

Midget Patriots Topple Jets

Third week action in the Manchester Midget Football League last Friday night at Mt. Nebo saw the Patriots blank the Jets, 14-0, and the Chargers and Eagles play to a 6-6 tie.

The Patriots staid 1-2, the Jets 0-1, Chargers 1-0-1 and Eagles 1-0-1 after play concluded. The Patriots took advantage of a muffed centering punt snap to score its first TD. Joe Johnson fumbled the snap and instead of punting ran around left end 12 yards for a first down. Oliver Reid then scampered 25 yards and after a couple of running plays, he went the final 5 yards for the score. Tom Downes added the two-point conversion for an 8-0 edge.

Bulldog Ponies Triumph

The Bolton Bulldog Senior Ponies remained unbeaten with a 28-0 whitewashing of the Cromwell Falcons yesterday in Eastern Connecticut Pony Football Conference play in Bolton.

The Bulldogs sport a 3-0-1 record while Cromwell falls to 6-4. Michael Ouellette scored four touchdowns on runs of 12 and 12 yards and on receptions of 7 and 40 yards. Quarterback Steve Holcombe threw well in the rain, 5-0-7 for 85 yards including the two TD to Ouellette.

Bennet Booters Down Edwards

Bennet Junior High varsity soccer team whipped Timothy Edwards of South Windsor last Friday by a 2-0 count.

Six goals in the first quarter, three by Tommy Wood, a pair from John Hedlund and one from Jeff Fields, were more than enough for the Bears. Hedlund, Fields and Pat Carroll added second-half scores for Bennet.

Myles McCarry, Chris Carmel, Ken Marshall and Mike Roy played well defensively for Bennet, Nov. 2.

Winning Formula Acquired by Tribe

By LEN AUSTER Herald Sportswriter Having found winning to be a most agreeable pastime, Manchester High made it two straight Saturday with a 28-6 duke over battered, bruised and undermanned Penny High of East Hartford in CCIL football action at Memorial Field.

A crowd of 1,000, the best game in several years according to Ted Marzullo, manager, saw the two Towners remain tied for the CCIL lead with Simsbury, Conard and Windham. Penny slipped to 1-1 in the league and 1-11 overall with the setback. The Indians will try to make it three in a row Saturday against East Hartford High at Memorial Field, 7:30. Penny returns home to entertain Conard.

The locals held a slim 7-4 halftime advantage primarily because they fumbled (4) away opposition. "The kids weren't down on themselves at the half," stated Manchester Head Coach Jack Holik. "They were mad at themselves. We stuck them to go out and stick, stick and what I liked is we came out the second half and hit."

Manchester got its first three possessions of the second half pushed into the end zone to settle the issue. "The offensive line got hungry. We had some holes as a disciplinary measure," they asked to go back in the end zone to improve leg drive) last week paid off.

Third Straight Setback Tacked on East Hartford

By JOHN COLLETTI Correspondent Before a small home crowd of 250, the East Hartford High Hornets dropped their third straight, 20-12, to visiting Simsbury High in CCIL football action Saturday in East Hartford.

"Week by week we are improving in each position," stated Hornet Head Coach Jim Dakin. "This by far was the best team we've faced this season. We were up to the challenge. Simsbury, unbeaten in three starts and 2-0 in the league, didn't take long to get on the board. The Trojans on a 39-yard pass from signal-caller Scott Wickham to wide receiver Rick Samelson to Randy Brown for an 8-0 bulge.

Step Closer

BOSTON (UPI) — Bill Rodgers and Randy Thomas decided coming down the stretch they would split the title in the Boston Marathon. Trail Road Race, but officials would have none of it.

So Thomas, who stepped across the finish line an instant before Boston Marathon champion Rodgers, Sunday was declared the winner. For the first time in 19 years he has entered. He won his 18th Saturday in Vernon Valley, N.J.

Thomas and Rodgers, both representing the Greater Boston Track Club, were both timed in 37:09.9, but race officials said Thomas' foot stepped across the line first.

Hawaii Favorites

KAANAPALI, Hawaii (UPI) — Top seeds Raul Ramirez and Harold Solomon along with three-time Wimbledon champion John Newcombe and teen-aged star John McEnroe are the favorites for the Island Holidays $100,000 Pro Tennis Classic beginning today.

The tournament at the Royal Lahaina Tennis Ranch in the Kaanapali resort area on the Hawaiian island of Maui has a field of 32 international pros. Ramirez, No. 5 on the 1978 money-winning list, is the first seed while Solomon, winner to the 1976 classic, is the second seed.

