WHAT'S NEWS

Bill Vetoed

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Carter, defying his own congressional leadership, today vetoed the $10.2 billion public works bill and promised to do the same to future legislation he deems fiscally irresponsible.

The lines between the White House and Capitol Hill were clearly drawn following Carter's expected announcement, and House Speaker Thomas O'Neill immediately scheduled a vote about noon to see if the veto can be overridden.

If the House reverses Carter, Senate Democratic Leader Robert Byrd said the Senate would attempt to do the same later in the afternoon. Both houses must vote by a two-thirds majority to override, or the veto is sustained. "This has not been an easy decision to make," Carter told reporters in the Oval Office, "but I have a deep commitment to control unnecessary spending and inflation. I will continue this process, no matter how unpleasant it is, as long as Congress sends me unacceptable legislation that is not compatible with fiscal responsibility."

Study Needed

A Manchester subcommittee studying the possibility of an Advanced Life Support System in town has asked for a statistical study of medical emergencies the past year. They have asked for a representative from East Hartford's Emergency Medical Service to explain their program at the subcommittee's next meeting. See page 2.

Nobel Prize

STOCKHOLM, Sweden (UPI) — Isaac Bashevis Singer, the Polish-born American author whose moving accounts of Jewish life in Polish ghettos brought "universal human conditions to life," today won the 1978 Nobel Prize for Literature.

Singer, 74, a resident of New York City, was a surprise choice for the $184,775 prize — the highest recognition in the world of literature — edging out oft-mentioned candidates such as British novelist Graham Greene and South African Nadine Gordimer.

Singer writes all his books in Yiddish and is considered by many to be the greatest Yiddish writer of all time.

Located in Miami where he spends part of each year, singer said "I didn't write for prizes, but if it comes it's good. If it doesn't come, I would have been writing anyhow. No writer writes for prizes but it's good to be recognized."

Power Outage

SOUTH WINDSOR — A trailer truck, belonging to Mahe Freight Lines of South Windsor, rolled over on Sullivan Avenue about 9 a.m. today, knocking down power lines and causing a power outage in the area.

Police said no injuries were reported and no other cars were involved in the accident. The power was still off when the police were called at 10:30 a.m. The incident is under investigation.

Stock Market

NEW YORK (UPI) — Prices opened mixed Thursday in slow trading of New York Stock Exchange issues.

The Dow Jones industrial average, which gained 0.66 points Wednesday in a late-session rebound, was behind 0.85 to 873.09 minutes after the opening bell.

Advances led declines, however, 214 to 142, among the 547 issues traded in the early going.

Third Suspect Held In Nuclear Sub Plot

ST. LOUIS (UPI) — The third suspect in what the FBI called a plot to steal a U.S. nuclear submarine and possibly fire a nuclear missile at New London, Conn., or another East Coast city, was arrested today.

Two other suspects were arrested Wednesday.

The FBI said the conspirators told a federal undercover agent they had a purchaser for the submarine, the USS Trepang, based in New London.

In announcing the breakup of the bizarre plot Wednesday night, agents said the identity of the prospective buyer — if any — was not known.

The plot included sinking a ship in New London Harbor to create a diversion, boarding the Trepang, killing its crew, and sailing into the Atlantic, the FBI said.

Bernard Feeney of the FBI in New Haven said at least 20 agents have been working on the case in earnest since August, although at first the agency had trouble tracking the plot — reminiscent of a James Bond thriller — seriously.

"It sounds like a Woody Allen movie when you hear it for the first time," Feeney said. "The documentation But, he said, 'The documentation was there for us to believe they were serious. And you've got to nip it in the bud. You can't let these things run their course.'"

The suspects, Edward J. Mendenhall, 24, a insurance company employee from Rochester, N.Y., and Curtis J. Schmidt, a 22-year-old carpet cleaner formerly from St. Louis and now living in Kansas City, Mo., were arrested Wednesday in St. Louis.

They were to be arranged today before a U.S. magistrate on charges of conspiring to steal a submarine, punishable by a maximum of 10 years in prison and a $10,000 fine.

Roy Klager, special agent in charge of the U.S. St. Louis FBI office, refused to give details of the arrest of Mendenhall and Schmitt other than to say the men were unarmed.

Klager said a fugitive warrant was issued for a third suspect, James W. Cosgrove, 36, of Ovid, N.Y.

Klager said Mendenhall, Schmitt and Cosgrove traveled from St. Louis to New York last month to meet with an undercover FBI agent to plot the theft of the Trepang from its harbor in New London.

Committee Votes 4-2 To Vacate Firehouse

vacating of the firehouse by the town be considered.

Bletchman's amendment and the full motion were approved by the same 4-2 vote.

The firehouse is staffed by the Town but is in Buckland, which is the District's jurisdictional territory. A recent decision by the state Supreme Court supported Superior Court ruling that the District has jurisdiction in the once-disputed Buckland area.

Comors and FitzPatrick argued that the town still must staff the station to provide fire protection to those North End properties that are not in the District's area.

These properties include schools, a convalescent home, some businesses and many homes, they said.

"The firehouse is serving a purpose. Do you want to tell the people on Baldwin Road they don't have a firehouse?" Comors said.

Noone said that the Town could contract with the District to service those North End territories that would not be adequately covered if the town vacated the Buckland station.

The District once covered the properties through such a contract with the Town.

"They were served well before that firehouse was built. We'd be glad to do it again," Noone said.

Bletchman and Noone both said that the presence of the Town fire station in District territory is a hindrance to the District's fire protection operation.

During the meeting, Diana and Noone both said that the Town's firehouse in Buckland would be similar to the Town building a firehouse in another community to service part of Manchester.

SOUTH WINDSOR — Public Works Director Allan Young has reversed his decision to resign from his post in order to take a position in Stratford.

Young, who said he has notified Stratford officials of his decision, said, "The town is in the midst of several projects including the treatment plant modification, the closest of the sanitary landfill, and the industrial bypass road. I didn't think I could leave at this time."

Last week the Town Council approved a $3,000 pay hike for Young in

Food Costs Up Sharply

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The cost of food, down for two straight months, rose sharply in September to push up all wholesale prices by 0.9 percent, the government reported today. It was the greatest increase since spring and a severe setback to the fight against inflation.

President Carter and his economic policymakers have maintained that inflation would taper off somewhat—especially in the food sector—during the second half of 1978 after surging ahead at an alarming pace during the first half.

At the White House, Carter had no immediate comment on the figures, but a spokesman said he had informed members of Congress beforehand of the "bad news" on the prices front and used that information as a wedge to curry their support in upholding his veto of the public works bill he considers inflationary.

The September report from the Labor Department said food costs soared by 1.7 percent, the largest rise since April, after falling 1.3 percent in August and 0.3 percent in July.

The overall 0.9 percent wholesale price jump was also the biggest since last April's 1.3 percent, the department said.

Overall wholesale prices had actually declined in August for the first time in two years.

If prices rose during each month at the same rate as September's, the annual rate of increase would be 10.8 percent and a return to double-digit inflation.

Even without the volatile food price sector, other wholesale prices rose 0.6 percent compared to just 0.4 percent in August.

To make the situation even worse, the government reported that the department also reported that wholesale prices at the intermediate and crude stages — those products not yet ready for shipment to retailers — also tumbled in real performances.

Intermediate prices rose 0.7 percent, the biggest gain since March, while crude goods prices jumped 1.6 percent in August.

By far, the biggest surprise in the report was the large gain in the prices of food ready for shipment to supermarkets.

The 1.7 percent gain, the department said, was attributed mostly to a large jump in beef and veal prices.

But prices also turned up after decreasing in August for processed poultry, vegetable oil end products and whole black pepper. Prices rose more than in August for refined sugar, the department said.

The department said its overall wholesale price index stood at 196.9 last month. That means goods and services cost $100 in the base year of 1967 were priced at $196.90 last month.

During the past year, wholesale prices have now risen 3.2 percent and food is up 10.2 percent since September 1977, the department said.