NEW YORK (UPI) — Terry Bradshaw's new-found maturity was never more evident, but his coach may still have a lot of growing up to do.

Bradshaw picked apart a New York secondary that refused to adjust Sunday, throwing three touchdown passes to lead the unbeaten Pittsburgh Steelers, off to the best start in their 4-year history, to their fifth victory, 28-17 over the Jets.

The Steeler quarterback, who has been criticized for impatience in previous seasons, took what the Jet defense gave him — including a crushing hit by blitzing linebacker Mike Hennigan with 1:35 to play that had Bradshaw writhing in pain.

"It's (knee) all right, I'll be ready next week for Atlanta," said Bradshaw, who was limping noticeably. "It's just bruised."

New York got TD runs of 11 yards from Bruce Harper and 2 yards from Kevin Long and a 47-yard field goal by Pat Leahy in losing their third straight game after two victories.

Desperate Situation Pass Clicks for Pats

FOXBORO, Mass. (UPI) — When quarterback Steve Grogan scrambled far to his right and threw across field to Russ Francis, the tight end admitted he had no idea what was going on.

Somehow it worked. And the play, despite three Grogan touchdown passes and last-second Grogan keeper, may have been the key pass in the New England Patriots' 28-23 win Sunday over the San Diego Chargers.

It was a desperate situation. There were only 55 seconds left in the game, and New England was down 23-21. New England had the ball on the San Diego 30, and new kicker Nick Lowrey hadn't kicked an NFL field goal all year.

But Grogan dropped back to pass, sprinted to his right, and threw the other way to a wide-open Francis, who took the ball to the Charger five for a first and goal. Grogan's fourth keeper for the winning score was almost academic.

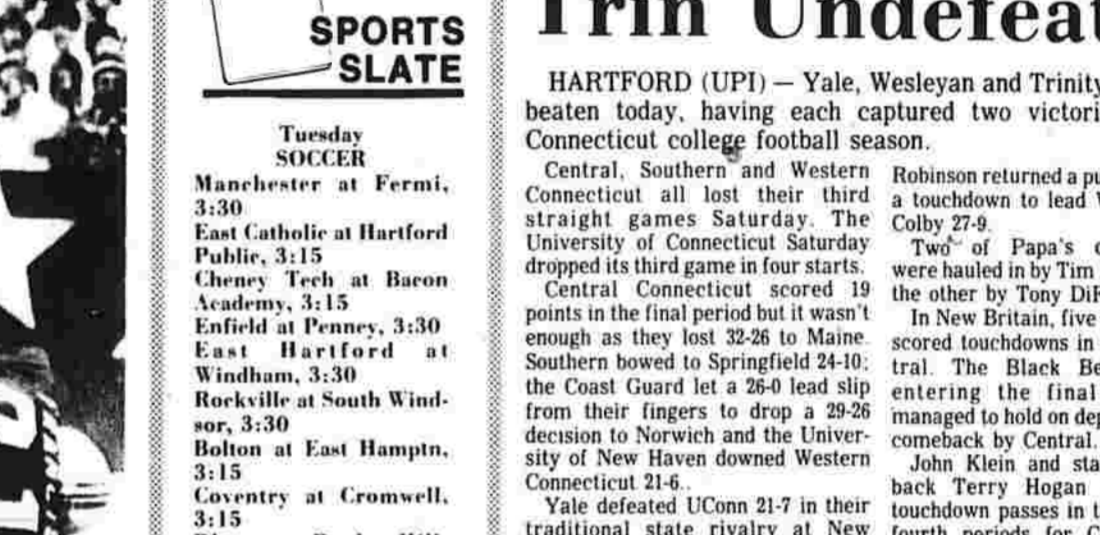

"It was a busted play," said Francis. "I didn't have any idea what was (Grogan) was doing. I don't think it too quickly.

Pittsburgh Coach Chuck Noll's mind. When asked why he was still passing with an 11-point lead in the final two minutes, Bradshaw could only shrug his shoulders and say, "Ask the man in the other room — he called it."

Bradshaw completed 17-of-25 passes for 189 yards, including three TD passes. He threw a 10-yard scoring pass to Lynn Swann in the first period, hit John Stallworth in 14 yards out in the second quarter and threw a 26-yard TD pass to Mike Hennigan in the third period. Sidney Thornton also had a 2-yard TD run for the Steelers, who are now 5-0 against the Jets.