CD Panel Hears Money Requests

By JUNE TOMPKINS
Herald Reporter

MANCHESTER — A group home for the mentally retarded and a downtown community center were among the priority items presented Wednesday night to the Community Development Advisory Committee.

The committee will consider the requests for receiving future federal community development funds.

The Rev. Dale H. Gustafson, pastor of Emanuel Lutheran Church, asked the committee for $30,000 to renovate a home at Park and St. James streets which his church and St. Mary's Episcopal Church are considering buying.

The Rev. Mr. Gustafson said the three churches would like to operate the residence as a group home to accommodate about 10 mentally retarded persons whose parents are either disabled or too old to care for them, or dead. Resident house parents would supervise the home.

"We like the location because it is close to central downtown Manchester, the Sheltered Workshop, and shopping area, the pastor said. He said that the churches would probably let the Manchester Association of Retired Citizens operate it. He added that there were several persons among the three church memberships that are eligible for residency. He also said that he would have to get approval from the Zoning Board of Appeals before a group home in that location could be established.

In reply to commissioner member Sol Cohen who asked the minister if he is optimistic that his proposal will be more successful than the Wesley Retirement Center project, Pastor Gustafson answered, "Yes."

Nancy Carr, executive director of Russell Nettleton who represented the town's senior citizens, requested $75,000 for renovations to be done over a three-year period at the school.

The town is hiring an architect to look over the school building and help determine the best way for spending the $200,000 allowed by the town, according to Alan Mason, community development coordinator. He suggested waiting until some recommendations have been put down on paper before considering further community development funds for the senior citizens center.

Supporting Mrs. Carr's proposal for a downtown area community center, Robert Gorman, representing the Greater Manchester Action Committee of the Greater Manchester Chamber of Commerce, also asked for $115,000 for the purchase of off-street parking. New fire equipment in the School Street station which serves the downtown area is needed to replace an old pumper truck. Chief John Rivosa of the Town Fire Department asked for $70,000 or $80,000 which would cover the cost of a new truck and provide for alterations to the firehouse to accommodate the new truck which is wider than the old one. The old truck was purchased in 1950.

EDC Nixes Light Unit

MANCHESTER — The town's Economic Development Commission is looking to light up its park, but it has not been pleased with the fixture suggested by that job.

They're totally unacceptable. The glare is just too much," Robert Blanchard, a member of the EDC, said of the proposed light fixtures.

He heads the park design subcommittee and recently went to Waterbury to view the light fixtures proposed for the Buckland Industrial Park.

The park, located near Exit 93 of Interstate 86, would include the J.C. Penney Co.'s catalog distribution center.

The EDC originally had approved a light fixture for the park, but J.C. Penney recommended a change. This fixture recommended by the firm is the one examined in Waterbury and is not acceptable, Blanchard said.

He suggested at this morning's commission meeting that a sampling of the fixture originally approved by the group be installed in the park to see if it will be acceptable.

James Breitenfeld, executive vice president of the Greater Manchester Chamber of Commerce, said that he has gotten a price estimate for copying a bound booklet about industrial development in town. The record item he received would be $60 copies for slightly more than $2,000, but the firm would have to be put out to competitive bid.

Town Planner Alan Lamson asked for several minor transfers of funds to cover park development costs. He also said that Connecticut Natural Gas has agreed to install its lateral lines before the park roads are paved.

Lawrence Noone, a Burnham Street resident, praised the J.C. Penney Co. for its cooperation with the neighbors. He said that the firm has made all changes requested by the neighbors for a buffer being built between the building and the surrounding homes.

"I think that's commendable — the cooperation and the effort to help the neighbors," Noone said. He also praised the EDC's concern about the park lights.

Course Tries to Fill Gap In Parent Skill Training

By CHARLIE MAYNARD
Herald Reporter

EAST HARTFORD — Paul Nuttall leaned back in his chair in his University of Connecticut office, looked heavenward, and said, "We took skills for every occasion. But we don't have any training on being a parent."

It was with this in mind that the East Hartford PTA Council decided to co-sponsor a workshop with the Cooperative Extension Service for parents of children ages 6 to 12. Based upon improving communication between parent and child, the course began Wednesday evening at East Hartford High School.

Nuttall, the human relations specialist for the extension service, will be conducting a pilot leadership program to teach parents on how to run the workshop. Nuttall said the leader's guide is developed for six sessions and it is hoped that the parents can go out in the community and conduct the workshops for others. Fifteen persons have signed up for the workshop, one fewer than the suggested limit.

William Schmidt, career guidance specialist for the two high schools in East Hartford, said the concept of the workshop was spearheaded in the interest of providing additional service to the parents. The goal of the PTA Council was to help strengthen the family and, by doing this, resolve the children's problems.

According to Nuttall, children in the 6 to 12 age group have problems distinct from pre-schoolers and teenagers. There is continual fighting and bickering among the youngsters and they tend to have sloppy habits. The workshop was designed to help them do better.

"If an Advanced Life Support System is established in Manchester by another fire authority, be it townwide or countywide, the District will establish and fund a similar service," Gowrek said. He was reporting as a legislative member of the subcommittee.

Chief John C. Rivosa of the Town Fire Department feels that inasmuch as the fire department is providing this type of medical service now, it seems feasible to have the program under the direction of the fire department because the department has trained personnel and equipment.

However, the subcommittee recognized certain problems.

Gowrek asked if the service is offered on a fee basis, could the needy people afford it. "Could a volunteer force pay for its own tuition for training? And, if it is under the direction of a fire department, what happens to the manpower if medical calls and a fire occur at the same time?" he asked.

Gowrek said the district supports the idea of the program operating out of the Manchester Memorial Hospital.

Without funding of some kind, Roger Talbot, owner of the Manchester Ambulance Service, said the program would be next to impossible. "Everyone is interested in it," he said, "but the cost is astronomical."

Kenneth Casson, representing the American Heart Association, said that federal funds are available, but are tough to get.

Town Manager Robert Weiss said the nothing is impossible, town charter-wise, in contracting for legitimate services for the town.

Gowrek explained a possible "modular" type of training program in which the Advanced Life Support Service program could be developed in stages. He said that training could begin with intensive therapy and telemetry (the communication system used between the medical technician and the hospital) to qualify as an IV technician, then work up to drug and medication administration, and so on. He said that paramedics require 600 hours of training.

Paul Moss, assistant administrator at Manchester Memorial Hospital, suggested the quickest way of getting information on an Advanced Life Support System program would be to invite someone from East Hartford which has had a townwide Emergency Medical Service program in existence for three years.

For the subcommittee's next meeting, Weiss asked Ronald Kraatz, assistant administrator of the Town Health Department, to work with Talbot and Moss to get some statistical input. Weiss also suggested taking a session to look at the Police Department as a potential dispatch center. Police Sgt. James Sweeney said that to date, Police Chief Lannan hasn't taken a stand on the program.

Life Support Planning Poses Many Problems

By JUNE TOMPKINS
Herald Reporter

MANCHESTER — Problems of cost, training, and jurisdiction involved in setting up an Advanced Life Support System in town were discussed Wednesday by a study committee.

The location of a central dispatch center posed a problem.

Although the Town of Manchester Fire Department and the Eighth Utilities Fire Department each has its own trained personnel to handle medical emergencies, it would not seem feasible to have a dispatch center in both locations according to representatives from both departments.

Speaking for the Eighth District Fire Department, Capt. Paul V. Gowrek said that the district, by charter, cannot and will not support a program by which another fire authority performs the duties for which it is responsible.

"If an Advanced Life Support System is established in Manchester by another fire authority, be it townwide or countywide, the District will establish and fund a similar service," Gowrek said. He was reporting as a legislative member of the subcommittee.

Job Advice Offered

MANCHESTER — Handicapped persons seeking employment will have an opportunity Friday to meet with area employers and ask questions about jobs.

A program called MAPOH-3, Manchester's Answer to problems of the Handicapped, will be held at the Regional Occupational Training Center, 23 Hilltown Road from 12:30 to 4:30 p.m.

The program will include displays, exhibits and job performance demonstrations from 12:30 to 1 p.m.

A panel discussion and question and answer session will also be part of the afternoon format.

Refreshments will be served during the afternoon.

Families Need Items

MANCHESTER — Several local families are in need of various items, ranging from a refrigerator to warm winter clothing and baby food.

One family with two children needs a refrigerator and a couch or twin bed. Another, also with two children needs a twin bed. Both beds should include the frame and not just springs and mattresses. Joanne Mikovitch, human needs coordinator of the Manchester Conference of Churches' Project Service, 646-4114.

Warm winter clothes for all ages are needed at the Clothing Bank, located in the basement of the Mayfair Garden Community Room.

The Emergency Food Pantry has an ample supply of soups and vegetables but very little of other needed non-perishable foods. Baby food is especially needed.

Those wishing to help these Manchester families in need may call the Project Services office, 646-4114.

Paul Nuttall (second from left) of the Cooperative Extension Service leads a parents workshop on child rearing at East Hartford High School Wednesday evening. Bridgeport Students Hold Street Classes

BRIDGEPORT (UPI) — University of Bridgeport professors returned to picket lines today in the tenth day of their strike, supported by the school's maintenance and food workers and kept company by dozens of students.

Moricio said the union will also encourage other unions serving university employees to support the strike. Student activists pitched tents outside UB's administration building for the second night in a row and promised to continue round-the-clock vigils until the strike ended.

Efforts were also being made by the Student Action Committee to keep as many students on campus as possible in hopes of pressuring the school into ending the walkout that began Sept. 22.

"We're here to learn. The teachers are here to teach and that's what we want them to do."

Classes for more than 8,000 full- and part-time students were suspended indefinitely Tuesday after the 520-member American Association of University Professors' campus chapter rejected the school's latest offer.

"We're just at the university's law school were unrepresented."

Miles told students to return home, saying classes would resume under a new schedule he did not explain. His office was expected to issue a detailed statement today outlining steps that would be taken to end the walkout.

School officials said Wednesday no new talks were scheduled with the union and they did not waver from their refusal to submit contract differences to binding arbitration.

The university's Maintenance and Food Handlers' union local 1199, AFL-CIO, voted 45-35 Wednesday night to support the strike and appointed a committee to decide what action to take. Possibilities include meeting with the administration and a public information campaign, union officials said.

They are scheduled to arrive at 9:30 a.m.

Schedule Alters For Miss Lillian

MANCHESTER — Lillian Carter, mother of the president, will come to Manchester Monday, but her schedule has been altered.

She originally had been scheduled to appear at Manchester Community College. That stop will not be made, but Mrs. Carter and Gov. Ella Grasso now are scheduled to appear at Democratic headquarters in the Manchester Parkade.

They are scheduled to arrive at 9:30 a.m.

CETA Formula Revised

HARTFORD (UPI) — Hartford has developed a formula for allocating anticipated new jobs funds to the region, part of an effort to include 24 towns in the decision-making for the area's Comprehensive Employment and Training Act program.

The formula, based on unemployment statistics, would funnel proportional amounts of CETA funding to each community in the consortium.

Previously, the towns, the city and non-profit organizations applied for CETA money on the basis of specific jobs projects.

Edward J. Hastillo, head of the suburban towns which reviewed and approved the formula, said it also ensures the towns more independence over their shares of CETA funds.

Moynihan Names Aides

Moynihan is seeking his third term from the Tenth Assembly District.

"I feel confident that with these three individuals running my campaign in the Tenth Assembly District, we will be victorious in November," said Moynihan.

Moynihan also announced that Alice Whelton, a long-term Senate aide on Capitol Hill, will be his campaign treasurer. She will be assisted by Cyril Mizla, who serves as vice-chairman of the Democratic Town Committee's Fifth District.

"I feel confident that with these three individuals running my campaign in the Tenth Assembly District, we will be victorious in November," said Moynihan.

Burns Caused Boy's Death

HARTFORD (UPI) — The state medical examiner's office has ruled the death of a 13-year-old mentally retarded boy at a private Connecticut school for the blind was the result of burns and infection.

The circumstances surrounding the death of Philip Koslowki, a resident at the Oak Hill School for the Blind, are being investigated by local police and the medical examiner's office, which made its report Wednesday.

"The boy, whose family lives in St. Albans, Vt., died Sunday at Hartford Hospital. He was being treated for second-degree burns over 40 percent of his body, a heart attack, bladder infections and kidney failure."

School Superintendent, Lars Guldaager said the boy, who had worked at the school the previous summer, was dismissed the following day. He now is attending college, but it is not known where, Guldaager said.

Rham Board Approves Competency Test Plans

HARTFORD — The Regional District 8 Board of Education voted at a special meeting Monday to establish a pilot program of minimum competency testing.

The special meeting was called to start discussion of the regional six-year plan which was developed by the superintendent of schools and presented to the board in August.

Only three members of the public attended the meeting and listened as the board heard presentations by the Rham High School principal, Diana Vecchione, in the areas of present curriculum and curriculum goals, alternative educational programs, minimum competency for high school graduation, high school graduation requirements, and differentiated diplomas.

Several members of the board expressed concern that the teachers would tend to teach to the test. They felt that the purpose of the minimum competency test must be formally outlined. Actual administration of the test was not decided nor was the format entirely complete.

Dr. Vecchione said that meetings were taking place on two levels concerning the curriculum and curriculum goals. She said these are on the departmental level and the overall level. She added that some combination of courses is under investigation but that board approval will be required before the actual implementation of any curriculum changes.

Action was deferred on increasing the high school graduation requirements until the administration had more input from the faculty. In the area of differentiated

He was released on a $250 nonsurety bond for appearance in court in Rockville on Oct. 17.

East Hartford Prepares Next Application to HUD

By CHRIS BLAKE
Herald Reporter

EAST HARTFORD — Although East Hartford has not exactly enjoyed stunning success in its quest for federal Department of Housing and Urban Development funds under the Community Development Act, the town is willing to try its luck again next year.

Mayor Richard H. Blackstone said Wednesday the town will probably begin the process that will ultimately lead to the filing of its fifth-year application in "mid-November."

East Hartford's track record with the community development program so far is anything but impressive. The town has received HUD's approval on only one of four applications to date.

And that approval came only after a lengthy court battle with the City of Hartford.

Hartford sued East Hartford and said it would use the funds to meet the needs of low and moderate-income persons.

East Hartford and the other towns won in court, however, when the 2d District Circuit Court of Appeals ruled last year that the towns were eligible.

Since that victory, however, the town's fortunes have been reversed. HUD denied both the second and third-year applications. The denial of the third-year application sparked a controversy and another lengthy court battle which still rages on.

HUD notified the town of the third-year denial on the 7th day — the last

Guest Preacher

The Very Rev. Sidney Evans, dean of Salisbury Cathedral, England, will be the guest preacher Sunday at St. Mary's Episcopal Church.

Dean Evans has served as a parish priest, chaplain of the Royal Air Force, lecturer and dean of Kings College, London, before his appointment to Salisbury last year by the Rt. Rev. Donald Coggins, archbishop of Canterbury.

His visit to St. Mary's coincides with a visit to his daughter, Patricia Broadhead, who is the wife of the Rev. Dr. Alan Broadhead, assistant to the rector of St. Mary's. Dean Evans will preach at 9 a.m. and 11 a.m. and will be chief celebrant at the Eucharist at 11.

East Hartford's track record with the community development program so far is anything but impressive. The town has received HUD's approval on only one of four applications to date.

And that approval came only after a lengthy court battle with the City of Hartford.

Hartford sued East Hartford and said it would use the funds to meet the needs of low and moderate-income persons.

East Hartford and the other towns won in court, however, when the 2d District Circuit Court of Appeals ruled last year that the towns were eligible.

Since that victory, however, the town's fortunes have been reversed. HUD denied both the second and third-year applications. The denial of the third-year application sparked a controversy and another lengthy court battle which still rages on.