Del Coach Walt Michaels said his defensive backs played loose deliberately. "When you play a great running team," he said, "you have to concede something. We conceded some short passes."

New York got TD runs of 11 yards from Bruce Harper and 2 yards from Kevin Long and a 47-yard field goal by Pat Leahy in losing their third straight game after two victories.

Purple Gang Rolling Along

BOSTON (UPI) — The Purple Gang is rolling and you can color Joe Yulka's Big Green as believers.

Holy Cross crushed Dartmouth 56-0 Saturday to win its fourth straight game and sixth in a row over two years. Quarterback Peter Colombo, the 5-foot-7 fireball, passed for two touchdowns and was 14-of-19 on the afternoon.

"I feel we played a strong game, probably the best since I've coached here," said Holy Cross coach Neil Wheelwright. "I don't want to single out individuals. It was a team effort."

N.E. Football

The Crusaders, who scored their first shutout in five years, got touchdowns from Brian Doherty, Elmar Reks, Charlie Hourihan and Chuck Mullen, 21. Yulka, whose team fell 1-1, pointed to Hourihan's interception return with eight seconds left in the half as the key play.

"That was the big turning point against us. Had we scored, we could have trailed by only 11 at half instead of 56," Yulka said.

Bradshaw Picks Apart Jet Defense And Steelers Continue Undeafeated

NEW YORK (UPI) — Terry Bradshaw's new-found maturity was never more evident, but his coach may still have a lot of growing up to do.

Bradshaw picked apart a New York secondary that refused to adjust Sunday, throwing three touchdown passes to lead the unbeaten Pittsburgh Steelers, off to the best start in their 4-year history, to their fifth victory, 28-17 over the Jets.

New York got TD runs of 11 yards from Bruce Harper and 2 yards from Kevin Long and a 47-yard field goal by Pat Leahy in losing their third straight game after two victories.

Cotzie's 24-yard interception return to the Bears' 37 yard line set up the winning score.

Packers 35, Lions 14 David Whitehurst threw two TD passes to Andre Thompson and Terrell Middleton rushed for 148 yards — including a 76-yard TD run — to lead Green Bay to its fourth win in five games. Reserve Gary Danielson had two scoring passes for Detroit, 1-4.

Eagles 17, Colts 14 Wilbert Montgomery ran for 144 yards, including the game-winning 14-yard TD with 2:39 left, as Philadelphia scored all its points in the last period to erase a 14-0 deficit. Baltimore's Roosevelt Leaks caught one TD pass and ran another TD.

Atlanta's comeback against New York. The Giants, who had only 127 yards in offense, took a 14-0 first period lead on a fumble recovery and a blocked field goal attempt.

Atlanta's Steve Bartkowski threw for 227 yards and a touchdown. Rams 26, Saints 20

Pat Haden threw a 20-yard TD pass to Willie Miller and Rod Perry ran for the Bears, completing 16-of-35 passes for a team-record 311 yards and three interceptions.

Broncos 28, Seahawks 7 Reserve quarterback Norris Weese, in his first start of the season, threw one touchdown pass and intercepted three Seattle passes that were converted into scores, leading the Broncos over the Seahawks.

Steve DeBerg threw a pair of touchdown passes and Anthony Leonard ran back a pass interception 30 yards for another score as San Francisco beat wireless Cincinnati for its first victory. The 49ers picked off five passes, four from Ken Anderson, who managed to hold on despite a year after a pre-season injury.

Robinson returned a punt 82 yards for a touchdown to lead Wesleyan over Connecticut at least their third straight games Saturday. The University of Connecticut Saturday dropped its third game in four starts.

Central Connecticut scored 19 points in the final period but it wasn't enough as they lost 32-26 to Maine Southern bowed to Springfield 24-10. The Coast Guard hit 26-0 goal slip from their fingers to drop a 29-26 decision to Norwich and the University of New Haven downed Western Connecticut 21-7.

Yale defeated UConn 21-7 in their traditional state rivalry at New Haven for the 27th time in 30 meetings. Yale made good on three key turnovers by the error-prone Huskies, who have lost three straight since an opening win over Northeastern.

Yale, a victor over Brown last week, scored on its first possession of the ball with Mike Austin's 3-yard touchdown scamper. Bob Isiah kicked a 36-yard field goal from nine yards out to complete Central's scoring.