HUD notified the town of the third-year denial on the 7th day — the last

East Hartford Prepares Next Application to HUD

By CHRIS BLAKE

EAST HARTFORD — Although East Hartford has not exactly enjoyed stunning success in its quest for federal Department of Housing and Urban Development funds under the Community Development Act, the town is willing to try its luck again next year.

Mayor Richard H. Blackstone said Wednesday the town will probably begin the process that will ultimately lead to the filing of its fifth-year application in "mid-November."

Chamber Expands Its Role

VERNON — Joseph Paradis, who assumed his duties as president of the board of directors of the Rockville Area Chamber of Commerce Tuesday, said he will encourage the board to take more positive public stands on situations and issues that arise which would affect any of the towns the chamber serves.

Paradis was formerly manager of the W.T. Grant store at Vernon Circle. He said, "It is my objective to continue the past fine service that this organization has given its 300 members in the Rockville-Vernon, Tolland, and Ellington area."

He said his first action will be to expand the base of the chamber by forming additional committees. The first two of these committees, resulting from a survey made of area businesses last year, are a crime committee and a zoning monitoring subcommittee of the Tri-Town Economic and Development Committee.

The zoning monitoring subcommittee will be headed by Robert Noonan of the Ellington School system.

In place of the product show committee, former board president, Harvey Desruisseaux, will head a fund raising committee. Other new committees will include a policy committee headed by Lee Higgins. The aim of that committee will be to develop a policy manual which will include statements of position and procedure for the chamber.

A map committee will be headed by William Repoli; finance committee, Ralph Livingston; regional affairs committee, Desruisseaux; and in place of the beautification committee, Steven Diana will form an aesthetics committee which will foster the pride of both people and businesses in the area towns, Paradis said.

The ongoing committees from last year will be headed by: Richard Mrazik, membership; Daniel Waslewicz, retail; Robert Tedoldi, Tri-Town Economic and Development; Michael Adamick and Noonan, program; Livingston, audit; and Edward Wolfanger and Andrew Tricarico, Committee on Aging.

Hockey Lessons
Registrations for the Vernon Youth Hockey Association's instructional program will be taken Saturday from 7 to 9:30 a.m. at the Bolton Ice Palace. The lessons will run through March 3 each Saturday from 9:20 to 10:20 a.m. at the Ice Palace on Route 6.

The charge for the full 22 sessions will be payable at the time of registrations. For more information call Robert Tedoldi, 872-2263 or John Dzarnecki, 875-8212.

About Town
East Central Pomona Grange will meet Saturday at 8 p.m. at Good Will Grange Hall, 43 Naubuc Ave., Glastonbury. The Fifth degree will be conferred, and any Fourth degree member wishing to take the Fifth degree should be at the hall by 7:45. Members of Manchester and Andover Granges are asked to bring items for the Committee on Women's Activities auction table.

Chapman Court, Order of Amaranth, will meet Friday at 7:45 p.m. at the Masonic Temple. After the meeting, there will be a rehearsal. Officers will wear colored gowns.

Coventry To Unveil New Plan

COVENTRY — A proposed master plan of development for Coventry will be unveiled at a Planning and Zoning Commission public hearing tonight at 7 in the Large Group Instruction Room at the Captain Nathan Hale School.

The plan has been in the making since the early 1970s, but monthly PZC workshops over the past year have accelerated completion of the final draft by Town Planner Gregory Padick.

"The plan establishes goals, policies, and land use recommendations to promote the health, welfare, and safety of existing and future Coventry residents," said Marilyn Richardson, chairwoman of the PZC and a former member of the Zoning Board of Appeals.

"Major land use components in the plans are residential, commercial, industrial, governmental, open space, and natural resources and road," she added. "The Planning and Zoning Commission encourages all interested citizens to attend this meeting."

Copies of the complete plan of development draft and summary sheets will be available at the hearing. They are also on file for review at the Booth Dimock Memorial Library, at the Porter Library, at the Town Clerk's Office, and in the Planning Office at the Town Hall.

"At this hearing, interested persons may be heard and written communications received," according to the call of the meeting. "No petitions will be accepted after the close of the hearing."

One anticipated area of controversy is the scope of a municipal sewer system being proposed by the town. The commission has endorsed sewerage of the village area to promote mixed use development there. In the lake area, however, most PZC members favor only a limited sewer system that would handle existing septic problems but would not encourage additional growth in this already densely populated section.

At a recent meeting the Sewer Authority voted unanimously to recommend that the PZC incorporate sewers for the lake area in the master plan of development. Authority Chairman Richard Bressat expressed the belief that the master plan draft currently focused too heavily on the village area rather than on the problems of the lake area.

Other authority members felt that a sewer program for the lake section should be flexible enough to handle anticipated expansion over the next fifteen years. But Padick said that a large-scale system could cause siltation and other undesirable runoff into the lake.

Beyond these criticisms, however, there has been very little public input into the master plan. Few residents took advantage of PZC invitations to attend the workshops. Both Padick and Richardson hope that tonight's meeting will be well attended.

Purdy Cited for Quality

MANCHESTER — The Purdy Corp. has won an achievement award for its outstanding performance as a supplier of quality goods and services.

The Vendor Achievement Award was presented to the company by one of its customers, Pratt & Whitney Aircraft of Canada Ltd., an internationally renowned manufacturer of aircraft engines.

The award, presented annually, was instituted by the Canadian firm to recognize the best performers within the ranks of its many suppliers in Canada, the U.S. and abroad.

The Purdy Corp., a supplier of computerized numerical control machinery to P&WA, was honored at a special dinner held recently in Montreal.

Ward Gets Beauty Prize

MANCHESTER — The Environment and Beautification Committee of the Greater Manchester Chamber of Commerce has presented its September 1978, City Beautification Award to Ward Manufacturing Co. Receiving the award for its facility at 186 Adams St., Ward Manufacturing is involved in sheet metal fabrication, welding, and related machine work.

In reviewing the candidates for this latest award, the Chamber committee made special note of Ward's efforts to institute a property maintenance program that exceeds normal, accepted care. By combining initial landscaping with ongoing planting and an active maintenance program, Ward Manufacturing has demonstrated that manufacturing and industrial operations can be positive influences on the local environment.

Ward Manufacturing Co. has taken the extra step to ensure its role as a good neighbor to the residents and businesses in the Adams Street area, the Chamber noted.

The City Beautification Award is presented regularly by the Chamber's Environment and Beautification Committee as a means of highlighting the work done by local businesses in improving the appearance and quality of life in Manchester.

Family Opens Restaurant

VERNON — A local family is entering the business of family restaurants. John Barry Sr. and his son, John J. Barry Jr. have opened a restaurant in Vernon along with Michael Constant, the younger Barry's brother-in-law.

The restaurant is called Vernon Circle Family Restaurant. It is located two miles north of Vernon Circle at the site of the old Billy Grant's Colonial Drive-In.

The new owners have increased the number of dining tables and have made it a sit-down restaurant.

They are planning further expansion of the building, which has been there since 1972.

The restaurant offers full breakfast, lunch and dinner menus. The dishes range from steak to fish to grinders to scallops. Constant is the manager of the new restaurant. He is a graduate of the New Haven Culinary School.

John Barry Sr. is the owner of the South Windsor Ten Pin Lanes on Rt. 5. John Barry Jr. is the town clerk of East Hartford.

"We want to stress that this is a family restaurant," the younger Barry said. "It's a place you can take your family and sit down and get a good meal."

New Health Spa Arrives

MANCHESTER — A new concept in fitness control is being brought to town by one of the leaders in the physical fitness industry, Woman's World Health Spas.

With the cooperation of Vivian Ladabouche, Manchester's coordinator of employer and community relations at the Connecticut State Employment Office, a team of 12 women was accepted for advanced courses at the Woman's World Training Center in Waterbury, Mass.

Now in its fifth year, the Woman's World system of franchised health spas has locations throughout New England. Manchester will be its first spa in Connecticut.