Southwestern took a 34-10 drubbing at the hands of Springfield for its third straight loss. Bob Isiah kicked a 36-yard field goal from nine yards out to complete Central's scoring.

Norwich roared back with a 22-point fourth quarter to stun the Coast Guard 29-20. UConn on the board with a 43-yard pass play to Ken Switzer early in the final period. Rick Angelone closed out the scoring for Yale with a one-yard touchdown run in the final period.

Trinity's Mike Foye threw his second touchdown pass of the day with only 14 seconds left in the game to give the Bantams a 14-7 victory over Bates at Hartford. Foye's quarter was Brian O'Keefe was all New Haven needed to Western Connecticut 23-6. O'Keefe hit Jerry Kopans with a 20-yarder and Tony Major with a 33-yard pass for touchdowns. Mike Farnham scored the Chargers final touchdown in the third period.

Curis Dickey scampered 65 yards for a touchdown on Texas A&M's first offensive play to propel the eighth-ranked Aggies to a romp over Memphis State.

Houston scored the first four times it had the ball on a 13-yard pass from Danny Davis to Garrett Jurgatis, a 3-yard run by Emmett King, a 4-yard run by Randy Love and a 56-yard romp by fullback Jimmy Newhouse to open the ninth-ranked Seminoles.

Foster Annexed Third RBI Title

NEW YORK (UPI) — The last day of the regular season meant different things to different members of the Cincinnati Reds.

To George Foster, it meant a third straight RBI championship and a second consecutive home run title.

To Pete Rose, it meant the frustration of not getting 200 hits. Ducky Tom Seaver, it meant an exhilarating end to a simply brilliant season.

And, to Sparky Anderson, it meant a winter of deep thought as to how his team can win more next season.

Foster hit his 39th and 40th homers — the second coming with a man on in the bottom of the 14th inning — to give the Reds a 10-8 victory over the Atlanta Braves — and drove in three runs to run his total to 120 to become the first player in 40 years to win three straight titles.

The last player to win three consecutive RBI crown was Ducky Tom Seaver, who did it with the St. Louis Cardinals in 1956-58.

"Winning the RBI title and the home run title made me feel good," Foster said. "It made up for fact I didn't hit for high average." He wound up at 281 after hitting 320 last year.

Foster was supposed to leave the game after the eighth with the Reds holding a 6-3 lead. But Anderson left him in after the fans gave him a standing ovation on his at-bat in the eighth inning.

Rose was pulled after the eighth, just two hits with 100 200-hit season. It didn't seem to matter at the time — but his spot in the batting order wound up coming to the plate four more times.

"I've been taken out a lot in late innings," said Rose, "but it's funny, last game of the season and I get taken out and miss four at-bats. You think I have a long face — you should

Morgan $100,000 Richer After Golf World Series

AKRON, Ohio (UPI) — He was no one's favorite, and was admittedly "a little edge about my chances."

But when the dust settled over the rugged, 7,100-yard Firestone South Course Sunday, Dr. Gil Morgan was the winner of the 1978 World Series of Golf — and $100,000 richer.

Before the elite field of 24 pros and two amateurs began play Thursday, speculation on a possible champion centered on Tom Watson, Jack Nicklaus and, perhaps, three-time tour winner Andy Bean.

Morgan's name did not crop up. But then, neither did Hubert Green. "But when it came down to the end, it was those two men who shot it out for the title."

Green entered the final round at two under par 208 — good for two-shot lead over Morgan. He started the day with three straight birdies and appeared ready to leave the field behind.

But Morgan — a licensed optometrist — shot 2-under-par 33 on the front side and even-par 35 on the back nine to tie at 2-under for the title.

Green, meanwhile, bogeyed four holes and came to the 18th one behind Morgan. He calmly rapped in a 5-foot birdie putt and sent the tourney into sudden death.

Both men drove well on the first playoff hole — the par-4, 14th — and Morgan hit the green in two, with Green on the back fringe, 25 feet away.

Green left his first putt five feet short and to the right and missed the par putt. Morgan two-putted and the title was his.

"It was my first playoff," said the soft-spoken Morgan, "and I was a little edge about my chances."

Green said, "I looked at my par putt twice and thought it broke to the right. Then I look again and it looked straight. I was right the first time."

Morgan had won only twice before in his five-year career — the 1977 B.C. Open and the 1978 Los Angeles Open — but the victories qualified him for the Series as a multiple winner and he made the most of it.

Tom Watson fired a 67 Sunday to finish at even-par 220, good enough for third place and $19,000. The money gave him a season total of $32,400, a new record, breaking the 1971 record of $33,021 set by Johnny Miller.

Green pocketed $45,000 for second place.

Leaf-Watching Requires High Degree of Accuracy

CONCORD, N.H. (UPI) — Pat Van Vliet always gets the first word on the latest colors for fall. Leaves, that is.

As secretary in New Hampshire's Office of Vacation Travel, he puts out twice-weekly news releases describing the fall foliage and runs a 24-hour hotline that gets "hundreds of calls" each week from would-be leaf-peepers.

She gets the hot word on the latest hues from a group of volunteers she calls the New Hampshire Leaf Watchers Corps. They grade the leaves on a one-to-seven scale, ranging from "not started" to "gone by."

There are 30 to 40 of them, depending on who remembers to call her or who she can get hold of. They're scattered from Pittsburg, on the Canadian border to Peterborough, a few miles from Massachusetts.

They include fire lookouts, motel operators, Chamber of Commerce secretaries, regional tourist association employees, a mountain toll road manager and an airport owner.

It's serious business.

Leaf-watcher William Russell warns it's not a job without hazards. "You'd better not miss by too much," he said, "or people will be right down your throat."

Russell, executive vice-president of the Monadnock Region Association in Peterborough, monitors not only leaves, but dogwood, the wild rhododendron in Rhododendron State Park, mountain laurel and apple blossoms.

Mrs. Van Vliet, who's supervised the leaf-watching for 17 years, said it takes more than a good pair of eyes to know how to do it right.

"There are people who have been around in their areas for a while," she said. "They're experienced enough to know when something's not at peak yet, and it's not going to be awhile."

"It's like watching for these fires," said Kenneth Beck, fire lookout at Chalk Hill near Concord. "You get above sea level. You get used to the territory."

"We're sitting on top of the world up here and we can see for quite a distance," he said. "I'm looking across a sea of trees."

Ursula George was drafted to call in the foliage reports 15 years ago for the Colbybrook Chamber of Commerce, in New Hampshire's rugged North Country.

Checkmate: Israel Prime Minister Menachem Begin tackled presidential adviser Zbigniew Brzezinski over a chess board at Camp David, winning one game and losing two, which turned out to be a man so out of practice. Says Begin, now back in Tel Aviv, "My previous game was on Sept. 20, 1940. Then the Russian police broke into my house and took me away."

He adds he called to his wife as he was dragged out that he conceded the game because his opponent was in a better board position. Of his own losses to Brzezinski, he says, "I didn't lose it, but I told myself it's better for him to deal me it as chess instead of diplomacy."

Funds Key to Band Shell Programs

MANCHESTER — Whether next year's Manchester Bicentennial Band Shell program is a bigger and better one than this year depends on how much money the Band Shell Corp. gets, according to Ralph MacCarone, Band Shell project coordinator.

"I would hope that the organizations that helped build the shell would help the program," he said.

MacCarone recalled the Band Shell's first season which began last June and ended on a sunny Sunday afternoon in September. Performers from four years old to 70 took part in various forms of entertainment.

There was something for everyone including a one-man show by the banjoist, a polka band, jazz and chamber music ensembles. The Band Shell also featured a country-western program and another that featured a Latin-American group.

A performance by the Manchester Youth Ballet had to be canceled because of improper flooring at the site. The ballet had been scheduled to perform on a portable wood floor.

200-Year-Old Lobster Saved from the Table

WESTPORT (UPI) — A 200-year-old lobster named Duke is living fine in Long Island Sound today thanks to some people who thought he should be spared the indignity of the dinner table.

Duke, who wandered into a commercial fisherman's lobster pot Sept. 21, had taken up lodging at the Sound Island Lobster Co. His age, calculated by the University of Rhode Island using formulae using weight, made him a local curiosity.

School children used to stop by to oggle his three feet of him. The customer, Dominic Franz of Ansonia, figured he would make a fine entrée at a clam bake for 25 or 30 people. He purchased the 24-pound Duke, who had been luxuriating on a shrimp diet, for $76.56 at $3.19 a pound.

Duke got out, and people began to wonder about the propriety of eating a lobster that had evaded captivity since the Revolutionary War. So did the weekly newspaper, Fairpress, which in an editorial entitled "Don't Eat Duke" urged readers to help save the crustacean with donations.