Woman's World specializes in individual fitness programs, group exercises and nutritional guidance. All facilities are designed to embrace not only fitness and health, but fun and relaxation as well.

The Manchester spa, which is a company-owned "showcase" facility, features 3,500 square feet of carpeted exercise areas.

To express the free-flowing feeling of body movement, a modernist mural was created by Jose Rosado, well known Latin American painter. The mural, "Inspiration," appears on one complete wall of the spa.

The spa is in Marshall's Mall at the Manchester Parkade.

Gerber Sets Stock Split

SOUTH WINDSOR — Director of the Gerber Scientific Instrument Co. have voted a three-for-two stock split in the form of a 50 percent stock distribution and voted to maintain the present five cents-per share quarterly dividend on the increased number of shares, resulting in a 50 percent cash dividend increase.

Joseph Gerber, president, said the new shares will be issued Nov. 8, to shareholders of record Oct. 13. The cash dividend on the total shares outstanding after the split will be payable Nov. 30 to holders of record Nov. 20.

Included in the net earnings for the three-month period was approximately $50,000 (44 cents per share) from the sale of knowledge and technology concerning Gerber's IDS and DMS system to Yokogawa Electric Works Ltd. of Japan.

Sty Distance Rules Held Unconstitutional

MANCHESTER — The attorney representing a local owner of a pig farm said Wednesday that a state regulation establishing a minimum distance between a pig sty and homes is unconstitutional.

The attorney representing the town's Health Department said, however, that homes near the pig farm of Anthony Botticello were built legally in a properly zoned area.

Both arguments were presented Wednesday at a hearing before the state Department of Health. Botticello has appealed an order from the Town Health Department that his pig sty is in violation of the health code because it is within 300 feet of homes.

Attorney John LaBelle Jr. represented Botticello while attorney William Sites, assistant town counsel, represented the department.

Botticello's farm had been at its site many years before the homes were built. LaBelle mentioned this in his argument and said that the homes should not have been built within 300 feet of the existing pig sty.

He also called the 300-foot limitation "unreasonable and arbitrary." LaBelle said that there is no such distance requirement for any other type of livestock and that pigs are no more unhealthy than other animals.

Drainage and Tests Set To Check Pond Problems

MANCHESTER — Union Pond will be drained and samples will be taken of the deposits on the floor of the pond.

Representatives from the towns of Manchester and Vernon met Wednesday with state officials, and Manchester proposed the drainage and testing test.

It is hoped the testing will determine how much damage has been done to the pond by partially treated sewage that is coming from Vernon's sewage treatment plant.

The material from the plant is being sent to the Hockanum River, which leads to Union Pond. A problem developed late this summer when the pond began to act as a dumping basin for the material.

Residents and businesses in the surrounding area complained about an odor problem, and officials met last week to discuss the matter. A second meeting was held Wednesday.

The mayor said he hopes the testing will leave a brook through the pond area. This drop in the water probably will assist in the Manchester meeting, explaining the steps Vernon has taken to improve the Hockanum River.

The town has constructed a new installation project as well as the sewage treatment plant, has threatened to sue Vernon because of the pond problem.

Vernon Mayor Frank McCoy also submitted a written statement explaining some of the steps his town has taken in the past to improve the Hockanum River.

The mayor said he did feel, however, that the "severe criticism and derogation of the Town of Vernon's sewage treatment operations warrants the defense offered by this newspaper."

War Rages In Beirut

BEIRUT, Lebanon (UPI) — Fighting raged unabated in eastern Beirut and the outskirts of the capital today with Syrian forces trying to deal a knockout blow to Christian militia units.

In the fiercest Lebanese conflict yet seen, police sources said 55 Lebanese were killed and 100 wounded in the past 24 hours, bringing the estimated toll to 300 dead and 400 wounded since the latest round of fighting began at dawn Monday.

But the radio station run by the right-wing Christian Phalangist militia said there were at least 650 people killed or wounded in the past 48 hours and at least 20,000 homes or apartments were damaged in the shelling.

The Syrians released no casualty figures, but militia sources said Syrian losses were "very heavy" and that they saw three truckloads of Syrian corpses being loaded toward Damascus during the night.

Witnesses said both the Syrians and the Israeli-backed rightists were reinforcing their positions. In some districts of eastern Beirut the Syrian and militia positions were only 50 yards apart and the rival forces traded curses and insults across no-man's land.

In New York, Secretary of State Cyrus Vance said today the United States is urging "restraint on the part of Israel, which has sent overflights across the Lebanese border in the past to demonstrate its support for the Christians."

Beirut Radio interpreted a quick visit to Moscow by Syrian President Hafez Assad as dimming hopes for a quick, political settlement in the fighting.

Assad had been scheduled to meet today with Lebanon's president, Elias Sarkis.

The worst-hit region was the Ashrafieh Christian suburb in eastern Beirut. It looked like a heavily bombed city of World War II with more than half its buildings partly demolished by shells, heavy mortars and rockets.

Many apartments were completely burned out and heavy mortar shells had crashed through two or three floors at a time.

The primary shortcoming, as it seems here, is that you have coaches and writers voting for clubs they haven't and probably won't ever see. In the latest "poll" Guilford High, defending state Class 1 champ, is top ranked with 11 first place votes.

It is doubted all 11 who voted for the Indians have witnessed their games. How can you rank someone on top whom you haven't seen? Do you base it on reputation or actual ability? That's a serious issue.

Thoughts ApLEnty

There are those who'll disagree but the first annual weekly statewide scholastic soccer poll is not looked upon favorably here. It can be equated to all-league and all-state teams which at times are nothing more than popularity contests, not based on ability.

The primary shortcoming, as it seems here, is that you have coaches and writers voting for clubs they haven't and probably won't ever see. In the latest "poll" Guilford High, defending state Class 1 champ, is top ranked with 11 first place votes.

Gura Has Enough To Shackle Yanks

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (UPI) — Just two years ago, Larry Gura wasn't good enough to pitch for the New York Yankees. And just one month ago, Clint Hurdle wasn't good enough to start for the Kansas City Royals.

Both players shed themselves of those raps in convincing fashion Wednesday as Gura held the Yankees scoreless for six innings and Hurdle highlighted a 16-hit attack with a single and triple, scoring one run and knocking in another to give Kansas City a 1-0 victory over New York to even the American League Championship Series at one game apiece.

Gura was Manager Whitey Herzog's choice to try to win back respectability for the Royals after they had been humiliated on their home turf, 7-1, in the first game of the playoffs Tuesday night. He responded with six innings of four-hit pitching while his teammates were ruminating on a 5-0 lead.

Gura allowed four singles and two runs in the seventh before being lifted in favor of Marty Pattin, who teamed with Al Hrabosky to preserve Gura's first post-season victory against two defeats.

"If Billy Martin were still managing the Yankees, we'd be still playing the Red Sox," said Gura. "I wouldn't have been surprised if Martin had been brought here to heckle me."

Hurdle, who spent almost the entire month of September on the bench, was the only line-up change by Herzog for Game 2 as he abandoned Herzog's doghouse to replace Steve Braun in left field.

"This was my first time back in a crucial situation since the first part of September when we played in Anaheim," said Hurdle. "I didn't want to blow it."

Hurdle singled in the second, took second on a single by Al Cowens and then bled over Graig Nettles at third base on an attempted fielder's choice. The ball skittered away and Hurdle trotted home for the first of four runs in the inning, giving the Royals an insurmountable 5-0 lead.

After New York pulled to within three runs in the seventh, Hurdle tripled home Pete LaCock, who had doubled, with a towering drive off the right field fence, just above Reggie Jackson's glove 365 feet from home plate.

That made it 6-2 and Fred Patek, who had a two-run homer, his first in Kansas City this season, in the same inning to give the Royals a six-run cushion.

Amos Otis chipped in three hits with George Brett, Hal McRae, Darrell Porter and LaCock joining Hurdle with two hits apiece as the Royals added 2-0 game winner Ed Figueroa with the loss. Figueroa lasted just one inning.

Game 3 of the best-of-five series will be played Friday night with Cal Hight going for the Yankees against 19-game winner Paul Splittort.

NFL's Stand Neutral On Cheerleader Issue

CHICAGO (UPI) — The National Football League is taking a neutral position on cheerleaders, but Commissioner Pete Rozelle says no women will be allowed to pose in the nude for photographers.

League owners also outlawed tearaway jerseys, effective with games next weekend, and deferred a vote whether to impose sanctions on majority owners violating the league rule against even minority ownership in another team sport.

The discussion on cheerleaders, which became controversial when the San Diego Chargers fired their "Chargettes" because one posed in the nude for a men's magazine, occupied most of the eight-hour debating session.

One immediate change will require cheerleaders to sign a contract that they will not pose in the nude.

"We outlined the problems and those with cheerleaders would like to continue with them," Rozelle said. "But we're going to have to pay more attention to cheerleaders. Members of the staff of the clubs are going to have to get deeply involved in checking on them."

Rozelle said tearaway jerseys were outlawed for two reasons: to avoid the league's association with the "Manufacturers say shouldn't."

Defense Superb In Whaler Win

By EARL YOST Sports Editor

Seven goals got past New England goalie John Garrett Tuesday night in Detroit as the Red Wings ousted the New England Whalers, 7-5, but last night Al Smith was too much for the National Leagueers at Springfield and the Whalers evened the count, 3-0.

Unlike in Detroit where 14,119 fans came out to see Gordie Howe return a fixture for 25 years in Detroit colors, only 5,472 onlookers saw Smith sweep aside only 15 Detroit shots in registering the shutout. New England's defense was superb with the visitors being limited to just six shots on goal in the first period, two in the second 20-minute interval and seven in the third period. Meanwhile, the Whalers, who jumped off to a 2-0 first period margin, blasted a game total of 34, getting double figure tries in each session, 11, 13, 10.

'The Best I've Ever Seen'

Howe Thrilled Fans In Detroit Return

Gordie Howe returned to Detroit Tuesday night and thrilled the crowd of 14,119 at the Olympia with a goal in the third period on assists from sons Mark and Marty. The Red Wings beat the Whalers, 7-5, but the score played second fiddle to "Mr. Hockey," who played his first game on Detroit ice since the end of the 1970-71 season.

Howe received standing ovations before, during and after the game and drew praise from many of the Red Wings players. Quotes from Tom Henderson's story in Detroit Free Press follow:

DENNIS HENYAL (Wings' center): "He's a little slower, but he's still one hell of a hockey player. They talk about Bobby Hull or Bobby Orr, but Howe's the best I've ever seen."

TERRY HARPER (Wings' defenseman): "Somebody's been feeding us a lot of crap. I've been reading all this stuff about how slow he is. He's not slow. He's good. He could play in the league, I'll tell you that. Hell, he could play for Wings today."

ROGIE YACHON (Wings' goalie): "It's funny. I made my first NHL save against him. I stopped him on a clear breakaway from center ice. He caught me a little bit by surprise tonight. I was off balance. I was looking for the pass and trying to cheat a little and he caught me. He let a real good shot go. I should have come out to cover the angle."

GORDIE HOWE: "I've had so many good nights here, they all blend in. I have witnessed this crowd at the sign up for years and I think the fever is here and they're all here. Welcome home, Gordie, good luck Wings." "It was so nice. It felt so good, the loss didn't even hurt."

WHA Refuses to Disappear, Set for Seventh Campaign

NEW YORK (UPI) — Shrinking though it may be, the World Hockey Association refuses to disappear.

The WHA returns for its seventh season without Swedish stars Anders Hedberg and Ulf Nilsson, without the Houston Aeros and without its long sought merger with the established National Hockey League.

Nonetheless, the WHA survives and that is noteworthy in itself.

The league this season will feature one seven-team division following the disbanding of Houston. The Aeros, league champions in 1973-74 and 1974-75, dropped out when their attendance fell $5,027 to 215,698.

The remaining teams are the defending champion Winnipeg Jets, the Edmonton Oilers, Quebec Nordiques and four U.S.-based teams — the New England Whalers, Indianapolis Racers, Cincinnati Stingers and Birmingham Bulls.

Winnipeg lost four players to the NHL. Center Nilsson and right wing Hedberg are grabbing $650,000 a year to join the New York Rangers, backup goalie Gary Bromley signed with Vancouver and left wing Dan Labraque went to Detroit.

The Jets dominated the league last year and General Manager Rudy Pilous believes the losses, in addition to losing the team's biggest stars, will be difficult to make up.

"I feel the team will pull together a bit harder than last season's Swedish players," Pilous says. "We have secured most of the better Houston players and they should fill the gaps much more cheaply and probably nearly as well."

Bobby Hull returns at age 39 to lead a strong attack which also features last season's Rookie of the Year, Kent Nilsson, Don LaRue, Willie Lindstrom, Peter Sullivan and playoff MVP Bobby Guindon.

The Whalers, the league's least scored upon team last year, again relies on a defense led by Rick Ley and Gordie Roberts. With Al Smith and former Birmingham Bull John Garrett in goal, the Whalers own the WHA's best group of goaltenders.

The one WHA team the NHL desires is Edmonton, which led the WHA in attendance last year (10,235 average) and would be a logical stop for NHL teams traveling between Toronto and Vancouver. Glen Sather has built the Oilers into contenders in one year.

Dave Dryden, Montreal star Ken Dryden's older brother, and former Montreal farmhand Ed Walsh are the goaltenders. They are protected by quality defenseman like Al Hamilton and Paul Shmyr but Sather needs help from his other defenders to cut down on the 37 goals allowed last year.

The bulk of the scoring is handled by Ron Chippierfield with able assistance by Bill Flett, Dennis Sobchak and newcomer Stan Heir, formerly of the Toronto Maple Leafs. Quebec, league champions two years ago, hopes to rebound from last season's rash of injuries. Marc Tardif, the league's MVP and leading scorer, teams on a high-scoring line with Christian Borel and Real Cloutier.

The Nordiques need improvement on defense and from goalies Richard Brodeur and Jim Corvi. The defense was hobbled by injuries last year. Taking up the league's rear will be Indianapolis, Cincinnati and Birmingham.

Pat Stapleton is the new coach in Indianapolis, where he once starred, but the Racers unloaded a number of high salaried players, leaving 17-year-old rookie Wayne Gretzky as the main attraction. Gretzky became another of the WHA's underage signings when he signed a seven-year, $2.5 million contract.

Richie Leduc is the Racers' big scorer and Stapleton added ex-NHL star Gary Smith in goal.

Floyd Smith, the Buffalo Sabres' former coach, assumes command in Cincinnati, which nearly folded in the off-season. Robbie Florek and Rick Dudley handle the scoring but the Stingers' defense is almost nonexistent. The loss of Stapleton leaves Smith virtually without a quality defenseman.

Birmingham will continue its brawling style of hockey to draw the fans in Alabama. New Coach John Brophy, a notorious fighter in the defunct Eastern Hockey League, will supply plenty of know-how in that regard. It won't help the Bulls improve their standing, however.

Owner John Bassett signed six underage juniors and the five defense men among them may see regular action. Paul Henderson is the top returning forward.

Field Hockey

ILLING HIGH

Illing Junior High girls' field hockey team blanketed Webb of Westfield yesterday, 2-0.

Wing Janet Locke scored an unassisted goal early in the second half and later added her second tally, assisted by Denise White.

Donna Rock and Tammie Kleiparis played well offensively and Andrea Brown and goalie Wendy Felletier defended well for Illing.

Soccer

ILLING HIGH

Illing Junior High varsity soccer team remained unbeaten with a 2-1 win over the Windham boys' squad yesterday at Illing.

R.J. Jones put the Rams, now 3-0, on the scoreboard first converting a penalty kick and later took a pass from Mike St. Laurent to give Illing what proved to be the game-winner.

The entire team played well.