About 60 people sent $30 to the Sound Island Lobster Co. to pay the cost of a lobster boat outing, said Mrs. Margaret Manchester, who occasionally helps with the boat. She said she would be willing to exchange Duke for a number of smaller lobsters. Franz said he agreed.

Sunday afternoon at 9 a.m., Robtham and Franz joined the store's lobsterman on a small boat which churned three or four miles out into Long Island Sound to drop Duke into 200 feet of ocean water.

Franz himself lowered Duke into the depths before returning home to start the clam bake with about 25 smaller lobsters. "I was confident he'd make it," Franz said. "He was in pretty good shape."

Robtham was unavailable for comment. His mother said she was returned.

"It's all a happy ending," said Mrs. Manchester. "He is now happy in his habitat."

Fast, experienced Rhode Island Junior College booters shut out Middletown Community College, 7-0, in soccer action Saturday at Cougar Field.

The visitors, now 3-0, were ranked fifth in New England a year ago, the loss drops MCC to 2-3 for the season.

Herman Mello scored four times for Rhode Island, one on a penalty kick. Joe DeSilva, Chris Krikorian and Luis Garcia also tallied for the Knights.

Rhode Island outshot the Cougars, 29-14, with MCC keepers Paul Gondek and Fran Crogan called on to make 14 saves. Mike Rounds had 10 saves for the Warwick, R.I. school.

The Cougars return to action Wednesday facing Post Junior College in Waterbury at 3:30.

Jayvees Blanked

Manchester High Jayvee soccer team was blanked last Friday by host Enfield High, 4-0.

Alex Britnell, Sparky Laggis, Eric Juttner, Bruce Schmidt and Marty Simon played well for the locals, now 0-2-1 for the season.

Bennet in Tie

Bennet Junior High Jayvee soccer team played to a 3-3 tie with Timothy Edwards of South Windsor last Friday.

Dan Guacione scored all three goals for the young Bears, now 1-0-1 for the season.

McEnroe in Finals

San FRANCISCO (UPI) — An old pro and a young hotshot met tonight in the finals of the Transamerica Tennis Tournament, with 224,000 going to the winner and $12,000 to the loser.

Tenth-seeded Dick Stockton came from a brink of defeat to edge Patrick DuPre in a 6-3, 6-7 (11-9), 7-5 marathon Sunday night after John McEnroe had disposed of Eddie Dibbs in a 6-4, 7-6 (7-4) struggle.

Whalers Finish Strong In Trouncing Capitals

SPRINGFIELD, Mass. (UPI) — Eleven playing performance didn't keep the New England Whalers from clubbing the Washington Capitals, 5-1, in an exhibition match.

"I like hard-hitting games, but tonight was kind of sloppy and out of hand," said Whaler coach Bill Dineen. "It was Mark Howe's third-period goals that yanked the game out of help, but New England to victory in an otherwise lackluster match Sunday night."

Washington's Guy Charron fired off the game's first goal, a backhander after teammate Bob Sirots' shot from the right deflected off the board behind Whalers' goaltender John Garrett.

Thirty-four seconds later, New England tied it up when Dave Keenan picked up a pass from Marty Howe, walked through the Caps' defense and flipped a backhander over fallen goalie, Rollie Boston.

Warren Miller scored his first goal as a Whaler with 1:52 to go in the second period.

The Caps are now 2-2.

Rhode Island Indian Claim Now Depends on Legislature

PROVIDENCE, R.I. (UPI) — With the federal government having given its approval, the fate of the first Indian land claim settlement in the East rests with the Rhode Island Legislature.

President Carter signed a bill approving the settlement Saturday night. Under it, the federal government will provide $3.5 million to buy 900 acres of privately-held land in Charlestown for the Narragansett Indians.

If the state Legislature goes along, as it's expected to, Rhode Island will donate another 900 acres to land that already owns. The 1,800 acres will be held "in trust."

The Indians were originally seeking 3,000 acres, or one-seventh of Charlestown. They argued the land was taken in violation of the U.S. Nonintercourse Act of 1790.

Similar claims are now pending in Maine, Massachusetts, Connecticut, New York, South Carolina, and Florida. The largest is in Maine where the Penobscot and Passamaquoddy Indians seek 12 million acres, or about two-thirds of the state.

The Narragansett's suit clouded land titles in Charlestown for several years, forcing the town to delay a bond issue for a new school.

"I think it's just great the way it came out," Sen. Bob Roy Rawlings, D-Wyoming, who represents the Charlestown area, said Sunday. "Everybody was for it. This is one of those things you very seldom see."

Rep. Edward P. Beard, D-R.I., said he hopes the settlement will be a priority item once the Legislature convenes in January.

"It's precedent-setting for the U.S., and it will be a major plus to finally unscramble the dilemma in the southern part of the state," he said.

At a two-day conference on Indians land claims in Providence last week, parties in the unresolved disputes were told that negotiations are the best answer.

"It's vital for these cases to be negotiated here in the East, and for all parties to sit at the same table and seek a settlement," said Susan Harjo, a legislative liaison representative from the U.S. Bureau of Indian Affairs.

Birth Control Device Waits Approval

BOSTON (UPI) — Two Boston area researchers have submitted a birth control device they claim works and will be acceptable to the Roman Catholic Church to federal officials for their scrutiny.

Dr. Howard Kossaky of Harvard Medical School and Louis Kopito of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology have asked the U.S. Food and Drug Administration to approve further tests as a step towards getting marketing approval.

The device is called an "Ovimeter" and they say it could be acceptable to the church as a birth control device because it only verifies a woman's menstrual cycle and does not use contraceptive chemicals or hormones.

The key to the effectiveness is the fluidity of a woman's cervical mucus, which correlates with periods when she is most fertile and least fertile, the developers say.

The two researchers say couples wanting to have, or avoid having, children will be able to plan because the device can determine within a day when the women is most fertile.

Kossaky said when the mucus is thick it provides a natural barrier to the penetration of sperm. He said when the mucus is thin it signals that the woman is fertile.

"I call it a 'go' or 'no-go' depending on whether the woman wants to get pregnant or not," he said.

The FDA must by law most approve marketing of birth control devices and is studying 18 months of field testing of the device already done in the United States and Israel.

The FDA must first approve further tests before considering whether to allow it on the market, but the developers say they hope the device can be on the market in a year or so.

"If we receive the FDA testing approval, which will be based on the scientific data we've presented, we'll test in three phases," he said. "FDA has very strict regulations — to protect the public."

After the additional field testing the results would be presented to the FDA which would then decide whether to allow commercial marketing of the device.

Kossaky said he hopes a device to be administered by doctors will be available for marketing by mid-1979. He said the availability of an at-home device would take a little longer.

Maine Seeks To Control Its Growth

CAMDEN, Maine (UPI) — Municipal growth is a fact and can't be stopped, but it must be guided to protect the environment, the head of the Maine Association of Conservation Commissioners says.

"Growth is a fact of life," Sterling Dow III told a weekend association meeting. "Towns must control and guide their growth, or growth will guide the town."

After decades of little or no growth, Maine has become one of the fastest expanding states in the country, he said.

Conservation commissions, part of municipal government, were created 15 years ago to advise town officers about protecting the environment.

"The biggest threat to the Maine environment is uncontrolled growth. Too many people are moving into areas that are being destroyed. We need to save," said Samuel Elliott of South Paris. He called control of growth "absolutely critical."

Robert Burley, a Vermont architect, told the association, "We think of automobiles and paved highways as good things. But they make possible suburbs and destroy the necessity to live in communities."

"It's easier to park automobiles on paved farmlands, so village centers are dying and farms are becoming shopping centers," he said.

THE BEST REASON TO BUY A NEW VOLKSWAGEN IS AN OLD ONE.

Let us tell you why. Before you buy a new Volkswagen, look at all the old ones that are still around. They prove better than anything we can say, that Volkswagen builds durable, long-lasting cars. Volkswageners have been on American roads for thirty years now. And, not so surprisingly, many of them are still running. And, you can't see that. You see the new VW Rabbits, Dashers and Scirocos ... are built with that same insistence on quality and durability for which Volkswagen has always been known.

You may pay a little bit more for a VW these days, but you get a car that's built to last. You get our fuel-injected Rabbit, Dasher and Sciroco to get the most from regular gasoline. You get Volkswagen's solid engineering, and the kind of safety features like our passive restraint seatbelt system that the U.S. Dept. of Transportation will require every car to have by 1984.

And more importantly, you get the kind of dealer who will help you and your VW make it far into the future ... with the kind of uniquely professional, highly sophisticated maintenance organization that will keep your VW running great, for a long, long time.

But, the most important thing we have to offer is pride. It's what we feel when we see you in a VW Rabbit, Dasher or Sciroco ... and what you feel when you own one.