BENNETT JAYVES

Bennet Junior High varsity soccer team upped its record to 2-0 yesterday with a 5-1 triumph over J.F. Kennedy of Enfield at Charter Oak Park.

Dan Guachione registered the three-goal hat trick for the young Bulls while Tom Collins and Tom Finnegan also finding the net.

Goalie Bill Perry along with the defense played well.

Volleyball

EAST CATHOLIC

Scoring an easy win yesterday was the East Catholic girls' volleyball team, 15-1, 15-4 and 15-10, over host E.O. Smith in Storrs.

Everyone made a contribution as the Eglettes won their fourth in six outings.

East also took the jayvee encounter, 15-3 and 15-9. The jayvees sport a 5-1 mark.

MANCHESTER HIGH

Felled in four sets, Manchester High girls' volleyball team saw its record drop to the 500 level yesterday, bowing to host Simsbury High in CCL action. Scores were 15-10, 10-15, 15-3 and 15-7.

Liz Busky and Diane Whitaker played well for the locals, now 3-3. Simsbury also took the jayvee bill 15-0, 7-15 and 15-12. Kim Massett and Nancy Walsh were best for the Indians.

Kuhn Sued

NEW YORK (UPI) — Sports Illustrated magazine reporters Melissa Ludtke and Kathy Andria may be assigned to cover the American and National League playoffs and the World Series — and they don't want Baseball Commissioner Bowie Kuhn keeping them out of the teams' locker rooms.

The women Wednesday sued Kuhn in U.S. District Court in Manhattan on charges he has ordered women sports reporters barred from the locker rooms of the four teams involved in the playoffs. Miss Ludtke recently obtained a court order allowing women reporters access to the Yankees' locker room.

Garvey Convinced Many He's No. 1

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — Steve Patrick Garvey, the son of a bus driver, took the Philadelphia Phillies downtown and dropped them off at a dead end.

On the way, he showed them a few of the sights, enough to convince them he's the No. 1 player in this championship series and the entire league as well.

As if they've given Reggie Jackson the title Mr. October, then what would you call Garvey?" inquired Dodger utility ace Lee Lacey. "I know what name I'd give him. To me, he's the Man for All Seasons."

Tommy Lasorda, the Dodgers manager, buys that.

"He's the same in spring training, the dog days of summer and the cool ones of fall," Lasorda said. "I've never changed. I can remember the first day he walked into the hotel in Ogden, Utah, to play for me in the Rockies League. That was in 1968 and he came ready to thrive on it. He hasn't changed a lick in 10 years."

Garvey's actual introduction to the Dodgers came when he was a kid and he was shaking his head in awe and admiration over the way he almost single-handedly muscled the Los Angeles Dodgers to a 9-5 topider in the National League playoffs last year.

Davey Lopes and Steve Yeager also chipped in with homers for the Phillies and 21-year-old Bob Welch also impressed with his power and relieving relief job after taking over for starter Bert Hooton in the fifth inning, but Garvey was the one all the Phillies were talking about after it was all over.

"Nothing he does surprises me," said shortstop Larry Bowa, Philadelphia's top performer in this series. "I think he's the most consistent player in all baseball. I know Dave Parker's fans and Reggie Smith's fans will all yell at me, but I think Garvey is this year's MVP. I'd give it to him if I had a vote. He goes out there and does it every day."

Garvey was the only Dodger to play in every one of their 102 games this season. He led them in hitting with his .316 average and in driving them across with 113 RBI.

The Dodgers call Garvey "The Iron Horse" because of his tremendous durability and his Charles Atlas build and also because, as they say, "I think he's the best of his faculty for being at this time whenever October rolls around."

In the two World Series he has

Charity Bowl

NEW HAVEN (UPI) — The Elis will host Rutgers University Oct. 7 in the second annual Yale-sponsored Charity Bowl game.

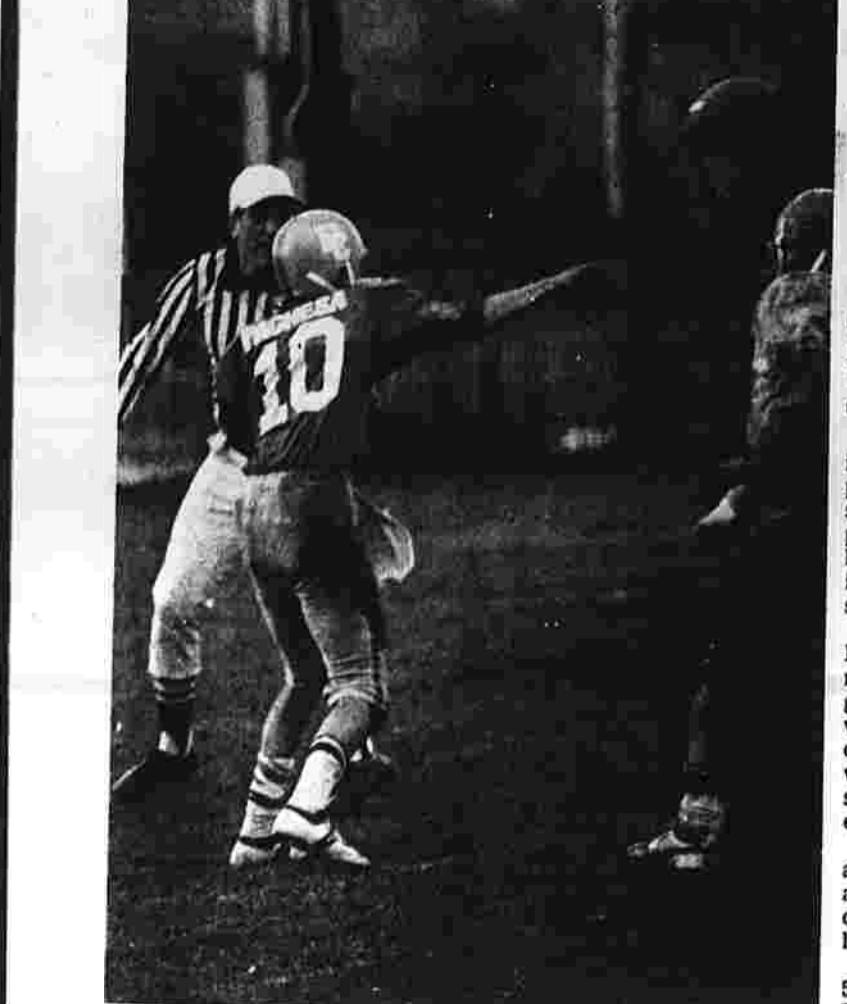

The contest has been designed to allow local charities and non-profit organizations to sell tickets to the game and keep the revenue from their sales.

Yale beat Connecticut 27-7 last week and will be shooting for its third straight win of the 1978 season in the upcoming match. Rutgers is 2-1.

Bonds Say He Won't Report

CLEVELAND (UPI) — Cleveland Indians outfielder Bobby Bonds, who was acquired from the Texas Rangers Tuesday in a trade, has refused the organization's offer to report to the club, saying he'll retire if he isn't traded to a West Coast club.

"I'm sticking to my earlier statement," Bonds told the Cleveland Press Wednesday. "I will not change my mind. Cleveland will have to trade me to a West Coast team or I'll retire." Bonds has four more years on a five-year contract totaling $2 million.

Tony Pachasa Aims for Favorite Target

Jackson Makes Grade Intercepting Passes

Since Terry Jackson was drafted in the fifth round by the New York Giants last spring, almost all of his publicizing clippings have included the phrase "brother of Monte Jackson," currently with the Oakland Raiders. But now Terry is making a name for himself from his starting left cornerback position.

Jackson, 5-10, 187 pounds, has collected four interceptions, one in each of the regular season games, as the Giants are off to their best start since 1968 with a 3-2 mark.

Terry was one of two high defensive backfield draft choices in 1978. The other, Odis McKinney from Colorado, was selected in the second round.