Make it your pride.

Dear Abby

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: In a recent column, you wrote: "May I point out a common misconception (to you intended) - that the Immaculate Conception is the same as the Virgin Birth. Not so! Mary - not Jesus - was the Immaculate Conception! The Bible tells us that Mary was born without original sin on her soul because she was destined to be the Mother of Christ."

Abby, your facts are correct - with one exception. It was not the Bible that tells us she was born without original sin. It was the Immaculate Conception of the Virgin Mary. In the first instance of her conception, by a singular privilege and grace granted by God, in view of the human race, the Virgin Mary was preserved exempt from all "stain of original sin."

Respectfully submitted by:

DEAR REVEREND VAN DELLEN: Thank you for pointing out a common misconception (to you intended) - that the Immaculate Conception is the same as the Virgin Birth. Not so! DEAR ABBY: The girl involved is very dear to us. She's a college graduate, as is the young man she is going with. He is the problem. They always wear her car when they date. We believe he never uses his car unless he absolutely has to because he's too cheap to buy gas.

For Christmas he gave her a bottle of cheap perfume, and her Easter outfit had no flowers. For her birthday he gave her nothing.

Buzzing free meals is his specialty. He does it so smoothly you don't realize until after you've invited him that she cleverly maneuvered the invitation.

The girl can't see what a free-loading chapskate he is, and we (her family) would like her to open her eyes before it's too late.

How we gently let her know what kind of person he is. We're afraid if we point out his faults, it might drive her closer to him.

A SICK MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER: Your last sentence was right on target. Say nothing. People who are emotionally involved see only what they want to see.

DEAR ABBY: Three weeks ago my mother died. Last week, right out of the blue, my sister said, "I forgot to give you this," and she dropped my mother's wedding ring in my lap.

It seems that the sister at the funeral home removed it and gave it to my sister at the time of the funeral. She thought that since I was the oldest daughter, I should have it.

Abby, that ring had been on my mother's finger for 38 years. It should have been buried with her. I don't want it!

I can't bear to look at that ring. It's driving me crazy. All I can think of when I see it is how much I wish it were with Mother now - where it belongs. Please help me.

SICK AT HEART

DEAR SICK: Find someone in your family who will appreciate the ring, and give it to her - or him.

DEAR ABBY: About those "new" fashions for women. My mother said, "If my grandfather had wanted to see his little Russian peasant, he wouldn't have let her dress!"

Atrograph

Bernice Bede Osol

October 3, 1978

The aspects indicate you will be bombarded with ample opportunity this coming year. By that token, there is a chance you will treat some promising situation more casually than you should.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Live within your means today. Above all, don't grab any jobs just to impress others. If you do, the impostor you will have them with will not be favorable. Find out more about yourself by sending for your copy of Astro-Graph Letter. Mail $50 cents for each and a long self-addressed, stamped envelope to Astro-Graph, P.O. Box 488, Radio City Station, N.Y. 10019. Be sure to specify birth sign.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Let people are apt to do you favors today, but not your big friends. Don't impress yourself by making requests of the latter.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Today you may feel you are being taken advantage of, but the blame is partially yours. You made a commitment you shouldn't have made.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) In a business situation today, don't be taken in by the carrot dangling at the end of the stick. Involuntary evaluations could be costly.

Your Birthday

October 3, 1978

Unrealistic goals could be a contributing factor to your downfall today. Optimism is in order, but not without realism.

PISCES (Feb. 23-March 20) Tasks scheduled for the production line today should be industriously attended to. You'll have a tough time catching up if you fall behind.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) You could be tempted today by a tantalizing challenge where the odds are stacked against you. Jousting with windmills is futile exercise.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) The least you could do for those interested in your welfare is to listen fully to the advice they offer you today. It could save you a headache.

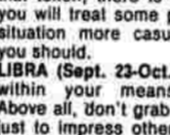

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) You're far better at issuing orders today than you are at complying with them. Coworkers won't produce if you don't.

CANCER (June 21-July 20) If you find yourself in a financial bind today, it's probably traceable to one big foolish move you made in managing your resources.

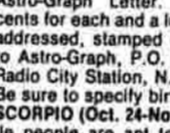

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Your opinions are likely to be far more important to you today than they will be to others. Don't press your views on closed ears.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) You've courted into a false sense of security today. Thinking you are in a stronger position than you really are. Be painfully realistic.