"I wasn't looking forward to pro football. I really didn't start to think about being drafted until my senior year at San Diego State," says Jackson. "Even then I really didn't think about it until the seventh or eighth game of the season when, by chance, I walked into the coaches' office. Some pro scouts were busy looking at films of me. I could hardly believe it."

Jackson was ranked third behind McKinney and veteran Bill Bryant during the pre-season, but both came up with injuries to open the door for Terry against Tampa Bay the first week of the regular season. He took advantage of the opportunity, picking off a Doug Williams' pass and racing 32 yards to the touchdown.

Head Coach John McVay's Giants had nine interceptions heading into the fifth game, with Jackson's four of the individual tops. In 1977, New York recorded only 12 aerial steals. Against San Francisco, the rookie picked off one and had another called back because of a Giants' penalty.

"Monte being his brother has helped Terry," says McVay. "He knows a little about what to expect and just being able to talk to someone like that is of value. Terry's performance won him a job, just as the injuries opened the door for him. He was able to take advantage."

Although it is early in the season, for the record, the NFL mark for most interceptions in a season is 14, held by Dick (Night Train) Lane for Los Angeles in 1962.

"I never really expected to play much this year," added Jackson. But for the Giants' health, a couple of injuries to players ahead of Jackson on the depth chart, may have been a blessing in disguise.

Freiheit 'Quality' Receiver, Draws Rave Notices from All

By LAL AUSTER Herald Sports Editor

When you talk about East Catholic wide receiver Mike Freiheit, you're talking about "quality," says Head Football Coach John LaFontana.

"Without going too far from what I've seen, and I've seen some good receivers, I really feel Mike is as good as any of the great receivers we've had in the state," LaFontana offers of his gifted pass-catcher, who has been accorded double and sometimes triple coverage in the early going.

"I know of no one who is his equal and I feel most coaches who play against Mike feel that way, too," continued the Eagle sixth-year leader.

As a sophomore, Freiheit hauled in 54 passes for 678 yards and three TDs. He's off to a good start this season with a 6-reception, 88-yard, 3-touchdown performance against Windsor Locks, possibly his finest outing in a varsity uniform. One touchdown was an unbelievable, full-length, outstretched diving stab in the end zone with a Raider defender breathing down the back of his shoulder pads.

Freiheit, himself, is not all that impressed with Freiheit. He instead gives credit to his success to his teammates. "Catching the ball is the easiest step," he insists. "We wouldn't be able to pass without good work and Tony (Pachasa) is a fantastic quarterback," Freiheit credits.

Pachasa, also a junior, is off to a splendid start as in three games he's completed 22-of-32 attempts (62 percent for 485 yards and five TDs, four to Freiheit).

"Tony and I every day after practice work on all our patterns. We check out the timing and stay out until we complete all at least once," Freiheit stated, proving practice does make perfect. "It's to a point now where he knows where I am on the field and I know when to expect him to throw it to me. I hardly ever break patterns because it's a lot easier on Tony."

"He has great hands, that's most important," appraised LaFontana. "He has great intelligence, he knows all aspects of the game. He recognizes what the defenses are doing to him and makes adjustments. His biggest asset is he loves to score touchdowns," LaFontana

Golfer Shows Well With Errant Shots

NEW ORLEANS (UPI) — At last count, Floyd "Lake" Reed had hit 97 pedestrians and 123 automobiles with golf balls. Reed, 67, a native of New Orleans, is living proof there is nowhere a golf ball cannot go if you have as much time or will power or crazies as the self-proclaimed "world's nuttiest golfer" obviously has. From the Atlantic to the Pacific, Reed has nudged screamers down America's interstates and rural dirt roads. For every person he has hit, he has missed millions — quite an accomplishment in 20 years of highway golf, the sport he invented to help his living proof there is nowhere a golf ball cannot go if you have as much time or will power or crazies as the self-proclaimed "world's nuttiest golfer" obviously has.

National Freestyle Ski Title to Kasel

It seems just a short while ago that Tracey Kasel left for Australia for some freestyle skiing competition. The tall, blue-eyed blond is back, a bubbly, overconfident person and rightly so. After being crowned the overall freestyle champion at New South Wales, he continued to reign at the Victoria meet.

With wins in the ballet, and a second in the moguls, fifth in the aeriels, he was well pleased with his performance on good snow. The Manchester native and Killington instructor was prepping for the Nationals to be held at Falls Creek, Peacher Valley. With good snow, a bit of warming weather made the bumps a bit icy. A crowd of 7,000 saw the National Freestyle Championships. The snow texture was a bit of New England.

Kasel won both the National Ballet and Mogul competitions of Australia. In aerial competition, all went well with a back meobius, then with a grin, he said, he tried a double back somersault. As he took off one of his skis released and as he landed the other came off. He was unhurt. No points are awarded unless you have one ski on. The mishap cost the National Overall championship.

As far as I'm concerned, all that the addition of a seventh official to pro games has accomplished is the blowing of more whistles, adding to the number of game penalties. The waiting handcuffs are more a part of the game than long pass completions.

Pipe Band Planning Annual Tartan Ball

MANCHESTER — The Manchester Pipe Band, winners of the Grade II Best Overseas Band award in the 1977 Scottish World Championships, will hold its annual Tartan Ball Saturday, Nov. 4, in the Manchester Armory from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m.

The Tartan Ball marks the conclusion of the U.S. bagpipe competition season. During 1978, the band captured prizes in highland games throughout the U.S. The band, a non-profit organization, began in 1974 and is one of the oldest such groups in America. Several native-born Scots are among its members.

Pipe Major Charles Murdoch of South Windsor said that the Tartan Ball is one of the major vehicles for promoting the music and dancing of Scotland in this area. The ball will feature both Scottish Highland dancers and country dancers, as well as a performance by the Manchester Pipe Band itself. The Johnny "B" Orchestra will provide music for dancing. There will also be a raffle.

Ticket information for the BYOB event can be obtained by calling Charles Murdoch at 644-2709 or Greg King at 875-3460.

Vernon Delays WACAP

By BARBARA RICHMOND Herald Reporter. VERNON — Because the Town of Vernon would not have time to review properly all of its social services programs before an Oct. 17 deadline set by the Windham Area Community Action Program (WACAP), the Town Council delayed action on a request to join the program.

Mayor Frank McCoy said he received a proposed application to the Community Services Administration, which was formerly the U.S. Office of Economic Opportunity, for recognition of WACAP as the community action agency to serve the low-income community in Tolland County.

Mayor Can Hire Help To Review Job Appeals

VERNON — Mayor Frank McCoy was authorized by the Town Council Wednesday night to hire a consultant, if he wishes to do so, to assist in reviewing 22 appeals to job classifications filed by town employees.

Mrs. Marie Herbst, chairman of the council's subcommittee that helped develop the job classification system, said that the number of appeals was far greater than expected. Stanley Roessler who resigned as director of administration in the early part of the summer, was the key person in forming the plan, and Mrs. Herbst suggested that he be hired on a consultant basis to go over the appeals. The mayor said that perhaps when

Dear Abby
By Abigail Van Buren

Dear Abby: My husband loves to sing. He has had a few voice lessons and is quite good for an amateur. He has a large repertoire of songs and even has the piano accompaniment on tape to take with him when he goes where there will be no stereo accompaniment.

Dear Abby: This letter is one more comment in the debate on the mother-daughter trust that has been raging in your column.

Dear Abby: Let me tell you about a handicapped person I know. He's paralyzed from the waist down. Now some folks think that the disabled are also retarded. That's not so. My friend attended college, and now works for a large insurance company as an underwriter.

Win at bridge

Lose a loser on a loser

He plays a low diamond from dummy, ruffs the second trump, plays a club, cuts a club, ruffs a low diamond. He is slightly disappointed when the ace doesn't appear, but he will still make his contract by means of what is called, "a loser on a loser."

Ask the Experts

By Oswald Jacoby

Today's hand is another example of the power of the spade suit. East and West make five clubs but East just doesn't want to gamble at the five level so he lets South play at four spades. The ordinary declarer will wind up down one after losing three hearts and a diamond. The expert declarer will make four spades.
